Bob O'Brien and Jim Scott have been untouchable since some unthinking lasses told them they resembled John Garfield, of motion picture fame, and Pinky Tomlin, of singing fame. If only they knew!

• • •

Wayne Hughes announces to the public that his favorite song is something named "Carry On." He is looking for a good arrangement of it so that it can be played on his trumpet. "Nippy" FitzMaurice will very ably take care of the vocal.

• • •

Bob Bond has given up; he is completely disgusted. He has removed his "lip lettuce" because it didn't make him look like Errol Flynn after all. Don't worry too much Bob; I'm sure she loves you for yourself.

• • •

George Flood and Tommy Winterbottom really have a dance team there. The way they dazzle the patrons of the Greek's is something to see.

• • •

Jerry Cassidy threatens to move out on his room-mate, "Moon" Holland, if he doesn't get rid of "Trix." "Trix" just happens to be a huge, full-blooded German police dog.

• • •

Ed Malcolm was a little on the disgusted side Thursday night. It seems that Ed was all ready to dance with a very lovely girl sitting two tables from him in the Greek's when, to his chagrin, he discovered she was from Bryn Mawr and didn't do those things.

• • •

John Pholeric, the "Mighty Mite" of the swimming team, was overjoyed during the past week. He was able to refuse three cup cakes after polishing off one of Louie's steak dinners.

• • •

Bill Guiteras and "Jitterbug" Frank Fitzpatrick really have something worked out for the show, "They Never Learn." Incidentally, the production is really good, without taking into consideration the short time in which rehearsals and casting had to take place.

To Fame

By ANDREA J. D'ANGELO

TO heights unknown you lift up puny man
And raise him from the level of his birth;
You cast aside all marks of race or clan
To make some men like gods upon this earth.
With outstretched hands you make man want you so,
And drive him mad if he has not your touch,
You make him turn away from friend and foe,
Your power over creatures is as such
Why make you such fools of helpless men?
Why do you these things, O cruel Fame?
You make men great and glad 'tis true, but then,
In truth you are as fickle as a dame,
For today they are so famous and renowned,
Unknown the morrow finds them 'neath a mound.

PAUL BROWN AMONG STUDENT AUTHORS IN 'FRONT' ISSUE

Quigley, Barrett Contribute Articles in Prominent Sociological Publication

Several Villanova students are among the contributors to the current issue of the Christian Front, the prominent sociological magazine edited on the local campus.

Paul Erskine Brown, freshman engineering student, is the author of a leading article on the question "Is Capitalism Sound." Brown points out that the capitalistic philosophy is purely materialistic and demands personal attainments as the measure of happiness. He writes: The spirit of capitalism consists in ignoring the spiritual, in seeking the material alone; in worshipping the shadow and not the substance. It seeks to satisfy bodily desires and to pacify the gross senses; it accepts superficial half-truths, rejecting as non-existent those truths that are difficult of apprehension. It is, in short, a philosophy of the obvious; a philosophy not of man but of brute animal.

Two senior arts students, James Quigley, new associate editor of the publication, and Robert Barrett have also contributed several book reviews.

Another topic of interest today "Socialized Medicine," is thoroughly discussed in the article by Dr. C. T. Ore, a prominent Chicago eye, ear, nose and throat specialist. He points out what socialized medicine would bring and the defects it would raise. That state medicine is not a solution to the problem because it would stifle ambition and put too much power in the hands of the Federal government.

CAMPUS FACULTY RECEIVE HONORS

Program Sponsored to Have Entire Faculty of Doctors

More advanced degrees were received by John A. McClain, assistant professor of biology and Rev. Francis W. Ludwig, O. S. A., instructor of biology, at the University of Pennsylvania on Saturday, Feb. 18.

Dr. McClain received the degree of Ph. D. in biology while Fr. Ludwig received his A M. in the same field.

These degrees are part of a program to have all of the Villanova faculty possess a doctorate degree. Toward this end Rev. Edward F. Jenkins, O. S. A., completed his work at the Catholic University of America toward a doctorate in chemistry last December and has only to submit his copies of his original dissertation to obtain his degree Rev. James A. Donellon, O. S. A., obtained a Ph. D in biology last spring at the University of Pennsylvania.

SEMINAR STUDIES UNIONS

At the regular meeting of the Sociology Seminar, which was held last evening in the seminar quarters in Simpson Hall, a discussion was held on whether a Catholic should join a communistic labor union.

This discussion which carried over from last week's meeting is considered a topic of prime importance by the Seminar. Lengthy debates were held as to whether a Catholic had the right to join a labor union which was under communistic influence if he would lose his job by refusing to join.

Father McQuade, moderator of the seminar, announces that there will probably be more complete discussion of labor unions in the future.

DINNER DATE CHANGED

The date of the annual Student Leaders Dinner has been changed from February 16 to Sunday, February 23 at 6:30 by Rev. E. V. Stanford, president of the college. Formal invitations have been sent to representative leaders on the campus. The dinner will be held in Mendel Hall.

ALUMNI HEADS ELECTED

John J. Cunningham was elected president of the Villanova Club of Philadelphia last Thursday in a meeting at the Philopatrian Club. Joseph Weisenbaugh, '35; John J. Stell, Jr., '35, and Jeffry Dougherty, '12, were elected vice president, secretary, and seargeant-at-arms respectively.

Helps to Reading Given by Teacher

NEW YORK CITY—(ACP)—At least one U. S. college instructor is trying to make life easy for today's undergraduates.

It's Mrs. Florence C. Rose, director of remedial reading work at Smith College, who recently gave the following rules for fast reading to Columbia University students:

1. Don't pronounce the words you are reading either audibly or inaudibly.
2. Try to grasp the meaning from the printed word rather than from the sound of the word.
3. Read by phrases rather than word by word. Do not look at each word individually.
4. To skim, let your eyes zigzag across the page, reading some of the words, not all of them, slowing down on parts of special interest.
5. Read the topic sentences, the introductory and concluding paragraphs, and points in italics carefully. Skim the other sections.

DRAMATIC GROUP PREPARES COMEDY

Furnishings most appropriate are being secured by Belle Masque to insure the success of its coming presentation, "Room Service," a three-act comedy.

Mr. Anthony J. Frayne, moderator, intends to model the scenic construction of the play exactly as in the original production. Such an intention involves extensive preparation, inasmuch as the play calls for many scenes, and most of the equipment needed is not at hand. But the stage hands, the cast, and the college authorities have readily agreed to assist the director in making the spring presentation an authentic reproduction.

The college has responded generously to this need of co-operation, and the stage hands are giving much of their time to the construction of the new sets, flats, and many of the minor stage properties. Pershing Calabro, senior in the arts school, is prominent among those actually constructing the new paraphernelia.

Many leading department stores in Philadelphia have contributed furniture, thus eliminating the necessity of futher expenditure by the society.

"BULLETIN" AT PRINTERS

Distribution of the Mendel Bulletin, school of science publication, will take place this week, announced Bernard J. Miller, chairman of the editorial board of the magazine.

Among the illustrations will be a portrait sketch of Paul Ehrlich, whose biography will be one of the featured articles. This and many other new and unueual sketches will make this issue an outstanding one.

Students are requested to watch the bulletin boards for further notice as to the exact time of distribution.

Honor Student Lists Released By Deans

Continued From Page One

John Muench, Edward Eichmann, Bernard Kelly Henry Martinez, Edmond Hagan, Nicholas Aceto, Charles Schauman, Thomas Junker.

Rev. J. C. Bartley made known the honor roll for the first semester in the School of Commerce and Finance.

The following have received the rating of excellence in studies:

In the senior class: Hugh McGlincey, Norman Klein, John Costello and George Bishop.

In the junior class: Frank Pimpinella, Bradley McManus, Ronald Tornwall and Charles Volz.

Sophomore Class: Thomas Meskel, Clifford Randolph and Anthony Vinci.

Freshman Class: Thomas Sullivan, Thomas Doyle, Edward Frank and James Pike.

Merit in Studies

The following students have received merit in studies:

In the senior class: Stanley Bobrowski, Thomas De Rosa and Harry Hatsinger.

In the junior class: Thomas Casper, Joseph York and Gerald Lynam.

Sophomore Class: Walter Kelly, Raymond Valentine, Walter Brown and Robert Metsinger.

Freshman Class: John Parson, Anthony La Brasca, Joseph Tobin and Lawrence Molloy.

Visions of Open House

Scenes similar to the one above will be the order of the day when Villanovans exploit the thrills of college life for prospective students at the revived Open House, May 1 and 2. What are they doing? Why? What's that for?

Daily Account of Jaunt by Modern Demosthenes In Metropolitan Area

Roaming Forsenic Exponent Queries College Students on "Americanism" Opinions

By MURRAY ZEALOR

Thursday morning, February 16

VILLANOVAN editor called me up. . .heard I was making a trip to several colleges. He wants story on Americanism. Americanism has been the subject of much discussion on the campus. . .movie houses playing the Star Spangled Banner, basketball games being led off with the same music. . .newspapers, magazines, radio and the theater have been domonstrating a recent concern about glorifying America.

Thursday evening, February 16

Georgian Court . . . nice place, nice women. Played ping-pong, debated, talked. . .the girls never heard of Americanism. It was a lovely thought though . . . Boys look so nice in uniforms, and medals too. . . .

Friday, February 17

New Brunswick and Rutgers. Americanism, ah yes, we heard of it. . .See America first and Europe last. Junior prom was on that day . . .Ozzie Nelson too. Why should they talk about Americanism? I am going over there in ten years and catch them in a serious mood . . .ah, but it was a glorious dance . . .and Harriet, well!

Saturday, February 18 (in the morning)

The boys from Saint Francis, nice boys . .they treated me elegantly. One of the lads at a movie the night before said the flag in technicolor and the playing of the Star Spangled Banner made him want to jump up, grab a gun and fight. Just what—he hasn't learned yet. The main feature was all airplanes—hundreds of them swarming, diving—preparing.

Saturday noon, February 18

Saw tanks on Times Square—is there reason to wonder what Americanism is?

Saturday evening, February 18

In a penthouse 25 stories up had supper, and the food was no different up so high. Our hostess thought Americanism is wonderful—makes our young men feel and realize that there is foreign opposition. Might mention the 6th Ave. "L," over which many fought of a mid-day now is become part of a $25,000,000 an hour instrument of destruction.

Sunday, February 19

Jersey City—did not see Hague—he must be about somewhere. Prank failed here—Americanism strongest in evidence, no situations of unrest—hand of iron, glove of velvet.

Monday morning, February 20

Home—to record these impressions.

TSCHAIKOWSKY HEARD

Music Seminar Holds First Meeting In Newly Acquired Simpson Hall

A capacity audience attended the Music Seminar's first session in Simpson Hall on Thursday evening, February 17.

This program was the first of the new spring cycle and was devoted to Tschaikowsky's compositions. The pieces presented were: the "Nutcracker Suite," "Pathetique Symphony," and "1812 Overture."

Works of Wagner will be heard this Thursday, with a symphonic synthesis of "Tristan and Isolde" featured; this is a new and outstanding recording by the Philadelphia Orchestra under the direction of Leopold Stokowski. "Preiude to Lohengrin," "Tannerhauser Overture," and "Ride of the Walkures" are also the evening's program.

'They Never Learn' Sponsored By Band

Continued From Page One

Kamph are a pair of upstarts who wish to get everything by force. These two characters are leaders in the overthrow while Bullen is the savior of the student body when he helps the original staff retake control at the end of the show.

Several songs written by James Cook are also featured. Bullen and Donaldson, known on the campus as Bill Dobbins and Ed Lucente, are the solo vocalists while the Villanova Glee Club lends assistance with the group choruses.

Other roles of minor importance are: several professors; a pair of jitterbug dancers; Boris Palinski, a very vociferous man also in the rebellion; and the president of the college, quite a pompous individual. The only female impersonation in the show is that of a girl jitterbug in the dance routine. Another interesting feature will be found in the presence of an entire football team on the stage.

This production marks the first endeavor of its type on the Villanova campus. Although the Belle Masque has staged many plays during the length of its tenure, it has never succeeded in presenting an original show. Tonight will mark the beginning of what will probably become an annual affair on the dramatic calendar.

DISCUSS SUPREME COURT

Before a large attendance the History Seminar held its first meeting in Simpson Hall on Thursday, February 16, under the direction of Dr. Hartman.

For the first this year a paper was submitted by a student, John Parsons, a freshman, read his paper in which he outlined the origin and development of the Supreme Court up to the present day.

Particular emphasis was placed upon Chief Justice John Marshall and how he gave the Supreme Court most of the power it now holds.

Calendar

Tuesday, February 21, 1939
German Seminar ..... 9:45 A. M.
VILLANOVAN ..... 1:00 P. M.
Play, "They Never Learn" 8:30 P. M.

Wednesday, February 22, 1939
Interscholastic Swim Meet 2:00 P. M.
Spanish Club ..... 7:00 P. M.

Thursday, February 23, 1939
Science Seminar .....10:35 A. M.
History Seminar ..... 4:00 P. M.

Friday, February 24, 1939
Research Seminar ..... 4:00 P. M.
N. Y. U. Game, Phila. .. 8:15 P. M.

Monday, February 27, 1939
Junior Class ..... 1:00 P. M.
Belle Air (Arts) ..... 1:00 P. M.
Moravian Game ..... 9:00 P. M.

DEBATING PROSPERS WITH LESS FORMAL METHODS EMPLOYED

University of Chicago's Debate Union Increases; Forum Discussion Technique Used

CHICAGO, ILL., (ACP)—Offhand, a debating society which has abandoned debating as an outmoded form of expression seems almost as ludicrous as a swimming team which quit swimming because it found out about boats.

The University of Chicago's student Debate Union, however, stopped "debating" last year. It has, in the meantime, developed radio "bull sessions," round tables, forum discussions, and a half dozen other techniques which it believes to be more adapted to a rapid world than the florid presentation of a set of neatly carded debate notes on a "resolved" proposition.

A 250 percent increase in the Union membership, making it the second largest student organization on the University of Chicago quadrangles, has accompanied the shift from cut-and-dried debate methods.

Last year's Debate Union was a modest group of 50 debaters, intent on winning contests with other debating teams. Experiments with other discussion forms was a negligible part of its program. This year's organization has a membership of 125 students, whose aim is to present ideas interesting as they can to the largest possible audiences.

More than 150 audiences, including those of two major radio networks, will have been reached by the Debate Union when the current academic year ends. This means a program every 40 hours on the average, from the beginning of work in the Fall to its finish in June.

The organization has discussed subjects ranging from European war scares to parent-child relations, from marriage to the WPA, from religious problems to higher education.

A.S.M.E. INSPECTS SELLERS PLANT

Machines and machine tools were studied by the A. S. M. E. on a recent visit by the society to the plant of William C. Sellers and Co.

On February 13 the members attended a banquet given at the Engineers Club by the Society of Automotive Engineers and listened to an address by Mr. Austin Wolfe, consultant automotive engineer of New York, on Filtering Falacies.

At the last meeting of the Chemical Society several members of the A. S. M. E. were present to view a film on Wrought Iron. The picture was shown on February 13, in the Mendel Hall amphitheater.

Arrangements are being made by the trip committee for an Inspection tour of a ship-building company, which is located in Camden, New Jersey.

DORSEY ADDRESSES MATHEMATICS CLUB

The Mathematics Club will meet in Simpson Hall for the first time next Monday, February 27. Use of the hall has been secured for all future meetings as well.

Joseph Dorsey gave a talk on "Magic Squares" at the meeting in Room 208 Mendel yesterday afternoon. He first gave an historical sketch on the subject, from its origin in India, through the Middle Ages when its forms were believed to have truly magical properties, down to its popularity as a pastime in the present day.

He illustrated methods of making squares of the odd order, that is, those with an odd number of horizontal and vertical rows. These were proven by addition and by use of a formula, and the club as a whole joined in discussion of special cases.

ENGINEERS PLAN TRIP

Slides showing the process of filtration will be shown to the Villanova chapter of the American Society of Chemical Engineers on March 27, through the courtesy of the John Manaville Sales Co.

Another one of a series of trips to various places of interest to engineers will be taken to the DuPont manufacturing plant in Wilmington, Del., through the courtesy of Mr. L. J. Marcotte, a Villanova alumnus. No date has been set for this trip. Plans for an alumni banquet sometime in the Spring will shortly be gotten under way, according to Dr. Haenisch, moderator of the society.

VILLANOVAN SPORTS

Basketeers Win Three Games In Busy Week

HIGH SCHOOL STARS TO VIE FOR HONORS IN VILLANOVA POOL

Interscholastic Meet Attracts Swimmers From Several Nearby States

ST. FRANCIS HOLDS TITLE

Outstanding schoolboy swimmers from more than 50 of the leading Catholic high schools in the East have been invited to compete in the fifth Annual Villanova National Catholic Interscholastic Swimming Championships meet to be held in the Main Line Pool on Wednesday.

The invitation list is the largest issued since Villanova first established the event and is expected to attract the biggest and most representative array of talent this year due to the steady development and increasing interest in swimming in interscholastic sports circles, according to Dr. Ruggerio Flocco, Villanova swimming coach and director of the meet.

Holds Title

The present Catholic Interscholastic national swimming crown is held by St. Francis Prep, of Brooklyn, N. Y. The Franciscans also hold the New York State prep school swimming championship. They took the national title at Villanova for the second time in succession last year with a score of 38 and one-half points. West Catholic High, of Philadelphia, was runner-up with 25 and one-half points.

It is expected that St. Francis will accept the invitation to defend the championship. The crack Brooklyn team would enter the meet a favorite to repeat, but not, however, without facing the prospects of a struggle for the honor this year.

Challengers

Among the other teams invited are several now in positions to make the defending champions look to their laurels. West Catholic High, of Philadelphia, looms as a very strong contender. St. Joseph's

HIGH SCHOOL Continued on Page Seven

KELLEY SHINES AS MERMEN WIN

St. Francis Submerged in Main Line Pool; Barrett Scores

By SAUL WALLACH

Paced by sophomore sprint star Walter Kelley, a well balanced Villanova swimming team churned the waters of the local pool hard enough to gain a decisive victory over an old jinx team, St. Francis College of Brooklyn, Friday afternoon. The score was 42-33 in favor of the Blue.

Kelley gave Villanova its first points of the meet when he raced to victory in the 220-yard free-style event in the time of 2:27.6, pacing Chuck Shain of St. Francis and Bill Bailey, Villanova captain, to the finish.

Kelley Again

Twenty minutes later Kelley raced through the water to touch pay territory ahead of Charlie Barrett and George Diamond of the visitors to win the 100-yard sprint. His time for the century was 56.8. Kelley holds Villanova pool records for both events and the distinction of being the only swimmer to defeat Paul Williams, Pennsylvania captain, in three years of competition.

Sharing honors with Kelley in the

KELLEY Continued on Page Six

N. Y. U. Captain

DANNY DOWD

NEW YORK U. SEEKS REVENGE FOR 1938

High Flying Moravian Five Comes Here Monday For Last Home Tilt

By HARRY MAZZEI

With the 1938-39 basketball season in its waning weeks, Villanova's rampant Wildcats will make their last Convention Hall appearance of the season on Friday night when they meet the vaunted Violets of New York University as part of a twin bill. In the other fray Temple will be host to Georgetown's Hoyas in an Eastern Conference tilt. Next Tuesday the Blue will close its home season against Moravian's Greyhounds in the Main Line gym.

Sophs on N. Y. U. Five

N. Y. U. comes to Quakertown with an almost all-sophomore five which has finally started to click as a unit. Impressive in their early meetings but losing most of their games the University Heights outfit is now riding the crest of the most successful part of their season. Losers only once in their last eight games, the Violets are hitting on all cylinders now and, outside of L. I. U.'s undefeated squad, they are considered the best dribble, cut, and shoot outfit in the Metropolitan area.

At the present writing the Canncoached team has a record of ten victories and five defeats against the most powerful court aggregations in the country. The only blemish in their recent plays was caused by Notre Dame's highgeared quintet in the Madison Square Garden. Violet adherents charge this loss to the inability of Irving Dubinsky to take part in the contest, for at that time Dubinsky was incapacitated by an ailing ankle. But now the squad is at full strength and pointing for the im-

N. Y. U. Continued on Page Seven

KILLIAN'S WIN TIES BLUE RINGMEN WITH CITY COLLEGE TEAM

Nojunas, Co-Captains Kirk and Duffy Score Other Victories on New York Card

PETE NAIMO IMPRESSIVE

By JIM HAUGHTON

Ed Killian, the Hartford Gargantuan, again proved to be Villanova's ace in the hole against C. C. N. Y. by decisively beating Sid Emmer in the unlimited class and providing the blue and white with the tying marker. The heavyweight-gridder, who in his last start against Catholic University earned the deciding point, proved too much for Emmer and handed him his first defeat in two years of intercollegiate punching.

Tied Last Year

City College and the locals also battled to a tie last year, and this year's meet proved just as exciting. While no knockouts occurred, several bouts produced knockdowns. Pete Naimo, the soph gridder making his first start, battled hammer and tong with Jack Entes, but lost the decision. Naimo dropped Entes in the first, but the New Yorker came back and floored Pete twice in the second canto.

Nojunas Wins

The bout between John Nojunas and Allan Avidon of City in the 165-pound class was one of the best. Nojunas learned his lesson at C. U. and emerged with a victory over the same man he fought here last year.

"Buzz" Mowen opened the evening's festivities by dropping a decision to Abe Datmer of City College in the 118 class. "Buzz" looked very good but lacked the experience necessary to earn him a decision. Ariano then dropped a decision to Marty Kaufman, after which the Villanova co-captains Eddie Kirk and Bill Duffy continued their winning streaks by beating Matt Topel and Jack Finger in the 135 and 145 classes, respectively.

C. C. N. Y. Takes Lead

But the New Yorkers forged ahead on Vic Zimet's close win over Bob Metzinger in the 155 section. Johnny Nojunas, however, tied things up by walloping Allan Avidon in the 165 group. Naimo's loss dropped Villanova behind, going into the final encounter but Big Ed proved too strong and knocked Emmer off his coveted perch.

Cadets, Hawks, Engineers Fail as Cats Turn On Heat

Blue and White Squad Reaches Peak in Beating St. Joseph's, 36-18; P. M. C. and Lehigh Engaged in Spectacular Contests

JOHN KRUTULIS SHINES IN EACH GAME

By JOE BARNES

In a week in which St. Joseph's College, highest-scoring quintet in Philadelphia, and P. M. C., early-season conquerors of La Salle, were supposed to furnish Villanova with stiff opposition it remained for little Lehigh University to put out a club worthy to face the Blue and White.

St. Joseph's, woefully weak in every department of the game except fouling, fell easy prey to the Severance squad as the Villianovans failed to work up a sweat in winning, 36-18.

P. M. C. on last Tuesday night furnished a great courtman in Rex Gardecki, but one man wasn't enough to stop the Philadelphia district's finest team as the Blue coasted through the final ten minutes to a 37-31 conquest.

Lehigh Tough

Saturday night was a different story as the unheralded Engineers from up-state held the Wildcats to a close, last-minute, 31-29 victory. In the first period of the game the Engineers held Villanova without a field goal and rolled up a 10-3 lead. Sophomore Paul Nugent, high scorer for the evening with eleven points, broke the ice for Villanova with about ten minutes of play gone. The Blue five outscored Lehigh in the second ten minute stretch but the Engineers still led at halftime, 19-15.

With the start of the second half the Villanova squad gradually began to tear apart the Engineers' lead and finally knotted the score at 24-24. Action became hot at this point. Lehigh held a three-point lead that looked very big with only four minutes of play remaining. Nugent sank one from the 15-foot mark for Villanova and Krutulis came through to knot the count at 29.

Seconds to Go

The tie remained until only a few

CADETS Continued on Page Six

Sportorial

By Phil Dunn

Sports Editor

JOHNNY MAHER is noted for being left in his holes at the start of a race. While it is evident that he was not left behind in his record-breaking dash at Convention Hall the other night, he most certainly DID NOT beat the gun—which condition was implied by the "Daily Pennsylvanian" whose participant in the event was left far in the rear.

Lawson Robertson, Penn's track coach, is among the many spectators who will stick up for Johnny on this point. Penn could use more men like "Robbie."

PHIL DUNN

—V—

Paul Nugent is regarded as the best one-hand shot in the city by those who should know. The accuracy of shots with either hand was used in formulating this opinion.

—V—

The Intramural Basketball League is drawing to a close and

SPORTORIAL Continued on Page Six

MAHER LOSES TO JOHNSON TWICE

Reaces Semi-Finals in Garden Sprint; Team Runs Again Tuesday

Villanova's claim to fame on the track, the world's "second fastest human," Johnny Maher, did some very good running in Madison Square Garden on Saturday night, but was eliminated from competition in the 60-yard dash in the semi-final heat.

Johnson Wins

Maher ran in the first of two semi-final heats and finished a close third to Ben Johnson, who won, and Paul Walker of Oglethorpe, who came in second. Johnny qualified for the semi-finals by chasing Johnson across the finish line in the first heat. The winner on both occasions, Ben Johnson, was clocked in 0:06.3 in the first and 0:06.2 in the second.

Maher also ran as the first man of the Wildcats' relay team which finished third to Rhode Island and Boston College. Other members of the team were Bill Dobbins, Bill Guiteras, and Barney Bellew, who ran in that order.

Go to New York

After three weeks of first class competition on the boards, the Villanova track team travels to New

MAHER Continued on Page Six

Smith Asks Union to Recognize Maher's Mark In 50-Yd. Dash

Villanova College has asked the A. A. U. to give John Maher, Wildcat sophomore sprint star, credit for equalling the new indoor 50-yard dash record of 5.1 seconds.

The request was made by M. J. "Clipper" Smith, director of athletics at Villanova, in a letter to Judge Eugene C. Bonniwell, president of the Middle Atlantic Association of the A. A. U.

The mark was set at the Penn A. C. indoor meet in Convention Hall last Friday as Maher and Norwood "Barney" Ewell, Penn State negro freshman flash, finished in a virtual "dead heat," both runners bettering the previous record of 5.2 seconds for the event.

The judges decided that Elwell had snapped the tape a hairsbreadth in front of Maher, but the finish was so close that if less than one-tenth of a second difference existed between Maher's and Elwell's times, the watches could not record it and the official timers reported that both runners covered the distance in 5.1 seconds.

"We do not question," wrote "Clipper," "the decision of the judges that the race was won by Elwell . . . a thrilling and well-merited victory for which he (Elwell) deserves all the credit and praise which can be bestowed upon him for the feat.

"At the same time," continues Smith's letter, "it is a matter of record that John Maher also was clocked in 5.1 seconds for the distance, and so we feel, in all fairness, that Maher also is entitled to credit and official recognition of his time for the event."

Smith asked that this claim be given due and proper consideration during the course of any action which the Record Committee of the A. A. U. may take on the new mark.

PAUL BROWN AMONG STUDENT AUTHORS IN 'FRONT' ISSUE

Quigley, Barrett Contribute Artic'es in Prominent Sociological Publication

Several Villanova students are among the contributors to the current issue of the Christian Front, the prominent sociological magazine edited on the local campus.

Paul Erskine Brown, freshman engineering student, is the author of a leading article on the question "Is Capitalism Sound." Brown points out that the capitalistic philosophy is purely materialistic and demands personal attainment as the measure of happiness. He writes: The spirit of capitalism consists in ignoring the spiritual, in seeking the material alone; in worshipping the shadow and not the substance. It seeks to satisfy bodily desires and to pacify the gross senses; it accepts superficial half-truths, rejecting as non-existent those truths that are difficult of apprehension. It is, in short, a philosophy of the obvious; a philosophy not of man but of brute animal.

Two senior arts students, James Quigley, new associate editor of the publication, and Robert Barrett have also contributed several book reviews.

Another topic of interest today "Socialized Medicine," is thoroughly discussed in the article by Dr. C. T. Ore, a prominent Chicago eye, ear, nose and throat specialist. He points out what socialized medicine would bring and the defects it would raise. That state medicine is not a solution to the problem because it would stifle ambition and put too much power in the hands of the federal government.

CAMPUS FACULTY RECEIVE HONORS

Program Sponsored to Have Entire Faculty of Doctors

More advanced degrees were received by John A. McClain, assistant professor of biology and Rev. Francis W. Ludwig, O. S. A., instructor of biology, at the University of Pennsylvania on Saturday, Feb. 18.

Dr. McClain received the degree of Ph. D. in biology while Fr. Ludwig received his A.M. in the same field.

These degrees are part of a program to have all of the Villanova faculty possess a doctorate degree. Toward this end Rev. Edward F. Jenkins, O. S. A., completed his work at the Catholic University of America toward a doctorate in chemistry last December and has only to submit his copies of his original dissertation to obtain his degree. Rev. James A. Donellon, O. S. A., obtained a Ph. D in biology last spring at the University of Pennsylvania.

SEMINAR STUDIES UNIONS

At the regular meeting of the Sociology Seminar, which was held last evening in the seminar quarters in Simpson Hall, a discussion was held on whether a Catholic should join a committee to unionization.

This discussion which carried over from last week's meeting is considered a topic of prime importance by the Seminar. Lengthy debates were held as to whether a Catholic had the right to join a labor union which was under communistic influence if he would lose his job by refusing to join.

Father McQuade, moderator of the seminar, announces that there will probably be more complete discussion of labor unions in the future.

DINNER DATE CHANGED

The date of the annual Student Leaders Dinner has been changed from February 16 to Sunday, February 23 at 6:30 by Rev. E. V. Stanford, president of the college. Formal invitations have been sent to representative leaders on the campus. The dinner will be held in Mendel Hall.

ALUMNI HEADS ELECTED

John J. Cunningham was elected president of the Villanova Club of Philadelphia last Thursday in a meeting at the Philopatrian Club. Joseph Welsenbaugh, '35; John J. Stell, Jr., '35, and Jeffry Dougherty, '12, were elected vice president, secretary, and seargeant-at-arms respectively.

Helps to Reading Given by Teacher

NEW YORK CITY—(ACP)—At least one U. S. college instructor is trying to make life easy for today's undergraduates.

He's Mrs. Florence C. Rose, director of remedial reading work at Smith College, who recently gave the following rules for fast reading to Columbia University students:

1. Don't pronounce the words you are reading either audibly or inaudibly.
2. Try to grasp the meaning from the printed word rather than from the sound of the word.
3. Read by phrases rather than word by word. Do not look at each word individually.
4. To skim, let your eyes zigzag across the page, reading some of the words, not all of them, slowing down on parts of special interest.
5. Read the topic sentences, the introductory and concluding paragraphs, and points in italics carefully. Skim the other sections.

DRAMATIC GROUP PREPARES COMEDY

Furnishings most appropriate are being secured by Belle Masque to insure the success of its coming presentation, "Room Service," a three-act comedy.

Mr. Anthony J. Frayne, moderator, intends to model the scenic construction of the play exactly as in the original production. Such an intention involves extensive preparation, inasmuch as the play calls for many scenes, and most of the equipment needed is not at hand. But the stage hands, the cast, and the college authorities have readily agreed to assist the director in making the spring presentation an authentic reproduction.

The college has responded generously to this need of co-operation, and the stage hands are giving much of their time to the construction of the new sets, flats, and many of the minor stage properties. Pershing Calabro, senior in the arts school, is prominent among those actually constructing the new paraphernelia.

Many leading department stores in Philadelphia have contributed furniture, thus eliminating the necessity of further expenditure by the society.

"BULLETIN" AT PRINTERS

Distribution of the Mendel Bulletin, school of science publication, will take place this week, announced Bernard J. Miller, chairman of the editorial board of the magazine.

Among the illustrations will be a portrait sketch of Paul Ehrlich, whose biography will be one of the featured articles. This and many other new and unusual sketches will make this issue an outstanding one.

Students are requested to watch the bulletin boards for further notice as to the exact time of distribution.

Honor Student Lists Released By Deans

Continued From Page One

John Muench, Edward Eichmann, Bernard Kelly Henry Martinez, Edmond Hagan, Nicholas Aceto, Charles Schaaman, Thomas Junker.

Rev. J. C. Bartley made known the honor roll for the first semester in the School of Commerce and Finance.

The following have received the rating of excellence in studies:

In the senior class: Hugh McGlinecy, Norman Klein, John Costello and George Bishop.

In the junior class: Frank Pimpinella, Bradley McManus, Ronald Tornwall and Charles Volz.

Sophomore Class: Thomas Meskel, Clifford Randolph and Anthony Vinci.

Freshman Class: Thomas Sullivan, Thomas Doyle, Edward Frank and James Pike.

Merit in Studies

The following students have received merit in studies:

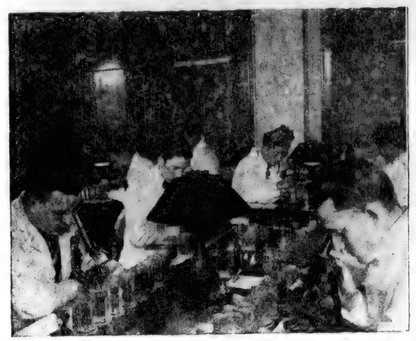
In the senior class: Stanley Bobrowski, Thomas De Rosa and Harry Hatsinger.

In the junior class: Thomas Casper, Joseph York and Gerald Lynam.

Sophomore Class: Walter Kelly, Raymond Valentine, Walter Brown and Robert Metsinger.

Freshman Class: John Parson, Anthony La Brasca, Joseph Tobin and Lawrence Molloy.

Visions of Open House



Scenes similar to the one above will be the order of the day when Villanovans exploit the thrills of college life for prospective students at the revived Open House, May 1 and 2. What are they doing? Why? What's that for?

Daily Account of Jaunt by Modern Demosthenes In Metropolitan Area

Roaming Forsenic Exponent Queries College Students on "Americanism" Opinions

By MURRAY ZEALOR

Thursday morning, February 16

VILLANOVAN editor called me up. . . heard I was making a trip to several colleges. He wants story on Americanism. Americanism has been the subject of much discussion on the campus. . . .movie houses playing the Star Spangled Banner, basketball games being led off with the same music. . . .newspapers, magazines, radio and the theater have been domonstrating a recent concern about glorifying America.

Thursday evening, February 16

Georgian Court . . . nice place, nice women. Played ping-pong, debated, talked. . . .the girls never heard of Americanism. It was a lovely thought though . . . Boys look so nice in uniforms, and medals too. . . .

Friday, February 17

New Brunswick and Rutgers. Americanism, ah yes, we heard of it. . .See America first and Europe last. Junior prom was on that day . . .Ozzie Nelson too. Why should they talk about Americanism? I am going over there in ten years and catch them in a serious mood . . .ah, but it was a glorious dance . . .and Harriet, well!

Saturday, February 18 (In the morning)

The boys from Saint Francis, nice boys . . .they treated me elegantly. One of the lads at a movie the night before said the flag in technicolor and the playing of the Star Spangled Banner made him want to jump up, grab a gun and fight. Just what he hasn't learned yet. The main feature was all airplanes, hundreds of them swarming, diving, preparing.

Saturday noon, February 18

Saw tanks on Times Square. Is there reason to wonder what Americanism is?

Saturday evening, February 18

In a penthouse 25 stories up had supper, and the food was no different up so high. Our hostess thought Americanism is wonderful—makes our young men feel and realize that there is foreign opposition. Might mention the 6th Ave. "L," over which many fought of a mid-day now is become part of a $25,000,000 an hour instrument of destruction.

Sunday, February 19

Jersey City—did not see Hague—he must be about somewhere. Frank failed here—Americanism strongest in evidence, no situations of unrest—hand of iron, glove of velvet.

Monday morning, February 20

Home—to record these impressions.

TSCHAIKOWSKY HEARD

Music Seminar Holds First Meeting in Newly Acquired Simpson Hall

A capacity audience attended the Music Seminar's first session in Simpson Hall on Thursday evening, February 17.

This program was the first of the new spring cycle and was devoted to Tschaikowsky's compositions. The pieces presented were: the "Nutcracker Suite," "Pathetique Symphony," and "1812 Overture."

Works of Wagner will be heard this Thursday, with a symphonic synthesis of "Tristan and Isolde" featured; this is a new and outstanding recording by the Philadelphia Orchestra under the direction of Leopold Stokowski. "Prelude to Lohengrin," "Tannerhauser Overture," and "Ride of the Walkures" are also the evening's program.

DISCUSS SUPREME COURT

Before a large attendance the History Seminar held its first meeting in Simpson Hall on Thursday, February 16, under the direction of Dr. Hartman.

For the first this year a paper was submitted by a student, John Parsons, a freshman, read his paper in which he outlined the origin and development of the Supreme Court up to the present day.

Particular emphasis was placed upon Chief Justice John Marshall and how he gave the Supreme Court most of the power it now holds.

Calendar

Tuesday, February 21, 1939
German Seminar ..... 9:45 A. M.
VILLANOVAN ..... 1:00 P. M.
Play, "They Never Learn" 8:30 P. M.

Wednesday, February 22, 1939
Interscholastic Swim Meet 2:00 P. M.
Spanish Club ..... 7:00 P. M.

Thursday, February 23, 1939
Science Seminar .....10:35 A. M.
History Seminar ..... 4:00 P. M.

Friday, February 24, 1939
Research Seminar ..... 4:00 P. M.
N. Y. U. Game, Phila. . . 8:15 P. M.

Monday, February 27, 1939
Junior Class ..... 1:00 P. M.
Belle Air (Arts) ..... 1:00 P. M.
Moravian Game ..... 9:00 P. M.

'They Never Learn' Sponsored By Band

Continued From Page One

Kamph are a pair of upstarts who wish to get everything by force. These two characters are leaders in the overthrow while Builen is the savior of the student body when he helps the original staff retake control at the end of the show.

Several songs written by James Cook are also featured. Builen and Donaldson, known on the campus as Bill Dobbins and Ed Lacenty are the solo vocalists while the Villanova Glee Club lends assistance with the group choruses.

Other roles of minor importance are: several professors; a pair of jitterbug dancers; Boris Palinski, a very vociferous man also in the rebellion; and the president of the college, quite a pompous individual. The only female impersonation in the show is that of a girl jitterbug in the dance routine. Another interesting feature will be found in the presence of an entire football team on the stage.

The production marks the first endeavor of its type on the Villanova campus. Although the Belle Masque has staged many plays during the length of its tenure, it has never succeeded in presenting an original show. Tonight will mark the beginning of what will probably become an annual affair on the dramatic calendar.

DEBATING PROSPERS WITH LESS FORMAL METHODS EMPLOYED

University of Chicago's Debate Union Increases; Forum Discussion Technique Used

CHICAGO, ILL., (ACP)—Offhand, a debating society which has abandoned debating as an outmoded form of expression seems almost as ludicrous as a swimming team which quit swimming because it found out about boats.

The University of Chicago's student Debate Union, however, stopped "debating" last year. It has, in the meantime, developed radio "bull sessions," round tables, forum discussions, and a half dozen other techniques which it believes to be more adapted to a rapid world than the florid presentation of a set of neatly carded debate notes on a "resolved" proposition.

A 250 percent increase in the Union membership, making it the second largest student organization on the University of Chicago quadrangles, has accompanied the shift from cut-and-dried debate methods.

Last year's Debate Union was a modest group of 50 debaters, intent on winning contests with other debating teams. Experiments with other discussion forms was a negligible part of its program. This year's organization has a membership of 125 students, whose aim is to present ideas interesting as they can to the largest possible audiences.

More than 150 audiences, including those of two major radio networks, will have been reached by the Debate Union when the current academic year ends. This means a program every 40 hours on the average, from the beginning of work in the Fall to its finish in June.

The organization has discussed subjects ranging from European war scares to parent-child relations, from marriage to the WPA, from religious problems to higher education.

A.S.M.E. INSPECTS SELLERS PLANT

Machines and machine tools were studied by the A. S. M. E. on a recent visit by the society to the plant of William C. Sellers and Co.

On February 13 the members attended a banquet given at the Engineers Club by the Society of Automotive Engineers and listened to an address by Mr. Austin Wolfe, consultant automotive engineer of New York, on Filtering Falacies.

At the last meeting of the Chemical Society several members of the A. S. M. E. were present to view a film on Wrought Iron. The picture was shown on February 13, in the Mendel Hall amphitheater.

Arrangements are being made by the trip committee for an inspection tour of a ship-building company, which is located in Camden, New Jersey.

DORSEY ADDRESSES MATHEMATICS CLUB

The Mathematics Club will meet in Simpson Hall for the first time next Monday, February 27. Use of the hall has been secured for all future meetings as well.

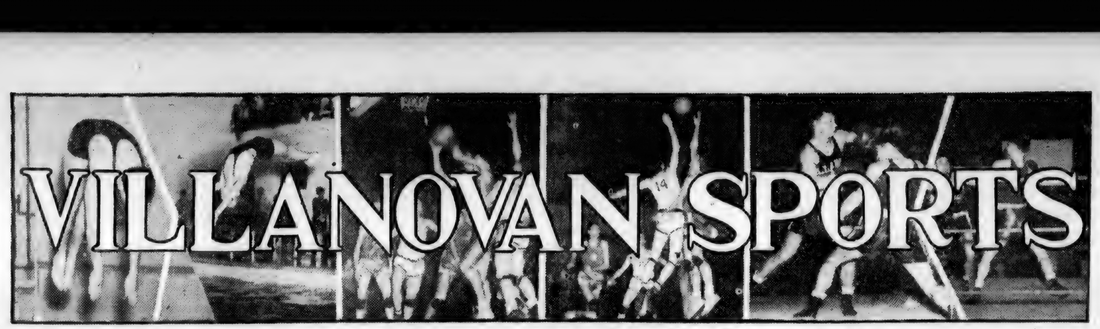
Joseph Dorsey gave a talk on "Magic Squares" at the meeting in Room 208 Mendel yesterday afternoon. He first gave an historical sketch on the subject, from its origin in India, through the Middle Ages when its forms were believed to have truly magical properties, down to its popularity as a pastime in the present day.

He illustrated methods of making squares of the odd order, that is, those with an odd number of horizontal and vertical rows. These were proven by addition and by use of a formula, and the club as a whole joined in discussion of special cases.

ENGINEERS PLAN TRIP

Slides showing the process of filtration will be shown to the Villanova chapter of the American Society of Chemical Engineers on March 27, through the courtesy of the John Manaville Sales Co.

Another one of a series of trips to various places of interest to engineers will be taken to the DuPont manufacturing plant in Wilmington, Del., through the courtesy of Mr. L. [illegible]otte, a Villanova alumnus. [illegible] has been set for this trip as an alumni banquet [illegible] in the Spring will [illegible] gotten under way, according to Dr. Hardisch, moderator of the [illegible]ty.



Basketeers Win Three Games In Busy Week

HIGH SCHOOL STARS TO VIE FOR HONORS IN VILLANOVA POOL

Interscholastic Meet Attracts Swimmers From Several Nearby States

ST. FRANCIS HOLDS TITLE

Outstanding schoolboy swimmers from more than 50 of the leading Catholic high schools in the East have been invited to compete in the fifth Annual Villanova National Catholic Interscholastic Swimming Championships meet to be held in the Main Line Pool on Wednesday.

The invitation list is the largest issued since Villanova first established the event and is expected to attract the biggest and most representative array of talent this year due to the steady development and increasing interest in swimming in interscholastic sports circles, according to Dr. Ruggerio Flocco, Villanova swimming coach and director of the meet.

Holds Title

The present Catholic Interscholastic national swimming crown is held by St. Francis Prep, of Brooklyn, N. Y. The Franciscans also hold the New York State prep school swimming championship. They took the national title at Villanova for the second time in succession last year with a score of 58 and one-half points. West Catholic High, of Philadelphia, was runner-up with 25 and one-half points.

It is expected that St. Francis will accept the invitation to defend the championship. The crack Brooklyn team would enter the meet a favorite to repeat, but not, however, without facing the prospects of a struggle for the honor this year.

Challengers

Among the other teams invited are several now in positions to make the defending champions look to their laurels. West Catholic High, of Philadelphia, looms as a very strong contender. St. Joseph's

HIGH SCHOOL Continued on Page Seven

KELLEY SHINES AS MERMEN WIN

St. Francis Submerged in Main Line Pool; Barrett Scores

By SAUL WALLACH

Paced by sophomore sprint star Walter Kelley, a well balanced Villanova swimming team churned the waters of the local pool hard enough to gain a decisive victory over an old jinx team, St. Francis College of Brooklyn, Friday afternoon. The score was 42-33 in favor of the Blue.

Kelley gave Villanova its first points of the meet when he raced to victory in the 220-yard free-style event in the time of 2:27.6, pacing Chuck Shain of St. Francis and Bill Bailey, Villanova captain, to the finish.

Kelley Again

Twenty minutes later Kelley raced through the water to touch pay territory ahead of Charlie Barrett and George Diamond of the visitors to win the 100-yard sprint. His time for the century was 56.8. Kelley holds Villanova pool records for both events and the distinction of being the only swimmer to defeat Paul Williams, Pennsylvania captain, in three years of competition.

Sharing honors with Kelley in the

KELLEY Continued on Page Six

N. Y. U. Captain

DANNY DOWD

NEW YORK U. SEEKS REVENGE FOR 1938

High Flying Moravian Five Comes Here Monday For Last Home Tilt

By HARRY MAZZEI

With the 1938-39 basketball season in its waning weeks, Villanova's rampant Wildcats will make their last Convention Hall appearance of the season on Friday night when they meet the vaunted Violets of New York University as part of a twin bill. In the other fray Temple will be host to Georgetown's Hoyas in an Eastern Conference tilt. Next Tuesday the Blue will close its home season against Moravian's Greyhounds in the Main Line gym.

Sophs on N. Y. U. Five

N. Y. U. comes to Quakertown with an almost all-sophomore five which has finally started to click as a unit. Impressive in their early meetings but losing most of their games the University Heights outfit is now riding the crest of the successful part of their season. Losers only once in their last eight games, the Violets are hitting on all cylinders now and, outside of L. I. U.'s undefeated squad, they are considered the best dribble, cut, and shoot outfit in the Metropolitan area.

At the present writing the Cann-coached team has a record of ten victories and five defeats against the most powerful court aggregations in the country. The only blemish in their recent plays was caused by Notre Dame's high-geared quintet in the Madison Square Garden. Violet adherents charge this loss to the inability of Irving Dubinsky to take part in the contest, for at that time Dubinsky was incapacitated by an ailing ankle. But now the squad is at full strength and pointing for the im-

N. Y. U. Continued on Page Seven

KILLIAN'S WIN TIES BLUE RINGMEN WITH CITY COLLEGE TEAM

Nojunas, Co-Captains Kirk and Duffy Score Other Victories on New York Card

PETE NAIMO IMPRESSIVE

By JIM HAUGHTON

Ed Killian, the Hartford Gargantuan, again proved to be Villanova's ace in the hole against C. C. N. Y. by decisively beating Sid Emmer in the unlimited class and providing the blue and white with the tying marker. The heavyweight-gridder, who in his last start against Catholic University earned the deciding point, proved too much for Emmer and handed him his first defeat in two years of intercollegiate punching.

Tied Last Year

City College and the locals also battled to a tie last year, and this year's meet proved just as exciting. While no knockouts occurred, several bouts produced knockdowns. Pete Naimo, the soph gridder making his first start, battled hammer and tong with Jack Entes, but lost the decision. Naimo dropped Eates in the first, but the New Yorker came back and floored Pete twice in the second canto.

Nojunas Wins

The bout between John Nojunas and Allan Avidon of City in the 165-pound class was one of the best. Nojunas learned his lesson at C. U. and emerged with a victory over the same man he fought here last year.

"Buzz" Mowen opened the evening's festivities by dropping a decision to Abe Datmer of City College in the 118 class. "Buzz" looked very good but lacked the experience necessary to earn him a decision. Ariano then dropped a decision to Marty Kaufman, after which the Villanova co-captains Eddie Kirk and Bill Duffy continued their winning streaks by beating Matt Topel and Jack Finger in the 135 and 145 classes, respectively.

C. C. N. Y. Takes Lead

But the New Yorkers forged ahead on Vic Zimet's close win over Bob Metzinger in the 155 section. Johnny Nojunas, however, tied things up by walloping Allan Avidon in the 165 group. Naimo's loss dropped Villanova behind, going into the final encounter but Big Ed proved too strong and knocked Emmer off his coveted perch.

Smith Asks Union to Recognize Maher's Mark In 50-Yd. Dash

Villanova College has asked the A. A. U. to give John Maher, Wildcat sophomore sprint star, credit for equalling the new indoor 50-yard dash record of 5.1 seconds.

The request was made by M. J. "Clipper" Smith, director of athletics at Villanova, in a letter to Judge Eugene C. Bonniwell, president of the Middle Atlantic Association of the A. A. U.

The mark was set at the Penn A. C. indoor meet in Convention Hall last Friday as Maher and Norwood "Barney" Ewell, Penn State negro freshman flash, finished in a virtual "dead heat," both runners bettering the previous record of 5.2 seconds for the event.

The judges decided that Elwell had snapped the tape a hairs-breadth in front of Maher, but the finish was so close that if less than one-tenth of a second difference existed between Maher's and Elwell's times, the watches could not record it and the official timers reported that both runners covered the distance in 5.1 seconds.

"We do not question," wrote "Clipper," "the decision of the judges that the race was won by Elwell . . . a thrilling and well-merited victory for which he (Elwell) deserves all the credit and praise which can be bestowed upon him for the feat.

"At the same time," continues Smith's letter, "it is a matter of record that John Maher also was clocked in 5.1 seconds for the distance, and so we feel, in all fairness, that Maher also is entitled to credit and official recognition of his time for the event."

Smith asked that this claim be given due and proper consideration during the course of any action which the Record Committee of the A. A. U. may take on the new mark.

Cadets, Hawks, Engineers Fail as Cats Turn On Heat

Blue and White Squad Reaches Peak in Beating St. Joseph's, 36-18; P. M. C. and Lehigh Engaged in Spectacular Contests

JOHN KRUTULIS SHINES IN EACH GAME

By JOE BARNES

In a week in which St. Joseph's College, highest-scoring quintet in Philadelphia, and P. M. C., early-season conquerors of La Salle, were supposed to furnish Villanova with stiff opposition it remained for little Lehigh University to put out a club worthy to face the Blue and White.

St. Joseph's, woefully weak in every department of the game except fouling, fell easy prey to the Severance squad as the Villianovans failed to work up a sweat in winning, 36-18.

P. M. C. on last Tuesday night furnished a great courtman in Rex Gardecki, but one man wasn't enough to stop the Philadelphia district's finest team as the Blue coasted through the final ten minutes to a 37-31 conquest.

Lehigh Tough

Saturday night was a different story as the unheralded Engineers from up-state held the Wildcats to a close, last-minute, 31-29 victory. In the first period of the game the Engineers held Villanova without a field goal and rolled up a 10-3 lead. Sophomore Paul Nugent, high scorer for the evening with eleven points, broke the ice for Villanova with about ten minutes of play gone. The Blue five outscored Lehigh in the second ten minute stretch but the Engineers still led at halftime, 18-15.

With the start of the second half the Villanova squad gradually began to tear apart the Engineers' lead and finally knotted the score at 24-24. Action became hot at this point. Lehigh held a three-point lead that looked very big with only four minutes of play remaining. Nugent sank one from the 15-foot mark for Villanova and Krutulis came through to knot the count at 29.

Seconds to Go

The tie remained until only a few

CADETS Continued on Page Six

Sportorial

By Phil Dunn
Sports Editor

JOHNNY MAHER is noted for being left in his holes at the start of a race. While it is evident that he was not left behind in his record-breaking dash at Convention Hall the other night, he most certainly DID NOT beat the gun—his condition was implied by the "Daily Pennsylvanian" whose participant in the event was left far in the rear.

Lawson Robertson, Penn's track coach, is among the many spectators who will stick up for Johnny on this point. Penn could use more men like "Robbie."

—V—

Paul Nugent is regarded as the best one-hand shot in the city by those who should know. The accuracy of shots with either hand was used in formulating this opinion.

PHIL DUNN

—V—

The Intramural Basketball League is drawing to a close and

SPORTORIAL Continued on Page Six

MAHER LOSES TO JOHNSON TWICE

Reaces Semi-Finals in Garden Sprint; Team Runs Again Tuesday

Villanova's claim to fame on the track, the world's "second fastest human," Johnny Maher, did some very good running in Madison Square Garden on Saturday night, but was eliminated from competition in the 60-yard dash in the semi-final heat.

Johnson Wins

Maher ran in the first of two semi-final heats and finished a close third to Ben Johnson, who won, and Paul Walker of Oglethorpe, who came in second. Johnny qualified for the semi-finals by chasing Johnson across the finish line in the first heat. The winner on both occasions, Ben Johnson, was clocked in 0:06.3 in the first and 0:06.2 in the second.

Maher also ran as the first man of the Wildcats' relay team which finished third to Rhode Island and Boston College. Other members of the team were Bill Dobbins, Bill Guiteras, and Barney Bellew, who ran in that order.

Go to New York

After three weeks of fast-class competition on the boards the Villanova track team travels to New

MAHER Continued on Page Six

C & F Team Nears Championship

PACEMAKING WHITES NEED ANOTHER WIN TO ENTER PLAY-OFF

Mendel and Alumni Share Cellar as Second Half Draws to Close

FEDIGAN WHIPS DAY-HOPS

C&F's high-riding quintet, from down yonder in the Business School moved two paces nearer to the second half Intramural Basketball Championship by defeating Fedigan and Alumni Halls during the past week. By their victories the C&F team eliminated all but Austin and the Day-hops from the race. The big White club needs only one more victory to keep them in first place for the second half season.

Slow in starting but coming back fast at the end, the Businessmen punctured the Maroon team by the score of 42-39, and then a day later captured their seventh victory in eight starts by crushing the Greenies from Alumni Hall 48-33.

Fedigan Lacks Attack

The Maroon, on equal height with the Businessmen in their defense, lacked the fine shooting of the White. Coupe, Sweeney, and McGurk led the C&F squad to their victory by throwing in nine points apiece, while Fedigan's lanky center, "Tex" Connors compiled six baskets for 12 points.

C&F, using long throw-ups as their primary offensive took the lead at the end of the first half by the score of 22-16. Although the Fedigan team never drew into a tie with White they managed to stay close behind and never trailed by more than four points, and with this slight margin the Businessmen routed their feudal opponents. The game was marked by eleven fouls, with the Maroon team sinking five of the six fouls awarded them.

Roughest Game

C&F closed their basketball engagements with Alumni Hall by downing them for the fourth straight time. It was by far the roughest tilt of the season with 24 fouls being committed by both teams. Schelle and Stack were ejected from the game with four fouls against them but their teammates made up for their absence with a host of baskets from all angles of the court. C&F's height advantage was a big factor in their victory, many of their baskets being gained through this medium.

Stack and Schelle contributed 20 points between them before they were removed from the contest. Laskey was the high man for the Greenies with nine points.

Greys Lose

On Thursday night's twin bill Fedigan came back strong from their previous defeat and handed the Mendel Day-hops a 28-19 defeat. The Greys were completely outclassed in the first half and trailed 20-5 at the close of that period. From then on Fedigan coasted along to an easy victory. Connors was high for the winners with 12 points. Keating, out with an injury the past few games, returned to the Mendel line-up and threw in four baskets.

The latter part of the doubleheader saw a fast and threatening Austin five defeat the Mendel Residents by the score of 52-39. Burlington was high for the Blue team with 13 points, while Skaff tallied 12 points for the losers.

MURAL STANDING

	W.	L.	P.C.
C&F	7	1	.875
Austin	5	2	.714
M. D. S.	4	3	.571
Fedigan	4	4	.500
Mendel	1	6	.143
Alumni	1	6	.143

Kelley

Continued From Page Five

Wildcat victory was Charlie Barrett whose second place in the 100-yard free style event was preceded by a close victory in the 50-yard sprint. Barrett won the event after some gruelling competition from John Pholeric in the splendid time of 24.8.

Timmins Wins Handily

Charlie Timmins, the most improved individual on Dr. Flocco's tank squad, continued to flash the form that earned him Catholic Interscholastic honors in the diving event three years ago, and clearly outpointed Price of St. Francis and Dick Martin of Villanova to win the event for the Wildcats.

Villanova clinched the meet when Pholeric, Sharit, Barrett and Kelley captured the 400-yard relay in the time of 4:07.9 in a run away from start to finish.

St. Francis presented a speedy trio in Johnny Lynch, Cal Mullin and Charles Schain. Lynch was pushed all the way by Ed Leahy before he was declared a winner in the 150 backstroke. Mullin and Price dominated the 220 breaststroke. The former won in the fast time of 2.53. Schain picked up five more points for his side to add to those he received in the 220 freestyle, by overtaking Captain Bill Bailey in the last leg of the 440-yard event. He also placed third in the backstroke.

Lose Medley Relay

Mullin and Lynch teamed with George Diamond to nose out the Villanova medley-trio of John Pholeric, Paul Farnesworth and Paul Fitzmaurice in the opening race on the program.

Villanova rings the curtain down on one of the finest seasons in campus history against a powerful Rider College swimming team on March 3. The Wildcats have yet to beat the Trenton natators either at home or away since the sport was introduced here.

Sportorial

Continued From Page Five

play-off time will soon be here. It looks like the Fedigan ites, who are "in," will meet the C&F Day-hops, who are almost there, for the championship. This column predicts a win for the commuters. Fedigan made too poor a showing in the second half of the season to make a comeback.

Incidentally, it might be worth your while to drop in on these contests. You'll see a lot more scrap than you will in many of the varsity games.

—V—

Villanova's basketeers showed their best foul-shooting form to date when they made nine out of ten free tosses against P. M. C. last Tuesday.

—V—

Another prediction: A whale of a battle for infield positions on this year's varsity nine. At least five good men are expected to report for duty at shortstop and third base posts.

—V—

"Clipper" has installed a radio in the gym. Its purpose is to aid him in ridding the freshman backs of stiffness, in shifting. When he says "swing time" football, he means it!

—V—

A call is hereby issued to resident students who would like to earn a position on the sports staff. Underclassmen are preferred, but residence on the campus is the only essential. Many events take place on the campus, especially in the evenings and on the week-ends, that a student living here can handle more easily than a Day-hop. We do not have anything against the Day-hops, but most of the staff is composed of them now. Report to the regular meeting of the staff this afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Cadets

Continued From Page Five

seconds of the game were left. Montgomery, scoreless all evening, took a pass near mid-floor and let fly for the basket with one of his "bullet" shots. The Field House became a bedlam of noise as the famous red lights blinked to put Villanova ahead, 31-29.

In the Friday night meeting with St. Joe in Convention Hall the Blue virtually yawned its way to a win over the hapless, anemic descendent of former great Hawk aggregations. Larry Kenney, highly touted "star" of the Crimson five, was just another "uniform filler," as Villanova's Jim Montgomery squelched every effort of the Hawk courtman.

St. Joseph's Weak

With Kenney completely bottled up and and sewed away by Montgomery the St. Joe club was just about the weakest foe the Blue has met all season. Woeful in their feebie attempts to penetrate the tight Villanova defense, the Crimson and Gray notched only one field goal in their first 31 minutes of play. In the remaining nine minutes they managed to rack up a few counters against the Villanova substitutes.

Villanova, content to let the Hawks wallow in their own ineptness, took things easy and breezed through the sorrowful affair, with Jim Montgomery leading the scorers with eight points.

Maher

Continued From Page Five

York to participate in the annual National A. A. U. indoor championships, held in Madison Square Garden, February 28.

Coach "Jumbo" Elliot plans to enter a seven man team, with the possibility of an eighth man making the trip. Maher will make his first bid for a major intercollegiate indoor title when he toes the mark as an entry in the A. A. U. 60-yard race.

The other men making the trip are Bill Guiteras, Barney Bellew, Bill Dobbins, Pete Yankauskas, Tom McCabe, and Whitey Urbellis.

Members of Relay Team

Elliot has not yet determined who will comprise the mile relay team, but more than likely it will consist of Yankaukas, Dobbins, Bellew, and Guiteras.

Maher, who has enjoyed a successful season, thus far, will face a strong field consisting of Penn State's Barney Ewell, Columbia's Herb Weasl, N. Y. U.'s sprint sensation, Herb Thompson, and other record holders. Accompanying Johnny in this event will be his team-mate, Whitey Urbellis.

McCabe to Run Mile

Making a bid for a title in the mile run will be Tom McCabe. This will be Tom's first attempt of the year at this distance, but no has been keeping in excellent condition, and Elliot expects him to be right up there at the finish.

KEEP SUPPLIED WITH SCHOOL TICKETS

Good on Buses and Rail Cars until used. 5c a Ride, including Special Free Transfers. School Identification Cards may be obtained at School Office.

PHILADELPHIA SUBURBAN TRANSPORTATION COMPANY
ARONIMINK TRANSPORTATION CO.

COLADONATO
B. M. 1266
College Tailor Since 1925
Junior Blazers Made to Measure

CLEANING PRESSING

"THE CLOTHES WE SELL FIT WELL"
Cassocks and Capes at Reasonable Prices
See Campus Representative
ED DIMON
235 Austin

JEANNETT'S
BRYN MAWR FLOWER SHOP
Floral Ideas For All Occasions
Specializing in Corsages
Member Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association
823 Lancaster Ave.
Bryn Mawr 570

In the Sportlight

By FRANK J. CALLAHAN

* * *

Time:—1949.
Place:—At home.

* * *

AH, the comforts of home in the evening! ! There I was loat in the depths of my favorite chair, flicking ashes on the rug, and at the same time feeling sorry for my wife who was out in the kitchen, doing dishes with one hand and scrubbing the floor with the other, with a dizzy look on his face. Presently an odd looking little tyke, tottered into the living room, and broke the silence with a booming voice.

"Hey pop, you're not doing anything again, how about telling me about some fellows you used to know at Villanova?"

Reluctant to say "yes" and afraid to say "no," since the lad was quite husky for his five years of life, I began my tale.

What's the Story?

"Well Cuthbert—it's time you were in bed, but I'll tell you about one fellow I knew, and that's Dubino—Lou Dubino. Watta boy he was! Why son, he could palm a basketball in one hand like your mother palms my salary check. He stood about an inch over six feet and weighed around 180 pounds. He arrived at the Dubino home in New York in 1915, just two days late for Christmas.

"He learned how to play basketball down at Linden High and won six letters from this New Jersey school before his graduation. Besides playing basketball he excelled at baseball, track and golf. Yes, Cuthy, he was quite a lad. When he was 20 years old, he came to Villanova where he took the educational course, majoring in chemistry. That may mean nothing to you, but when an athlete majors in chemistry, that's news!

Filled In

"Although he played regularly his sophomore year, Lou was relegated to a 'fill in' post in his junior campaign. A 'fill in' man, Cuthy, is a fellow that a coach can always depend upon to get a few needed points in a close game. Dubino 'filled in' perfectly and was rewarded with a starting position his senior year.

Accuracy Plus

"But Cuthy, old boy, you should have seen Lou back in 1939, while he playing as a senior. Why, in his first five games he didn't miss one shot that he tried. Yes sir, for five games Lou was shooting bulls eyes from all over the court. That boy had the eye of a chaperon at a high school dance combined with the speed of a deer with a hotfoot.

"Lou realized his one great ambition, son, the night he played his last game for Villanova. He always wanted to play basketball in Madison Square Garden, and it so happened that Villanova's last game of the 1939 season was with C. C. N. Y. at the Garden.

Goes Abroad

"And then son, after graduation, Lou 'hung up his muscles,' as he had threatened, and secured a position with the Standard Oil Company. He's far from Villanova now, Cuthy, as he was connected with the Foreign Service Division of that company, and carried on his work abroad.

"And that, Cuthy, is the story of one of Villanova's greatest court stars—Lou Dubino.

WATCH
Repairing of the Better Grade
CHIME and GRANDFATHER CLOCKS
REPAIRED by EXPERT CRAFTSMEN AT LOW COST
FINE JEWELRY and OPTICAL REPAIRS
ESHNER'S
In Waiting Room of 69TH ST. (P.R.T.) TERMINAL
Phone: Boulevard 2408
Est. 1907

Compliments of
BRYN MAWR TRUST CO.

Men's Clothes Made-to-Measure
COLEBY
Tailoring Inc.
57th & Market Sts.
Suits & Topcoats
$24.75
See Campus Representative
TIM WAAD
210 Fedigan

The Wayne Hotel
LANCASTER AVENUE
WAYNE, PA.
Telephone 330
Headquarters For Visitors to Villanova
Excellent Dinners at $1
SPECIAL STUDENT RATES
J. T. McFATE, Mgr.

Philadelphia's Unpredictableness Shown by Crowds at Sports Contests

Attendance Great at Mediocre Presentations While Star-Studded Performances Go Unnoticed; Promoters Always Keep Fingers Crossed

This Philadelphia—It's amazing. Every showman, promoter, actor, backer, etc., crosses his fingers each time he brings a project into the "City of Brotherly Love." For Philadelphia has earned the reputation being the most unpredictabel city in the big city circuits. Figure it out for yourself.

Up in Frankford in the Irish sector, Johnny Burns runs a fight arena, the Cambria—affectionately known to the boys as the "Blood Pit." Burns jams them in, even with mediocre programs.

Swimming a failure

Not so long ago, Convention Hall invested a sizable sum of money in an aquatic presentation in which the returning Olympic stars participated. A large tank was set up in the center of the auditorium and a tremendous outcome for the event was predicted. What happened? You could find yourself a seat anywhere in the house and feel alone. Philly, as usual ran untrue to form.

A few weeks back, Convention Hall staged a professional tennis competition between Don Budge and Ellsworth Vines. Attendance? There wasn't enough there to generate sufficient cigarette smoke to hurt your eyes.

Penn Packs Them In

Ah, but let Penn play Cornell. Then you have Mr. Blotz's secretary saving her lunch money and starving herself to buy a ticket, just so she could say that she saw Penn and Cornell throwing Ivy leaves at each other. Everybody north of City Hall begs, borrows, or purloins enough cash to gain entrance into Franklin Field on the afternoon that these heavily traditioned institutions tangle.

Take Villanova, among the best in gridiron ranks for two years running. The attendance at Wildcat games? Well, the receipts from the Detroit game just covered the groundkeepers' expense for the year. Enough was made on the Temple game to pay off the ticket sellers. The expenses for the rest of the games were paid with the money we didn't make the year before. It's beyond comprehension.

Maybe it can be charged to tradition. These Philadelphians seem to eat up tradition.

High School

Continued From Page Five

Prep, La Salle High and Northeast Catholic High, all of Philadelphia; Regis High, New York City; Brooklyn Prep, and St. Benedict's Prep, Newark, N. J., are rated likely "dark horses" in any race for the Catholic school swim honors.

Meet marks on the line this year include the 5:5.8 seconds records for the 100-yard freestyle set at Villanova last year by Henry Steingass, of La Salle High, Philadelphia, and the 1:12.2s meet record for the 100-yard breaststroke also set last year by Ed Vacca, of St. Francis, of Brooklyn.

List of Teams

The list of teams invited includes:

West Catholic High, Northeast Catholic High, La Salle High, St. Joseph's Prep, Roman Catholic High and Southeast Catholic High, all of Philadelphia; St. Francis Prep, Bishop Loughlin High, Brooklyn Prep, St. Augustine's High and St. John's High, all of Brooklyn; Regis High, New York City; St.

Benedict's Prep, Newark; Salesianum High, Wilmington; Immaculate Conception High and Central Catholic High, Allentown; St. Joseph's High and Easton Catholic High, Easton; St. Robert's High and Immaculate Heart High, Chester; Camden Catholic High and St. Mary's Cathedral High, Camden; St. Thomas College High, Scranton; York Catholic High, York; Lancaster Catholic High, Lancaster; Harrisburg Catholic High, Harrisburg; St. Mark's High, Bristol; St. Augustine's High, Jenkintown; St. Peter's High, Reading; Pottsville Catholic High, Pottsville; St. Agnes' High, West Chester; Immaculate Conception High, Jenkintown; St. Mark's High, Bristol; St. Augustine's High, Bridgeport; Bethlehem Catholic High, Bethlehem; Holy Spirit High, Atlantic City; St. Peter's Prep, Jersey City; St. Katharine's Prep, Wayne; Malvern Prep, Malvern, and St. Patrick's High, Norristown.

CATHOLIC MANAGERS

That Catholics are doing all right in baseball is shown by the fact that five big league managers hold our religious beliefs. "Gabby" Hartnet of the Cubs, and "Lippy" Durocher, Brooklyn boss, pilot clubs in the senior circuit and are Catholic. Connie Mack, Jimmie Dykes, and Joe McCarthy, lead the American League teams of Philadelphia, Chicago, and New York, respectively, and they too "keep the faith."

(NOTRE) DAME RUMOR

Rumors that a Notre Dame-Villanova meeting would be arranged for Philadelphia next Fall were laughed at by various officials. The idea came from Chicago, which city is desirous of stealing the Army-Navy game from Philadelphia this year. Chicago "would-be" backers of the Army-Navy clash proposed the N. D.-V. C. meeting as a solace to Philly football fans.

New York U.

Continued From Page Five

broglio with the Blue and White.

Lest we forget it was last year's Villanova five that administered the first defeat to an N. Y. U. team on the New Yorkers' home court since it was constructed in 1934. To say that the "city slickers" will be out for revenge is putting it mildly.

Dowd Leads Violet

Danny Dowd, husky football-playing guard, will captain the Violets in their only Philadelphia performance of the year, and he will have a stellar supporting cast of three sophomores and one junior. In addition to Dowd, who is a great defensive performer, the only other junior on the starting five will be Bobby Lewis, a sensational scorer. Lewis finished up last season in a starting berth, and this year he has risen to even greater heights. The slight Bronx boy is almost a sure-fire bet for an All-Metropolitan berth.

The three starting sophomores will be chosen from Ben Auerbach, "Red" Stevens, Irv Dubinsky, and Irv Resnick. These four lads have been performing in such an outstanding manner that it is quite possible they will all start. In this event Dowd will not get the call. All four of these sophomores are good shots and well-versed in court lore and striped-wood technique.

Varied Attack

With the facts boiled down, it can easily be seen that Coach Howard "Jake" Cann has molded another typical N. Y. U. court aggregation. In all probability they will employ the usual deliberate, almost stalled, form of attack varied with a great deal of the usual New York "give and go" variety of Mr. Ainsmith's game. The University Avenue lads have tangled with the Main Liners five times over a period of ten years and have come out on the short end of the score twice. Villanova will be seeking an "even-steven" percentage when the teams clash on Friday night.

On Monday night the Moravian Greyhounds will help the 'Cats ring down the curtain on home contests at the Main Line Field House. Not much is known about the Greyhounds, but they are at present leading the Pennsylvania Collegiate Basketball Conference. From all indications they should present the Blue and White with formidable closing opposition.

RECORD HOLDER

Johnny Maher, Villanova sprinter, still holds the National Catholic 100-yd. dash record, which he set while at West Philadelphia Catholic High. John's time was 9.7 seconds, a sensational mark for a high-school sprinter.

BOX RUTGERS

On Saturday Coach Gadsby takes his boxers to New Brunswick to tangle with Rutgers. The Jersey lads have already beaten several schools, among them Temple, and a hectic evening is expected. Ed Killian will have his hands full against Dave Kutriloff; and in the 175 division Rutgers has Glenn Howatt, who reached the finals in last year's National Championships. Bill Duffy will meet Ernie Baxter, Negro sensation.

Basketball Sidelights

By LOU DUBINO

WHEN Villanova engages C. C. N. Y. in their annual game, they will be fortunate to play the "Blackbirds" on a neutral court. The game is to take place on Wednesday, March 1, and the place of opposition will be the maple-boards of Madison Square Garden.

The C. C. N. Y. playing floor is so narrow and short that it can be well-guarded with the employment of zone defense. When the five men are spread across the court, guarding their opponents basket, they form a good barrier and cause the enemy forces to resort to long range maneuvers. To make matters worse there are hanging from the ceiling physical education equipment which hinders the arching of the long set shots. C. C. N. Y. is so well-coached in the art of zone-defense tactics that it is almost impossible to penetrate the sacred area for a short lay-up shot.

* * *

The C. C. N. Y. game will terminate the college basketball careers of Jim Montgomery, Johnny Krutulis, Art Vigilante, and Lou Dubino, and it will be the first appearance of a Villanova quintet on the boards of the Garden. The Cats have been looking forward to this game, remembering the blemish on their record inflicted by the "Blackbirds" when they met last year in the Bandbox Gym of the New Yorkers.

* * *

St. Johns University of Brooklyn not only over-shadowed the Villanova quintet in basketball but also overshadowed the Villanova students in school spirit. From a reliable source it has been learned that 107 students and friends, followed their favorite sons of Brooklyn to the city of Brotherly Love and inspired the team to its victory. Approximately 200 students of Villanova ventured down to Convention Hall to lend their moral support. As an excuse for their non-attendance at our games, many of the students use the "escape mechanism," "I didn't know they were playing." There are many schedules posted about the campus and a huge billboard staring them in the face just off the Highway which they could readily consult.

* * *

With the abandonment of the Eastern Basketball Conference Villanova will have to carry on as in the past since she looked forward to becoming a member of that league in the very near future. The Conference race is still hot and furious since each team wishes to be the winner of the last league race. If Catholic schools would cooperate with each other we surely could organize a top-notch Catholic league in which would be included — Georgetown, St. Francis, Fordham, Villanova, Boston College, Holy Cross, St. John's of Brooklyn and a few more top-rating schools.

HERE and THERE

By HARRY MAZZEI

IN THE past swimming at Villanova meant little more than strolling down to the pool some afternoon and taking a short dip. But under the guidance of Coach Ruggerio Flocco, who, incidentally, is a diver of no ill repute, the Wildcat aquatic squad has been coming along very nicely and gives great promise of being one of the best tank teams in the East next Winter.

Harry Mazzei

Although they have not set the swimming world afire with a string of uninterrupted victories or even set any new intercollegiate records, the Main Line natators have compiled a better than fair percentage in the won and lost column. At this writing the Blue mermen have sunk Drexel, Delaware, Swarthmore, Fordham and St. Francis, while they have been submerged by F. and M. and a very fine Penn team.

Outstanding on a squad of consistent performers is Walt Kelley, sophomore sprint star who breaks some kind of a record every time he dips his little toe into a tank. Kelley is the N. A. U. U. 50-yard freestyle champion besides being the holder of several pool records. Both Kelley and Bill Hooper, the middle distance ace of the frosh tank team, were offered swimming scholarships to Yale, where swimming is just as much a part of a student's life as eating. 'Nuff said!

That swimming is reaching a new high in the estimation of the student body is easily evidenced by the overflow crowds that have witnessed all the home meets. Perhaps by next year temporary bleachers will have been created to seat the growing number following the ripples of the Wildcat finflippers.

* * *

Suggestion: Now that "Clipper" Smith has edited the motion pictures of most of Villanova's 1938 grid clashes, we think the undergraduates would greatly appreciate receiving an opportunity to see them. To make positive a worthwhile attendance (which the pictures alone would insure), the local alumni could also be invited. Thus they, too, could "take in" any games that they might have missed last Fall. If this suggestion meets with the approval of "Clipper" Smith, it might be well to hold this "Football Movie Night" (there will be no Screeno) on one of these wintry evenings before Spring football reaches its more strenuous labors.

* * *

At the recent Penn A. C. track meet one coy young thing (probably at her first track affair) was overheard asking her escort why the bachelors were given preference over the married men performing. At this query her astonished escort inquired as to what she meant, whereupon the young lady naively came out with "What else can they mean when they announce Joe Whoosie, unattached."

* * *

Perhaps last Saturday night's basketball tilt with the gritty quintet of Lehigh University lacked finesse, but this depravity was more than made up for by the aggressiveness of both teams. Villanova, forced by the close guarding tactics of the Engineers to dispense with their "whirlpool weave" early in the contest, exhibited plenty of intestinal fortitude when the fray began to close with them on the short end of the score. This contest may have seen the Wildcats at their ebb as far as basketball "savoir faire" is concerned, but it showed them at their peak in regard to their ability to come from behind against an opponent that hounded them in every corner of the court all evening.

SEVILLE THEATRE
Student Cards Entitle You to a Reduction.
Tues. & Wed., Feb. 21-22
"DAWN PATROL"
ERROL FLYNN
DAVID NIVEN
BASIL RATHBONE
Thursday, Feb. 23
"STAGE DOOR"
GINGER ROGERS
KATHERINE HEPBURN
Friday, Feb. 24
MICKEY ROONEY
"SLAVE SHIP"
Saturday, Feb. 25
ERNEST TRUEX
KEN MURRAY
"SWING, SISTER, SWING"
Extra: "Trailing The Jaguar"
Sun. & Mon., Feb. 26-27
RICHARD GREENE
LORETTA YOUNG
"KENTUCKY"
In Technicolor

Ardmore Theatre
Notice to Students
Did you know that your matriculation card will get you a reduced rate at the Ardmore Theatre at any time.
Tuesday, Feb. 21
FRANCHOT TONE
FRANCISKA GAAL
"THE GIRL DOWNSTAIRS"
Wed. & Thurs., Feb. 22-23
JACK BENNY in
"ARTISTS AND MODELS ABROAD"
Fri., Sat., Sun. & Mon. Feb. 24-25-26-27
JEANNETTE MacDONALD
NELSON EDDY
In Victor Herbert's
"SWEETHEARTS"

— RIDE FREE ON P. & W. RAILWAY MOVIE TICKET —

NORRIS Theatre
NORRISTOWN
Tues., Feb. 21
"PARIS HONEYMOON" and
"FERDINAND THE BULL"
Wed., Thurs., Fri., Sat., & Mon., Feb. 22, 23, 24, 25, 27
TYRONE POWER
In the Sensational Hit
"JESSIE JAMES"

GRAND Theatre
NORRISTOWN
Tues., Feb. 21
Years Thrill . . 440 Wives
Per Man . . Secret Rituals.
"DARK RAPTURE"
Wed. & Thurs., Feb. 22 & 23
JANE WITHERS in
"ARIZONA WILDCAT"
Fri. & Sat. Feb. 24 & 25
Errol Flynn in "DAWN PATROL"

GARRICK Theatre
Fri. & Sat., Feb. 24 & 25
On Stage 8 and 10 P. M. Lavino Minstrels, 24 in Cast — on Screen Jack Holt 'Crimes Takes a Holiday'

G. W. Cadwallader
Paints, Glass and Painters' Supplies
BUILDERS' SPECIALTIES
6101 MARKET ST.
Philadelphia
Phone SHErwood 1423

Prescriptions
Drugs & Toilet Articles
LA DOW'S PHARMACY
LANCASTER PIKE and SPRING MILL ROAD
VILLANOVA, PA.

Burke Dairies
Milk & Cream
NORRISTOWN, PA.
Phone 2736-W

Direction Warner Bros.
Tower Theatre
69th & Market Sts.
Motion Pictures Are Your Best Entertainment
Tues., Wed. & Thurs., Feb. 21-22-23
MELVYN DOUGLAS
VIRGINIA BRUCE
In a Gay Romantic Comedy
"THERE'S THAT WOMAN AGAIN"
- Washington's Birthday -
Continuous 12:45 to 11 P. M.
Fri., Sat., Sun. & Mon. Feb. 24-25-26-27
Hilarious Comedy
"TOPPER TAKES A TRIP"
Starring
CONSTANCE BENNETT
ROLAND YOUNG

C & F Team Nears Championship

PACEMAKING WHITES NEED ANOTHER WIN TO ENTER PLAY-OFF

Mendel and Alumni Share Cellar as Second Half Draws to Close

FEDIGAN WHIPS DAY-HOPS

C&F's high-riding quintet, from down yonder in the Business School moved two paces nearer to the second half Intramural Basketball Championship by defeating Fedigan and Alumni Halls during the past week. By their victories the C&F team eliminated all but Austin and the Day-hops from the race. The big White club needs only one more victory to keep them in first place for the second half season.

Slow in starting but coming back fast at the end, the Businessmen punctured the Maroon team by the score of 42-39, and then a day later captured their seventh victory in eight starts by crushing the Greenies from Alumni Hall 48-33.

Fedigan Lacks Attack

The Maroon, on equal height with the Businessmen in their defense, lacked the fine shooting of the White, Coupe, Sweeney, and McGurk led the C&F squad to their victory by throwing in nine points apiece, while Fedigan's lanky center, "Tex" Connors compiled six baskets for 12 points.

C&F, using long throw-ups as their primary offensive took the lead at the end of the first half by the score of 22-16. Although the Fedigan team never drew into a tie with White they managed to stay close behind and never trailed by more than four points, and with this slight margin the Businessmen routed their feudal opponents. The game was marked by eleven fouls, with the Maroon team sinking five of the six fouls awarded them.

Roughest Game

C&F closed their basketball engagements with Alumni Hall by downing them for the fourth straight time. It was by far the roughest tilt of the season with 24 fouls being committed by both teams. Scheelle and Stack were ejected from the game with four fouls against them but their teammates made up for their absence with a host of baskets from all angles of the court. C&F's height advantage was a big factor in their victory, many of their baskets being scrammed through this medium.

Stack and Schelle contributed 20 points between them before they were removed from the contest. Lackey was the high man for the Greenies with nine points.

Greys Lose

On Thursday night's twin bill Fedigan came back strong from their previous defeat and handed the Mendel Day-hops a 28-19 defeat. The Greys were completely outclassed in the first half and trailed 20-5 at the close of that period. From then on Fedigan coasted along to an easy victory. Connors was high for the winners with 12 points. Keating, out with an injury the past few games, returned to the Mendel line-up and threw in four baskets.

The latter part of the double-header saw a fast and threatening Austin five defeat the Mendel Residents by the score of 52-39. Burlington was high for the Blue team with 13 points, while Skaff tallied 12 points for the losers.

MURAL STANDING

	W.	L.	P.C.
C&F	7	1	.875
Austin	5	2	.714
M. D. S.	4	3	.571
Fedigan	4	4	.500
Mendel	1	6	.143
Alumni	1	6	.143

Kelley

Continued From Page Five

Wildcat victory was Charlie Barrett whose second place in the 100-yard free style event was preceded by a close victory in the 50-yard sprint. Barrett won the event after some gruelling competition from John Pholeric in the splendid time of 24.8.

Timmins Wins Handily

Charlie Timmins, the most improved individual on Dr. Flocco's tank squad, continued to flash the form that earned him Catholic Interscholastic honors in the diving event three years ago, and clearly outpointed Price of St. Francis and Dick Martin of Villanova to win the event for the Wildcats.

Villanova clinched the meet when Pholeric, Shirtt, Barrett and Kelley captured the 400-yard relay in the time of 4:07.9 in a run away from start to finish.

St. Francis presented a speedy trio in Johnny Lynch, Cal Mullin and Charles Schain. Lynch was pushed all the way by Ed Leahy before he was declared a winner in the 150 backstroke. Mullin and Price dominated the 220 breaststroke. The former won in the fast time of 2.53. Schain picked up five more points for his side to add to those he received in the 220 free-style, by overtaking Captain Bill Bailey in the last leg of the 440-yard event. He also placed third in the backstroke.

Lose Medley Relay

Mullin and Lynch teamed with George Diamond to close out the Villanova medley-trio of John Pholeric, Paul Farnesworth and Paul Fitzmaurice in the opening race on the program.

Villanova rings the curtain down on one of the finest seasons in campus history against a powerful Rider College swimming team on March 3. The Wildcats have yet to beat the Trenton natators either at home or away since the sport was introduced here.

Sportorial

Continued From Page Five

play-off time will soon be here. It looks like the Fedigantes, who are "in," will meet the C&F Day-hops, who are almost there, for the championship. This column predicts a win for the commuters. Fedigan made too poor a showing in the second half of the season to make a comeback.

Incidentally, it might be worth your while to drop in on these contests. You'll see a lot more scrap than you will in many of the varsity games.

—V—

Villanova's basketeers showed their best foul-shooting form to date when they made nine out of ten free tosses against P. M. C. last Tuesday.

—V—

Another prediction: A whale of a battle for infield positions on this year's varsity nine. At least five good men are expected to report for duty at shortstop and third base posts.

—V—

"Clipper" has installed a radio in the gym. Its purpose is to aid him in ridding the freshman backs of stiffness, in shifting. When he says "swing time" football, he means it!

—V—

A call is hereby issued to resident students who would like to earn a position on the sports staff. Underclassmen are preferred, but residence on the campus is the only essential. Many events take place on the campus, especially in the evenings and on the week-ends, that a student living here can handle more easily than a Day-hop. We do not have anything against the Day-hops, but most of the staff is composed of them now. Report to the regular meeting of the staff this afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Cadets

Continued From Page Five

seconds of the game were left. Montgomery, scoreless all evening, took a pass near mid-floor and let fly for the basket with one of his "bullet" shots. The Field House became a bedlam of noise as the famous red lights blinked to put Villanova ahead, 31-29.

In the Friday night meeting with St. Joe in Convention Hall the Blue virtually yawned its way to a win over the hapless, anemic descendent of former great Hawk aggregations. Larry Kenney, highly touted "star" of the Crimson five, was just another "uniform filler," as Villanova's Jim Montgomery squelched every effort of the Hawk courtman.

St. Joseph's Weak

With Kenney completely bottled up and sewed away by Montgomery the St. Joe club was just about the weakest foe the Blue has met all season. Woeful in their feeble attempts to penetrate the tight Villanova defense, the Crimson and Gray notched only one field goal in their first 31 minutes of play. In the remaining nine minutes they managed to rack up a few counters against the Villanova substitutes.

Villanova, content to let the Hawks wallow in their own ineptness, took things easy and breezed through the sorrowful affair, with Jim Montgomery leading the scorers with eight points.

Maher

Continued From Page Five

York to participate in the annual National A. A. U. indoor championships, held in Madison Square Garden, February 28.

Coach "Jumbo" Elliot plans to enter a seven man team, with the possibility of an eighth man making the trip. Maher will make his first bid for a major intercollegiate indoor title when he toes the mark as an entry in the A. A. U. 60-yard race.

The other men making the trip are Bill Guiteras, Barney Bellew, Bill Dobbins, Pete Yankauskas, Tom McCabe, and Whitey Urbellis.

Members of Relay Team

Elliot has not yet determined who will comprise the mile relay team, but more than likely it will consist of Yankaukas, Dobbins, Bellew, and Guiteras.

Maher, who has enjoyed a successful season, thus far, will face a strong field consisting of Penn State's Barney Ewell, Columbia's Herb Weast, N. Y. U.'s sprint sensation, Herb Thompson, and other record holders. Accompanying Johnny in this event will be his team-mate, Whitey Urbellis.

McCabe to Run Mile

Making a bid for a title in the mile run will be Tom McCabe. This will be Tom's first attempt of the year at this distance, but he has been keeping in excellent condition, and Elliot expects him to be right up there at the finish.

KEEP SUPPLIED WITH SCHOOL TICKETS

Good on Buses and Rail Cars until used. 5c a Ride, including Special Free Transfers. School Identification Cards may be obtained at School Office.

PHILADELPHIA SUBURSAN TRANSPORTATION COMPANY
ARDMIMINK TRANSPORTATION CO.

COLADONATO
B. M. 1266
College Tailor Since 1925
Junior Blazers Made to Measure

"THE CLOTHES WE SELL FIT WELL"
Cassocks and Capes at Reasonable Prices
See Campus Representative
ED DIMON
235 Austin

JEANNETT'S
BRYN MAWR FLOWER SHOP
Floral Ideas For All Occasions
Specializing in Corsages
Member Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association
823 Lancaster Ave.
Bryn Mawr 570

In the Sportlight

By FRANK J. CALLAHAN

• • •

Time:—1949.
Place:—At home.

• • •

AH, the comforts of home in the evening! ! ! There I was lost in the depths of my favorite chair, flicking ashes on the rug, and at the same time feeling sorry for my wife who was out in the kitchen, doing dishes with one hand and scrubbing the floor with the other, with a dizzy look on his face. Presently an odd looking little tyke, tottered into the living room, and broke the silence with a booming voice.

"Hey pop, you're not doing anything again, how about telling me about some fellows you used to know at Villanova?"

Reluctant to say "yes" and afraid to say "no," since the lad was quite husky for his five years of life, I began my tale.

What's the Story?

"Well Cuthbert—It's time you were in bed, but I'll tell you about one fellow I knew, and that's Dubino—Lou Dubino. Watta boy he was! Why son, he could palm a basketball in one hand like your mother palms my salary check. He stood about an inch over six feet and weighed around 180 pounds. He arrived at the Dubino home in New York in 1915, just two days late for Christmas.

"He learned how to play basketball down at Linden High and won six letters from this New Jersey school before his graduation. Besides playing basketball he excelled at baseball, track and golf. Yes, Cuthy, he was quite a lad. When he was 20 years old, he came to Villanova where he took the educational course, majoring in chemistry. That may mean nothing to you, but when an athlete majors in chemistry, that's news!

Filled In

"Although he played regularly his sophomore year, Lou was relegated to a 'fill in' post in his junior campaign. A 'fill in' man, Cuthy, is a fellow that a coach can always depend upon to get a few needed points in a close game. Dubino 'filled in' perfectly and was rewarded with a starting position his senior year.

Accuracy Plus

"But Cuthy, old boy, you should have seen Lou back in 1939, while he playing as a senior. Why, in his first five games he didn't miss one shot that he tried. Yes sir, for five games Lou was shooting bulls eyes from all over the court. That boy had the eye of a chaperon at a high school dance combined with the speed of a deer with a hotfoot.

"Lou realized his one great ambition, son, the night he played his last game for Villanova. He always wanted to play basketball in Madison Square Garden, and it so happened that Villanova's last game of the 1939 season was with C. C. N. Y. at the Garden.

Goes Abroad

"And then son, after graduation, Lou 'hung up his muscles,' as he had threatened, and secured a position with the Standard Oil Company. He's far from Villanova now, Cuthy, as he was connected with the Foreign Service Division of that company, and carried on his work abroad.

"And that, Cuthy, is the story of one of Villanova's greatest court stars—Lou Dubino.

Compliments of
BRYN MAWR TRUST CO.

The Wayne Hotel
LANCASTER AVENUE
WAYNE, PA.
Telephone 380
Headquarters For Visitors to Villanova
Excellent Dinners at $1
SPECIAL STUDENT RATES
J. T. McFATE, Mgr.

WATCH
Repairing of the Better Grade
CHIME and GRANDFATHER CLOCKS
REPAIRED by EXPERT CRAFTSMEN AT LOW COST
FINE JEWELRY and OPTICAL REPAIRS
ESHNER'S
In Waiting Room of 69TH ST. (P.R.T.) TERMINAL
Phone: Boulevard 2308
Est. 1907

Men's Clothes Made-to-Measure
COLEBY
Tailoring Inc.
57th & Market Sts.
Suits & Topcoats
$24.75
See
Campus Representative
TIM WAAD
210 Fedigan

Philadelphia's Unpredictableness Shown by Crowds at Sports Contests

Attendance Great at Mediocre Presentations While Star-Studded Performances Go Unnoticed; Promoters Always Keep Fingers Crossed

This Philadelphian—it's amazing. Every showman, promoter, actor, backer, etc., crosses his fingers each time he brings a project into the "City of Brotherly Love." For Philadelphia has earned the reputation being the most unpredictabel city in the big city circuits. Figure it out for yourself.

Up in Frankford in the Irish sector, Johnny Burns runs a fight arena, the Cambria—affectionately known fo the boys as the "Blood Pit." Burns jams them in, even with mediocre programs.

Swimming a failure

Not so long ago, Convention Hall invested a sizable sum of money in an aquatic presentation in which the returning Olympic stars participated. A large tank was set up in the center of the auditorium and a tremendous outcome for the event was predicted. What happened? You could find yourself a seat anywhere in the house and feel alone, Philly, as usual ran untue to form.

A few weeks back, Convention Hall staged a professional tennis competition between Don Budge and Ellsworth Vines. Attendance? There wasn't enough there to generate sufficient cigarette smoke to hurt your eyes.

Penn Packs Them In

Ah, but let Penn play Cornell. Then you have Mr. Blotz's secretary saving her lunch money and starving herself to buy a ticket, just so she could say that she saw Penn and Cornell throwing Ivy leaves at each other. Everybody north of City Hall begs, borrows, or purloins enough cash to gain entrance into Franklin Field on the afternoon that these heavily traditioned institutions tangle.

Take Villanova, among the best in gridiron ranks for two years running. The attendance at Wildcat games? Well, the receipts from the Detroit game just covered the groundkeepers' expense for the year. Enough was made on the Temple game to pay off the ticket sellers. The expenses for the rest of the games were paid with the money we didn't make the year before. It's beyond comprehension.

Maybe it can be charged to tradition. These Philadelphians seem to eat up tradition.

High School

Continued From Page Five

Prep, La Salle High and Northeast Catholic High, all of Philadelphia; Regis High, New York City; Brooklyn Prep, and St. Benedict's Prep, Newark, N. J., are rated likely "dark horses" in any race for the Catholic school swim honors.

Meet marks on the line this year include the 5:5.8 seconds records for the 100-yard freestyle set at Villanova last year by Henry Steingass, of La Salle High, Philadelphia, and the 1:12.8 meet record for the 100-yard breaststroke also set last year by Ed Vacca, of St. Francis, of Brooklyn.

List of Teams

The list of teams invited includes:

West Catholic High, Northeast Catholic High, La Salle High, St. Joseph's Prep, Roman Catholic High and Southeast Catholic High, all of Philadelphia; St. Francis Prep, Bishop Loughlin High, Brooklyn Prep, St. Augustine's High and St. John's High, all of Brooklyn; Regis High, New York City; St.

Benedict's Prep, Newark; Salesianum High, Wilmington; Immaculate Conception High and Central Catholic High, Allentown; St. Joseph's High and Easton Catholic High, Easton; St. Robert's High and Immaculate Heart High, Chester; Camden Catholic High and St. Mary's Cathedral High, Camden; St. Thomas College High, Scranton; York Catholic High, York; Lancaster Catholic High, Lancaster; Harrisburg Catholic High, Harrisburg; St. Mark's High, Bristol; St. Augustine's High, Jenkintown; St. Peter's High, Reading; Pottsville Catholic High, Pottsville; St. Agnes' High, West Chester; Immaculate Conception High, Jenkintown; St. Mark's High, Bristol; St. Augustine's High, Bridgeport; Bethlehem Catholic High, Bethlehem; Holy Spirit High, Atlantic City; St. Peter's Prep, Jersey City; St. Katharine's Prep, Wayne; Malvern Prep, Malvern, and St. Patrick's High, Norristown.

CATHOLIC MANAGERS

That Catholics are doing all right in baseball is shown by the fact that five big league managers hold our religious beliefs. "Gabby" Hartnet of the Cubs, and "Lippy" Durocher, Brooklyn boss, pilot clubs in the senior circuit and are Catholic. Connie Mack, Jimmie Dykes, and Joe McCarthy, lead the American League teams of Philadelphia, Chicago, and New York, respectively, and they too "keep the faith."

(NOTRE) DAME RUMOR

Rumors that a Notre Dame-Villanova meeting would be arranged for Philadelphia next Fall were laughed at by various officials. The idea came from Chicago which city is desirous of stealing the Army-Navy game from Philadelphia this year. Chicago "would-be" backers of the Army-Navy clash proposed the N. D.-V. C. meeting as a solace to Philly football fans.

New York U.

Continued From Page Five

broglio with the Blue and White.

Lest we forget it was last year's Villanova five that administered the first defeat to an N. Y. U. team on the New Yorkers' home court since it was constructed in 1934. To say that the "city slickers" will be out for revenge is putting it mildly.

Dowd Leads Violet

Danny Dowd, husky football-playing guard, will captain the Violets in their only Philadelphia performance of the year, and he will have a stellar supporting cast of three sophomores and one junior. In addition to Dowd, who is a great defensive performer, the only other junior on the starting five will be Bobby Lewis, a sensational scorer. Lewis finished up last season in a starting berth, and this year he has risen to even greater heights. The slight Bronx boy is almost a surefire bet for an All-Metropoliten berth.

The three starting sophomores will be chosen from Ben Auerbach, "Red" Stevens, Irv Dubinsky, and Irv Resnick. These four lads have been performing in such an outstanding manner that it is quite possible they will all start. In this event Dowd will not get the call. All four of these sophomores are good shots and well-versed in court lore and striped-wood technique.

Varied Attack

With the facts boiled down, it can easily be seen that Coach Howard "Jake" Cann has molded another typical N. Y. U. court aggregation. In all probability they will employ the usual deliberate, almost stalled, form of attack varied with a great deal of the usual New York "give and go" variety of Mr. Ainsmith's game. The Violet city Avenue lads have tangled with the Main Liners five times over a period of ten years and have come out on the short end of the score twice. Villanova will be seeking an "even-steven" percentage when the teams clash on Friday night.

On Monday night the Moravian Greyhounds will help the Cats ring down the curtain on home contests at the Main Line Field House. Not much is known about the Greyhounds, but they are at present leading the Pennsylvania Collegiate Basketball Conference. From all indications they should present the Blue and White with formidable closing opposition.

RECORD HOLDER

Johnny Maher, Villanova sprinter, still holds the National Catholic 100-yd. dash record, which he set while at West Philadelphia Catholic High. John's time was 9:7 seconds, a sensational mark for a high-school sprinter.

BOX RUTGERS

On Saturday Coach Gadsby takes his boxers to New Brunswick to tangle with Rutgers. The Jersey lads have already beaten several schools, among them Temple, and a hectic evening is expected. Ed Killian will have his hands full against Dave Kutriloff; and in the 175 division Rutgers has Glenn Howatt, who reached the finals in last year's National Championships. Bill Duffy will meet Ernie Baxter, Negro sensation.

Basketball Sidelights

By LOU DUBINO

WHEN Villanova engages C. C. N. Y. in their annual game, they will be fortunate to play the "Blacbirds" on a neutral court. The game is to take place on Wednesday, March 1, and the place of opposition will be the maple-boards of Madison Square Garden.

The C. C. N. Y. playing floor is so narrow and short that it can be well-guarded with the employment of zone defense. When the five men are spread across the court, guarding their opponents basket, they form a good barrier and cause the enemy forces to resort to long range maneuvers. To make matters worse there are hanging from the ceiling physical education equipment which hinders the arching of the long set shots. C. C. N. Y. is so well-coached in the art of zone-defense tactics that it is almost impossible to penetrate the sacred area for a short lay-up shot.

• • •

The C. C. N. Y. game will terminate the college basketball careers of Jim Montgomery, Johnny Krutulis, Art Vigilante, and Lou Dubino, and it will be the first appearance of a Villanova quintet on the boards of the Garden. The Cats have been looking forward to this game, remembering the blemish on their record inflicted by the "Blackbirds" when they met last year in the Bandbox Gym of the New Yorkers.

• • •

St. Johns University of Brooklyn not only over-shadowed the Villanova quintet in basketball but also overshadowed the Villanova students in school spirit. From a reliable source it has been learned that 107 students and friends, followed their favorite sons of Brooklyn to the city of Brotherly Love and inspired the team to its victory. Approximately 200 students of Villanova ventured down to Convention Hall to lend their moral support. As an excuse for their non-attendance at our games, many of the students use the "escape mechanism," "I didn't know they were playing." There are many schedules posted about the campus and a huge billboard staring them in the face just off the Highway which they could readily consult.

With the abandonment of the Eastern Basketball Conference Villanova will have to carry on as in the past since she looked forward to becoming a member of that league in the very near future. The Conference race is still hot and furious since each team wishes to be the winner of the last league race. If Catholic schools would cooperate with each other we surely could organize a top-notch Catholic league in which would be included — Georgetown, St. Francis, Fordham, Villanova, Boston College, Holy Cross, St. John's of Brooklyn and a few more top-rating schools.

HERE and THERE

By HARRY MAZZEI

IN THE past swimming at Villanova meant little more than strolling down to the pool some afternoon and taking a short dip. But under the guidance of Coach Ruggerio Flocco, who, incidentally, is a diver of no ill repute, the Wildcat aquatic squad has been coming along very nicely and gives great promise of being one of the best tank teams in the East next Winter.

Although they have not set the swimming world afire with a string of uninterrupted victories or even set any new intercollegiate records, the Main Line natators have compiled a better than fair percentage in the won and lost column. At this writing the Blue mermen have sunk Drexel, Delaware, Swarthmore, Fordham and St. Francis, while they have been submerged by F. and M. and a very fine Penn team.

Harry Mazzei

Outstanding on a squad of consistent performers is Walt Kelley, sophomore sprint star who breaks some kind of a record every time he dips his little toe into a tank. Kelley is the N. A. U. U. 50-yard freestyle champion besides being the holder of several pool records. Both Kelley and Bill Hooper, the middle distance ace of the frosh tank team, were offered swimming scholarships to Yale, where swimming is just as much a part of a student's life as eating. 'Nuff said!

That swimming is reaching a new high in the estimation of the student body is easily evidenced by the overflow crowds that have witnessed all the home meets. Perhaps by next year temporary bleachers will have been created to seat the growing number following the ripples of the Wildcat finflippers.

• • •

Suggestion: Now that "Clipper" Smith has edited the motion pictures of most of Villanova's 1938 grid clashes, we think the undergraduates would greatly appreciate receiving an opportunity to see them. To make positive a worthwhile attendance (which the pictures alone would insure), the local alumni could also be invited. Thus they, too, could "take in" any games that they might have missed last Fall. If this suggestion meets with the approval of "Clipper" Smith, it might be well to hold this "Football Movie Night" (there will be no Screeno) on one of these wintry evenings before Spring football reaches its more strenuous labors.

• • •

At the recent Penn A. C. track meet one coy young thing (probably at her first track affair) was overheard asking her escort why the bachelors were given preference over the married men performing. At this query her astonished escort inquired as to what she meant whereupon the young lady naively came out with "What else can they mean when they announce Joe Whoosie, unattached."

• • •

Perhaps last Saturday night's basketball tilt with the gritty quintet of Lehigh University lacked finesse, but this depravity was more than made up for by the aggressiveness of both teams. Villanova, feired by the close guarding tactics of the Engineers to dispense with their "whirlpool waves" early in the contest, exhibited plenty of intestinal fortitude when the fray began to close with them on the short end of the score. This contest may have seen the Wildcats at their ebb as far as basketball "savoir faire" is concerned, but it showed them at their peak in regard to their ability to come from behind against an opponent that bonded them in every corner of the court all evening.

SEVILLE THEATRE
Student Cards Entitle You to a Reduction.
Tues. & Wed., Feb. 21-22
"DAWN PATROL"
ERROL FLYNN
DAVID NIVEN
BASIL RATHBONE
Thursday, Feb. 23
"STAGE DOOR"
GINGER ROGERS
KATHERINE HEPBURN
Friday, Feb. 24
MICKEY ROONEY
"SLAVE SHIP"
Saturday, Feb. 25
ERNEST TRUEX
JEN MURRAY
"SWING, SISTER, SWING"
Extra: "Trailing The Jaguar"
Sun. & Mon., Feb. 26-27
RICHARD GREENE
LORETTA YOUNG
"KENTUCKY"
In Technicolor

Ardmore Theatre
Notice to Students
Did you know that your matriculation card will get you a reduced rate at the Ardmore Theatre at any time.
Tuesday, Feb. 21
FRANCHOT TONE
FRANCISKA GAAL
"THE GIRL DOWNSTAIRS"
Wed. & Thurs., Feb. 22-23
JACK BENNY in
"ARTISTS AND MODELS ABROAD"
Fri., Sat., Sun. & Mon. Feb. 24-25-26-27
JEANNETTE MacDONALD
NELSON EDDY
In Victor Herbert's
"SWEETHEARTS"

— RIDE FREE ON P. & W. RAILWAY MOVIE TICKET —
NORRIS Theatre
NORRISTOWN
Tues., Feb. 21
"PARIS HONEYMOON" and
"FERDINAND THE BULL"
Wed., Thurs., Fri., Sat., & Mon., Feb. 22, 23, 24, 25, 27
TYRONE POWER
In the Sensational Hit
"JESSIE JAMES"
GARRICK Theatre
GRAND Theatre
NORRISTOWN
Tues., Feb. 21
Academy Award Winner
"100 Men
Per Man"
Secret Agents
"DARK RAPTURE"
Wed. & Thurs., Feb. 22 & 23
JANE WITHERS in
"ARIZONA WILDCAT"
Fri. & Sat., Feb. 24 & 25
Errol Flynn in "DAWN PATROL"
Fri. & Sat., Feb. 24 & 25
On Stage 8 and 10 P. M. Lavino Minstrels. 24 in Cast — on Screen Jack Holt "Crimes Takes a Holiday"

G. W. Cadwallader
Paints, Glass and Painters' Supplies
BUILDERS' SPECIALTIES
6161 MARKET ST.
Philadelphia
Phone SHERwood 1123

Prescriptions
Drugs & Toilet Articles
LA DOW'S PHARMACY
LANCASTER PIKE and SPRING MILL ROAD
VILLANOVA, PA.

Burke Dairies
Milk & Cream
NORRISTOWN, PA.
Phone 2736-W

Direction Warner Bros.
Tower Theatre
69th & Market Sts.
Motion Pictures Are Your Best Entertainment
Tues., Wed. & Thurs., Feb. 21-22-23
MELVYN DOUGLAS
VIRGINIA BRUCE
In a Gay Romantic Comedy
"THERE'S THAT WOMAN AGAIN"
Washington's Birthday
Continuous 12:15 to 11 P. M.
Fri., Sat., Sun. & Mon. Feb. 24-25-26-27
Hilarious Comedy
"TOPPER TAKES A TRIP"
Starring
CONSTANCE BENNETT
ROLAND YOUNG

CALL ORATORICAL ENTRIES MARCH 14

There will be an oratorical contest held this year on March 14. However, all entries must be made to Anthony J. Frayne in Room 123 Mendle Hall by February 23. Entries may choose any subject of ten minute length. It must be original in composition and will be judged according to style, poise, composition, and delivery.

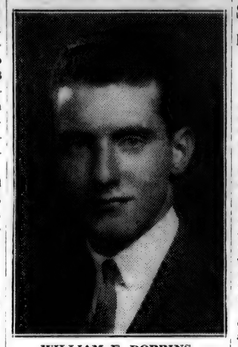
Although the finals will be held at the Senior Social on March 14, there will be several preliminaries, the dates of which will be announced later.

PRESIDENT AT DINNERS

Rev. E. V. Stanford, O. S. A., president of the college, was the guest at three alumni banquets in the past week.

On Wednesday, February 15, he spoke to the Villano a Club of New York at the Centre Club, New York City. The next day he was honored by the Villanova Club of Stamford at their banquet at the Hotel Davenport, Stamford, Conn. Yesterday he attended the dinner meeting of the Villanova Club of Washington at the Hay-Adams House, Washington, D. C.

SINGING IN THE RAIN



WILLIAM F. DOBBINS,

who, playing the part of John Bullen, a la Chamberlain, will give vent to his sentiments in song tonight on the boards of the gymnasium-theatre. His voice will bring original songs to their first public presentation.

CLASS PREPARES SPRING AFFAIRS

Meeting Called Monday to Consider Prom, Blazer Ball, Assessments

Bradley J. McManus, general chairman of Junior Week, announced today that preliminary arrangements for the social functions of the junior class are beginning to assume definite lines. An important class meeting will be conducted this Monday, February 27 at 1 o'clock in room 215, Mendel Hall.

Rev. Daniel P. Falvey, O. S. A., moderator, has already presided at a general meeting of the various chairmen, and he will again preside at this particular meeting which is being conducted to instill interest in the members of the class.

The Blazer Committee under the direction of Chairman Gerald Cassidy, Commerce and Finance student, has contacted several firms and it is expected that the contract will be awarded sometime within the next month.

INVITES JOURNALISTS

All students interested in becoming members of the VILLANOVAN are invited to attend the staff meeting in Room 119, Mendel Hall, at 1:00: All regular members are also reminded to be present.

DEMANDS A RECOUNT

WITOLD I. KRZYWICKI,

who, as Will Doochy, may learn a few diplomatic tricks from the sage John Bullen. The "Mayor of Austin Hall" may not be able to dominate the classroom as well as he does the dormitory. He is a controller in the Student Controllism movement.

SEVEN STUDENTS BEGIN TEACHING

During the second semester several of the senior students in the Department of Education have begun their term of practise teaching. The scholastic sites of the initial practise in the art of teaching for these seniors are the Radnor High School and the Upper Darby High School.

Among those engaged in this work, as made known by the Dean Dr. McHugh, are James Keegan, George Loesslein, William Cochrane, John Wysocki, Lawrence C. Knaphle, William Ward and George Immordino.

Collegians Against Any Mercy Killings

Continued From Page One

official committees would lead inevitably to serious abuse by the unscrupulous. Moreover, legalizing euthanasia will seriously discourage the advance of science against incurable disease.

Noting that the crime of murder is not minimized or excused by terming it mercy killing, the students decry the increasing number of recent instances in which mercy killers have gone unpunished by law.

You'll enjoy these three stars in
"WINGS OF THE NAVY"
A Cosmopolitan production released by Warner Bros. coming soon to your local theatre.

★ GEORGE BRENT ★ OLIVIA de HAVILLAND ★ JOHN PAYNE

a Happy Combination that gives millions More Pleasure

. . . and millions of people before and after the show are getting more pleasure from the happy combination of mild ripe American and Turkish tobaccos found in Chesterfield.

It is the exact way these tobaccos are combined together that makes Chesterfields milder and gives them a more pleasing taste and aroma. This exact combination is found in no other cigarette.

When you try them you will know why Chesterfields give millions of men and women more smoking pleasure . . . why THEY SATISFY

Chesterfield

. . . the blend that can't be copied
. . . the RIGHT COMBINATION of the world's best cigarette tobaccos

Copyright 1939, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

VILLANOVAN

Vol. 11—No. 15 VILLANOVA, PA., TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 28 ,1939 N. A. S. Z-660

COLLEGE ANNOUNCES ORATORICAL TRIALS TO BEGIN MARCH 1

Final Contest for Martough Medal at Second Annual Senior Social

MR. FRAYNE SUPERVISES

Villanova College will hold its annual oratorical contest during the first two weeks of March under the direction of Anthony J. Frayne, M. A., faculty advisor.

This year, contrary to the system used in preceding contests, there will be no general topic and the individual participants will be given free choice of the themes upon which they desire to speak.

Last year Joseph McNamara was successful in out-speaking the other competitors when he delivered an address on "Communism and How Catholicism Can Combat It."

A gold medal, placed in competition by the Rev. Edward J. Martaugh, O. S. A., will be presented to the winner in collaboration with a trip to New York to participate in a tri-college competition with Manhattan College and Fordham University.

All students in the college are eligible to enter but their entry blanks must be filed with Mr. Frayne today at the latest. However, the final selection of the topic is left up to the discretion of the speaker and need not be filed with the entry form.

Though the contestant may select his own topic and it is at his complete discretion, it is suggested that subjects of national interest are the most appropriate and should be given preference when one is selecting his theme. Originality in composition and delivery will be major factors in the judging of the contest.

Tomorrow trial speeches of not

Continued on Page Eight

CHOIR OF CLERICS TO GIVE RECITAL

Fr. Handran Arranging to Have Seminarians Sing at College

Rev. Ralph J. Handran O. S. A., M. Mus., is making arrangements to get the Augustinian Seminary Choir to sing for the students of the college.

Fr. Handran is teaching a course of music appreciation. The purpose of this course, he explained, is to accustom the student to good music.

The recital of the choir will be part of the pianwhich includes the playing of recordings of many musical gems.

It was thought that with the advent of the Lenten season a recital of liturgical music would be especially appropriate. Further, it was explained, that the presence of the choir before the students would help them to enjoy the music. This is in accordance with the theory of visual aids in the field of education.

As yet the final arrangements have not been completed. However it is the intention of Fr. Handran to have this program ready within the next few weeks.

FR. DIEHL SPEAKS AT PKP

Rev. Francis A. Diehl, O. S. A., S. T. L. will address the Phi Kappa Pi fraternity in the Mendel Amphitheater on Monday, March 6.

Fr. Diehl is a psychologist. For a time he taught at the University of Pennsylvania, but later attended Catholic University. He has not been at Villanova College for 12 years.

Recently, he returned from the University of London where he conducted experiments in statistical psychology.

BUSINESS MANAGER

WILLIAM J. SMITH

ACTORS TO PRESENT BROADWAY COMEDY

Students From Various Schools Compete for Parts in "Room Service"

Final selections for parts in the comedy "Room Service," will be made within the week, Mr. Anthony J. Frayne, moderator of the Belle Masque, announces.

Rehearsals of this Broadway success for the past month have been conducted in an extensive and rigorous manner. Several leading thespians of Rosemont College are under consideration for the feminine leads, while here at Villanova contestants are waging a battle in order to secure recognition for male parts.

Robert Barret, senior in the Arts School, who in "Journeys End," played the part of Captain Stanupe, and Tom Haynes, sophomore in the School of Commerce and Finance, who in last years production, "Winterset," played the leading role of Mio, are two of the foremost contenders for coveted parts.

The role of the fakir is being sought by James O'Brien, senior in the Commerce and Finance School, and Leonard Flinkman, senior in the Science School. The latter played a comical role in the recent production, "They Never Learn," put on by the Villanova Band. Another participant in the same production was William Dobbins, senior in the Arts School. His portrayal of Neville Chamberlain received many favorable comments.

Gerald H. Holland, senior busi-

Continued on Page Eight

NEW PIPE FRICTION TEST FOR STUDENT ENGINEERS

Mr. John A. Oakey Supervises the Installing of Apparatus

A Pipe Friction Test is being installed in the Hydraulics Laboratory in the basement of Mendel Hall under the direction of Mr. John A. Oakey.

Work is now being held up because of difficulty in obtaining some of the materials, so the apparatus won't be completed before Spring and will be first used next Fall.

Junior Civil Engineers and Senior Mechanical Engineers will use the new equipment in studying "Fluid Mechanics" under the new curriculum. This is a new course, replacing "Theoretical Hydraulics" and having four credits instead of the three the old course had.

In this test, oil will be pumped from a tank through a system of pipes that will either empty it back into the original tank or into one on a scale so the flow can be weighed. Two pressure connections along a run of pipe will give readings of the loss of velocity due to friction. These readings, together with the diameter of the pipe and the velocity and viscosity of the fluid will be used to determine Reynold's number.

SMITH, CHRISTOPH NAMED APPOINTEES TO YEARBOOK BOARD

Positions of Business Manager and Camera Editor Filled; New Office Created

William J. Smith, senior in the Commerce and Finance School, has been named to fill the position of business manager on the Belle Air annual staff. Simultaneously, Otto K. Christoph, a senior mechanical engineering student, was appointed to the new office of the camera editorship.

At the termination of last year when the main body of the Belle Air staff was inducted into office, the one position then to be assigned was that of business manager. This omission was committed purposely. At that time there were several appicants for the honor, but all were considered of the same calibre and ability. Thus it was that the competitive plan was put into practice. The final appointment entirely depended on the amount of money derived from the Belle Air advertisements secured by the individual aspirants to the position.

From the outset of this contest Smith took the lead and never relinquished it. As a result of the almost insurmountable advantage he had over the remaining contestants, Smith was named to the post and will serve as Business Manager for the 1938-39 edition of the Belle Air. Already several original suggestions of Smith as to the improvement of the efficiency of the business staff have been used to advantage. The connotations of progress supplemented the great amount of advertising space Smith has personally secured for the annual.

In regards to the newly-created office, Bernard McHenry, editor-in-chief of the Belle Air, stated that the need for informal campus pic-

Continued on Page Eight

Dr. John A. Kolmer To Write Article In Science Paper

Dr. John A. Kolmer, Temple University, will be featured as the guest editorial writer in the next edition of the Mendel Bulletin.

The life story of Paul Ehrlich who is the father of chemi-therapy will also be one of the issue's outstanding articles. It was Dr. Ehrlich who performed the famous 606 experiments which finally resulted in the discovery of Salvarsan, a treatment of syphilis.

"Radiolaria" one of the most beautiful species of nature's protozoan life will be presented by Eugene Eichman. Photographs taken by the staff will illustrate the article.

The "Science around the world" section has been enlarged and will include exchanges from magazines throughout the world. Included in this issue will be many hand drawings, relative to the book reports.

The Mendel Bulletin will be distributed on Wednesday or Thursday of this week.

PRESIDENT FETES LEADING STUDENTS

The president of Villanova College, Rev. Edward V. Stanford, O. S. A., gave the annual dinner in honor of the leaders of the various student organizations at 6:30 Sunday evening, February 26, in Mendel Hall.

Those present included Rev. Bernard M. Albers, vice president of the college; the editor of the Belle-Air, Bernard McHenry; the past editors of the VILLANOVAN, Robert G. Howe and James P. Tofani; the present editor of the VILLANOVAN, John J. Harrington; the president of the Senior Class, William J. Ward; William V. Sinnott, president of the Junior Class; the president of the Sophomore Class, Murray P. Zealor; the president of the Student Council, Francis Mozzi.

OPEN HOUSE CHAIRMAN

PETER EDWARD HANLON

junior in the School of Science, was appointed chairman of the Open House which is to be held on May 1st and 2nd. Hanlon, an honor student, former member of the Student Council and of the Sophomore Cotillion Committee, will assume his duties immediately.

SPANISH SCENES SHOWN AT CLUB

Horrors of Spanish Civil War Illustrated by Fr. Wolfe's Pictures

An account of the Spanish Revolution was presented by the Rev. Joseph L. N. Wolfe, in his discourse to the Science Seminar at the last meeting, Thursday morning.

Illustrating his lecture with slides, Father Wolf described his recent journey to Spain. Emphasis was placed on the horrors and suffering endured during the strife. He condemned the Loyalist faction as being definitely communistic and illustrated with vivid photographs the tortures to which it subjected many non-combatants. In conclusion he stated that the American was fortunate in his liberty, as opposed to conditions existing in various foreign countries.

Father Wolfe is well versed in military tactics and was active on the western front during the World War.

CARBINE GIVES ADDRESS AT PHILOSOPHY SEMINAR

Last Meeting Hears Bongiovanni and Harrington Give Paper

"Love and Knowledge" will be discussed this afternoon before the Philosophy Seminar by Thomas Carbine, senior arts student.

At the last meeting of this group, Joseph N. Bongiovanni, Jr., junior in the School of Arts, presented a paper on the philosophic explanations by which the free will of man is reconciled with the foreknowledge of God.

The paper treated of the Dominican, Molinistic and Augustinian theories. During the course of the discussion it was agreed that the Dominican theory had the best philosophic basis.

John J. Harrington reviewed the paper according to the usual procedure. Then the general discussion took place. It was during this later group consideration that the superiority of the Thomistic explanation was made evident.

At the end of the meeting, Rev. Edward M. Dwyer, O. S. A., Ph. D., professor of philosophy, gave a general criticism of the paper and the manner of procedure. He explained some of the features which had remained obscure throughout the paper and its examination by the members.

VILLANOVAN HOLDS MEETING

There will be a meeting of the VILLANOVAN this afternoon at 1 P. M. at 119 Mendel Hall. A guest speaker will address the staff. Opportunities are still open for students wishing to join the college newspaper.

RESEARCH STUDENTS DELIVER SPEECHES ON BLOOD TYPES

Pantaleo and Campo Give Papers; Rev. J. A. Donnellon Presides

Addressing a large number of students in the School of Science, Carle Pantaleo and Thomas Campo delivered papers on two important phenomena of blood at the regular session of the Research Seminar, last Friday afternoon in Simpson Hall.

Presiding at the meeting were the Rev. James A. Donnellon, O. S. A., Ph. D., seminar moderator, and Augustin T. Giordano, senior pre-medical student and chairman of the seminar. Approximately thirty pre-medical students attended the meeting in Simpson Hall. This was the largest group to attend the seminar and was composed mostly of underclassmen.

Pantaleo, senior pre-medical student, spoke on "The Genetical Inheritance of Blood Grouping." He prefaced his paper with an explanation of the various processes which effect the transmission of hereditary characteristics in man. Included were descriptions of the germ cells and plasm, mitosis, and meiosis. The influence and operation of Mendel's laws of inheritance were explained by the lecturer.

It was explained that sex-determination and the action of sex-linked factors effect the transmission of hereditary diseases. Blood typing and glood agglutination were also explained by Pantaleo because of their direct relation to the topic.

In the body of his discussion Pantaleo emphasized the manner in which blood groups were distributed and inherited by man. Blood typing, he further explained, is of utmost importance in medico-legal

Continued on Page Four

BOARD OF OFFICIALS MEETS THIS SUNDAY

Governors of Alumni Association Call Meeting of Regional Group Representatives

This Sunday will be marked by the meeting of the Board of Governors of the Alumni association. The main purpose of the meeting will be to nominate the officers for the coming year.

Following the customary procedure, all the officers of the association and representatives from recognized local groups will participate. The following localities have accredited groups: Atlantic City, Boston, Philadelphia, Rochester, Montgomery County, Central New Jersey, Trenton, Washington, Richmond, Springfield, New York, Lawrence, Harrisburg, Stamford and Detroit.

The officers for the present year are: president, J. Stanley Smith, Esq., '93; first vice-president, Matthew A. Lynch, '23; second vice-president John P. Keffer, '25; secretary-treasurer, P. F. Banmiller, '36; college representative, Rev. B. M. Albers, O. S. A., '19; college representative, Felix E. Maguire, and John A. Malone, '14; John F. Coan, Esq., '19; John T. Jordan, '24; Austin Tighe, '29; Thomas F. McFeeley, '34; Charles O'Connor, '38; and Joseph T. O'Leary, '18, are five-year class representatives.

First past president is Phineas T. Vize, '23; the presidential appointees are Frank Brady, '13; Louis P. Marechal, '35; Edmond P. Reiley, '35; Eugene Reiley, '29; and John J. Stell, Jr., '35.

In addition to nominating the officers, the meeting will interest itself with the budget reports. Then plans for the Alumni Week-End which is set for June 9-10, will be examined. The editor of the Alumnus is to be appointed for the fiscal year.

VILLANOVAN

Published Weekly by the Students of Villanova College

Managing Board

JOHN J. HARRINGTON, '40 .....Editor-in-Chief
JAMES P. COLLINS, '41 .....College Editor
PHILIP M. DUNN, '40 .....Sports Editor
JOHN T. GALLAGHER, '42 .....Business Manager
JOSEPH N BONGIOVANNI, '40 .....Copy Editor
JOSEPH A. CIRELLI, '40 .....Circulation Manager
MURRAY P. ZEALOR, '41 .....Literary Editor
HENRY L. MANCUSO, '41 .....Photography Editor
JOHN L. MAHER, '42 .....Advertising Manager
JOSEPH F. BEE, '42 .....Cartoonist

Columnists

Bernard A. Bellew, '40 .....College Chatter
William F. Garrity, '40 .....Odds and Ends
William J. Toy, '41 .....Varieties
Harry A. Mazzei, '40 .....Here and There
Anthony J. Liscio, '40 .....Do You Know

Staff Writers

Justin G. Rubin, '40 — Robert J. Funabashi, '42
Frank Fitzpatrick, '40 — William B. Carey, '42
Saul A. Wallach, '40 — Francis J. Callahan, '42
Bernard Singer, '40 — William E. Schubert, '42
Thomas J. Moore, '41 — William B. DeGrase, '42
Anthony R. Liscio, '41 — Thomas H. Doyle, '42
James F. Haughton, '41 — Howard A. McCall, '42
Andrew J. D'Angelo, '41 — John P. Fullam, '42
David N. Reardon, '42 — William J. Ehmer, '42
Joseph V. McCabe, '42 — Thomas A. Shallow, '42
Joseph A. Barnes, '41 — Robert J. McIntyre, '42
Joseph Santaniello, '41 — Alfred Bongiovanni, '40
James F. Donovan, '41 — William V. Sinnott, '40
Robert W. Kiley, '41

Contributor

Lou Dubino, '39

Photography Staff

Melvin Bricker, '41 — Walter N. LaPorte, '42
John T. Sandonato, '41

Circulation Staff

Robert P. Schisler, '41 — Robert F. Donovan, '42
Bernard C. Crumb, '42 — Joseph D. Keffer, '42
Faculty Advisor—Rev. Edward B. McKee, O. S. A.

"This paper is dedicated to one of the finest men who ever entered Villanova: scholar, athlete, gentleman—
LEO GOODREAU

Subscription—$2.00 per year.
Entered as second class matter at the Villanova Post-office, December 27, 1928.

1938 Member 1939
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

REPRESENTED FOR NATIONAL ADVERTISING BY
National Advertising Service, Inc.
College Publishers Representative
420 Madison Ave. New York, N. Y.
Chicago - Boston - Los Angeles - San Francisco

Member of the Catholic School Press Association
Member of the Catholic College Press Association
Member of the National Scholastic Press Association.

TUESDAY - - - FEBRUARY 28, 1939

WHY THE DELAY?

THERE has been a grinding of gears in Washington. The 76th Congress came into session in early January, but has as yet done nothing. They, the Congressmen, having ceased their battle with the executive, have much to do but have fallen back into the period of "lame duck" sessions.

Congress has plenty to do . . . we might freshen their memorey . . . the reason why they came to Washington.

Neutrality . . . the present situation might lead us into almost any position entirely unwanted by the people.

Business taxation . . . are we to listen to the words of Harry Hopkins and hear no more of the restoration of business.

Banking legislation . . . the banks are so filled with deposits that if a boom comes disaster will follow just as suddenly.

Railroads . . . will they ever solve the problem that is confronting this life-stream of American progress?

Can the reason be that the President has dumped legislation upon the lap of Congress? The right to critize is much more carefully exercised than the duty to take responsibility for action.

ACADEMIC FREEDOM

ANOTED physicist has closed the doors of his laboratory to the citizens and the visitors of the totalitarian states of the world. He charges that the totalitarian states do not recognize that the free cultivation of scientific knowledge for its own sake is a worthy end of human endeavor, but have commandered the scientific activities for their citizens to serve their own purposes.

Science is now making a valiant stand in opposition to distruction and turbulence in the world. It is the common opinion that science would be much more beneficial to the world if her resources were used for the lengthing and the safeguarding of human life instead of finding means of destroying it.

JOIN NOW!

A Legion of Justice has been founded and organized upon the campus. A legion of laymen and clergy for the promotion of the ideal "living wage." The Christian Front and other Catholic periodicals and papers have stressed and publicized the ideal of this legion.

As the Legion of Decency combatted the forces of Hollywood by its action at the box office, the Legion of Justice seeks to do likewise. It is the plan and action of this legion to stop purchasing goods that it knows to be sweat shop and non-union made goods. Belief is based upon the fact that union employes receive a larger salary affording them a living wage.

To join this legion is simple. Pledges are being sent out by the Catholic papers and periodicals that are to be signed by all who care to join. In its first day of existence in Cleveland over 5000 applicants were signed.

As this movement was inaugurated on the campus, it is fitting that Villanova students, seeing its value should support it.

POSITIVE LENTEN PRACTICE

WITH tomorrow comes the close of the initial week of the penitential season of holy Lent. Thus, it is appropriate and essential to take stock of our spiritual stores before any more of the precious sands of time filter through the world's hour glass. If as yet we have made no progress towards our eternal destiny and have not even attempted the formation of good resolutions now is the time to do both, the former to result from the latter.

It is singularly suggestive that today is the termination of the Catholic Press Month, for the occasion harmonizes with the good intentions we should make here and now. These are to be in effect not only for the duration of this forty-day period of Lent but are to last and be practised for all time.

There is not even the slightest shadow of a veil of secrecy cloaking the fact that the Catholic Press, in every phase of its activity, needs as much support as it can possibly be accorded. The goal is to have every Catholic family in these United States to subscribe to, and studiously read, at least one Catholic periodical regularly. Since the spiritual value to be derived from this exercise can not be counted in the usual terminology of dollars and cents, its essential quality is self-evident and prepossessing.

No matter just what negative works of self-denial we have burdened ourselves with in the form of penance for this Lenten season, we should in addition make some fruitful promises of real positive deeds. The support of the Catholic Press movement affords only one of the many acts that can be utilized for your form of specialized devotion as inspired by this time of the year set aside by Holy Mother Church and entitled Lent.

Let us then agree to designate a particular time for the perusual of Catholic literature in keeping with the tone and sorrowful purple hues of Lent.

Faculty Comments

The Spanish Civil War

By

Jerome A. Mahoney, O. S. A., M. A.

"Perhaps it's in the news."

This headline of a local newspaper columnist should be placed in a "box" on the front page of his newspaper as the New York Times puts it's "All the news that's fit to print." For almost three years we have been looking for information concerning "insurgent" Spain but all we ever got was news of Loyalist victories and Loyalist action. Saturday, however, this newspaper evidently read the handwriting on the wall; France and England will recognize Franco's Government and the same newspaper carried screaming headlines to the effect that the Bishop of Tiruel and several of his priests had been brutally murdered because the Bishop refused to broadcast in favor of the Loyalist Government.

Why this change of policy? While not exactly denying the fact that many Bishops, priests and nuns had been slaughtered, churches and convents despoiled, still we saw very little or nothing of this in the newspapers. News seeped through from various sources, much of it from eye witnesses, to the effect that such atrocities were being perpetrated. When asked by American visitors why they did not send the truth, many of the war correspondents replied, "We have sent the truth but it is never published."

Why? Is it that the American press is so venal or that some high political influence has been exercised over it?

It is a known fact that the Ambassador from Spain to Washington has spent millions of dollars to buy up the American press and to propagandize for his own course. He has lavishly entertained Senators, Representatives and Ambassadors from other powers. His campaign was successful until the fall of Barcelona when everyone saw that the fall of that hotbed of revolution and anarchy meant the fall of the Loyalist cause. Then there were such hurried attempts of those who had opposed Franco to join with him that it looked like our familiar political situation after the Primaries, of the boys who always say, "Let's get on the band wagon."

Why should France and England, after 31 months, be willing to recognize as official a government which they have hitherto despised?

Is it because the policy of Franco has changed? By no means, he has adhered steadfastly to the principles and ideals which he annunciated at the beginning of his revolution. The principle ones are to return the Government of Spain to the Spanish people and to wipe out the Communistic and Sovietistic Government of his adversaries.

No one believed, at first, that the civil strife cold have lasted as long but then no one knew how deeply the principles of Marx and Trotsky had taken root in Spain, especially, in the larger cities. Barcelona for years has been revolutionary. The Catalans have been Separatists from time immemorial. The under paid workers in their many factories have been longing for a chance to revolt. It made little difference what change it might bring so long as they achieved their end; and seeing no other visible opponents except the Capitalistic system and the Government, they were ready and willing to attempt an overthrow of both. In other words they are not like the Irishman who said, "I'm the guy that's in."

From 1919, when Trotsky first made his appearance in Spain, Soviet methods took a very definite form. Organizations of Obreros "workers unions," were formed on the principles which he advocated. Many a murder which was never published, was committed, even in some of the smaller towns, with the plea that it was for the benefit of the masses. Conditions became so bad that even the then popular King could not cope with them.

When Primo de Rivera declared his "coup d' etate" in 1923, Spain was then on the verge of revolution. While he did everything he could for the betterment of the people and the improvement of the country, still the masses were not satisfied, Strong Groups of Syndicalists showed their resentment to a Dictatorship and had to be separated by armed forces. His regime tho' mild in the extreme, by comparison with other countries, was hindered by the proud, liberty loving Spaniard. Primo did not last long. The King had not only lost all his power but all his prestige. He was a hated and despised man. Besides rumor a strong propaganda was spread throughout the land to the effect that he had sold out his country, that he would do nothing to hold his people; that he foresaw his quick end, as King, and that even then he had invested most of his wealth in foreign countries. This may or may not be true. The King was and is first of all a Spaniard. At one time I heard him remark, "If the people want a Republic I shall be the first candidate for president."

But propaganda is a powerful influence and is was not long before the King was forced to abdicate, flee the country and just about escape with his life.

Immediately a so-called Republic was established in which the right of suffrage was exercised by a limited few, in no way representative of the will of the peole. Then old-line "Politocos" quickly took hold of the reins of the Government and began running things as they saw fit, worse than any "ward healer" form of Government that this country has ever known.

The Spaniard is a master of intrigue but at the same time he is wise enough to hide his mastery by palliation, offering to his victims some bonbon which will make the victim believe that he is sincere. The first thing the Republican Government did was to give the women the right of suffrage and to call for a general election. It looked as tho' Spain had finally arrived at a true Republican form of Government, but the "nigger in the woodpile" was this, that only a limited few were permitted to vote and they under a Government-controlled army supervision. The party in power did so much salamandering that it was almost impossible to have an honest election; but even at that the Rightists legally won the election but were deprived of their seat in the "Cortes." The various forms of Leftsts, Radicalists, Syndicalists and down right anarchists then took control of the Government and the people were so persecuted by this group that Generalissmo Franco was obliged, he said, "To declare himself in open rebellion against the Government for the preservation of the best interests of Spain.

The rest is all too recent history to repeat it here. There have been battles and slaughters, murder and rapine, reprisals, and counter reprisals. But all we heard, until Saturday, from the secular press was "Loyalists still hold out." "Loyalists valiantly defend Madrid," ad nauseam.

STOP! Sunday morning's papers —one of the same paper headlines —"Spanish War over, Loyalists Surrender" "Perhaps it's in the News." Let us hope that from now on we will get "all the news that's fit to print."

What of the future Spain? I am no seventh son of a seventh son but I know that Franco will carry out his policy as announced when he first declared a revolt. Spain will be returned to the SPANISH PEOPLE. Communism will be wiped out, Catholicism restored. What a blow to Russia. VIVA FRANCO! Viva Espana.

ODDS and ENDS

By Bill Garrity

STILLNESS in Austin Hall is being shattered nightly by the ringing of the telephone. Most of the calls are being made by a mysterious miss asking for a certain "Sugar" Shader.

• • •

Johnnie Kolmer tried to pull the cave man act on his girl "Peachy." She fooled him, however, by getting just as rough as he.

• • •

Tommy Ryan still wends his way nightly to the P. O. in hopes of finding a letter from North Philly. Don't let her get you down, Tom.

• • •

Joe Back brought a new flame to witness him in the musical Tuesday night. It seems that I have seen her before. Was it at the Nixon Grand with John Heck?

• • •

Who was your friend, Bob Keeler, at 2:30 Mass in New York a couple of Sundays ago? I must admit you do all right?

• • •

"Pete" Petril finally went and did it. I never thought it of you, "Pete." He took a date to the musical Tuesday night, and of all places to go afterwards, the Greeks!

• • •

When asked in music appreciation what polyphony means, Jim Donovan answered, "Having too many wives."

• • •

College men are a funny lot, they enjoy most things a second time. For example; they enjoy cigarettes a second time, hamburgers with onions are often enjoyed by them a second time, movies are enjoyed as many as four times if a picture strikes their fancy, and last but not least, they enjoy dates many times over.

• • •

The Overbrook Flash, Dan Keating, has been keeping himself in seclusion of late. Mary must have a quieting effect on him.

• • •

Johnny Maher has been seen around West Catholic quite a bit lately. Not the school for boys but the edifice farther down on Chestnut Street. Could it be Edith?

• • •

Lou Wannemacher is doing a lot of studying lately. Most of it is figuring out a system to beat the horses and the rest is for a mighty effort to pass the policeman's examination in New York.

• • •

I wonder what is taking Ronnie Tornwall down to Garrett Hill so often. She must be pretty nice to deserve all that attention.

• • •

Jimmy Dwyer has been missing his weekly trip home to Trenton. Word has it that he is going into a hermitage for the remainder of his natural life.

• • •

"Buzz" Mowen hasn't been seen around the Pie Shoppe of late. Don't let those eyes get you down, Buzz. After all, a basketball would do that to most anyone.

"I've Lost A Friend"

By ANDREA J. D'ANGELO

WE MET as strangers meet,
did you and I,
And felt the bond of friendship twine our ways;
With joy I said that it would never die,
But wax much stronger with the waning days.
Your laughter filled my soul with new-born hope
And dragged it from the hell of black despair,
I thought that you would never let me grope
Again for what I've yearned — a friend to share.
I know, you told me we were through last night;
You left me lone without a fare-well smile,
But friendship's bond so corded and tight
Will draw you back to me in just a while;
Then I know that you'll say in the end,
"Come, let us shake your hand, my dear friend."

VARIETIES

By WILLIAM J. TOY

Clinton's Band Reviewed; Popular Music Scorned — Regan Another Krupa?

WELL, here's another week's edition of that campus menace — VARIETIES. Your snooping editor has been successful in uncovering some deep-dyed secrets long hidden in the attic. Here's hoping there hasn't been too much snooping on my part.

It has been heard about the campus that several of our music appreciation students are in favor of modern music quite against the will of their prefect. The music of Larry Clinton (this week's band on parade) has been the chief topic of conversation. The tone of the saxophone has been described by this professor as being "A drulling, sweet tone, seeping out of the radio dripping onto the floor." This columnist will still stick with Benny G. (He's not a jitterbug, either.)

Bill Toy

Last week's episode on Glenn Miller met with such wholehearted applause on the campus (one person liked it, anyway) that this week Larry Clinton will follow in his footsteps. Boy, are you fellows lucky?

PARADE OF THE BANDS:

Larry Clinton, the man who has styled so many of our operatic arias in a modern way, had been playing his instruments for many years before he wrote out those tunes. One of our foremost arrangers and composers, Larry had little trouble, when he decided to form his own band, in finding musicians of high calibre.

Larry has played most of the instruments in the band at some time in his life. This is one of the great helps he has had in his arranging career. Although he is not a featured instrumentalist in his own orchestra, in fact, he takes very few solos, he is the most important man in the band.

Clinton's arrangements of "My Reverie," Martha, and I Dreamt That I Dwelt in Marble Halls are among the first class orchestrations of our time. He has been acknowledged one of the best pen and pencil men in the business today.

An interesting point in the case of "My Reverie," the song from which Larry took eight notes and wrote a best seller, is that this number has made more money for the estate of the dead composer than the original cleared in its whole stay. Over $60,000 has been turned over to the estate to date.

To those who oppose the swinging of their classical numbers let me say the Clinton point of view. Isn't it better to have the jitterbugs dancing to these songs than have them laying on the shelf covered with dust as they no doubt would be in their original form.

This band has probably played more college proms than any other top-flight swing unit. (Hint to the Junior Prom committee.) When playing a dance Larry feels that he should mike his real killer-dillers with the smooth tunes so that everyone may be pleased. This is why this band is so popular among college circles.

The music of Larry Clinton's orchestra may be adequately named "Lifty-Dance-Swing." Not a bad definition of the style at that. With this parting gesture, we take leave of the famed Clinton outfit and hope to see him or some other band as good as he (there aren't many) at the Junior Prom.

• • •

TOSCANINI ENDS SEASON:

Arturo Toscanin, celebrated conductor, ended his present series of broadcasts for the NBC Symphony Orchestra last Saturday evening. The program was given over completely to selections from Richard Wagner (this news item is given with compliments to Bernard Singer).

BEWARE KRUPA:

It has been rumored there's a competitor of Gene Krupa loose on the campus. Anyone seeing Jack Regan when he is in the midst of a great swing passage on his drums could easily believe this —facial expressions included.

• • •

BELIEVE IT OR NOT OF THE WEEK:

Ann Sheridan, film actress, received a big dose of sunburn while ice-skating. When she decided to have a few skates on the new Hollywood rink, Ann bundled up in a coat and went off to learn all about that art called ice-skating. However, when the day's events were over, Miss Sheridan was the proud (?) possesser of a fine coat of glistening red sunburn. Out came the sunburn ointment. This reminds one of Villanova's climate — it's so different.

WHAT A LIFE!

Comely Maureen O'Sullivan while playing in the latest Tarzan picture is required to kiss Johnny Sheffield several times during the taking of the film. But here's the rub — Johnny doesn't like the idea of osculating with Maureen because "It's silly and besides she gets lipstick all over me." After this Maureen promised to reimburse him ten cents per kiss for the trouble he went through. The trouble with Johnny is that he was born about 12 years too soon.

Well, I see by the clock that time's up for this reporter to type his column; so, as I'm being dragged from my rusty writer, I just have time to say so long until next week when I'll try my best to crucify 21 more inches.

College Chatter

By Barney Bellew

PETE Smith of short specialty fame has named an Auburn man the world's champion archer, Howard Hill, class of '22, has been amazing movie goers with trick shots worthy of a crack rifleman. He has been seen in many shorts and recently finished up Robin Hood. In this feature Hill handled all the archery and the technical direction.

While at college the students called him Cupid and Sissy. He would hide his bow and arrows and go out into the woods to practice. Hill also was one of the hardest socking ends ever to represent Auburn on the gridiron.

COMMERCE BULLETIN:

New York University has a total of 200,000 alumni scattered throughout the entire world. This is the largest group of its kind. Actively registered on the roster are alumni from every state in the union and 45 foreign countries.

CLOSE SHAVE:

Tofani (getting a close shave): Say, barber, have you got another razor?

Barber: Yes, why?

Tofani: I want to defend myself.

THE TATLER:

The College of New Rochelle has announced their annual poll and it includes everything but the choice of color for the hair. And having seen one classy lady with orchid colored hair I'm surprised that they didn't include that.

Notre Dame was picked as their favorite college. Tommy Dorsey as their favorite band; I agree there. Marriage as their favorite ambition (more baloney). They also chose the most loquacious, which means given to talking. They also chose about 30 other titles, enough to go around the college I imagine.

BRRRR! IT'S COLD:

The Yale University School of Medicine has given out the biological explanation for the fortitude of the weaker sex (oh yeah) in withstanding the cold weather. They say that the insulating tissue in women is twice the thickness of man.

This explains why we see young girls out in a cold windy day with a light coat and toeless shoes and not seeming to know the difference.

TATLER:

Shubert had a horse named Sarah,
Rode her in a big parade.
When the music started playing,
Shubert's Sarah neighed.

ACP:

Akron University students have a new rating for their profs. . . . h. p. h. (humphs per hour). The prof that received their leather medal set a record of 107 h. p. h. and 16 sniffs in one lecture period.

Introducing—

MURRAY ZEALOR

THOMAS J. CARBINE

THERE is a quiet handsome young man at Villanova College. He is the one student who lives in Villanova yet does not live on the campus. He has been coming to Villanova for the last ten to twelve years; he has seen a passing parade of priests and professors. He delights in telling of the time he played ball with the present Fathers Coan, McQuade and Sullivan before these men were ordained priests. But all this was of a time past.

Thomas J. Carbine, senior in the School of Arts, resident of Villanova, warrants this brief word picture of his four years' activity at Villanova College and the crowded moments surrounding that period. Being the quiet type that accomplishes a great amount of work with no apparent effort, it was no easy task to have him relate this knowledge of himself.

Second Difficulty

The other day I went over to the Carbine home—just across Spring Mill Road, and you are there. Edith, the maid, was reluctant to let me see him; he is the studious type you see (an honor student for four years), but I finally persuaded her with the assistance of Patricia Carbine, age seven, that I had a duty to perform.

Patricia, (she is the one seven and with two teeth missing in the front) called her boy friend and my period of interview was in hand. Tom, a member of the VILLANOVAN staff for four years, knew the procedure of interviews and was a great help to me.

Seated in the Carbine library, Tom began to relate his extra-curricular activities. They were many and varied. His first year at Villanova was engaged by his occupancy on the Swimming Team, (he won a letter this year for his active performance.) He also at this time commenced his career on the VILLANOVAN staff.

Sports has been of a very partial appeal to Tom. The 150 pound football team claimed him for his sophomore and junior years. For his fine work in this sport he received a letter each year. A Flying Club was organized this year, his sophomore year, his interest in this field, (his probable vocation) placed him within it. Variety being the spice of life, he turned to dramatics, not as far as acting but he became the director of publicity for the Belle Masque production of "Journeys' End." Lest the freshmen become deranged from the approved rules and regulations, Tom was on hand as a member of the Orientation Committee to assist them.

Continuing his work on the VILLANOVAN, he become the "Here and There" editor of the Sports Staff. The climax of his junior year career was the chairmanship of Junior Week, and such a successful Junior Week Villanova College has not seen in ages.

Tom was elected to the Student Council for his Senior year, and while in that position he became vice-chairman. With the new ruling effective this year concerning the Orientation Committee, the vice-chairman of the Student Council automatically assumes duties as chairman of the Committee. This he did and with fine success.

With his experience of two years on the Belle Air staff he was appointed College Editor of the 1939 Belle Air. His quiet and unassuming ways found him an active participant of the Philosophy Seminar, where his reasoning and judgment have made him a welcome contributor.

Tom's mother is proud of him justly so, having his trophies and bric-brac set about in a conspicuous yet reticent manner. He showed me the trophy which he received as swimmer for the Penn A. C., explaining the need of winning the meet for three years to receive it. He had also received several cups and medals from Martin's Dam, all showing his prowess in this sport.

Trans-Oceanic Voyager

Being a person to appreciate something by seeing it, Tom has had some interesting adventures. He has worked his way by boat across to Europe in a trip through the Baltic Sea and all the countries of the north. In this manner he has also visited the South of these United States, viewing Texas and the entrance to the West.

I had him relate some of his journey in the Nordic countries. Speaking of these, he saw the Helsingor castle where the ghost of Hamlet's father appeared to Hamlet. Special mention might be made to the ten-course meals he had in Sweden.

Every traveler having his opinion where the most beautiful girls are, Tom concedes victory to the Swedish girls "So white, lily like, fresh, sweet." Yes Tom, we can sympathize with you.

Do You Know

By ANTHONY R. LISCIO

In 1866 a course of military drill was introduced at Villanova under the direction of Major Beatty, an ex-U. S. army officer.

• • •

A Master Michael Rooney spoke at the commencement exercise of 1848.

• • •

In 1836 the premium list of commencement day mentioned prizes in logic, surveying, rhetoric, Spanish, architectural drawing, and the flute.

• • •

The first catalogue of Villanova College appeared in 1872.

• • •

After the commencement exercise of July 18, 1849, the company adjourned to the woods south of Lancaster Road for cakes, ice cream, mineral water and candy.

• • •

Mail was first delivered at the present P. O. in 1872.

• • •

The site of the present church lawn was used as a playground in 1866. One year after, the field beyond Spring Mill Road was used, and since 1869, the present campus.

VILLANOVAN

Published Weekly by the Students of Villanova College

Managing Board

JOHN J. HARRINGTON, '39 ..... Editor-in-Chief
JAMES P. COLLINS, '40 ..... College Editor
LOUIS M. CAVA, '39 ..... Sports Editor
JOHN F. GALLAGHER, '39 ..... Business Manager
JOSEPH N. DeGIOVANNI, '39 ..... Copy Editor
JOSEPH A. CERELLA, '39 ..... Circulation Manager
MURRAY E. ZEALOR, '39 ..... Literary Editor
HENRY L. MAYCHAK, '41 ..... Photography Editor
JOHN L. MAYRO, '39 ..... Advertising Manager
JOSEPH F. [illegible], '42 ..... Cartoonist

Columnists

Bernard A. Grilley, '39 ..... College Chatter
William F. Cassidy, '40 ..... Odds and Ends
William J. Toy, '41 ..... Varieties
Harry A. McCall, '42 ..... Here and There
Anthony J. Liscio, '39 ..... Do You Know

Staff Writers

Justin G. Rigby, '40 — Robert J. Funnabashi, '42
Frank Fitzpatrick, '40 — William B. Carey, '42
Saul A. Weiss, '40 — Francis L. Culhane, '42
Bernard Sheehy, '40 — William E. Schubert, '42
Thomas J. Mayro, '41 — William D. DeBruce, '42
Anthony R. Lucia, '41 — Thomas H. Doyle, '42
James E. Hunsicker, '41 — Howard A. McCall, '42
Andrew J. Devine, '41 — John P. Fallem, '42
Ivan E. Devine, '41 — William F. Elmer, '42
Joseph X. Mecca, '41 — Thomas A. Shallow, '42
Joseph A. Rapone, '41 — Edward F. McIntyre, '42
Joseph A. Cavanaugh, '41 — Alfred Rappenecker, '42
J. [illegible], '41 — A. [illegible], '42
Robert W. Kiely, '41

Contributor

J. A. Devlin, '41

Photographic Staff

Maurice Fischer, '39 — William N. LaPorte, '42
John T. Sadowski, '41

Circulation Staff

Robert P. Sheridan, '41 — Robert F. Donovan, '42
Edward C. Gallagher, '41 — Leonard D. Keller, '42
Rev. Edward Arbeiter, O.S.A. — Rev. Edward P. McFee, O.S.A.

"This paper is dedicated to one of the finest men who ever entered the College—Rev. Dennis Quinlan—I.E.G.G.O.D.B.E.A.U."

Subscription, $3.00 per year.
Entered as second-class matter at the Villanova Post-office, December 27, 1920.

Member 1939
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

[illegible]

TUESDAY ..... FEBRUARY 28, 1939

[illegible] Congress. The 76th Congress came into session in early January, but has not as yet done a thing. They, the Congress, have never come to their battle with the executive, have much to do but have failed to do so during the period of "grace dick" [illegible].

Congressmen plenty to do . . . we might [illegible] their memory . . . the [illegible] way they came to Washington.

Nor can we . . . the present situation might lead us into almost any position entirely unwanted by the people.

Excess taxation . . . are we to listen to the words of Harry Hopkins and bear no more of the restoration of business?

Pseudo legislation . . . the banks are [illegible] opposite that if a bean can be [illegible] fellow just as sudden.

It is [illegible] will they ever solve the problem, that is concerning this life-stream of American progress?

Can the cure [illegible] that the President has dumped legislation upon the lap of Congress? The right to criticize is much more carefully exercised than the duty to take responsibility for action.

[illegible]

A NOTED physicist has closed the doors of his laboratory to the citizens and the visitors of the totalitarian states of the world. He charges that the totalitarian states do not recognize that the free exploration of scientific knowledge for its own sake is a worthy end of human endeavor, but have commandered the scientific activities for their citizens to [illegible].

Science is now making a valiant stand in opposition to distruction and turbulence in the world. It is the common opinion that science would be much more beneficial to the world if her resources were used for the lengthing and the safeguarding of human life instead of finding means of destroying it.

JOIN NOW!

A Legion of Justice has been founded and organized upon the campus. A legion of laymen and clergy for the promotion of the ideal "living wage." The Christian Front and other Catholic periodicals and papers have stressed and publicized the ideal of this legion.

As the Legion of Decency combatted the forces of Hollywood by its action at the box office, the Legion of Justice seeks to do likewise. It is the plan and action of this legion to stop purchasing goods that it knows to be sweat shop and non-union made goods. Belief is based upon the fact that union employes receive a larger salary affording them a living wage.

To join this legion is simple. Pledges are being sent out by the Catholic papers and periodicals that are to be signed by all who care to join. In its first day of existence in Cleveland over 5000 applicants were signed.

As this movement was inaugurated on the campus, it is fitting that Villanova students, seeing its value should support it.

POSITIVE LENTEN PRACTICE

WITH tomorrow comes the close of the initial week of the penitential season of holy Lent. Thus, it is appropriate and essential to take stock of our spiritual stores before any more of the precious sands of time filter through the world's hour glass. If as yet we have made no progress towards our eternal destiny and have not even attempted the formation of good resolutions now is the time to do both, the former to result from the latter.

It is singularly suggestive that today is the termination of the Catholic Press Month, for the occasion harmonizes with the good intentions we should make here and now. These are to be in effect not only for the duration of this forty-day period of Lent but are to last and be practised for all time.

There is not even the slightest shadow of a veil of secrecy cloaking the fact that the Catholic Press, in every phase of its activity, needs as much support as it can possibly be accorded. The goal is to have every Catholic family in these United States to subscribe to, and studiously read, at least one Catholic periodical regularly. Since the spiritual value to be derived from this exercise can not be counted in the usual terminology of dollars and cents, its essential quality is self-evident and prepossessing.

No matter just what negative works of self-denial we have burdened ourselves with in the form of penance for this Lenten season, we should in addition make some fruitful promises of real positive deeds. The support of the Catholic Press movement affords only one of the many acts that can be utilized for your form of specialized devotion as inspired by this time of the year set aside by Holy Mother Church and entitled Lent.

Let us then agree to designate a particular time for the perusal of Catholic literature in keeping with the tone and sorrowful purple hues of Lent.

Faculty Comments

The Spanish Civil War

By

Jerome A. Mahoney, O. S. A., M. A.

"Perhaps it's in the news."

This headline of a local newspaper columnist should be placed in a "box" on the front page of his newspaper as the New York Times puts it's "All the news that's fit to print." For almost three years we have been looking for information concerning "insurgent" Spain but all we ever got was news of Loyalist victories and Loyalist action. Saturday, however, this newspaper evidently read the handwriting on the wall; France and England will recognize Franco's Government and the same newspaper carried screaming headlines to the effect that the Bishop of Tiruel and several of his priests had been brutally murdered because the Bishop refused to broadcast in favor of the Loyalist Government.

Why this change of policy? While not exactly denying the fact that many Bishops, priests and nuns had been slaughtered, churches and convents despoiled, still we saw very little or nothing of this in the newspapers. News seeped through from various sources, much of it from eye witnesses, to the effect that such atrocities were being perpetrated. When asked by American visitors why they did not send the truth, many of the war correspondents replied, "We have sent the truth but it is never published."

Why? Is it that the American press is so venal or that some high political influence has been exercised over it?

It is a known fact that the Ambassador from Spain to Washington has spent millions of dollars to buy up the American press and to propagandize for his own course. He has lavishly entertained Senators, Representatives and Ambassadors from other powers. His campaign was successful until the fall of Barcelona when everyone saw that the fall of that hotbed of revolution and anarchy meant the fall of the Loyalist cause. Then they were such hurried attempts of those who had tried to join with him that it looked like our familiar political situation after the Primaries, of the boys who always say, "Let's get on the band wagon."

Why should France and England, after 31 months, be willing to recognize as official a government which they have hitherto despised?

Is it because the policy of Franco has changed? By no means, he has adhered steadfastly to the principles and ideals which he announced at the beginning of his revolution. The principle ones are to return the Government of Spain to the Spanish people and to wipe out the Communistic and Socialistic Government of his adversaries.

No one believed, at first, that the civil strife could have lasted as long but then no one knew how deeply the principles of Marx and Trotsky had taken root in Spain, especially, in the larger cities. Barcelona for years has been revolutionary. The Catalans have been Separatists from time immemorial. The under paid workers in their many factories have been longing for a chance to revolt. It made little difference what change it might bring so long as they achieved their end; and seeing no other visible opponents except the Capitalistic system and the Government, they were ready and willing to attempt an overthrow of both. In other words they are not like the Irishman who said, "I'm the guy that's in."

From 1919, when Trotsky first made his appearance in Spain, Soviet methods took a very definite form. Organizations of Obreros "workers unions," were formed on the principles which he advocated. Many a murder which was never published, was committed, even in some of the smaller towns, with the plea that it was for the benefit of the masses. Conditions became so bad that even the then popular King could not cope with them.

When Primo de Rivera declared his "coup d' etate" in 1923, Spain was then on the verge of revolution. While he did everything he could for the betterment of the people and the improvement of the country, still the masses were not satisfied. Strong Groups of Syndicalists showed their resentment to a Dictatorship and had to be separated by armed forces. His regime tho' mild in the extreme, by comparison with other countries, was hindered by the proud, liberty loving Spaniard. Primo did not last long. The King had not only lost all his power but all his prestige. He was a hated and despised man. Besides rumor a strong propaganda was spread throughout the land to the effect that he had sold out his country, that he would do nothing to hold his people; that he foresaw his quick end, as King, and that even then he had invested most of his wealth in foreign countries. This may or may not be true. The King was and is first of all a Spaniard. At one time I heard him remark, "If the people want a Republic I shall be the first candidate for president."

But propaganda is a powerful influence and as was not long before the King, was forced to abdicate, flee the country and just about escape with his life.

Immediately a so-called Republic was established in which the right of suffrage was exercised by a limited few, in no way representative of the will of the people. Then old-line "Politicos" quickly took hold of the reins of the Government and began running things as they saw fit, worse than any "ward healer" form of Government that this country has ever known.

The Spaniard is a master of intrigue but at the same time he is wise enough to hide his mastery by palliation, cheating to his victims some bonbon which will make the victim believe that he is sincere. The first thing the Republican Government did was to give the women the right of suffrage and to call for a general election. It looked as the Spain had finally arrived at a true Republican form of Government, but the "nigger in the woodpile" was this, that only a limited few were permitted to vote and they under a Government-controlled army supervision. The party in power did so much gerrymandering that it was almost impossible to have an honest election; but even at that the Rightists legally won the election but were deprived of their seats in the "Cortes." The various forms of Leftists, Radicalists, Syndicalists and down right anarchists then took control of the Government and the people were so persecuted by this group that Generalissimo Franco was obliged, he said, "To declare himself in open rebellion against the Government for the preservation of the best interests of Spain.

The rest is all too recent history to repeat it here. There have been battles and slaughters, murder and rapine, reprisals, and counter reprisals. But all we heard, until Saturday, from the secular press was "Loyalists still hold out." "Loyalists valiantly defend Madrid." ad nauseam.

STOP! Sunday morning's papers —one of the same paper headlines —"Spanish War over. Loyalists Surrender" "Perhaps it's in the News." Let us hope that from now on we will get "all the news that's fit to print."

What of the future Spain? I am no seventh son of a seventh son but I know that Franco will carry out his policy as announced when he first declared a revolt. Spain will be returned to the SPANISH PEOPLE. Communism will be wiped out; Catholicism restored. What a blow to Russia. VIVA FRANCO! Viva Espana.

ODDS and ENDS

By Bill Garrity

STILLNESS in Austin Hall is being shattered nightly by the ringing of the telephone. Most of the calls are being made by a mysterious miss asking for a certain "Sugar" Shader.

• • •

Johnnie Kolmer tried to pull the cave man act on his girl "Peachy." She fooled him, however, by getting just as rough as he.

• • •

Tommy Ryan still wends his way nightly to the P. O. in hopes of finding a letter from North Philly. Don't let her get you down, Tom.

• • •

Joe Back brought a new flame to witness him in the musical Tuesday night. It seems that I have seen her before. Was it at the Nixon Grand with John Heck?

• • •

Who was your friend, Bob Keeler, at 2:30 Mass in New York a couple of Sundays ago? I must admit you do all right?

• • •

"Pete" Petril finally went and did it. I never thought it of you, "Pete." He took a date to the musical Tuesday night, and of all places to go afterwards, the Greeks!

• • •

When asked in music appreciation what polyphony means, Jim Donovan answered, "Having too many wives."

• • •

College men are a funny lot, they enjoy most things a second time. For example; they enjoy cigarettes a second time, hamburgers with onions are often enjoyed by them a second time, movies are enjoyed as many as four times if a picture strikes their fancy, and last but not least, they enjoy dates many times over.

• • •

The Overbrook Flash, Dan Keating, has been keeping himself in seclusion of late. Mary must have a quieting effect on him.

• • •

Johnny Maher has been seen around West Catholic quite a bit lately. Not the school for boys but the edifice farther down on Chestnut Street. Could it be Edith?

• • •

Lou Wannemecher is doing a lot of studying lately. Most of it is figuring out a system to beat the horses and the rest is for a mighty effort to pass the policeman's examination in New York.

• • •

I wonder what is taking Ronnie Tornwall down to Garrett Hill so often. She must be pretty nice to deserve all that attention.

• • •

Jimmy Dwyer has been missing his weekly trip home to Trenton. Word has it that he is going into a hermitage for the remainder of his natural life.

• • •

"Buzz" Mowen hasn't been seen arduind the Pie Shoppe of late. Don't let those eyes get you down, Buzz. After all, a basketball would do that to most anyone.

"I've Lost A Friend"

By ANDREA J. D'ANGELO

We met as strangers meet,
And did you and I,
And felt the bond of friendship twine our ways;
With joy I said that it would never die,
But wax much stronger with the waning days.
Your laughter filled my soul with new-born hope
And dragged it from the hell of black despair.
I thought that you would never let me grope
Again for what I've yearned — a friend to share.
I know, you told me we were through last night;
You left me lone without a farewell smile,
But friendship's bond so corded and tight
Will draw you back to me in just a while;
Then I know that you'll say in the end,
"Come, let me shake your hand, my dear friend."

VARIETIES

By WILLIAM J. TOY

Clinton's Band Reviewed; Popular Music Scorned — Regan Another Krupa?

WELL, here's another week's edition of that campus menace — VARIETIES. Your snooping editor has been successful in uncovering some deep-dyed secrets long hidden in the attic. Here's hoping there hasn't been too much snooping on my part.

It has been heard about the campus that several of our music appreciation students are in favor of modern music quite against the will of their prefect. The music of Larry Clinton (this week's band on parade) has been the chief topic of conversation. The tone of the saxophone has been described by this professor as being "A drulling, sweet tone, seeping out of the radio dripping onto the floor." This columnist will still stick with Benny G. (He's not a jitterbug, either.)

Bill Toy

Last week's episode on Glenn Miller met with such wholehearted applause on the campus (one person liked it, anyway) that this week Larry Clinton will follow in his footsteps. Boy, are you fellows lucky?

PARADE OF THE BANDS:

Larry Clinton, the man who has styled so many of our operatic arias in a modern way, had been playing his instruments for many years before he wrote out those tunes. One of our foremost arrangers and composers, Larry had little trouble, when he decided to form his own band, in finding musicians of high calibre.

Larry has played most of the instruments in the band at some time in his life. This is one of the great helps he has had in his arranging career. Although he is not a featured instrumentalist in his own orchestra, in fact, he takes very few solos, he is the most important man in the band.

Clinton's arrangements of "My Reverie," Martha, and I Dreamt That I Dwelt in Marble Halls are among the first class orchestrations of our time. He has been acknowledged one of the best pen and pencil men in the business today.

An interesting point in the case of "My Reverie," the song from which Larry took eight notes and wrote a best seller, is that this number has made more money for the estate of the dead composer than the original cleared in its whole stay. Over $60,000 has been turned over to the estate to date.

To those who oppose the swinging of their classical numbers let me say the Clinton point of view. Isn't it better to have the jitterbugs dancing to these songs than have them laying on the shelf covered with dust as they no doubt would be in their original form.

This band has probably played more college proms than any other top-flight swing unit. (Hint to the Junior Prom committee.) When playing a dance Larry feels that he should mike his real killer-dillers with the smooth tunes so that everyone may be pleased. This is why this band is so popular among college circles.

The music of Larry Clinton's orchestra may be adequately named "Lifty-Dance-Swing." Not a bad definition of the style at that. With this parting gesture, we take leave of the famed Clinton outfit and hope to see him or some other band as good as he (there aren't many) at the Junior Prom.

• • •

TOSCANINI ENDS SEASON:

Arturo Toscanin, celebrated conductor, ended his present series of broadcasts for the NBC Symphony Orchestra last Saturday evening. The program was given over completely to selections from Richard Wagner (this news item is given with compliments to Bernard Singer).

BEWARE KRUPA:

It has been rumored there's a competitor of Gene Krupa loose on the campus. Anyone seeing Jack Regan when he is in the midst of a great swing passage on his drums could easily believe this —facial expressions included.

• • •

BELIEVE IT OR NOT OF THE WEEK:

Ann Sheridan, film actress, received a big dose of sunburn while ice-skating. When she decided to have a few skates on the new Hollywood rink, Ann bundled up in a coat and went off to learn all about that art called ice-skating. However, when the day's events were over, Miss Sheridan was the proud (?) possesser of a fine coat of glistening red sunburn. Out came the aunburn ointment. This reminds one of Villanova's climate — it's so different.

WHAT A LIFE!

Comely Maureen O'Sullivan while playing in the latest Tarzan picture is required to kiss Johnny Sheffield several times during the taking of the film. But here's the rub — Johnny doesn't like the idea of osculating with Maureen because "It's silly and besides she gets lipstick all over me." After this Maureen promised to reimburse him ten cents per kiss for the trouble he went through. The trouble with Johnny is that he was born about 12 years too soon.

Well, I see by the clock that time's up for this reporter to type his column; so, as I'm being dragged from my trouble writer, I just have time to say so long until next week when I'll try my best to crucify 21 more inches.

BEA WAIN

College Chatter

By Barney Bellew

PETE Smith of short specialty fame has named an Auburn man the world's champion archer. Howard Hill, class of '22, has been amazing movie goers with trick shots worthy of a crack rifleman. He has been seen in many shorts and recently finished up Robin Hood. In this feature Hill handled all the archery and the technical direction.

While at college the students called him Cupid and Sissy. He would hide his bow and arrows and go out into the woods to practice. Hill also was one of the hardest socking ends ever to represent Auburn on the gridiron.

COMMERCE BULLETIN:

New York University has a total of 200,000 alumni scattered throughout the entire world. This is the largest group of its kind. Actively registered on the roster are alumni from every state in the union and 45 foreign countries.

CLOSE SHAVE:

Tofani (getting a close shave): Say, barber, have you got another razor?

Barber: Yes, why?

Tofani: I want to defend myself.

THE TATLER:

The College of New Rochelle has announced their annual poll and it includes everything but the choice of color for the hair. And having seen one classy lady with orchid colored hair I'm surprised that they didn't include that.

Notre Dame was picked as their favorite college. Tommy Dorsey as their favorite band; I agree there. Marriage as their favorite ambition (more baloney). They also chose the most loquacious, which means given to talking. They also chose about 30 other titles, enough to go around the college I imagine.

BRRRR! IT'S COLD:

The Yale University School of Medicine has given out the biological explanation for the fortitude of the weaker sex (oh yeah) in withstanding the cold weather. They say that the insulating tissue in women is twice the thickness of man.

This explains why we see young girls out in a cold windy day with a light coat and toeless shoes and not seeming to know the difference.

TATLER:

Shubert had a horse named Sarah,
Rode her in a big parade.
When the music started playing,
Shubert's Sarah neighed.

ACP:

Akron University students have a new rating for their profs. . . . h. p. h. (hahumphs per hour). The prof that received their leather medal set a record of 107 h. p. h. and 16 sniffs in one lecture period.

Introducing

MURRAY ZEALOR

THERE is a quiet handsome young man at Villanova College. He is the one student who lives in Villanova yet does not live on the campus. He has been coming to Villanova for the last ten to twelve years; he has seen a passing parade of priests and professors. He delights in telling of the time he played ball with the present Fathers Coan, McQuade and Sullivan before these men were ordained priests. But all this was of a time past.

Thomas J. Carbine, senior in the School of Arts, resident of Villanova, warrants this brief word picture of his four years' activity at Villanova College and the crowded moments surrounding that period. Being the quiet type that accomplishes a great amount of work with no apparent effort, it was no easy task to have him relate this knowledge of himself.

Second Difficulty

The other day I went over to the Carbine home—just across Spring Mill Road, and you are there. Edith, the maid, was reluctant to let me see him; he is the studious type you see (an honor student for four years), but I finally persuaded her with the assistance of Patricia Carbine, age seven, that I had a duty to perform.

Patricia, (she is the one seven and with two teeth missing in the front) called her boy friend and my period of interview was in hand. Tom, a member of the VILLANOVAN staff for four years, knew the procedure of interviews and was a great help to me.

Seated in the Carbine library, Tom began to relate his extra-curricular activities. They were many and varied. His first year at Villanova was engaged by his occupancy on the Swimmin: Team, (he won a letter this year for his active performance.) He also at this time commenced his career on the VILLANOVAN staff.

Sports has been of a very partial appeal to Tom. The 150 pound football team claimed him for his sophomore and junior years. For his fine work in this sport he received a letter each year. A Flying Club was organized this year, his sophomore year, his interest in this field, (his probable vocation) placed him within it. Variety being the spice of life, he turned to dramatics, not as far as acting but he became the director of publicity for the Belle Masque production of "Journeys' End." Lest the freshmen become deranged from the approved rules and regulations, Tom was on hand as a membe: of the Orientation Committee to assist them.

Continuing his work on the the VILLANOVAN, he become the "Here and There" editor of the Sports Staff. The climax of his junior year career was the chairmanship of Junior Week, and such a successful Junior Week Villanova College has not seen in ages.

THOMAS J. CARBINE

Tom was elected to the Student Council for his Senior year, and while in that position he became vice-chairman. With the new ruling effective this year concerning the Orientation Committee, the vice-chairman of the Student Council automatically assumes duties as chairman of the Committee. This he did and with fine success.

With his experience of two years on the Belle Air staff he was appointed College Editor of the 1939 Belle Air. His quiet and unassuming ways found him an active participant of the Philosophy Seminar, where his reasoning and judgment have made him a welcome contributor.

Tom's mother is proud of him justly so, having his trophies and bric-brac set about in a conspicuous yet reticent manner. He showed me the trophy which he received as swimmer for the Penn A. C., explaining the need of winning the meet for three years to receive it. He had also received several cups and medals from Martin's Dam, all showing his prowess in this sport.

Trans-Oceanic Voyager

Being a person to appreciate something by seeing it, Tom has had some interesting adventures. He has worked his way by boat across to Europe in a trip through the Baltic Sea and all the countries of the north. In this manner he has also visited the South of these United States, viewing Texas and the entrance to the West.

I had him relate some of his journey in the Nordic countries. Speaking of these, he saw the Helsingor castle where the ghost of Hamlets father appeared to Hamlet. Special mention might be made to the ten-course meals he had in Sweden.

Every traveler having his opinion where the most beautiful girls are, Tom concedes victory to the Swedish girls "So white, lily like, fresh, sweet." Yes Tom, we can sympathize with you.

Do You Know

By ANTHONY R. LISCIO

In 1866 a course of military drill was introduced at Villanova under the direction of Major Beatty, an ex-U. S. army officer.

• • •

A Master Michael Rooney spoke at the commencement exercise of 1848.

• • •

In 1856 the premium list of commencement day mentioned prizes in logic, surveying, rhetoric, Spanish, architectural drawing, and the flute.

• • •

The first catalogue of Villanova College appeared in 1872.

• • •

After the commencement exercise of July 18, 1849, the company adjourned to the woods south of Lancaster Road for cakes, ice cream, mineral water and candy.

• • •

Mail was first delivered at the present P. O. in 1872.

• • •

The site of the present church lawn was used as a playground in 1866. One year after, the field beyond Spring Mill Road was used, and since 1869, the present campus.

YEARLING FORENSIC GROUP INAUGURATES ACTIVE SCHEDULE

Teams From Pennsylvania, St. Joseph's, St. John's to be Met

Villanova's Freshman Debating Society held its initial intercollegiate debate of the year last Monday at 4 o'clock when it met Haverford freshmen. The question for discussion was the National Topic, Resolved: that the United States should cease to use public funds for the purpose of stimulating business. Villanova was represented by Thomas McKimmey and Clifford Maginn. The chairmen for the debate was Walter LaPorte.

Several members of the freshman society attended the Rosemont Town Hall at which likewise was discussed the pump-priming topic.

Armand Salerno, of the freshman team, acted as chairman of the varsity debate between Villanova and Columbia of Iowa.

The future weeks promise a renewed activity among the cub debaters. On March 15, the University of Pennsylvania will be met; and, on March 22, the freshmen will cross words with the strong St. Joseph's College team. It has definitely been decided that the year's activities will be climaxed by a trip to New York in which St. John's of Brooklyn will be encountered in a renewal of a long forensic rivalry. A debate with Rosemont is in the process of arrangement and will probably take place after Easter. This will conclude the year for the freshmen society.

Pantaleo, Senior, Speaks on Blood

Continued From Page One

problems and in blood transfusions.

Thomas Campo, freshman premedical student, lectured on "Invertebrate Blood Clotting." Campo showed that invertebrate blood, unlike the human, clots as a result of both the serum and cellular elements.

Explaining the mechanism by which clotting is brought about in invertebrate blood, Campo described the action of chemical and physical agents. He ended his discussion with several conclusions that have been reached by experimenters in the field. Very little work has been done in the clotting of blood because of the rapidity of its action. Campo urged the need of further experiment in view of the fact that this phenomenon in both vertebrates and invertebrate remains much a mystery.

CARL PANTALEO

Previous to this meeting, anthony Gigliotti and Chairman Giordano presented papers to the Research Seminar on Friday, February 17. Gigliotti, freshman science student, discussed "The History of Biology." Giordano enlightened the group on "Methods of Blood Typing and Counting." Other papers are being prepared for the next meeting of the group.

P. K. P. BASKETBALL

This last Saturday brought to a close the P. K. P. basketball tournament with the sophomore engineers emerging victorious. The games were held at the Alumni Hall gym. This was disclosed by the sponsors of the P. K. P.

Furor Created By Mysterious Person

Even the VILLANOVAN office isn't safe.

Recently Jim Haughton turned in a story which mentioned Dick Deverall, local campus editor, in it. But when the story appeared in print, confusion reigned. The copy had been tampered with by some unkind gent who had a good laugh at the expense of both Deverall and Haughton. It seems the gent's tampering put Haughton on the spot. But with a little research the original copy was brought out and the tampering made it's appearance. So our apologies to Mr. Deverall and Mr. Haughton.

PAX ROMANA HOLDS WORLD CONFERENCE

Congress Preceded by Study Session at Catholic University

Pax Romana, the international Catholic student organization, will hold a world congress in New York from September 2 to 9. The congress proper will be preceded by a study session at the Catholic University in Washington.

Pax Romana is not a peace organization. Its name was inspired by the motto of the Catholic Church which was also the motto of the late Holy Father: Pax Christi in Begno Christi. Its aim, therefore, is to spread the peace of Christ in the kingdom of Christ by serving in all possible ways all the Catholic students of the world. Pax Romana now serves 45 Catholic University federations which represent 32 different nationalities of Europe, Asia, North and South and Central America. It acts as a link joining together the student federations of different countries, as a clearing house receiving and distributing information, as a central organ to which all may appeal in time of need but to which none are subservient.

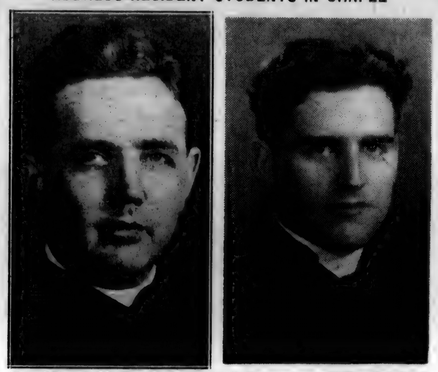
Pax Romana is a confederation. That is to say, individual students may not join it, nor can individual colleges. Only student and alumni federations can join it. For example, in this country the National Federation of Catholic College Students, the Catholic Student Peace Federation, the National Catholic Alumni Federation, the Theta Kappa Phi Federation, the National Catholic Alumni Federation, the Theta Kappa Phi Fraternity and the Ukrainian Catholic Youth League are affiliated to the mother confederation.

MUSIC SEMINAR TO HOLD EXTRA WEEKLY PROGRAM

Overflow audiences at recent Music Seminars in Simpson Hall have made necessary an extra program each week. Meetings will now be held on Wednesday as well as Thursday evenings so everyone can be accommodated comfortably.

A program of Beethoven's varieties this coming Wednesday and Thursday will be the first under the new policy. Paderewski's famous "Moonlight Sonata" will be featured with the "Fifth Symphony in C Minor." Other offerings will be the "Lenore Overture" and the "Carolan Overture."

ADDRESS RESIDENT STUDENTS IN CHAPEL



Rev. Edward M. Dwyer, O. S. A. (left), spoke on "The Spirit of Lent" last Tuesday evening at the first of the sermons held weekly during the Lenten season. This evening Rev. Ralph J. Handran, O. S. A. (right), will speak on "The Holy Name."

Songs In Band Production Score Hit, Bill Ward Successful Interlocutor

By JAMES F. HAUGHTON

Penn may have its Mask and Wig; Princeton its Triangle Club; but take our word for it Villanova will soon be drawing nation-wide attention if last Tuesday's edition of "They Never Learn" is taken as a criterion.

For the local collegians in their initial appearance on the musical comedy boards displayed an abundance of talent, excellent student authors, springy popular tunes and a small but appreciative audience.

"They Never Learn" might be called a parody on the dictatorial powers of Europe transferred to America's Kingsford University. For there was the sage of Austin Hall, Witt Kryzwicki who bore a body and facial resemblance not unlike that of a certain leader whose followers love spaghetti and mass demonstrations. Witt topped off his physical appearance with an excellent portrayal of Will Doochy, a student leader who satisfied himself with second place in student revolt and leadership, but managed to hold an ace up his sleeve.

But then Joe Back as Otto Kampf, the student leader of the revolt, might be called a "look-a-like" of a certain race which eats up research and physical education. Back had a nice combining upper lip and drooping head of hair which provided him with makeup for the portrayal of the student who brought Kingsford into organized confusion.

Ad libbing, peanut vending and matriculation cards provided Len Flinkman as Abraham O'Reilly with plenty of busy experiences without agreeing with the thoughts of the student leaders. For in the end Kingsford reverted back to its original lackadaisical life of free cuts, no book reports and uninteresting classes.

The musical trend of the show provided Bill Dobbins and Ed Lucente with much opportunity to handle new and popular tunes of songsmith Jimmy Cooke. Both gentlemen stepped right from their semi-dramatic parts into the musical spotlight and gave life to the musical delectations from Cooke's pen.

The audience received the tunes with interest and as announcer John Parsons said: "Look for these tunes on your hit parade." Will Osborne is at present plugging several of the songs and each playing reminds the listener that the songs had their original appearance in Villanova's "They Never Learn."

Writing plays demand imagination and Bill Ward and Larry Knaphle, the co-authors had this gift when doing this work. For their initial result started a Villanova tradition which will provide the base for local playrights to work on.

Calendar

Tuesday, February 28

German Seminar ..... 9:45 A. M.
VILLANOVAN ..... 1:00 P. M.
Philosophy Seminar ... 1:30 P. M.
Freshman Debating ... 1:00 P. M.

Wednesday, March 1

International Relations. 1:00 P. M.
Spanish Club ..... 7:00 P. M.
Glee Club ..... 7:30 P. M.
Music Seminar ..... 7:30 P. M.

Thursday, March 2

Science Seminar .....10:45 A. M.
History Seminar ..... 4:00 P. M.
L. K. D. ..... 7:30 P. M.
Music Seminar ..... 7:30 P. M.

Friday, March 3

German Seminar ..... 9:45 A. M.
Swimming Meet—Rider 3:00 P. M.
Research Seminar ..... 4:00 P. M.

Monday, March 6

Belle Air (Arts) ..... 1:00 P. M.
Sociology Seminar ..... 7:30 P. M.
Band ..... 7:30 P. M.
Phi Kappa Pi .....10:45 A. M.
Mathematics Club .....12:30 P. M.

HUGE RULE USED

An eight foot slide rule is being used in demonstrations in a course on the slide rule being by Mr. Thomas J. McCormack on Friday afternoons at 4 in 203 Mendel. Thirty students of the college and 15 seminarians attended the first of the six lectures last Friday.

REPORT PRESENTED ON SUPREME COURT BY C. & F. STUDENT

Chief Justice Marshall and His Constitutional Decisions Examined by Seminar

Continuing his paper from the preceding week, John Parsons, freshman finance student, traced the development of the Supreme Court from its earliest days up to present. The period from the beginning of the 19th century formed most of the subject matter during this session.

The significance of the precedents which have developed as a result of the activity of Chief Justice John Marshall was vividly portrayed. McCollough vs. Maryland was explained as one of the most important decisions rendered by the court in the light of its constitutional significance.

Parsons showed the tremendous influence that this high tribunal has had in the course of the constitutional development of our country and presented the question for discussion "Should Congress or the Supreme Court rule the United States?"

This is the first of a series of papers to be presented at the weekly meetings of the organization by interested students on governmental affairs.

FACULTIES FROM MANY COLLEGES

Teachers Study in Institutions of Foreign Countries as Well as U. S.

Members of the faculty at Villanova College have attended over 60 colleges and universities at home and abroad. Seven foreign countries are represented and the schools at home are scattered over the entire country from Massachusetts to California and Florida.

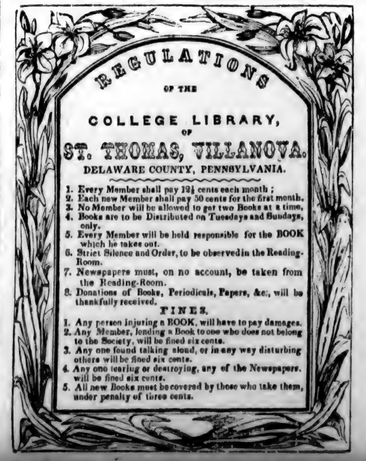
Foreign countries represented are Italy, France, Germany, Spain, England, Ireland and Switzerland. These institutions abroad include Politechnico Instituto, Turino; Collegiate Internationale, Agostiniano; College of the Mantellate; University of Berlin; Institum Angelicum; Royal University; National University; University of Wurzburg; University of Fribourg, Oxford University; Universite de Lausanne; Universidad Escorial Bilbao College; Universite de Montepellier, and Gregorian University, of Rome.

Listed among the schools in the United States are the United States Naval Academy and the Marien Biological Laboratories in Woods Hole, Mass. Those in this country include 30 universities and 18 colleges.

Among prominent universities and colleges in the United States we note the following: University of Chicago, University of Illinois, University of Michigan, University of Pennsylvania, University of Missouri, University of Wisconsin, Harvard University, Temple University, George Washington University, Cornell University, Pittsburgh University, Catholic University, Notre Dame University, Georgetown University, Fordham University, Loyola University, North Carolina State, Naval Academy, Iowa State College, Kansas State College, Dartmouth College, Penn State, Drexel Institute, Miami University, Stevens Institute, Albright.

WRITES FOR MAGAZINE

Mr. William Smith, pursuing a graduate degree in philosophy at the Villanova Extension School, has been the first layman to write for the "Tagastan," Augustinian magazine. The article will be included in the issue appearing next month.



With the centenary of Villanova to be celebrated in 1942, thoughts are already being turned back to the early days of the college. To the left is illustrated one of the plates adorning library books of nearly a century ago.

PAGANO COMMENDED AS TEACHER; LAUDATORY LETTER PRESENTED

An excellent recommendation of the student teaching work of Joseph Pagano, senior, was received by Dr. McHugh, head of the department of education, in a letter from Upper Darby High School, Upper Darby, Pa.

The letter below is self-explanatory:

Dear Doctor McHugh:

I kept this report until after college began instead of mailing it in August.

I liked Mr. Pagano's earnestness, his gentlemanly deportment and his well groomed appearance. Thanks, very much, for helping us out this Summer.

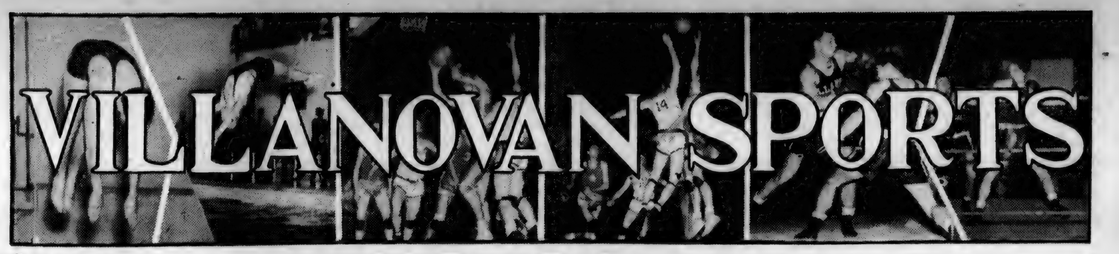
Are you sending us any student-teachers this semester? We would like to have as many Mr. Paganos as you have at Villanova.

Yours sincerely,
Zita E. Mallon.
Upper Darby High School,
Upper Darby, Pa.

KEEP SUPPLIED WITH SCHOOL TICKETS

Good on Buses and Rail Cars until used. 5c a Ride, including Special Free Transfers. School Identification Cards may be obtained at School Office.

PHILADELPHIA SUBURBAN TRANSPORTATION COMPANY



WILDCAT QUINTET WHIPS MORAVIAN

New York U. Also Tumbled As Blue Shows Offensive

Lazorchak Accounts For 12 Points Against Violet as Visitors' Lewis Snares Scoring Honors With 15 Markers

BETHLEHEMITES ARE TROUNCED, 58 - 21

By HARRY MAZZEI

Unleashing a barrage of baskets from all corners of the court Villanova's high-flying basketeers ended their first undefeated home season in history as they drubbed the Moravian Greyhounds 58-21.

The Greyhounds, co-champions of the Pennsylvania Basketball Conference, were no match for relentless attack fashioned by the Main Liners who were led by Jim Montgomery and Mike Lazorchak, each of whom ripped the nets for 14 markers. Incidentally Montgomery's scoring splurge carried him to second place in the Philadelphia District scoring race with 170 digits.

The Wildcats opened the contest in no uncertain manner as they ran up a 7-0 lead soon after the fray began. Montgomery, Dubino, and Nugent kept adding to this lead until the Blue team had a comfortable 19-9 advantage at half time.

N. Y. U. Beaten

Functioning with the smoothness of a well-oiled automaton Villanova's surging basketeers exhibited their best form of the year as they repulsed New York University's Violets 40-27 at Convention Hall on Friday night. The Main Liners, led by diminutive Mike Lazorchak's 12 markers, exhibited a zip and a dash that outdistanced their metropolitan rivals soon after the opening whistle.

Only Bobby Lewis could penetrate the stubborn Wildcat defense with any amount of success. The slight New York lad notched 15 points to take the scoring honors for the evening as well as garner more than half his team's total points. He was the one bright light of an otherwise disappointing N. Y. U. quintet.

Cats Take Lead

At the outset of the fray it seemed that Lewis was going to attempt to sheath the Cats' claws singlehanded for he notched a basket and a foul before Montgomery grabbed a Blue basket. Shortly after Lewis' fourth point the Main Line attack began to roll, when Krutulis pushed in a foul, Nugent laid up three rapid fire doubledeckers, and Lazorchak popped in a short one to send Villanova hurtling to the fore 11-4.

Despite Lewis' efforts to keep the Violets in the ball game Villanova increased its lead to 23-9

NEW YORK U. Continued on Page Seven

CO-CAPTAINS SHINE AS BLUE SPARRERS TIE RUTGERS SQUAD

Nojunas Wins by T. K. O. in Second Round; Metzinger Given Forfeit Victory

LAST DECISION DISLIKED

By JIM HAUGHTON

Mr. Tommy Loughran, former light-heavy champion and now a restauranteur, may be quite experienced in the art of throwing punches, but to the 3500 fans who crowded the Rutgers gym last Saturday night, he is far off in judging them. His awarding the decision to heavyweight Dave Kutliroff over Villanova's Ed Killian gave the Jerseyites the necessary marker for a 4-4 tie with the locals.

With Villanova leading by 4-3 going into the final match it rested upon the shoulders of Ed Killian to decisively beat Kutliroff and Rutgers. Big Ed hit the New Brunswick collegian with everything but the bell; he had the gent moving wobbily; at one time Kutliroff fell out of the ring, but this still wasn't convincing enough for Sir Thomas and to the disgust of the huge assemblage, he awarded the bout to Kutliroff. Not, however, without being on the receiving end of many sound boos from the pro-Rutgers gathering. Dave went in at 208 while Killian reached 228.

Mowen Plucky

In the opener Buzz Mowen at 118 again proved that experience is half the game and lost a close decision to Rutger's Joe Colonna. Joe, who is fighting his third year of college boxing, had just a little too much for the local lad. But Mowen, who is improving with each fight, grabbed many a follower by his intestinal fortitude and made Colonna step for his win.

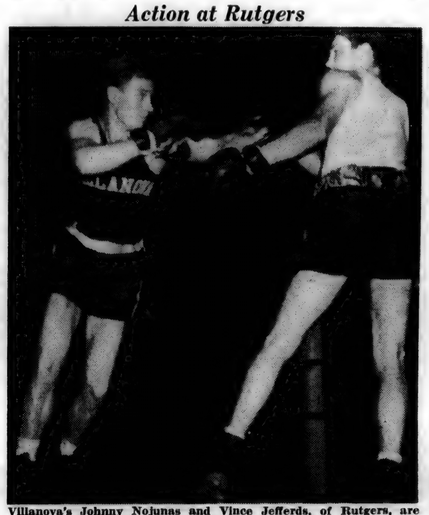
Bad luck dogged Mike Ariano in the next bout against Red Gager in the 127 class and he lost another close decision. Mike fought his usual good fight for two rounds but in the third Gager proved the stronger and moved on to victory.

Co-Captains Win

With Rutgers leading 2-0 it was up to co-captain Eddie Kirk to overcome his recent illness and Sid

CO-CAPTAINS Continued on Page Six

Action at Rutgers



Villanova's Johnny Nojunas and Vince Jefferds, of Rutgers, are shown "mixing it up" in the first round of their bout in the 165-lb class in New Brunswick on Saturday. Nojunas won by a technical knockout in the second round when Jefferds suffered a slight throat injury.

Rider Flash

CLIFF TOMILSON, who will [illegible] Walt Kelley.

SWIMMERS OPPOSE TRENTONITES HERE

Tomilson, Oxenberg, and Sheridan Loom as Threats in Blue's Closing Meet

Villanova's swimmers get back into action this Friday at 8 P. M. at the Field House in a crucial meet with the natators of Rider College. The meet will be the final engagement of the season for the Wildcats.

Dash Star

Rider features a sensational dashman, Cliff Tomilson, who is undefeated in both the "50" and "100" yard dashes. The only blot on Tomilson's record is a tie with Jack Miller, the F. & M. flash, in the "100" event. Miller was the only swimmer to conquer Villanova's Walt Kelley this season. Kelley trailed Miller by inches in the 100-yard dash a few weeks ago. Swimming fans expect a thrilling battle between Villanova and Rider stars.

The Wildcats, intent on drowning Rider to make their season a success, are banking heavily on Kelley's ability to nose out Tomilson.

Other Threats

Howie Oxenberg is another Rider threat to the Blue's success. Oxenberg is a free-style long distance artist and has been very successful in the "220" and quarter-mile events, winning both against Franklin and Marshall recently. F. & M. conquered the Blue in an early season match and sank Rider recently.

Competition for Charlie Timmins in the diving event will be very strong, with F. & M.'s Bud Sheridan furnishing plenty of opposition. Sheridan was Rider's only winner in the F. & M. meet, with the exception of Tomilson and Oxenberg.

So far this season the Rider aggregation has met Princeton, Yale, Delaware, Scranton, Rensselaer, and F. & M.

JACOBS ANNOUNCES BASEBALL SCHEDULE

Twenty-two Major Contests Carded for Varsity Nine; Battery Workouts Begun

A schedule of 22 major games has been arranged for the Villanova baseball team this season, George "Doc" Jacobs, Wildcat diamond mentor announced yesterday.

Simultaneously, "Doc" issued a call for battery candidates to report in the College gym for the indoor workouts which will inaugurate this school's 70th annual baseball campaign. The first Wildcat baseball team was organized in 1869, and since then the national pastime has grown to be one of the school's leading sports.

Resume Series

The 1939 schedule looms as one of the most difficult ever tackled by the Main Liners. Series of long standing will be resumed with Pennsylvania, Temple, Penn State, Fordham, C. C. N. Y., Holy Cross, Boston College, Lehigh, Ursinus, Penn A. C. and St. John's of Brooklyn, all top-ranking Eastern college powers.

Manhattan College, one of the Wildcats' oldest rivals will be met again after a lapse of ten years in a series of spirited diamond duels. The Jaspers and the Cats first tangled in 1895, but have not crossed bats since 1929. Gettysburg and Williams, the former last met in 1935, the latter in 1936, also are back on the Villanova schedule this year.

New Opponents

In addition, two new foes will be faced. Massachusetts State will be met for the first time in the season opener at Villanova Stadium, April 6, and baseball relations will be established with Loyola University of Baltimore in two

JACOBS Continued on Page Seven

BASKETEERS TANGLE WITH CITY COLLEGE AT MADISON SQUARE

Lefkovitz, Cipperstein, and Lozman to Lead Beavers Against Blue and White

No matter what the fortunes of his pupils, Nat Holman is a hero to City College students and alumni. On March 14, the City College Club of New York will throw a big dinner-party in honor of Nat's 20th year as head coach of C. C. N. Y. basketball. All which brings us to the point of this story: that Villanova rings down the curtain on the current campaign by battling the Beavers at Madison Square garden tomorrow night.

Played With Celtics

Holman and City College are synonymous. Ever since that day 20 years ago when Holman resigned as a player on the world famous Celtics, to take up coaching the New Yorkers, they have climbed the ladder of basketball fame. Big or small, it makes no difference, the Beavers either cut down, or swarm over their foes. Holman's teams have established themselves as basketball powers, wherever the court game is played.

The last three seasons has seen C. C. N. Y. slowly losing her prestige as other Metropolitan rivals have tagged wins on the Lavender, losing to such teams as New York University, St. John's, Long Island University, and Manhattan College, however, cannot be termed exactly a disgrace.

Blue Seeks Revenge

Villanova will be out to avenge a defeat sustained last season at the hands of the Holman passers and which ended a nine game winning streak that included a win over N. Y. U. The 'Cats sported a half time lead of five points, but some lenient foul officiating coupled with floor difficulties led to the subsequent defeat.

Having tasted New York basketball on two occasions this campaign, the locals should be prepared for the Beavers who have been extremely successful on a schedule dotted with lesser opponents, and none to lucky against major league calibre. Against

BASKETEERS Continued on Page Seven

C. C. N. Y. Ace

LEW LEFKOVITZ, City College Co-Captain

YEARLING FORENSIC GROUP INAUGURATES ACTIVE SCHEDULE

Teams From Pennsylvania, St. Joseph's, St. John's to be Met

Villanova's Freshman Debating Society held its initial intercollegiate debate of the year last Monday at 4 o'clock when it met Haverford freshmen. The question for discussion was the National Topic, Resolved: that the United States should cease to use public funds for the purpose of stimulating business. Villanova was represented by Thomas McKinney and Clifford Maginn. The chairman for the debate was Walter LaPorte.

Several members of the freshman society attended the Rosemont Town Hall at which likewise was discussed the pump-priming topic.

Armand Salerno, of the freshman team, acted as chairman of the varsity debate between Villanova and Columbia of Iowa.

The future weeks promise a renewed activity among the cub debaters. On March 15, the University of Pennsylvania will be met; and, on March 22, the freshmen will cross words with the strong St. Joseph's College team. It has definitely been decided that the year's activities will be climaxed by a trip to New York in which St. John's of Brooklyn will be encountered in a renewal of a long forensic rivalry. A debate with Rosemont is in the process of arrangement and will probably take place after Easter. This will conclude the year for the freshmen society.

Pantaleo, Senior, Speaks on Blood

Continued From Page One

problems and in blood transfusions.

Thomas Campo, freshman premedical student, lectured on "Invertebrate Blood Clotting." Campo showed that invertebrate blood, unlike the human, clots as a result of both the serum and cellular elements.

Explaining the mechanism by which clotting is brought about in invertebrate blood, Campo described the action of chemical and physical agents. He ended his discussion with several conclusions that have been reached by experimenters in the field. Very little work has been done in the clotting of blood because of the rapidity of its action. Campo urged the need of further experiment in view of the fact that this phenomenon in both vertebrates and invertebrate remains much a mystery.

CARL PANTALEO

Previous to this meeting, anthony Gigliotti and Chairman Giordano presented papers to the Research Seminar on Friday, February 17. Gigliotti, freshman science student, discussed "The History of Biloxy." Giordano enlightened the group on "Methods of Blood Typing and Counting." Other papers are being prepared for the next meeting of the group.

P. K. P. BASKETBALL

The last Saturday brought to a close the P. K. P. basketball tournament with the sophomore engineers emerging victorious. The games were held at the Alumni Hall gym. This was disclosed by the sponsors of the P. K. P.

Furor Created By Mysterious Person

Even the VILLANOVAN office isn't safe.

Recently Jim Haughton turned in a story which mentioned Dick Deverall, local campus editor, in it. But when the story appeared in print, confusion reigned. The copy had been tampered with by some unkind gent who had a good laugh at the expense of both Deverall and Haughton. It seems the gent's tampering put Haughton on the spot. But with a little research the original copy was brought out and the tampering made it's appearance. So our apologies to Mr. Deverall and Mr. Haughton.

PAX ROMANA HOLDS WORLD CONFERENCE

Congress Preceded by Study Session at Catholic University

Pax Romana, the International Catholic student organization, will hold a world congress in New York from September 2 to 9. The congress proper will be preceded by a study session at the Catholic University in Washington.

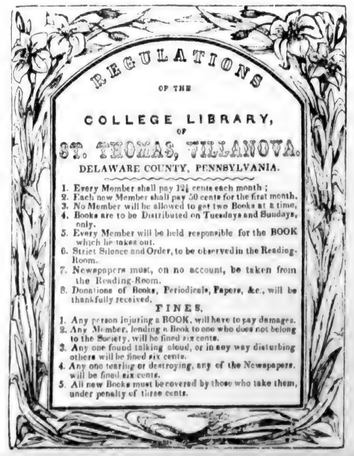
Pax Romana is not a peace organization. Its name was inspired by the motto of the Catholic Church which was also the motto of the late Holy Father: Pax Christi in Regno Christi. Its aim, therefore, is to spread the peace of Christ in the kingdom of Christ by serving in all possible ways all the Catholic students of the world. Pax Romana now serves 45 Catholic University federations which represent 32 different nationalities of Europe, Asia, North and South and Central America. It acts as a link joining together the student federations of different countries, as a clearing house receiving and distributing information, as a central organ to which all may appeal in time of need but to which none are subservient.

Pax Romana is a confederation. That is to say, individual students may not join it, nor can individual colleges. Only student and alumni federations can join it. For example, in this country the National Federation of Catholic College Students, the Catholic Student Peace Federation, the National Catholic Alumni Federation, the Theta Kappa Phi Federation, the National Catholic Alumni Federation, the Theta Kappa Phi Fraternity and the Ukrainian Catholic Youth League are affiliated to the mother confederation.

MUSIC SEMINAR TO HOLD EXTRA WEEKLY PROGRAM

Overflow audiences at recent Music Seminars in Simpson Hall have made necessary an extra program each week. Meetings will now be held on Wednesday as well as Thursday evenings so everyone can be accommodated comfortably.

A program of Beethoven's varieties this coming Wednesday and Thursday will be the first under the new policy. Paderewskis famous "Moonlight Sonata" will be featured with the "Fifth Symphony in C Minor." Other offerings will be the "Lenore Overture" and the "Carioban Overture."



PAGANO COMMENDED AS TEACHER; LAUDATORY LETTER PRESENTED

An excellent recommendation of the student teaching work of Joseph Pagano, senior, was received by Dr. McHugh, head of the department of education, in a letter from Upper Darby High School, Upper Darby, Pa.

The letter below is self-explanatory:

Dear Doctor McHugh:

I kept this report until after college began instead of mailing it in August.

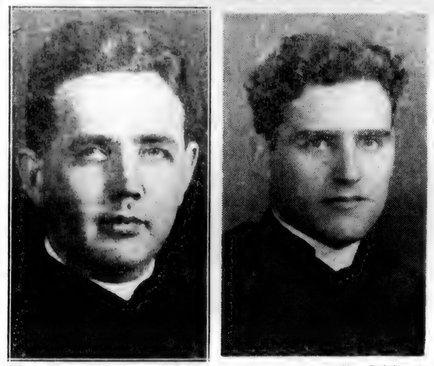
I liked Mr. Pagano's earnestness, his gentlemanly deportment and his well groomed appearance. Thanks, very much, for helping us out this Summer.

Are you sending us any student-teachers this semester? We would like to have as many Mr. Paganos as you have at Villanova.

Yours sincerely,
Zita E. Mallon.
Upper Darby High School,
Upper Darby, Pa.

With the centenary of Villanova to be celebrated in 1942, thoughts are already being turned back to the early days of the college. To the left is illustrated one of the plates adorning library books of nearly a century ago.

ADDRESS RESIDENT STUDENTS IN CHAPEL



Rev. Edward M. Dwyer, O. S. A. (left), spoke on "The Spirit of Lent" last Tuesday evening at the first of the sermons held weekly during the Lenten season. This evening Rev. Ralph J. Handran, O. S. A. (right), will speak on "The Holy Name."

Songs In Band Production Score Hit, Bill Ward Successful Interlocutor

By JAMES F. HAUGHTON

Penn may have its Mask and Wig; Princeton its Triangle Club; but take our word for it Villanova will soon be drawing nation-wide attention if last Tuesday's edition of "They Never Learn" is taken as a criterion.

For the local collegians in their initial appearance on the musical comedy boards displayed an abundance of talent, excellent student authors, springy popular tunes and a small but appreciative audience.

"They Never Learn" might be called a parody on the dictatorial powers of Europe transferred to America's Kingsford University. For there was the sage of Austin Hall, Witt Kryzwicki who bore a body and facial resemblance not unlike that of a certain leader whose followers love spaghetti and mass demonstrations. Witt topped off his physical appearance with an excellent portrayal of Will Doochy, a student leader who satisfied himself with second place in student revolt and leadership, but managed to hold an ace up his sleeve.

But then Joe Back as Otto Kampf, the student leader of the revolt, might be called a "look-a-like" of a certain race which eats up research and physical education. Back had a nice combining upper lip and drooping head of hair which provided him with makeup for the portrayal of the student who brought Kingsford into organized confusion.

Ad libbing, peanut vending and matriculation cards provided Len Flinkman as Abrahem O'Reilly with plenty of busy experiences without agreeing with the thoughts of the student leaders. For in the end Kingsford reverted back to its original lackadaisical life of free cuts, no book reports and uninteresting classes.

The musical trend of the show provided Bill Dobbins and Ed Lucente with much opportunity to handle new and popular tunes of songsmith Jimmy Cooke. Both gentlemen stepped right from their semi-dramatic parts into the musical spotlight and gave life to the musical delectations from Cooke's pen.

The audience received the tunes with interest and as announcer John Parsons said: "Look for these tunes on your hit parade." Will Osborne is at present plugging several of the songs and each playing reminds the listener that the songs had their original appearance in Villanova's "They Never Learn."

Writing plays demand imagination and Bill Ward and Larry Knaphle, the co-authors had this gift when doing this work. For their initial result started a Villanova tradition which will provide the base for local playrights to work on.

Calendar

Tuesday, February 28

German Seminar ..... 9:45 A. M.
VILLANOVAN ..... 1:00 P. M.
Philosophy Seminar ... 1:30 P. M.
Freshman Debating .... 1:00 P. M.

Wednesday, March 1

International Relations. 1:00 P. M.
Spanish Club ..... 7:00 P. M.
Glee Club ..... 7:30 P. M.
Music Seminar ..... 7:30 P. M.

Thursday, March 2

Science Seminar .....10:45 A. M.
History Seminar ..... 4:00 P. M.
L. K. D. ..... 7:30 P. M.
Music Seminar ..... 7:30 P. M.

Friday, March 3

German Seminar ..... 9:45 A. M.
Swimming Meet—Rider 3:00 P. M.
Research Seminar ..... 4:00 P. M.

Monday, March 6

Belle Air (Arts) ..... 1:00 P. M.
Sociology Seminar ..... 7:30 P. M.
Band ..... 7:30 P. M.
Phi Kappa Pi' .....10:45 A. M.
Mathematics Club .....12:30 P. M.

HUGE RULE USED

An eight foot slide rule is being used in demonstrations in a course on the slide rule being by Mr. Thomas J. McCormack on Friday afternoons at 4 in 203 Mendel. Thirty students of the college and 15 seminarians attended the first of the six lectures last Friday.

WRITES FOR MAGAZINE

Mr. William Smith, pursuing a graduate degree in philosophy at the Villanova Extension School, has been the first layman to write for the "Tagastan," Augustinian magazine. The article will be included in the issue appearing next month.

KEEP SUPPLIED WITH SCHOOL TICKETS

Good on Buses and Rail Cars until used. 5c a Ride, including Special Free Transfers. School Identification Cards may be obtained at School Office.

PHILADELPHIA SUBURBAN TRANSPORTATION COMPANY
ARDMINK[illegible]TATION CO.

REPORT PRESENTED ON SUPREME COURT BY C. & F. STUDENT

Chief Justice Marshall and His Constitutional Decisions Examined by Seminar

Continuing his paper from the preceding week, John Parsons, freshman finance student, traced the development of the Supreme Court from its earliest days up to present. The period from the beginning of the 19th century formed most of the subject matter during this session.

The significance of the precedents which have developed as a result of the activity of Chief Justice John Marshall was vividly portrayed. McCollough vs. Maryland was explained as one of the most important decisions rendered by the court in the light of its constitutional significance.

Parsons showed the tremendous influence that this high tribunal has had in the course of the constitutional development of our country and presented the question for discussion "Should Congress or the Supreme Court rule the United States?"

This is the first of a series of papers to be presented at the weekly meetings of the organization by interested students on governmental affairs.

FACULTIES FROM MANY COLLEGES

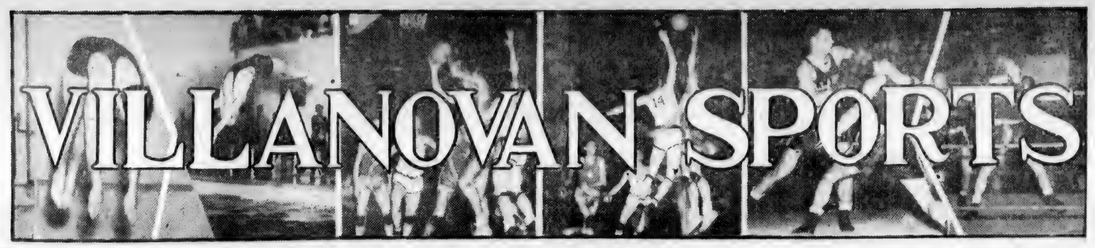
Teachers Study in Institutions of Foreign Countries as Well as U. S.

Members of the faculty at Villanova College have attended over 60 colleges and universities at home and abroad. Seven foreign countries are represented and the schools at home are scattered over the entire country from Massachusetts to California and Florida.

Foreign countries represented are Italy, France, Germany, Spain, England, Ireland and Switzerland. These institutions abroad include Politechnico Instituto, Turino; Collegiate Internationale, Agostiniano; College of the Mantellate; University of Berlin; Institum Angelicum; Royal University; National University; University of Wurzburg; University of Fribourg, Oxford University; Universite de Lausanne; Universidad Escorial; Bilbao College; Universite de Montepellier, and Gregorian University, of Rome.

Listed among the schools in the United States are the United States Naval Academy and the Marien Biological Laboratories in Woods Hole, Mass. Those in this country include 30 universities and 18 colleges.

Among prominent universities and colleges in the United States we note the following: University of Chicago, University of Illinois, University of Michigan, University of Pennsylvania, University of Missouri, University of Wisconsin, Harvard University, Temple University, George Washington University, Cornell University, Pittsburgh University, Catholic University, Notre Dame University, Georgetown University, Fordham University, Loyola University, North Carolina State, Naval Academy, Iowa State College, Kansas State College, Dartmouth College, Penn State, Drexel Institute, Miami University, Stevens Institute, Albright.



WILDCAT QUINTET WHIPS MORAVIAN

New York U. Also Tumbled As Blue Shows Offensive

Lazorchak Accounts For 12 Points Against Violet as Visitors' Lewis Snares Scoring Honors With 15 Markers

BETHLEHEMITES ARE TROUNCED, 58 - 21

By HARRY MAZZEI

Unleashing a barrage of baskets from all corners of the court Villanova's high-flying basketeers ended their first undefeated home season in history as they drubbed the Moravian Greyhounds 58-21.

The Greyhounds, co-champions of the Pennsylvania Basketball Conference, were no match for relentless attack fashioned by the Main Liners who were led by Jim Montgomery and Mike Lazorchak, each of whom ripped the nets for 14 markers. Incidentally Montgomery's scoring splurge carried him to second place in the Philadelphia District scoring race with 170 digits.

The Wildcats opened the contest in no uncertain manner as they ran up a 7-0 lead soon after the fray began. Montgomery, Dubino, and Nugent kept adding to this lead until the Blue team had a comfortable 19-9 advantage at half time.

N. Y. U. Beaten

Functioning with the smoothness of a well-oiled automaton Villanova's surging basketeers exhibited their best form of the year as they repulsed New York University's Violets 40-27 at Convention Hall on Friday night. The Main Liners, led by diminutive Mike Lazorchak's 12 markers, exhibited a zip and a dash that outdistanced their metropolitan rivals soon after the opening whistle.

Only Bobby Lewis could penetrate the stubborn Wildcat defense with any amount of success. The slight New York lad notched 15 points to take the scoring honors for the evening as well as garner more than half his team's total points. He was the one bright light of an otherwise disappointing N. Y. U. quintet.

Cats Take Lead

At the outset of the fray it seemed that Lewis was going to attempt to sheath the Cats' claws singlehanded for he notched a basket and a foul before Montgomery grabbed a Blue basket. Shortly after Lewis' fourth point the Main Line attack began to roll, when Krutulis pushed in a foul, Nugent laid up three rapid fire doubledeckers, and Lazorchak popped in a short one to send Villanova hurtling to the fore 11-4.

Despite Lewis' efforts to keep the Violets in the ball game Villanova increased its lead to 23-9

NEW YORK U.
Continued on Page Seven

CO-CAPTAINS SHINE AS BLUE SPARRERS TIE RUTGERS SQUAD

Nojunas Wins by T. K. O. in Second Round; Metzinger Given Forfeit Victory

LAST DECISION DISLIKED

By JIM HAUGHTON

Mr. Tommy Loughran, former light-heavy champion and now a restauranteur, may be quite experienced in the art of throwing punches, but to the 3500 fans who crowded the Rutgers gym last Saturday night, he is far off in judging them. His awarding the decision to heavyweight Dave Kutliroff over Villanova's Ed Killian gave the Jerseyites the necessary marker for a 4-4 tie with the locals.

With Villanova leading by 4-3 going into the final match it rested upon the shoulders of Ed Killian to decisively beat Kutliroff and Rutgers. Big Ed hit the New Brunswick collegian with everything but the bell; he had the gent moving wobbily; at one time Kutliroff fell out of the ring, but this still wasn't convincing enough for Sir Thomas and to the disgust of the huge assemblage, he awarded the bout to Kutliroff. Not, however, without being on the receiving end of many sound boos from the pro-Rutgers gathering. Dave went in at 208 while Killian reached 228.

Mowen Plucky

In the opener Buzz Mowen at 118 again proved that experience is half the game and lost a close decision to Rutger's Joe Colonna. Joe, who is fighting his third year of college boxing, had just a little too much for the local lad, But Mowen, who is improving with each fight, grabbed many a follower by his Intestinal fortitude and made Colonna step for his win.

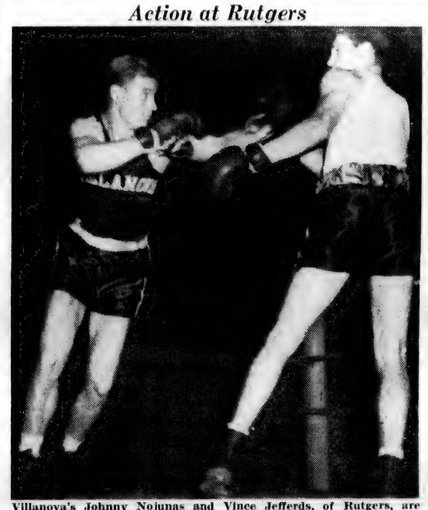
Bad luck dogged Mike Ariano in the next bout against Red Gager in the 127 class and he lost another close decision, Mike fought his usual good fight for two rounds but in the third Gager proved the stronger and moved on to victory.

Co-Captains Win

With Rutgers leading 2-0 it was up to co-captain Eddie Kirk to overcome his recent illness and Sid

CO-CAPTAINS
Continued on Page Six

Action at Rutgers



Villanova's Johnny Nojunas and Vince Jefferds, of Rutgers, are shown "mixing it up" in the first round of their bout in the 165-lb class in New Brunswick on Saturday. Nojunas won by a technical knockout in the second round when Jefferds suffered a slight throat injury.

Rider Flash

CLIFF TOMILSON, who will [illegible] Walt Kelley.

SWIMMERS OPPOSE TRENTONITES HERE

Tomilson, Oxenberg, and Sheridan Loom as Threats in Blue's Closing Meet

Villanova's swimmers get back into action this Friday at 8 P. M. at the Field House in a crucial meet with the natators of Rider College. The meet will be the final engagement of the season for the Wildcats.

Dash Star

Rider features a sensational dashman, Cliff Tomilson, who is undefeated in both the "50" and "100" yard dashes. The only blot on Tomilson's record is a tie with Jack Miller, the F. & M. flash, in the "100" event. Miller was the only swimmer to conquer Villanova's Walt Kelley this season. Kelley trailed Miller by inches in the 100-yard dash a few weeks ago. Swimming fans expect a thrilling battle between Villanova and Rider stars.

The Wildcats, intent on drowning Rider to make their season a success, are banking heavily on Kelley's ability to nose out Tomilson.

Other Threats

Howie Oxenberg is another Rider threat to the Blue's success. Oxenberg is a free-style long distance artist and has been very successful in the "220" and quarter-mile events, winning both against Franklin and Marshall recently. F. & M. conquered the Blue in an early season match and sank Rider recently.

Competition for Charlie Timmins in the diving event will be very strong, with F. & M.'s Bud Sheridan furnishing plenty of opposition. Sheridan was Rider's only winner in the F. & M. meet, with the exception of Tomilson and Oxenberg.

So far this season the Rider aggregation has met Princeton, Yale, Delaware, Scranton, Rensselaer, and F. & M.

JACOBS ANNOUNCES BASEBALL SCHEDULE

Twenty-two Major Contests Carded for Varsity Nine; Battery Workouts Begun

A schedule of 22 major games has been arranged for the Villanova baseball team this season, George "Doc" Jacobs, Wildcat diamond mentor announced yesterday.

Simultaneously, "Doc" issued a call for battery candidates to report in the College gym for the indoor workouts which will inaugurate this school's 70th annual baseball campaign. The first Wildcat baseball team was organized in 1869, and since then the national pastime has grown to be one of the school's leading sports.

Resume Series

The 1939 schedule looms as one of the most difficult ever tackled by the Main Liners. Series of long standing will be resumed with Pennsylvania, Temple, Penn State, Fordham, C. C. N. Y., Holy Cross, Boston College, Lehigh, Ursinus, Penn A. C. and St. John's of Brooklyn, all top-ranking Eastern college powers.

Manhattan College, one of the Wildcats' oldest rivals will be met again after a lapse of ten years in a series of spirited diamond duels. The Jaspers and the Cats first tangled in 1895, but have not crossed bats since 1929. Gettysburg and Williams, the former last met in 1935, the latter in 1936, also are back on the Villanova schedule this year.

New Opponents

In addition, two new foes will be faced. Massachusetts State will be met for the first time in the season opener at Villanova Stadium, April 6, and baseball relations will be established with Loyola University of Baltimore in two

JACOBS
Continued on Page Seven

BASKETEERS TANGLE WITH CITY COLLEGE AT MADISON SQUARE

Lefkovitz, Cipperstein, and Lozman to Lead Beavers Against Blue and White

No matter what the fortunes of his pupils, Nat Holman is a hero to City College students and alumni. On March 14, the City College Club of New York will throw a big dinner-party in honor of Nat's 20th year as head coach of C. C. N. Y. basketball. All which brings us to the point of this story: that Villanova rings down the curtain on the current campaign by battling the Beavers at Madison Square garden tomorrow night.

Played With Celtics

Holman and City College are synonymous. Ever since that day 20 years ago when Holman resigned as a player on the world famous Celtics, to take up coaching the New Yorkers, they have climbed the ladder of basketball fame. Big or small, it makes no difference, the Beavers either cut down, or swarm over their foes. Holman's teams have established themselves as basketball powers, wherever the court game is played.

The last three seasons has seen C. C. N. Y. slowly losing her prestige as other Metropolitan rivals have tagged wins on the Lavender, losing to such teams as New York University, St. John's, Long Island University, and Manhattan College, however, cannot be termed exactly a disgrace.

Blue Seeks Revenge

Villanova will be out to avenge a defeat sustained last season at the hands of the Holman passers and which ended a nine game winning streak that included a win over N. Y. U. The Cats sported a half time lead of five points, but some home town officiating coupled with floor difficulties led to the subsequent defeat.

Having tasted New York basketball on two occasions this campaign, the locals should be prepared for the Beavers who have been extremely successful on a schedule dotted with lesser opponents, and none to lucky against major league calibre. Against

BASKETEERS
Continued on Page Seven

C. C. N. Y. Ace

LEW LEFKOVITZ, City College Co-Captain

Austin Trips Day-Hops In Mural Feature

FEDIGAN WINS TWO; TAKES THIRD PLACE AS WHITES MOVE IN

Walt Burlington Runs Rampant to Score 29 Points Against Grey

C&F DEFEATS MENDEL

In a week of fast moving games, the C&F basketeers boosted their lead by defeating the lowly Mendelites. Their nearest competitors are Austin and Fedigan Halls, Fedigan replacing the Day Hops by virtue of two victories over Alumni. The C&F team need only beat the last place Mendel Residents to clinch the second half title.

C&F Beats Mendel

The week's first game saw an outclassed but game Mendel Resident team take a drubbing from the C&F boys to the tune of 48-30. In this game McGurk and Schelle shared scoring honors with 12 points each. For the losers, Crumb and Cerula were the big guns, having 8 points apiece.

Fedigan's Maroons hit the comeback trail downing Alumni twice in succession by the scores of 35-30 and 42-36. For the Gigolos, Scelba led the attack before being ejected from the second game via the foul route. Hart in garnering 11 points in the second game did some excellent work under the basket. High scorer for the Green in both games was Lasky with 9 and 10 points.

Week's Best Game

By far the most thrilling game of the week was played Thursday night, when Austin met the Mendel Day Hops and defeated them 58-44. Belying the score the game was close all the way up to the last few minutes of play when the Day Hops faded fast.

The contest was marked by several noteworthy incidents, most notable being the fact that big Walt Burlington set some sort of scoring record when he punctured the hoop for 29 points, thus enabling him to go one point ahead of McGurk of the C&F in the race for scoring honors in the Intramural League.

Lights Out!

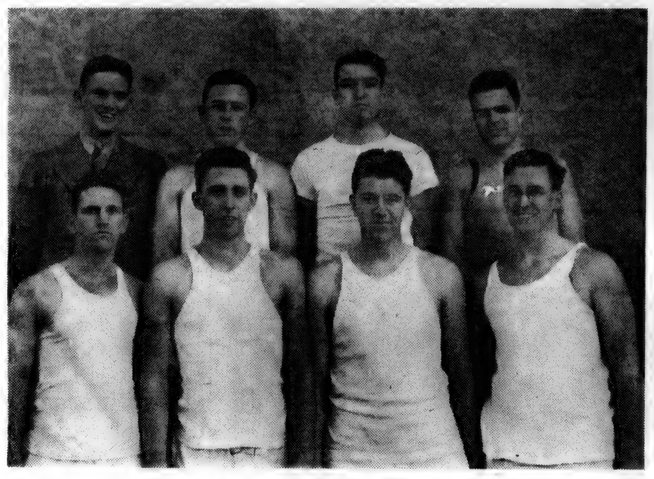
During the game the lead alternated back and forth with neither side being more than a few points ahead at any time. With about ten minutes left to play the lights went out, causing a slight delay. Seemingly this pause was the pause that refreshed the Blues for when the game was continued, they immediately forged ahead on Burlington's sharpshooting and from that point on were never headed.

Keating, Dalina, and Wood exhibited some fine ball handling with Keating taking scoring honors for the losers with 16 points. Fiorelli, after sparking the Blues' attack, was forced to leave the game in the last half after badly injuring his ankle. The game ended with the Greys vainly striving to overcome their handicap.

MURAL STANDING

C&F	8	1	.890
Austin	6	2	.750
Fedigan	6	4	.600
M. D. S.	4	4	.500
Mendel Res.	1	7	.125
Alumni	1	8	.111

Pacemakers



THE C. & F. BASKETEERS,

Who are favored to win the second half of the Intramural race. Members of the team, from left to right, are: First row—McGurk, Coupe, Schelle and Stack. Second row—O'Connell, Dwyer and Wood.

Co-Captains

Continued From Page Five

Rabinowitz in the 135 division; and this he did handily. Kirk just proved too much for Sid and the latter couldn't do much about it. Eddie jabbed and hooked in his usual classy manner and Coach Gadsby's boys gathered their initial marker.

Again sickness was overcome as the other co-captain, Bill Duffy, went into the ring against Rutger's George Wolverton. Duffy, who had been sick for the best part of the week, was originally scheduled to meet Baxter, but an arm injury put the latter on the injured list. Duffy's experience proved too much for the Jersey lad and Wolverton was under control at all times.

Nojunas Victor

Bobby Metzinger enjoyed the bouts from the press box because his opponent in the 155 division forfeited. But Johnny Nojunas didn't waste any time in the middle-weight class. The blond gridder beat Vince Jefferds of Rutgers by a technical knockout in the second round. The first set gave promise of an interesting bout with both boys throwing plenty of punches, but Nojunas proved to have too much sting to them and referee Loughran stopped the bout because Jefferds suffered internal throat injuries and was bleeding at the mouth.

Rutgers took the next bout by the technical route when referee Loughran awarded Glenn Howatt the bout over gridder Pete Naimo in the 175-lb. class.

Sportorial

By Phil Dunn

Sports Editor

TO students who scoff at the efforts of this newspaper (roommate, please note), let me say that when one of Philly's leading sports writers takes the time and space to criticize our work in the public print, we must have arrived.

PHIL DUNN

That is the way I look at the column written by Mr. "Red" Smith. None of the "big shots" take time out to criticize Podunk in the 4-X League; they're too busy telling you why the Yanks will win the pennat, or why the Cubs won't repeat. They don't tell you what is wrong with the football team at Siwash, but they plaster it all over the page if a well-known quarterback maks a slip.

Yes sir, fellows, the VILLANOVAN is right up there now.

And so, in answer to Mr. Smith we wish to say, "Thank you. The constructive (?) criticism you offered is certainly appreciated and will be given careful consideration. Thank you, too, for the publicity. We are very sorry that we do not see things in the same light."

SAINTS REPEAT WIN IN INTERSCHOLASTIC SWIMMING CONTEST

West Catholic Finishes Second With St. John's of Brooklyn Coming Third

RELAY RECORD BROKEN

St. Francis Prep of Brooklyn annexed its third consecutive National Interscholastic Swimming Championship last Wednesday afternoon in the Villanova College pool.

Sweeping six of the eight events, the New York mermen amassed 61 points in overwhelming their nearest opponent, West Philadelphia Catholic, with 23½. Other points scored were: St. John's Prep of Brooklyn, 20; Southeast Catholic, 16; La Salle, 9; Northeast Catholic, 4½; Brooklyn Prep, 4½, and Pottsville Catholic, 2.

The St. Francis natators presented a strong, well-balanced aggregation augmented by a few individual stars. Among its victors were John Foster, who splashed his way to win the 50-yard freestyle; William Stasco who was tops in the 100-yard breaststroke competition; Ralph Johnston who copped the 100-yard backstroke; and William Hurley who displayed excellent form in annexing the fancy diving.

Set Meet Mark

The freestyle relay team composed of Tom Brierly, Mike Prima, Phil Healy, and the aforementioned John Foster established a new meet record of 1:44:8 for this event, Ralph Johnston, Bill Stasco, and Larry Schultz teamed up to win the medley relay in excellent time.

Philip Harrison Store
Shoes & Clothing For The Family
Next Door to the Movies
BRYN MAWR, PA.

Bryn Mawr Confectionery

Compliments of
BRYN MAWR TRUST CO.

Direction Warner Bros.
Tower Theatre
69th & Market Sts.
Motion Pictures Are Your Best Entertainment
TUES., WED. & THURS. Feb. 28-March 1-2
VICTOR McLAGLEN
CHESTER MORRIS
WENDY BARRIE
In Vivid Romantic Drama
"PACIFIC LINER"
STARTING FRIDAY For The Entire Week
The Amazing Drama of the Early West's Most Colorful Outlaw . . .
"JESSIE JAMES"
In Technicolor
TYRONE POWER
RANDOLPH SCOTT
HENRY FONDA
NANCY KELLY

Ardmore Theatre
Notice to Students
Did you know that your matriculation card will get you a reduced rate at the Ardmore Theatre at any time.
Tues. & Wed., Feb. 28-Mar. 1
"GOING PLACES"
DICK POWELL
ANITA LOUISE
Also: MARCH OF TIME
Thurs., Fri. & Sat., Mar. 2-3-4
WALLACE BEERY
ROBERT TAYLOR
'STAND UP AND FIGHT'
Sun. & Mon., Mar. 5-6
"DEVIL'S ISLAND"
A Prison Without a Heart

SEVILLE THEATRE
Students Cards Entitle You to a Reduction
TUES., Feb. 28
"THE GOOD FAIRY"
MARGARET SULLAVAN
HERBERT MARSHALL
WED. & THURS., Mar. 1-2
'The GIRL DOWNSTAIRS'
FRANCHOT TONE
FRANCISKA GAAL
FRI. & SAT., Mar. 3-4
"ARTISTS AND MODELS ABROAD"
JACK BENNY
JOAN BENNETT

— RIDE FREE ON P. & W. RAILWAY MOVIE TICKET —
NORRIS Theatre
NORRISTOWN
Tues., Wed. & Thurs., Feb. 28, March 1, 2
'THERE'S THAT WOMAN AGAIN'
All Star Cast
Fri., Sat. & Mon., March 3, 4, 6
"SON OF FRANKENSTEIN"
BORIS KARLOFF
BELA LUGOSI
GRAND Theatre
NORRISTOWN
Tues., Feb. 28
"KING OF THE UNDERWORLD"
Humphrey Bogart - Kay Francis
Wed. & Thurs., March 1, 2
'CHARLIE CHAN IN HONOLULU'
with PHYLLIS BROOKS
Fri. & Sat., March 3, 4
"SWEETHEARTS"
Nelson Eddy - Jeanette MacDonald
GARRICK Theatre
Tues., Feb. 28
"FLIRTING WITH FATE"
JOE E. BROWN
Wed. & Thurs., March 1, 2
ROBERT KENT in
"GANG BUSTERS" &
"THANKS FOR EVERYTHING" with JACK OAKIE

World's No. 1 Trumpeter
HARRY JAMES
AND HIS ORCHESTRA
Nightly...and Saturday at luncheon in the new
GARDEN TERRACE
Philadelphia's Smartest Atmosphere
Dinner $1.50. No cover charge. Finest food and beverages at honest prices.
The BENJAMIN FRANKLIN
Chestnut at Ninth
EMIL H. KARSH
Managing Director

COLADONATO
B. M. 1266
College Tailor Since 1925
Junior Blazers Made to Measure
CLEANING PRESSING
"THE CLOTHES WE SELL FIT WELL"
Cassocks and Capes at Reasonable Prices
See Campus Representative
ED DIMON
235 Austin

New York U.

Continued From Page Five

as Montgomery, Krutulis, Lazorchak and Dubino all found the range at different intervals. Just before the close of the half Lewis and Resnick countered for the visitors, but with the gun "Jolting Johnny" Krutulis let fly from the three quarters mark and the score was 25-13.

It was only after nine minutes of play in the second canto had elapsed before N. Y. U. could score again, for the Wildcat guarding was truly of the watchdog variety. Meanwhile the Blue team gave a dazzling show of ball-handling which had the customers oohing and ahhing at the lightning like manuevers.

Dubino laid up a beautiful one-hander for a quick out and "Midget Mike" hawked one in from far out to extend the 'Cat lead to 30-13. Auerbach, Lewis, and Watson garnered six points between them, but "Monty" and Lazorchak got together for a trio of digits. At this juncture Lazorchak cut loose with two baskets to more than counteract a duo of New York fouls. With only a few minutes of play remaining Coach Al Severance inserted his reserves who continued to check the impotent N. Y. U. offense.

Basketeers

Continued From Page Five

Fordham, the Beavers ran wild swamping the Rams 56-28.

City's Line-up

C. C. N. Y. will call upon Jerry Adler, Lew Lefkovitz, Harvey Lozman, Dave Sipperstein, and Ed Jarmon to face the Villanovans. Lefkovitz ranks high in the New York scoring computations as does Sipperstein, a deadly gunner from any side of the floor. Lozman is rated as one of the finest underthe-basket players that has graced the Garden floor this season. He is a six-footer with several inches to spare and has been instrumental in the showing of the Beavers to date.

Called upon to face C. C. N. Y. on a floor the Beavers know so well, the Wildcats are definitely not the favorites and judging by the records of the locals on foreign floors, Severance and Company are in for a busy night of basketball.

Jacobs

Continued From Page Five

engagements, away May 2nd, and home June 10th.

As Villanova battery candidates assemble for the first indoor drills, Coach Jacobs will be on the lookout for good catchers in particular. The graduation of Mike Garbark has left "Doc" with only one experienced backstop, Art Vigilante, Wildcat senior basketball and baseball star.

Schedule

April 6 — Massachusetts State, home; April 7 — Ursinus at Collegeville, Pa.; April 12 — University of Pennsylvania at Franklin Field; April 14 — Providence College, home; April 15 — Boston College, home; April 18 — Lehigh at Bethlehem, Pa.; April 20—Gettysburg at Gettysburg, Pa.; April 22 — C. C. N. Y. at New York City; April 25—Manhattan, home; April 26 — Temple, home; April 29 — Penn State at State College, Pa. May 2 — Loyola of Baltimore at Baltimore, Md.; May 11 — Providence College at Providence, R. I.; May 12 — Holy Cross at Worcester, Mass.; May 13 — Williams at Williamstown, Mass.; May 15 — Boston College at Boston, Mass.; May 18 — St. John's of Brooklyn at Brooklyn, N. Y.; May 20 — Ursinus, home; May 27 — Temple at Philadelphia.

June 3 — Penn A. C., home; June 10 — Loyola of Baltimore, home.

INTRAMURAL SCHEDULE
Tuesday, February 28
C&F vs. Mendel—3 P. M.
Austin vs. Day-hops—7:30 P. M.
Thursday, March 2
Austin vs. Alumni—7:30 P. M.
First play-off game—7:30 P. M. (Fedigan vs. Winner of second half.)

Basketball Sidelights

By LOU DUBINO

WITH the 1938-39 basketball season slowly, but surely, drawing to a close, the basketball-minded students are beginning to inquire whether or not the Villanova quintet will be asked to participate in some tournament. There are two tournaments being conducted which would interest the Villanova basketeers — the annual Basketball Writers tournament conducted by the basketball writers of New York City and held on the boards of Madison Square Garden, and the more inviting National Collegiate Basketball tournament being conducted throughout the United States with the finals to be held in Evanston, Illinois, on March 27. Participants in the above-mentioned tournaments are invited to compete against sectional rivals, according to their records.

* * *

Villanova's chances of receiving an invitation depend upon their showing against C. C. N. Y. in New York this week. Since N. Y. U. has beaten St. John's the Cats have avenged the only defeat suffered at the hands of an eastern opponent. Roanoke and Baltimore, early season victims of the Blue quintet, have enviable records to date. The former has won 19 straight games, while the latter has been defeated on only two other occasions.

* * *

The P. M. C. basketball team is looking forward with interest to their game with Villanova although a period of one year intervenes. Speaking with some of the members, they delighted in informing us that Villanova has to travel to Chester next basketball season to compete against the ever-improving Cadets. The home team usually has the advantage and with the loss of four regulars by Villanova, P. M. C. in putting the annual affair on the credit side of the basketball ledger. "Never Count your chickens before they hatch," is our advice to them.

* * *

Philadelphia will be well represented when Villanova and Temple travel to New York on Wednesday to participate against C. C. N. Y and N. Y. U., respectively in that city's next-to-last twin-bill. The Temple-N. Y. U. game will open the proceedings, with the Cats and the Beavers in the feature attraction.

* * *

CORRECTION: In my column of Tuesday, February 21, I called the C. C. N. Y. quintet the "Blackbirds." I wish to stand corrected and inform you that they are called the "Beavers." The "Blackbirds" is commonly applied to the Long Island University outfit, which by the way is undefeated this season.

TRACKMEN PREPARE FOR CATHOLIC MEET IN WASHINGTON, D. C.

Johnny Maher to Compete in "Abbey Club" 50-Yard Invitation Dash

WIN CUF AT SETON HALL

By BILL CAREY

Victorious in the Seton Hall Meet at Newark on February 20th, the Wildcat mile-quartet added a sparkling, silver loving cup to the Villanova trophy case.

Johnny Maher, running from scratch, failed to place in the handicap dash. Maher turned on plenty of steam, but was unable to close the gap between himself and the men placed ahead of him at the start.

In winning the relay the Wildcats turned in a real thriller, when anchor man, Bill Guiteras made up a ten-yard deficit to pass his Seton Hall rival on the backstretch and break the tape with a seven-yard advantage. Barney Bellew led off for Villanova, with Yankauskas, Dobbins and Guiteras following in that order.

Seven Men Entered

With more than a week's rest from competition, the team is now ready for the sixth annual meet to be sponsored by Catholic University at Washington, on March 4th. Coach "Jumbo" Elliott has entered a squad of seven men, consisting of Maher, Urbellis, Bellew, Guiteras, Dobbins, Yankauskas, and McCabe.

Maher who was victorious in the open 50 last year, despite the fact he was the only man running from scratch, will attempt to duplicate his performance when he toes the mark as top entry in the "Abbey Club" 50-yard invitation dash. Competition for Johnny will be supplied by Leon Chalbot, sensation of the Naval Academy, and Roger Cooper of Catholic University. Whitey Urbelis will also line up for the 50. In this event, all entries will run from scratch.

McCabe in "Rector's"

Tom McCabe, who was nosed out of place in the "Rector's" 1000 last year is again entered in that race. This is the feature event of the meet, and includes Navy captain, Barney Oldfield and Maryland's Jim Kehoe. Kehoe incidentally was the half-mile victor in the recent Penn A. C. games at Philadelphia.

The relay team, anxious to make up for its weak showing at Washington last year, will be at its strongest peak. Showing improvement with each race the victors at Seton Hall give definite promise of turning in another first-place performance.

HERE and THERE

By HARRY MAZZEI

SOME time ago Bill Sinnott, the lad who formerly pounded copy for this column, ran an article on "moral rearmament," which gained him not a few outside commendations. Your correspondent reintroduces the issue, not to bask in reflected glory, but to attempt to give some picture of the heights "Willowy Will" attained with his very fine journalism.

Two weeks ago John Kieran (that should be enough for you readers of the sport news, but in the event that some strictly front page readers have wandered back this far we shall point out that he is the sports editor of the New York Times) delivered what appeared to many as a satirical slap at "Bunny" Austin, former British tennis player and one of the foremost believers in the movement. Immediately Mr. Kieran's mailbox became overloaded with indignant queries and scathing rebukes.

Harry Mazzei

Of course, Mr. Kieran was quick to admit of the worthiness of "moral rearmament" and also quick to inform his seething public that the satire was delivered only because the movement was being used as Austin's excuse to return to the tennis ware.

Sinnott enters into this conflict (only slightly, mind you, but in it nevertheless) in that he has received several communications from protegonists of the movement, which have virtually recognized him as an authority on the subject. This is a mark of distinction for not only yours truly's predecessor, but also the paper he represents.

* * *

Dame Rumor has made another personal appearance. This time the good damsel persists that this is the last year of intercollegiate boxing at the Main Line institution. It would seem a shame if boxing were dropped from Villanova's athletic program at this time, because next year's squad would be composed of exactly the same punchers that make up this year's outfit. We sincerely hope that this is just so much folderol, but those on the inside claim it to be the truth.

* * *

Carnegie Tech really believes in feting its victorious teams. Only recently the Skibo court squad was given a turkey dinner in recognition of its win over Pitt, Carnegie's chief athletic rival. Perhaps a similar practice could be established at Villanova as an incentive to hand Temple's Owls a few beatings. Then again it is beginning to seem that no incentive is needed to lick the Owls.

Still on the subject of the Plaidsmen, we read where their gridders were the recipients of not one, but two gold footballs at a recent banquet. Tsk, tsk, and to think they lost two games last season.

* * *

The recent premature Spring weather brought Captain Jim Dwyer of Villanova's golf team out of his annual Winter retirement. "Gentleman Jim" is seriously considering participating on both the links and the tennis court this Spring. The reason for Dwyer's sudden decision to take part in the racquet wielding game is the pending vacancy on the Rosemont tennis coaching staff.

* * *

How many of you are aware that Lloyd Rice, the "Frank Merriwell" of Villanova's court squad, is a product of the intramural ranks? Rice was drafted by Coach Severance after Al saw him performing for Mendel Hall in his freshman year. Several times this year the "Frederick Flash" has made mentor Severance thankful for his action, because both the Geneva and Lehigh wins may be charged up to Rice's ability to come through in the "clutch."

* * *

Dropped into Alumni Hall the other night in time to see Walt "the Hulk" Burlington notch the nets for 29 points and a new intramural basketball scoring record. For a real thrill make it your object to see the gargantuan "Burly" in his closing appearance of the year. "The Hulk" moves with the speed of a wounded elephant and throws shots in from all angles — under the basket.

Prescriptions
Drugs & Toilet Articles
LA DOW'S PHARMACY
LANCASTER PIKE and SPRING MILL ROAD
VILLANOVA, PA.

The Wayne Hotel
LANCASTER AVENUE
WAYNE, PA.
Telephone 380
Headquarters For Visitors to Villanova
Excellent Dinners at $1
SPECIAL STUDENT RATES
J. T. McFATE, Mgr.

G. W. Cadwallader
Paints, Glass and Painters' Supplies
BUILDERS' SPECIALTIES
6101 MARKET ST.
Philadelphia
Phone SHErwood 1423

Burke Dairies
Milk & Cream
NORRISTOWN, PA.
Phone 2736-W

Connelly's
SAY IT WITH FLOWERS
MAIN LINE FLORIST
1226 Lancaster Pike
ROSEMONT
Bryn Mawr 252

FOR EXPERT CONVENIENT ATTENTION
SERVICE IS OUR FIRST THOUGHT
PATRONIZE
The CAMPUS Barber Shop
FIRST CLASS WORK HAIRCUT 40c
Popular Prices

JEANNETT'S
BRYN MAWR FLOWER SHOP
Floral Ideas For All Occasions
Specializing in Corsages
Member Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association
823 Lancaster Ave.
Bryn Mawr 570

Men's Clothes Made-to-Measure
COLEBY Tailoring Inc.
57th & Market Sts.
Suits & Topcoats
$24.75
See Campus Representative
TIM WAAD
210 Fedigan

Pacing THE DANCE PARADE!
SWING AND SWAY WITH SAMMY KAYE
AND HIS ORCHESTRA
in The
COMMODORE PALM ROOM
SPECIAL TEA DANCE
Every Saturday
5 to 6 P. M.
NO COVER CHARGE
Dinner from $2. No cover charge at Dinner. Cover charge after 10 P. M., 75c weekdays; $1.50 Saturdays.
NEW YORK'S BEST LOCATED HOTEL
Frank J. Clothier, President
RIGHT AT GRAND CENTRAL TERMINAL
"New York's Best Located Hotel"

Actors to Present Broadway Comedy

Continued From Page One

ness student, together with Robert Emmet O'Brien, also of the Business School, who played Trock, the vengeful villain in "Winterset," are vieing for roles in this hilarious comedy.

Stage hands under the direction of Pershing Calabro, senior in the Arts School and amember of the Graphic Sketch Club of Philadelphia, are actively engaged in building a set which will be patterned from a modern hotel room.

Following the success of the students in making all the property sets last year, the same practice will be employed for this years production. The excellent sets of last year were so well done that they brought acclamation from all who witnessed "Winterset."

Belle Masque, the dramatic society of the college, is one of the oldest organizations on the campus. After a lapse of five years it was renewed and "Room Service" will be the third annual production under the direction of the revised Belle Masque. In 1937 they produced "Journey's End" and last year put on the successful "Winterset."

This year the play is a diversion from past attempts which were in the tragic form of drama.

TURBINE ILLUSTRATED

John Burke, senior engineer, delivered an address to the A. I. E. E. at its regular meeting, which was held yesterday in the Mendel Hall Amphitheatre at 11:35.

Burke spoke on the History of the Westinghouse Steam Turbine. The various points of his talk were demonstrated or clarified by the use of slides.

As yet no inspection tours have been planned by the A. I. E. E. and none will be undertaken until the early part of March.

Near End of Belle Air Tryouts

Continued From Page One

tures, and their corresponding popularity made the appointment of a camera editor necessary. With this growing department under special supervision of a particular editor, McHenry hopes, "the combined product of the work will be proportionally better."

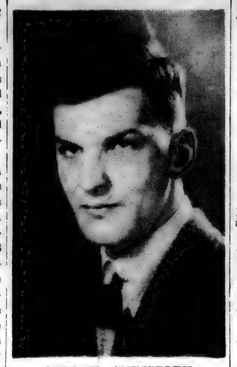
Christoph, the incumbent camera editor for this year's Belle Air, is by no means a stranger to this manner of work on the publication. Among the groups of pictures included in the annual of 1937-38 were many of the new editor's collection. A good number of sideline and action photographs of the football games to appear in the Belle Air will be of his making. At the present time Christoph and his staff have set up their own darkroom for developing purposes and are forwarding plans to further encourage the general student body to submit "shots" of collegiate life on the campus.

INSPECT LINCOLN TUNNEL

Local chapters of civil engineers will hold a section meeting on April 24 at Lehigh University. Representatives from many of the surrounding schools will attend. Although no one has been appointed as yet by Professor John A. Oakey, a student from Villanova will submit a paper at the meeting.

Members of the Villanova Chapter of the A. S. C. E. will journey to New York to inspect the Lincoln Tunnel, on March 3. Various other trips have been contemplated by the society. They are planning a trip to the Sun Ship Yard of Chester, Pa. and also one to New York to inspect a new courthouse under construction.

CAMERA EDITOR



OTTO K. CHRISTOPH

SIMPSON HALL POPULAR

One hundred and seventy-five students have attended meetings in Simpson Hall in the first two weeks it was open. At one session of the Music Seminar alone, there were forty-five present.

Practically every Seminar on the campus is now planning to meet in the new hall. A schedule of assemblies is being made, and sometimes there will be two or more meetings the same day.

Additions to the furnishings are still being made. A combination blackboard-movie screen has been ordered, and pedestals, rugs, and additional easy chairs and tables will be put in soon.

The first meeting in the building was held by the Sociology Seminar February 13.

"CURVE FITTING" IS TOPIC OF TALK

For the first time the Mathematics Club met in Simpson Hall yesterday afternoon. Joseph Tankoos was the speaker of the day, and he presented the subject of "Curve Fitting."

Methods were shown for plotting statistics or experimental data on a regular curve. If such figures were plotted by ordinary methods they would produce an irregular curve, but this can be changed by processes such as the method of averages, which was demonstrated. In this way a regular curve such as a parabola or ellipse is produced to "fit" the original figures.

After Tankoos' talk the members discussed the possibilities of holding meetings in the evening and inviting outsiders. Tentative plans were made to have the first such guest speaker within a month.

CONSTITUTION ALTERED

Change of a clause in the constitution of the student council will provide part of the business of that body at its regular meeting tomorrow in Room 213, Mendel Hall.

The constitution must be altered in order to allow the editors of the VILLANOVAN and the "Villanova Engineer," who are now appointed in January, to take their seats in the council at the beginning of the second school term. As the constitution stands at present, the newly appointed editors must wait until September to enter the council, even though the retiring editors have left vacancies in the membership.

TEXTBOOKS FOUND

Several textbooks and notebooks have been found in the VILLANOVAN office. The owners may reclaim them by calling at the office some time during the week.

Oratorical Contest Begins This Week

Continued From Page One

more than three minutes' duration will be given. All survivors of these trials will be entered in the semi-finals which occur a week later. However, in this affair, speeches of five minutes in length will be required; while as to the finalists, deliveries will take place on Tuesday, March 14, are to orate for a ten minute period from the Villanova Field House stage. Prominent judges will be selected for the affair at a later date.

This annual oratorical contest is to be the feature atraction of the second annual Senior Social to be held at the Field House on the same evening.

At the present time many students have presented their names to Mr. Frayne and are preparing their speeches. However, there is yet time and all are urged to turn in their entries and begin work on their oration. Some of the students already entered include Bradley McManus, Joseph McCabe, Thomas Delate, Murray Zealor, and James Donovan.

A very close contest is anticipated by the faculty advisor and all concerned with the affair. As in past years a large turnout is anticipated.

"If you are not a contestant, you are cordially invited and urged to attend the social and hear your favorite contestant orate himself to victory," urges Mr. Frayne.

INVOCATION BY PRESIDENT

Rev. E. V. Stanford, O. S. A., president of the college, delivered the invocation at a testimonial dinner in honor of Martin J. McLaughlin, Director of Public Works of the City of Philadelphia, alumnus of Villanova, and Commander of the American Legion Post tendering the banquet. About 1200 attended.

VELOZ and YOLANDA in their famous "Dance of the Cigarette" with

Chesterfield

THE HAPPY COMBINATION (perfectly balanced blend) of the world's best cigarette tobaccos

Chesterfield's can't-be-copied blend of mild ripe American and aromatic Turkish tobaccos gives you all the qualities you like in a smoke ... mildness, better taste, and pleasing aroma.

When you try them you will know why Chesterfields give millions of men and women more smoking pleasure... why THEY SATISFY

They Satisfy

...the can't-be-copied blend...a HAPPY COMBINATION of the world's best cigarette tobaccos

Copyright 1939, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

VILLANOVAN

Vol. 11—No. 16 VILLANOVA, PA., TUESDAY, MARCH 7, 1939 N. A. S. Z-660

MUSICIANS, ORATORS TO COLLABORATE ON SENIOR SOCIAL NIGHT

Colleges From Environs to Attend Combined Speakers Contest and Recital

NEW SCHOOL SONG PLAYED

By JAMES F. HAUGHTON

Campus musical organizations will again provide entertainment for nearby Catholic girls colleges, parents, and students at the annual Senior Social to be held in the Field House next Tuesday, March 14, at 8 P. M.

Last year the initial social brought to Villanova the first all classical musical program with the combined forces of the college band and Glee Club. This year the senior committee under Leo Biecher, senior in the School of Engineering, has extended invitations to Immaculata, College of Chestnut Hill and Rosemont to attend. A maximum crowd is expected. Finals in the college oratorical contest will also be held in conjunction with the concert.

These two groups have a combined membership of 60 students who have been preparing several weeks for this event and several new musical features will be introduced.

Villanova's newest marching song from the pen of Gene Reilly will make it's appearance. Mr. Reilly has contributed several marching numbers to the college album of music, having only recently completed this work. The band will also play a victory march composed of Samuel Stevens of Norristown. Mr. Stevens' march was first introduced by the U. S. Marine

Continued on Page Eight

A. HOLL EULOGIZES LIFE OF ST. THOMAS

General Student Body Invited to Philosophy Seminar This Afternoon

Albert E. Holl, a senior in the School of Arts, will deliver a dissertation on "St. Thomas of Aquinas" at the Philosophy Seminar this afternoon. This topic was considered appropriate as today is the Feast Day of St. Thomas Aquinas.

Holl will give the personal history of the greatest philosopher of the Catholic church, as St. Thomas of Aquinas is held to be by many. St. Thomas's philosophy was based on Aristotle. His teacher, Albertus Magnus, also had a great influence on his works.

Since this meeting is also rendering homage to St. Thomas of Aquinas, others besides the regular members of the Seminar are invited to be present.

At the last meeting of this group, Thomas Carbine, senior in the Arts School, spoke on "Love and Knowledge." "There are two types of love." Carbine states. "Love of potency and love from likeness." These two are narrowed down in the final analysis to love of one's self.

John J. Harrington then reviewed the paper in accordance with the usual procedure. Following this, the general discussion took place, but no unanimous conclusions were reached, for the subject was viewed from various angles.

When the general discussion was ended, Rev. Edward M. Dwyer, O. S. A., Ph. D., philosophy professor and moderator of the group, criticized the paper and gave some of his views on the subject.

The next meeting of the Philosophy Seminar will be held Tuesday, March 21, 1939. John J. Harrington will deliver a paper on "Creative Imagination." No one as yet has chosen to review the paper. The student will be selected this afternoon at the end of the meeting.

BELLE AIR PICTURES

Photographs of all intra-mural teams except the basketeers will be taken for the Belle Air today and tomorrow. Editor Bernard McHenry, who made the announcement, simultaneously voiced a plea to the students for punctuality in their meeting with the photographer.

The swimmers and boxers will be photographed today and the hard and soft ball teams and participants in the golf and tennis tournaments tomorrow. The exact time of the appointment with the photographer will be posted later.

McHenry further stated that extra orders for the year book can now be made and that if the order is placed before March 15 the student will have only to pay five dollars. All orders after the 15th will be seven and a half.

HISTORY STUDENTS PLAN EDUCATIONAL TOUR OF CAPITOL

March 28, 29, 30 Set as Dates; Congressional Committee Meetings Featured

Students in American Government and Constitutional Law will make a trip to Washington on March 28, and will remain there until March 30, for the purpose of observing the organs of the Federal Government. This information was recently disclosed by Dr. Harold F. Hartman, Ph. D.

Dr. Hartman said:

"This trip promises to be educational as well as interesting for the students, and will undoubtably prove to be such. Many of the fundamental problems concerned with the actual administration of law are to be analyzed and studied. Various places are to be visited so that the students may enjoy the practical as well as the theoretical values of the constitutional law court."

There will be a short lecture each morning preceding the visits to the various buildings, in order to help the students to understand what they are to witness.

Arrangements have been made to attend a committee meeting of the House of Representatives and of the U. S. Senate. This visit will probably be the highlight of the trip. In addition to this the functions of the National Labor Relation's Board, and the activities of the Interstate Commerce Commission will be witnessed. An oppor-

Continued on Page Eight

P K P FRAT HEARS REV. F. A. DIEHL

Extra-sensory perception was the subject of the lecture by the Rev. Francis A. Diehl, O. S. A., yesterday morning at the Phi Kappa Pi meeting in the Mendel Amphitheatre.

Before a large audience Father Diehl traced the work of Rhine; the Physical Research Society of London; MacDougal; Kennedy; the Zenith Radio Corporation; Willoughby, and Goodfellow. The last two men named were cited for the opposition they presented to the mathematical method of Rhine. The time limit of the meeting necessitated that the theories of the above-mentioned could only be discussed superficially.

It was further stated by Father Diehl that the work now being done at Duke University in the field of telephathy, would in twenty years or less, be relegated to the psychological junk heap. In the work referred to, one experiment required twenty-five cards of five different designs in its application. One person held a certain one of these in his hand and another person endeavored to guess which was held. There was a 5.8 average gained in the practical experiments, against the possibility of which were the tremendous odds of the number ten raised to the 195 power against one.

His Holiness Pope Pius XII

Pope Pius XII, new occupant of the Throne of St. Peter, ascends to the head of the Roman Catholic Church, succeeding to the chair left vacant by the recent passing of Pius XI. Pius XII will be crowned on Sunday, March 12th. On that day, in a lavish ceremony, he will be crowned with the Trirengo and become the official temporal ruler of four hundred million Catholics throughout the world. The new pontiff visited the United States a few years back and won the hearts of thousands of Americans. His election was received joyously by the world over.

Seniors Seeking Advanced Degrees Offered Graduate Scholarships

Fellowships and scholarships in every field are being offered for this year's graduates by universities and technical schools throughout the country.

At Notre Dame University two year scholarships in apologetics are available for men with training in scholastic philosophy and exceptional writing ability. An original essay and character references must accompany application, to be made by May 1. Communications are to be addressed to Rev. Philip Moore, C. S. C.

Scholarships in boyology, providing for a year's resident study at Notre Dame or field work with an approved organization are offered by the Boy Life Bureau of the Knights of Columbus. Subjects required for the master's degree must also be taken. Details can be secured from John J. Contway, Knights of Columbus Boy Life Bureau, New Haven, Conn.

A competitive examination for the graduate fellowships founded by the Knights of Columbus in the Catholic University of America will be held on Saturday, March 11.

Unmarried Catholic laymen who have or will have by June, a bachelor's degree are eligible. These fellowships are allotted annually, but the maximum tenure under certain circumstances is four years. Information can be secured in the offices of the deans or the Secretary General, Chairman, Committee on Scholarships and Fellowships, Catholic University of America, Washington, D. C.

Renssalaer Polytechnic Institute offers five scholarships each valued at $1600. Information may be acquired by writing to the Scholarship Committee, Renssalaer Poly-

Continued on Page Eight

SCHOOL OF SCIENCE NAMES HONOR STUDENTS

The following men led their classes in the School of Science for the first semester according to the list released by the Rev. Joseph M. Dougherty, O. S. A., dean.

Freshman class: Joseph Nelson, Salvator Campo, Isadore Merlinsky, Robert Boggiano, Bernard Evans, Theodore Orioff, Thomas Sheehy, Carmen Ciatteo, Joseph Koch, Joseph Scornavacchi.

Sophomore class: Edward Steinhardt, Harry Goodman, Raphael DeHoratius, Columbus Gangemi, Anthony Galeaski, Theodore Kraus, Vladimir Mohnach, George Urban.

Junior class: Alfred Bongiovanni, Louis A. Petril, Charles Lodowski, Justin Rubin, Walter Filipek, Gilbert Noll, Burt Wellenbach.

Senior class: Augustine Giordano, Robert Howe, Bernard Miller, Edward Lucente, Louis Carideo, Benedict Cusani.

The first three seniors named have perfect grades of 4.00.

Milk Bar, Marquee Appeal to Juniors As Prom Features

Although it is approximately two months to the first week of May and the subsequent activities of Junior Week, officers have not been idle in manufacturing ideas to add to the glamour of the Class Promenade, according to a statement issued by William V. Sinnott, president of the junior class.

In years past if the weather were inclement it was necessary to trek for some distance in adverse walking conditions. It is the idea of the Promenade chairman, Charles J. Cavanaugh, to eliminate this state of affairs by using a canopy extending from the gymnasium doors to the driveway. Here the car will be removed by an attendant and placed upon the parking lot.

Refreshments in the past have consisted entirely of soft drinks. This year a milk bar will be installed. With the advent of the milk bar it will be possible to obtain those numerous concoctions which have proven so popular in our own Pie Shoppe.

STUDENT ENGINEERS ATTEND CONVENTION HELD AT HAVERFORD

Inspection Tours of Various Plants Planned as Part of Program

GEHMAN DELIVERS PAPER

Together with electrical engineering students from four other colleges, the Villanova branch of the A. I. E. E. will attend the annual Student Branch Convention which is to be held at Haverford College on Monday, March 18.

In the morning there will be an inspection tour of the laboratories of Haverford College, followed by a technical session which will consist of a number of papers delivered by the representatives of the various schools. Villanova's speaker will be John Gehman, a senior, who will deliver a paper entitled, "The Effect of Parasitic Reflectors and Directors in Ultra-Short Wave Transmitters."

In the afternoon, the students attending the convention have a choice of three different inspection trips: The General Electric Co., to view modern switchgear; The Electric Storage Co., where a tour of all the departments and laboratories will be made; and the Richmond Station of the Philadelphia Electric Co., where the world's largest single shaft Turbo-Alternator will be inspected.

The day's activities will close at the Engineer's Club where a dinner is to be held in conjunction with the Philadelphia section of the A. I. E. E. Following the dinner Dr. Robert E. Doherty, president of the Carnegie Institute of Technology, will discuss "The Social Responsibilities of the Engineer."

The Villanova branch of the A. I. E. E. has also arranged for an inspection tour of the General Electric Co. to be held Thursday, March 9.

SIX SURVIVE FIRST ROUND OF CONTEST

Three Finalists to be Named March 8; Faculty Members as Judges

Wednesday evening, March 8, will bring the conclusion to the preliminary stages of the annual oratorical contest. At this time the surviving speakers of the first part of the contest held on March 1, will have the opportunity to bring themselves into the finals. The Oratorical Contest finals are held as a part of the Senior Social to be presented on March 14.

The surviving men of the first part of the contest who are to speak on Wednesday evening are Thomas Delate, James Donavan, Joseph McCabe, Robert E. O'Brien, Robert Wilderotter, and Fredrick Waters. The speaking time for this elimination will be five minutes in comparison with the three minute period of the first part of the elimination.

Thirteen students spoke at last Wednesday's contest, all speaking on a topic of their own choosing. The contestants were Thomas Delate, James Donovan, Joseph McCabe, John Parsons, Robert E. O'Brien, Robert Wilderotter, Fredrick Waters, Joseph Bongiovonni, John Harrington, William Dobbins, Paul Fitzmaurice, Joseph Madison, and Murray Zealor.

The Rev. Thomas F. Gilligan, O. S. A., and Paul M. Healy, O. S. A., were the judges. Rev. Robert Sullivan, O. S. A., also took part in the judging of the speeches and their presentation.

An absence of student participation was noted at this first part of the contest. There was kee competition and the audience was strong in voicing their opinion that the speeches were the best that they had ever heard at Villanova College.

Actors to Present Broadway Comedy

Continued From Page One

Bess student, together with Robert Emmet O'Brien, also of the Business School, who played Trock, the vengeful villain in "Winterset," are vieing for roles in this hilarious comedy.

Stage hands under the direction of Pershing Calabro, senior in the Arts School and amember of the Graphic Sketch Club of Philadelphia, are actively engaged in building a set which will be patterned from a modern hotel room.

Following the success of the students in making all the property sets last year, the same practice will be employed for this years production. The excellent sets of last year were so well done that they brought acclamation from all who witnessed "Winterset."

Belle Masque, the dramatic society of the college, is one of the oldest organizations on the campus. After a lapse of five years it was renewed and "Room Service" will be the third annual production under the direction of the revived Belle Masque. In 1937 they produced "Journey's End" and last year put on the successful "Winterset."

This year the play is a diversion from past attempts which were in the tragic form of drama.

TURBINE ILLUSTRATED

John Burke, senior engineer, delivered an address to the A. I. E. E. at its regular meeting, which was held yesterday in the Mendel Hall Amphitheatre at 11:35.

Burke spoke on the History of the Westinghouse Steam Turbine. The various points of his talk were demonstrated or clarified by the use of slides.

As yet no inspection tours have been planned by the A. I. E. E. and none will be undertaken until the early part of March.

Near End of Belle Air Tryouts

Continued From Page One

tures, and their corresponding popularity made the appointment of a camera editor necessary. With this growing department under special supervision of a particular editor, McHenry hopes, "the combined product of the work will be proportionally better."

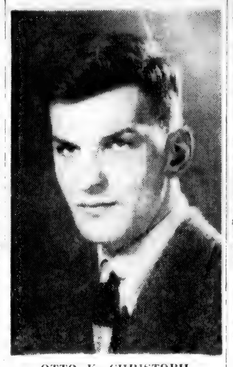
Christoph, the incumbent camera editor for this year's Belle Air, is by no means a stranger to this manner of work on the publication. Among the groups of pictures included in the annual of 1937-38 were many of the new editor's collection. A good number of sideline and action photographs of the football games to appear in the Belle Air will be of his making. At the present time Christoph and his staff have set up their own darkroom for developing purposes and are forwarding plans to further encourage the general student body to submit "shots" of collegiate life in the campus.

INSPECT LINCOLN TUNNEL

Local chapters of civil engineers will hold a section meeting on April 21 at Lehigh University. Representatives from many of the surrounding schools will attend. Although no one has been appointed as yet by Professor John A. Oakey, a student from Villanova will submit a paper at the meeting.

Members of the Villanova Chapter of the A. S. C. E. will journey to New York to inspect the Lincoln Tunnel, on March 3. Various other trips have been contemplated by the society. They are planning a trip to the Sun Ship Yard of Chester, Pa. and also one to New York to inspect a new courthouse under construction.

CAMERA EDITOR



OTTO K. CHRISTOPH

SIMPSON HALL POPULAR

One hundred and seventy-five students have attended meetings in Simpson Hall in the first two weeks it was open. At one session of the Music Seminar alone, there were forty-five present.

Practically every Seminar on the campus is now planning to meet in the new hall. A schedule of assemblies is being made, and sometimes there will be two or more meetings the same day.

Additions to the furnishings are still being made. A combination blackboard-movie screen has been ordered, and pedestals, rugs, and additional easy chairs and tables will be put in soon.

The first meeting in the building was held by the Sociology Seminar February 13.

"CURVE FITTING" IS TOPIC OF TALK

For the first time the Mathematics Club met in Simpson Hall yesterday afternoon. Joseph Tankoos was the speaker of the day, and he presented the subject of "Curve Fitting."

Methods were shown for plotting statistics or experimental data on a regular curve. If such figures were plotted by ordinary methods they would produce an irregular curve, but this can be changed by processes such as the method of averages, which was demonstrated. In this way a regular curve such as a parabola or ellipse is produced to "fit" the original figures.

After Tankoos' talk the members discussed the possibilities of holding meetings in the evening and inviting outsiders. Tentative plans were made to have the first such guest speaker within a month.

CONSTITUTION ALTERED

Change of a clause in the constitution of the student council will provide part of the business of that body at its regular meeting tomorrow in Room 213, Mendel Hall.

The constitution must be altered in order to allow the editors of the VILLANOVAN and the "Villanova Engineer," who are now appointed in January, to take their seats in the council at the beginning of the second school term. As the constitution stands at present, the newly appointed editors must wait until September to enter the council, even though the retiring editors have left vacancies in the membership.

TEXTBOOKS FOUND

Several textbooks and notebooks have been found in the VILLANOVAN office. The owners may reclaim them by calling at the office some time during the week.

Oratorical Contest Begins This Week

Continued From Page One

more than three minutes' duration will be given. All survivors of these trials will be entered in the semi-finals which occur a week later. However, in this affair, speeches of five minutes in length will be required; while as to the finalists, deliveries will take place on Tuesday, March 14, are to orate for a ten minute period from the Villanova Field House stage. Prominent judges will be selected for the affair at a later date.

This annual oratorical contest is to be the feature attraction of the second annual Senior Social to be held at the Field House on the same evening.

At the present time many students have presented their names to Mr. Frayne and are preparing their speeches. However, there is yet time and all are urged to turn in their entries and begin work on their oration. Some of the students already entered include Bradley McManus, Joseph McCabe, Thomas Delate, Murray Zealor, and James Donovan.

A very close contest is anticipated by the faculty advisor and all concerned with the affair. As in past years a large turnout is anticipated.

"If you are not a contestant, you are cordially invited and urged to attend the social and hear your favorite contestant orate himself to victory," urges Mr. Frayne.

INVOCATION BY PRESIDENT

Rev. E. V. Stanford, O. S. A., president of the college, delivered the invocation at a testimonial dinner in honor of Martin J. McLaughlin, Director of Public Works of the City of Philadelphia, alumnus of Villanova, and Commander of the American Legion Post tendering the banquet. About 1200 attended.

VELOZ and YOLANDA in their famous "Dance of the Cigarette" with

Chesterfield

THE HAPPY COMBINATION (perfectly balanced blend) of the world's best cigarette tobaccos

Chesterfield's can't-be-copied blend of mild ripe American and aromatic Turkish tobaccos gives you all the qualities you like in a smoke . . . mildness, better taste, and pleasing aroma.

When you try them you will know why Chesterfields give millions of men and women more smoking pleasure . . . why THEY SATISFY

They Satisfy

. . . the can't-be-copied blend . . . a HAPPY COMBINATION of the world's best cigarette tobaccos

Copyright 1939, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

VILLANOVAN

Vol. 11—No. 16 VILLANOVA, PA., TUESDAY, MARCH 7, 1939 N. A. S. Z-660

MUSICIANS, ORATORS TO COLLABORATE ON SENIOR SOCIAL NIGHT

Colleges From Environs to Attend Combined Speakers Contest and Recital

NEW SCHOOL SONG PLAYED

By JAMES F. HAUGHTON

Campus musical organizations will again provide entertainment for nearby Catholic girls colleges, parents, and students at the annual Senior Social to be held in the Field House next Tuesday, March 14, at 8 P. M.

Last year the initial social brought to Villanova the first all classical musical program with the combined forces of the college band and Glee Club. This year the senior committee under Leo Biecher, senior in the School of Engineering, has extended invitations to Immaculata, College of Chestnut Hill and Rosemont to attend. A maximum crowd is expected. Finals in the college oratorical contest will also be held in conjunction with the concert.

These two groups have a combined membership of 60 students who have been preparing several weeks for this event and several new musical features will be introduced.

Villanova's newest marching song from the pen of Gene Reilly will make it's appearance. Mr. Reilly has contributed several marching numbers to the college album of music, having only recently completed this work. The band will also play a victory march composed of Samuel Stevens of Norristown. Mr. Stevens' march was first introduced by the U. S. Marine

Continued on Page Eight

BELLE AIR PICTURES

Photographs of all intra-mural teams except the basketeers will be taken for the Belle Air today and tomorrow. Editor Bernard McHenry, who made the announcement, simultaneously voiced a plea to the students for punctuality in their meeting with the photographer.

The swimmers and boxers will be photographed today and the hard and soft ball teams and participants in the golf and tennis tournaments tomorrow. The exact time of the appointment with the photographer will be posted later.

McHenry further stated that extra orders for the year book can now be made and that if the order is placed before March 15 the student will have only to pay five dollars. All orders after the 15th will be seven and a half.

HISTORY STUDENTS PLAN EDUCATIONAL TOUR OF CAPITOL

March 28, 29, 30 Set as Dates; Congressional Committee Meetings Featured

Students in American Government and Constitutional Law will make a trip to Washington on March 28, and will remain there until March 30, for the purpose of observing the organs of the Federal Government. This information was recently disclosed by Dr. Harold F. Hartman, Ph. D.

Dr. Hartman said:

"This trip promises to be educational as well as interesting for the students, and will undoubtably prove to be such. Many of the fundamental problems concerned with the actual administration of law are to be analyzed and studied. Various places are to be visited so that the students may enjoy the practical as well as the theoretical values of the constitutional law court."

There will be a short lecture each morning preceding the visits to the various buildings, in order to help the students to understand what they are to witness.

Arrangements have been made to attend a committee meeting of the House of Representatives and of the U. S. Senate. This visit will probably be the highlight of the trip. In addition to this the functions of the National Labor Relation's Board, and the activities of the Interstate Commerce Commission will be witnessed. An oppor-

Continued on Page Eight

A. HOLL EULOGIZES LIFE OF ST. THOMAS

General Student Body Invited to Philosophy Seminar This Afternoon

Albert E. Holl, a senior in the School of Arts, will deliver a dissertation on "St. Thomas of Aquinas" at the Philosophy Seminar this afternoon. This topic was considered appropriate as today is the Feast Day of St. Thomas Aquinas.

Holl will give the personal history of the greatest philosopher of the Catholic church, as St. Thomas of Aquinas is held to be by many. St. Thomas's philosophy was based on Aristotle. His teacher, Albertus Magnus, also had a great influence on his works.

Since this meeting is also rendering homage to St. Thomas of Aquinas, others besides the regular members of the Seminar are invited to be present.

At the last meeting of this group, Thomas Carbine, senior in the Arts School, spoke on "Love and Knowledge." "There are two types of love," Carbine states. "Love of potency and love from likeness." These two are narrowed down in the final analysis to love of one's self.

John J. Harrington then reviewed the paper in accordance with the usual procedure. Following this, the general discussion took place, but no unanimous conclusions were reached, for the subject was viewed from various angles.

When the general discussion was ended, Rev. Edward M. Dwyer, O. S. A., Ph. D., philosophy professor and moderator of the group, criticized the paper and gave some of his views on the subject.

The next meeting of the Philosophy Seminar will be held Tuesday, March 21, 1939. John J. Harrington will deliver a paper on "Creative Imagination." No one as yet has chosen to review the paper. The student will be selected this afternoon at the end of the meeting.

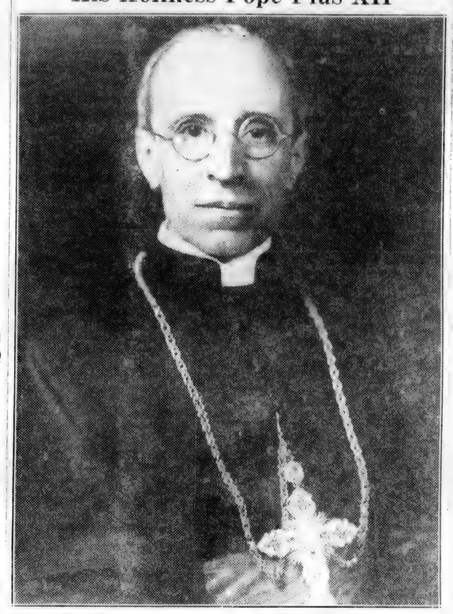
P K P FRAT HEARS REV. F. A. DIEHL

Extra-sensory perception was the subject of the lecture by the Rev. Francis A. Diehl, O. S. A., yesterday morning at the Phi Kappa Pi meeting in the Mendel Amphitheatre.

Before a large audience Father Diehl traced the work of Rhine; the Physical Research Society of London; MacDougal; Kennedy; the Zenith Radio Corporation; Willoughby, and Goodfellow. The last two men named were cited for the opposition they presented to the mathematical method of Rhine. The time limit of the meeting necessitated that the theories of the abovementioned could only be discussed superficially.

It was further stated by Father Diehl that the work now being done at Duke University in the field of telephathy, would in twenty years or less, be relegated to the psychological junk heap. In the work referred to, one experiment required twenty-five cards of five different designs in its application. One person held a certain one of these in his hand and another person endeavored to guess which was held. There was a 5.8 average gained in the practical experiments, against the possibility of which were the tremendous odds of the number ten raised to the 195 power against one.

His Holiness Pope Pius XII



Pope Pius XII, new occupant of the Throne of St. Peter, ascends to the head of the Roman Catholic Church, succeeding to the chair left vacant by the recent passing of Pius XI. Pius XII will be crowned on Sunday, March 12th. On that day, in a lavish ceremony, he will be crowned with the Trirengo and become the official temporal ruler of four hundred million Catholics throughout the world. The new pontiff visited the United States a few years back and won the hearts of thousands of Americans. His election was received joyously the world over.

Seniors Seeking Advanced Degrees Offered Graduate Scholarships

Fellowships and scholarships in every field are being offered for this year's graduates by universities and technical schools throughout the country.

At Notre Dame University two year scholarships in apologetics are available for men with training in scholastic philosophy and exceptional writing ability. An original essay and character references must accompany application, to be made by May 1. Communications are to be addressed to Rev. Philip Moore, C. S. C.

Scholarships in boyology, providing for a year's resident study at Notre Dame or field work with an approved organization are offered by the Boy Life Bureau of the Knights of Columbus. Subjects required for the master's degree must also be taken. Details can be secured from John J. Conway, Knights of Columbus Boy Life Bureau, New Haven, Conn.

A competitive examination for the graduate fellowships founded by the Knights of Columbus in the Catholic University of America will be held on Saturday, March 11.

Unmarried Catholic laymen who have or will have by June, a bachelor's degree are eligible. These fellowships are allotted annually but the maximum tenure under certain circumstances is four years. Information can be secured in the offices of the deans or the Secretary General, Chairman, Committee on Scholarships and Fellowships, Catholic University of America, Washington, D. C.

Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute offers five scholarships each valued at $1600. Information may be acquired by writing to the Scholarship Committee, Rensselaer Poly-

Continued on Page Eight

SCHOOL OF SCIENCE NAMES HONOR STUDENTS

The following men led their classes in the School of Science for the first semester according to the list released by the Rev. Joseph M. Dougherty, O. S. A., dean.

Freshman class: Joseph Nelson, Salvator Campo, Isadore Merlinsky, Robert Boggiano, Bernard Evans, Theodore Orloff, Thomas Sheehy, Carmen Clatteo, Joseph Koch, Joseph Scornavacchi.

Sophomore class: Edward Steinhardt, Harry Goodman, Raphael DeHoratius, Columbus Gangemi, Anthony Gaieski, Theodore Kraus, Vladimir Mohnach, George Urban.

Junior class: Alfred Bongiovanni, Louis A. Petril, Charles Lodowski, Justin Rubin, Walter Filipek, Gilbert Noll, Burt Wellenbach.

Senior class: Augustine Giordano, Robert Howe, Bernard Miller, Edward Lucente, Louis Carideo, Benedict Cusani.

The first three seniors named have perfect grades of 4.00.

Milk Bar, Marquee Appeal to Juniors As Prom Features

Although it is approximately two months to the first week of May and the subsequent activities of Junior Week, officers have not been idle in manufacturing ideas to add to the glamour of the Class Promenade, according to a statement issued by William V. Sinnott, president of the junior class.

In years past if the weather were inclement it was necessary to trek for some distance in adverse walking conditions. It is the idea of the Promenade chairman, Charles J. Cavanaugh, to eliminate this state of affairs by using a canopy extending from the gymnasium doors to the driveway. Here the car will be removed by an attendant and placed upon the parking lot.

Refreshments in the past have consisted entirely of soft drinks. This year a milk bar will be installed. With the advent of the milk bar it will be possible to obtain those numerous concoctions which have proven so popular in our own Pie Shoppe.

STUDENT ENGINEERS ATTEND CONVENTION HELD AT HAVERFORD

Inspection Tours of Various Plants Planned as Part of Program

GEHMAN DELIVERS PAPER

Together with electrical engineering students from four other colleges, the Villanova branch of the A. I. E. E. will attend the annual Student Branch Convention which is to be held at Haverford College on Monday, March 18.

In the morning there will be an inspection tour of the laboratories of Haverford College, followed by a technical session which will consist of a number of papers delivered by the representatives of the various schools. Villanova's speaker will be John Gehman, a senior, who will deliver a paper entitled, "The Effect of Parasitic Reflectors and Directors in Ultra-Short Wave Transmitters."

In the afternoon, the students attending the convention have a choice of three different inspection trips: The General Electric Co., to view modern switchgear; The Electric Storage Co., where a tour of all the departments and laboratories will be made; and the Richmond Station of the Philadelphia Electric Co., where the world's largest single shaft Turbo-Alternator will be inspected.

The day's activities will close at the Engineer's Club where a dinner is to be held in conjunction with the Philadelphia section of the A. I. E. E. Following the dinner Dr. Robert E. Doherty, president of the Carnegie Institute of Technology, will discuss "The Social Responsibilities of the Engineer."

The Villanova branch of the A. I. E. E. has also arranged for an inspection tours of the General Electric Co. to be held Thursday, March 9.

SIX SURVIVE FIRST ROUND OF CONTEST

Three Finalists to be Named March 8; Faculty Members as Judges

Wednesday evening, March 8 will bring the conclusion to the preliminary stages of the annual oratorical contest. At this time the surviving speakers of the first part of the contest held on March 1, will have the opportunity to bring themselves into the finals. The Oratorical Contest finals are held as a part of the Senior Social to be presented on March 14.

The surviving men of the first part of the contest who are to speak on Wednesday evening are Thomas Delate, James Donavan, Joseph McCabe, Robert E. O'Brien, Robert Wilderotter, and Fredrick Waters. The speaking time for this elimination will be five minutes in comparison with the three minute period of the first part of the elimination.

Thirteen students spoke at last Wednesday's contest, all speaking on a topic of their own choosing. The contestants were Thomas Delate, James Donovan, Joseph McCabe, John Parsons, Robert E. O'Brien, Robert Wilderotter, Fredrick Waters, Joseph Bongiovonni, John Harrington, William Dobbins, Paul Fitzmaurice, Joseph Madison, and Murray Zealor.

The Rev. Thomas F. Gilligan, O. S. A., and Paul M Healy, O. S. A., were the judges. Rev. Robert Sullivan, O. S. A., also took part in the judging of the speeches and their presentation.

An absence of student participation was noted at this first part of the contest. There was kee competition and the audience was strong in voicing their opinion that the speeches were the best that they had ever heard at Villanova College.

VILLANOVAN

Published Weekly by the Students of Villanova College

Managing Board

JOHN J. HARRINGTON, '40 .....Editor-in-Chief
JAMES P. COLLINS, '41 .....College Editor
PHILIP M. DUNN, '40 .....Sports Editor
JOHN T. GALLAGHER, '42 .....Business Manager
JOSEPH N. BONGIOVANNI, '40 .....Copy Editor
JOSEPH A. CIRELLI, '40 .....Circulation Manager
MURRAY P. ZEALOR, '41 .....Lit. Literary Editor
HENRY L. MANCUSO, '41 .....Photography Editor
JOHN L. MAHER, '42 .....Advertising Manager
JOSEPH F. BEE, '42 .....Cartoonist

Columnists

Bernard A. Bellew, '40 .....College Chatter
William F. Garrity, '40 .....Odds and Ends
William J. Toy, '41 .....Varieties
Harry A. Mazzei, '40 .....Here and There
Anthony J. Liscio, '40 .....Do You Know

Staff Writers

Justin G. Rubin, '40 — Robert J. Funabashi, '42
Frank Fitzpatrick, '40 — William B. Carey, '42
Saul A. Wallach, '40 — Francis J. Callahan, '42
Bernard Singer, '40 — William E. Schubert, '42
Thomas J. Moore, '41 — William B. DeGrasse, '42
Anthony R. Liscio, '41 — Thomas H. Boyle, '42
James F. Haughton, '41 — Howard A. McCall, '42
Andrea J. D'Angelo, '41 — John P. Fullam, '42
David N. Reardon, '42 — William J. Ehmer, '42
Joseph V. McCabe, '42 — Thomas A. Shallow, '42
Joseph A. Barnes, '41 — Robert J. McIntyre, '42
Joseph Santaniello, '41 — Alfred Bongiovanni, '40
James F. Donovan, '41 — William V. Sinnott, '40
Robert W. Kiley, '41

Contributor

Lou Dubino, '39

Photography Staff

Melvin Bricker, '41 — Walter N. LaPorte, '42
John T. Sandonato, '41

Circulation Staff

Robert P. Schisler, '41 — Robert F. Donovan, '42
Bernard C. Crumb, '42 — Joseph D. Keffer, '42

Faculty Advisor—Rev. Edward B. McKee, O. S. A.

This paper is dedicated to one of the finest men who ever entered Villanova: scholar, athlete, gentleman—
LEO GOODREAU

Subscription—$2.00 per year.
Entered as second class matter at the Villanova Post-office, December 27, 1928.

1938 Member 1939

Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

REPRESENTED FOR NATIONAL ADVERTISING BY
National Advertising Service, Inc.
College Publishers Representative
420 MADISON AVE. NEW YORK, N. Y.
CHICAGO - BOSTON - LOS ANGELES - SAN FRANCISCO

Member of the Catholic School Press Association
Member of the Catholic College Press Association
Member of the National Scholastic Press Association.

TUESDAY - - - - MARCH 7, 1939

MAKING DEMOCRACY WORK

IN a recent declaration Cordell Hull stated that the passing of a bill which would delegate to the people the power of voting on our entrance into a war would result in the breakdown of representative legislation in this country. This, however, sounds paradoxical, for if legislation in a democracy is supposed to reflect the wishes of the people, what would be a more representative piece of legislation than an issue voted on directly by the citizens themselves.

Such a referendum could do much to foster the growth of Americanism and true patriotism. At the same time it would be an immeasureable obstacle in path of unscrupulous propagandists, munitionists, speculators, and all those men who would profit by influencing congressmen to war.

It would eliminate the dangers of entangling alliances which might draw us into a general European war, even for the vaunted cause of "saving the world for democracy." Democracies can only be saved by peace, and such legislation would remove all fears of war from the minds of the American people, who then could then turn their undivided efforts to making this nation a far better place to live in.

There is no question as to whether the people have the right to decide on such an issue. The ordinary man and his descendants are the ones who suffer the direct consequences of war; they have to pay for it—in blood, suffering, and money, and it is not fair to bequeath citizens yet unborn huge war debts, which they must make good.

Congress could do nothing better at this time than to pass such a bill as the referendum, which would increase the faith of the American people in their country and those men whom they have elected to represent them.

POPE PIOUS XII

CATHOLICS throughout the world are rejoicing at the selection of Pius XII by the College of Cardinals in the Vatican City. They glory in the knowledge that Pius XII was elected after the casting of but three ballots. They joy in the thought that Pius XII has the qualities to lead his church with the mastery of Pius XI.

It is unusual that a Secretary of State in the Papal Court become Pope. It is the first time anything like this has happened since 1621. Pius XII is the first Papal Secretary of State to be made Pope in many centuries. The services of the Secretary of State are needed to continue and for this reason it is seldom that a Pope is elected from this department.

In his first broadcast to the world on last Saturday his appeal was as if it were the echo of Pius XI, a desire for world peace. That he shall follow the policy of Pius XI is not known, but that he shall lead his flock with greatest care is seen in his immediate bestowal upon his church of his paternal blessing.

Long live the Pope!

ST. THOMAS AQUINAS

TODAY is the Feast of St. Thomas of Aquin. And with the whole world scorning even to consider anything which bears the name Scholasticism, those who still look upon him as our "Philosophus," proclaim to the world that the flame of truth is still burning in Scholasticism and is only waiting to be uncovered so that it may again illuminate the minds of men.

But to proclaim, we must know. We must study and evaluate his philosophy. Nor does this imply that we ought blindly to agree with him in all his speculation. Just as St. Thomas did not draw entirely or blindly from his "Philosophus" so must we, while we base our philosophy on his—not because it is his but because it is true—accept truth and make it part of our philosophy wherever it may appear.

According to a survey made last year, there are 191 Catholic colleges in the United States with a total enrollment of 119,260 students. If one of this number turns out to be a Thomas Aquinas then Catholic Education in our country will have more than justified its existence and made its contribution to the progress of civilization and culture.

THEY NEVER LEARN

THE late musical comedy, the subtle, sure satire of the world's bad boys and good boys, although a perfect parallel of international politics, is nevertheless pleasant entertainment, pointing, moreover, the solution in human nature. "They Never Learn" may be enjoyed not only by those who understand its parody but even, like "Gulliver's Travels," by the uninitiated in the wiles of diplomacy.

Attendance at the one and only presentation mitigated by pernicious rumor, the full measure of satisfaction has not been gotten out of this poignant production. It should be kept alive, either in our own hall or on tour. It seems a shame that the most brilliant creation of its nature emanating from this campus in recent times was born but to bloom a night and die. It would be appreciated as a Lenten refreshment. Fundamentally a hit, it requires no special props that may not be found on any stage. If this suggestion is not acted upon, it is hoped at least that the play is significant of more such things to come.

Faculty Comments

THE YOUNG ENGINEER AND THE ENGINEERING MAGAZINE
By
WILLIAM J. BARBER, M. S. in M. E.

IT is clear that an engineer cannot keep up with advances in engineering without reading engineering magazines. Yet no engineer has the time to carefully read all engineering magazines in his line of work and still have enough time left to earn a living. The problem, then, is what attitude to have toward this ever-increasing flood of information.

Engineers have many different attitudes toward this problem. Some engineers do not take engineering magazines, reading one here and there as they find them. Others take several magazines and let them accumulate, often unopened and unused. Others take a few and carefully bind them and put them away. Generally, however, the engineer is interested in his engineering magazine and endeavors to save its information for future use.

The problem of the engineer with his engineering magazine is affected by his age and aim in life. The object of this article is to discuss the problem of the young engineer only.

The young engineer and college graduate need, most of all, so far as his profession is concerned, practical experience. Engineering literature will mean much more to him after he has held a position in engineering work, be it ever so modest. With the actual performance of engineering work, however, should come the reading of engineering magazines, especially along the lines in which he is working. Reading about work similar to the particular work one is doing is extremely instructive and broadening. Therefore, the young engineer should as early as possible, take at least one first class engineering magazine and lay it away in an orderly fashion after he has read selected parts of it. If he can afford two magazines, so much the better.

It is very doubtful if laborious reading of all kinds of engineering articles is advisable for any engineer, even if he had the time. Such an emphasis on quantity is mentally detrimental. A good plan for the young engineer would be for him to regularly read a few articles bearing on the line of work he is engaged upon at the time, and the optional reading of such other articles as interest him. This would not be much of a task. As his experience broadens, engineering literature will become more and more interesting. Its relation to practical matters will be fully appreciated.

The young engineer is tempted such as the Delaware River bridge, Boulder dam, and enormous power plants. This serves to hold his interest for the time being and that is about all. He finally learns that for him, the main value of the engineering magazine does not lie in its dramatic side but in a fund of small things, which make up routine work of the ordinary everyday job. Every large project represents fundamental principles plus a multitude of details based on experience with similar projects. It is far better to read about things of fundamental value first and then the dramatic articles.

It is probably not wise for the young engineer to go in for card indexes, filing systems, and the like, for topically arranging his available engineering magazine articles. Few men know very early in life where fate and interest will land their future attention, and filing systems and special indexes are expensive and take much time, and when they are practiced without definite aim they are apt to become useless. It would be better to start a note book and note in it what appears to be extremeuseful.

and that he is just what he is, a to read much about large projects walking contradiction of himself."

Contradiction

From an address by Dean R. E. Manchester, of Kent University.

"The college man is a living paradox. Most people cannot understand him and those who do come to their conclusions by indirect proof. He talks of the future but worships the past. He is liberal in his conversation but conservative in his action. He is radical in his opinions on politics, but elects stand-patters to the class offices. He demands freedom of thinking, but defends with all his strength the traditions of his institution. He takes wild stands on religious theories, yet attends colleges and universities that are created and maintained by orthodox creeds. He preaches democracy yet supports the most rigid campus caste system. He demands that his university maintain the highest athletic standards yet in the same breath demands a professional football team. He scoffs at his profs, yet defends them strenuously when they are criticized. He rebels against rules, but sets up more rigid ones when given the opportunity. He clamors for self-government, but doesn't want it after he gets it.

You ask 'What are we going to do about it?' We are going to praise the Lord that we have him

Chant of the War Profiteer

by BEE

"Voting On War Is Undemocratic"

ODDS and ENDS

By Bill Garrity

BILL "MOOSE" BAILEY, our dynamic swimming captain, received an interesting fan letter not so long ago. The epistle was written on heavily perfumed paper, in a feminine hand, and went into throes of ecstasy about his beautiful stroke. The writer requested Bill to come up to her private pool to give her lessons, and signed the letter Ima Seal. Bill went to the address on 34th Street to find to his disgust that it was the seal pond of the Zoo.

• • •

JERRY NERI and his roomie, "HAPPY" GOGOLINSKI, have nightly arguments about everything in the book. The only thing they accomplish is keeping their neighbors away from their books with the noise.

• • •

JOE ROSSI was found gasping in agony in the room opposite his, last Wednesday night. After much questioning, it was discovered that his roomie, 'BUZZ' BUZZALINO had just changed his socks.

• • •

Did you know that JOE PANCERI worked as sax man in Les Brown's orchestra before entering these halls? Joe isn't going to follow music, believe it or not. He intends to go in for that old profession of curing people's ills.

• • •

BILL WARD, the city slicker, couldn't have been assigned a better topic for practice teaching. He is keeping the students of Upper Darby High well informed on the subject of agriculture!

• • •

ANDY CZESICK, who is now answering to the name Eve instead of Adam, couldn't be coaxed into the trials of the Oratorical Contest. He had a topic worked up which would have put even the Gettysburg Address in the background.

• • •

Mike, recreationist and proprietor of the Greek has heard of the success of the music seminars held here at the college. He will gladly change from Shaw to Brahms if the demand is heavy enough.

• • •

MATT PRENDERGAST has some choice sayings and proverbs adorning the walls of his room. One of them is "Never fret about missing a street car or a girl. There'll always be another along in a minute."

• • •

The Kaffee Klatsch is coming back into prominence again by way of the colleges. The girls at the College of New Rochelle gather every once in a while to discuss current events over 'coffee and.' Suggestions have been made that would liven up the seminars held in Simpson Hall. Discuss the topics at hand over "beer and."

• • •

Always keep this in mind at all times: If you have a good temper keep it. If you have a bad temper don't loose it.

Do You Know

By ANTHONY R. LISCIO

St. Augustine's Academy was the first [illegible] high school above the Mason and Dixon line. It was founded in Philadelphia in 1811.

• • •

In 1844 there was a toll gate at Rosemont.

• • •

The Epsilon Phi Theta, the oldest Fraternity on the campus, is still in existence but is inactive. Its members belong to the School of Arts.

• • •

In 1844 the doors and windows of Villanova had to be barricaded at night as precaution against rioters.

• • •

Early twentieth century juniors and seniors at Villanova were obliged to wear the college undergraduate gown and cap all the year, except when away from the campus or engaged in athletics.

• • •

The dramatic society presented "Richelieu" at the Walnut Street Theatre on June 13, 1901.

• • •

St. Nicholas Academy, a preparatory school, was founded at Villanova in 1901.

Introducing

By THOMAS J. MOORE

ONE of the busiest men on campus is the ever-active chairman of the debate council, Thomas Delate. Since his arrival at Villanova, Tom has practically run the debating society, single-handed. Twenty-two years ago, when Mrs. Delate's little boy first breathed the exhilarating Trenton air, probably no one dreamed that he was some day to grace the campus of this noble institution.

Apparently Tom had a liking for Catholic schools because from the beginning he enrolled in St. John's grammar school. Here it was that he first displayed the scholastic ability which has characterized him as a student of rare talents and which will surely carry him far on life's pathway. As evidence of his scholastic attainments he still has a Gold Medal for Studies which he received upon graduation.

Track Medalist

One of the first things he did after enrolling at the Cathedral High School in Trenton was to report to the track coach. As a member of the team for four years he played an important part in many of their triumphs. Two varsity letters came Tom's way but probably the thing he prizes most is the medal he received when he won the Junior Half Mile in the Trenton Diocese championships.

Although there was no debating team at Cathedral, Tom found an outlet for his Thespian inclinations in the dramatic society. On the completion of his scholastic career in high school, we find our hero graduating with an enviable record. Among other things he received a medal for religion and one for school spirit. But what was probably the most satisfying reward was the scholarship to Villanova which he received.

Once at Villanova, Tom Delate, athlete and scholar, lost no time in becoming acquainted with a number of activities. Debating was an immediate attraction for him and, in less time than it takes to tell, he was not only a member of the society but business manager as well.

LEADING DEBATER

THOMAS E. DELATE

It seems as if history repeats itself because Tom has been a member of the track team since his freshman year. As in high school, the half mile is his favorite distance but he is prone to "take a fling" at greater distances, as is evidenced by his activity on the cross country team. Intramural swimming likewise found him an active participant.

Throughout his college career Tom has attended almost all the seminar meetings held in the school. The glee club was another object of his boundless energy. Last year found him winning in the annual oratorical contest. He has also entered this year and hopes to come out on top.

The dance committees in both his junior and senior year found Tom a member. As a member of these he had an opportunity to express his likes and dislikes in music. Viennese waltzes are his idea of "real music" and jitterbugs are one of his pet aversions. His literary abilities find an outlet in his contributions to the Bells Air, of which he is Associate College Editor.

First Honor Man

Throughout his four years at Villanova Tom has always tended to his studies before anything else, and his capacity along these lines has been unusual. Not satisfied with carrying a full schedule here at Villanova, in addition to working and attending Round Table Conferences at local colleges, he has taken courses in accounting at the Hallahan night school. Apparently this has not handicapped him since he managed to be first honor man in the arts department for the first semester.

As a result of his extensive work in debating, the Trenton Tornado has accumulated a wealth of knowledge concerning governmental affairs. His grammar school ability in religion has been transformed into a liking for the works of St. Thomas Aquinas. This inclination has led him to join in the sentiment expressed by the Christian Front in its doctrines of social justice.

During the summers we might have found him working for the Community Chest in Trenton. Now that he is about to enter the business world the experience thus gained may prove valuable. His chief ambition is to attend a recognized law school in order to further his studies. Probably this will have to be done at night because during the day he will probably have to work to obtain some of that "necessary evil."

Varieties

By WILLIAM J. TOY

MEMBERS of the Junior Class will be given a chance to voice their opinion on the band for their coming formal. VARIETIES, that campus boogie-woogie, will conduct a poll to determine what the Junior class members think is tops in the way of orchestras.

Your editor, endeavoring to differ from other polls of this type, will have only students of the third year class cast votes. In this way a better result will be obtained as a better check-up can be obtained. With a smaller number of ballots a more accurate result can be taken since there will be less packing the ballot-box.

Distribution of the ballots will begin today and an early return is expected. Let's keep this poll on the level and get a true answer.

PARADE OF THE BANDS:

This week it is my good fortune to review for you readers, dancers, and record fiends (I think I have one or two) that fine band belonging to one Richard Himber, orchestra leader extraordinary.

When Dick first started his band, it was all an accident. He was, at that time, managing several Rudy Vallis units together with the Buddy Rodgers outfit.

It all happened when, one day, Dick accepted a job at the well-known haven fo New Yorkers, the Essex House, for one of his b ands. However, when taking this booking, Mr. Himber slipped up on one minor matter—he neglected to remember that none of his units were even near New York. He was in what is commonly termed a pickle!

At the time, this was not funny, but, looking back, a great deal of mumor may be noted. There was just one thing left for him to do—get a band of his own together for this spot. He had no thoughts of keeping the ork together after the crisis, but the public had something to say about this decision. Soon after his entrance here, Richard Himber was the proud possessor of two nice, juicy commercial programs. His band shortly attained national attention and all thoughts of disbanding his crew were put from his mind.

Born twenty-eight years ago in Newark, Dick played a fiddle. He began his theatrical career with Sophie Tucker and toured the country.

The original Himber style featured a tell-tale harp blending with a very smooth style. Although this type music was fine and appeared successful, Mr. Himber suddenly changed to his present totally different style—"rythmic pyramids."

When asked why the sudden change of styles our leader explained that he had become tired of playing the same type of music. After six years of this same thing, he decided it was time for a change.

For a pet peeve we could state Mr. Himber as being an avid hater of "commercial music." He is just as much against this kind of music as the "pure" Jazz fan, but has been successful in keeping the good graces of both public and musicians. Quite a feat!

GOODMAN DONE:

When a dyed-in-the-wool Goodman fan like your columnist forecasts the end of B. G., he must be pretty bad.

To whom it may concern: following fast in the footsteps of James and Krupa are Teddy Wilson, wizard of the keyboard; Jack Teagarden, ace trombonist; and Toots Mondello, saxophone tooter extraordinary. With fat contracts already, these men are faring into the orchestral strife with their own musical aggregations.

P. S We wonder why this mutiny —it couldn't be Benny, or could it?

SHOW NEWS:

Philadelphia's Chestnut St. Opera House will be the scene of Knickerbocker Holiday starring Walter Houston as Peter Stuyvesant and Jeanne Madden taking the feminine lead. This is a musical comedy straight from Broadway with Miss Madden who played opposite Dick Powel on the silver screen.

College Chatter

By Barney Bellew

A NOVEL method of informing the rest of the girls just what sort of a time "She" had, is used on the Radcliff College campus. When a young miss signs in after a date she must sign her name in one of many colors. Each color is significant of a special type of date. Thus, much time is saved, for the telling of the story to all her friends takes the best part of any college girl's morning.

The high spot in the color scheme is purple. When a girl reaches for a pencil with purple lead, her evening was just too, too, divine (ahem).

Red trails, meaning a perfectly swell time. And if green is chosen, that just means a plain nice time. Brown stands for "just a job"; doing anything that takes up a night but isn't exactly fun (like studying or some other kind of work). Blue indicates a plain walk. (Strange that it happens to be one of Villanova's colors, eh.) However, if the blue is underlined it includes eats.

Yellow means "an utter flop!" The evening was SIMPLY AWFUL. And last of all, an entry in pink means the date was on a high intellectual plane.

I will now rate a few fellows of my acquaintance according to un . . . reliable sources:

Bill Guiteras	Very deep purple
Barney Bellew	Very, very deep purple
John Wysocki	Pink
Pete Hanlon	Blue
Jim Donovan	Blue
Harry Taylor	Yellow
Joe Back	Yellow
Franny Thomas	Yellow
Joe Desmond	Red (that's worth a quarter)
Buzz Howlett	Brown
Al Bongiovanni	Very, very, very purple

Special to Immaculata:

We have been told that our paper doesn't contain quite enough spice, especially the columns. And from what I gather, a certain crowd's idea of spice is mere gossip about who went out with whom, and what time who got in with whom Saturday night. Well personally I don't give a d—arn, and besides it's not my job to write it. If certains girls are interested in seeing their names in the VILLANOVAN, I'd advise them to see Bill Garrity at the earliest possible moment. Need I say more?

Lafayette:

In trying to convince the business men and merchants in Easton to advertise in the "Lafayette," a student poll was taken on everything that pertains to a student's spending money. This was presented to the reluctant merchants during the process of selling them space for advertisement.

A Sentinal

By ANDREA J. D'ANGELO

DARKNESS falls and drops its somber shade
Upon my brooding soul so near despair,
And yet it can't erase nor cause to fade
That lovely face, immortal, sweet, and fair
Which I seem to see before my gaze
In every flickering shadow passing
by
Accented in its beauty by the rays
Of a dimming sun that soon will leave the sky,
But I besides a grave will wait the day;
I'll keep a watch down on my bended knees,
That she perhaps may chance to hear me say
How much and how my heart so lonely grieves;
Upon her grave I'll lay my weary head
And pray the morrow finds me—cold and dead.

Photographic Comment

. . . by MANCUSO

The great lengths to which an engineer will go — This photo of Arthur Henry, soph engineer, carrying a gargantuan, eight-foot slide rule, the epitome of accuracy, efficiency and speed to the "Punchies" represents a new high in student earnestness, or something.

VILLANOVAN

Published Bi-Weekly by the Students of Villanova College

Managing Board

[illegible] Editor-in-Chief
[illegible] Associate Editor
[illegible] Associate Editor
[illegible] Associate Editor
[illegible] Associate Editor
[illegible] Associate Editor
[illegible] Associate Editor
[illegible] Associate Editor
[illegible] Associate Editor
[illegible] Associate Editor
[illegible] College Chatter
[illegible] Odds and Ends
[illegible] Varieties
[illegible] Sports Editor
[illegible] Do You Know

Staff Writers

[illegible] '42
[illegible] '42
[illegible] '42
[illegible] '42
[illegible] '42
[illegible] '42
[illegible] '42
[illegible] '42
[illegible] '42
[illegible] '42

MARCH 7 1939

MARKET DEMOCRACY WORK

IN a recent declaration Cordell Hull stated that the passing of a bill which would delegate to the people the power of voting on our entrance into a war would result in the breakdown of representative legislation in this country. This, however, sounds paradoxical, for if legislation in a democracy is supposed to reflect the wishes of the people, what would be a more representative piece of legislation than an issue voted on directly by the citizens themselves.

Such a referendum could do much to foster the growth of Americanism and true patriotism. At the same time it would be an immeasureable obstacle in path of unscrupulous propagandists, munitionists, speculaters, and all those men who would profit by influencing congressmen to war.

It would eliminate the dangers of entangling alliances which might draw us into a world European war, even for the vaunted cause of "saving the world for democracy." Democracies can only be saved by peace, and such legislation would remove all fears of war from the minds of the American people, who then could then turn their undivided efforts to making the nation a far better place to live in.

There is no question as to whether the people have the right to decide on such an issue. The ordinary man and his dependants are the ones who suffer the direct consequences of war; they have to pay for it—in blood, suffering, and money, and it is not fair to bequeath citizens yet unborn large war debts, which they must make good.

Congress could do nothing better at this time than to pass such a bill as the ludlow amendment, which would increase the faith of the American people in their country and those men whom they have elected to represent them.

POPE PIOUS XII

CATHOLICS throughout the world are rejoicing at the selection of Pius XII by the College of Cardinals in the Vatican City. They glory in the knowledge that Pius XII was elected after the casting of but three ballots. They joy in the thought that Pius XII has the qualities to lead his church with the mastery of Pius XI.

It is unusual that a Secretary of State in the Papal Court become Pope. It is the first time anything like this has happened since 1621. Pius XII is the first Papal Secretary of State to be made Pope in many centuries. The services of the Secretary of State are needed to continue and for this reason it is seldom that a Pope is elected from this department.

In his first broadcast to the world on last Saturday his appeal was as if it were the echo of Pius XI, a desire for world peace. That he shall follow the policy of Pius XI is not known, but that he shall lead his flock with equal success as a fighting monarch is evident in his pleas for this end and blessing.

Long live the Pope!

[illegible] SAINTS

TODAY is the Feast of St. Thomas [illegible] Aquinas. And with the whole world [illegible] to consider an "Easter white" [illegible] look upon him as our "Bibliotheca Sancta" [illegible] to the world that the flame of truth is still burning in Scholasticism and is only waiting to be uncovered so that it may again illuminate the minds of men.

But to proclaim, we must know. We must study and evaluate his philosophy. Nor does this imply that we ought blindly to agree with him in all his speculation. Just as St. Thomas did not draw entirely or blindly from his "Philosophus" so must we, while we base our philosophy on his—not because it is his but because it is true—accept truth and make it part of our philosophy wherever it may appear.

According to a survey made last year, there are 191 Catholic colleges in the United States with a total enrollment of 119,260 students. If one of this number turns out to be a Thomas Aquinas then Catholic Education in our country will have more than justified its existence and made its contribution to the progress of civilization and culture.

THEY NEVER LEARN

THE late musical comedy, the subtle, sure satire of the world's bad boys and good boys, although a perfect parallel of international politics, is nevertheless pleasant entertainment, pointing, moreover, the solution in human nature. "They Never Learn" may be enjoyed not only by those who understand its parody but even, like "Gulliver's Travels," by the uninitiated in the wiles of diplomacy.

Attendance at the one and only presentation mitigated by pernicious rumor, the full measure of satisfaction has not been gotten out of this poignant production. It should be kept alive, either in our own hall or on tour. It seems a shame that the most brilliant creation of its nature emanating from this campus in recent times was born but to bloom a night and die. It would be appreciated as a London refreshment. Fundamentally a hit, it requires no special props that may not be found on any stage. If this suggestion is not acted upon, it is hoped at least that the play is significant of more such things to come.

Faculty Comments

THE YOUNG ENGINEER AND THE ENGINEERING MAGAZINE

By WILLIAM J. BARBER, M. S. in M. E.

IT is clear that an engineer cannot keep up with advances in [illegible] without [illegible] engineering magazines. Yet [illegible] has the time to carefully read all engineering magazines in his line of work and still have enough time left to earn a living. The problem, then, is what attitude to have toward this ever-increasing flood of information.

Engineers have many different attitudes toward this problem. Some engineers do not take engineering magazines, reading one here and there as they find them. Others take several magazines and let them accumulate, often unopened and unused. Others take a few and carefully blue them and put them away. Generally, however, the engineer is interested in his engineering magazine and reads it to save its [illegible] for future use.

[illegible] of the engineering magazine [illegible] articles [illegible] are expensive and take much time, and when they are practical without definite aim they tend to become useless. It would be better to start a note book and refer to it when it appears to be extraordinary.

[illegible] such as the Delaware River bridge, Boulder dam, and enormous power plants. This serves to [illegible] his interest for the time being and that is about all. He finally learns that for him, the main value of the engineering magazine does not lie in its dramatic side but in a fund of small things, which make up routine work of the ordinary everyday job. Every large project represents fundamental principles plus a multitude of details based on experience with similar projects. It is far better to read about things of fundamental value first and then the dramatic articles.

It is probably not wise for the young engineer to go in for card [illegible] or, [illegible] like, for topically arranging his available engineering magazine articles. Few men know very easily in the whole field and interested will need their magazine [illegible] and [illegible] special publishers are expensive and take much time, and when they are practical without definite aim they tend to become useless. It would be better to start a note book and refer to it when it appears to be extraordinary.

It is very doubtful if laborious reading of all kinds of engineering articles is advisable for any engineer, even if he had the time. Such an emphasis on quantity is mentally detrimental. A good plan for the young engineer would be for him to regularly read a few articles bearing on the line of work he is engaged upon at the time, and the optional reading of such other articles as interest him. This would not be much of a task. As his experience broadens, engineering literature will become more and more interesting. Its relation to practical matters will be fully appreciated.

The young engineer is tempted to read much about large projects and that he is just what he is, a walking contradiction of himself."

Contradiction

From an address by Wm. P. E.

[illegible] college [illegible] is a [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] and those who do [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

MEMBERS OF L. K. D. FRATERNITY HEAR GREGORY SALISBURY

"Professional Life-Success or Failure" Topic of Discourse

Gregory Salisbury, M. D., was the guest speaker at the meeting of the Lambda Kappa Delta Fraternity held on Thursday evening, March 2, in the Mendel Hall Amphitheatre.

This was Dr. Salisbury's third visit as a speaker before the Pre-medical group. His discussions were received in past years with great enthusiasm and it was with extreme pleasure that he was again welcomed by John C. Urle, Fraternity president. Dr. Salisbury was introduced to the new members by Martin Kassell, senior pre-medical student.

The title of his speech was "Professional Life—Success or Failure." He emphasized several factors which determine a professional man's success or failure in his chosen work. In the body of his talk he discussed personal cleanliness, ethical practice, and personality, and their effects in connection with the handling of patients. He clearly outlined the fact that a patient must be handled with great diplomacy and tact. To do this the professional man must be the type of man in whom the patient has infinite confidence.

Dr. Salisbury is a graduate of both the Temple University Pre-Dental and Dental Schools. He was the honor man in his graduation class at Temple Dental School and was the recipient of various medals for excellence in scholastic subjects. He has appeared before numerous dental groups at various times and has had several of his articles published in leading dental journals. At the present time he is preparing a paper on a dental subject which will appear in the near future.

Business of the fraternity was discussed and a meeting scheduled for the near future.

SPANISH CONFLICT DISCUSSED BY CLUB

Fr. Lorenzo Leads Discussion of Catholic Situation in New Spain

Last Wednesday night, March 1, Rev. Lorenzo Lozano, O. S. A., spoke on New Spain before the assemblage of the Spanish Club upon special request of its members.

Father Lozano emphatically stated that New Spain will be one free, independent and Catholic country, united by Franco against a common enemy. Many were the converts to the Catholic Faith during the course of the revolution. "The essential conflict in Spain was between Catholicism and Communism and not between Facism and Democracy as the public believes." Father Lozano repeatedly made this statement to impart it clearly to the members of the gathering.

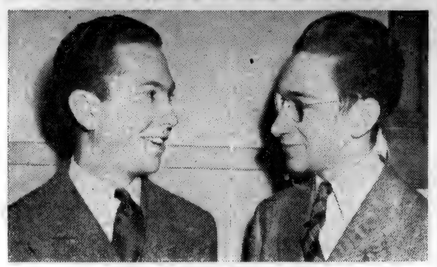
"Now that there is victory, Spain will rise to great heights, and become one of the most important countries of all Europe," the moderator of the club said. There can not be Facism in Spain, because the Spanish character is free, independent and Catholic. For this reason, there will be no toleration of a foreign power—either Germany or Italy—in Spain.

Authoritative government will be a thing of the past, as soon as the reconstruction period is over. Spain will probably be a democracy in practice. Theoretically, it will be a constitutional monarchy, though not like England. The third son of Alfonso will in all probability, be the king of true Spain.

With the end of Father Lozano's lecture on true Spain, the national anthem, La Marcha Real, was sung in the anticipation of victory.

At the end of the meeting, plans were discussed for a joint meeting of the Spanish Club with Rosemont. On the Feast of Cervantes, April 23, a medal and diploma will be given to the two students who have done the best and most active work in Spanish. This presentation will take place at the celebration before a united audience of the Spanish Club and the Rosemont student body.

DAYTON DELEGATES MEETING BETA GAMMA



Representing the University of Dayton on an eastern tour during which they will debate college and university teams in Ohio, New York and Pennsylvania are Clark Kirby and Max Wool, pictured above.

Comedy Depicts Playwright's Trials; Movie Different from Broadway Hit

By THOMAS H. DOYLE

"Room Service," prize-winning comedy to be presented by the Belle Masque players, is unique in that the entire action of the drama takes place in one room.

Scene of the play is a room in a cheap Broadway hotel. In it the trials and tribulations of a producer and his friends are unfolded from inception to solution.

The producer and his colleagues wish to stage a play written by a young man from Oswego, N. Y., but are confronted by a large hotel bill and by an utter lack of funds with which to settle it.

About to be ejected from their place of lodging, the would-be producers find a happy salvation in the person of the penniless playwright who comes down from Oswego to confer with them. They paint spots on the young writer's face and have the room put into quarantine.

Novel Solution

Solution to the problem of staging their play seemingly comes when one of the actresses persuades a man to back the footlight venture. As they wait in their room for him to contact them, the doctor uncovers the ruse of the measles. To prevent being thrown out, the playwright is forced to undergo the indignation of "dying" by poisoning.

Complete success seems assured when the "angel" presents the producers with a check. Scenery is purchased and installed in the theater connected with the hotel. Practice for the footlights begins in the hotel room.

As practice is under way, a messenger enters with the news that the check has been recalled. The manager of the hotel intends to throw them out and to stop the play, but final success arrives; the manager of the chain of hotels of which this hostelry is a part sees the play and declares that it is marked for a "hit." The play ends with everyone happy.

"Room Service," the play, differs entirely from the motion picture of the same name which featured the antics of the Marx Brothers. Though the lines were the same in the picture, the plot and the action was changed to suit the inimitable Marxes. Belle Masque is presenting the comedy just as it was given on Broadway; thus, the fine, the real humor is retained.

"Belle Masque is open to all who want to join," stated Murray Zealor, publicity director of the society. "Anyone may try out for parts in 'Room Service,' for the roles have not yet been definitely filled."

TAYLOR AND THOMAS SPEAK AT SEMINAR

Theories relative to the clotting of mammalian blood, were presented to the Research Seminar, Friday afternoon, by Harry Taylor and Francis Thomas, both of the School of Science.

Taylor and Thomas explained that little factual evidence is available as regards the clotting of mammalian blood. They enumerated the various theories and discussed the validity of each, emphasizing the fact that none were experimentally established. The existence of thrombin, prothrombin, fibrinogen, and fibrin, and their mutual dependence and importance in the clotting of blood have been determined. A particular tissue extract and calcium are also required in mammalian clotting. The presence of heperin in the blood has been established, its importance being in retaining the blood in a fluid condition. Taylor and Thomas concluded with the hope that more factual evidence might be brought to light to displace the superfluous theory.

PRESIDENT ATTENDS REUNIONS

Recent Alumni reunions attended by the Rev. Edward V. Stanford, O. S. A., President of the College, include a reception held by the Villanova Club of Lawrence in the Morin Restaurant, Lawrence, Massachusetts, on Sunday evening, March 5. On the following evening, he was the guest of honor at the meeting of the Villanova Club of Boston in the Hotel Brunswick.

EUTHANASIA CALLED MURDER BY TRACY

Mercy Killing Based on Atheism Science Seminar Members are Told

Dr. Alfred J. M. Tracy presented the Catholic viewpoint on euthanasia in his discourse to the Science Seminar at the meeting, Thursday morning.

Dr. Tracey explained that the origin of euthanasia is essentially communistic and atheistic. He warned that if it ever received favorable attention from the legislature of any one state it would undoubtedly spread "like wildfire" throughout the nation, and would encourage further communistic tendencies. He admitted that the end in view might possibly be considered good, but argued that the means toward its attainment were obviously contrary to moral principles. On the principle that "the end never justifies the means" he concluded that such a measure is wrong.

The doctor warned his listeners against any attractive propaganda in favor of mercy killing and emphasized the importance of carefully scrutinizing any such measure as regards both the attainment of a good end and the employment of satisfactory means. In conclusion he stated that there is no criterion for determining definitely the incurability of specific ailments, so that no doctor would be sufficiently qualified to ascertain in which instances euthanasia should be employed.

Dr. Tracy, a Holy Name officer, was formerly Professor of Pediatrics at Temple University and is now on the staff of the Philadelphia General Hospital.

Calendar

Tuesday, March 7

German Seminar	9:45 A. M.
VILLANOVAN	1:00 P. M.
Philosophy Seminar	1:30 P. M.
Lenten Sermon	6:35 P. M.

Wednesday, March 8

International Relations	1:00 P. M.
Music Seminar	7:30 P. M.
Oratorical Preliminaries	8:00 P. M.

Thursday, March 9

Science Seminar	10:45 A. M.
History Seminar	4:00 P. M.
Glee Club	4:00 P. M.
Band	7:00 P. M.
L. K. D.	7:30 P. M.
Music Seminar	7:30 P. M.

Friday, March 10

German Seminar	9:45 A. M.
Research Seminar	4:00 P. M.

Monday, March 13

Phi Kappa Pi	10:45 A. M.
Mathematics Club	12:30 P. M.
Belle Air (Arts)	1:00 P. M.
Glee Club	4:00 P. M.
Band	7:00 P. M.
Sociology Seminar	7:30 P. M.

SEMINAR CONSIDERS TAX IMMUNITY CASE

Ludlow Referendum to be Discussed in Paper by John Fullam

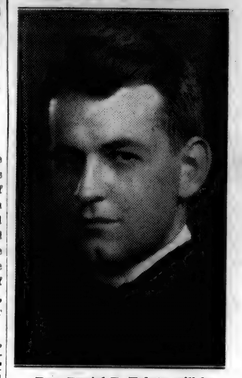
Immunity of Federal and State employes from income taxes was discussed at the last meeting of the history seminar. Dr. Hartman explained the principles involved in the Georgia University Football Case. This, he said, had to be done to help clarify the issues in the case against the Superintendent of the Holland Tunnel and Brush, the chief engineer of the Water Works in New York City.

It was found, by investigation, that the Federal government cannot levy a tax on the incomes of State employes who were involved in ordinary functions of the sovereign government of the State. A decision of the Supreme Court may be referred to substantiate this fact.

However, if the State is engaged in a profit making enterprise which in private business would ordinarily be subject to taxation, this immunity does not apply. For this reason the official of the Holland Tunnel enterprise was subject to taxation whereas Brush was not.

A paper discussing the pro and con of the proposed Ludlow Referendum will be resented in the near future by John Fullam.

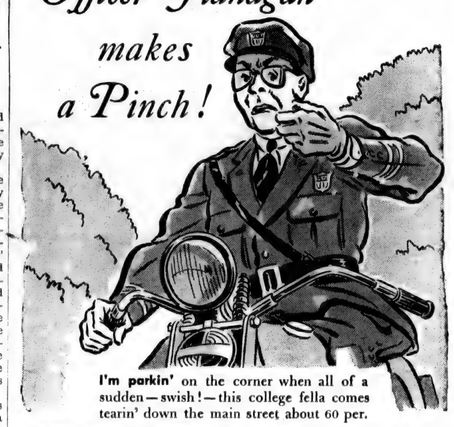
LENTEN SPEAKER



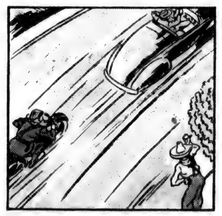
Rev. Daniel P. Falvey will be the third speaker of the current Lenten series when he speaks tonight at the regular chapel services. His topic is "Perseverance."

SHALLOW ADDRESSES CLUB

"Curve Fitting" by the method of least squares was the topic of the talk by Thomas Shallow at the Mathematics Club yesterday afternoon in Simpson Hall. In this he developed the subject introduced by Joseph Tankoos at last week's meeting.



I'm parkin' on the corner when all of a sudden—swish!—this college fella comes tearin' down the main street about 60 per.



So I cranks up my iron horse and goes tearin' after him. "Buddy," says I, nice and quiet like, "that was a town you was goin' through. Or didn't ya notice it?"

So he gives me a song and dance about havin' some motor trouble and bein' an hour late for a big date. But I says to him—

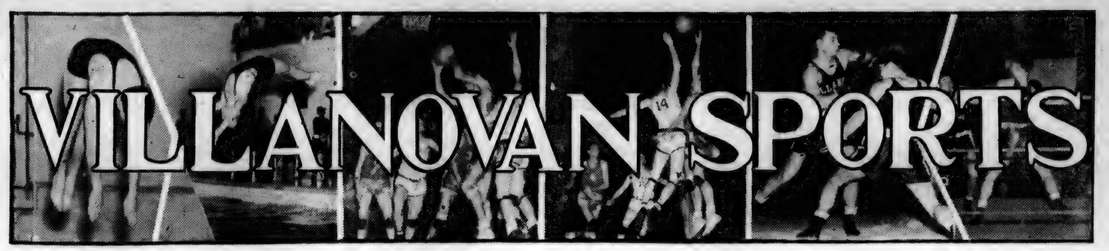
"Listen, Buddy. That ain't no excuse. The telephone company is still in business, so you better step right into the drug store here and call up that girl and tell her your story. And then take it easy. That's all."

So he says, "Thanks, officer. That's good advice, all right. A call would be cheaper than a fine, I guess."

"Sure!" I says, "and a lot cheaper than a bad accident!"

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY OF PENNSYLVANIA

Athletic Board Releases 1939 Grid Card



CATS TO ENTER NATIONAL TOURNEY

NEW YORK VICTORY GAINS BLUE BID TO COURT TOURNAMENT

N. C. A. A. Offer Follows 37-30 Win Over Vaunted City College Team

SEASON'S RECORD: 19 - 4

To the victor belongs the spoils—to Villanova it means an invitation to take a crack at the national basketball title via the N. C. 2-A tournament which will hold the Eastern play-offs on the Palestra floor on March 17 and 18.

Formal acceptance of the bid was made by Rev. B. M. Albers, O. S. A., moderator of athletics at Villanova, in a letter to Wm. McK. Barbour, chairman of the selection committee of the NCAA.

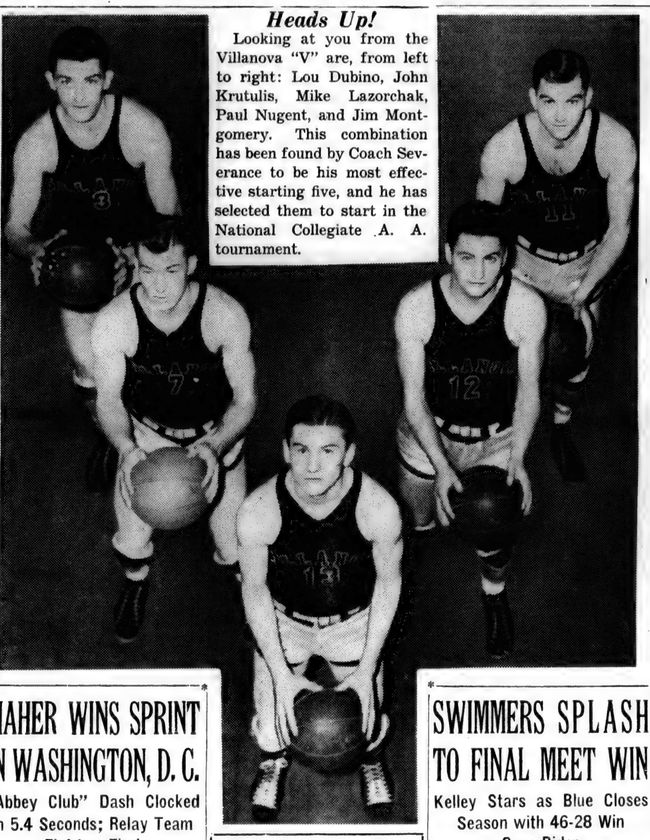
"Our athletic board wishes me to etate," Father Albers wrote, "that Villanova appreciates the honor of being chosen to represent the Second District in the NCAA Championship Basketball Tournament. We are pleased to accept the invitation. We hope that, in the competition, our team will reflect credit upon itself and our district."

It all began on December 3, when Villanova shellacked Roanoke College in the season's opener and continued to "mow 'em" down, with four exceptions until the record read 19 wins and four defeats at the conclusion of Wednesday night's tilt with C. C. N. Y. at Madison Square Garden. The locals won by a 37-30 count.

Come from Behind

Trailing at the intermission and through three-fourths of the second half, the Wildcats started to move the ball with Krutulis, Lazorchak and Nugent doing the advancing. With eight minutes left the trio sank twin pointers with machine-like rapidity until they were within two points of C. C. N. Y. Then Jim

NEW YORK Continued on Page Six



Heads Up!

Looking at you from the Villanova "V" are, from left to right: Lou Dubino, John Krutulis, Mike Lazorchak, Paul Nugent, and Jim Montgomery. This combination has been found by Coach Severance to be his most effective starting five, and he has selected them to start in the National Collegiate A. A. tournament.

ARKANSAS INCLUDED IN EIGHT GAME BILL ARRANGED FOR CATS

Texas A. & M. Also Added to Schedule; Auburn, Detroit, South Carolina to be Met

TEAM TAKES THREE TRIPS

By JOE BARNES

Villanova's 1939 football schedule of eight major contests was released yesterday by Maurice "Clipper" Smith, director of Villanova athletics. A ninth game may be arranged as authorities are dickering for a meeting with another top-notch foe.

Arkansas University's wild and woolly Razorbacks, and the Texas Aggies are the newcomes to the 'Cat card. Neither has ever been met by Villanova in any form of athletics.

Open With Mules

Muhlenberg College will furnish the party of the second part in the opening festivities at Goodreau Stadium on September 30th. This is the only game at Villanova's home terrain.

South Carolina University, the most-promising team in the southeast, comes to Shibe Park in Philadelphia to meet "Clipper" Smith's '39 aggregation on October 7th. This get-together furnishes the Wildcats an opportunity for revenge on the only club to tie Villanova last season when the two schools met in South Carolina.

Tyler, Texas, is the first trip for the Wildcats. Texas A. & M., high-ranking exponents of wide open football, will be the hosts in Villanova's first appearance in the southwest. It will be the "sweet swing" of the Wildcats rippling rhythm against the "hep-cat" style of the Texan's terrific attack on October 14th.

Open Date

The following Saturday is an open date for Villanova, but "Clipper" Smith is attempting to fill the date with a game against

ARKANSAS Continued on Page Seven

MAHER WINS SPRINT IN WASHINGTON, D. C.

"Abbey Club" Dash Clocked in 5.4 Seconds; Relay Team Finishes First

Johnny Maher had it all his own way in the Catholic U. meet in Washington on Saturday and walked away with the "Abbey Club" 50-yard invitation dash. Maher won each of his heats easily and tied the track record of 5.4 seconds. This time is .3 of a second slower than his fastest time, but it was exceptional when the poor condition of the track is taken into consideration. The record has stood at :05.4 for ten years.

The Blue relay team composed of Barney Bielew, Pete Yankauskas, Bill Dobbins, and Bill Guiteras won their division of the race by 40 yards. Maryland, in another section, was pressed all the way and won in a faster time than did Villanova. Because of the faster time of the Maryland runners, they were awarded the victory, M. U. was timed in 3:36.2 as opposed to Villanova's 3:38.

Each member of the relay team gained some ground over his opponents from Washington and Lee and Virginia, and for this reason no single star could be singled out of the group. Each man received a gold medal.

In the Rector's 1000-yard run Tom McCabe, Blue miler, set the

MAHER Continued on Page Seven

BOXERS PREPARE FOR WISCONSIN U.

Wildcats Out For Decisive Victory on March 17th at Madson

Revenge is sweet and Villanova's boxing squad will attempt to bite off a chunk of it when they journey to Madison to tangle with the mittmen of Wisconsin University on Friday, March 17.

In 1937, when the majority of the present Villanova team were freshmen, they journeyed to the Badger State fully confident of victory, but lacking in collegiate boxing experience. The Mid-Westerners were just a bit too smoth for the 'Cats and crept away with the decision. This year's edition of Villanova boxing intends to reverse the proceedings on the Badgers and put a new chapter in the V. C. boxing record.

Want Knockouts

The present Villanova team realizes that knockouts, not close decisions are the deciding factors in a boxing meet, so that is just what they will be after when they journey to the Wisconsin wilderness.

College boxing has its capitol in Wisconsin and the Badgers always give a fine exhibition in the sport.

Sportorial

By Phil Dunn

Sports Editor

AMONG the famous quotes to go down in Villanova boxing history, we would like to nominate the following:

"You won all right, Ed, but you had too much weight for' him." These memorable words fell from the lips of one Thomas Loughran after he had awarded Dave Kutlinoff an unpopular decision over Ed Killian, Blue fighter, in the Villanova - Rutgers boxing meet.

PHIL DUNN

What makes the comment memorable—aside from the fact that Killian had very decisively won—is the additional fact that the bout took place in the unlimited weight division. Killian did outweigh his opponent, and by 20 pounds, but this factor should not be even considered when

Continued on Page Six

SWIMMERS SPLASH TO FINAL MEET WIN

Kelley Stars as Blue Closes Season with 46-28 Win Over Rider

Capturing six out of the nine events, the Villanova tankmen closed the curtains on the swimming season Friday night when they splashed out a 46-28 victory over Rider College of Trenton.

Walt Kelley, sophomore ace, again led the Wildcats' winning ways by garnering a dual victory in the 50-yard and 100-yard free style events. Kelley pitted against Cliff Tomilson in both events, came through with a strong finish to wipe out the undefeated record hung up by the Rider dashman. Tomilson has previously beaten Miller, Franklin and Marshall's merman, who defeated Kelley earlier in the season.

Villanova's 300-yard medley relay team came through with the first win of the night, with Leahy, Fitzmaurice and Barrett combining to capture the event. In the 220-yard freestyle, Goodman of Rider eked out a win over Bill Bailey, captain of the Villanova natators.

Charlie Timmins displayed his graceful form on the low diving board and totaled 76.3 points to take first position and to hand Sheridan of Rider a close defeat. Sheridan had 73.4 points while Moore of Villanova finished third.

The next two events, the 50- and

SWIMMERS Continued on Page Six

GRIDDERS START SPRING PRACTICE

Six Week Drill Session Opens For Undefeated Villanova Team

With the advent of spring all varsity football members answered Clipper Smith's call and reported for practice yesterday. Anxious to find replacements for the left side of the line Clipper plans a rigid and extensive spring session.

Freshmen have been working out daily for the past two weeks. All their time has been spent in learning a few plays and the mechanics of the Notre Dame shift.

Many Scrimmages

Coach Smith is anxious for the team to round into shape for he plans a great deal of scrimmage this spring. In this way he will be able to determine how the yearlings will stand up against top flight calibre and at the same time test the capabilities of a few varsity men of whom he is a little uncertain.

He plans few changes outside of shifting Kolenda back to his original position at left end and taking Pete Naimo from his quarterback position and using him as a running guard.

Fediganites Defeat Businessmen

Bochetto Paces Gigolos To Initial Play-off Win

McGurk Held to One Point After Breaking Scoring Record With 34 Markers Against Mendel; Austin Finishes Second

SECOND CHAMPIONSHIP GAME TONIGHT

Champions for the second half of the intramural season, the C&F Day-hops dropped a 29-21 decision to the Fedigan Gigolos, first half leaders, in the first play-offs game. Other games the past week saw the same Businessmen beat the Mendel Residents, and Austin Hall clinch second place honors by defeating the Mendel Day-hops.

In the first game of the week, in which the Day-hops beat the Mendel Residents, 58-53, McGurk set a new scoring record for the league sinking 17 field goals for 34 points, thus breaking the record formerly held by "Hulk" Burlington of 29 points. McGurk in this game had a helper in Coupe who set up many scoring plays. For the losers Crumb set the pace making 18 points. As the score indicates the game, though a high scoring one, was close all the way.

Burlington Leads Blue

In a fight for second place, Austin's Blues came through to beat the Mendel Day-hops 49-42 after a hard fight. Striving to break McGurk's record which had been set in the afternoon, Burlington fell short with only 27 points, being high scorer for the Blues. Trailing by 15 points the Commuters put on a spirited last-minute rally which failed by only seven points.

The first game of the play-offs was a defensive contest with the Gigolos coming out on top. Inasmuch as both teams have most of the league's high scorers, this was rather unusual. The Maroons by closely guarding their men kept the Whites in mid court most of the game.

McGurk Held

Playing fine ball for the Maroons were Sandor, La Baibo, Connors and Bochetto. Bochetto was his team's high man with eight points. McGurk who holds the league record for scoring and is also high scorer for the league was held by Fedigan's marvelous guarding to one charity toss for the evening. In the second half he was ejected from the game via the foul route.

Striving to overcome Fedigan's lead, the Day-hops fought valiantly to the end. High scorer for the losers, and incidentally the game, was Sweeney who had collected four field goals and a foul for a total of nine points when the final whistle sounded.

Fedigan needs but one more victory to clinch the play-off championship. The next game will be played tonight in the Alumni Hall gymnasium.

'CATS UNSUNG HERO UNEARTHED IN GYM

"NEWS BUREAU — KERBY CUSHING, DIRECTOR." This was the sign that confronted us last Saturday when we ambled down to the Field House to get the story on the Villanova football schedule.

A knock on the door was answered by "Come in" and we opened the door to see the man "who put Villanova on the map' seated behind a three foot pile of papers, pictures, pencils, etc., on a battered desk. The football schedule was not yet ready so we waited while Kerby Cushing worked.

In those few minutes we thought of Villanova College and Kerby Cushing. We saw before us the most dynamic man that ever set foot on Villanova terrain, a veritable bundle of nerves wrapped up in a heavy dose of journalistic genius.

Kerby took charge of Villanova publicity a year ago and immediately set out to put news of the college in the eyes of every newspaper reader. More news of Villanova sports has appeared in Philadelphia papers in the last twelve months than in any period of Villanova history. Kerby has done the trick. We salute the "VOICE OF VILLANOVA — KERBY CUSHING."

SEVEN YEARS

One-half of Villanova's mile relay team has been a unit since 1932. Barney Bellew and Bill Guiteras, the Damon and Phytias of "Jumbo" Elliot's trackmen, have run side by side for seven years. Both ran for North Catholic High the men are put in the unlimited class. Both were over 200.

Sportorial

Continued From Page Five

—V—

Members of the relay team claim that if they had been participating against Maryland in the Catholic U. meet they would have won the championship. Maryland was pressed to win while the men on our relay squad won easily. Had the pressure been "on" the fellows claim they would have made much better time.

—V—

As you undoubtedly know by now there is an open date on our 1939 football schedule. Speculation as to whom will be met on that date runs high. Some claim that the date will remain open. Just as a stab in the dark this column would like to predict that Oklahoma will be the opponent on October 21 and that the game will be played away.

Swimmers

Continued From Page Five

100-yard freestyle with Kelley victorious over Tomlison proved to be the turning point in the meet. Kelley equaled the pool and college record in the 50-yard freestyle event by turning in a fast 24 seconds.

Goodman Good Man

Ed Leahy, after participating in the opening event, came back later to take first place in the 150-yard backstroke by downing Goodman of Rider. Goodman who finished first in the 220 repeated by triumphing over Bailey in the 440-yard freestyle.

Rider's swimmers won their third first-place of the night when Si Kriegel defeated Moore of Villanova in the 200-yard breaststroke. A fast Villanova quartet, consisting of Pholeric, Stelert, Barrett and Kelley set a new college record in the 400-yard freestyle relay. The time was 3.53.4 for the event.

INTRAMURAL SCHEDULE
Tuesday, March 7

Alumni vs. Mendel—7:30 P. M. (To decide freshman championship.)

C&F vs. Fedigan—8:30 P. M.

Thursday, March 9

C&F vs. Fedigan—7:30 P. M. (If necessary.)

New York

Continued From Page Five

Montgomery split the scores to deadlock the issue at 28-all.

Lazorchak put the Wildcats in front with a bucket from the side court, but Manny Jarmon retaliated with a similar shot to tie it up again at 30-30.

From then on it was all Villanova as Krutulis and Nugent scored three field goals between them and Lou Dubino added a foul toss to give the Wildcats a glorious victory.

Lost Only Four Games

Reviewing the regular season, it was a most successful Villanova venture on the basketball front. Playing twenty-three games on a schedule dotted with the country's leading basketball powers, the locals lost but four—all to outstanding clubs. Only one eastern team, St. John's of Brooklyn, could take the measure of Montgomery, Krutulis, Lazorchak, Nugent, Dubino, and Company. The Redmen are rated number two on the Atlantic seaboard.

Three western clubs, all from Illinois, managed to skin the Wildcats. DePaul, strictly a one-man ball club in Bob Neu, nosed out the 'Cats by three points. Loyola, played in Chicago, handed the locals the one bad pasting sustained by a Villanova club. Against Illinois, Villanova could not get over the idea of playing without Duzminski and consequently lost by six points.

The crowning point of the season came on January 28 when Temple University with three members of her National Championship quintet on the starting five was trounced by a Villanova club desperately in earnest to prove that the 1938 win was no fluke. The score was 44-31. St. Joseph's failed to impress the Wildcats by their previous record and were clawed to the tune of 36-18 in a revival of an old feud in another big game.

Beat New Yorkers

New Yorw clubs, with the exception of St. John's, did very little in adding to the prestige of the Metropolitan district in their annual battles with Philadelphia to prove who produces the better ball teams. Three of the outstanding college combinations in that district have nothing to show for their jousts with the Severance clan. St. Francis College, N. Y. U., and C. C. N. Y. were thoroughly outclassed.

Bowing to the locals in other tests were Dickinson, who was forced to taste defeat twice, Rider, Moravian, Geneva, Lehigh, Catholic University, Western Maryland, P.

NEW YORK Continued on Page Seven

Men's Clothes
Made-to-Measure
COLEBY
Tailoring Inc.
57th & Market Sts.
Suits & Topcoats
$24.75
See
Campus Representative
TIM WAAD
210 Fedigan

PACING THE DANCE PARADE!
SWING AND SWAY WITH SAMMY KAYE
AND HIS ORCHESTRA in the
COMMODORE
PALM ROOM
Dinner from $2. No cover charge at Dinner. Cover charge after 10 P. M., 75c weekdays; $1.50 Saturdays.
NEW YORK'S BEST LOCATED HOTEL
Frank J. Graham, Pres.
RIGHT AT GRAND CENTRAL TERMINAL
SPECIAL TEA DANCE Every Saturday 5 to 6 P. M. No cover charge
"New York's Best Located Hotel"

In the Sportlight

By FRANK J. CALLAHAN

Time: Wednesday, 10 P. M.
Place: A. B. C. Studios, N. Y. C.
Event: Ky Kayser's Program.

"Hi-ya all, students! ! !"—This here is your ole Ky Kayser holdin' his weekly question box review. A regular 'ole jam session of wit'—yes indeedee! ! ! Well, well, well—here's our first contestant.

"A college boy! Yes indeedee, a representative of my deah old 'rah-rah' days down in Virginny. —I have a suitable question for this lad as it concerns a college sport—swimming. So here you are my campus cut-up, exercise your skull muscles with this lengthy conundrum. Tell me the name of the swimmer, which I am about to describe!

Born in 1917

"As the doughboys were tramping off to war on Jan. 19, 1917, a few home loving gun bearers stopped at a home in West Philadelphia to get a glimpse of a new born babe. (In case you were wondering, students, this is your old 'professor's way of saying that our subject was born in 1917.)

"But now, suh, let us profit by that old, old, saying 'time flies' and skip from his birthday to his final years of High School at West Catholic.—Here, muh lad, our 'mystery man' partook in only one sport—rowing!—For this he received two varsity letters before graduation.—

"Then in 1935 he entered Villanova and began a business course in the Commerce and Finance department of the institution. — He chose Villanova because of its high scholastic standing — (Bear this in mind, students, when my 'musical home work' gets a little difficult.) — At V. C., students, he made the varsity swimming team and won his varsity letter while still in his 'regs.'—Needless to say he repeated his feat for the following three terms and was voted captain in his final year.

Jitterbug

"Now, students, and my wondering contestant — I will give you some hints on this Mr. X, to see if you can detect his identity without my aid.—He's a jitterbug, has been for his four years at school. He's 22 years old, blue eyes, 5 foot 10 inches tall—wears a size nine and one-half shoe—and is topped off with a shock of brown hair.

"Nowsuh, do you have any idea who our mysterious hero might be? ? ? ?"

Intellectual Frosh: "Uh-uh — I can't figure it out!"

Ky: "Well, suh, don't give up the ship. Your ole professor will give you a few more hints—listen carefully!"

Inhabits "Pike"

"His pet peeve is 'Knockers' — you know those fellows who always complain that some one is doing 'better than' — or claim that others 'shouldn't have' — He was quite a figure at the 'Pike,' with his flashy socks and ties lighting up the shadowed corners. And, of yes, mark this down students — he was seen in the constant company of a certain miss at all campus functions. (I can't tell you this dainty bit of feminine pulchritude goes under the non-de-plume of Ronnie Camfield, nor can I tell you that she lives in Penfield.)

Mr. C.: "I dunno I wasn't listening! ! !"

Ky: "I'm ashamed of you my lad, depart from this stage of knowledge with eyes lowered and head bowed! ! ! ! Indeed! Indeed! I'll bet my loving pupils have the answer on the tip of their tongues —Stuuuudents? ? ? ?"

Chorus: "Barnacle Bill Bailey!"

Ky: "Kee-rect, students, ah-so-lu-tely-kee-rect! ! !"

Prescriptions
Drugs & Toilet Articles
LA DOW'S PHARMACY
LANCASTER PIKE and SPRING MILL ROAD
VILLANOVA, PA.

Ardmore Theatre
Notice to Students
Did you know that your matriculation card will get you a reduced rate at the Ardmore Theatre at any time.
Tues. & Wed., March 7-8
BING CROSBY
in
"PARIS HONEYMOON"
Thurs., Fri. & Sat., Mar. 9-10-11
CONSTANCE BENNETT
ROLAND YOUNG
"TOPPER TAKES A TRIP"
Sun. & Mon., March 12-13
"SON OF FRANKENSTEIN"
BORIS KARLOFF
BELA LUGOSI

— RIDE FREE ON P. & W. RAILWAY MOVIE TICKET —

NORRIS Theatre
NORRISTOWN
Tues., Wed., Thurs., Mar. 7, 8, 9
John Garfield and the "Dead End Kids" in
"THEY MADE ME A CRIMINAL"
Fri., Sat., Mon., Mar. 10, 11, 13
Constance Bennett - Roland Young in the Riotous
"TOPPER TAKES A TRIP"

GRAND Theatre
NORRISTOWN
Tuesday, Mar. 7
JACK OAKIE
"ANNABELLE TAKES A TOUR"
Wed., Thurs., Mar. 8, 9
1938 Prizewinner Photoplay
"GRAND ILLUSION"
Fri., Sat., Mar. 10, 11
Victor McLaglen - Chester Morris
"PACIFIC LINER"

GARRICK Theatre
Fri. Nite on Stage - Vaudeville
Musical Comedy Unit
Fri., Sat., Mar. 10, 11
BORIS KARLOFF in DEVIL'S ISLAND"

Burke Dairies
Milk & Cream
NORRISTOWN, PA.
Phone 2736-W

SEVILLE THEATRE
Tuesday, March 7
TYRONE POWER
ALICE FAYE
DON AMECHE
"IN OLD CHICAGO"
Wednesday, March 8
JOEL McCREA
BARBARA STANWYCK
"BANJO ON MY KNEE"
Thurs., Fri. & Sat., Mar. 9-10-11
NELSON EDDY
JEANNETTE MACDONALD
"SWEETHEARTS"
Sun. & Mon., March 12-13
DICK POWELL
ANITA LOUISE
"GOING PLACES"

Direction Warner Bros.
Tower Theatre
69th & Market Sts.
Motion Pictures Are Your Best Entertainment
Tues., Wed. & Thurs., Mar. 7-8-9
The Amazing Drama of the Early West's Most Colorful Outlaw . . .
"JESSIE JAMES"
In Technicolor
TYRONE POWER
RANDOLPH SCOTT
HENRY FONDA
NANCY KELLY
Fri., Sat., Sun. & Mon. March 10, 11, 12, 13
CHARLES LAUGHTON
in
"THE BEACHCOMBER"
A Tropical Hurricane of Laughter, A Typhoon of Romance... with Elsa Lanchester

HERE and THERE

By HARRY MAZZEI

Mainly through the aid of Kerby Cushing, Villanova's dynamic tub-thumper (publicity man to you), the following interesting facts about Villanova baseball have been unearthed. To gain this information Cushing has had to spend no little time in chats with "Doc" Jacobs, present diamond mentor, and in extensive research in Villanova sport periodicals. What follows is the fruit of his labors coupled with the observations of your commentator.

When President Roosevelt tosses out the first ball at Washington next month, it will mark baseball's centennial in these United States; this Spring Villanova will have fielded a team in 70 of these 100 years. That this is a worthy accomplishment and one which involves mountains of tradition and baseball background can be denied by no one and should be heartily appreciated by all who are even only remotely connected with the Main Line institution.

Harry Mazzei

Same Quality

Although the baseball team in these past 70 years has always been changing what with new faces, new fields, and new coaches, one fact has been firmly established —the quality of the teams seldom changes. From 1869, when the first nine represented the Blue, until today when "Doc" Jacobs' nines are renowned throughout the country, the Wildcat diamond aggregations have been consistently brilliant. Of course, there were lapses here and there—they have to arise in every sport—but for consistent topnotch performances Villanova's tossers lead all other sports.

Not much is known about the personnel of the early teams, but quite a few years ago, Dr. Bernard Daly '79 sent in a line-up of the team of his days. Of the eight members of the starting team that he could recall, only five were living at the time of the letter. Today we do not know how many of them are still with us, but we trust that all are still able to appreciate the horschide game as it is played today.

Played Manhattan

Back in 1895 Villanova crashed the "big time" of the day when Manhattan was placed on the schedule. In those days Manhattan used to open the New York Giants' home season every year, and to be able to gain a place on their schedule was quite an achievement. Aside from the competition they faced, add that the Gothamites had never been beaten on their home field and you have some idea of the problem before the Blue. Villanova became the first nine to accomplish this when they outscored the New Yorkers 8-2 in a sensational upset.

One strange feature which caught the writer's attention was the terrific amount of runs scored by both teams in the early days of baseball. From 1869 to 1872 Villanova ran up scores like 57-0 against National of Philadelphia, 33-15 against La Salle Academy (now La Salle College), and 66-21 against Haverford College. These scores remind one of cricket more than modern baseball.

In 1903 the feature of the season was the opening games with the pennant winning Philadelphia Athletics. The 'Cats went down to a 7-1 defeat, but to this day those who participated in the game boast of their ability to score a run off the great Chief Bender, who twirled for the A's that day and who is recognized as one of the greatest pitchers in baseball's Hall of Fame.

Annual Trip to South

Another interesting note was the first Villanova southern trip. It was held in 1904 and was an annual affair until 1910 when it was discontinued for some unknown reason. The ball team usually opened its season around Virginia or North Carolina and worked north.

Making a long step from 1910 teams to those of today we find that the modern teams are easily the equal, if not the superiors, of the nines of yesteryear. Under the guidance of "Doc" Jacobs, Villanova ball teams have surpassed even the notable achievements of their worthy predecessors.

With a hasty glance at the list of performers the well-tailored "Doc" has sent to the "Big Show," we can easily see why Villanova possesses her top-flight diamond ranking.

Many Make Grade

Emil "Lefty" Rietz was the first of a line of Jacobs-coached ball players who went to the majors. Reitz performed at first base for the Washington Senators and is now coaching basketball and baseball at Loyola University in Baltimore.

Frankie Skaff, who is now in the Sally League, went from his Villanova hot corner to Ebbets Field, Brooklyn where he became one of the "Daffy Dodgers" for a while.

Ben Geraghty was another Wildcat who went with the "Daffiness Boys." Benny performed at the short field for almost an entire season. Today he is south with the Washington Senators.

Also with Senators and doing very well according to the latest reports is James "Mickey" Vernon. Vernon was a first sacker for "Doc's" Kittens in 1937, but left school for professional baseball.

Lincoln "Linc" Lenzi was another of "Doc's" products to go to Brooklyn. Lenzi remained with the McPhailmen for a short time as a catcher.

Recent Stars

The most recent crop of big leaguers came out of last year's fine outfit. Ray Sloviak spent the entire season with the Philadelphia Phillies as an outer gardener. This year Ray has been declared a free agent and at present is dickering for an offer. Meanwhile Mike Garbark, under contract to the marauding New York Yankees, caught for Akron last Summer.

Just about a week ago, Lenny Merullo becames the most recent of the Jacobsmen to hit the "big tent" when he left for Catalina Island where he will stack up against Dick Bartell, among others, in a battle for the Chicago Cubs shortstop berth.

Of course, this list could be greatly lengthened by the mere mention of Villanova men who continued in baseball, but space would not permit us to do this. We hope you have received at least an inkling of the scope and power of baseball of the Villanova variety. It is strictly "the tops."

Maher

Continued From Page Five

pace for most of the race. In the backstretch of the last lap he was overtaken by the three men who finished ahead of him—Kehoe, the winner who hails from Md., Oldfield, Navy captain, and Corbett of Catholic U. Kehoe's time for the event, 2:21, missed tying the record set last year by .1 of a second.

Coach "Jumbo" Elliot expressed pleasure at the fine showing made by the team in this meet and expects them to show up well in the K. of C. games to be held in Madison Square Garden on Saturday.

HOW THEY STAND

Total points scored to date in the Villanova Intramural race show Austin Hall far out in front. The "Firemen" have garnered 44 points. Fedigan Hall follows with 32 counters and Alumni stands in fourth place with 27½ points, tied by Mendel Residents with the same number. C&F has notched 18½ tallies while the Mendel Day-hops occupy the cellar position with 15½ points.

Basketball Sidelights

By AL SKAF
(Pinch Hitting for Lou Dubino)

There is an old story that revenge is sweet and Villanova has been telling it the past few days. On Wednesday night in huge Madison Square Garden, the Wildcats toppled C. C. N. Y., a team which had decisively defeated 'em last year. The final score was 37-30, with Jim Montgomery, Lou Dubino, John Krutulis, and Art Vigilante winding up their collegiate careers in a blaze of glory. It was Johnny "Split-Vision" Krutulis who was the main cog, sparking the 'Cat attack with a spiurge of 12 points. Moving about in his catlike way, fetting up innumerable plays, he was easily the outstanding courtman of the evening. John graduates this year and it will certainly be great to remember him by his greatest game —his last one. "Handy" Lou Dubino was right in there stopping the highly rated Al Soupious with a row of goose eggs. You know it has always been Lou's ambition to play in the Garden and we are sure it has always been his dream to play the great game that he did. Nice going Lou. Big Jim Montgomery contributed his usual fine floor game grabbing the ball off the "glass" time and time again.

* * *

Incidentally, that victory over Moravian the other night marked the first time in Villanova history that the basketball team has gone through the season undefeated at home. It is a good mark for future teams to shoot at and a good thought for the graduates to carry along with their sheepskins.

Speaking of undefeated seasons, we must not forget the Kittens who closed a very successful season at home by "outfagging" the Intramural All-Stars. Here is some good material for Coach Severance to build his club with next year.

* * *

I see where the Fedigan Roomers tripped the Business Boys in the first game of the annual playoff series for the intramural championship. I also see where Phil Dunn (a Fediganite) predicted a commuter's victory. The series is the best out of three with Fedigan holding a one game advantage. It looks as though P. Dunn will be a Fugitive from Fedigan if his roommates play the way they did the other night. Are you holding your breath, Phil?

New York

Continued From Page Six

M. C. St. John's of Maryland, and Albright.

Rice Comes Through

The season's best game was supplied by the plucky Engineers from Lehigh University on the Main Line floor. Lehigh held the lead until the final 20 seconds of play when Lloyd Rice tied the issue on a lay-up basket. Jim Montgomery sewed up the ball game with a long beauty just before the gun.

Geneva College, in another home game, almost upset the apple cart, but Rice again stepped up and bucketed a side shot to save the game with less than thirty seconds of actual play remaining. The score was 40-38.

In the tournament the 'Cats will face opponents yet to be chosen from New England, the South and the Middle West. Leading prospective rivals at the moment would appear to be Dartmouth, Brown and Rhode Island State in New England; Clemson, champions of the Southern Conference, and Alabama among others in the South; and Ohio State, which won the Big Ten championship Saturday (March 4) by defeating Purdue as Indiana lost to Michigan.

It Pays to Advertise In The VILLANOVAN
Tel. BRYN MAWR 1880 Ex. 37

The Wayne Hotel
LANCASTER AVENUE
WAYNE, PA.
Telephone 380
Headquarters For Visitors to Villanova
Excellent Dinners at $1
SPECIAL STUDENT RATES
J. T. McFATE, Mgr.

Compliments of
BRYN MAWR TRUST CO.

FROSH BASKETEERS COMPLETE SEASON PACED BY GERLAND

Kittens Lose Three of 14 Games; Worthington's Average-Per-Game Best

Although defeated in the last game of the season by the crack Temple outfit, the Villanova Frosh have finished a very successful year on the pine floor with a record of eleven wins out of 14 contests.

After winning the opening game of the season against a strong Athletic Club from Roebling, N. J., the Frosh were defeated by Conshohocken A. C. But they soon got back on the right track by soundly trouncing the Naval Base team from Philly, and rode on a seven-game winning streak which included victories over Philadelphia Business School, Germantown, Wayne, Brown Prep, in which game they made 49 points their season's high mark, West Philly, and the Temple Owlets. In meeting and defeating both Brown Prep and the Temple freshmen the Blue quintet proved they had a fine ball club when the pressure was on, for both these games were the highlights of a successful home season.

Return to Form

This winning streak was brought to an end by Brown Prep as the Kittens were defeated on the Brown court by the narrow margin of 48-45. Still undaunted the Frosh set to work and defeated a fast Lincoln Prep team, and then went on to romp over two Athletic clubs from Woodbridge, N. J. and the Main Line.

In the closing game of the year the Frosh played against the Temple Frosh at Mitten Hall before a crowd of over 3000 and went down fighting in hard-fought ball game.

Temple

The big one comes on November 18th this year, when Temple University's renovated Owls will be hot on the tail of the Wildcat club, which has administered them so many terrific lacings in the past few years. Fred Swan, new Temple mentor, is putting one great objective in front of his club, "BEAT VILLANOVA." Whether they can or not, time will tell!

Barring the elusive big Bowl games the 'Cats will close down their curtain on November 25th in New York City. Gotham is fast becoming a "Villanova town," due to the wonderful exhibitions the 'Cats have put on there in the past few seasons. Manhattan College, will be the opposition as usual. The site of the battle will probably be the Polo Grounds.

Arkansas

Continued From Page Five

a major opponent. In all probability the game will be away from home, if one is arranged. If negogiations for the game fall through Smith plans to ease the long trip to Texas by coming back on a leisurely trip through New Orleans and other southern cities. However, another game would be preferable to all concerned.

In return for Villanova's exhibition in the southwest that district will send one of its outstanding teams to Philadelphia on October 28th, when Arkansas will meet the Cats at Shibe Park. Arkansas, with a majority of sophomores in their line-up, did plenty of damage in the Southwest Conference last Fall. The Razorbacks' meeting with Texas Christian was one of the most thrilling games of 1938, Texas Christian, after many uncomfortable moments, managed to pull through with a 20-14 victory. This year with Texas Christian losing O'Brien and Aldrich, Arkansas is favored to nab the conference crown.

Play Detroit Away

Detroit, the home of automobiles and Detroit University's famed football forces, will play host to Villanova on November 4th. The Titans are one of Villanova's oldest rivals. Wildcat and Titan have come together eight times, with Villanova winning four, losing two, and tieing two. Last year it took a half-dozen determined last-ditch stands for Villanova to hold off a fine Detroit team. The Motor-Citylads will be practically unaffected by graduation next June and they have a swell freshman team coming up.

Auburn University, first met in Cuba's short lived Bacardi Bowl, provides the opposition on November 11th, when the Blue will travel to Birmingham, Alabama. Always tough, Auburn provides a serious threat to Villanova's security.

Temple

The big one comes on November 18th this year, when Temple University's renovated Owls will be hot on the tail of the Wildcat club, which has administered them so many terrific lacings in the past few years. Fred Swan, new Temple mentor, is putting one great objective in front of his club, "BEAT VILLANOVA." Whether they can or not, time will tell!

Barring the elusive big Bowl games the 'Cats will close down their curtain on November 25th in New York City. Gotham is fast becoming a "Villanova town," due to the wonderful exhibitions the 'Cats have put on there in the past few seasons. Manhattan College, will be the opposition as usual. The site of the battle will probably be the Polo Grounds.

C. W. Cadwallader
Paints, Glass and Painters' Supplies
BUILDERS' SPECIALTIES
6101 MARKET ST.
Philadelphia
Phone SHErwood 1423

JEANNETT'S
BRYN MAWR FLOWER SHOP
Floral Ideas For All Occasions
Specializing in Corsages
Member Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association
823 Lancaster Ave.
Bryn Mawr 570

COLADONATO
B. M. 1266
College Tailor Since 1925
Junior Blazers Made to Measure
CLEANING PRESSING
"THE CLOTHES WE SELL FIT WELL"
Cassocks and Capes at Reasonable Prices
See Campus Representative
ED DIMON
235 Austin

World's No. 1 Trumpeter
HARRY JAMES
AND HIS ORCHESTRA
Nightly...and Saturday at luncheon in the new
GARDEN TERRACE
Philadelphia's Smartest Atmosphere
Dinner $1.50. No cover charge. Finest food and beverages at honest prices.
The BENJAMIN FRANKLIN

CATHOLIC STUDENT CONGRESS SELECTS DATES, PROCEDURE

Initial American Pax Romana Conclave to Open in Washington Aug. 28

The international Catholic student organization of Pax Romana, which will hold its 18th annual congress in America, has announced the dates of the congress.

The first Pax Romana congress to be held in America will open on August 28 with a High Mass in the Crypt of the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception in Washington, D. C. The European delegates will arrive in New York the preceding day and will be welcomed to America at a luncheon given for them by the president and Faculty of Manhattanville College. The study sessions which will precede the congress proper will be held at the Catholic University of America in Washington.

Visit Philadelphia

On September 2 the delegates will leave Washington in a special train bound for New York. They will stop enroute at Philadelphia where they will be luncheon guests of Theta Kappa Phi fraternity, the Catholic fraternity in non-Catholic colleges. The Congress proper which will convene at Fordham University in New York will open on September 3 and close on September 8 or 9. Prominent Catholic laymen and clergymen will address the congressionists on topics related to the general theme of the congress, "The Role of the University in National Catholic Action."

It is expected that 150 congressionists will come from European countries to attend the first American congress, which is being sponsored by the five American Catholic federations which are affiliated to Pax Romana, namely, the National Catholic Alumni Federation, the National Federation of Catholic College Students, the Catholic Student Peace Federation, the Theta Kappa Phi Fraternity and the Ukrainian Catholic Youth League. Hundreds of congressionists are expected to come from all parts of the three Americas to attend the congress. It will be the first Pax Romana congress ever to be attended by Canadians, South Americans or Central Americans. For the past two years delegates from the United States have crossed the ocean to attend Pax Romana congresses.

NEGRO SITUATION HELD DEPLORABLE IN AMERICA

Sociology Students Continue Race Discussion for Second Week

Members of the Sociology Seminar continued their discussion on "The Negro in the United States" when they met last evening at 7:30.

The purpose of the discussion was to determine whether the Negro in the United States has the same opportunities as the white man, and if he does not, why these rights should be given to him. The topic was carried over from last week's meeting as the subject was too lengthy to be completely covered in one session.

The meeting of the previous week was postponed because of the Villanova-Moravian basketball game, but this was only a temporary change in schedule. All future meetings will be held as usual on Monday evenings.

Colleges Invited To Attend Social

Continued From Page One

Band over a nation-wide network on the famous Marine program.

Besides combining with the band on several numbers, the Glee Club will sing songs in German and Latin. The number will be Brahm's "Lullaby," while the Latin composition is Palestrina's "Adoremus Te."

Solos by Villanova students will also be included in the program. Edward Lucente who made such a hit in the recent musical production "They Never Learn" will sing several numbers. Charles Lodowski will play several compositions for the violin.

Rev. Ralph Handran, O. S. A., the program director, is looking for an improved program because of the new features of the Field House. The new acoustic system will make it possible for all to hear, while the new curtain arrangements will provide excellent background.

DAYTON U. MEETS LOCAL DEBATERS

Clark Kirby and Max Wool Represent Visitors on March 8

The traveling University of Dayton debating squad of Clarke Kirby and Max Wool will meet the local Beta Gamma group here tomorrow in Mendel Amphitheatre. They will debate the intercollegiate topic, "Resolved: That the U. S. should cease spending public money for the purpose of stimulating business."

The Dayton representatives are making an eastern tour which began in Cleveland on February 27, against John Carroll and will take them over the eastern states concluding on March 11. Some of the teams met include Hobart, Canisius, Colgate and Rutgers.

Universities Offer Many Fellowships

Continued From Page One

technic Institute, Troy, New York.

The University of Buffalo offers graduate assistantships valued from $100 to $500. The following assistantships are available: biology, 1; chemistry, 5; classics, 1; English, 1; geology, 1; German, 1; history and government, 1; mathematics, 1; philosophy, 1; physics, 2; psychology, 2, and sociology, 1.

Teachers College, Columbia University, offers a number of scholarships and teaching fellowships for training in the field of education of the handicapped. These awards will provide an opportunity to work for such degrees as Bachelor of Science, Master of Arts, Doctor of Philosophy, or Doctor of Education. Applications should be made to Professor Merle E. Frapton, Teachers College, Columbia University, 525 W. 120 St., New York City, not later than May 1.

ALUMNI CHOOSE NINE FOR OFFICE

Nomination for offices for the fiscal year '39 and '40 constituted the major portion of the business transacted at the third quarterly meeting of the board of governors of the Alumni Association held in room 218, Mendel Hall, on March 5, at 2 P. M.

Nominees for the office of president were, Martin J. McLaughlin, '14, of Philadelphia; Frank Brady, '13, of New York, and John White, '09, Baltimore, Md.

For the office of first vice president the successful nominees were John J. Heffer, '25, of Trenton; John Malone, '14, of Lancaster, and Jack McDevitt, '28, from Passiac, N. J.

For the office of second vice president, Eugene Reilly, '29, of Philadelphia; William Conway, '34, of New York, and Joseph Houseman, '34, from Fords, N. J., were the successful nominees.

By way of preparation for the alumni week-end in June arrangements have been completed for a baseball game to be held with Loyola of Baltimore, Md., to be held on June 10.

Plan Educational Tour of Washington

Continued From Page One

tunity to study the important constitutional doctrines in the Congressional library will also be afforded the students during the duration of their stay at the Capital.

The trip, however, is not limited to these scenes, for plans have been completed to visit a few places of religious interest before the group starts the journey home. Catholic University, the shrine of the Immaculate Conception, and the Franciscan Monastery will be inspected by all. The Revs. John R. Dunne, O. S. A. and Vincent A. McQuade, O. S. A. will make the trip with the students.

JOHN ROBERT POWERS, the head of the world's best known model agency, when booking his famous models for fashions, advertisers and artists, says "The call is for beauty, poise, personal charm . . . the perfect combination".

The Perfect Combination gets the call...

Chesterfields get the call from more and more smokers every day because of their refreshing mildness, better taste and pleasing aroma.

The perfect combination of Chesterfield's mild ripe American and aromatic Turkish tobaccos . . . the can't-be-copied blend . . . makes Chesterfield the cigarette that gives millions of men and women more smoking pleasure.

When you try them you will know why Chesterfields give more smoking pleasure, why THEY SATISFY

Chesterfield

. . . the blend that can't be copied

. . . a HAPPY COMBINATION of the world's best cigarette tobaccos

Copyright 1939, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

VILLANOVAN

Vol. 11—No. 17 VILLANOVA, PA., TUESDAY, MARCH 14, 1939 N. A. S. Z-660

Blazer Contract Awarded; Dinner Committee Chosen

Rogers and Co. to Make Blazers For $12; Chairman Cassidy Asks Juniors to Make Orders Early

FITZPATRICK REQUESTS SUGGESTIONS

By FRANK FITZPATRICK

Gerald J. Cassidy, chairman of the Blazer Committee, today announced that the contract for this year's Blazers had been awared to Rogers and Company of New York. Simultaniously with this announcement he released the names of the committeemen who are to aid him: William F. Garrity, School of Arts; Gerald J. Lynam, Commerce and Finance; Frederick A. Rappelyea, School of Technology, and Alfred M. Bongiovanni, School of Science.

The final selection of the company that was to receive the contract was made at a meeting last Thursday, March 9. This meeting was attended by the class moderator, Rev. Daniel P. Falvey, O. S. A., and the junior officers. There were 12 other companies that submitted unsuccessful bids.

This year the Blazers will have a flat rate of $12.00. They may be obtained in any style or model with no extra charges for sport backs, etc. Included in the fee are all alterations that may be necessary.

Next Monday and Tuesday there will be a representative from the Rogers company present on the campus with stock models of the various styles. To insure your obtaining the Blazer before the activities of Junior Week Cassidy recommends that orders be placed next week. A deposit of $5.00 will be required as with the class rings. The balance may be paid to any

Continued on Page Eight

ENGINEERING FRAT HEARS VICTOR BARR

Alumnus Explains Roller Bearings to P. K. P.; Unanimous Resolution Adopted

The use of bearings was the subject of the lecture of Mr. Victor Barr, graduate of Villanova, '34, developing engineer for the Roller Bearing Co. of America, at the Phi Kappa Pi meeting yesterday morning in the Mendel Amphitheatre.

Before a large audience Mr. Barr explained the nature of the work in which he is at present engaging in the engineering laboratories in the basement of Mendel Hall. The fact that many of the eninees werge to inspect the Frankford Arsenal yesterday afternoon shortened the lecture.

Mr. Barr explained that out of every hundred bearings manufactured from the same steel and under the same conditions, about ten per cent failed immediately on testing, another ten per cent lasted indefinitely, and the rest ran an average of about 3000 working hours before collapsing. He further explained that the best way to get full time out of a bearing was to use it the way it was cataloged to be used, i. e., not to overload or to use it with excessive speed.

Mr. Barr's work in the Villanova laboratories is the testing of bearings for use in the oil fields of Texas. The experiments are almost complete, requiring about 60 more working hours on the part of the bearing. This bearing, a new type, is 20 square inches in bearing as compared to the 120 square inches of the old, is easier to mount and dismount, and is more portable. It had completed 120 working hours. Upon completion of its 180th it will be dismounted and shipped to Texas.

Anthony Cirrito also took occasion to thank John Heck and his colleagues for the gavel they gave him.

BELLE AIR TO HAVE COMMUNISM THEME IN ISSUE THIS YEAR

Articles on Americanism to be featured in New Year Book

Anti-Communism is the theme for the 1939 Belle Air. This is the first issue of the yearbook to follow any program other than that of recording "Villanoviana."

Leading pages of the publication will contain articles on Communism, its conflicts with Catholicity and the American system, and pictures of Stalin and the Eucharistic Congress.

A condemnation of Communism and all that it stands for will feature the first page of the book.

On the second page, a picture of the Vatican will head an article which demonstrates how Communism conflicts with the Church.

Topped by a picture of the Capitol, the article on the third page points out the conflict between Communism and the American Government.

A picture of Communism's leader, Josef Stalin, will feature the fourth page while on the opposite page will appear a picture of the Eucharistic Congress at New Orleans.

Usual divider of two sections of a yearbook is a page containing

Continued on Page Four

SINGER EXPLAINS VINYLITE'S USE

Student Explains Technique in Studying Relations of Arteries and Veins

"The relationship between the arteries, veins, and other systems in organs is deftly brought out with the use of Vinylite," was the statement made by Bernard Singer at the Research Seminar last Friday.

Explaining the technique involved, the speaker showed how the ureter, arteries and veins of the kidneys were injected with vinylite allowed to harden overnight in cold water and then the flesh removed by placing the specimens in a concentrated acid solution. The hardened vinylite, which assumes the system outlines, is not affected by the acid.

Singer showed some of the results of many weeks of experimentation. He explained, "Although these results are fairly satisfactory, we shall continue with the kidney until a perfect specimen is obtained; then we will begin work on other organs such as the lung or the liver. In fact, in due time we hope to inject the complete circulatory system of the frog."

A lively discussion was held following the conclusion of the talk in which many suggestions were made which will be considered by the students.

PAX ROMANA GROUP CHOOSES VILLANOVA FIRST MEETING SITE

Catholic Federation of College Students Being Formed in Philadelphia Area

MISS W. BYLES TO SPEAK

Sunday, March 19 brings to the Villanova College campus the first meeting in the Philadelphia area of the Catholic Federation of College Students.

Attending the meeting and leading the discussion of the formation of the federation in this district will be Miss Winifred Byles of Manhattanville College. Miss Byles is the head of the committee of organization and publicity.

Villanova College, a member of the New York group of the Catholic Federation of College Students, is now in the process of forming a branch group in the Philadelphia area. The colleges invited for this coming Sunday's meeting are Rosemont College, College of Chestnut Hill, Immaculata College, Saint Joseph College, and La Salle College.

The purpose of the federation is to unite all the Catholic student forces of the world in one vast army to fight anywhere for "The Peace of Christ in the Kingdom of Christ." This army is to be an intellectual army of the Pope, an army that fights not with the sword but with the intellect.

The apostolate of the press is one of its chief activities. It strives to have the work of the Church

Continued on Page Eight

Art Contest Held By Dramatic Group To Secure Posters

Advertising Placards Required For "Room Service"; Unified Design Wanted

A poster contest, open to the general student body, has been inaugurated and will be nconducted until a date just previous to the time of the annual presentation of the Belle Masque Dramatic Society. As yet the date has not been announced, but it will be revealed sufficiently early to provide for the printing and display of the posters for advertising purposes.

For its theme it is natural that the posters will take the play to be presented, the Broadway comedy hit, "Room Service". Those interested in submitting posters to the contest may view other such works as used in advertising former dramatic productions sponsored by the organization of the campus. Placards of these, of "Journey's End", the 1937 hit, and "Winterset," last year's presentation, may be seen upon request at Room 120 Menday Hall, the office of Mr. Anthony J. Frayne, Coach of the Belle Masque group.

Pershing Calabro, art director of the Belle Air yearbook, has been appointed chairman of this poster contest committee. Any supplementary information desired many be obtained by contacting him.

According to the plan the desired size of the posters will be about two feet b yone and a half feet, the usual placard size for this sort of advertising.

. AUTOGRAPH PICTURES .

Within the next week individual pictures of seniors that are to be inserted in the Belle Air will be in Room 51, Mendel Hall, the Belle Air office. All Seniors are requested by Bernard McHenry, Editor, to present themselves at the office in order to autograph their pictures. This new feature of the year book is expected to add much to the creative make-up of the publication. However, the individual co-operation of the entire Senior Class is necessary. The exact time will be posted on the various bulletin boards around the campus.

Social Tonight Features Glee Club, Symphonic Band

Second Annual Affair Under Auspices of Senior Class To Be Held in Conjunction With Gold Medal Oratorical Contest

LOCAL COLLEGES ACCEPT INVITATION

By JOSEPH V. McCABE

The second annual Senior Social featuring the Male Chorus and Symphonic Band of Villanova College will be held in the Field House this evening at 8:30 P. M. Along with the musical part of the program, the finals in the annual Gold Medal Oratorical Contest will also take place.

This concert, sponsored by the senior class, will be the social highlight of the present season. Students from Rosemont and Immaculata colleges have accepted invitations to attend. The program consisting of diversified classical and light classical selections will be under the personal direction of Rev. Ralph Handran, M. Mus., O. S. A.

The program is divided into three parts. Part I containing the following renditions by the Symphonic Band: "Victor March" by Samuel Stephens, "Princess of India" by J. S. King, "March from Carmen" by Bizet, and the "Villanova Marching Song," by Eugene Reilly.

The Male Chorus will sing "Lo How a Rose" by Michael Praetonius, "Adoremus Te" by G. P. da Palestrina and "In a Monastary Garden" by Albert Ketelby.

Part II will present the Oratorical Contest as described in an adjacent column.

Part III will consist of two selections by the chorus, "Deep River" by H. T. Burleigh and "Passing By" by Edmund Purcell. In addition a novelty number "The Three Trumpeters" will be presented by

Continued on Page Four

FOUR CONTESTANTS SELECTED TO ENTER ORATORICAL FINALS

T. Delate, R. O'Brien, J. McCabe, R. Wilderotter Compete Tonight

Four speakers, Thomas Delate, Robert E. O'Brien, Robert Wilderotter and Joseph McCabe have been selected as finalists in the annual college oratorical contest to be held this evening in conjunction with the Senior Social.

In former years only three finalists were selected, but the close contest this year prompted the judges, Rev. Thomas Gilligan, O. S. A.; Rev. Paul M. Healy, O. S. A., and Rev. Robert Sullivan, O. S. A., to select four finalists.

Delate, senior artsman, was one of last years finalists. He spoke on "Like unto this image," and used philosophy as his background.

Wilderotter, junior arts student, is Beta Gamma member said that we should think for ourselves. His talk was entitled "Door of Life."

O'Brien, junior commerce student, gave a talk on "The Great Betrayal." O'Brien spoke of birth control and how it is a betrayal of God's trust in mankind.

McCabe is a freshman commerce student. He spoke of "The Horseman Rides Again" the horseman being War. He described how

Continued on Page Eight

HISTORY GROUP DISCUSSES LABOR

Supreme Court Decision on Fansteel Corp. Case Center of Consideration

Labor relations and the National Labor Relations Board were the main topics discussed at the weekly meeting of the history seminar. The recent decision of the Supreme Court, concerning the case of the Fansteel Corporation, in which the illegality of the well known sit-down strike, was noted.

According to this decision of the court, employes who participate in a sit-down strike are not considered to be employes from the moment they start the strike. The court held that it is an unlawful confiscation of property.

It was also brought out that the continual attacks of interested employers were not directed against the provisions of the act itself. It has already been declared in accord with the constitution. The administrative policies of the board, however, are called into question.

Next week the meeting will be held on Thursday evening from 9 to 10.30. It has been arranged that those attending listen to the Town Meeting of the Air. There will also be a general discussion on the subject to be considered by the radio speakers, who will include United States senators.

L.K.D. FRAT AWARDS SENIOR KEYS TO 20

April 15, Date of Dinner-Dance; Fraternity Pin Orders Taken

Twenty senior members of the Lambda Kappa Delta fraternity will be awarded keys at the annual dinner-dance, it was recently disclosed by John C. Urle, president. This will be the largest group ever to receive keys from the fraternity.

Arrangements for the annual dinner-dance are still in the tentative stage. Saturday evening, April 15, has been selected as the probable date for the annual affair. The chairman for the dinner-dance committee will probably be appointed in the near future.

A meeting will be conducted this Thursday at 1:00 in the Mendel Hall Amphitheatre to discuss immediate business. The regular bimonthly session will be held on March 30 at 7:30 P. M. Urie announced that it is hoped that a speaker will be available to address the body at that time.

Orders are being taken for fraternity pins by Martin Kassell, senior pre-medical student. The pins are on sale at prices ranging from $1.75 to $3.50, depending on the quality of gold. The style will not deviate from that of past years. A golden skull inset with jeweled eyes and the Greek insignia of Lambda Kappa Delta has been the traditional emblem of the pre-medical fraternity. Numerals of the year of graduation are usually linked to the skull by a small gold chain.

Recipients of the honorary keys awarded annually to the graduating members by the fraternity are Armand Bernabei, Benedict Cusani, Italo de Bartolomeis, Louis DeSimone, Leonard Flinkman, Augustus Giordano, Bede Howard, Robert Howe, Martin Kassell, Lawrence Knaphle, Witold Krzywicki, Edward Lucente, Philip Measer, Bernard Miller, Carl Pantaleo, Max Schwartz, Charles Skowron, John Urle (president), William Ward and Albert Zogby.

VILLANOVAN

Published Weekly by the Students of Villanova College

Managing Board

JOHN J. HARRINGTON, '40 .....Editor-in-Chief
JAMES P. COLLINS, '41 .....College Editor
PHILIP M. DUNN, '40 .....Sports Editor
JOHN T. GALLAGHER, '40 .....Business Manager
JOSEPH N. BONGIOVANNI, '40 .....Copy Editor
JOSEPH A. CIRELLI, '40 .....Circulation Manager
MURRAY P. ZEALOR, '41 .....Literary Editor
HENRY L. MANCUSO, '41 .....Photography Editor
JOHN L. MAHER, '42 .....Advertising Manager
JOSEPH F. BEE, '42 .....Cartoonist

Columnists

Bernard A. Bellew, '40 .....College Chatter
William F. Garrity, '40 .....Odds and Ends
William J. Toy, '41 .....Varieties
Harry A. Mazzei, '40 .....Here and There
Anthony J. Liscio, '40 .....Do You Know

Staff Writers

Justin G. Rubin, '40 — Robert J. Funnabashi, '42
Frank Fitzpatrick, '40 — William B. Carey, '42
Saul A. Wallach, '40 — Francis J. Callahan, '42
Bernard Singer, '40 — William E. Schubert, '42
Thomas J. Moore, '41 — William B. DeGrae, '42
Anthony R. Liscio, '41 — Thomas H. Doyle, '42
James F. Haughton, '41 — Howard A. McCall, '42
Andrea J. D'Angelo, '41 — John P. Fullam, '42
David N. Reardon, '42 — Thomas A. Shallow, '42
Joseph V. McCabe, '42 — Robert J. McIntyre, '42
Joseph A. Barnes, '41 — Alfred Bongiovanni, '40
Joseph Santaniello, '41 — William V. Sinnott, '40
Robert W. Kiley, '41

Contributor

Lou Dubino, '39

Photography Staff

Melvin Bricker, '41 — Walter N. LaPorte, '42
John T. Sandonato, '41

Circulation Staff

Robert P. Schisler, '41 — Robert F. Donovan, '42
Bernard C. Crumb, '42 — Joseph D. Keffer, '42

Faculty Advisor—Rev. Edward B. McKee, O. S. A.

This paper is dedicated to one of the finest men who ever entered Villanova: scholar, athlete, gentleman—

L E O G O O D R E A U

Subscription—$2.00 per year.
Entered as second class matter at the Villanova Postoffice, December 27, 1928.

1938 Member 1939

Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

REPRESENTED FOR NATIONAL ADVERTISING BY
National Advertising Service, Inc.
College Publishers Representative
420 MADISON AVE. NEW YORK, N. Y.
CHICAGO · BOSTON · LOS ANGELES · SAN FRANCISCO

Member of the Catholic School Press Association
Member of the Catholic College Press Association
Member of the National Scholastic Press Association.

TUESDAY - - - - - MARCH 14, 1939

Reorganization — At Last

WHAT is the reorganization bill that is now before the Congress?

The Reorganization Bill of this session of Congress is unlike the one that confronted it some time ago; the one that drew an avalanche of telegrams from the listeners of Father Coughlin. The present bill stripped of most of its features permits the president to make under various restrictions consolidations and transfers of Executive agencies to become effective unless disapproved by Congress in sixty days. This excludes, however, independent agencies, Civil Service Commission and the office of the Comptroller General.

History relates many difficulties in passing of this and similar bills. Presidents Taft, Harding, Coolidge and Hoover have strongly urged the passing of a reorganization bill. Wilson alone of the presidents has been able to have a bill of this type passed by Congress. This was a temporary measure during the period of the war, and immediately after the conflict the groups returned to their original status.

Today misgivings are even more forceful than those of former times, for the Congress looks with doubt upon the President. In view of the attitude taken by him in reference to the Federal Trade Commission, and the Supreme Court from the group arises the fears of dictatorship. But compared with the original reorganization program, the bill is a mild and innocuous measure for it permits the President to rearrange the executive agencies in the interest of economy and efficiency with avoidance of duplication. Will all the complications and fears that have arisen by the passing of this measure in the House and its presentation in the Senate, it seems very likely that the President will be allowed to reorganize the bureaus and agencies for which he is responsible.

Profiteering In Peacetime

THERE is an interesting history behind the Congress appropriations for airplanes. Profit on airplanes has been as high as 73 percent.

An instance of profiteering at government expense is shown in the income of a leading stockholder in the United Aircraft Corporation. In 1926 the leader bought 16,000 shares of Pratt & Whitney stock at $.20. In 1929 when he exchanged his shares for United Aircraft Corporation the value of his Pratt & Whitney stock was $5,626,640.

At the expense of John Q. Public the Congress has finally realized this enormous expenditure. Before the Senate at present is a bill for the limitation of profit on planes to ten percent.

This is one instance of the means for the government to reduce expenses. We are heartily in favor of this method. The Congress might look into ship building. United States is paying twice as much as England or any other foreign country for its naval equipment.

True Americanism

AN invitation to war, to totalitarian government, to a dictatorship is being expressed by our papers and periodicals continually. We are being incited, cowed and forced to form opinion contrary to beliefs in American democracy.

A lop-sided press is forcing upon us false news, opinions, and ideas. We are constantly being harassed by propaganda alien to a democracy. It is being taught that we must choose between Fascism and Communism. There is no alternative they say; this we say is a lie.

America has progressed through 150 years of democracy, democracy that has not always been perfect, but a democracy which was evident to the people at all times. They were not blind pointless words that President Wilson said, "We must make the world safe for Democracy."

The character of propaganda has changed from the former Communism vs. Fascism to the present Fascism vs. Democracy. The former contestants were the better ones. Let them be the ones to fight out the ideology if they must fight or prepare to fight. Let America be free.

Diary

YESTERDAY was an anniversary.

A year ago Mr. Adolph Hitler strutted in Austria, administered a coup d'etat, surprised Europe, indeed he surprised the whole world.

Today, Catholics throughout the United States are writing to Mr. Hitler to release the former Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg seized one year ago and still in a concentration camp.

Tomorrow. . . .

Half Way Mark

THE holy season of Lent is now half over. Today is the 21st day of this 40-day period of fasting and abstaining from worldly pleasures and goods. If you have not commenced to make a small sacrifice yet it is not too late to begin. There are 20 days ahead of you to sacrifice some little something that you think you cannot do without. Do it all with a purpose, the greater honor and glory of God and rich rewards will be yours.

Faculty Comments

What Is Wrong With Art?

By John J. Vrana, O. S. A., A. M.

WE ARE all familiar with the popular concept of art as being that which is housed in a museum and intended to be gaped at on a rainy Sunday afternoon. We have on the one hand those who go to the museum for the purpose of drinking in aesthetically the self-revelation or self-expression of the "artist," and on the other we have those who go just to get in out of the rain. How and when these popular notions as to the purpose and use of art became a part of the public mind is an interesting study.

During the 16th, 17th and 18th centuries a great change came over Europe. Two factors that contributed largely to this change were the Industrial Revolution in the 18th century and the religious revolution or the so-called Reformation in the 16th century. The former literally turned the world of labor upside down, while the latter loosened the foundation of Faith and tradition in the hearts of the people of Europe.

With the increase of factories and large scale production methods, it was inevitable that a great change was to come over the laboring world. The gullds with their high standards of quality production, whose only reason for existence was to maintain high standards of production for their individual crafts, were bound to be superseded by labor unions whose only purpose was to protect the laborer from unjust treatment by his employer. Producers no longer held paramount the quality of their goods but rather the quantity at low cost of production. Thus the laborer was no longer a craftsman but a machine in the hands of his employer.

Added to this acute condition of labor, one of man's most vital needs, the very roots of Faith and religious belief were being gnawed at by the insidious teachings of the Reformation. If Faith without good works were sufficient for salvation, why should the employee consider himself obligated to produce only the best goods for his employer? If one system of belief is as good as another, why must one believe in any religious system and be tied down by innumerable laws of morality? Thus, logically and inevitably the last bulwark of defense against a laboring world of oppression and unceasing contest was hammered to dust. Today we are reaping the unholy harvest of ills consequent upon such an alliance of irreligion and industrial oppression.

But what has this to do with the modern misconception of art? Only an understanding of what the medievalist thought about art and how he put these thoughts into practice will show clearly how far astray has modern thought on art gone. The traditional idea of the theory of art and aesthetics before the Industrial and religious revolutions may be found in the teachings of St. Thomas (who followed Aristotle and Augustine on this subject). According to this writer, art is the making well, or arranging properly, of anything whatever that needs to be made or arranged. There can be no good use without art. The medievalist believed that art was the making well whatever needed to be made. This concept was reflected in Ruskin's definition of art: "Art is that in which the head, hand and heart go together."

This leads us then to the practical application of these principles to every day life. Architecture, painting and sculpture were considered by the medievalist under their practical aspects as handicrafts. He does not speak of painters or sculptors or artist or studio but only of the House of God and the workshop. Nor does he concern himself with the history of painting; he limits himself to recording that art is born in craftsmanship.

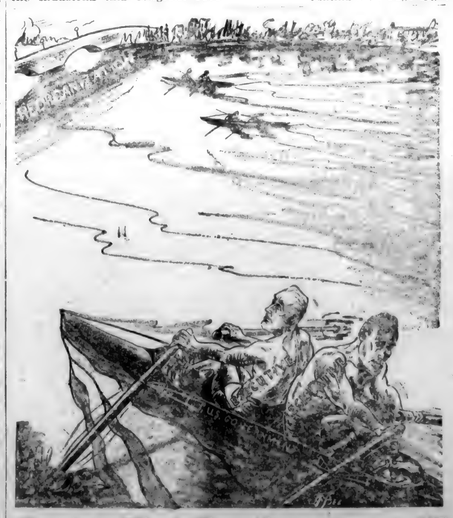
The medieval historian of artistic endeavor explains measurements, characetrs of the figures used in illumination, receipts for colors, and an iconographical repertory, but nothing more. He says nothing of artists or of their feelings expressed in their masterpieces. Art to him means craft, nothing more.

The medieval artist lived in a stable world with a Heaven above and a hell beneath. He thought of himself not as a lonely individual but as a member of a community. He was content to portray the world in which he was placed or to incorporate in his work a generally accepted philosophy. He had no need to try to create a new one or to solve metaphysical problems.

When the medieval world ended in the 16th century, men found themselves in a world in which there were opinions, points of view, but no universally accepted philosophy, and therefore no certainty. What happened? Much of the best art took on a speculative note, became an attempt by the artist to solve "the riddle of the universe." In other words, the function of the artist underwent a change. Art attempted something that was previously accomplished by the theologian and the philosopher.

In pre-Renaissance times there was no distinction between what is crudely called "highbrow art" and "craftsmanship." Today, however, with the division of labor and all its ramifications, with the religious principls of brotherly love seldom believed and scarcely practiced, we have the concept of art debauched by a self-styled elite which distinguishes "fine" art from art as skilled manufacture,

FACULTY COMMENTS Continued on Page Eight



Time to Work Together by BEE

ODDS and ENDS

By Bill Garrity

DID YOU know that we have three sets of fellows on the campus who answer to exactly the same name? The Junior Class has its Thomas P. McMahon and the Senior Class has its likewise. There are two William J. Mowen's in the Freshman class. The Senior Class has two John J. Skelly's. It must be tough for the Profs when marks are being given out.

• • •

The pessimist gives his ideas on suicide with this bit of poetry:
Acids stain you, rivers are damp;
Daggers pain you, poisons cause cramps.
Guns ain't lawful, nooses won't give,
Gases smell awful; you might as well live.

• • •

ED LEAHY wouldn't bring his girl friend to the Rider swmming meet even with the strong urging. Could he have been worried about her seeing WALT KELLY.

• • •

The students in the C.&F. building witnessed a minor conflagration last week. Religion class was going very nicely when smoke was seen rising from the rear of the room. . . . The fire started in an overcoat containing a not entirely "sniped" cigarette. Sue for a new pocket, Duke.

• • •

JIM HAUGHTON has the old happy look again that used to adorn his Celtic features. Could it have been brought back by the letter he received from his new throb Ginny?

• • •

The seminars, held in Simpson Hall, are going over with a terrific bang. Wednesday night, because of over 60 fellows attending, there wasn't much room. The music of Johan Straus had such a soothing effect on one fellow, who was stretched out under the piano, that he lapsed into sleep and missed the whole thing.

• • •

The following is a brief dissertation on Ye Olde Pie Shoppe;
The spot where Louis displays culinary art,
And Cliff, Joe, Gus, and Jack dispense ice cream, candy, and tarts.
Andy operates the grill with manner capable,
While Joe Salome massages each table.
Villanova men have dined there for years
It's a real hot spot, even without beers.

• • •

Did you know that Villanova used to run regular dances in Alumni gymnasium before the erection of the Field House? The Villanovans were featured at each affair and the traffic to and from each affair was astounding.

• • •

I wish the fellows who bring home souvenirs wouldn't make so much noise bringing them into the dorm. It sounded like a team of horses coming into Austin Hall last Thursday night.

• • •

BARNEY MARTIN is fast acquiring the title of philosopher. He gets off one of his sage remarks with or without notice. His room-mate JACK BROWN is secretly writing down many of the better statements and is planning a book to rival the great Joe Miller's work.

Without A God

By ALFRED BONGIOVANNI

A path barren of its former grace,
With naked trees to shade its weeded walk,
And withered shrubs without a bloom deface,
A way where once fair blossoms bright did stalk.

A path so hopeless and neglected, leads,
Through thorny growths to naught save rank despair,
Through marshy swamps and beds thick with sharp weeds,
And grasses wild which grow without a care.

There is no cool refreshing spring nearby,
To soothe the scalded throats and drying tongues,
There's no well-shaded clearing where to lie,
No pure reviving air to fill the lungs.

VARIETIES

By WILLIAM J. TOY

Hurrah! A Letter!
Why Go to College?
Student Composers Sought

BELIEVE it or not, it's true. This column has finally crashed through with a letter from some esteemed member of our student body. Just goes to prove we have one reader anyway!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR DEPT.

In Defense of Color

To the Variety Columnist:

Never mind that talk about Art Shaw, Glenn Miller, Tommy Dorsey, et al. Why don't you drop those corney bands and speak up a little about the swell colored crews that are floating around these days?

Who does some of the best composing? The best arranging? For that matter, which are most solind bands these lean days? The collective answer: the colored gents. Have you forgotten Duke Ellington who tossed out most of the swing classics? How about Count Bassie whose "One O'Clock Jump" is the best thing that has come out of St. Louis since the "Blues"? And what of my opinion (and the opinion of many others on this campus) that Count Bassie and Jimmy Lunceford have the best bands of the day?

I shiver when I hear Shaw's horrible recordings of "Carioca," "The Donkey Serenade" and "Rosalie." Glenn Miller's glorified "Waters of the Minnetonka" bores me. The same goes for Dorsey's thin arrangements. Forget them. I vote for Bassie and Lunceford. And don't forget Lionel Hampton, the most versatile musician of this mad swing era.

Yours for a quick emancipation,
Swing critic.

I see the opinion of your columnist and some others in this institution is different from that of our correspondent. It would be interesting to see how many agree and disagree with him. Let's have all your opinions and find out how the school feels on the band question. Just write in your letters.

RHAPSODY IN BLUE LYRICS WRITTEN:

new lyrics to George Gershwin's Charles Henderson has written Rhapsody in Blue with the approval of Ira Gershwin. They are to be heard for the first time publicly on the Texaco program tomorrow night with Frances Langford giving the vocals.

ATTENTION COMPOSERS:

College students taking a fling at composing have been given a chance to hear their compositions played over the radio with the inauguration of a new series by the Intercollegiate Music Guild of America over the Columbia network. Last Saturday several schools, including Columbia University, heard their local talent play original music over the ether.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT:

Mike Pingatore, cripple banjoist in Paul Whiteman's orchestra, has been with Whiteman for 20 years and has never missed a performance. He estimates about 20,000 radio, dance, stage, and concert engagements have passed behind him but he has succeeded in appearing at all of them. Not bad, believe it or not!

WHY GO TO COLLEGE:

This is a topic to be discussed over the Columbia network this Saturday by leading educators including the president of Bryn Mawr College — Miss Marion Edwards Park and several others. In case you've ever wondered why you are going to college, just listen in and find out from these people.

SHOW NEWS:

The world-famous D'Oyly Carte Opera Company from London has begun its appearance at the Forrest Theatre for a three weeks booking and has been hailed as a fine success by the critics. Noted Gilbert and Sullivan works are sung by this renowned crew of artists.

After an extended tour, Cornelia Otis Skinner comes to the Locust St. Theatre beginning March 27 in George Bernard Shaw's "Candida," with Dorothy Sands and Onslow Stevens. This is one of Shaw's best comedies and is Miss Skinner's first vehicle in a star's billing with full company. These two elements should cause an entertaining evening.

Do You Know?

By ANTHONY R. LISCIO

THE MOTTO of Immaculata College, "Scientia Floret Virtute," was suggested by the late Rev. Francis E. Tourscher, O. S. A.

• • •

Nineteenth century school terms began early in September and ended late in July.

• • •

As early as 1871 Villanova had a Cornet Band composed of eleven students and a Glee Club of 31 members.

• • •

The organ was installed in our chapel in 1892 in preparation for the celebration of Villanova's Golden Jubilee.

• • •

All members of the faculty wore the college cap and gown in and around the college and at all college functions during the early part of the 20th century.

College Chatter

By Barney Bellew

JUST in case you're getting a bit fed up with the bazooka music of that famed Robin Burns from down Arkansas way, you'll be interested to know that a Temple lad has gone him one better. Jimmy Cattlidge, Owl inventor, has produced a new musical instrument which he calls the "hosette." It consists of a 20 foot piece of common garden hose, and press reports say he has received the acclaims of audiences for his varied repertoire.

CLIPPINGS:

After ten years of study by its scientists, there will be published soon at Brown University a three-volume atlas of the speech peculiarities of New Englanders.

• • •

The department of printing at Carnegie Institute of Technology has equipment valued at more than $250,000.

• • •

Northwestern University is offering a special series of lectures on how to fill out income tax blanks.

• • •

WHA, University of Wisconsin radio station, has been named the outstanding social service radio station in the U. S. for 1938.

• • •

The so-called "French" telephone is not French at all. It was invented in this country by a graduate of Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute.

• • •

Approximately one-fourth of the University of Texas students who take pure and applied mathematics end their courses with failing grades.

• • •

Culver-Stockton College is constructing a hotel on its campus.

• • •

Three University of Kansas students are earning their way through college transcribing text books into braille.

• • •

The first library in the world to be used exclusively by blind students, has been established at the University of Wisconsin.

• • •

A new study of evolution is being made at the University of Indiana, where Prof. A. C. Kinsey is examining 100,000 specimens of the gall wasp.

• • •

WHAR, OH, WHAR (Missourian)
Whar's our gal Nell?
She's out in the woods, huntin' bars.
Be'ers' she afeered of bars?
Noo, she's ridin' a bicycle and knows how to handle-bars.

• • •

The growing fear of U. S. college and university administrators that higher education is headed for complete governmental domination has been concisely summarized by Amherst College's Professor Stanley King.

The evil day may come in a few years, or it may be ten. It will definitely be during his life time, he is convinced.

"They will be faced with the alternative of remaining independent privately endowed institutions, or government subsidies. In the latter event, they will no longer be the free institutions that have made this country what it is. My judgment tells me that only the strongest will be able to withstand the temptation of government subsidy and yield to whatever government supervision may accompany the subsidy."

Introducing—

By JOSEPH V. McCABE

IT was while attending Northeast High School in Philadelphia that Leonard H. Flinkman began to interest himself in extra-curricular activities and he has been at it ever since. When asked in what particular activities he participated he replied, "Well, I was Judge of the Student Supreme Court, meting out justice with an iron hand; secretary of the senior class and a member of the staff of the school paper."

When Len graduated from high school he began to look around for a college wherein he could pursue his medical vocation. Choosing Villanova, he assumed the lowliness of a freshman and entered his Alma Mater in September, 1935. He almost immediately joined the medical fraternity, Lambda Kappa Delta; the dramatic society, Belle Masque, and the staff of the VILLANOVAN. It was in this last mentioned that he was destined to show his mettle.

Founded "Varieties"

For two years he wrote for the college staff but in his junior year he branched out and founded that popular column known as Varieties. While writing this column he conducted the first orchestra poll and his prediction of the number one band choice among the students—Hal Kemp, proved correct for it was Hal Kemp who was chosen to handle the musical end of the Junior Prom.

Leaving the work of Varieties in capable hands he hit upon the new idea of interviews with famous personages in the theatrical world. That his venture was entirely successful is evidenced by the weekly "scoop" interviews with such people as Freddie Bartholomew, Ella Logan, Ella Fitzgerald, Eddie Dowling and many others. With all this he is determined to be a follower of Hippocrates and this most interesting work is merely a pastime.

Asked if he had any more "bad habits" exclusive of those mentioned, he expressed a feeling of liking to visit the big city. In his own words "when in New York I can never be found." Possibly this is due to his second love the theatre and all its many famous personages. And this affection is not unfounded because, although few know it, Len is the nephew of Sophie Tucker, that grand personality who has helped keep alive the heritage of the "old timers" in show business.

LEONARD E. FLINKMAN

Autograph Fiend

Although he is not an athlete himself he does profess a keen interest in sports and is an ardent rooter for the college teams in all their contests. As for a hobby, Len is one of that group of individuals who delight in obtaining the signatures of famous personalities. He numbers among his collection the signatures of President Roosevelt former Presidents Coolidge and Hoover, Chief Justice Charles Hughes of the United States Supreme Court.

I asked him in what manner this story in retrospect might be ended. He answered "end it, why I could go on for hours extolling my short span of years." Whereupon it was decided, that enough had been said about this individual whose only claim to fame is a striking resemblance to Tommy Dorsey.

THE NEWS IN BRIEF

One-Act Play Contest

Particulars on entering a contest for one act plays may be obtained from Contemporary Play Publications, 110 W. 42d St., N. Y. C. Rewards for accepted plays are assured publication and consideration for production by The One Act Repertory Company now producing plays on Broadway.

Extension School Dance

A group of students in the Villanova College Extension School have taken the initiative in planning a social program. It is their hope to conduct a dance two or three weeks after the Lenten season. Thus far they have secured the endorsement of the Dean, Rev. Joseph C. Bartley, O. S. A., Ph. D. Now a poll is being conducted to get the students' reaction to the idea.

Essay Contest Announced

The VILLANOVAN was notified that the Fraternity Women's Committee for the New York World Fair is sponsoring an essay contest. This contest is to be participated in exclusively by college students. The theme of the essays is to be based on the first article of the Bill of Rights. For further information consult the VILLANOVAN office.

EVENTS OF THE WEEK

Tuesday, March 14
German Seminar ..... 9:45 A. M.
VILLANOVAN ..... 1:00 P. M.
Lenten Sermon ..... 6:35 P. M.
Sociology Seminar ..... 7:00 P. M.
Senior School ..... 8:00 P. M.

Wednesday, March 15
International Relations . 1:00 P. M.
Belle Air (College) ..... 1:00 P. M.
Spanish Club ..... 7:00 P. M.
Music Seminar ..... 7:30 P.M.

Thursday, March 16
Science Seminar .....10:45 A. M.
History Seminar ..... 4:00 P. M.
Glee Club ..... 4:00 P. M.
Band ..... 7:00 P. M.
L. K. D. ..... 7:30 P. M.
Music Seminar ..... 7:30 P. M.

Friday, March 17
German Seminar ..... 9:45 A. M.
Research Seminar ..... 4:00 P. M.
Basketball game (Phila.) 8:00 P. M.

Saturday, March 18
Basketball Game (Phila., if team wins Friday) ..... 8:30 P. M.

Monday, March 20
Phi Kappa Pi .....10:45 A. M.
Mathematics Club .....12:30 P. M.
Belle Air (Arts) ..... 1:00 P. M.
Glee Club ..... 4:00 P. M.
Band ..... 7:00 P. M.
Sociology Seminar ..... 7:30 P. M.

VILLANOVAN

Published Weekly by the Students of Villanova College

Managing Board

JOHN J. HAGGERTON, '39 ..... Editor-in-Chief
JAMES P. COLLINS, '39 ..... College Editor
EDWARD M. O'BRIEN, '40 ..... Sports Editor
JOHN T. GALLAGHER, '39 ..... Business Manager
JOSEPH S. LISCIOVANNI, '40 ..... Copy Editor
JOSEPH H. CRAIG, '40 ..... Circulation Manager
MURRAY P. SHARR, '41 ..... Library Editor
HENRY L. MAYERSON, '41 ..... Photography Editor
JOHN L. MAHON, '40 ..... Advertising Manager
JOSEPH F. LEE, '42 ..... Cartoonist

Columnists

Bernard A. Reilly, '40 ..... College Chatter
William E. Garrity, '40 ..... Odds and Ends
William J. Toy, '41 ..... Varieties
Harry A. Magee, '41 ..... Here and There
Anthony J. Liscio, '39 ..... Do You Know

Staff Writers

Justin C. Rodin, '40 — Robert J. Brumbaugh, '42
Frank Fitzpatrick, '39 — William B. Carey, '42
Emil A. Hoffman, '39 — Francis J. Callahan, '42
Edward Sinnott, '40 — William E. Schubert, '42
Thomas J. Mahon, '41 — William B. DeGraca, '42
Austin H. Boyle, '41 — Thomas H. Doyle, '42
James B. Haughton, '41 — Howard A. McCall, '42
Andrew J. D'Agostino, '41 — John P. Fallon, '42
Paul A. Sloan, '41 — Thomas A. Shallow, '42
Joseph V. Sheridan, '42 — Robert J. McIntyre, '42
Joseph A. Bernier, '41 — Alfred Tomaiuoli, '39
James F. Cullen, '41 — William V. Connell, '39
Robert W. Keefe, '41

Contributor
Leo Dubin, '39
Photography Staff
Melvin Bricker, '41 — Walter N. LaPorte, '42
John T. Sandalow, '41
Circulation Staff
Robert P. Sandalow, '41 — Robert F. Donovan, '42
Robert O. Gill, '42 — Joseph D. Reiff, '42
Rev. Edward J. Gallagher, O. S. A.
"The Villanovan is composed of the finest men who ever [illegible] a college athletic team, gentlemen—"
[illegible] Connolly

Entered as second class matter at the Villanova Post-[illegible]

[illegible] October 1939

[illegible] Collegiate Press

Distributor of [illegible] Collegiate Digest

[illegible]
420 Madison Ave. New York, N.Y.
[illegible] Boston Los Angeles San Francisco

[illegible] Associated Collegiate Press Association.

[illegible] Press Association.

TUESDAY - - - - - MARCH 14, 1939

Reorganization — At Last

WHAT is the reorganization bill that [illegible] of the law that con[illegible] Republic the Congress [illegible] Executive [illegible] Today the [illegible] are even more forceful than those of former times, for the Congress looks with doubt upon the President. In view of the attitude taken by him in reference to the Federal Trade Commission, and the Supreme Court from the grasp arises the fears of dictatorship. But compared with the original reorganization program, the bill is a mild and innocuous measure for it permits the President to rearrange the executive agencies in the interest of economy and efficiency with avoidance of duplication. Will all the complications and fears that have arisen by the passing of this measure in the House and its presentation in the Senate, it seems very likely that the President will be allowed to reorganize the bureaus and agencies for which he is responsible.

Profiteering In Peacetime

THERE is an interesting history behind the Congress appropriations for airplanes. Profit on airplanes has been as high as 73 percent.

An instance of profiteering at government expense is shown in the income of a leading stockholder in the United Aircraft Corporation. In 1926 the leader bought 16,000 shares of Pratt & Whitney stock at 8.20. In 1929 when he exchanged his shares for United Aircraft Corporation the value of his Pratt & Whitney stock was $5,626,610.

At the expense of John Q. Public the Congress has finally realized this enormous expenditure. Before the Senate at present is a bill for the limitation of profit on planes to ten percent.

This is one instance of the means for the government to reduce expenses. We are heartily in favor of this method. The Congress might look into ship building. United States is paying twice as much as England or any other foreign country for its naval equipment.

True Americanism

AN invitation to war, to totalitarian government, to a dictatorship is being expressed by our papers and periodicals continually. We are being incited, cowed and forced to form opinion contrary to beliefs in American democracy.

A lop-sided press is forcing upon us false news, opinions, and ideas. We are constantly being harassed by propaganda alien to a democracy. It is being taught that we must choose between Fascism and Communism. There is no alternative they say; this we say is a lie.

America has progressed through 150 years of democracy, democracy that has not always been perfect, but a democracy which was evident to the people at all [illegible] They were not blind pointless [illegible] that President Wil[illegible] made the world safe for Democ[illegible]

[illegible] propaganda has [illegible] American vs. [illegible] traits were [illegible] to [illegible] America is free.

[illegible] TODAY was an entirely [illegible] year ago Mr. Adolph Hitler [illegible] in Austria, administered a coup d'état, surprised Europe, indeed he surprised the whole world.

Today, Catholics throughout the United States are writing to Mr. Hitler to release the former Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg seized one year ago and still in a concentration camp.

Tomorrow. . . .

Half Way Mark

THE holy season of Lent is now half over. Today is the 21st day of this 40-day period of fasting and abstaining from worldly pleasures and goods. If you have not commenced to make a small sacrifice yet it is not too late to begin. There are 20 days ahead of you to sacrifice some little something that you think you cannot do without. Do it all with a purpose, the greater honor and glory of God and rich rewards will be yours.

Faculty Comments

What Is Wrong With Art?

By John J. Vrana, O. S. A., A. M.

WE ARE all familiar with the popular concept of art as being that which is housed in a museum and intended to be gaped at on a rainy Sunday afternoon. We have on the one hand those who go to the museum for the purpose of drinking in aesthetically the self-revelation or self-expression of the "artist," and on the other we have those who go just to get in out of the rain. How and when these popular notions as to the purpose and use of art became a part of the public mind is an interesting study.

During the 16th, 17th and 18th centuries a great change came over Europe. Two factors that contributed largely to this change were the Industrial Revolution in the 18th century and the religious revolution or the so-called Reformation in the 16th century. The former literally turned the world of labor upside down, while the latter loosened the foundation of Faith and tradition in the hearts of the people of Europe.

With the increase of factories and large scale production methods, it was inevitable that a great change was to come over the laboring world. The guilds with their high standards of quality production, whose only reason for existence was to maintain high standards of production for their individual crafts, were bound to be superseded by labor unions who-se only purpose was to protect the laborer from unjust treatment by his employer. Producers no longer held paramount the quality of their goods but rather the quantity at low cost of production. Thus the laborer was no longer a craftsman but a machine in the hands of his employer.

Added to this acute condition of labor, one of man's most vital needs, the very roots of Faith and religious belief were being gnawed at by the insidious teachings of the Reformation. If Faith without good works were sufficient for salvation, why should the employee consider himself obligated to produce only the best goods for his employer? If one system of belief is as good as another, why must one believe in any religious system and be tied down by innumerable laws of morality? Thus, logically and inevitably the last bulwark of defense against a laboring world of oppression and unceasing contest was hammered to dust. Today we are reaping the unholy harvest of the emergent upon such an alliance of irreligion and industrial oppression.

But what has this to do with the modern misconception of art? Only an understanding of what the medievalist thought about art and how he set [illegible] things into practice will show clearly how far astray has modern thought on art gone. The fundamental idea of the [illegible] of art and aesthetic in the Industrial and Religious revolutions may be found in the teachings of St. Thomas (who followed Aristotle and Augustine on this subject). According to this writer, art is the making well, or arranging properly, of anything whatever that needs to be made or arranged. There can be no good use without art. The medievalist believed that art was the making well whatever needed to be made. This concept was reflected in Ruskin's definition of art: "Art is that in which the head, hand and heart go together."

This leads us then to the practical application of these principles to every day life. Architecture, painting and sculpture were considered by the medievalist under their practical aspects as handicrafts. He does not speak of painters or sculptors or artist or studio but only of the House of God and the workshop. Nor does he concern himself with the history of painting; he limits himself to recording that art is born in craftsmanship.

The medieval historian of artistic endeavor explains measurements, characteristics of the figures used in illumination, receipts for colors, and an iconographical repertory, but nothing more. He says nothing of artists or of their feelings expressed in their masterpieces. Art to him means craft, nothing more.

The medieval artist lived in a stable world with a Heaven above and a hell beneath. He thought of himself not as a lonely individual but as a member of a community. He was content to portray the world in which he was placed or to participate in his work a generally accepted philosophy. He had no need to try to create a new one or to solve metaphysical problems.

When the medieval world ended in the 16th century, men found themselves in a world in which there were opinions, points of view, but no universally accepted philosophy, and therefore no certainty. What happened? Much of the best art took on a speculative note, became an attempt by the artist to solve "the riddle of the universe." In other words, the function of the artist underwent a change. Art attempted something that was precisely accomplished by the theologian and the philosopher.

Time to Work Together By BEE

ODDS and ENDS

By Bill Garrity

DID YOU know that we have three sets of fellows on the campus who answer to exactly the same name? The Junior Class has its Thomas F. McMahon and the Senior Class has its likewise. There are two William J. Meyers in the Freshman class. The Senior Class has two John J. Sheils. It must be tough for the Profs when marks are being given out.

* * *

The pessimist gives his ideas on suicide with this bit of poetry:

Acids stain you, rivers are damp;
Daggers pain you, poisons cause cramps.
Guns ain't lawful, nooses won't give,
Gases smell awful; you might as well live.

* * *

ED LEAHY wouldn't bring his girl friend to the Rider swimming meet even with the strong urging. Could he have been worried about her seeing WALT KELLY.

* * *

The students in the C&F. building witnessed a minor conflagration last week. Religion class was going very nicely when smoke was seen rising from the rear of the room. . . . The fire started in an overcoat containing a not entirely "sniped" cigarette. Sue for a new pocket, Duke.

* * *

JIM HAUGHTON has the old happy look again that used to adorn his Celtic features. Could it have been brought back by the letter he received from his new throb, Ginny?

* * *

The seminars, held in Simpson Hall, are going over with a terrific bang. Wednesday night, because of over 60 fellows attending, there wasn't much room. The music of Johan Straus had such a soothing effect on one fellow, who was stretched out under the piano, that he lapsed into sleep and missed the whole thing.

* * *

The following is a brief dissertation on Ye Olde Pie Shoppe:

The spot where Louis displays culinary art,
And Cliff, Joe, Gus, and Jack dispense ice cream, candy, and tarts.
Andy operates the grill with manner capable,
While Joe Salome massages each table.
Villanova men have dined there for years
It's a real hot spot, even without beers.

* * *

Did you know that Villanova used to run regular dances in Alumni gymnasium before the erection of the Field House? The Villanovans were featured at each affair and the traffic to and from each affair was astounding.

* * *

I wish the fellows who bring home souvenirs wouldn't make so much noise bringing them into the dorm. It sounded like a team of horses coming into Austin Hall last Thursday night.

* * *

BARNEY MARTIN is fast acquiring the title of philosopher. He gets off one of his sage remarks with or without notice. His room-mate JACK BROWN is secretly writing down many of the better statements and is planning a book to rival the great Joe Miller's work.

Without A God

By ALFRED BONGIOVANNI

A path as barren of its former grace,
With naked trees to shade its weeded walk,
And withered shrubs without a bloom deface,
A way where once fair blossoms bright did stalk.

A path so hopeless and neglected, leads,
Through thorny growths to naught save rank despair,
Through marshy swamps and beds thick with sharp weeds,
And grasses wild which grow without a care.

There is no cool refreshing spring nearby,
To soothe the scalded throats and drying tongues,
There's no well-shaded clearing where to lie,
No pure reviving air to fill the lungs.

VARIETIES

By WILLIAM J. TOY

Hurrah! A Letter!
Why Go to College?
Student Composers Sought

BELIEVE it or not, it's true, This column has finally clashed through with a letter from some esteemed member of our student body. Just goes to prove we have one reader anyway!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR DEPT.

In Defense of Color

To the Variety Columnist:

Never mind that talk about Art Shaw, Glenn Miller, Tommy Dorsey, et al. Why don't you drop those corney hands and speak up a little about the swell colored crews that are floating around these days?

Who does some of the best composing? The best arranging? For that matter, which are most solfad bands these lean days? The collective answer: the colored gents. Have you forgotten Duke Ellington who tossed out most of the swing classics? How about Count Bassie whose "One O'Clock Jump" is the best thing that has come out of St. Louis since the "Blues"? And what of my opinion (and the opinion of many others on this campus) that Count Bassie and Jimmy Lunceford have the best bands of the day?

I shiver when I hear Shaw's horrible recordings of "Carioca," "The Donkey Serenade" and "Rosalie," Glenn Miller's glorified "Waters of the Minnetonka" bores me. The same goes for Dorsey's thin arrangements. Forget them. I vote for Bassie and Lunceford. And don't forget Lionel Hampton, the most versatile musician of this mad swing era.

Yours for a quick emancipation,
Swing cadet.

I see the opinion of your columnist and some others on this institution is different from that of our correspondent. It would be interesting to see how many agree and disagree with him. Let's have all your opinions and find out how the school feels on the band question. Just write in your letters.

RHAPSODY IN BLUE LYRICS WRITTEN:

new lyrics to George Gershwin's Charles Henderson has written Rhapsody in Blue with the approval of Ira Gershwin. They are to be heard for the first time publicly on the Texaco program tomorrow night with Frances Langford giving the vocals.

ATTENTION COMPOSERS:

College students taking a fling at composing have been given a chance to hear their compositions played over the radio with the inauguration of a new series by the Intercollegiate Music Guild of America over the Columbia network. Last Saturday several schools, including Columbia University, heard their local talent play original music over the ether.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT:

Mike Pingatore, cripple bandleist in Paul Whiteman's orchestra, has been with Whiteman for 20 years and has never missed a performance. He estimates about 20,000 radio, dance, stage, and concert engagements have passed behind him but he has succeeded in appearing at all of them. Not bad, believe it or not!

WHY GO TO COLLEGE:

This is a topic to be discussed over the Columbia network this Saturday by leading educators including the president of Bryn Mawr College — Miss Marion Edwards Park and several others. In case you've ever wondered why you are going to college, just listen in and find out from the people.

SHOW NEWS:

The world-famous D'Oyly Carte Opera Company from London has begun its appearance at the Forrest Theatre for a three weeks booking and has been hailed as a fine success by the critics. Noted Gilbert and Sullivan works are sung by this renowned crew of artists.

After an extended tour, Cornelia Otis Skinner comes to the Locust St. Theatre beginning March 27 in George Bernard Shaw's "Candida," with Dorothy Sands and Onslow Stevens. This is one of Shaw's best comedies and is Miss Skinner's first vehicle in a star's billing with full company. These two elements should cause an entertaining evening.

Do You Know?

By ANTHONY R. LISCIO

THE MOTTO of Immaculata College, "Scientia Floret Virtute," was suggested by the late Rev. Francis E. Tourscher, O. S. A.

* * *

Nineteenth century school terms began early in September and ended late in July.

* * *

As early as 1871 Villanova had a Cornet Band composed of eleven students and a Glee Club of 31 members.

* * *

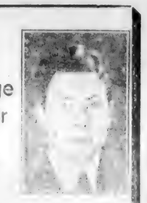
The organ was installed in our chapel in 1892 in preparation for the celebration of Villanova's Golden Jubilee.

* * *

All members of the faculty wore the college cap and gown in and around the college and at all college functions during the early part of the 20th century.

College Chatter

By Barney Bellew



JUST in case you're getting a big fed up with the bazooka music of that famed Robin Hares from down Arkansas way, you'll be interested to know that a Temple lad has gone him one better. Jimmy Cardiff, Owl inventor, has produced a new musical instrument which he calls the "rosette." It consists of a 20 foot piece of common garden hose, and press reports say he has received the acclaims of audiences for his varied repertoire.

CLIPPINGS:

After ten years of study by its scientists, there will be published soon at Brown University a three-volume atlas of the speech peculiarities of New Englanders.

* * *

The department of printing at Carnegie Institute of Technology has equipment valued at more than $250,000.

* * *

Northwestern University is offering a special series of lectures on how to fill out income tax blanks.

* * *

WHA, University of Wisconsin radio station, has been named the outstanding social service radio station in the U. S. for 1938.

* * *

The so-called "French" telephone is not French at all. It was invented in this country by a grad-te of Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute.

* * *

Approximately one-fourth of the University of Texas students who take pure and applied mathematics end their courses with failing grades.

* * *

Culver-Stockton College is constructing a hotel on its campus.

* * *

Three University of Kansas students are earning their way through college transcribing text books into braille.

* * *

The first library in the world to be used exclusively by blind students, has been established at the University of Wisconsin.

* * *

A new study of evolution is being made at the University of Indiana, where Prof. A. C. Kinsey is examining 100,000 specimens of the gall wasp.

* * *

WHAR, OH, WHAR (Missourian)
What's our gal Nell?
She's out in the woods, huntin' burrs.
Forgot she accepted our [illegible]
Now, she's 8'6" a [illegible] and knows how to beat [illegible]

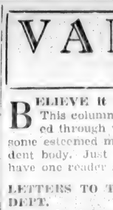
* * *

The [illegible] ering test of [illegible] College and university admission to find higher correction is [illegible] for complete government control of [illegible] has been concisely summed up by Amherst College's President Stanley King.

The evil day may come in a few years, or it may be ten. It will definitely be during his life time, he is convinced.

"They will be faced with the alternative of remaining independent privately endowed institutions, or government subsidies. In the latter event, they will no longer be the free institutions that have made this country what it is. My judgment tells me that only the strongest will be able to withstand the temptation of government subsidy and yield to whatever government supervision may accompany the subsidy."

Introducing



By JOSEPH V. McCABE

IT was while attending Northeast High School in Philadelphia that Leonard H. Flinkman began to interest himself in extra-curricular activities and he has been at it ever since. When asked in what particular activities he participated he replied, "Well, I was Judge of the Student Supreme Court, meting out justice with an iron hand; secretary of the senior class and a member of the staff of the school paper."

When Len graduated from high school he began to look around for a college wherein he could pursue his medical vocation. Choosing Villanova, he assumed the lowliness of a freshman and entered his Alma Mater in September, 1935. He almost immediately joined the medical fraternity, Lambda Kappa Delta; the dramatic society, Belle Masque, and the staff of the VILLANOVAN. It was in this last mentioned that he was destined to show his mettle.

Founded "Varieties"

For two years he wrote for the college staff but in his junior year he branched out and founded that popular column known as Varieties. While writing this column he conducted the first orchestra poll and his prediction of the number one band choice among the students—Hal Kemp, proved correct for it was Hal Kemp who was chosen to handle the musical end of the Junior Prom.

Leaving the work of Varieties in capable hands he hit upon the new idea of interviews with famous personages in the theatrical world. That his venture was entirely successful is evidenced by the weekly "scoop" interviews with such people as Freddie Bartholomew, Ella Logan, Ella Fitzgerald, Eddie Dowling and many others. With all this he is determined to be a follower of Hippocrates and this most interesting work is merely a pastime.

Asked if he had any more "bad habits" exclusive of those mentioned, he expressed a feeling of liking to visit the big city. In his own words "when in New York I can never be found." Possibly this is due to his second love the theatre and all its many famous personages. And this affection is not unfounded because, although few know it, Len is the nephew of Sophie Tucker, that grand personality who has helped keep alive the heritage of the "old timers" in show business.

LEONARD E. FLINKMAN

Autograph Fiend

Although he is not an athlete himself he does profess a keen interest in sports and is an ardent rooter for the college teams in all their contests. As for a hobby, Len is one of that group of individuals who delight in obtaining the signatures of famous personalities. He numbers among his collection the signatures of President Roosevelt, former Presidents Coolidge and Hoover, Chief Justice Charles Hughes of the United States Supreme Court.

I asked him in what manner this story in retrospect might be ended. He answered "end it, why I could go on for hours extolling my short span of years." Whereupon it was decided, that enough had been said about this individual whose only claim to fame is a striking resemblance to Tommy Dorsey.

THE NEWS IN BRIEF

One-Act Play Contest

Particulars on entering a contest for one act plays may be obtained from Contemporary Play Publications, 110 W. 42d St., N. Y. C. Rewards for accepted plays are assured publication and consideration for production by The One Act Repertory Company now producing plays on Broadway.

Extension School Dance

A group of students in the Villanova College Extension School have taken the initiative in planning a social program. It is their hope to conduct a dance two or three weeks after the Lenten season. Thus far they have secured the endorsement of the Dean, Rev. Joseph C. Bartley, O. S. A., Ph. D. Now a poll is being conducted to get the students' reaction to the idea.

Essay Contest Announced

The VILLANOVAN was notified that the Fraternity Women's Committee for the New York World Fair is sponsoring an essay contest. This contest is to be participated in exclusively by college students. The theme of the essays is to be based on the first article of the Bill of Rights. For further information consult the VILLANOVAN office.

EVENTS OF THE WEEK

Tuesday, March 14

German Seminar ..... 9:45 A. M.
VILLANOVAN ..... 1:00 P. M.
Lenten Sermon ..... 6:35 P. M.
Sociology Seminar ..... 7:00 P. M.
Senior School ..... 8:00 P. M.

Wednesday, March 15

International Relations ..... 1:00 P. M.
Belle Air (College) ..... 1:00 P. M.
Spanish Club ..... 7:00 P. M.
Music Seminar ..... 7:30 P. M.

Thursday, March 16

Science Seminar ..... 10:45 A. M.
History Seminar ..... 4:00 P. M.
Glee Club ..... 4:00 P. M.
Band ..... 7:00 P. M.
L. K. D. ..... 7:20 P. M.
Music Seminar ..... 7:30 P. M.

Friday, March 17

German Seminar ..... 9:45 A. M.
Research Seminar ..... 4:00 P. M.
Basketball game (Phila.) 8:00 P. M.

Saturday, March 18

Basketball Game (Phila., if team wins Friday) ..... 8:30 P. M.

Monday, March 20

Phi Kappa Pi ..... 10:45 [illegible]
Mathematics Club ..... 1 [illegible] A.
Belle Air (Arts) ..... 1 [illegible] M.
Glee Club ..... 4 [illegible] M.
Band ..... 4 [illegible]
Sociology Seminar ..... [illegible] M.

BETA GAMMA GROUP MEETS SETON HALL; SEASON NEARS END

Wilderotter and O'Brien to Engage Visiting Debaters, March 16

March 16 Seton Hall College will send a team to meet the Villanova debating squad. Participating in the debate for Villanova will be Robert Wilderotter and Robert O'Brien. The subject is one which has not as yet been discussed on the campus — "The U. S. should abandon its policy of open door in the Far East."

Last Saturday Beta Gamma played host to the Bellarmine Debating Society of St. Peter's College of Jersey City. The members of St. Peters' team were John Hamill, James Murray, and Leonard Manning. The team is on an extended trip west with Villanova as the first stop. Debating for Villanova were Thomas Delate, James Donovan, and John Harrington. The question was the Anglo-American alliance.

Correspondence is being carried on with Georgian Court College for the purpose of arranging a date here. "Last year the discussion between the groups on the theme, 'Women's place is in the home' proved most interesting to a large student audience. On February 16 past Villanova was the guest of Georgian Court at Lakewood, N. J., and is now seeking to return the kind hospitality shown them on that occasion," Tom Delate, chairman of the Debate Council said.

The season is now drawing to a close. Only three more home debates are scheduled for this year. There is the possibility however that debates with College Misericordia and Georgian Court College will raise this number to five. "So far student attendance has been very poor but," said Thomas Delate, "the girls 'debates will bring forth the season's largest crowds."

MATHEMATICS SPEAKERS ANNOUNCED AT SEMINAR

The schedule of papers and speakers for the rest of the term was announced by President Paul E. Brown at the meeting of the Mathematics Club in Simpson Hall yesterday afternoon.

Next week Lino Gallo will introduce discussions of "Invariants of Curves; at later meetings Brown will speak on the solution of cubic equations, Thomas Junker will deliver his second paper of the year, this time on finding the area of polygons by the determinant method, and Walter La Porte and Joseph Wickland will jointly handle the subject of "Partial Fractions."

An evening meeting is scheduled for May 22, when guests from outside the college will be invited. Joseph C. Dorsey and John P. Kirchner will be the speakers, and, they will talk on "Magic Squares."

Thomas A. Shallow spoke at the meeting yesterday, finishing his paper on "Curve Fitting" by the method of least squares. He introduced this method at the last week's meeting.

MENDEL BULLETIN TREATS BIOGRAPHY OF EHRLICH

Appearing on the campus this week was the second edition of the Mendel Bulletin, quarterly publication of the School of Science.

Treated in the edition was the Biography of Paul Erlich, Father of Chemotherapy, by Alfred M. Bongiovanni, junior science student, and Edward Steinhardt, sophomore science student.

In this article, Erlich was presented from the standpoint of his social life, and his scientific work.

Radiolaria, one of the most beautiful forms of protozoan life, was brilliantly discussed and beautifully illustrated, in a paper by Eugene Eichman, sophomore student.

This edition was complete in every detail, from the standpoint of papers on research by our own students, and reviews of books and papers by other students and scientists in other institutions of learning.

CORRECTION

In the last issue of the VILLANOVAN a mistake was made concerning the degree of Dr. Gregory Salisbury. Correcting the M. D. ascribed to Lambda Kappa Delta fraternity's last speaker, Dr. Salisbury's degree is Doctor of Dental Surgery.

Rosemont Joins in Glee Club Musical

The choruses of Villanova and Rosemont colleges will combine to present a musical at Rosemont some time after Easter.

The organization, made up of 45 Rosemont students and 30 from Villanova, has been favored by the donation of several hundred sheets of classical music from the American Association of Colleges.

Individual talent from both schools will also take part in the program, and there will be included some instrumental as well as vocal selections.

Mother Mary Paula is in charge of the Rosemont group, while Rev. Ralph Handran, O. S. A., is moderator of the local glee club.

IMPULSE GENERATOR SEEN BY STUDENTS

A. I. E. E. Make General Tour of General Electric Co. in Phila.

One of the largest impulse-generators in the world was viewed by members of the A. I. E. E. when they visited the General Electric Co. in Philadelphia on March 9.

A tour was made of the entire plant and electrical switchgear in general was inspected, but the impulse-generator was the principal object of study. This generator is capable of building up three million volts and is similar to the one being built at the world's fair.

Yesterday the A. I. E. E. attended the Student Branch Convention which was held at Haverford College.

After inspecting the laboratories at Haverford, a technical session was held in which a number of representatives from the different schools delivered papers. John B. Gehman represendt Villanova and spoke on "The Effect of Parasitic Reflectors and Directors in Ultra-Short Wave Transmitters."

In the afternoon the Villanova members made an inspection tour of the Exide Battery Co.

In the evening, Dr. Robert E. Doherty, president of Carnegio Institute of Technology, gave a talk at the Engineer's Club. The topic of his discussion was "The Social Responsibilities of the Engineer."

FROSH DEBATERS MEET PENNSYLVANIA YEARLINGS

Villanova's freshman debating team will meet the University of Pennsylvania's freshman team tomorrow afternoon, 4 o'clock in the Mendel Hall amphitheater.

The topic discussed will be: "Resolved: That the United States Government should cease using public funds to stimulate business." This question is the year's national intercollegiate debate topic. It has been used in most of the team's debates.

Gerard Belz and John Fullam will present the constructive speeches for Villanova. Thomas McKimmey will be rebutalist.

Haverford College was the first to test the mettle of the debaters. In this contest William Schubert, Clifford Maginn, and Thomas McKimmey represented Villanova.

Belle Air to Have Communism Theme

Continued From Page One

the title of the following section and, perhaps, a picture. This year's issue will feature for dividers illustration and copy that contrast Communistic life with American life.

BEHIND THE SCENES WITH PROPS, RULES, AND PAILS

Oft-forgotten and little-lauded members of the Belle Masque Society are the "hands" pictured above busily engaged in the constructing and perfecting of minute details of the set to be used in the forthcoming Spring production of "Room Service."

Daring Reporter Disregards Danger To Determine Progress of Stage Crew

By ROBERT J. McINTYRE

To find out how the scenery for the Belle Masque production, "Room Service," was coming along, I borrowed a paper and pencil and meandered down to the field house.

Entering the gym I found everything quiet; however, as I walked back-stage I discovered a hustle and bustle of activity. "Buzz" Hart, stage manager, and Jack Gallagher swung a flat, (which I later discovered to be a straight panel of scenery) around and almost knocked me into a can of paint.

Unable to get anyone to stop long enough to talk to me, I listened to some of the comments flying back and forth across the paint be-spotted stage. They ran something like this:

Crackling Comments

"When you hear the crackling noise it will be the wood." "We don't have to get 'em straight till we put the screws on 'em." "Hold tight there Dooley." "Gra—b that flat!" "Say fellows, step on it; this is no WPA project."

Looking around once more I discovered Pershing Calabro seated upon a high stepladder dabbing a paint brush very deftly at a border of scenery. Shifting my gaze to the other side of the stage I saw Bill Giel with a sponge in his hand gently applying it to a piece of scenery.

My curiosity getting the better of me, I weaved my way across the stage, dodging flats and almost stepping on Jack Gallagher and Ed DaCosta slinging yellow paint on a large flat, until I could talk to Bill Giel. I asked him what he was doing. "Stippling," he mumbled intent upon his sponge. "What's that?" I asked, astonished. "Making the blue background look like wallpaper," he growled, "now go on beat it, can't you see I'm busy?" (He probably thought I was a union spy.)

Forced Decision

Discovering my life to be in danger I decided I had better collar Fr. Sullivan and Professor Frayne, get my interview and get out before someone threw a hammer at me.

Pulling the two of them into the "wings" I pleaded with them for just three minutes time. "Oh! Alright," Mr. Frayne said, "What do you want to know?" "First of all tell me about the scenery itself."

"Well," he began, "I suppose you know the scene represents a hotel room in New York City." "The White Way Hotel," interrupted Fr. Sullivan. "It has taken us a month to build it," Mr. Frayne continued, and it will be finished this week. You see we want the set completed so that the cast will be able to rehearse with full scenery and stage effects."

Assistants Named

"Well can you give me the names of your stagehands?" I asked. "Sure," replied Fr. Sullivan, "'Buzz' Hart there, he's the stage manager, and Persh Calabro, up on the ladder, designed the set. The others are: John T. Gallagher, William Giel, Jerry Holland, Robert Dooley, and Edward DaCosta."

Getting a new thought I asked Professor Frayne if they were going to make their own furniture too. (Silly wasn't it?) "Humph! Of course not. We hope to get it from some furniture or department store. Donated for advertising purposes. But we haven't lined up anyone yet."

Thanking them both I left the stage, followed by a flying paint brush. And I can't help but think that on April 19th, when the show opens the scenery will have a great part in its success.

SOCIOLOGY GROUP STUDY NEGRO POSITION IN U. S.

Solutions to Problem Submitted Last Meeting by Members of Seminar

Continuing the discussion of the two previous weeks, the Sociology Seminar again debated on "The position of Negroes in the United States," when it held its weekly meeting last evening.

Every member studied the question during the past week and at the meeting handed in the solution which he thought was best.

In connection with the topic, a study was made on the duties of Congress in regard to the Negro. The need for the passing of the anti-lynching bill was pointed out. The members of the seminar investigated the ways and means which both the Negro and the white man are using to spread propaganda favorable to their sides of the question.

ATTENTION JUNIORS

Next Monday and Tuesday, March 20 and 21, from 1.00 P. M. to 4:00 P. M. measurements will be taken for the junior class blazers. A $5.00 deposit must be made when orders are placed.

Band and Glee Club Combine in Concert

Continued From Page One

George White, Frederick Kull, and Bernard Singer.

A quartet made up of Cavanaugh, York, Apel and D'Ippolno will sing two selections, "Sylvia" by Oley Speaks and "Smilin' Through" by Aruthur Penn. The closing number of the concert will be "Bells of Evening" by A. Williams with Paul Wade playing the Cathedral bells and Bert Passanante on the Glockemspiel.

In order to cover the expenses of the evening a nominal fee will be charged for both students and others in attendance.

ART EDITOR SEEKS STAFF ASSISTANTS

Belle Air Department Open to Student Artists and Designers

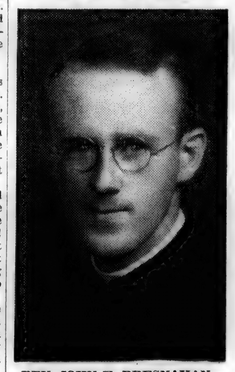
Pershing Calabro, art editor of the Belle Air, issued a call for students who can print or stencil fancy lithographic squares in ink, charcoal, oil, or paint.

The candidates are requested to turn in their names, addresses or room numbers to Bernard McHenry, Editor-in-Chief, or to the aforementioned art editor by the end of this week. Although the art work is the last to be incorporated into the book, it is necessary for it to be completed earlier than the remaining content.

Traditional style consists of small drawings and motifs, however, an original form is to be employed by the present editors. Formerly the pages and dividers were devoted to topics suggestive of campus activities but these will be supplemented with ideas concerning the themes of the book.

Art Editor Calabro said, "It is a good opportunity for those who expect to do art work for the Belle Air in future years to gain some valuable experience." Materials will be supplied by the Belle Air. The theme of the motifs throughout the Senior section will be symbolic of the four schools.

GIVES SERMON



REV. JOHN E. BRESNAHAN, O. S. A., will address the resident students on "Prayer" this evening at the regular chapel exercises at 6:35 P. M.

F. MOZZI WRITES FOR PUBLICATION

"Electricity in Nature" Featured in Last Issue of Villanova Engineer

"Electricity in Nature," by Francis J. Mozzi, president of the local chapter of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, was the feature article in the most recent edition of the Villanova Engineer.

His article treated the subject of lightning in its classifications according to the different characteristics and qualities of this phenomena of nature.

In addition to this article were the following: 'New Hydraulics Laboratory," by Joseph J. Quinn, Jr., former editor, in which he described the functions of the hydraulic laboratory; a paper, "An Enterprising Hobby," by Otto K. Christoph, explaining the enjoyment and pleasures derived from miniature protography. Francis P. O'Connell and James J. Earley also contributed to this edition of the monthly publications.

COLLEGE PRESIDENT AT LAWRENCE ALUMNI CLUB DINNER

Left to right—Rev. James M. Kelly, O. S. A., assistant at St. Laurence's church; Mayor Walter A. Griffin, Rev. Edward V. Stanford, O S. A., president of Villanova College; Vincent A. Doyle, alumni president, and Rev. Edward J. Carney, O. S. A., assistant in St. Mary's parish.

VILLANOVAN SPORTS

BASKETEERS TO MEET BROWN FRIDAY

GAME IN PALESTRA TO BE FIRST HALF OF DOUBLE-HEADER

Wake Forest Plays Ohio State; Winners of Two Games Meet Saturday

BEARS BEAT R. I. STATE

By HARRY MAZZEI

This Friday night Villanova fans will trek to the University of Pennsylvania's famed Palestra to watch the wild-riding Wildcat quintet do battle with the smooth five of the Brown "Bears" in the first tilt of the N. C. A. A. basketball tournament. Following this tilt which will begin at 8:00, Ohio State's vaunted Western Conference championship outfit will meet a doughty band of Wake Forest warriors, who walked off with the scalps of most of the Southern Conference teams this winter.

Winner to Finals

The winners of these contests will meet on Saturday evening to determine which squad shall represent this section in the finals at Northwestern University in Evanston, Illinois. At the same time similar eliminations will be taking place in San Francisco to determine that section's representative quintet.

The four quintets meeting at the Palestra possess records that fairly drip with the dregs of basketball success. Villanova's opponent, Brown University, is considered the leading power in New England basketball with the exception of Dartmouth's Ivy League champions. The Bears boast a record that was marred by only three defeats, and even though they were beaten by Rhode Island State, one of the highest geared offensive units on the ribbed court, they avenged this defeat by trouncing the Staters in a later tussle. One of the other defeats may be chalked up to the highly efficient Dartmouth outfit. The big guns of the Brown five are Pratt and Fisher, both being courtsters of exceptional ability.

Hull Leads Ohio

Ohio State, champions o fthe "Big

GAME Continued on Page Seven

Sportorial

By Phil Dunn
Sports Editor

WELL, well! Now we have Gene Riger of the Temple News after us. He devoted an entire column to "hooting and meowing" about the Villanovan. Very Owlish and catty I'd say.

In answer to our esteemed (?) contemporary I submit the following:

PHIL DUNN

1. The Cats certainly would be eating regularly if they were given a banquet each time they beat a Temple team. They do not, however, need that incentive — as is evidenced by their repeated victories over the Owl.

2. There were few Villanova rooters in the stands of Mitten Hall to see the Owlets hand our Kit-

SPORTORIAL Continued on Page Six

RELAY TEAM WINS; MAHER DOESN'T RUN

Mile Quartet Closes Indoor Season With Victory in Madison Square Garden

Winning their third consecutive relay race, the fleet baton passers evened up their score with Rhode Island last Saturday night in Madison Square Garden. Running against St. John's, St. Francis and Rhode Island, the Wildcats won handily in the time of 3:27.2.

Barney Bellew, drawing the fourth lane, led off. Pulling up into second place at the start, he forced his man for a lap. Then crowding on a iturn forced him to fall back a few yards breaking stride. On the last lap however he pulled up with his opponent and was running neck and neck when he passed the baton to Pete Yankauskas.

Yankauskas Goes Ahead

Pete, still in second place, trailed for a lap and a half and with a sudden kick passed the leading St. Francis runner and held a five-yard lead over him when he relayed to Bill Dobbins.

Bill Dobbins, running a fast quarter, held off a Rhode Island runner for a lap and then fell back into second place. But not for long. Dobbins, going into the final lap, caught his man and with a kick worthy of a "great" opened up a lead of ten yards over the pack.

Bill Guiterra, running the anchor leg, held off the vain attempt of Rhode Island's Holt to pass him, and came in a winner by about six yards.

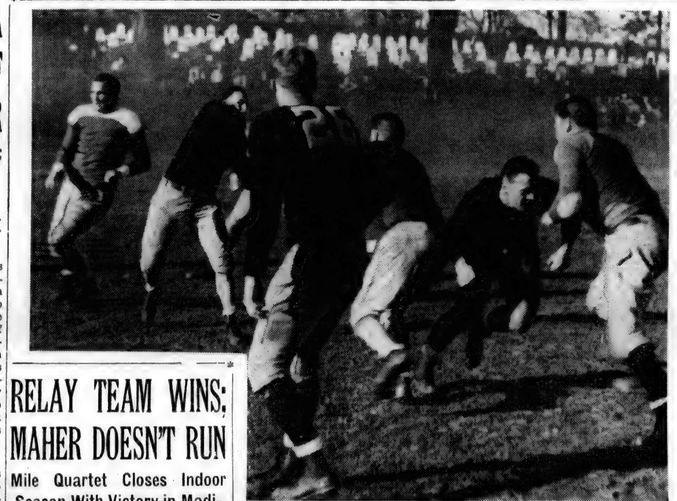
Maher Omitted

Johnny Maher, followed by a jinx of some sort, had an unfortunate incident to mar his chances of running in the 60- yd. dash. The meet was 15 minutes ahead of schedule, due to a switching of events to make room for a radio broadcast. While he was in the dressing room getting a rubdown his heats in the 60 were run off unknown to him. Thus he was scratched from the race with no consideration.

This meet wound up the indoor season for the trackmen and showed great possibilities for the outdoor season. The track squad has not been defeated in the past two years, and this year will be the most strenuous campaign yet attempted.

NO STUDENT TICKETS

School authorities announced today that there will be no student tickets sold for the games to be played in the U. of P. Palestra this week. The prices of tickets will be $.57 for general admission and $1.14 for reserved seats.



The action depicted above can be seen almost daily on the field in front of Austin Hall, as candidates for next year's varsity eleven undergo rigorous spring training drills.

Many Candidates Report For Berths As Varsity Begins Spring Training

Replacements For Left Side of Line on Hand While Right Half Remains Intact; Frosh Vie With Upperclassmen For Positions

By BILL DeGRACE

Having completed the first week of spring practice "Clipper" Smith is well pleased with the showing of his squad. Although the team lacks the smoothness that comes from continuous practice, the "Clipper" and his aid, Vince McNally, are satisfied.

Dividing the squad into four teams and holding two hour practice sessions daily, Coach Smith has continued to conduct conditioning exercises, long grass drills, and has stressed forward pass defense. At the same time he is devoting much of his time in looking over freshmen prospects in order to find replacements to fill the wide gap in the left side of the line.

Right Side Intact

Barring injuries "Clipper" has no cause to worry over the right side of the line for it will remain intact with the fine defensive end, Walt Nowak, steady George Kamen, and the durable Dave Di Filippo at guard.

Thus far the changing of Len Kolenda from center to his original position at left end has proved very wise. Using his large frame to its best advantage he has become the best pass snatcher on the squad. Another end who has shown notice that he will demand attention later on is Frank Bukofski. Last season Frank proved a very capable substitute, filling in for both John Wysocki and Walt Nowak.

Right behind Bukofski, and coming along fast are Stan Stress, Ed Collins, Sam Monaco, and "Legs" Shedlosky. Stress, hampered last year with an ailing back, has been showing up exceptionally well in practice. However the varsity men will be hard pressed by the talented freshmen, Big Bill Crossin, Enrico Napoletano, "Elk" Murray of North Catholic, and Bernard McMonigle.

The tackle problem which had

MANY REPORT Continued on Page Seven

KUBER REFUSES REDSKIN OFFER

The Washington Redskins, in the person of Ray Flaherty, coach of the team, were informed last week that Matt Kuber, varsity guard for three seasons, did not intend to play professional football at the completion of his college career. This response was given in a letter to the Redskins by Kuber on March 10.

As Matt explained, "I have been accepted by Temple U. Medical School and will attend there." He added that by turning down this offer he is placing himself on the way to becoming "the only thing I've always wanted to be." By this he meant a surgeon.

Honor Student

Matt, an honor student in the School of Science, intended to play as a professional when he was drafted last Fall, but since his acceptance by Temple, he has given up the idea. It may be remembered that Kuber made the All-East second team and also the All-Philadelphia team, and was given the Maxwell Award as the outstanding player of the week for his performance against Auburn.

In going to Medical School Matt is emulating another great Villanova player, Dr. Pessalano, noted surgeon in Pittsburgh, was a stellar tackle here about a decade ago.

NOTICE!!!

ALL members of the sports staff will report to the usual VILLANOVAN meeting at 1 o'clock today in Room 119 Mendel Hall. More co-operation is needed if we are to continue putting out this sheet and an effort in this direction will be undertaken at the meeting.

BOXING TEAM SEEKS TO AVENGE DEFEAT IN WISCONSIN MEET

Co-captains Kirk and Duffy Suffered Losses in 1937 Meet in Madison

COACH GADSBY OPTIMISTIC

By JIM HAUGHTON

With Notre Dame the reputed capital of college football, Duke the head spot of collegiate diamond circles, and Long Island U. the home of the nation's ranking basketeers, so likewise is the University of Wisconsin the headquarters of college fistiana.

Since back in the early '20's when Fred Swan, new Temple grid head, instituted the sport in the Mid-western school, it has traveled a long way. Its teams have gained national reknown; the team's individual boxers have gathered many individual titles and sports fans take for granted Wisconsin when mentioning college punching.

Look For Win

But Villanova's leather slingers are going to attempt a "coup d'etat" when they travel to Madison this Friday evening to tangle with the undefeated Badger fighters. Back in '37 Coach Ray Gadsby took a squad to the Wisconsin woods but they didn't fare too well. The majority of the present squad were then freshmen and unfortunately experience proved the telling point. But this year Gadsby is looking for a different story.

It was at Wisconsin that co-captain Bill Duffy received his only collegiate defeat at the hands of the then Badger captain Harmon. This was a close battle but Bill dropped the decision. This year he'll have his hands full attempting to avenge the defeat when he tangles with Omar Crocker. Crocker recorded Wisconsin's only knockout against Penn State when he quieted Frank Silvestri in the second round.

Kirk vs. Rankin

The other local co-captain, Ed Kirk was also on the wrong end of the decision against George Stuhldreher on the '37 expedition. And to straighten things out will be pretty tough because he's going to tangle with George Rankin in the 135-lb. division. Rankin showed his power when he put the damper on Captain Ray Hannan of the Penn State Nittany Lions.

Coach Gadsby believes that upon the shoulders of Mike Ariano in the 127 class hangs the outcome

BOXING Continued on Page Seven

"Duke" Ready

GEORGE DUZMINSKI, injured Wildcat ace, who may return to the Blue line-up in the N. C. A. A. tournament.

Businessmen Crowned Intramural Champions

C&F WINS PLAY-OFF BY BEATING FEDIGAN IN LAST TWO TILTS

Schelle and McGurk Pace White; Bochetto, Sandor Star for Losers

WIN IN FINAL MINUTE

By FRED RAPPLEYEA

In the last few seconds of play when Don McGurk sank a long set shot from mid-court, the C&F Day-hops went out in front by one point to win the final and deciding game of the play-off series, 36-35, having tied up the series Tuesday night when they won handily from the Gigolos, 27-22.

In front of a large gathering in Alumni gymnasium Thursday night, Fedigan and the C&F Day-hops played the best intramural game of the year. Thrills and spills were the keynote of this game.

Commuters Lead

Getting off to a fast start the Whites rang up seven counters before the Maroons knew what was happening. However, Fedigan came back with some fine ball handling and beautifully executed plays under the basket to get back into the game. "Bud" O'Connell then sank a couple of nice one-hand shots to keep the C&F team in the lead. At this point "Tex" Connors, of Fedigan, got his eye and brought Fedigan up to one point behind the Commuters as the half ended, 17-16.

In the second half McGurk, the hero of the game, who had been held to two foul shots by Meido LaBalbo, went into action with two fast breaks putting his team five points in front. Then Joe Bochetto, of Fedigan, stepped in and started sinking shots from all over the court. After this the lead alternated in minutes of rough and tumble action. With three minutes to go the Maroons went ahead by one point.

Minute to Play

The Whites then scored a field goal on a long shot by Jim Schelle but "Buzz" Hart retaliated to again put Fedigan ahead. In the rough play following, Jack Stack was awarded a foul shot which he missed. Fedigan gaining possession of the ball. There was then only a minute left to play and the stage was set for McGurk.

Breaking up the freezing antics of the Residents he got hold of the ball and although closely guarded shot from mid-court, the ball swishing through the cords for the winning points. In the last few seconds Fedigan vainly tried to put in another basket, but the game ended with the ball in possession of the Commuters, McGurk, besides sinking the winning basket, shared honors for the evening with Bochetto, of Fedigan, each having 13 points to his credit when the final whistle sounded.

First Half

The other game started off with neither team gaining much of an advantage being tied most of the time. Bochetto and Schelle starred for their respective clubs in the first half by their fine work under the basket. McGurk aided the Whites by some nice one-handed shots while Vic Sandor played a fine floor game for the Maroons. The half ended with the Commuters on the long end of a 13-11 score.

In the second half while the C&F boys were running up the score the Fedigan lads were unable to penetrate the White defense. The Maroons went ten minutes in the second half without registering a goal. Jim Carroll finally broke the ice with a nice shot from the pivot position.

Fedigan Spurts

In this half Fedigan lost many good scoring opportunities because of sloppy ball handling, of which little thing the Commuters took advantage. In the last minute spurt when little Vic Sandor of the Gigolos sent three pretty mid-court shots swishing through the cords, Fedigan drew up to five points behind the Day-hops. However, the Day-hops easily maintained this lead until the end of the game.

Jim Schelle was high scorer for the winners with eight points while Sandor had a like amount to rank high for his team.

SCOOP

Watch for next week's VILLANOVAN. Among many other interesting features and articles (hooray!) it will contain two "All" teams. One will be the "All-Opponent" team, selected by the members of the varsity squad; the other is the "All-Intramural" team.

WHITE PANTS

The Villanova footballers will try wearing white pants during the spring practice session. The Philadelphia Eagles desire to adopt this fad during the coming season and therefore requested the Wildcats to try it out and see how things work out.

Intramural Basketball Champions

Shown above are members of the C. & F. quintet who won the intramural crown by defeating Fedigan Hall in a play-off series after having lost the first of three games.

BASKETBALL STATISTICS

VARSITY

	G.	F.	Pts.
Montgomery	70	35	175
Lazorchak	73	23	169
Nugent	54	18	126
Krutulis	34	32	100
Yund	33	17	93
Dubino	41	9	91
Duzminski	26	9	61
Rice	20	11	51
Sinnott	13	7	33
Vigilante	14	4	32
Robinson	1	2	4
Totals	384	167	935
Opponents' total points			671

Best average per game: Montgomery 7.9.

FROSH

	G.	F.	Pts.
Gerland	51	11	113
Gray	47	10	104
Worthington	41	20	102
Stakem	37	11	85
Parpan	30	10	70
Lessing	8	4	20
Famalette	8	1	17
Tomarro	7	1	15
Totals	99	68	526
Opponents' total points			426

Best average per game: Worthington 10.2.

IN MEMORIAM

In behalf of all Villanova College the sports staff of the VILLANOVAN wishes to extend sincere sympathy to Temple University upon the death of James Usilton, basketball coach of the Owls. Usilton died suddenly early yesterday morning.

It is with sincere regret that we realize that the basketball teams of Villanova College will no longer be able to match wits with this fine example of all that is clean and wholesome in college athletics. His ability and sportsmanship will long be remembered here at Villanova College, long after the memory of the uncomfortable moments his basketball teams gave us has been mellowed by time.

May the spirit of James Usilton long remain at Temple University.

Sportorial

Continued From Page Five

tens a setback that is true, but quite an assemblage witnessed the three other V. C.-T. U. engagements played in this school year. Who won them?

3. You certainly would have just cause for pride, Gene, if it were true that Villanova teams pointed for the Temple games. This pointing that you mention is, however, a figment of your imagination, because with schedules that contain the names of some GOOD teams, it would be absurd to point for Temple.

4. As to the criticism directed at this column, all I can say is, "The sooner a certain type of person develops a sense of humor, and can tell when something is said (or written) in a light manner, the easier it will be for that type of person to get along."

So much for comment on "Owlites."

—V—

The story has gotten around pretty well by now, but there may be some who haven't heard about the beating handed "Duke" Duzminski and "Buzz" Howlett by two Hallahan High School girls a week ago. In a game of basket-shooting one lassie topped Howlett 21-8 while the climax came when the great "Duke" dropped a 21-4 decision to another.

—V—

One of our predictions came through on Thursday when the C&F'ers took the Gigolos' measure by one point. It feels funny living all alone in Fedigan; the other Fediganites are now fugitives. Let us remind a few people that "He who."

Joe Barnes has rejoined the sports staff. He read in the "Record" the other day that "Red" Smith is in Louisiana with the A's.

Most of the students figure that Ohio State is the team to beat in the coming NCAA tourney. Let us remind you that one game must be played at a time, and that Brown, a tough quintet on any court, must be met and defeated before the Blue can even figure in another contest.

Who can tell that Wake Forest will not upset the dope and beat Ohio State on Friday night?

—V—

One thing is fairly certain, however, and that is there will be more students at the Palestra on Friday than there were at any two games played in Convention Hall. It appears that it has finally dawned upon a great number of the people attending this institution that we have a top-flight basketball team.

—V—

Although this columnist did not know Mr. Usilton, Temple's late basketball mentor, personally, we would like to add our personal tribute to that already expressed by the staff. Coach Usilton can best be judged by the calibre of the men he produced at Temple — not as athletes, but as men. We do know that he has turned out some of the finest sportsmen in these parts, and for that we salute his memory.

Prescriptions
Drugs & Toilet Articles
LA DOW'S PHARMACY
LANCASTER PIKE and SPRING MILL ROAD
VILLANOVA, PA.

Ardmore Theatre
Notice to Students
Did you know that your matriculation card will get you a reduced rate at the Ardmore Theatre at any time.
Tues. & Wed., March 14-15
"THERE'S THAT WOMAN AGAIN"
Melvyn Douglas Virginia Bruce
Thursday, March 16
Pat O'Brien Joan Blondell
"OFF THE RECORD"
Fri. & Sat., March 17-18
Claudette Colbert Herbert Marshall
"ZAZA"
Sunday, March 19
Victor McLaglen Chester Morris
"PACIFIC LINER"
Mon. & Tues., March 20-21
"ST. LOUIS BLUES"
Dorothy Lamour

SEVILLE THEATRE
Tues. & Wed., March 14-15
"Devil's Island"
BORIS KARLOFF
Thurs., Fri. & Sat., Mar. 16-17-18
'Paris Honeymoon'
BING CROSBY
FRANCISKA GAAL
Sun. & Mon., March 19-20
"Stand Up And Fight"
ROBERT TAYLOR
WALLACE BEERY

— RIDE FREE ON P. & W. RAILWAY MOVIE TICKET —
NORRIS Theatre
NORRISTOWN
Tues., Wed., Thurs., March 14, 15, 16
"WINGS OF THE NAVY"
GEORGE BRENT OLIVIA DE HAVILLAND
Fri., Sat., Mon., March 17, 18, 20
"IDIOT'S DELIGHT"
CLARK GABLE NORMA SHEARER
GARRICK Theatre
Fri., Sat., March 17, 18
Tyrone Power in "Jesse James"
Fri. Nite Big Vaudeville Show
GRAND Theatre
NORRISTOWN
Tues., March 14
"OFF THE RECORD"
Pat O'Brien - Joan Blondell
Wed., Thurs., March 15, 16
"MYSTERIOUS MISS X"
Michael Whalen - Mary Hart
Fri., Sat., March 17, 18
"THE STORM"
Charles Bickford - Preston Foster
Wed., Thurs., March 15, 16
JACK HOLT
'STRANGE CASE OF DR MEADE' also
"MR. MOTO'S LAST WARNING"
PETER LORRE

Men's Clothes Made-to-Measure
COLEBY
Tailoring Inc.
57th & Market Sts.
Suits & Topcoats
$24.75
See
Campus Representative
TIM WAAD
210 Fedigan

Bryn Mawr Confectionery

Burke Dairies
Milk & Cream
NORRISTOWN, PA.
Phone 2736-W

PACING THE DANCE PARADE!
SWING AND SWAY WITH SAMMY KAYE
AND HIS ORCHESTRA in the
COMMODORE
PALM ROOM
Dinner from $2. No cover charge at Dinner. Cover charge after 10 P. M., 75c weekdays; $1.50 Saturdays.
"NEW YORK'S BEST LOCATED HOTEL"
Frank J. Graham, Pres.
RIGHT AT GRAND CENTRAL TERMINAL
SPECIAL TEA DANCE
Every Saturday 5 to 6 P. M. No cover charge
"New York's Best Located Hotel"

Game

Continued From Page Five

Ten," comes to Philadelphia sporting a record of 10 conference wins and only 2 losses. However their seasons' escutcheon reads 14 victories and 6 contests on the short end of the count. Captain Jimmy Hull, who led the Western Conference scoring race, will be the man on whom Wake Forest must focus special attention.

Wake Forest comes from the Tarheel country of North Carolina with an enviable list of wins over Southern Conference teams. The Carolina outfit went down to the sharp-shooting St. Joseph's quintet early this winter, but attribute their loss to a rigorous game and train ride the night before their meeting with the Hawks.

"Duke" Ready

Of much interest to Villanova fans is the announcement that "Duke" Duzminski may be ready to play in the tournament. He probably will not start but is in shape to play if needed, and might see action—thereby greatly strengthening the Blue forces.

In eight games played this season "Duke" has an average of nearly eight points a game. Most of his field goals were long set shots from different angles; so, while "Duke's" Knee may be a bit wobbly, he still has that remarkable eye—which Coach Howard Cann of N. Y. U. calls "the surest shooting eye in basketball today."

Many Report

Continued From Page Five

all the appearances of causing great worry may be solved a little easier than expected. Varsity men returning include the promising Clem Andrews, Harry Dhue, Ed Killian, and Vic Cook. Coming into the limelight are seven big tackles. Most likely of the lot are Paul Stenn, the hard charging John Nieman, towering Ed Kaskey, and Walt Carter of Bordentown Military Institute. Others who are anxious to show there worth include the local Upper Darby alumnus John Kerns, Jim McClelland, and John Patterson.

Finding another guard as capable as the hard-fighting Dave Di Fillipo may not prove to be too difficult. Tony Periera, the versatile Ronnie Tornwall, Tom Casper, and former quarterback Pete Naimo, who has been shifted to running guard position, should wage an interesting battle for the position held so capably by Matt Kuber for three years. Also into battle come freshmen Joe Pierce, Lansford; Tony Anderson, Needam, Mass.; Pete Dartly, Union City; "Butch" Gaber, and Lawrence Malloy, of Baltimore, Md.

Chisick at Center

Center will be well taken care of by the very able Andy Chisick, Villanova's advance candidate for All-American honors. Freshman Ed Korisky, a hard tackling center from Hartford, Conn., should prove a very reliable substitute. Russ Bevan, Pottsville, is also seeking a varsity berth.

Losing only one backfield man from last year's squad, quarterback Harvey Buck, there appears to be no worries in this department. Returning is the versatile combination of fleet Harry Mazzei at quarter, passer Nick Basca and kicker "Buzz" Howlett at the halfback posts, with plungers Gordon Shader and Tom McMahon again sharing the fullback position. The latter two will be forced to the limit by swift John Gogolinski and the hard working freshman, Ad Worthington. Gogolinski is already showing the speed that enabled him to win his varsity letter as a sophomore and Worthington may prove to be the best of the freshmen backs. Other candidates for this position are trackmen "Whitey" Urbeills and Pete Yankauskas.

Plenty of Halfbacks

Ben Morkum will in all probability act in a relief role at the signal calling position. Ben, one of the best blockers on the team, gets the call over freshmen Tom Morgan and Walt Lessing.

The squad abounds in halfbacks. Jerry Neri, Mike Sabrinski, Art Murphy, and Paul Verbitsky appear to be outstanding replacements. Clipper has many promising backfield men coming up from the undefeated but twice tied freshmen team. Most likely are Joe Yednock, Phoenixville; Bill Howlett, brother of "Buzz" and a local luminary from Roman Catholic, and finally Joe Bchot from New Jersey. All three can pass, kick, block, and run. Two others, Gene Dudek, a kicker of exceptional ability, and Frank Famalette of Hazelton should come along fast.

Basketball Sidelights

By LOU DUBINO

Local notes:

Though many of our schools have completed their 1938-39 season, Villanova is looking forward with interest to the N. C. 2-A tournament in which it will represent the Philadelphia district . . . Temple, until meeting Penn State on the latter's court, had high hopes of repeating as champions of the Eastern Conference . . . Drexel, who—incidently—hasn't won a game in the Eastern Pennsylvania Conference will be replaced by Bucknell at the start of the 1939-40 season . . . Swarthmore lost but one game this season, that to Lehigh at Bethlehem and will be looking forward to their 1939-40 season . . . St. Joseph's has had one of its worse seasons, but with the start of the next season should be a thorn in the side of many opponents since there are many under-graduates left to keep the team intact. Kenney, for one, was but a sophomore and first ranking scorer of the Philadelphia district this season . . . P. M. C., starting out like a house on fire, soon cooled off and managed to win six games out of 16 . . . La Salle kept abreast of Villanova in their race for the Philadelphia City Championship but their losses to several Wildcat victims and the invitation of Villanova to participate in the N. C. 2-A, practically conceded Villanova the City Championship.

* * *

In an interview of the Roanoke College Basketball Coach, Gordon (Pop) White by Stan Lomax, well-known radio announcer of WOR, Villanova was given credit due it by the Roanoke coach. Roanoke, Villanova's opening game opponent, lost only one game this season and that to the 'Cats. After this loss they continued winning games over all comers until they compiled a winning streak of 19 games and a season record of 21 victories and one defeat. White mentioned the fact that Villanova was one of the best teams he had seen in action for quite some time and said they should go a long way.

* * *

The Basketball Writers of New York City have made their final selections for the basketball tournament conducted by them in the Madison Square Garden on March 15, 20, 22. Six leading teams were selected. They are: Long Island University and St. Johns' University representing New York City and the East; Roanoke College of Salem, Va. from the South; Loyola University and Bradley Tech from the Middle West, and New Mexico State from the Far West. Loyola and Bradley Tech have drawn byes for the first round and will meet their opponents in the semifinal round. St. Johns has chosen Roanoke as their opening round opponent while Long Island U. takes on New Mexico in the second game of the twin-bill. Incidently Long Island U. and New Mexico State were supposed to meet in a regular season game out in Chicago but since the double-headers weren't profitable to the Chicago promoters the game was cancelled.

* * *

Congratulations to the C&F Day-hops for their fine victory over the Fediganites in the final game of the Intramural Championship play-offs. The Fediganites deserve a lot of credit for the fine showing they made throughout the play-offs.

Boxing

Continued From Page Five

of the match. Mike has been an in and outer all season. Some matches he's hot and other matches he's plenty cold. But in meeting Charley Martinez he'll have to get right on the ball and keep going because Martinez looked plenty fast in his recent State encounter.

Mowen Improving

Buzz Mowen is the Brooklyn youngster who is amazing local boxing circles with what is commonly called "guts." This is his first year of punching and he's improving fast, but he'll have to keep stepping to last the limit with Art Walsh. In his last Rutgers start Mowen looked very fast and the local rooters are counting heavily on him to bring home the bacon against Walsh.

In the 155 and 165-lb. classes State looked its best against the Mid-westerners and Gadsby is using this as a criterion of the local's showing. Bobby Mentzinger will meet Woody Swancutt who lost a decision at State while Johnny Nojunas meets Henry Strand who battled to a tie with State's famed gridder Johnny Patrick.

Pete Naimo, husky soph gridder who has only two matches under his belt, will attempt to get going after his tough break against Rutger's Glenn Harmeson. Pete had the better of this lad, who last year reached the National finals, and he'll try to overcome that cut eye which robbed him of a victory.

Probably the best attraction of the evenin will be the heavyweight tussle between local Ed Killian and Nick Lee. Lee in his last time out banged out a decision over Handler, of State, while Big Ed legally tortured his Rutgers opponent, but to no avail. So look for a tartar. Ed will step in at about 228.

TELEGRAPHIC TRACK

Something odd in the way of track meets was held recently when the freshman track teams of Notre Dame and Ohio State met in a "telegraphic" track meet. The Ohio State team stayed in Columbus and the Irish outfit remained in South Bend, yet the two had a regulation meet. Each team ran off the events in their own gym and after the meet was over the two coaches telegraphed their respective times and the winners were figured out. Ohio State won the meet.

* * *

Meanwhile the Wildcats' court squad has been busy preparing for its opening N. C. A. A. tournament fray with Brown University. This meeting will mark Villanova's first athletic entanglement with their Rhode Island foes, who have compiled an enviable court record in the New England district.

The basketeers certainly finished up their season in a blaze of glory, but all too little attention has been focused on the individual who is probably responsible for some of that success.

At the beginning of the season every one knew that the potentialities were there, but something seemed to be lackin. The big Blue did all right in their home ballwick but seemed to lack something against the outstanding teams they faced.

Came the Temple game and the stalling, sputtering 'Cat attack became the terrific, toll-taking, devastating offense that it had threatened to be all year. The reason—a youn man answering to the name of John Krutulis—"Jolting John" to you. The Temple contest was Krutulis' first as a member of the starting five. That was all the 'Cats needed. From then until the end of the season Krutulis was the sparkplug of the Blue team's constant successes. The lad with the "cat-like" reflexes has certainly been Al Severance's man of destiny.

* * *

Thisa and Data: Track followers will be avidly watching Don Lash's attack on the world's two mile track record tomorrow night, when the Hoosier flash invades Hanover to run on Dartmouth College's famed indoor track. Incidentally, it was on this track, reputedly the fastest hardwood course in the world, that Glenn Cunningham raced to his 4.04 mile last winter.

HERE and THERE

By HARRY MAZZEI

VILLANOVA'S athletic endeavors are finally blossoming forth with as fruitful a crop of results as has been experienced in the history of sports at the Main Line institution.

The football team set the pace with its post-season Cotton Bowl bid. You all know the history of that affair—the bid was refused for very valid reasons. However two other very fine invitations have been extended to winter sports teams. The National Collegiate Athletic Association already lists the Wildcats' great court squad among the participants in its first court tourney, while that same organization would like to have the Blue boxers among its guests when the annual N. C. A. A. boxing tournament is held at the University of Wisconsin late this month.

Harry Mazzei

Personally we feel that entering this tournament would be a great thing for Villanova. Much as we pride ourselves on our past records and achievements, Villanova is to many people just a little school in Pennsylvania. In the N. C. 2 A. tournament almost all the college boxing teams in the country will be present, and after mixing with Duffy, Kirk and company for a while we feel that they may learn quite a bit about the situation on the Main Line.

There is no doubt about the individual ability of the 'Cat punchers. The same boxers have been coming through in all the meets. It would not be fair to deny them an opportunity to meet the best in the country and fully convince skeptics that Villanova does possess better than fair pugilists.

Aside from that the advertising gained from such a venture would be invaluable. At the present writing, the Athletic Council has not given any decision on the matter, but until they do we'll be crossing our fingers.

* * *

Philip Harrison Store
Shoes & Clothing For The Family
Next Door to the Movies
BRYN MAWR, PA.

The Wayne Hotel
LANCASTER AVENUE
WAYNE, PA.
Telephone 380
Headquarters For Visitors to Villanova
Excellent Dinners at $1
SPECIAL STUDENT RATES
J. T. McFATE, Mgr.

Connelly's
SAY IT WITH FLOWERS
MAIN LINE FLORIST
1226 Lancaster Pike
ROSEMONT
Bryn Mawr 252

FOR EXPERT CONVENIENT ATTENTION
SERVICE IS OUR FIRST THOUGHT
PATRONIZE
The CAMPUS Barber Shop
FIRST CLASS WORK
HAIRCUT 40c
Popular Prices

Compliments of
BRYN MAWR TRUST CO.

COLADONATO
B. M. 1266
College Tailor Since 1925
Junior Blazers Made to Measure
CLEANING PRESSING
"THE CLOTHES WE SELL FIT WELL"
Cassocks and Capes at Reasonable Prices
See Campus Representative
ED DIMON
235 Austin

JEANNETT'S
BRYN MAWR FLOWER SHOP
Floral Ideas For All Occasions
Specializing in Corsages
Member Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association
823 Lancaster Ave.
Bryn Mawr 570

G. W. Cadwallader
Paints, Glass and Painters' Supplies
BUILDERS' SPECIALTIES
6101 MARKET ST.
Philadelphia
Phone SHErwood 1423

World's No. 1 Trumpeter
HARRY JAMES
AND HIS ORCHESTRA
Nightly...and Saturday at luncheon in the new
GARDEN TERRACE
Philadelphia's Smartest Atmosphere
Dinner $1.50. No cover charge. Finest food and beverages at honest prices.
The BENJAMIN FRANKLIN

Businessmen Crowned Intramural Champions

C&F WINS PLAY-OFF BY BEATING FEDIGAN IN LAST TWO TILTS

Schelle and McGurk Pace Victor Rooters, Sandor Star for Losers

WIN IN FINAL MINUTE

By HARRY MAZZEI

Two thrilling battles of pate were [illegible] Monday night as the C&F [illegible] and romped over Fedigan Hall 36-34 and 37-36 in the best of three deciding tilts of the playoff series. The C&F boys finished up the series Tuesday night when they won handily from the Greeks, 27-22.

In front of a large gathering in Alumni gymnasium Thursday night, Fedigan and the C&F Day-hops played the best intramural game of the year. Thrills and spills were the keynote of this game.

Commuters Lead

Getting off to a fast start the White-clad commuters held the Maroons down to seven counters before the latter could get going. However, Fedigan came back with some fine ball handling and beautifully executed plays under the basket to get back into the game. "Bud" O'Connell then sank a couple of nice one-hand shots to keep the C&F team in the lead. At this point "Pete" Conrad of Fedigan, got his eye and brought Fedigan up to one point behind the Commuters as the first half ended, 17-16.

Jim Schelle of McGurk was the hero of the game, who had been held to two foul shots by Meido Lacobo, went into action with two neat baskets putting his team five points in front. Then Joe Echelbach of Fedigan, stepped in and started sinking shots from all over the court. After this the lead altered in minutes of rough and tumble action. With three minutes to go the Maroons went ahead by one point.

Minute to Play

The Whites then scored a field goal on a long shot by Jim Schelle but "Buzz" Hart retaliated to again put Fedigan ahead. In the rough play following, Jack Stack was awarded a foul shot which he made, Fedigan gaining possession of the ball. There was then only a minute to play and the stage was set for McGurk.

Taking up the freezing duties [illegible] Residents he got hold of the ball and although closely guarded from mid-court, the [illegible] through the court for a [illegible] points to the lead. Fedigan quickly tried for a counter by basket, but the C&F boys took the ball to [illegible] of the Commuters. Mc[illegible] sinking the works [illegible] honors for the evening with 15 points. Echelbach [illegible] 13 points to lead Fedigan in scoring honors.

First Half

The game started off with a bang, gaining much of its momentum from the fact that both Echelbach and Schelle started for their respective clubs in the first half, both their work under the basket. McGurk aided the White cause with some one-handed shots, while Vic Sandor played a fine game for the Maroons. The half ended with the Commuters on the long end of a 13-11 score.

In the second half while the C&F boys were running up the score the Fedigan lads were unable to penetrate the White defense. The Maroons went ten minutes in the second half without registering a goal. Jim Carroll finally broke the ice with a nice shot from the pivot position.

Fedigan Spurts

In this half Fedigan lost many good scoring opportunities because of sloppy ball handling, of which little thing the Commuters took advantage. In the last minute spurt when little Vic Sandor of the Gigolos sent three pretty mid-court shots swishing through the cords, Fedigan drew up to five points behind the Day-hops. However the Day-hops easily maintained this lead until the end of the game.

Jim Schelle was high scorer for the winners with eight points while Sandor had a like amount to rank high for his team.

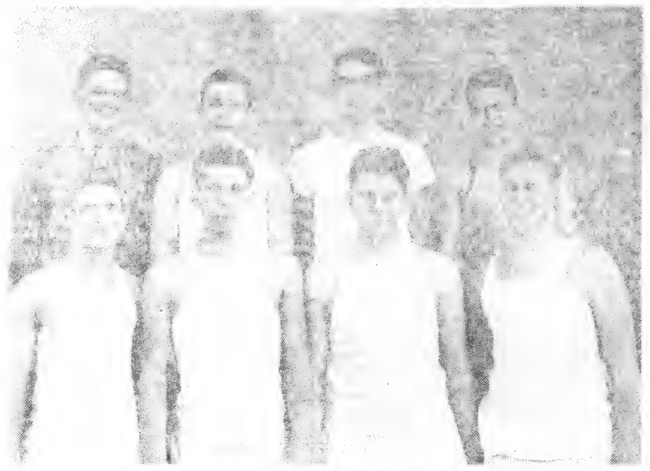
SCOOP

Watch for next week's VILLANOVAN. Among many other interesting features and articles appearing it will contain two "All" teams. One will be the "All-Opposition" team, selected by the members of the varsity squad; the other is the "All Intramural" team.

WHITE PANTS

The Villanova footballers will try wearing white pants during the spring practice session. The 1941 squad is thinking of doing away with the moleskin pants and will adopt this style for the coming season and therefore requested the Wildcats to try it out and see how things work out.

Intramural Basketball Champions



Shown above are members of the C. & F. quintet who won the intramural crown by defeating Fedigan Hall in a play-off series after having lost the first of three games.

BASKETBALL STATISTICS

VARSITY

	G.	F.	Pts.
Montgomery	70	35	175
Lazowick	73	23	169
Nugent	51	18	126
Krutulis	34	32	100
Yund	24	17	65
Dubino	41	9	91
Duzminski	26	9	61
Rice	20	11	51
Vigilante	14	4	32
Robinson	1	2	4
Totals	384	167	935
Opponents' total points			671

Best average per game: Montgomery 7.9.

FROSH

	G.	F.	Pts.
Gerland	51	11	113
Gray	17	10	104
Worthington	41	20	102
Stakem	37	11	85
Parpan	29	10	70
Lessing	8	4	20
Famalette	8	1	17
Tomarro	7	1	15
Totals	8	68	526
Opponents' total points			426

Best average per game: Worthington 10.2.

IN MEMORIAM

In behalf of all Villanova College the sports staff of the VILLANOVAN wishes to extend sincere sympathy to Temple University upon the death of James Usilton, basketball coach of the Owls. Usilton died suddenly early yesterday morning.

It is with sincere regret that we realize that the basketball teams of Villanova College will no longer be able to match wits with this fine example of all that is clean and wholesome in college athletics. His ability and sportsmanship will long be remembered here at Villanova College, long after the memory of the uncomfortable moments his basketball teams gave us has been mellowed by time.

May the spirit of James Usilton long remain at Temple University.

Sportorial

Continued From Page Five

tens a setback that is true, but quite an assemblage witnessed the three other V. C.-T. U. engagements played in this school year. Who won them?

3. You certainly would have just cause for pride, Gene, if it were true that Villanova teams pointed for the Temple games. This pointing that you mention is, however, a figment of your imagination, because with schedules that contain the names of some GOOD teams, it would be absurd to point for Temple.

4. As to the criticism directed at this column, all I can say is, "The sooner a certain type of person develops a sense of humor, and can tell when something is said (or written) in a light manner, the easier it will be for that type of person to get along."

So much for comment on "Owlites."

—V—

The story has gotten around pretty well by now, but there may be some who haven't heard about the beating handed "Duke" Duzminski and "Buzz" Howlett by two Hallahan High School girls a week ago. In a game of basket-shooting one lassie topped Howlett 21-8 while the climax came when the great "Duke" dropped a 21-4 decision to another.

—V—

One of our predictions came through on Thursday when the C&F'ers took the Gigolos' measure by one point. It feels funny living all alone in Fedigan; the other Fediganites are now fugitives. Let us remind a few people that "He who."

Joe Barnes has rejoined the sports staff. He read in the "Record" the other day that "Red" Smith is in Louisiana with the A's.

Most of the students figure that Ohio State is the team to beat in the coming NCAA tourney. Let us remind you that one game must be played at a time, and that Brown, a tough quintet on any court, must be met and defeated before the Blue can even figure in another contest.

Who can tell that Wake Forest will not upset the dope and beat Ohio State on Friday night?

—V—

One thing is fairly certain, however, and that is there will be more students at the Palestra on Friday than there were at any two games played in Convention Hall. It appears that it has finally dawned upon a great number of the people attending this institution that we have a top-flight basketball team.

—V—

Although this columnist did not know Mr. Usilton, Temple's late basketball mentor, personally, we would like to add our personal tribute to that already expressed by the staff. Coach Usilton can best be judged by the calibre of the men he produced at Temple — not as athletes, but as men. We do know that he has turned out some of the finest sportsmen in these parts, and for that we salute his memory.

Game

Continued From Page Five

Ten," comes to Philadelphia sporting a record of 10 conference wins and only 2 losses. However their seasons' escutcheon reads 14 victories and 6 contests on the short end of the count. Captain Jimmy Hull, who led the Western Conference scoring race, will be the man on whom Wake Forest must focus special attention.

Wake Forest comes from the Tarheel country of North Carolina with an enviable list of wins over Southern Conference teams. The Carolina outfit went down to the sharp-shooting St. Joseph's quintet early this winter, but attribute their loss to a rigorous game and train ride the night before their meeting with the Hawks.

"Duke" Ready

Of much interest to Villanova fans is the announcement that "Duke" Duzminski may be ready to play in the tournament. He probably will not start but is in shape to play if needed, and might see action—thereby greatly strengthening the Blue forces.

In eight games played this season "Duke" has an average of nearly eight points a game. Most of his field goals were long set shots from different angles; so, while "Duke's" knee may be a bit wobbly, he still has that remarkable eye—which Coach Howard Cann of N. Y. U. calls "the surest shooting eye in basketball today."

Many Report

Continued From Page Five

all the appearances of causing great worry may be solved a little easier than expected. Varsity men returning include the promising Clem Andrews, Harry Dhue, Ed Killian, and Vic Cook. Coming into the limelight are seven big tackles. Most likely of the lot are Paul Stenn, the hard chinning John Nienan, towering Ed Keakey, and Walt Carter of Bordentown Military Institute. Others who are anxious to show there worth include the local Upper Darby alumnus John Kerns, Jim McClelland, and John Patterson.

Finding another guard as capable as the hard-fighting Dave Di Filippo may not prove to be too difficult. Tony Periera, the versatile Ronnie Tornwall, Tom Casper, and former quarterback Pete Naimo, who has been shifted to running guard position, should wage an interesting battle for the position held so capably by Matt Kuber for three years. Also into battle come freshmen Joe Pierce, Lansford; Tony Anderson, Needam, Mass.; Pete Darbly, Union City; "Butch" Gaber, and Lawrence Malloy, of Baltimore, Md.

Coach at Center

Center will be a [illegible] care of by Dke Wargo and Andy Cvitanic. Villanova's defensive [illegible] from [illegible] Ed Kochanski [illegible] prove a very [illegible] Bryan [illegible] from [illegible] a varsity [illegible] back Hu[illegible] is the squad to [illegible] in this division [illegible] most [illegible] of the veterans [illegible] Rev. Harry Mozer, [illegible] Locker "Tom [illegible] Nick Lucca and back posts with Flanders Gordon Rhoder and Tom Mc[illegible]hon again sharing the fullback position. The latter two will be forced to the limit by Saint Joseph Gogolinski and the hard working freshmen, Ad Worthington. Gogolinski is already showing the speed that enabled him to win his varsity letter as a sophomore and Worthington may prove to be the best of the freshmen backs. Other candidates for this position are trackmen "Whitey" Urbelis and Pete Yankauskas.

Plenty of Halfbacks

Ben Morkum will in all probability act in a relief role at the signal calling position. Ben, one of the best blockers on the team, gets the call over freshmen Tom Morgan and Walt Lessing.

The squad abounds in halfbacks. Jerry Neri, Mike Sabrinski, Art Murphy, and Paul Verbitsky appear to be outstanding replacements. Clipper has many promising backfield men coming up from the undefeated but twice tied freshmen team. Most likely are Joe Yednock, Phoenixville; Bill Howlett, brother of "Buzz" and a local luminary from Roman Catholic, and finally Joe Ilchot from New Jersey. All three can pass, kick, block, and run. Two others, Gene Ducek, a kicker of exceptional ability, and Frank Famalette of Hazelton should come along fast.

Basketball Sidelights

By LOU DUBINO

Local notes:

Though many of our schools have completed their 1938-39 season, Villanova is looking forward with interest to the N. C. 2-A tournament in which it will represent the Philadelphia district . . . Temple, until meeting Penn State on the latter's court, had high hopes of repeating as champions of the Eastern Conference . . . Drexel, who—incidently—hasn't won a game in the Eastern Pennsylvania Conference will be replaced by Bucknell at the start of the 1939-40 season . . . Swarthmore lost but one game this season, that to Lehigh at Bethlehem and will be looking forward to their 1939-40 season . . . St. Joseph's has had one of its worse seasons, but with the start of the next season should be a thorn in the side of many opponents since there are many under-graduates left to keep the team intact. Kenney, for one, was but a sophomore and first ranking scorer of the Philadelphia district this season . . . U. S. M. C., starting out like a house on fire, soon cooled off and managed to win six games out of 16 . . . La Salle kept abreast of Villanova in their race for the Philadelphia City Championship but their losses to several Wildcat victims and the invitation of Villanova to participate in the N. C. 2-A. practically conceded Villanova the City Championship.

* * *

In an interview of the Roanoke College Basketball Coach, Gordon (Pop) White by Stan Lomax, well-known radio announcer of WOR, Villanova was given credit due it by the Roanoke coach. Roanoke, Villanova's opening game opponent, lost only one game this season and that to the 'Cats. After this loss they continued winning games over all comers until they compiled a winning streak of 19 games and a season record of 21 victories and one defeat. White mentioned the fact that Villanova was one of the best teams he had seen in action for quite some time and said they should go a long way.

The Basketball Writers of New York have announced their second selection for the mythical mid-season quintet selected by them in the Madison Square Garden on March 6, 7, 8. Six leading players were awarded honors. New [illegible] and the Pacific Coast Conference, Rice, Va. from the South, Loyola University and Bradley Tech from the Middle West, and New Mexico State from the Far West. Loyola and Bradley Tech have drawn byes for the first round and will meet their opponents in the semi-final round. St. Johns has chosen Roanoke as their opening round opponent while Long Island U. takes on New Mexico in the second game of the twin-bill. Incidently Long Island U. and New Mexico State were supposed to meet in a regular season game out in Chicago but since the double-headers weren't profitable to the Chicago promoters the game was cancelled.

* * *

Congratulations to the C&F Day-hops for their fine victory over the Fedigantes in the final game of the Intramural Championship play-offs. The Fedigantes deserve a lot of credit for the fine showing they made throughout the play-offs.

Boxing

Continued From Page Five

of the match. Mike has been an in and outer all season. Some matches he's hot and other matches he's plenty cold. But in meeting Charley Martinez he'll have to get right on the ball and keep going because Martinez looked plenty fast in his recent State encounter.

Mowen Improving

Buzz Mowen is the Brooklyn youngster who is amazing local boxing circles with what is commonly called "guts." This is his first year of punching and he's improving fast, but he'll have to keep stepping to last the limit with Art Walsh. In his last Rutgers start Mowen looked very fast and the local rooters are counting heavily on him to bring home the bacon against Walsh.

In the 155 and 165-lb. classes State looked its best against the Mid-westerners and Gadsby is using this as a criterion of the local's showing. Bobby Mentzinger will meet Woody Swancutt who lost a decision at State while Johnny Nojunas meets Henry Strand who battled to a tie with State's famed gridder Johnny Patrick.

Pete Naimo, husky soph gridder who has only two matches under his belt, will attempt to get going after his tough break against Rutger's Glenn Harmeson. Pete had the better of this lad, who last year reached the National finals, and he'll try to overcome that cut eye which robbed him of a victory.

Probably the best attraction of the evenin will be the heavyweight tussle between local Ed Killian and Nick Lee. Lee in his last time out banged out a decision over Handler, of State, while Big Ed legally tortured his Rutgers opponent, but to no avail. So look for a tartar. Ed will step in at about 228.

TELEGRAPHIC TRACK

Something odd in the way of track meets was held recently when the freshman track teams of Notre Dame and Ohio State met in a "telegraphic" track meet. The Ohio State team stayed in Columbus and the Irish outfit remained in South Bend, yet the two had a regulation meet. Each team ran off the events in their own gym and after the meet was over the two coaches telegraphed their respective times and the winners were figured out. Ohio State won the meet.

* * *

Meanwhile the Wildcats' court squad has been busy preparing for its opening N. C. A. A. tournament fray with Brown University. This meeting will mark Villanova's first athletic entanglement with their Rhode Island foes, who have compiled an enviable court record in the New England district.

The basketeers certainly finished up their season in a blaze of glory, but all too little attention has been focused on the individual who is probably responsible for some of that success.

At the beginning of the season every one knew that the potentialities were there, but something seemed to be lackin. The big Blue did all right in their home ballwick but seemed to lack something against the outstanding teams they faced.

Came the Temple game and the stalling, sputtering 'Cat attack became the terrific, following, fast-taking, devastating offense that it had threatened to be all year. The reason—a youn man answering to the name of John Krutulis—"Jolting John" to you. The Temple contest was Krutulis' first as a member of the starting five. That was all the 'Cats needed. From then until the end of the season Krutulis was the sparkplug of the Blue team's constant successes. The lad with the "cat-like" reflexes has certainly been Al Severance's man of destiny.

* * *

Thisa and Data: Track followers will be avidly watching Don Lash's attack on the world's two mile track record tomorrow night, when the Hoosier flash invades Hanover to run on Dartmouth College's famed indoor track. Incidentally, it was on this track, reputedly the fastest hardwood course in the world, that Glenn Cunningham raced to his 4.01 mile last winter.

HERE and THERE

By HARRY MAZZEI

VILLANOVA'S athletic endeavors are finally blossoming forth with as fruitful a crop of results as has been experienced in the history of sports at the Main Line institution.

The football team set the pace with its post-season Cotton Bowl bid. You all know the history of that affair—the bid was refused for very valid reasons. However two other very fine invitations have been extended to winter sports teams. The National Collegiate Athletic Association already lists the Wildcats' great court squad among the participants in its first court tourney, while that same organization would like to have the Blue boxers among its guests when the annual N. C. A. A. boxing tournament is held at the University of Wisconsin late this month.

Harry Mazzei

Personally we feel that entering this tournament would be a great thing for Villanova. Much as we pride ourselves on our past records and achievements, Villanova is to many people just a little school in Pennsylvania. In the N. C. 2 A. tournament almost all the college boxing teams in the country will be present, and after mixing with Duffy, Kirk and company for a while we feel that they may learn quite a bit about the situation on the Main Line.

There is no doubt about the individual ability of the 'Cat punchers. The same boxers have been coming through in all the meets. It would not be fair to deny them an opportunity to meet the best in the country and fully convince skeptics that Villanova does possess better than fair pugilists.

Aside from that the advertising gained from such a venture would be invaluable. At the present writing, the Athletic Council has not given any decision on the matter, but until they do we'll be crossing our fingers.

Bryn Mawr Confectionery

Burke Dairies
Milk & Cream
NORRISTOWN, PA.
Phone 2736-W

Men's Clothes Made-to-Measure
COLEBY
Tailoring Inc.
57th & Market Sts.
Suits & Topcoats
$24.75
See
Campus Representative
TIM WAAD
210 Fedigan

Ardmore Theatre
Notice to Students
Did you know that your matriculation card will get you a reduced rate at the Ardmore Theatre at any time.
Tues. & Wed., March 14-15
"THERE'S THAT WOMAN AGAIN"
Melvyn Douglas Virginia Bruce
Thursday, March 16
Pat O'Brien Joan Blondell
"OFF THE RECORD"
Fri. & Sat., March 17-18
Claudette Colbert Herbert Marshall
"ZAZA"
Sunday, March 19
Victor McLaglen Chester Morris
"PACIFIC LINER"
Mon. & Tues., March 20-21
"ST. LOUIS BLUES"
Dorothy Lamour

SEVILLE THEATRE
Tues. & Wed., March 14-15
"Devil's Island"
BORIS KARLOFF
Thurs., Fri. & Sat., Mar. 16-17-18
'Paris Honeymoon'
BING CROSBY
FRANCISKA GAAL
Sun. & Mon., March 19-20
"Stand Up And Fight"
ROBERT TAYLOR
WALLACE BEERY

— RIDE FREE ON P. & W. RAILWAY MOVIE TICKET —
NORRIS Theatre NORRISTOWN
Tues., Wed., Thurs., March 14, 15, 16
"WINGS OF THE NAVY"
GEORGE BRENT OLIVIA DE HAVILLAND
Fri., Sat., Mon., March 17, 18, 20
"IDIOT'S DELIGHT"
CLARK GABLE NORMA SHEARER
GRAND Theatre NORRISTOWN
Tues., March 14
"OFF THE RECORD"
Pat O'Brien - Joan Blondell
Wed., Thurs., March 15, 16
"MYSTERIOUS MISS X"
Michael Whalen - Mary Hart
Fri., Sat., March 17, 18
"THE STORM"
Charles Bickford - Preston Foster
GARRICK Theatre
Fri., Sat., March 17, 18
Tyrone Power in "Jesse James"
Fri. Nite Big Vaudeville Show
Wed., Thurs., March 15, 16
JACK HOLT
'STRANGE CASE OF DR MEADE'
also
"MR. MOTO'S LAST WARNING"
PETER LORRE

Prescriptions
Drugs & Toilet Articles
LA DOW'S PHARMACY
LANCASTER PIKE and SPRING MILL ROAD
VILLANOVA, PA.

PACING THE DANCE PARADE!
SWING AND SWAY WITH SAMMY KAYE
AND HIS ORCHESTRA in the
COMMODORE
PALM ROOM
Dinner from $2. No cover charge at Dinner. Cover charge after 10 P.M., 75c weekdays; $1.50 Saturdays.
"NEW YORK'S BEST LOCATED HOTEL"
Frank J. Crohan, Pres.
RIGHT AT GRAND CENTRAL TERMINAL
SPECIAL TEA DANCE Every Saturday 5 to 6 P. M. No cover charge
"New York's Best Located Hotel"

The Wayne Hotel
LANCASTER AVENUE
WAYNE, PA.
Telephone 280
Headquarters For Visitors to Villanova
Excellent Dinners at $1
SPECIAL STUDENT RATES
J. T. McFATE, Mgr.

FOR EXPERT CONVENIENT ATTENTION
SERVICE IS OUR FIRST THOUGHT
PATRONIZE
The CAMPUS Barber Shop
FIRST CLASS WORK
HAIRCUT 40c
Popular Prices

Compliments of
BRYN MAWR TRUST CO.

Philip Harrigen Store
Shoes & Clothing For The Family
Next Door to the Movies
BRYN MAWR, PA.

MAIN LINE FLORIST
1226 Lancaster Pike
ROSEMONT
Bryn Mawr 252

COLADONATO
B. M. 1266
College Tailor Since 1925
Junior Blazers Made to Measure
CLEANING PRESSING
CLOTHES WE MAKE FIT WELL
Cassocks and Capes at Reasonable Prices
See Campus Representative
ED DIMON
235 Austin

JEANNETT'S
BRYN MAWR FLOWER SHOP
Floral Ideas For All Occasions
Specializing in Corsages
Member Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association
823 Lancaster Ave.
Bryn Mawr 570

Contracts Awarded For Junior Blazers

Continued From Page One

member of the committee in installments or in a single sum.

The Roger's Company has guaranteed to have all alterations and adjustments completed before the last week in April. The Blazers will definitely arrive before Friday, April 28, which is the Friday immediately preceeding Junior Week.

Coinciding with the release of the Blazer Committee is that of the Dinner Dance. Chairman Francis M. Fitzpatrick will have a group of five to aid him. James B. Scott, Arts School; Frank X. Connors, School of Commerce and Finance; John A. Heck and Frank S. Melograna, School of Technology, and Joseph M. Back, School of Science, will compose the committee.

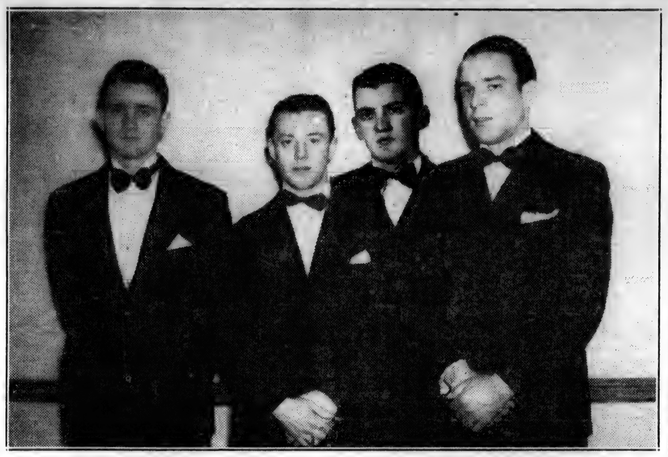
"To insure a successful Dinner Dance, it is necessary to have the whole-hearted co-operation of the class. During the next week any suggestions as to where this social function should be held or any ideas relative to this activity should be brought to the attention of the committeeman in your school. In this manner the majority of the class will be served," stated Fitzpatrick. A meeting of the Dinner Dance Committee will be held sometime later in the week.

REGISTRAR AT MEETING

Mr. Paetrus F. Banmiller, registrar, attended the College Night program held at the Norristown senior high school on Friday evening, March 10.

Mr. Banmilelr will also attend a meeting of the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools to be held at the University Club in Phila. on Friday, March 17. He will also be present at a Pre-College conference to be held at the Pingry School in Elizabeth, N. J., on March 17 and 18.

DISPLAY OUTSTANDING FORSENIC TALENTS



Above are pictured finalists in tonight's oratorical contest. Left to right, Thomas E. Delate, senior in the School of Arts; Joseph V. McCabe, freshman in the School of Commerce and Finance; Robert E. O'Brien, junior in the School of Commerce and Finance; Robert G. Wilderotter, junior in the School of Arts.

Orators to Compete In Finals Tonight

Continued From Page One

manufactured death is again at Europe's door.

Winner of the contest will receive the Martaugh Medal for Public Speaking and will go to New York to compete with the victors of similar oratorical contests of Fordham University and Manhattan College. The winner of this final declamation contest will gain possession of a loving cup.

Richard L. Breen, '40, in a dramatically effective speech, won the annual oratorical contest in the Collins Auditorium at Fordham. His speech was entitled "Dark Epilogue" and, appearing on the stage without any introduction from the chairman, he pictured himself as a dead soldier who had returned from the supposed war which followed the crisis of 1939. In essence the speech was a plea for the abolishment of war.

Pax Romana Group Convenes Here

Continued From Page One

properly represented in current publications. Through the SIPUC or International Secretariate of the University Catholic Press, it links in mutual cooperation hundreds of university Catholic publications, watches over the relations between them and the world press, publishes the "Pax Romana," a monthly newspaper, "Folia Periodica," a quarterly bulletin in three languages, and circulars and letters of various kinds.

But the press is only one of its many activities. Pax Romana furthers friendly intercourse among all nations by promoting international travel by arranging exchange scholarships, by helping students traveling or studying abroad to meet other Pax Romana members, and in many cases procuring free board and lodging for traveling students in the homes of native students.

Faculty Comments

Continued From Page Two

and values this fine art very highly as a self-expression or self-revelation of the artist on the one hand, and on the other the great group of those who in their simplicity and ignorance gape at art instead of standing in the rain.

To the medievalist industry without art was brutality. It is we of the so-called enlightened age who have first proposed to make a division of art; one sort to be barely utilitarian, the other luxurious; and altogether omitting what was once the highest function of art, to express and to communicate ideas. The contrast is best noted when we examine the purpose for which buildings and their furnishings for the ordinary man have been and are built. In medieval times they were designed for beautiful living. Today they are designed for "bare existence." Art has deserted the life of the common man.

This is what is wrong with art.

Spanish Festival Planned

This Wednesday night the Spanish Club will practice singing Spanish songs. This is being done in preparation for the festival to be held on the Feast of Cervantes. Both Villanova and Rosemont colleges are cooperating for the affair. Part of the program will be the presentation of a medal and a diploma to the two students who have done outstanding work in Spanish.

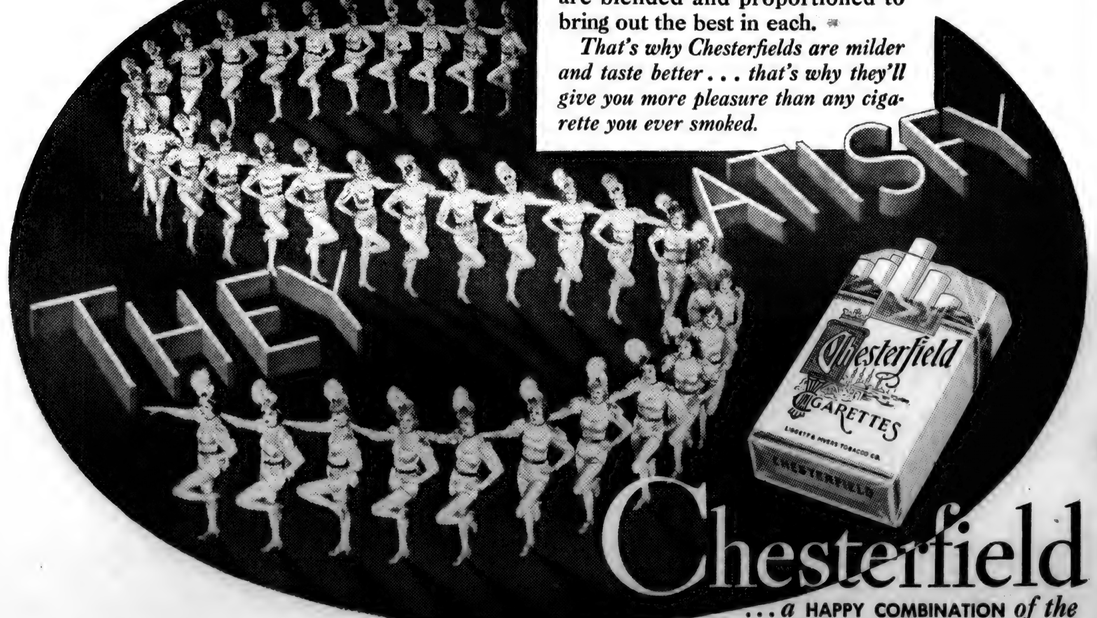
A Combination that Satisfies with a Capital "S"

Radio City's world-famous "Rockettes" and CHESTERFIELDS

...two can't-be-copied combinations

There's skill and precision in the way the Rockettes dance and there's skill and precision in the way the mild ripe Chesterfield tobaccos are blended and proportioned to bring out the best in each.

That's why Chesterfields are milder and taste better . . . that's why they'll give you more pleasure than any cigarette you ever smoked.



Chesterfield

...a HAPPY COMBINATION of the world's best cigarette tobaccos

Copyright 1939, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

VILLANOVAN

Vol. 11—No. 18 VILLANOVA, PA., TUESDAY, MARCH 21, 1939 N. A. S. Z-660

MURRAY P. ZEALOR ELECTED PRESIDENT OF CATHOLIC GROUP

Villanova Sophomore to Lead Philadelphia District of National Student Federation

CATHOLIC CLUBS TO UNITE

Murray P. Zealor was elected president of the Philadelphia district of the National Federation of Catholic College Students at the meeting of the organization at Villanova College on Sunday, March 19.

The other members elected to office were Frank Hutzel of La Salle College as vice-president; Joseph Burke of Saint Joseph College as secretary, and Miss Mary Schubert of College of Chestnut Hill as treasurer.

Leading the discussion of the organization and enlightening all the members of its purpose was Miss Winifred Byles of Manhattanville College. Miss Byles is on the publicity and promotion committee of the New York District of the National Federation of Catholic College Students.

The group is a working part of the Pax Romana in publicizing its work in America. This work comprises of uniting into one body the activities of the various campus organizations for the "dvancement of the Catholic groups into one movement. The federation is acting as a secretariat, a clearing house that will lend its assistance to formulate a common front.

The initial meeting of the federation in this district was warmly received. It is thought that this organ of Catholic Action is the needed incentive to produce an intellectual offensive to all that is anti-Catholic. This is the first attempt to girdle Catholic Students in this country to movements that have been popular in Catholic colleges abroad.

Representatives from six neighboring Catholic colleges, Rosemont College, Immaculata College, College of Chestnut Hill, La Salle College, Saint Joseph College, and Villanova College attended the meeting.

HISTORIANS ARGUE ON DEFENSE POLICY

Opinions of Senators Bridges and Connelly Heard at the Meeting

National defense policy, as adhered to by the administration, was discussed at the weekly meeting which was held Thursday evening. The meeting was so arranged that those in attendance might listen to Senators Bridges and Connelly, speakers on the Town Meeting of the Air.

Senator Bridges, as an ardent Republican from New Hampshire, attacked the present policy, especially in its "secrecy." On the other hand Senator Connelly upheld the President's policy and voiced his support of a building program by which our navy might be made the largest and strongest in the world.

Preceeding the radio program, Dr. Hartman took occasion to outline the development of our present foreign policy. He also pointed out that the essential differance between those who support it and those who attck it was the different ideas they have concerning the national interests.

Dr. Hartman also commented on the fact that students should evidence more interest in such questions because it would help them to form a better understanding of the problems which confront our government.

N. F. C. C. S. PRESIDENT

MURRAY P. ZEALOR

JUNIOR PROM BAND TO BE MADE KNOWN IN NEXT VILLANOVAN

Special Mother's Day Decorations for Gymnasium; Open House Plans Forwarded

In a statement made last Friday, Charles J. Cavanaugh, chairman of the Junior Prom, revealed that practically all negotiations have been completed in regard to the selection of the band for the promenade to be held this year on May 5th. "If nothing unforeseen occurs, the final selection of the band will be announced in the next issue of the VILLANOVAN," said Cavanaugh.

Likewise other plans for Junior Week are progressing favorably. This year the gymnasium will be decorated for the opening festivities of Mother's Day. Then in the latter part of the week additional decorations will be added for the Blazer Ball and the Junior Prom. The Mother's Day Program will not be as extensive as last year due to the fact that the class wishes to extend to their guests an opportunity to see the various experiments and activities of Open House.

In reply to several inquiries of the members of the Junior Class, Rev. Daniel P. Falvey, O. S. A., moderator, made a statement to the effect that all former members of the class who are no longer in college are welcome to participate in the activities of Junior Week. This would apply especially to those students who are now in Dental and Law Schools.

GEHMAN'S PAPER AWARDED PRIZE

Branch of A. I. E. E. Says Villanova Student Presents Best Talk

John B. Gehman, senior engineer, was awarded first prize for the paper which he delivered at the A. I. E. E. Student Branch Convention held at Haverford College on March 17.

Representatives from Pennsylvania, Princeton, Swathmore, John Hopkins, and Villanova spoke on various phases of electrical engineering. For his talk on "The Effects of Parasitic Reflectors in Ultra-Short Wave Transmitters," Gehman, who represented Villanova, was awarded first place. Pennsylvania won second prize.

At the next meeting of the A. I. E. E., which is to be held on March 27, Edward Glass will deliver an address. His topic has not as yet been chosen but will be announced shortly.

There was no meeting of the society yesterday in order to avoid conflict with the Phi Kappa Pi fraternity meeting.

M'CABE ADJUDGED ORATORICAL WINNER IN COLLEGE FINALS

Freshman Commerce Student Chosen Over Three Competitors

Joseph V. McCabe, freshman commerce student, won the Martaugh Medal for Public Speaking in the finals of the annual oratorical contest held at the Senior Social last Tuesday night.

In conjunction with the speech arts competition, the male chorus and symphonic band gave their second annual concert. A crowd of approximately 400 persons witnessed the affair, which was held in the Field House.

McCabe won the declamation competition with a speech entitled "The Horseman Rides Again," in which he explained how Europe once again follows the path that leads to war. The other finalists were Thomas E. Delate, senior artsman, Robert E. O'Brien, junior commerce student, and Robert G. Wilderotter, junior arts student.

Chairman of the forsenic event was Paetrus F. Banmiller. The judges were Gordon M. Burlingame, Matthew A. Lynch and Edgar Scott.

Rev. Ralph J. Handran, O. S. A., M. Mus., led the symphonic band and male chorus through a program of classical and light classical selections. The band played five pieces, the chorus sang five numbers without accompaniment, and the groups rendered three selections together. Also on the program were violin and tenor solos, an ensemble of three trumpeters played a few numbers, A guitar and accordion duet also took part in the program.

Music References Obtained By Club As Enjoyment Aids

New Attendance Records Set; Shubert, Grofe, Ravel To Be Featured

Music reference books are being supplied for the Music Seminars in Simpson Hall Wednesday and Thursday evenings. Works with bearing on the evening's program are secured, and there are usually about 15 to be passed around.

Attendance records for the cycle were set at the program of the eighth and ninth of March. Ninety were there the two evenings, an over-capacity crowd each night.

Shubert, Grofe, and Ravel are to be featured at this week's programs. Compositions to be heard are: "Marche Militaire," the Grand Canyon Suite, the Unfinished Symphony, and "Bolero."

Last week selections, from Jan Sibelius, contemporary Finnish composer, were heard. "Finlandia," Symphony No. 1 in E Minor, and "Valse Triste" were presented.

HARRINGTON TO EXPLAIN "CREATIVE IMAGINATION"

John J. Harrington will present a paper on "Creative Imagination" to the Philosophy Seminar when it meets this afternoon.

Harrington chose this topic himself. It is quite outside the range of the usual problems with which this group has interested itself in the past.

Albert E. Holl, senior artsman, will review the paper. Holl spoke at the last meeting of the seminar two weeks ago. He spoke on the life of St. Thomas. This, too, was a departure from the usual run of problems. In this case the exception was made because that day was the Feast of St. Thomas Aquinas.

BLAZER MEASUREMENTS

Gerald J. Cassidy, chairman of the Blazer committee, wishes to announce that the measurements for blazers will not be taken today as formerly stated, but on Wednesday and Thursday, March 22 and 23.

CONDUCTING CAPITOL TRIP

HAROLD F. HARTMAN, Ph. D.

PAN-AMERICAN ISSUE TOPIC OF DISCUSSION FOR SOCIAL ACADEMY

Villanova College to be Represented by Drs. Stanford, McQuade, Hartman

The 43d annual meeting of the American Academy of Political and Social Science will be held on Friday and Saturday, March 31 and April 1, at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel in Philadelphia. The Villanova faculty will be represented by Edward V. Stanford, O. S. A., president of Villanova; Dr. Harold E. Hartman, and Vincent A. McQuade, O. S. A.

The purpose of this meeting is to familiarize those interested with the problems confronting democracy in general, and institutions in America in particular. Much consideration will undoubtedly be given to the future of Pan-Americanism. This movement is essentially designed to preserve democracy in America and to foster relations with South American countries.

The subject for discussion will be "Democracy and the Americans." The chief speakers at this meeting will be: the Most Rev. James H. Ryan, Bishop of Omaha, Neb., whose subject will be "Some observations and conclusions after a tour of South America"; W. R. Castle, who will speak on "Pan-Americanism and the Monroe Doctrine"; and Ernest Wilhelm Meyer, author and lecturer, whose topic will be "Repercussions of national Socialism upon foreign countries."

'ENGINEER" ISSUE TO BE RELEASED

George J. Wilson, Jr., Describes "Medicine and Electricity" in Feature Article

The latest issue of the Villanova Engineer, which will be released in two weeks, will contain as its feature an article, "Medicine and Electricity," by George J. Wilson, Jr. junior in electrical engineering. Advances made in medicine through the therapeutic use of electrical apparatus and appliance, will be discussed.

In addition to this article, the issue will highlight: "Improvements Made on Highway Design," by James J. Carroll, senior in chemical engineering; "Advances Made in Weather Forecasting," by Joseph C. Dorsey, freshman in the School of Engineering, and a discussion of the contemplated summer surveying camp by Mathew H. Basow.

The work carried on by the seniors in setting up a monumental system on the campus will be explained by Raymond A. Sheik, a senior in civil engineering.

Pictures taken by Rev. John J. Vrana, O. S. A., of the new surveying instruments will be shown in the next issue.

GOVERNMENT GROUP SEES OPERATION OF NATIONAL AGENCIES

Local Students Hear Labor Board and Interstate Commerce Cases

TO MEET ADMINISTRATORS

Students in American Government and Constitutional Law who are making the trip to Washington will be afforded an opportunity to attend meetings of the National Relations Board on March 29 and 30. A letter recently received from Warren Madden, chairman of the Board, informed Dr. Harold F. Hartman of this fact.

On March 29 an oral argument on the Bethlehem Steel case will be witnessed by the students. The following day five oral arguments on exceptions taken by the parties to the Trial Examiner's findings, or on questions concerning representation, in various cases will be witnessed. On each of these days one of the administrative agents of the Board will describe to the students the actual functions of the Board.

Timely Discussions

These visits are extremely timely, as the history seminar during the past several weeks has been chiefly concerned with a discussion of the regulations of the Board, and with the decisions of the Supreme Court clarifying the constitutional law involved. This opportunity of visualizing the actual administrative process in operation should indeed be interesting. In addition to this, such personalities as Warren Madden, Edwin S. Smith, and Donald Wakefield Smith will be introduced to the students.

The Interstate Commerce Commission will also be visited by the students during their sojourn at the Capitol. According to a tentative schedule the case to be argued upon by a division of the Commission is that of Ex Parte No. MC-26 Boston, Mass., Commercial Zone, which is an investigation to determine the extent and area of the municipality of Boston, Mass., and municipalities contiguous to it, and

Continued on Page Four

OPEN HOUSE PLANS GEOMETRY CONTEST

Slide Rule First Prize; Public Exhibition of Winning Drawings

A duplex Slide Rule listed at $16.00 will be awarded the engineering student who submits the best drawing and model in descriptive geometry for the Open House Exhibit of May 1 and 2.

This competition is open to all students in mathematics courses 113 and 114 (Descriptive Geometry). The students submitting the 15 best models and drawings will have their work on public exhibition during the Open House.

An incentive for student work will be the rule that all drawings and models will receive one-quarter grade consideration in the computation for the fourth quarter grades in this course.

This contest which closes midnight of April 24 requires that each student must submit one drawing and model and they are to be in accordance with standard draftsmanship practice. Drawings must include plans and elevation with all necessary sectional views for constructing development and completed development from which the model is constructed.

The models will be made from the drawings submitted and the grades will be determined on drafting technique, line structure, line texture, lettering, clarity of expression, intricacy of problem, model construction and neatness.

VILLANOVAN

Published Weekly by the Students of Villanova College

Managing Board

JOHN J. HARRINGTON, '40 ..... Editor-in-Chief
JAMES P. COLLINS, '41 ..... College Editor
PHILIP M. DUNN, '40 ..... Sports Editor
JOHN T. GALLAGHER, '42 ..... Business Manager
JOSEPH N. BONGIOVANNI, '40 ..... Copy Editor
JOSEPH A. CIRELLI, '40 ..... Circulation Manager
MURRAY P. ZEALOR, '41 ..... Literary Editor
HENRY L. MANCUSO, '41 ..... Photography Editor
JOHN L. MAHER, '42 ..... Advertising Manager
JOSEPH F. BEE, '42 ..... Cartoonist

Columnists

Bernard A. Bellew, '40 ..... College Chatter
William F. Garrity, '40 ..... Odds and Ends
William J. Toy, '41 ..... Varieties
Harry A. Mazaci, '40 ..... Here and There
Anthony R. Liscio, '40 ..... Do You Know

Staff Writers

Justin G. Rutum, '40 — William E. Schubert, '42
Frank Fitzpatrick, '40 — William B. DeGrace, '42
Saul A. Wallach, '40 — Thomas H. Doyle, '42
Bernard Siegel, '40 — Howard A. McCall, '42
Thomas J. Mooney, '41 — John P. Fullam, '42
James F. Haughton, '41 — Thomas A. Shallow, '42
Andrew J. D'Angelo, '41 — Robert J. McIntyre, '42
David N. Reardon, '42 — Alfred Bongiovanni, '40
Joseph V. McCabe, '42 — William V. Sinnott, '40
Joseph A. Barnes, '41 — William J. Ebner, '42
Joseph Scarpiello, '41 — James F. Donovan, '42
Robert W. Kiley, '41 — Frederick A. Raspleyea, '40
Robert J. Fanuccini, '42 — William N. Way, '41
William B. Carey, '42 — Walter W. Lessing, '42
Francis J. Callahan, '42 — Thomas de Sipio, '42

Contributor

Lou Dubino, '39

Photographs Staff

Melvin Bricker, '41 — Walter N. LaPorte, '42
John T. Sandonato, '41

Circulation Staff

Robert P. Schister, '41 — Robert F. Donovan, '42
Bernard C. Crumb, '42 — Joseph D. Keffer, '42

Faculty Advisor—Rev. Edward B. McKee, O. S. A.

This paper is dedicated to one of the finest men who ever entered Villanova: scholar, athlete, gentleman—

L E O G O O D R E A U

Subscription—$2.00 per year.
Entered as second class matter at the Villanova Postoffice, December 27 1928

1938 Member 1939
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

REPRESENTED FOR NATIONAL ADVERTISING BY
National Advertising Service, Inc.
College Publishers Representative
420 MADISON AVE. NEW YORK, N. Y.
CHICAGO · BOSTON · LOS ANGELES · SAN FRANCISCO

Member of the Catholic School Press Association
Member of the Catholic College Press Association
Member of the National Scholastic Press Association.

TUESDAY - - - - MARCH 21, 1939

Protecting Opinion

DURING these times of oppression of rights in foreign lands the freedom of press, speech, and opinion in this country is gratefully appreciated and much vaunted; however, recent occurrences have shaken public opinion in this respect, for at times there have been incidents which have shown that this same freedom has been curbed somewhat by interested political parties.

This is an outright violation of the Constitution, but masking under the guise of national welfare, these politicians have been able to continue unhampered in their desire to allow on the air only commentators who favor their interests.

The repression of Father Coughlin a comparatively short time ago is a good example of this policy, but a more classic and complete example is personified in the case of Boake Carter, who recently rated as one of the outstanding news commentators on the air, with an approximate listening audience of 3,000,000 people.

Always outspoken in his criticism, Boake Carter gained the animosity of the administration and the Democratic party in Washington. When they saw that his daily broadcasts were playing havoc with the pro-war psychology they were feeding the public, they very diplomatically got him off the air.

Things like these make the American citizen wonder that, if democratic principles are to be safeguarded for civilization, shouldn't they be protected here, where democracy has flourished all these years? And surely the muzzling of legitimate news commentators on the air is not the proper way to build confidence in the hearts of the people as to the safety of their rights!

Attending Seminars

BEAUTY of Simpson Hall is illustrated on another page, but the purpose of seminar activities is not to bring the students there to make them comfortable but to have them study in comfort. The purpose is not to decorate a beautiful house but to use the beautiful house as a means toward a stimulation of study and the achievement of knowledge and culture.

That the building is fulfilling the function for which it was intended is evident from its active schedule of meetings and their character. Last Thursday evening, for instance, at 9 o'clock the Music Seminar adjourned after a 90-minute recital and the History Seminar then sat in session for two and a half hours. Some members even wished to prolong the meeting. In an ordinary classroom the pupils would be restive, to say the least, if they were detained half an hour. It is a real system of education, this seminar idea, flourishing on the Villanova campus through the understanding and interest of both faculty and student body. It is designed to supplement the formal class, not to supplant it.

In the small groups all are equal in the pursuit of knowledge. All take part in the discovery of truth. Under the harmonious influence of the home-like atmosphere, frictions of classroom are eliminated and close communion in study makes it possible for the teacher to implant a desirable knowledge, culture, and character in the student.

Pity The Poor Congressman

CONGRESS has caught the spirit of the old age pension. In the House during the past week there has been a bill up for consideration that would result in social security for Congressmen in their old age. Using the same system as civil service employees, the assessing of salaries to form a pension fund is the means considered.

Arguments stressed are that after 16 to 20 years in Congress they do not have a business to enter. Those who are lawyers have no practice and it is difficult at this period to find an office that will accept them as partners. Such also is the case of those who are not lawyers and have no business to enter.

A similar bill before the Senate suggested by the President was voted down. That bill was for social security extention to farm and domestic laborers.

Pet Peeves

THERE are a number of things at Villanova which, while not catastrophic, cause irritation to the student body. Some of the items which should be adjusted are enumerated here.

The excavations which the waters of time and lack of care have permitted to develop at the entrance to the parking lot. These would be worth having if there were geology students here who were interested in studying the various strata in the earth or in digging for coal, but the springs of most automobiles are not built to withstand the shock of a sudden drop of six or more inches.

The broken kneeling bench in the rear of the chapel has been in need of repair for too long a period of time It is rather uncomfortable and sometimes embarrassing to kneel down on the bench only to have it crash on the floor with an irreverent bang.

The lack of a mirror in the locker room of the field house. The metal plate on the door does serve the purpose but not nearly as well as a piece of glass would. There are also other strategic places where mirrors would facilitate combing one's hair.

Faculty Comments

Marine Biological Laboratory

By James A. Donnellon, O.S.A., Ph.D.

PERHAPS no single institution in the entire world has had a greater influence in modern biology than the Marine Biological Laboratory at Woods Hole, Massachusetts. Ever since its inception in the Summer of 1880, under the Directorship of C. O. Whitman, it has grown by leaps and bounds until today it is recognized as the leading biological station in the entire world, surpassing even the Naples Laboratory. Every Summer the leading biologists of the United States converge on this laboratory from all the leading universities and colleges in the country. Here they continue their researches and give every year to the scientific world close to two hundred papers dealing with original investigations done in whole or in part at Woods Hole. This close association of the leading scientific minds for the Summer months has done much to further the science of biology not only in the United States but also in foreign countries. No other biological station has the national and cosmopolitan character of the Woods Hole Laboratory; no other enjoys the cooperation of so large a number of educational and scientific institutions, nowhere else is the whole field of biology so fully represented and no other laboratory is so productive in original work, nor has so large a number of investigators and students.

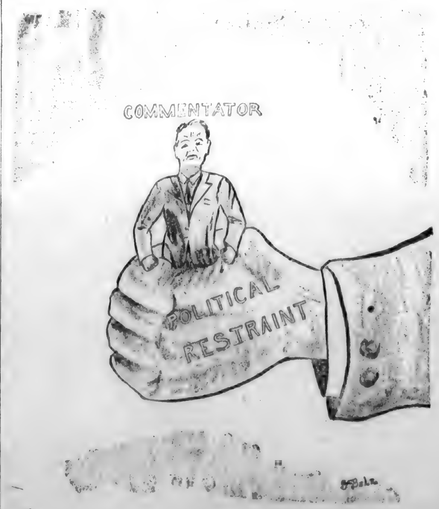
The natural resources of Woods Hole have been fundamental to the success of the Laboratory. The sea water at Woods Hole have been fundapurity, there being no large fresh water streams in the vicinity nor cities discharging their filth into the waters. In the immediate vicinity are numerous harbors and lagoons, with muddy, sandy or rocky bottoms, while the coast is so broken by bays, promontories, straits and islands as to afford the most varied habitats. In addition, the tide currents which sweep in through the sound and the "flote" bring in multitudes of floating animals and plants, many of which are tropical forms carried in from the gulf stream, which is only about one hundred miles distant.

Another factor influential in the success of the Laboratory is its independence. It is not under the control of any college, university or other institution but is truly national in character and invites the cooperation of all persons and institutions interested in the science of biology. Its government is invested in a Corporation and a Board of Trustees. The Corporation consists of about 300 persons, most of them present or former students and investigators at the Laboratory, who are interested in its welfare and have contributed to its support. The Corporation elects annually six members of the Board of Trustees, passes upon all proposed changes in the constitution and Bylaws, hears an annual report from the Director and the Treasurer and makes such recommendations concerning the general policy of the Laboratory as it may desire. The Board of Trustees consists of 42 members, most of them biologists representing prominent educational institutions in almost every part of the United States and Canada. The Board has direct charge of the property and funds of the Laboratory, elects the Director and Assistant Director, and has general supervision of the scientific work.

The Laboratory gives instructions in biological subjects and also offers opportunity for original research. Courses are given in Zoology, Botany, Embryology, Psyslology and Protozoology. In the courses there is an earnestness and enthusiasm on the part of the students and instructors which is highly stimulating. This is due not only to the exceptional character of the students and instructors, but also to the atmosphere of investigation that pervades the place and which is one of the most helpful features to the beginner, as well as the advanced worker. Instruction includes not only ordinary laboratory work in the subject named, but also a great deal of observation and collecting of living organisms in their natural haunts. Collecting trips and excursions form a regular part of the work. Investigators and even visitors at the Laboratory cheerfully contribute to the work of instruction, and so it generally happens that the lectures are given by men who are specialists in the subjects under consideration.

But it is in the work of investigation that the Laboratory has won its greatest renown. The eminent scientific standing of its staff has served to attract investigators from all parts of the land, and the Woods Hole Laboratory is today the Mecca of American Biologists and is well and favorably known throughout the world. The list of original contributions which have proceeded from the Laboratory runs into the thousands. Many of the fundamental principles underlying all biological processes have been unearthed at Woods Hole. It is scarcely possible to refer to any biological problem without includ-

FACULTY COMMENTS Continued on Page Eight



And It's Just Started by BELZ

ODDS and ENDS

By Bill Garrity

I AM A college boy. I enjoy college immensely. I have the best room in the dorm by far. In my spare time I study continuously. I like all the lectures because they are so interesting. Term papers are a lot of fun to write. Examinations are like a great big game. I do them because of that. I do anything I want. I am Napoleon.

• • •

College bred—A four year loaf on Dad's dough. (Don't you think I have a lot of crust to tell this crumby joke.)

• • •

The Senior Social was a huge success for the second year in a row. The glee club is rapidly developing into an organization of great merit and is worth watching.

• • •

A huge crowd was on hand for Nelson Eddy's concert at the Academy of Music in Philly. The people are gradually going back to classical music in a big way. The directors of the Academy have given notice that all affairs, for the rest of the year, have been sold out. Jerry Neri had the honor of introducing Mr. Eddy at an affair in high school.

• • •

The football team is working hard in the annual spring practice. From all appearances, Clipper won't have a great deal of trouble filling those open tackle berths.

• • •

Jimmy Powers, rookie with the Philadelphia Phils, gave Clipper a great compliment in a recent edition of the "Inquirer." He played under Clipper at Santa Clara and claims he is the greatest builder of men in the country. Why not tell us something new, Jimmy?

• • •

Johnny Wysocki took quite a ragging about his green tie and shirt combination on St. Patrick's Day. John said "Yesterday nothing was said about this combination, but today all the Irish are after me. I'm going over and get into an orange outfit."

• • •

A writer in a past edition of Reader's Digest, said he was not averse to picking up hitch-hikers as a rule. His exception to the rule is college men. The reason he advances for this is that they are not good conversationalists, but try to hold their education out as a means at elevating themselves over everybody else.

• • •

A group of our prominent footballers went over to Norristown last Sunday to do a little bowling. They had been invited to compete against a group of female keglers and came out on the very short end of the strikes and spares.

• • •

The girls from Immaculata don't like our illustrious publication. It seems that some cracks were made in a past edition about their ideas on news. Those remarks were confused in the reading and were really only jokes so please forgive and forget, dear girlies.

• • •

Walt Kelly did very well for himself at the Trenton Times invitation meet last Monday night. He took fourth place in his favorite event, but would have done much better if he had been accustomed to the pool. The meet was held in Trenton High's pool which has a 50 yard straight away.

VARIETIES

By WILLIAM J. TOY

T. Dorsey Junior Choice; Kyser A Close Second! What A Name!

VARIETIES announces the results of the poll taken among the members of the Junior class in the past couple of weeks.

It seems that all goo' things repeat because Tommy Dorsey, a man whose band has already graced the Villanova bandstand in past years, was a close winner over another fine band—Kay Kyser's. The margin of victory was a mere three votes, Dorsey compiling 45 while Kyser received a total of 42 counts.

This poll was conducted among members of the junior class exclusively, with the assistance of Justin Rubin and other members of the Junior class. The results were as follows:

1. Tommy Dorsey 45
2. Kay Kyser 42
3. Larry Clinton 27

(Quite a drop in votes)

4. Sammy Kaye 22
5. Glen Gray 18
6. Art Shaw 14

(A little surprise)

7. Hal Kemp 13
7. Jimmy Dorsey 13

(A tie for seventh)

Several upsets may be noted in this poll. Clinton only polling 27 votes compared with Dorsey's and Kyser's fine totals seems rather strange, and Art Shaw receiving only 14 markers is a sure sign this campus, as far as the Juniors are concerned, has a non-swing tendency.

Several other bands received one to five votes but were not included in the compilations. Even the Overbrook Swing Five received a vote.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

There are several laws still in existence which give rise to laughter. These statutes are the nucleus for the Federal Theatres present group of plays. Included are:

1. Every automobile must be preceded in the streets by a bicycle.

2. In Alaska there is a law against disturbing grizzly bears while they sleep.

3. One may not court any girl without a written note of consent from her mother.

These laws will be dramatized over Station WOR this Saturday in a script written specially for the occasion.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT:

Jean Fenwick, a letro-Goldwyn-Mayer actress, is the proud possessor of the longest real name in Hollywood. Her true monicker is Henriette Anna Sigfrieda Von de Rom Krauth, and she was born on the island of Trinidad.

SHOW NEWS:

Cornelia Otis Skinner will open next Monday evening for a one-week stay at the Locust Street Theatre in George Bernard Shaw's play "Candida." In this story he explains how he thinks women are greater than men and how they really rule the world. This is Shaw's best work and should provide an interesting evening for the highly touted males who behold women as the weaker sex. At least, some ego will be taken out of them.

Last night Orson Welles and his adaption of Shakespeare opened at the Chestnut Street Opera House with Burgess Meredith returning from Hollywood to take the leading role. This is not one of the barestage productions of Caesar so prevalent today, but is an orthodox show. Four carloads of scenery have been shipped for use on the revolving stage together with many costumes.

The D'Oyly Carte Opera Company enters on its second successful week of its present stand. This company has been welcomed by an enthusiastic public and has had a very fine stand so far. Their renditions of these Gilbert and Sullivan Operettas are tops.

—Letters!

To the Editor:

Being a Day-hop, you unfortunately know little of the topic, which has rested on my chest, unexpressed, for three long years. For if you do you would have, as a first act upon becoming Editor of the paper, inaugurated a "Letters to the Editor" column.

What do the resident students do about the mail situation? Well, they either (a) don't get any mail; (b) make cracks about the fellows who do get mail; (c) go looking around the campus for the guy who lives across the hall and promised to bring the mail up to the room. In most cases he forgot to ask for yours or put it in his pocket and never thought of it again.

If you are lucky and finally get your hands on it, only four or five persons crowd around to see if she still loves you, or if the missal is from home or to see if perchance, a check won't float out, so they can hit you up for the price of a few beers. Ah yes, it's a great life (if you don't weekend).

Well the point of the whole letter is (in case you were wondering) if the students wrote letters to the Editor every week, on Tuesday when the paper comes out we could read the letters in it and save all the trouble of running down to the P. O. every day for mail that we never get anyway.

Yours for bigger and better letters,

Joseph A. Higgins.

Ed. Note: The VILLANOVAN had been seriously contemplating the inauguration of such a column, but due to a lack of correspondence on the part of the students this plan never materialized. It is hoped that the commencement of such a column will incite the interest of the students, and that their interest will be confirmed by weekly contributions.

MAN OF AFFAIRS

PETER C. MACKIN

lwids of Pennsylvania to go to college. Others stated that he would be the leader of a vast band of Romeos who would turn into the famous Rosanovans. But away with all this idle chatter. As Caesar said when he was dividing all Gaul, these things were done—these things were done.

Chooses Business Early

Pete entered the Millers Falls public grammar school at the usually tender age, and once more he was the very center of attraction. After deciding that the teachers were asking him too many questions, which they themselves couldn't answer, the future Rosanova magnate tossed his freight in Miller's Falls High School. There he dabbled about in physical arts and began a systematic invasion of the newspaper business where he placed his wisdom and experience as a businessman at the disposal of the school weekly. Then the old town began to buzz. Peter Mackin was getting up in the world. After his graduation he had his trunks sent to Deerfield Academy where he went to woo the Muse and charm Minerva. After a year at Deerfield, the future Prime Minister of Austin Hall decided that maybe there was something in this education anyway, so he looked about for a suitable brain sharpener that gave out Academic degrees.

Fate Calls

Some misinformed individual recommended Boston University, and Pete was preparing for a triumphant invasion of the Bean city when, by chance or by fate, he ran smack into a Villanova graduate. He had been hearing for a long time strange tales about the den of the stalking Wildcat. Pete became interested, visited the campus, decided that the land of the twin spires was the place for him, and settled down to four years of work and hey-hey.

Extensive Activity

His second year was quite the same. The Massachusetts Club, Glee Club, Holy Name Society, and VILLANOVAN all wore dazed expressions of delight for the great Peter Mackin who was included in their roster. In addition, he tried his hand at periodical literature by lending his assistance to Fr. Falvey's yearly contribution, the Belle Air.

Third year came and went. Pete was business manager of the VILLANOVAN, and was the perfect toastmaster at their annual dinner-dance. The Glee Club, Belle Air and Holy Name Society were again the lucky rascals of Pete's attention.

The Last Mile

Now we come to Pete's last year in this land of nonk. He faithfully pursued the office of business manager of the VILLANOVAN, and became president of the Holy Name Society. Moreover, he organized that conglomeration of humanity that frequents the "college" across the tracks into a labor union with definite aims and purposes. They bear the somewhat dubious name of Rosanovans. "Loyality, friendship, sincerity" is their motto. Collective bargaining is outlawed and up 'till now no general strikes have been called. But their magnate is a shrewd leader.

INTRODUCING

By JAMES F. DONOVAN

YESSIREE, it was a great day in Millers Falls. Mr. and Mrs. Mackin increased the town population by one on June 15, 1916. The town patriarchs shook their gray heads in anticipation of great things for Pete, as he began his steady advance in "age, wisdom, and grace before men." They predicted a brilliant future for the curly haired blond. Some said he would even travel into the

College Chatter

By Barney Bellew

FROM the research of students on the De Paul University campus comes this portrait of a typical freshman, "Joe Frosh," and his sister, Jane.

He has positive ideas on regulation of his social life.

Joe's height: Five feet eight inches.

His weight: Between 135 and 145 pounds.

His hair: Brunette and NOT WAVY.

His eyes: Brown.

His age: Nineteen.

Sports: Baseball, swimming football.

Studies: Leans toward the scientific.

He likes popular music; favors Glen Gray for his syncopation. In the matter of reading, his fancy turns to fiction. Earthly novels have no lure for Joe. He has declared that a buck-an-a-half to two-an-a-half is PLENTY to fritter away on a co-ed or any other gal. TAKE A TIP, GALS. He favors a girl with vivacity and charm, rather than a beautiful-but-dumb creature.

As for Jane Frosh, she is five foot three; blue eyes with brown running a close second. Her weight she will not tell, but it is close to 110. She admits of 18 summers; has brown hair, sprinkled with copper.

Her hobbies are varied ranging from photography to dancing and include swimming, basketball and reading light novels. She likes to clutter up the golf course in the summer, and spends a lot of time on the beach.

For her ideal in all that is masculine, she wants him tall, good-looking, and put together like a Hercules. Nevertheless she demands that he be intellectual, considerate, gentlemanly and be a man's man. And last but oddly she prefers that he be slightly egotistical, and pretty fond of himself.

CHECK YOUR ROD SIR:

"Private firearms must be checked in the president's office before the students enter school" — so reads a paragraph in the rule book for entering freshmen at Texas A. and M. College. The situation is not as serious as it seems since the rule was formulated by the faculty in 1882, shortly after the college was founded.

• • •

Hobo: "Say buddy, will ya give me a dime for a sandwich?"

Howe: "Let's see the sandwich first."

PROSPERITY JUST AROUND THE CORNER?

Members of the class of 1938 at Rider who signed up as interested in business placement have ceased to be a real employment problem. Only three, out of the 47 who signed, are unemployed.

This is the case at a great many colleges according to various reports. It seems that the college grad of today has a better chance to secure a position than his brother of a few years ago.

HOLY SMOKE (THE CHURCH WENT UP IN FLAMES):

Two weeks ago I was somewhat amazed to see a young lady on the train calmly smoking a pipe and reading a book, without any apparent concern. She might have been returning from Newcub College of Tulane University for a girl down there recently tried a pipe. Finding it to her liking she continued the process and was imitated by many of the girls. Now about half the co-eds are "Mammy Yokum's."

Do You Know

By ANTHONY R. LISCIO

Our library contains a Bible, the Vulgate text, printed in 1482 and a Roman book printed in 1481 which contains a series of monastic legislation according to the rule of St. Augustine.

• • •

The VILLANOVAN used to be sold on the Bryn Mawr news stands.

• • •

The Villanova Alumni Association was founded in 1875.

• • •

Our School of Technology, which was founded in 1905, was the first Technical School started in any eastern Catholic college.

• • •

Augustinian Friars first came to America in 1796.

• • •

The gymnasium in Alumni Hall was erected in 1869 with all the needed equipment which included ten-pin alleys.

EVENTS OF THE WEEK

Tuesday, March 21

Belle Air (Sports)	1:00 P. M.
VILLANOVAN	1:00 P. M.
Philosophy Seminar ..	1:30 P. M.
Lenten Sermon	6:35 P. M.

Wednesday, March 22

Belle Air (Business) .	1:00 P. M.
Music Seminar	7:30 P. M.

Thursday, March 23

Belle Air (College) ...	1:00 P. M.
Glee Club	4:00 P. M.
Band	7:00 P. M.
Music Seminar	7:30 P. M.

Friday, March 24

Belle Air (Photography)	1:00 P. M.
"Room Service" Rehearsal	1:30 P. M.

Saturday, March 25

"Room Service" Rehearsal	1:30 P. M.

Sunday, March 26

"Room Service" Rehearsal	1:30 P. M.

Monday, March 27

Phi Kappa Pi	10:45 A. M.
Mathematics Club	12:30 P. M.
Belle Air (Arts)	1:30 P. M.
Glee Club	4:00 P. M.
Band	7:00 P. M.
Sociology Seminar	7:30 P. M.

THE NEWS IN BRIEF

New president of St. Joseph's College, Rev. Thomas J. Love, S. J., was appointed last week, succeeding Rev. Thomas J. Higgins, S. J., incumbent of the last six years. Father Love comes from Georgetown, where he held the chair in physics.

• • •

Villanova's flag waves regularly now that a maintenance employe has taken it upon himself to raise and lower it at dawn and dusk.

• • •

Two $1000 cash prizes and two expense-paid trips to the New York World's Fair are offered by "Advertising Age," national newspaper of advertising, for essays on "How Advertising Benefits the Consumer." Rules can be obtained at the VILLANOVAN office.

• • •

Candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Arts in the Senior class will begin their comprehensive examinations on Monday, April 17, and complete them on April 27. All exams will extend from 1:30 P. M. to 4:30 P. M. and be given in room 106 Mendel. Senior education students are required to be examined in Religion, Education, and in their major subject.

VILLANOVAN

Published Weekly by the Students of Villanova College

Entered as second-class matter at the Villanova Post-office, Villanova, Pa.

1939

Member of Catholic Press Association

Distributor of Collegiate Digest

Attending Seminars

BEAUTY of Simpson Hall is illustrated on another page, but the purpose of seminar activities is not to bring the students there to make them comfortable but to have them study in comfort. The purpose is not to decorate a beautiful house but to use the beautiful house as a means toward a stimulation of study and the achievement of knowledge and culture.

That the building is fulfilling the function for which it was intended is evident from its active schedule of meetings and their character. Last Thursday evening, for instance, at 9 o'clock the Music Seminar adjourned after a 90-minute recital and the History Seminar then sat in session for two and a half hours. Some members even wished to prolong the meeting. In an ordinary classroom the pupils would be restive to say the least, if they were detained half an hour. It is a real system of education, this seminar idea, flourishing on the Villanova campus through the understanding and interest of both faculty and student body. It is designed to supplement the formal class, not to supplant it.

In the small groups all are equal in the pursuit of knowledge. All take part in the discovery of truth. Under the harmonious influence of the home-like atmosphere, frictions of classroom are eliminated and close communion in study makes it possible for the teacher to implant a desirable knowledge, culture, and character in the student.

Pity The Poor Congressman

CONGRESS has caught the spirit of the old age pension. In the House during the past week there has been a bill up for consideration that would result in social security for Congressmen in their old age. Using the same system as civil service employees, the assessing of salaries to form a pension fund is the means considered.

Arguments stressed are that after 16 to 20 years in Congress they do not have a business to enter. Those who are lawyers have no practice and it is difficult at this period to find an office that will accept them as partners. Such also is the case of those who are not lawyers and have no business to enter.

A bill before the House would [illegible] President [illegible] voted down. The bill was for a social security system [illegible]

Faculty Comments

Marine Biological Laboratory

By James A. Donnellon, O.S.A., Ph.D.

PERHAPS no single institution in the entire world has had a greater influence in modern biology than the Marine Biological Laboratory at Woods Hole, Massachusetts. Ever since its inception in the Summer of 1830, under the Directorship of C. O. Whitman, it has grown by leaps and bounds until today it is recognized as the leading biological station in the entire world, surpassing even the Naples Laboratory. Every Summer the leading biologists of the United States converge on this laboratory from all the leading universities and colleges in the country. Here they continue their researches and give every year to the scientific world close to two hundred papers dealing with original investigations done in whole or in part at Woods Hole. This close association of the leading scientific minds for the Summer months has done much to further the science of biology not only in the United States but also in foreign countries. No other biological station has the national and cosmopolitan character of the Woods Hole Laboratory; no other enjoys the cooperation of so large a number of educational and scientific institutions, nowhere else is the whole field of biology so fully represented and no other laboratory is so productive in original work, nor has so large a number of investigators and students.

The natural resources of Woods Hole have been fundamental to the success of the Laboratory. The sea water at Woods Hole have been fundamentally, there being no large fresh water streams in the vicinity nor cities discharging their filth into the waters. In the immediate vicinity are numerous harbors and lagoons, with muddy, sandy or rocky bottoms, while the coast is so broken by bays, promontories, straits and islands as to afford the most varied habitats. In addition, the tide currents which sweep in through the sound and the "Hole" bring in multitudes of floating animals and plants, many of which are tropical forms carried in from the gulf stream, which is only about one hundred miles distant.

Another factor influential in the success of the Laboratory is its independence. It is not under the control of any college, university or other institution but is truly national in character and invites the cooperation of all persons and institutions interested in the science of biology. Its organization is invested in a Corporation and a Board of Trustees. The Corporation consists of about 300 persons, most of them recent or former [illegible] and investigators at the Laboratory, who are interested in its welfare and have contributed to its support. The Corporation elects annually six members of the Board of Trustees, passes upon all proposed changes in the constitution and By-laws, hears an annual report from the Director and the Treasurer and makes such recommendations concerning the general policy of the Laboratory as it may desire. The Board of Trustees consists of 42 members, most of them biologists representing prominent educational institutions in almost every part of the United States and Canada. The Board has direct charge of the property and funds of the Laboratory, elects the Director and Assistant Director and has general supervision of the scientific work.

The Laboratory gives instructions in biological subjects and also offers opportunity for original research. Courses are given in Zoology, Botany, Embryology, Physiology and Protozoology. In the courses there is an earnestness and enthusiasm on the part of the students and instructors which is highly stimulating. This is due not only to the exceptional character of the students and instructors, but also to the atmosphere of investigation that pervades the place and which is one of the most helpful features to the beginner, as well as the advanced worker. Instruction includes not only ordinary laboratory work in the subject named, but also a great deal of observation and collecting of living organisms in their natural haunts. Collecting trips and excursions form a regular part of the work. Investigators and even visitors at the Laboratory frequently contribute to the work of instruction, and so it generally happens that the lectures are given by men who are specialists in the subjects under consideration.

But it is in the work of investigation that the Laboratory has won its peerless renown. The eminent scientific standing of its staff has served to attract investigators from all parts of the land, and the Woods Hole Laboratory is today the Mecca of American Biologists and is well and favorably known throughout the world. The list of original contributions which have proceeded from the Laboratory runs into the thousands. Many of the fundamental principles underlying all biological processes have been established at Woods Hole. It is scarcely possible to refer to any biological problem without includ-

Continued on Page Eight

Pity Poor [illegible]

[illegible] Villanovan which, with not enough [illegible] been forced to [illegible] corrective [illegible] corrections which we want [illegible] be permitted to develop at the entrance to the parking lot. These would be worth having if there were geology students here who were interested in studying the various strata in the earth or in digging for coal, but the springs of most automobiles are not built to withstand the shock of a sudden drop of six or more inches.

The broken kneeling bench in the rear of the chapel has been in need of repair for too long a period of time. It is rather uncomfortable and sometimes embarrassing to kneel down on the bench only to have it crash on the floor with an irreverent bang.

The lack of a mirror in the locker room of the field house. The metal plate on the door does serve the purpose but not nearly as well as a piece of glass would. There are also other strategic places where mirrors would facilitate combing one's hair.

ODDS and ENDS

By Bill Garrity

I AM A college boy. I enjoy college immensely. I have the best room in the dorm by far. In my spare time I study continuously. I like all the lectures because they are so interesting. Term papers are a lot of fun to write. Examinations are like a great big game. I do them because of that. I do anything I want. I am Napoleon.

* * *

College bred—A four year loaf on Dad's dough. (Don't you think I have a lot of crust to tell this crumby joke.)

* * *

The Senior Social was a huge success for the second year in a row. The glee club is rapidly developing into an organization of great merit and is worth watching.

* * *

A huge crowd was on hand for Nelson Eddy's concert at the Academy of Music in Philly. The people are gradually going back to classical music in a big way. The directors of the Academy have given notice that all affairs, for the rest of the year, have been sold out. Jerry Neri had the honor of introducing Mr. Eddy at an affair in high school.

* * *

The football team is working hard in the annual spring practice. From all appearances Clipper won't have a great deal of trouble filling those open tackle berths.

* * *

Jimmy Powers, rookie with the Philadelphia Phils, gave Clipper a great compliment in a recent edition of the "Inquirer." He played under Clipper at Santa Clara and claims he is the greatest builder of men in the country. Why not tell us something new, Jimmy?

* * *

Johnny Wysocki took quite a ragging about his green tie and shirt combination on St. Patrick's Day. John said "Yesterday nothing was said about this combination, but today all the Irish are after me. I'm going over and get into an orange outfit."

* * *

A writer in a past edition of Reader's Digest, said he was not averse to picking up hitch-hikers as a rule. His exception to the rule is college men. The reason he advances for this is that they are not good conversationalists, but try to hold their education out as a means of elevating themselves over everybody else.

* * *

A group of our prominent footballers went over to Norristown last Sunday to do a little bowling. They had been invited to compete against a group of female keglers and came out on the very short end of the strikes and spares.

* * *

The girls from Immaculata don't like our illustrious publication. It seems that some cracks were made in a past edition about their ideas on news. Those remarks were confused in the reading and were really only jokes so please forgive and forget, dear girlies.

* * *

Walt Kelly did very well for himself at the Trenton Times invitation meet last Monday night. He took fourth place in his favorite event, but would have done much better if he had been accustomed to the pool. The meet was held in Trenton High's pool which has a 50 yard straight away.

VARIETIES

By WILLIAM J. TOY

T. Dorsey Junior Choice; Kyser A Close Second! What A Name!

VARIETIES announces the results of the poll taken among the members of the Junior class in the past couple of weeks.

It seems that all good things repeat because Tommy Dorsey, a man whose band has already graced the Villanova bandstand in past years, was a close winner over another fine band—Kay Kyser's. The margin of victory was a mere three votes, Dorsey compiling 45 while Kyser received a total of 42 counts.

This poll was conducted among members of the junior class exclusively, with the assistance of Justin Rubin and other members of the Junior class. The results were as follows:

1. Tommy Dorsey 45
2. Kay Kyser 42
3. Larry Clinton 27

(Quite a drop in votes)

4. Sammy Kaye 22
5. Glen Gray 18
6. Art Shaw 14

(A little surprise)

7. Hal Kemp 13
7. Jimmy Dorsey 13

(A tie for seventh)

Several upsets may be noted in this poll. Clinton only polling 27 votes compared with Dorsey's and Kyser's fine totals seems rather strange, and Art Shaw receiving only 14 markers is a sure sign this campus, as far as the Juniors are concerned, has a non-swing tendency.

Several other bands received one to five votes but were not included in the compilations. Even the Overbrook Swing Five received a vote.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

There are several laws still in existence which give rise to laughter. These statutes are the nucleus for the Federal Theatres present group of plays. Included are:

1. Every automobile must be preceded in the streets by a bicycle.
2. In Alaska there is a law against disturbing grizzly bears while they sleep.
3. One may not court any girl without a written note of consent from her mother.

These laws will be dramatized over Station WOR this Saturday in a script written specially for the occasion.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT:

Jean Fenwick, a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer actress, is the proud possessor of the longest real name in Hollywood. Her true moniker is Henriette Anna Sigfrieda Von de Rom Krauth, and she was born on the island of Trinidad.

SHORT NEWS:

Cornelia Otis Skinner will open next Monday evening for a one-week stay at the Locust Street Theatre in George Bernard Shaw's play "Candida." In this story he explains how he thinks women are greater than men and how they really rule the world. This is Shaw's best work and should provide an interesting evening for the highly touted males who behold women as the weaker sex. At least, some ego will be taken out of them.

Last night Orson Welles and his adaption of Shakespeare opened at the Chestnut Street Opera House with Burgess Meredith returning from Hollywood to take the leading role. This is not one of the barestage productions of Caesar so prevalent today, but is an orthodox show. Four carloads of scenery have been shipped for use on the revolving stage together with many costumes.

The D'Oyly Carte Opera Company enters on its second successful week of its present stand. This company has been welcomed by an enthusiastic public and has had a very fine stand so far. Their renditions of these Gilbert and Sullivan Operettas are tops.

—Letters!

To the Editor:

Being a Day-hop, you unfortunately know little of the topic, which has rested on my chest, unexpressed, for three long years. For if you do you would have, as a first act upon becoming Editor of the paper, inaugurated a "Letters to the Editor" column.

What do the resident students do about the mail situation? Well, they either (a) don't get any mail; (b) make cracks about the fellows who do get mail; (c) go looking around the campus for the guy who lives across the hall and promised to bring the mail up to the room. In most cases he forgot to ask for yours or put it in his pocket and never thought of it again.

If you are lucky and finally get your hands on it, only four or five persons crowd around to see if she still loves you, or if the missal is from home or to see if perchance, a check won't float out, so they can hit you up for the price of a few beers. Ah yes, it's a great life if you don't weaken.

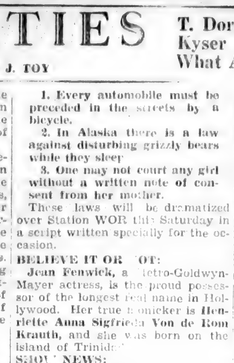
Well the point of the whole letter is (in case you were wondering) if the students wrote letters to the Editor every week, on Tuesday when the paper comes out we could read the letters in it and save all the trouble of running down to the P. O. every day for mail that we never get anyway.

Yours for bigger and better letters,

Joseph A. Higgins.

Ed. Note: The VILLANOVAN had been seriously contemplating the inauguration of such a column, but due to a lack of correspondence on the part of the students this plan never materialized. It is hoped that the commencement of such a column will incite the interest of the students, and that their interest will be confirmed by weekly contributions.

MAN OF AFFAIRS



PETER C. MACKIN

INTRODUCING

By JAMES F. DONOVAN

YESSIREE, it was a great day in Millers Falls. Mr. and Mrs. Mackin increased the town population by one on June 15, 1916. The town patriarchs shook their gray heads in anticipation of great things for Pete, as he began his steady advance in "age, wisdom, and grace before men." They predicted a brilliant future for the curly haired blond. Some said he would even travel into the wilds of Pennsylvania to go to college. Others stated that he would be the leader of a vast band of Romeos who would turn into the famous Rosanovans. But away with all this idle chatter. As Caesar said when he was dividing all Gaul, these things were done, these things were done.

Chooses Business Early

Pete entered the Millers Falls public grammar school at the usually tender age, and once more he was the very center of attraction. After deciding that the teachers were asking him too many questions, which they themselves couldn't answer, the future Rosanova magnate tossed his freight in Miller's Falls High School. There he dabbled about in physical arts and began a systematic invasion of the newspaper business where he placed his wisdom and experience as a businessman at the disposal of the school weekly. Then the old town began to buzz. Peter Mackin was getting up in the world. After his graduation he had his trunks sent to Deerfield Academy where he went to woo the Muse and charm Minerva. After a year at Deerfield, the future Prime Minister of Austin Hall decided that maybe there was something in this education anyway, so he looked about for a suitable brain sharpener that gave out Academic degrees.

Fate Calls

Some misinformed individual recommended Boston University, and Pete was preparing for a triumphant invasion of the Bean city when, by chance or by fate, he ran smack into a Villanova graduate. He had been hearing for a long time strange tales about the den of the stalking Wildcat. Pete became interested, visited the campus, decided that the land of the twin spires was the place for him, and settled down to four years of work and hey-hey.

Extensive Activity

His second year was quite the same. The Massachusetts Club, Glee Club, Holy Name Society, and VILLANOVAN all wore dazed expressions of delight for the great Peter Mackin who was included in their roster. In addition, he tried his hand at periodical literature by lending his assistance to Fr. Falvey's yearly contribution, the Belle Air.

Third year came and went. Pete was business manager of the VILLANOVAN, and was the perfect toastmaster at their annual dinner-dance. The Glee Club, Belle Air and Holy Name Society were again the lucky rascals of Pete's attention.

The Last Mile

Now we come to Pete's last year in this land of monk. He faithfully pursued the office of business manager of the VILLANOVAN, and became president of the Holy Name Society. Moreover, he organized that conglomeration of humanity that frequents the "college" across the tracks into a labor union with definite aims and purposes. They bear the somewhat dubious name of Rosanovans. "Loyality, friendship, sincerity" is their motto. Collective bargaining is outlawed and up 'till now no general strikes have been called. But their magnate is a shrewd leader.

Do You Know

By ANTHONY R. LISCIO

Our library contains a Bible, the Vulgate text, printed in 1132 and a Roman book printed in 1481 which contains a series of monastic legislation according to the rule of St. Augustine.

* * *

The VILLANOVAN used to be sold on the Bryn Mawr news stands.

* * *

The Villanova Alumni Association was founded in 1875.

* * *

Our School of Technology, which was founded in 1905, was the first Technical School started in any eastern Catholic college.

* * *

Augustinian Friars first came to America in 1796.

* * *

The gymnasium in Alumni Hall was erected in 1869 with all the needed equipment which incuded ten-pin alleys.

College Chatter

By Barney Bellew

FROM the research of students on the De Paul University campus comes this portrait of a typical freshman, "Joe Frosh," and his sister, Jane.

He has positive ideas on regulation of his social life.

Joe's height: Five feet eight inches.

His weight: Between 155 and 145 pounds.

His hair: Brunette and NOT WAVY.

His eyes: Brown.

His age: Nineteen.

Sports: Baseball, swimming football.

Studies: Leans toward the scientific.

He likes popular music; favors Glen Gray for his syncopation. In the matter of reading, his fancy turns to fiction. Earthy novels have no lure for Joe. He has declared that a buck-an-a-half is two-an-a-half is PLENTY to fritter away on a co-ed or any other gal. TAKE A TIP, GALS. He favors a girl with vivacity and charm, rather than a beautiful-but-dumb creature.

As for Jane Frosh, she is five foot three; blue eyes with brown running a close second. Her weight she will not tell, but it is close to 110. She admits of 18 summers; has brown hair, sprinkled with copper.

Her hobbies are varied ranging from photography to dancing and include swimming, basketball and reading light novels. She likes to clutter up the golf course in the summer, and spends a lot of time on the beach.

For her ideal in all that is masculine, she wants him tall, good-looking, and put together like a Hercules. Nevertheless she demands that he be intellectual, considerate, gentlemanly and be a man's man. And last but oddly she prefers that he be slightly egotistical, and pretty fond of himself.

CHECK YOUR EGO SIR:

"Private firearms must be checked in the president's office before the students enter school" . . . so reads a paragraph in the rule book for entering freshmen at Texas A. and M. College. The situation is not as serious as it seems since the rule was formulated by the faculty in 1882, shortly after the college was founded.

Hobo: "Say buddy, will ya give me a dime for a sandwich?"

Howe: "Tell's see the sandwich first."

PROSPERITY JUST AROUND THE CORNER?

Members of the class of '39 at [illegible] who [illegible] interested in business plan [illegible] to be a real experience in [illegible]. Only [illegible] out of 117 who graduated, are unemployed.

This is the record of [illegible] many colleges according to various reports. It seems that the college grad of today has a better chance to secure a position than his brother of a few years ago.

HOLY SMOKE (THE CHURCH WENT UP IN FUMES):

Two weeks ago I was somewhat amazed to see a young lady on the train calmly smoking a pipe and reading a book, without any apparent concern. She might have been returning from Newcomb College of Tulane University for a girl down there recently tried a pipe. Finding it to her liking she continued the process and was imitated by many of the girls. Now about half the co-eds are "Mammy Yokumis."

EVENTS OF THE WEEK

Tuesday, March 21

Belle Air (Sports) .... 1:00 P. M.
VILLANOVAN ..... 1:00 P. M.
Philosophy Seminar .. 1:30 P. M.
Lenten Sermon ..... 6:35 P. M.

Wednesday, March 22

Belle Air (Business) .. 1:00 P. M.
Music Seminar ..... 7:30 P. M.

Thursday, March 23

Belle Air (College) ... 1:00 P. M.
Glee Club ..... 4:00 P. M.
Band ..... 7:00 P. M.
Music Seminar ..... 7:30 P. M.

Friday, March 24

Belle Air (Photography) 1:00 P. M.
"Room Service" Rehearsal ..... 1:30 P. M.

Saturday, March 25

"Room Service" Rehearsal ..... 1:30 P. M.

Sunday, March 26

"Room Service" Rehearsal ..... 1:30 P. M.

Monday, March 27

Phi Kappa Pi ..... 10:45 A. M.
Mathematics Club .... 12:30 P. M.
Belle Air (Arts) ..... 1:30 P. M.
Glee Club ..... 4:00 P. M.
Band ..... 7:00 P. M.
Sociology Seminar .... 7:30 P. M.

THE NEWS IN BRIEF

New president of St. Joseph's College, Rev. Thomas J. Love, S. J., was appointed last week, succeeding Rev. Thomas J. Higgins, S. J., incumbent of the last six years. Father Love comes from Georgetown, where he held the chair in physics.

Villanova's flag waves regularly now that a maintenance employe has taken it upon himself to raise and lower it at dawn and dusk.

* * *

Two $1000 cash prizes and two expense-paid trips to the New York World's Fair are offered by "Advertising Age," national newspaper of advertising, for essays on "How Advertising Benefits the Consumer." Rules can be obtained at the VILLANOVAN office.

Candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Arts in the Senior class will begin their comprehensive examinations on Monday, April 17, and complete them on April 27. All courses will [illegible] 1:30 P. M. to 4:30 P. M. and [illegible] room 106 Mendel Science [illegible] in Room [illegible] and in their major [illegible]

PRE-MEDICAL GROUP HEARS REV. M'CABE

"Instruction for the Deaf" Topic of Discussion at Science Seminar

First attempts at and gradual development of instruction for the deaf was t the subject of Rev. Patrick J. McCabe's discourse to the Science Seminar last Thursday.

Father McCabe explained that in the pre-Christian era deaf children were put to death. Even later, when this cruel practice was abandoned, no attempt toward educating the deaf was made prior to the eighth century. St. Bede, who lived during this century was probably the first to institute a method of instruction for those deprived of hearing.

Not until the 18th century, however, was anything definite and permanent done in this regard. The French Abbe del'Epe observed that when deaf children were playing together, they conversed by means of crude signs with their hands. As a result he originated the manual alphabet which is used even to this day throughout the world.

Father McCabe noted that the letters of the manual alphabet are for the most part in imitation of the written ones, while a few are merely arbitrary. He also remarked that the deaf converse not in terms of complete well-constructed sentences, but that they were interested merely in expressing their ideas as simply as possible.

Father McCabe, who was formerly stationed at the Penna. Institute for the Deaf, now stays at the church of St. Stephen in Phila.

FROSH DEBATERS OPPOSE TEMPLE

Salerno and Garraty Defend Affirmative of "Pump Priming" Question

Freshman debaters from Villanova travel to Temple today to meet the freshman team from that university.

"Pump-priming" will be the topic for discussion. Armand Salerno and Raymond Garraty will compose the affirmative team which represents Villanova. Each will present both a speech and rebuttal.

Tomorrow, representatives from Saint Joseph's College will visit the campus to debate Patrick Kenny and William Schubert, who will defend the negative of the same question.

Another debate, with Princeton at Villanova, has definitely been scheduled for April 13.

On Wednesday, February 15, Gerard Eck, John Fullam, and Patrick Kenny, of the home school, debated Gross and Silvert of the University of Pennsylvania in Room 215 Mendel Hall.

BELLE MASQUE ACTIVITY SIGNIFICANT OF PROGRESS

All Departments Show Steady Improvement; Plans Near Completion

Rapid progress is being made in every department of the Belle Masque Society in its annual spring production, this one to be the performance of the Broadway comedy "Room Service" to be presented on Wednesday, April 19, Friday, April 21, and Sunday, April 23.

Assisted by the stage crew, Manager Harold Hart and designer Pershing Calabro have nearly completed the set.

In the business department, an extensive advertising program is being outlined by Manager Charles Timmins. Sub-committees of the business staff are yet to be appointed.

All posters to be entered in the placard contest must be in by April 5 to effect their immediate use.

Capitol Tour Nears; Highlights Listed

Continued From Page One

of a zone adjacent to and commercially a part of such municipalities, within the meaning of section 203 (b) (8) of the Motor Carrier Act, 1935.

Before the students begin the long trip home, they will also visit the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and the Supreme Court, which will then be in session. Dr. Harold F. Hartman, and Revs. John R. Dunne, O. S. A., and Vincent A. McQuade, O. S. A., will accompany the students on the trip.

INDIVIDUAL ENGRAVING

All those who intend to have their name engraved on the cover of the Belle Air or those who desire to purchase an extra copy kindly see Edward Loughery in Room 111, Fedigan Hall.

The prices are: For the engraving, $0.40 and for extra copies, $7.50. No orders will be taken after April 15.

According to College Editor, Thomas Carbine, the new idea of having the senior pictures autographed has proved to be a great success. He also says that many congratulations have been received on the Anti-Communism theme of the book.

FRONT FEATURES PROMINENT AUTHORS

Archbishops McNicholas and Mooney Write Editorials in Pius XI's Memory

Many prominent men are among the chief contributors of the March issue of the "Christian Front," sociological magazine edited on the campus.

Archbishop McNicholas, of Cincinnati, and Archbishop Mooney, of Detroit, are the authors of editorials in eulogy of Pius XI.

Ex-governor Frank Murphy, of Michigan, who is at present Attorney General of the United States, writes on "Politics." "The place of Catholics in politics" is the theme of this article.

Mr. Murphy insists that in politics "there is a place for any man of integrity who is inspired by the visions of service to his fellows." He further states that "beyond a doubt, this means the Catholic."

Dr. Thorning, oustanding authority on Spain, also contributed an article entitled "Spain Rebuilds." He maintains that the future of Spain is not bound up with Fascism, but that a system of "national syndicalism, composed of both employers and workers" is the government proposed by Franco.

As to finance, he points out that confidence has maintained the buying power of the France peseta. However, a long period of reconstruction lies ahead with the restoration of the monarchy, a not too remote possibility.

REGIONAL GROUP TO HAVE SMOKER

Deviating from a precedent, the Connecticut Club will not conduct an Easter dance this year, according to a statement made by Carl Pantaleo, senior science man, president of the organization.

"Instead of the customary dance held at the Easter vacation, plans are being formulated for a stag smoker. This will give alumni members an opportunity to have an old-fashioned 'bull session'," Pantaleo said.

Incidentally, this function will mark the third anniversary of the "Nutmeg" Club. After a lapse of several years the club returned to an active status in November, 1936, under the leadership of J. Benedict Maloney, '37, former editor of the VILLANOVAN. Since that date the club has annually presented a dinner dance and several other functions.

Dance with Joy!

JIMMY JOY

AND HIS ORCHESTRA

Nightly...and Saturday at luncheon in the new

GARDEN TERRACE

Philadelphia's Smartest Atmosphere

Dinner $1.50. No cover charge. Finest food and beverages at honest prices.

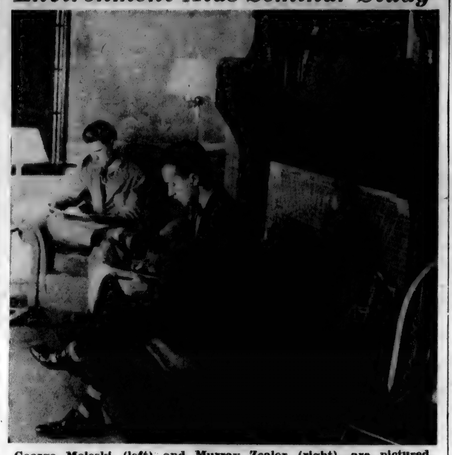
The BENJAMIN FRANKLIN

Chestnut at Ninth

SAMUEL SCHILLER, Managing Director

Environment Aids Seminar Study



George Moleski (left) and Murray Zealor (right), are pictured before the fireplace of the music room in Simpson Hall.

Simpson Hall, the newest addition to the property of the college is fast becoming a popular meeting place for various campus organizations. This is evidenced by its schedule. Monday afternoon the Mathematics club discusses the intricacies of Euclid while in the evening problems of current interest are discussed by the Sociology seminar; Wednesday evening the lovers of music (of which there are many) go there to hear of world famous composers. Thursday afternoons are taken over by the History seminar while again in the evening strains of Herbert and Wagner are heard.

While attending meetings one cannot fail to notice the numerous statues, portraits, busts, sculptures of bronze and marble, oil paintings, portraits and landscapes. Among the artists represented are J. Henry Smith and Spearer. Most of Smith's works were done during the period 1870-1880. Included among them are paintings of Thomas Moore, Gladstone, and Andrew Jackson. Spearer's works are mostly landscapes.

Although there is still a need for draperies, carpets, plants and pedestals, nevertheless the popularity of the hall is such that at present there are plans under way to hold more meetings there for the near future.

DR. HARTMAN ATTENDS

Harold F. Hartman, Ph. D., attended the Lima Conference at the University of Pennsylvania as Villanova College's representative on both days of its session, March 10 and 11.

LOOK AHEAD

in planning your career

The science of the "new dentistry" is still in its infancy. It is a most promising field for constructive thought and work. It calls for the best minds interested in health service careers. Because of advancing standards, enrollment in Dental Schools in the United States has been reduced during the past thirteen years. Today there is one practicing dentist to approximately each 2,400 of population.

The Marquette University Dental School is one of the 17 dental schools of the United States whose diplomas are recognized in all of the states. The close relationship of dental-medical study proves an advantage to students.

Entrance requirements: Two years in a recognized College of Liberal Arts with satisfactory credits in biology, organic chemistry, and physics.

For complete information concerning opportunities in dentistry, write to the Secretary, Marquette University Dental School, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

MARQUETTE UNIVERSITY

Milwaukee

NEGRO PROBLEM SEMINAR THEME

Sociology Group Continues on Same Topic to Arrive at Solution

For the fourth consecutive week members of the Sociology Seminar discussed "The Negro in the United States," in their weekly meeting last evening in Simpson Hall.

At last week's meeting every member of the Seminar handed in what he thought to be the best solution to the problem. It was thought that in this way some definite conclusion would be reached, but there was such a divergence of opinion expressed in the various solutions turned in by the members that it was found necessary to continue the discussion at the next session.

Rev. Vincent A. McQuade, O. S. A., Ph. D., moderator of the seminar, considers this a subject of great importance and announces that it will continue to be the topic of discussion until a satisfactory conclusion has been reached.

ENGINEERS INSPECT FRANKF'D ARSENAL

Tour of Budd Manufacturing Plant and Weekly Field Trips Scheduled

Philadelphia's Frankford Arsenal was the object of a tour sponsored by the electrical and mechanical engineering departments when 25 sophomores inspected the plant last Monday afternoon.

Walter Weis, a former student of Villanova and the present operations engineer at the plant, guided the party through that section of the factory where 500,000 rounds of ammunition are turned out every eight-hour work day.

Machines at the munition plant use cams and other types of machinery taught the student engineers. These trips are designed to show the future engineer the actual use of these appliances in their respective fields.

Other trips like this are contemplated by Mr. William M. Gorman, engineering instructor in charge of the inspection. The first of these will be to the Budd Manufacturing Plant also of Philadelphia where much practical machinery may be viewed. So far, there is a field trip scheduled for every month for sophomore mechanical and electrical engineers.

ART BOOKS FOR LIBRARY

Three volumes composing a set of the latest issue of the "Drawings of Florentine Painters" have been presented to the college library. This valuable gift has been given to us by Mr. Berenson, Florence, Italy, through the agency of the Samuel H. Kress Foundation.

According to the monthly report of the library, American and English Literature and novels are the most popular with the Villanova students.

SUCCESSFUL APPLICANTS

Four students have been accepted as members of the VILLANOVAN staff. They are: Frederick A. Rappleyes, junior in the School of Engineering; William Way, sophomore in the School of Arts; Walter W. Lessing, freshman in the School of Commerce & Finance and Thomas de Sipin, freshman in the School of Engineering.

BUCKEYE WIN SHATTERS CAT HOPES

SPORTORIAL

By PHIL DUNN, Sports Editor

THE basketball season closed with the bang of the timekeeper's gun on Saturday night in the Palestra. Everyone knows the result of that game by now. But the members of the team should not—as some of them do—feel bad about the outcome. Each man individually and the team as a whole deserve heaps of credit for carrying this season's quintet to greater heights than any other Villanova court aggregation has gone.

It also should be noted that every team in the N. C. A. A. tournament was a champion, and it is never a disgrace to lose to a champion—even for another champ. Each of the departing seniors should bear that in mind when thinking about their last game and season.

We would like to pay tribute, here and now, to the men who have played their last basketball game for Villanova: Jim Montgomery, one of the slickest ball handlers in the game; Johnny Krutulis, one of the best passers and dribblers; Lou Dubino, a great defensive player and stellar center; and Art Vigilante, one of the best guards. All have carved for themselves enviable records as individuals and as the Villanova basketball team. Through three years of court competition these men have stood out like beacons and were instrumental in bringing to this school much praise.

PHIL DUNN

—V—

Art Vigilante did not play in the last game because of an injury to his left hand sustained in practice. "Doc" Jacobs doesn't want anything to happen to his ace backstop, so before the game he asked Severance not use "Vig" unless he was needed.

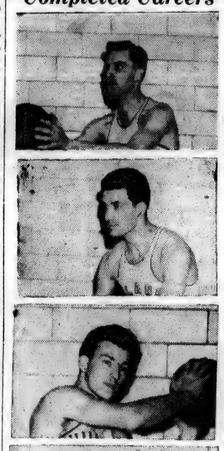
—V—

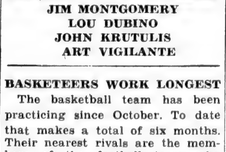
"Duke" gave an admirable performance. Of course his eye was not up to par, but that can be attributed to his long lay-off. He got around almost as well as he did before his knee gave out. Did you see him give Johnny Krutulis what everyone, including Mr. Duzminski, thought would be the last shot of the game?

—V—

John Krutulis emphatically denies the statement made by "Bud" Wilson in the "Daily Pennsylvanian." Wilson had it that Johnny played on Dr. Naismith's original five.

Completed Careers





JIM MONTGOMERY
LOU DUBINO
JOHN KRUTULIS
ART VIGILANTE

SHOWING OF SQUAD DISPLEASES SMITH

Walt Nowak Returns; Team Enters Third Week of Spring Drills

By BILL DE GRACE

Completing the second week of practice "Clipper" Smith is very displeased with the showing of his charges. After holding the second scrimmage of the spring session on last Saturday, Coach Smith was of the opinion that a great number of the men were not trying their hardest.

With the exception of Clem Andrews, the promising junior tackle, Andy Chisick, the ever dependable center and freshman Jim McClelland it seemed that nobody was consistent in carrying out assignments.

Andrews Good

Andrews, before being forced out of the scrimmage on Saturday with a sprained ankle, was a bulwark on defense. Time after time he would come crashing in to either make the tackle or spill the interference. Using his weight to advantage he caused opposing ends and backs no end of trouble.

McClelland, shifted from tackle to a guard position, showed by his performances last week that he will have to be reckoned with. Besides carrying out his blocking assignments on the offense, he broke up play after play while on the defense.

Chisick All Over

Andy Chisick, displaying the form that made him a standout last year, seemed to be all over the field. Intercepting passes with

SHOWING Continued on Page Six

BASKETEERS WORK LONGEST

The basketball team has been practicing since October. To date that makes a total of six months. Their nearest rivals are the members of the football team who were in uniform for three months during the fall season and for two months when the spring rolled around.

QUINTET

Continued on Page Seven

QUINTET ELIMINATED IN EASTERN FINALS; BEAT BROWN, 42-30

Hull Sets Scoring Mark, Making 28 Points in 53-36 Victory

KRUTULIS AND NUGENT SPARKLE OFFENSIVELY

"Duke" Duzminski, Injured Ace, Returns to Line-Up for Final Tilt

By JOE BARNES

The superiority which midwestern fives hold over eastern teams was evidenced again last Saturday night when Ohio State's Big Ten Champions ran rampant over the Palestra court to eliminate Villanova's fighting Middle-Atlantic District champions from the N. C. A. A. tourney. The Buckeye sharpshooters rang up 53 points to the Wildcats' 36.

On Friday night Villanova had earned its way into the Eastern finals by trouncing a good Brown University team, 42-30.

Hull Sets Mark

Captain Jim Hull, leader of the Ohio State team, broke all existing individual scoring records of the Penn Palestra, when he cut the cords for ten field goals, eight fouls and 28 points. Hull, in the opinion of press experts, was just the finest player to invade Philadelphia since Luisetti came here a few years back.

The Statesmen lost no time in getting the jump on Al Severance's club when they hopped to a 2-0 lead a little more than two minutes after the opening gun. The Buckeyes stretched the lead to three-nothing before sophomore Paul Nugent broke the spell over the Villanova scoreboard with a foul and a field goal to tie up the count.

Ohio immediately went ahead and stayed there throughout the remainder of the game. The Villanovans were especially powerless in the initial half, which ended with the Scarlet on the long end of a 25-10 lead. Only the playing of Paul Nugent served to brighten up the first 20 minutes for the Villanova fans.

Better in Second Half

In the second half the Blue and White came to life and began to approach the standard of basketball they have shown themselves capable of, but the mid-westerners refused to stop their barrage on the Villanova baskets. Overcoming the immense lead of the Scarlet was seen to be impossible early in the second half, but some of the Wildcat courtmen didn't seem to

QUINTET Continued on Page Seven

Wisconsin Stops Boxers; Nojunas Wins For Blue

Mike Ariano and Co-captain Eddie Kirk Gain Draws With Badger Mittmen; Cat Fighters Drop Several Close Decisions

PETE NAIMO ENGAGES IN WILD SLUGFEST

By JOE PAGANO
Former Sports Editor

Madison, Wisconsin, March 17.—A courageous and unrelenting Villanova boxing team wove itself into the hearts of midwest fistic enthusiasts as it furnished the keenest opposition offered to the Badger mittmen this season before a record crowd of about 15,000, the largest ever to witness a meet in this city.

Even in a 6-2 defeat the Blue and White ringmen were acclaimed as the best to encounter the Wisconsin boxers this year, after a meet that was packed with thrills and action throughout the eight bouts. The Wildcats stood up there taking and giving it in a manner that brought the crowd to its feet on several occasions.

Mowen Ahead

"Buzz" Mowen, Wildcat 120-pounder, boxed his way to lead Bob Sachtschale in the first two rounds of their tussle. However, in the last round Sachtschale landed what proved to be the deciding blows to receive the decision. Mowen, improving with every fight, again proved that he is plucky and brave enough to slug it out with the best of them and both boys had the best of them and both boys had the crowd wild in the last round as the leather flew fast and furious.

Mike Ariano and Charlie Martinec, Villanova and Wisconsin 125-

WISCONSIN Continued on Page Six

Garner Points

MIKE ARIANO
JOHN NOJUNAS
EDDIE KIRK

ALL-OPPONENTS

The Lehigh University basketball team placed Jim Montgomery on its All-Opponent team for the past season. Jim scored only one field goal against the Engineers, but that one goal came in the final seconds of the game and provided Villanova's winning margin. Sophomore Paul Nugent was placed on the second team.

BASEBALL LINE-UP AS YET UNCERTAIN

"No Position Cinched," Declares Jacobs; First Game Three Weeks Off

With the first game about three weeks away, "Doc" Jacobs, veteran Villanova diamond mentor is drilling his charges daily in the fine points of the nation's pastime. Daily inter-squad games are the order of the training season with keen competition being waged at every position.

Positions Open

Coach Jacobs says, "No position is cinched, particularly the left side of the infield, the outfield and the catching assignments."

At present the most promising unit is composed of Art Vigilante behind the plate, Bob Bond on first base, "Cowboy" Crowley at the keystone sack, Bobby Pash at shortstop and "Buzz" Howlett at the hot corner. The outfield probably will be patrolled by hard-hitting Lou Wannemacher, with newcomers "Chick" Morris and John Donahue holding down the other two vacancies. Pressing this unit for varsity positions are infielders Nick Basca, Thoma, and Kasig, outfielder George Balmore and catchers "Red" Murphy, Frank Moses, and Al Skaf.

Many Pitchers

In the pitching department, the Wildcats have veterans in Joe Desmond, lanky right hander, and Andy Sisco, husky southpaw, augmented by promising twirlers Cliff Chequette, Connie [illegible] and Connie O'Leary.

The opening of the [illegible] 22 game schedule will be [illegible] Massachusetts State [illegible] Line campus on April 6th.

Neu and Novak Unanimous Choices On Wildcat All-Opponent Quintet

By HARRY MAZZEI

With the close of the regular basketball season Villanova's N. C. A. A. eastern championship finalists went into a huddle and finally emerged with an all-opponent team. The Cats had no little difficulty in choosing this all-star five, because they faced fine individuals throughout the course of the 1938-39 court year.

Seven institutions, DePaul, Geneva, Loyola of Chicago, N. Y. U., St. John's of Brooklyn, Illinois, and Temple were represented on the first two fives. Only two performers, the elusive Bobby Neu of De Paul and the elongated Mike Novak of Loyola, were unanimous choices.

After much debating, haranguing, and what have you, the court squad arrived at the following selections:

Forwards

Bobby Neu of De Paul and Johnny Billie of Geneva were chosen for the up-front berths. Neu was virtually a one-man team for the midwesterners, and the Cats feel that he alone was responsible for their loss to the Chicagoans. Neu was a weaving, wraith-like demon against whom the Main Liners had no defense. Time and time again it seemed that "Bolting Bobby" was bottled up in one of the corners of Convention Hall, but the wiry De Paul ace always managed to snake under the basket for a score. Incidentally, Neu cracked the Convention Hall scoring record during his one-man soiree by dipping 24 points through the nets.

Another High Scorer

Johnny Billie was another record breaker on the Blue's all-opponent five. The Geneva lad broke the existing Main Line Field House mark of 21 markers held jointly by "Duke" Duzminski and "Jungle Jim" Montgomery, when he dropped 23 scores through the hoops. Billie was the most prolific scorer on a hustling, underrated outfit. He countered on shots from all angles of the floor in producing the greatest excitement seen at the local court all year.

Kautz of Loyola of Chicago and "Pick" Dehner, Illinois' All-American performer, were selected for spots on the second five. Both were splendid shots and excellent floormen well versed in the intricacies of the court game. Dehner, although he did not score heavily against the Blue team, was of invaluable aid in gaining possession of the spheroid.

Centers

At center on the first five was the

NEU Continued on Page Seven

PRE-MEDICAL GROUP HEARS REV. McCABE

"Instruction for the Deaf" Topic of Discussion at Science Seminar

First attempts at and gradual development of instruction for the deaf was the subject of Rev. Patrick J. McCabe's discourse to the Science Seminar last Thursday.

Father McCabe explained that in the pre Christian era deaf children were put to death. Even later, when the cruel practice was abolished, no attempt toward educating the deaf was made prior to the eighth century. St. Pope, who lived during this century was probably the first to institute a method of instruction for those deprived of hearing.

Not until the 18th century, however, was anything definite and permanent done in this regard. The French Abbe deL'Epe observed that when deaf children were playing together, they conversed by means of crude signs with their hands. As a result he originated the manual alphabet which is used even to this day throughout the world.

Father McCabe noted that the letters of the manual alphabet are on the most part an imitation of the written ones, while a few are merely arbitrary. He also remarked that the deaf converse not in terms of complete well-constructed sentences, but that they were interested merely in expressing their ideas as simply as possible.

Father McCabe, who was formerly stationed at the Penna. Institute for the Deaf, now stays at the church of St. Stephen in Phila.

FROSH DEBATERS OPPOSE TEMPLE

Salerno and Garraty Defend Affirmative of "Pump Priming" Question

Freshman debaters from Villanova travel to Temple today to meet the freshmen team from that university.

"Pump-priming" will be the topic for discussion. Sal and Salerno and Bernie McGarraty, veterans of the affirmative team, will represent Villanova. Each will present with a seven-minute rebuttal.

Tomorrow [illegible] Saint Joseph's [illegible] he engages [illegible] ty and [illegible] debate.

[illegible] ELLE [illegible] ACULTY SIGNIFICANT OF [illegible] ESCO [illegible] [illegible] Engineers [illegible] Nero

[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [

BOCHETTO, KEATING, M'GURK WIN POSTS ON ALL-INTRAMURAL

Three Businessmen Selected on First Squad; Tie for Fifth Position

CRUMB LEADS SCORERS

By BOB FUNABASHI

C&F's quintet, foremost of the rib-court and the new king of 1939 intramural championships, contributed three of their star players to the All-Star Intramural team according to a poll conducted by the VILLANOVAN.

Don McGurk, Jim Schelle and "Bud" O'Connell were the three players who were named to the first team chosen by the Intramural committee. McGurk was chosen by a unanimous decision with 12 points, while Schelle and O'Connell had six points apiece. In the mythical team these men would alternate in the fifth position. This represents the first time that McGurk has been selected on the All-Star team. O'Connell captured honors once before, in his sophomore year, but failed to make it last year.

Bochetto Selected Again

Fedigan hall gained single honors with Joe Bochetto gaining his third consecutive year on the All-Star squad. Bochetto was also unanimously selected, being awarded 12 points for his outstanding play during the year.

The Mendel Day-hops had their ace dribbler in the person of Dan Keating selected upon the first team. Keating, runner up in the intramural scoring race, repeated his honors of a year ago by being named again with a total of 12 points.

Crumb Chosen

Mendel hall's sharpshooter of the couris, Bernie Crumb, who led the scoring race, was the sixth contestant on the All-Star quintet. This marks his first year on the honor team and also his first year of competition.

The intramural committee made up of representatives of each team selected six men to the first team because of the tie between Schelle and O'Connell who had six points apiece. The system employed was the same as the one last year. Two points were awarded for each first-team recommendation and one point for each second-team vote.

Second Team

The All-Star second team consisted of Vic Sandor of Fedigan; Ralph Fioretti of Austin; Dan Dalina of the Mendel Day-hops; and Walt Burlington of Austin. The fifth man would, of course, alternate between first and second squads.

The Businessmen capitalized to the full extent with their three stars, McGurk, O'Connell, and Schelle. These three were the backbone of the offensive drive which carried the C&F team to their crown.

Five on "Honorable" List

The two scoring leaders of the campaign, Bernie Crumb and Dan Keating were chosen over their teammates and opponents because of their offensive power and team play.

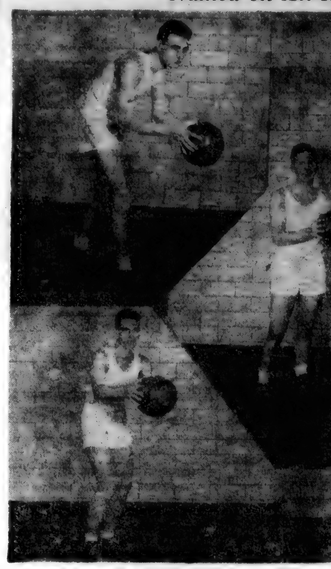
Those who received honorable mention were: Carl Pantaleo, "Meido" LoBalbo, Jim Halpin, Jim Forkin, and Al Woods. Selecting this latter group and the first two All-Star squads were: Father McKee, Father McQuade, Father Dunne, Clem Lavin, John Stack, and Dan Keating.

Scorers

Those who scored over 100 points and their total scores were:

Crumb, Men. Res.	170
Keating, M. D. S.	163
O'Connell, C&F	147
Connors, Fedigan	129
McGurk, C&F	122
Burlington, Austin	120
Dalina, M. D. S.	118
Sandor, Fedigan	114
Fioretti, Austin	110
Schelle, C&F	104
Stack, C&F	101

Named on All-Intramural Team



Top left shows Joe Bochetto, three-time winner of the award. Top right, Dan Keating, picked for the second successive year. Bottom left, Don McGurk. Right, Bernie Crumb. Center shows "Bud" O'Connell and Jim Schelle, who share the fifth position by virtue of a tie vote.

Showing

Continued From Page Five

reckless abandon, filling up holes as soon as they opened with his big frame, he flashed the brilliance that in all probability will rank him with the outstanding centers of the 1939 season.

Up to the present time the defense has proved to be far stronger than the offense. This is especially true of the running attack. On the whole the blocking has not been too impressive and as a result the backs have been unable to break away for long gains.

The passing attack has been functioning fairly well. "Clipper" has laid particular stress on the completion of long passes.

Nowak Returns

Walt Nowak, has deserted the ranks of "Doc" Jacob's baseball squad and has returned to "Clipper's" fold. With his return the squad was increased to 55. The absentees now consist of boxers Ed Killian, Pete Naimo and Johnny Nojunas; baseball men Nick Basca and Buzz Howlett; and Dave DiFilipo who has just been released from the infirmary. Killian, Naimo, and Nojunas should join the squad by the end of the week.

Lectures have been held every day with the exception of Saturday and moving pictures have been shown twice a week. By showing pictures of the different games "Clipper" is able to point out the different type blocks and the importance of using the right block at the opportune time.

Examinations

On last Friday the squad took the first of their bi-weekly football exams. The "Clipper" would be well pleased if he could find in some freshman the amount of football knowledge possed by Jordan Olivar, tackle and captain of the 1937 squad. It was during similar exams that Coach Smith found out that Olivar was a fine field general. Every paper that the latter submitted was almost perfect in every detail.

NEU HITS NEW HIGH

Bobby Neu, De Paul whirlwind, who set a Convention Hall scoring record when he met our basketeers thee, established another record when he broke a mark he set last year by tallying 332 points for the entire season. This total tops his previous high by 82 points.

Divided over a total of 22 games for the season his sigle game average was slightly over 15 markers per game.

Before the final game Neu was honored by officials and the student body. He was presented with a trophy emblematic of his work for the De Paul the past three seasons.

$5,000,000 GYM

Yale's gymnasium cost five million dollars. Besides a large sized Palestra for basketball and indoor Tennis, it has ample facilities for swimming, target practice, bowling, squash, handball and even for crew practice.

Wisconsin

Continued From Page Five

pounders, fought a very close fight which ended in a draw. Ariano used his left hand very effectively, scoring with jabs and hooks to the face.

Kirk Tires

Eddie Kirk, Villanova's sensational lightweight, remained undefeated this season in his fight with Gene Rankin, considered as one of the best 135-pounders in intercollegiate boxing. The Blue co-captain maintained a considerable advantage in the first two rounds landing straight lefts and rights to the head in building up this lead. However, Kirk, limited to several days' training before this meet because of illness, tired in the last frame and Rankin landed several telling blows to earn him a draw.

Omar Crocker, brilliant and hard-hitting Wisconsin welterweight, hung up his twelfth straight win in earning a decision over ca-captain Billy Duffy of Villanova. Duffy maneuvered well in the first round, holding Crocker at a standstill and scoring with left hand blows to win the round. But early in the second round the Badger 145-pounder landed a steaming right on Duffy's chin, a punch which proved to be the deciding factor of the scrap. Duffy, dazed by the blow, nevertheless fought back gamely, causing Crocker enough trouble to prevent him from scoring a K. O., which most people thought was inevitable.

Mentzinger Bout Close

Bob Mentzinger dropped his second fight of the season to a powerful puncher and clever boxer in the person of Woody Swancutt, Wisconsin 155-pounder. The bout was close in the first two rounds but Mentzinger seemed to tire in the last canto and lacked the vim to carry on the offensive which he had shown in previous meets.

It remained for Johnny Nojunas to be awarded the only Villanova decision of the meet. Nojunas completely outboxed and outclassed his adversary throughout the fight. Strand, Wisconsin middleweight, proved to be a stubborn customer at times but he just couldn't cope with the left hand blows landed by the very much improved Blue ringman.

Good Fight

A bout that was packed with plenty of action was the one between the lightheavies, Naimo of Villanova and Marquardt of Wisconsin. For two rounds these boys clubbed one another with rights and lefts that were packed with dynamite. Not caring to box but rather slug it out these fighters stood toe to toe and threw leather in such a fashion as has seldom been seen in the Wisconsin Field House. Marquardt was awarded the decision on his last round performance.

Nick Lee was awarded a decision over Ed Killian of the visiting team. Killian seemed to be winning the fight in the early rounds scoring with straight lefts to the face but Lee must have looked very, very impressive in the last round to be awarded the decision.

Prescriptions
Drugs & Toilet Articles
LA DOW'S PHARMACY
LANCASTER PIKE and SPRING MILL ROAD
VILLANOVA, PA.

Burke Dairies
Milk & Cream
NORRISTOWN, PA.
Phone 2736-W

Men's Clothes
Made-to-Measure
COLEBY
Tailoring Inc.
57th & Market Sts.
Suits & Topcoats
$24.75
See
Campus Representative
TIM WAAD
210 Fedigan

Ardmore Theatre
Notice to Students
Did you know that your matriculation card will get you a reduced rate at the Ardmore Theatre at any time.
TUES., March 21
"St. Louis Blues"
DOROTHY LAMOUR
LLOYD NOLAN
TITO GUIZAR
Also latest "MARCH of TIME"
WED., THURS., FRI. & SAT.
March 22-23-24-25
CLARKE GABLE
NORMA SHEARER
"Idiot's Delight"
with Edward Arnold
SUN. & MON., March 26-27
JOHN GARFIELD
DEAD END KIDS
"They Made Me A Criminal"
with Claude Rains

SEVILLE THEATRE
TUES. & WED., March 21-22
"SON OF FRANKENSTEIN"
Boris Karloff - Basil Rathbone
THURS., March 23
"CHARLIE CHAN IN HONOLULU"
FRI. & SAT., March 24-25
Pat O'Brien - Joan Blondell
"OFF THE RECORD"
SUN., MON. & TUES., March 26-27-28
CLAUDETTE COLBERT
HERBERT MARSHALL
"ZAZA"

COLADONATO
B. M. 1266
College Tailor Since 1925
Made to Measure Clothes
Suits and Topcoats
$24.50
CLEANING PRESSING
"THE CLOTHES WE SELL FIT WELL".
Cassocks and Capes at Reasonable Prices
See Campus Representative
ED DIMON
235 Austin

— RIDE FREE ON P. & W. RAILWAY MOVIE TICKET —
NORRIS Theatre
NORRISTOWN
Tues., Wed., Thurs., Mar. 21, 22, 23
ELEANOR POWELL
"HONOLULU"
Fri., Sat., Mon., Mar. 24, 25, 27
"GUNGA DIN"
VICTOR McLAGLEN
CARY GRANT
GRAND Theatre
NORRISTOWN
Tues., Mar. 21
"WIFE, HUSBAND AND FRIEND"
Warner Baxter - Loretta Young
Wed., Thurs., Mar. 22, 23
"BOY TROUBLE"
Charles Ruggles - Mary Boland
Fri., Sat., Mon., Mar. 24, 25, 27
"ST. LOUIS BLUES"
Dorothy Lamour - Lloyd Nolan
GARRICK Theatre
Fri., Sat., Mar. 24, 25
KAY FRANCIS
HUMPHREY BOGART
"KING OF THE UNDERWORLD"
Tues., Mar. 21
"PARIS HONEYMOON"
BING CROSBY
Wed., Thurs., Mar. 22, 23
"FLIGHT TO FAME" and
"EVERYBODY'S BABY"

Direction Warner Bros.
Tower Theatre
69th & Market Sts.
Motion Pictures Are Your Best Entertainment
STARTING FRIDAY
For One Week
"GUNGA DIN"
Inspired by the rugged drawing of Kipling's imperishable epic of heroism.
- Starring -
CARY GRANT
VICTOR McLAGLEN
Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.

Basketball Sidelights

By LOU DUBINO

TOURNAMENT NOTES:

Records of yesteryear seem to go with the unfolding of new court stars during the current basketball season. During the Roanoke-St. Johns encounter in Madison Square Garden last week Bill Lloyd of St. Johns and Gene Studebaker of Roanoke both went on a scoring spree and when the scorekeeper added the total markers credited to the two players it was found that they had both broken "Pick" Dehner's record of 25 points, Lloyd took top honors for the evening with 31 record-breaking points while Studebaker did a noble job in corralling 26 of his teams 40 scores.

St. Johns had little trouble in beating the five "smart boys" from Salem, Virginia, thereby gaining the semi-final round of the New York Basketball Writers tournamnet being held in the Garden. The final score, 71-40, was somewhat unexpected since the Virginians had compiled a record of 21 wins and only one loss, that being to Villanova at the start of their season.

St. Johns will meet Loyola U. of Chicago and Long Island U. will play host to Bradley Tech of Peoria, Illinois, in the semi-final round of the tournament. Loyola U. up to date hasn't been defeated and has vanquished some worthy opponents, among which are C. C. N. Y., De Paul, and Villanova, Loyola at present is using a goal tender for their opponents basket. His name is Mike Novak and in the coming meeting of the Basketball Rules Committee they will discuss whether or not his tactics are illegal. He plants himself under the opponents' basket and taps all possible counters away from it. He literally places a lid on the basket.

In Eastern playoffs of the N. C. 2-A tournament held at the Palestra three other records became "passe" with the rippling of the cords by participants of the Ohio State-Wake Forest game. Ohio State's total points for the evening surpassed that of the record of 53 held by Army made when they met Penn in a regular 1938-39 season game at the Palestra. Ohio State ran up a total of 64 points in beating Wake Forest, 64-52. The total score of both teams also created a new Palestra record of 116. The previous record stood at 87 garnered during the above mentioned Army-Penn game.

To Dick Baker of Ohio State went top honors of the evening. He broke the Palestra individual scoring records held jointly by Roy Menzel, of Penn and Lou Meyers of Dickinson. Meyers established the record of 21 points in 1931 and was tied by Roy Menzel in 1937. Baker rippled the cords for ten field goals and five free tries for a grand total of 25 points.

But Baker enjoyed his individual scoring record only one day. In the Villanova-Ohio State game, which was the finals of the Eastern division of the N. C. 2-A tournament, Hull, a teammate of Baker's, after tossing the ball about with reckless abandon found himself sole owner of the individual scoring record for the Palestra with a total of 28. From the 46 attempts he made at the basket he found the rim for ten field goals and added eight more points from the free throw line.

Congratulations to Paul Nugent as Villanova's representative on the Sports Writer's tournament All-Star team along with Hull and Baker of Ohio State, Waller and Owen of Wake Forest.

GETS THREE HITS

Len Murullo, who last month went out to the Coast with the Chicago Cubs, has been doing all right with the National League team. In one of the games last week, he obtained three of the eight hits his team was allowed during the game.

Neu

Continued From Page Five

other unanimous choice of the Severance clan—"Big Mike" Novak of Loyola of Chicago. This six-foot, nine-inch broth of a lad proved a veritable Gibraltar on the defense, while he more than made his contribution to the offense. Novak diverted a great percentage of potential Villanova baskets from their ultimate goal because of the high altitude to which his frame stretched. His deflecting of Villanova shots was one of the major reasons why the Main Liners finished the contest on the short end of the score. Besides this he was of great value in retrieving the leather off both backboards and setting up scoring plays.

Howie Black, the Temple ace, who seems to aim his shots at the lofty rafters of Convention Hall, was the alternate choice for the pivot post. Black, a long, lanky individual with gazelle-like speed, was a master of the fast cut. Most of his baskets were made on quick thrusts under the net, although the "Thin Man" possessed a much better than fair eye on his long range attempts.

Guards

N. Y. U.'s slim Bobby Lewis and St. John's long Bill Lloyd are New Yorks' contributions to the dream five and also round out the starting team. Lewis was the only member of New York University's inept quintet who seemed to care about checking the Wildcats, and he played himself out in an effort to do so. Lewis scored from underneath the hoop, on the foul line, and outside the foul circle in amassing a total of 15 points for the Violets. The slight New Yorker was a play maker and ball handler par excellence, even though he performed with the worst N. Y. U. quintet of recent years.

On the other hand Bill Lloyd performed with the great St. John's quintet, which outfit was probably the best to hit Philadelphia this year. In garnering a total of 15 points Lloyd was aided materially by the fine team work of skilled cohorts. However Lloyd's exhibition in the bucket and the uncanny accuracy with which he netted basket after basket was phenomenal enough to gain him a starting berth on the Blue team's all-opponent five.

Alternates

Chosen as alternate guards were Ed Boyle of Temple and Johnny "Dutch" Garfinkle of St. John's. Boyle was the man behind the gun on the Temple five, and it was his slick court movements which were mainly responsible for what court success the Owls did have. Garfinkle was a great play maker who came to the Quaker City with grand advance notices and lived up to them. A great share of the Brooklyn team's success may be laid to the effective, accurate scoring passes handed out by the Dutchman.

The teams:

First Position	Second
Neu, De Paul	F.., Kautz, Loyola, (Chicago)
Billie, Geneva	F. Dehner, Illinois
Novak, Loyola	C., Black, Temple (Chicago)
Lewis, N.Y.U.	G., Boyle, Temple
Loiyd, St. John's	G., Garfinkle, St. John's

Honorable Mention: Rice, Roanoke; Naughton, St. Francis; Gardecki, P. M. C.; Hankins, Lehigh; Lefkowitz, C. C. N. Y.; Nesbit, Illinois.

Quintet

Continued From Page Five

believe it and played sterling ball in a vain attempt to conquer the gargantuan State players.

For the Blue and White Paul Nugent was outstanding. His 16 points ranked next to Hull's in the scoring column for the evening and his fighting kept Villanova always a threat to State security.

Krutulis and Montgomery

Johnny Krutulis, Jim Montgomery, Lou Dubino, and Art Vigilante closed their varsity careers in the loss to State. Montgomery and Krutulis were, as usual, outstanding for the Blue cause. Monty, the coolest and calmest man on the floor, kept the Statemen on their toes until the referees sent Jim to the showers late in the second half. Krutulis, playing 40 minutes of brilliant basketball, was acknowledged to be the best floor-man on the court.

The State team won the right to enter the National finals at Evanston, Illinois, by conquering the Blue and White. They are favored to cop the national championship.

Besides Hull, two men were outstanding in the State victory. Sattler, gigantic six-foot, six-and-a-half-inch center was almost impossible to stop when it came to getting the ball on jumps and off the backboard. Only Montgomery managed to "city-slicker" the giant a few times. Others were powerless to stop him. Dick Baker, who had smashed the Palestra scoring record with 25 points the previous evening, was held to four points by tight Villanova guarding, but his floor-work was essential in the State aggressive attack.

Brown Off

Brown University, on Friday night, failed to live up to advance reports. Their zone defense proved simple for Villanova and the Wildcats, using almost every man on the squad, took it easy in winning, 42-30. Johnny Krutulis, with his celebrated "pop-shots" took scoring honors for the battle with 14 points. Jim Montgomery also hit the cords frequently to take second honors.

"Duke" Duzminski played 29 minutes of the game Saturday night, but the "dazzler" was off form due to the long layoff caused by his early-season injury. With his knee swathed in bandages the Duke gave all he had and rang up six of the Cats points.

THE LINE-UPS

Villanova	G.	F.	P.
Lazorchak, f	2	0	4
Duzminski, f	2	2	6
Montgomery, f	1	1	3
Sinnott, f	0	0	0
Dubino, c	1	0	2
Rice, c	0	0	0
Robinson, g	0	0	0
Krutuis, g	2	1	5
Yund, g	0	0	0
Nugent, g	7	2	16
Totals	15	6	36

Ohio State	G.	F.	P.
Hull, f	10	8	28
Stafford, f	1	0	2
Baker, f	2	0	4
Hickelson, g	1	0	2
Schick, c	3	1	7
Sattler, c	3	5	8
Dawson, g	1	0	2
Totals	21	11	53

Referee—Moore. Umpire—Hinkle. Time of game—Ohio State, 25; Villanova, 10.

KEEP SUPPLIED WITH SCHOOL TICKETS
Good on Buses and Rail Cars until used. 5c a Ride, Including Special Free Transfers. School Identification Cards may be obtained at School Office.
PHILADELPHIA SUBURBAN TRANSPORTATION COMPANY
ARONIMINK TRANSPORTATION CO.

G. W. Cadwallader
Paints, Glass and Painters' Supplies
BUILDERS' SPECIALTIES
6101 MARKET ST.
Philadelphia
Phone SHErwood 1423

JEANNETT'S
BRYN MAWR FLOWER SHOP
Floral Ideas For All Occasions
Specializing in Corsages
Member Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association
823 Lancaster Ave.
Bryn Mawr 570

The Wayne Hotel
LANCASTER AVENUE
WAYNE, PA.
Telephone 220
Headquarters For Visitors to Villanova
Excellent Dinners at $1
SPECIAL STUDENT RATES
J. T. McFATE, Mgr.

HERE and THERE

By HARRY MAZZEI

AS FAR AS Villanova's championship hopes are concerned, the N. C. A. A. court tournament is a thing of the past. There is one phase of the weekend activities, however, that cannot be passed by with just a casual glance, and that is the sparsity of attendance at the U. of P.'s spacious Palestra on both evenings of tournament play.

If Penn had been playing Hohokus Tech, the stands probably would have been filled to capacity, even though this year's Penn quintet would have had difficulty in winning over the mythical Hohokusians. Still when the best teams from New England, the Middle Atlantic states, the South, and the Mid-west gathered on the same floor the gaping spaces at the Palestra yawned like deep abysses. What do the people of Philadelphia want—excellent well-played basketball or rhythmic hat-waving to the tune of "The Red and the Blue?"

Harry Mazzei

Still Philadelphia clamors for big time sporting events, even though their support of these contests reaches a new low in athletic interest. Probably the only reason the Army-Navy game fills the Municipal Stadium is because most of the spectators come from out of town.

Another point we'd like to bring out is the apathetic interest of the Villanova student body during the two days of tournament play. When teams coming from Rhode Island, North Carolina and Ohio are apparently able to bring more rooters and more enthusiasm with them than Villanova, only 12 miles removed from the scene of activities, the affair becomes a sorry one indeed.

Your correspondent is not an exponent of the "rah! rah!" form of collegiate enthusiasm nor is he a believer in the school of "give 'em hell for old Ripon," but still it is most distressing to see such an utter lack of interest in the biggest Villanova sporting event in recent years; one that has nationwide prominence attached to it. For a student body that desires victory as greatly as this one does, the support given to the five on Friday and Saturday nights was positively putrid.

Any athlete will tell you that he'd much rather play at home, because he feels that at least the fans will be behind him. But this was not to be Villanova's claim during the National Championships for teams coming from several hundred miles away received more grandstand support than the Main Liners. A situation like this becomes more than provoking; it is actually nauseating.

Tournament Glemings. Aside from Jimmy Hull's record-breaking efforts on Saturday night, the palm of the tournament must be given to Jimmy Waller, Wake Forest's whippet-like captain, who paced the scrappy Southerners until he fouled out of the fray. . . . Brown University's Harry Platt failed to live up to his advance notices as far as scoring was concerned, but the beefy Bear captain indicated he knew not a little about the fine points of Dr. Naismith's invention. . . .

* * * *

According to the New York Herald Tribune's Everett Morris, if a New York team is to win the Writer's Invitation Tourney that outfit will be St. John's. Morris says that L. I. U. has passed its peak, while the Redmen are still in their ascendency. By now this opinion may have been refuted because both quintets met visiting fives last night. . . .

Concerning another tournament, the boxing affair at Wisconsin, it has been learned from reliable sources that the 'Cat boxers will not be among the participants. Despite the entreaties of the tourney officials, the athletic authorities turned a cold shoulder to this annual affair.

Philip Harrison Store
Shoes & Clothing For The Family
Next Door to the Movies
BRYN MAWR, PA.

Bryn Mawr Confectionery

Connelly's
SAY IT WITH FLOWERS
MAIN LINE FLORIST
1226 Lancaster Pike
ROSEMONT
Bryn Mawr 252

PACING THE DANCE PARADE!
SWING AND SWAY WITH SAMMY KAYE
AND HIS ORCHESTRA in the
COMMODORE
PALM ROOM
Dinner from $2. No cover charge at Dinner. Cover charge after 10 P.M., 75c weekdays, $1.50 Saturdays.
"NEW YORK'S BEST LOCATED HOTEL"
Frank J. Crehan, Pres.
RIGHT AT GRAND CENTRAL TERMINAL
SPECIAL TEA DANCE
Every Saturday 5 to 6 P. M.
No cover charge
"New York's Best Located Hotel"

Compliments of
The
BRYN MAWR TRUST CO.
Bryn Mawr, Pa.

BOCHETTO, KEATING, M'GURK WIN POSTS ON ALL-INTRAMURAL

Three Businessmen Selected on First Squad; Tie for Fifth Position

CRUMB LEADS SCORERS

by BOB [illegible]

C&F's quintet, foremost of the rib-court and the new king of 1939 intramural championships, contributed three of their star players to the All-Star Intramural team, according to a poll conducted by the VILLANOVAN.

Don McGurk, Jim Schelle and "Bud" O'Connell were the three players named to the [illegible] team chosen by the [illegible] committee. McGurk was elected by a unanimous [illegible] 12 points, while each [illegible] Connell had six [illegible]. In the mythical team [illegible] would alternate in the [illegible] position. This represents the first time that McGurk has been selected on the All-Star team. O'Connell [illegible] honors once before, in his sophomore year, but failed to make it last year.

Bochetto Selected Again

Fullback [illegible] Bochetto [illegible] honors with Joe [illegible] his third consecutive [illegible] All-Star squad. [illegible] also unanimously selected, [illegible] corded 12 points to his outstanding play during the year.

The Steeple [illegible] their ace dribbler in the [illegible] Keating selected [illegible] team. Keating, [illegible] in the intramural scoring [illegible] his honors of a [illegible] named again with [illegible] 12 points.

Crumb Crowned

Mendel Ba[illegible] the scoring race, [illegible] Crumb, Delta [illegible] the Alumni [illegible] and [illegible] Crumb [illegible] Crumb [illegible] percent.

The Basketball [illegible] made up of [illegible] team [illegible] scored [illegible] became of the [illegible] and co-captained [illegible] spect. The [illegible] the [illegible] two years [illegible] team [illegible] point for [illegible]

Novak Returns

Walt Novak, has deserted the ranks of "Doc" Jacob's baseball squad and has returned to "Clipper" fold. With his return the squad was increased to 55. The absentees now consist of boxers Ed Killian, Pete Naimo and Johnny Nogiewicz; baseball men Nick Pasca and Buzz Howlett; and Dave DiGilio who has just been released from the infirmary. Killian, Nolano, and Nojunas should join the squad by the end of the week.

Lectures have been held every day with the exception of Saturday. Motion pictures have been shown twice a week by various members of the different squads. Special talks to point out the correct type blocks and the importance of using the right block at the opportune time.

Examinations

On Friday the squad took the first of their bi-weekly football exams. The "Clipper" would be well pleased if he could find in some of the men the amount of football knowledge possed by Jordan O'Hara, tackle and captain of the 1937 squad. It was during similar exams that Coach Smith found out that Olivar was a fine field general. Every paper that the latter submitted was almost perfect in every detail.

Five on "Honorable" List

The two scoring leaders of the champion, Bernie Crumb and Dan Keating were chosen over their teammates and opponents because of their athletic prowess and team play.

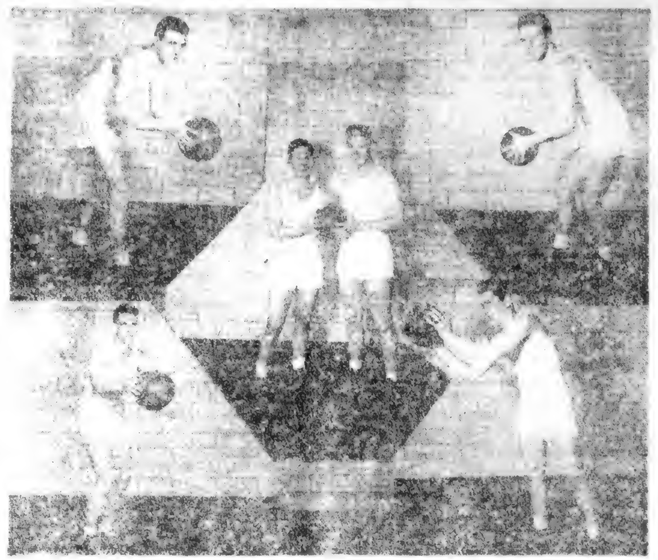
Those who received honorable mention were: Carl Parrano, Mario LeBaido, Jim Halpin, Jim Fenton, and Al Woods. Selecting the seven squads on the first two All-Star squads were: Peter McKee, Forest Mengle, Fischer Dunne, Dan Lucas, John Stack, and Dan Keating.

Scorers

Those who scored over 100 points and their total scores were:

Crumb, Alen Rec	170
Keating, M.D.'s	163
O'Connell, C&F	147
Connors, Frosh	129
McGurk, C&F	122
Boden, [illegible]	120
Schelle, C&F	118
Smith, Frosh	114
Bochetto, Alen	110
Halpin, C&F	104
Stack, C&F	101

Named on All-Intramural Team



Top left shows Joe Bochetto, three-time winner of the award. Top right, Dan Keating, picked for the second successive year. Bottom left, Don McGurk. Right, Bernie Crumb. Center shows "Bud" O'Connell and Jim Schelle, who share the fifth position by virtue of a tie vote.

Showing

Continued From Page Five

reckless abandon, filling up holes as soon as they opened with his big frame, he flashed the brilliance that in all probability will rank him with the outstanding centers of the 1939 season.

Up to the present time the defense has proved to be far stronger than the offense. This is especially true of the running attack. On the whole the blocking has not been too impressive and as a result the backs have been unable to break away for long gains.

The passing attack has been functioning fairly well. "Clipper" has laid particular stress on the completion of long passes.

NEU HITS NEW HIGH

Bobby Neu, De Paul whirlwind, who set a Convention Hall scoring record when he met our basketeers thee, established another record when he broke a mark he set last year by tallying 332 points for the entire season. This total tops his previous high by 82 points.

Divided over a total of 22 games for the season his sigle game average was slightly over 15 markers fe- game.

Before the final game Neu was honored by officials and the student body. He was presented with a trophy emblematic of his work for the De Paul the past three seasons.

$5,000,000 GYM

Yale's gymnasium cost five million dollars. Besides a large sized Palestra for basketball and Indoor Tennis, it has ample facilities for swimming, target practice, bowling, squash, handball and even for crew practice.

Wisconsin

Continued From Page Five

pounders, fought a very close fight which ended in a draw. Ariano usqd his left hand very effectively, scoring with jabs and hooks to the face.

Kirk Tires

Eddie Kirk, Villanova's sensational lightweight, remained undefeated this season in his fight with Gene Rankin, considered as one of the best 135-pounders in intercollegiate boxing. The Blue co-eastan maintained a considerable advantage in the first two rounds landing straight lefts and rights to the head in building up this lead. However, Kirk, limited to several days' training before this meet because of illness, tired in the last frame and Rankin landed several telling blows to earn him a draw.

Omar Crocker, brilliant and hard-hitting Wisconsin welterweight, hung up his twelfth straight win in earning a decision over ca-captain Billy Duffy of Villanova. Duffy maneuvered well in the first round, holding Crocker at a standstill and scoring with left hand blows to win the round. But early in the second round the Badger 145-pounder landed a steaming right on Duffy's chin, a punch which proved to be the deciding factor of the scrap. Duffy, dazed by the blow, nevertheless fought back gamely, causing Crocker enough trouble to prevent him from scoring a K. O., which most people thought was inevitable.

Mentzinger Bout Close

Bob Mentzinger dropped his second fight of the season to a powerful puncher and clever boxer in the person of Woody Swancutt, Wisconsin 155-pounder. The bout was close in the first two rounds but Mentzinger seemed to tire in the last canto and lacked the vim to carry on the offensive which he had shown in previous meets.

It remained for Johnny Nojunas to be awarded the only Villanova decision of the meet. Nojunas completely outboxed and outclassed his adversary throughout the fight. Strand, Wisconsin middleweight, proved to be a stubborn customer at times but he just couldn't cope with the left hand blows landed by the very much improved Blue ringman.

Good Fight

A bout that was packed with plenty of action was the one between the lightheavies, Naimo of Villanova and Marquardt of Wisconsin. For two rounds these boys clubbed one another with rights and lefts that were packed with dynamite. Not caring to box but rather slug it out these fighters stood toe to toe and threw leather in such a fashion as has seldom been seen in the Wisconsin Field House. Marquardt was awarded the decision on his last round performance.

Nick Lee was awarded a decision over Ed Killian of the visiting team. Killian seemed to be winning the fight in the early rounds scoring with straight lefts to the face but Lee must have looked very, very impressive in the last round to be awarded the decision.

Prescriptions
Drugs & Toilet Articles
LA DOW'S PHARMACY
LANCASTER PIKE and SPRING MILL ROAD
VILLANOVA, PA.

Burke Dairies
Milk & Cream
NORRISTOWN, PA.
Phone 2736-W

Men's Clothes
Made-to-Measure
COLEBY
Tailoring Inc.
57th & Market Sts.
Suits & Topcoats
$24.75
See
Campus Representative
TIM WAAD
210 Fedigan

Ardmore Theatre
Notice to Students
Did you know that your matriculation card will get you a reduced rate at the Ardmore Theatre at any time
TUES., March 21
"St. Louis Blues"
DOROTHY LAMOUR
LLOYD NOLAN
TITO GUIZAR
Also latest "MARCH of TIME"
WED., THURS., FRI. & SAT.
March 22-23-24-25
CLARKE GABLE
NORMA SHEARER
"Idiot's Delight"
with Edward Arnold
SUN. & MON., March 26-27
JOHN GARFIELD
DEAD END KIDS
"They Made Me A Criminal"
with Claude Rains

SEVILLE THEATRE
TUES. & WED., March 21-22
"SON OF FRANKENSTEIN"
Boris Karloff - Basil Rathbone
THURS., March 23
"CHARLIE CHAN IN HONOLULU"
FRI. & SAT., March 24-25
Pat O'Brien - Joan Blondell
"OFF THE RECORD"
SUN., MON. & TUES., March 26-27-28
CLAUDETTE COLBERT
HERBERT MARSHALL
"ZAZA"

COLADONATO
B. M. 1266
College Tailor Since 1925
Made to Measure Clothes
Suits and Topcoats
$24.50
CLEANING PRESSING
"THE CLOTHES WE SELL FIT WELL"
Cassocks and Capes at Reasonable Prices
See Campus Representative
ED DIMON
235 Austin

— RIDE FREE ON P. & W. RAILWAY MOVIE TICKET —
NORRIS Theatre
NORRISTOWN
Tues., Wed., Thurs., Mar. 21, 22, 23
ELEANOR POWELL
"HONOLULU"
Fri., Sat., Mon., Mar. 24, 25, 27
"GUNGA DIN"
VICTOR McLAGLEN
CARY GRANT
GARRICK Theatre
Fri., Sat., Mar. 24, 25
KAY FRANCIS
HUMPHREY BOGART
"KING OF THE UNDERWORLD"
GRAND Theatre
NORRISTOWN
Tues., Mar. 21
"WIFE, HUSBAND AND FRIEND"
Warner Baxter - Loretta Young
Wed., Thurs., Mar. 22, 23
"BOY TROUBLE"
Charles Ruggles - Mary Boland
Fri., Sat., Mon., Mar. 24, 25, 27
"SAY, IT LOUIS BLUES"
Dorothy Lamour - Lloyd Nolan
Tues., Mar. 21
"PARIS HONEYMOON"
BING CROSBY
Wed., Thurs., Mar. 22, 23
"LIGHT TO LAME" and "EVERYBODY'S BABY"

Direction Warner Bros.
Towne Theatre
69th & Market Sts.
Motion Pictures Are Your Best Entertainment
STARTING FRIDAY
For One Week
"GUNGA DIN"
Inspired by the rugged drawing of Kipling's imperishable epic of heroism.
- Starring -
CARY GRANT
VICTOR McLAGLEN
Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.

Basketball Sidelights

By LOU DUBINO

TOURNAMENT NOTES:

Upsets as yesteryear seem to go with the unfolding of new court stars during the current basketball season. During the Roanoke-St. Johns encounter in Madison Square Garden last week Ed Lloyd of St. Johns and Gene Rutherford of Roanoke held a scoring spree and when the scorekeeper added the total markers credited to the two players it was found that they had both broken "Pick" Dehnert's record of 25 points, Lloyd took top honors for the evening with 31 record breaking points while Rutherford did a noble job in corralling 26 of his teams 40 scores.

St. Johns had little trouble in beating the five "smart boys" from Salem, Virginia, thereby gaining the semi-final round of the New York Basketball Writers tournament being held in the Garden. The final score, 71-40, was somewhat unexpected since the Virginians had compiled a record of 21 wins and only one loss, that being to Villanova at the start of their season.

St. Johns will meet Loyola U. of Chicago and Long Island U. will play host to Bradley Tech of Peoria, Illinois, in the semi-final round of the tournament. Loyola U. up to date hasn't been defeated and has vanquished some worthy opponents, among which are C. C. N. Y., De Paul, and Villanova. Loyola at present is using a goal feader for their opponents basket. His name is Milo Novak and is the guiding meeting of the Basketball Rules Committee they will discuss whether or not his tactics are illegal. The points himself under the opponents' basket and taps all possible counters away from it. He literally places a lid on the basket.

In Eastern playoffs of the N. C. 2-A tournament held at the Palestra three other records became "passe" with the ripples of the cords by participants of the Ohio State-Wake Forest game. Ohio State's total points for the evening surpassed that of the record of 55 held by Army made when they met Penn in a regular 1938-39 season game at the Palestra. Ohio State ran up a total of 61 points in beating Wake Forest 61-55. The total score of both teams also established a new Palestra record of 116. The previous record stood at 87 garnered during the above mentioned Army-Penn game.

To Dick Baker of Ohio State went top honors of the evening. He broke the Palestra individual scoring records held jointly by Roy Mengel, of Penn and Lou Nevers of Pittsburgh. Meyers established the record of 21 points in 1931 and was tied by Roy Mengel in 1937. Baker rippled the cords for ten field goals and five free tries for a grand total of 25 points.

But Baker enjoyed his individual scoring record only one day. In the Villanova-Ohio State game, which was the finals of the Eastern division of the N. C. 2-A tournament, Fink, a teammate of Baker's, after tossing the ball about with reckless abandon found himself sole owner of the individual scoring record for the Palestra with a total of 28. From the 46 attempts he made at the basket he found the rim for ten field goals and added eight more points from the foul-throw line.

Congratulations to Paul Nugent as Villanova's representative on the Sports Writer's tournament All-Star team along with Hall and Baker of Ohio State, Weller and Owen of Wake Forest.

GETS THREE HITS

Lee Maraldo, who last month went out to the Coast with the Chicago Cubs, has been doing all right with the National League team. In one of the games last week, he obtained three of the eight hits his team was allowed during the game.

Neu

Continued From Page Five

other unanimous choice of the Severance clan—"Big Mike" Novak of Loyola of Chicago. This six-foot, nine-inch broth of a lad proved a veritable Gibraltar on the defense, while he more than made his contribution to the offense. Novak diverted a great percentage of potential Villanova baskets from their ultimate goal because of the high altitude to which his frame stretched. His deflecting of Villanova shots was one of the major reasons why the Main Liners finished the contest on the short end of the score. Besides this, he was of great value in retrieving the leather off both backboards and setting up scoring plays.

Herve Black, the Temple ace, who seems to rim his shots at the lofty rafters of Convention Hall, was the class of center on the pivot post. Black, a long, lanky individual with saddle-like speed, was a master of the fast cut. Most of his baskets were made on quick tiptoes under the net, although the "Thin Man" possessed a much better than fair eye on his long range attempts.

Guards

N. Y. U.'s slim Bobby Lewis and St. John's long Bill Lloyd are New Yorks' contributions to the dream five and also round out the starting team. Lewis was the only member of New York University's inept quintet who seemed to care about checking the Wildcats and he played himself out in an effort to do so. Lewis scored from underneath the hoop, on the foul line, and outside the foul circle in amassing a total of 15 points for the Violets. The slight New Yorker was a play maker and ball handler par excellence, even though he performed with the worst N. Y. U. quintet of recent years.

On the other hand Bill Lloyd performed with the great St. John's quintet, which outfit was probably the best to hit Philadelphia this year. In garnering a total of 15 points Lloyd was aided materially by the fine team work of skilled cohorts. However Lloyd's exhibition in the bucket and the uncanny accuracy with which he netted basket after basket was phenomenal enough to gain him a starting berth on the Blue team's all-opponent five.

Alternates

Chosen as alternate guards were Ed Bayle of Temple and Johnny "Dutch" Garfinkle of St. John's. Boyle was the team behind the gun on the Temple five, and it was his slick court movements which were mainly responsible for what court success the Owls did have. Garfinkle was a great play maker who came to the Quaker City with a record advance notices and lived up to them. A great source of the Brooklyn team's success may be laid to the effective, accurate scoring passes handed out by the Dutchman.

The teams:

First Team	Position	Second Team
Neu, De [illegible]	F	[illegible], Temple
Black, Temple	C	[illegible], Villanova
Lewis, N.Y.U.	G	[illegible], Villanova
Lloyd, St. John's	G	[illegible], Villanova

Honorable Mention: [illegible], Rhode Island; [illegible], Penn; [illegible], Penn; [illegible], Penn

LOCAL C. C. P. A. UNIT ADOPTS RESOLUTION AGAINST SMITH BILL

VILLANOVAN Members Elected at First Meeting at St. Joseph's College

Meeting at St. Joseph's College last week, the Catholic College Press Association elected Frank P. Kelly, '40, of St. Joseph's, president of the newly organized Philadelphia chapter. John J. Harrington and Thomas A. Shallow, both of Villanova, were elected corresponding secretary and trustee, respectively.

The day's topic for discussion was the Federal Aid for Education Bill, recently introduced in the Senate by Senator Thomas of Utah, which the students of the local Catholic colleges firmly opposed.

The students hold that "any measure which even remotely threatens to tend to overcentralized government, powers and duties which should be exercised by the people of the several States, leads to bureaucracy in which lies the ruin of representative democracy, as Tocqueville and Brice have pointed out.

"This measure would make the schools of the states wards of the federal government. Annual appropriations in aid of local schools will inevitably mean control by the federal government of a function which belongs to the states, for what the federal government subsidizes the federal government controls.

"There must be no regimentation of ideas in this country. Our schools must be free, even as our press and our radio. The Federal Aid to Education Act would result in an ever expanding bureaucracy which, at enormous expense to the taxpayers, will control the program of local schools, the teacher training, their administrators and their pupils, making them all parts of a powerful machine for the shaping and directing of public opinion."

Faculty Comments

Continued From Page Two

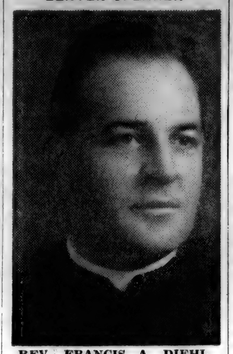
ing in some way work done at this Laboratory.

The service which the Laboratory has rendered to biological instruction in our schools and colleges and to advanced work in general is incalculable. It is the biological clearing house of this country, where the specialist who has been unable to keep up with the general advance of his science may learn from others what has been transpiring in fields outside his own, where teachers may exchange ideas as to the best methods of instruction, where distinguished men in various fields come to know each other in the most intimate and helpful way, and where all may get broader and truer ideas of the great problems of biology. The Laboratory is also a place to which schools, colleges and universities are coming to look for good men. This feature has never been emphasized and it receives no direct attention at Woods Hole but if the indirect influence of the Laboratory in discovering good men and placing them in good positions were known, it would be seen that this feature is no small part of the service which the Marine Biological Laboratory renders to American biology.

Thanks to the kindness of Mrs. Frank Lillie, a convert to our Faith, and the wife of Dr. Frank Lillie, the present president of the Board of Trustees, a home has been established at Woods Hole for Catholic priests working at the Laboratory during the Summer months. This learned and devout Catholic laywoman has done all in her power to advance the study of science in our Catholic schools by encouraging Catholic scientists to attend this laboratory. Scientists as a whole are not much concerned with any form of religion and are imbued with the id that it is impossible to submit oneself to the authority of any church and yet be free to investigate the many problems of biology. During the past three or four Summers the number of priests attending the Laboratory has been increased and their association with scientists gathered together at Woods Hole, has done much to break down prejudice, and has, I believe, had a very beneficial influence not only at Woods Hole but also in the numerous nonsectarian colleges and universities represented by these scientists. Although on the increase, the number of Catholic scientists in attendance at the Laboratory is still relatively small. It seems too bad that more Catholic schools do not take advantage of the opportunities offered by this Laboratory. Not only would science in Catholic schools profit by it, but the cause of Catholicity in general would receive distinct benefit from it.

In keeping with the policy of the science school of offering to its students the best in the field of science, Villanova expects in the near future to become a subscriber to this great Laboratory and to have a research room reserved there for its own investigators. It is our hope that each Summer two or three of the faculty members, along with a few of our best students, may find profit in using this research room and enhance the name of Villanova by their original contribution in the field of biology.

LENTEN SPEAKER



REV. FRANCIS A. DIEHL, O. S. A., will preach a sermon on "Marriage" at the weekly Lenten Service in the Chapel tonight at 6:35 P. M.

ENGINEERS INSPECT CANE SUGAR PLANT

Processes of Pennsylvania Sugar Company Shown to Members of A. S. M. E.

Accompanied by Mr. William J. Barber, M. S., faculty advisor of the society, a trip through the Pennsylvania Sugar Company was made by members of the Villanova Branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, on Monday, March 13, 1939.

At the plant the young engineers met Mr. D. Gutleben, chief mechanical engineer of the company, who gave a lecture on engineering and on the process of refining cane sugar. He also illustrated with blue print the method of extracting beet sugar.

After the lecture the boilers, generators, docks and by-products were observed.

The group was conducted to the boiler room where it viewd two boilers, fired with pulverized coal. They are seven stories high being the largest in Pennsylvania. The generator room, containing turbine generators and engines, was also visited.

At the dock heavy bags of sugar cane were being unloaded from a large ship. The Engineers were shown how the water is removed from the sugar by the use of centrifugal machines; how the syrup is evaporated to form pure sugar; how it is placed in bags, and packed for shipping.

The group saw how alcohol, antifreeze, dry ice, and others of the 33 products, obtained from the pure cane, are prepared. Large alcohol stills were inspected.

Finally each one was given a sample box of sugar cubes, a blueprint of the boilers, and an article on the manufacture of sugar. The moderator was given a blue print of the complete plans for the sugar plant.

VILLANOVAN

Vol. 11—No. 19 VILLANOVA, PA., TUESDAY, APRIL 4, 1939 N. A. S. Z-660

Al Donahue Dated for Prom

Marion O'Brien, R. Barrett Head "Room Service" Cast

Supporting Players For Campus Edition of Broadway Hit Also Selected by Director Frayne

OPENING NIGHT SET FOR FRIDAY, APRIL 21

By JAMES F. HAUGHTON

Miss Marion O'Brien and Robert Barrett have been selected to play the leading roles in the Belle Masque production of "Room Service." This play is to be presented on Friday evening, April 21, and Sunday afternoon, April 23.

Mr. Anthony Frayne, M. A., coach of the dramatic group, has also announced the supporting cast for the play. They are: Miss Patricia Rice, Robert O'Connor, Robert E. O'Brien, Joseph McCabe, James O'Brien, Ray Manahan and Thomas O'Brien.

Miss O'Brien is a Rosemont College senior. She was a member of the cast in the Belle Masque production "Winterset." She is a member of the Jest and Gesture Club of Rosemont and has been active in collegiate affairs during her four years. She will play the part of "Christine" the girl friend of the leading man. As a stenographer, she attempts to get a break for her swain who is always in a rut.

Barrett, senior Artsman, played a leading role in the 1937 play, "Journey's End." He will play the part of "Miller" a sharp New Yorker and play producer who is a quick thinker, but always manages to get himself in trouble.

As "Hilda," Miss Rice, who is also a Rosemont student, will be the girl friend of the playwright Davis.

The part of "Davis" the weakminded, reticent young man from Owego will be handled by Joseph McCabe a freshman commerce student. Davis writes a play called "Good Speed" concerning a Polish miner which Miller wishes to produce.

Robert O'Brien takes the part of "Gribble," Miller's brother-in-law who manages the hotel where the

Continued on Page Eight

STARS AS "CHRISTINE"

MARION O'BRIEN

Gratis Instruction Offered For Band

Opportunity Presented in Anticipation of Next Year's Organizations

To prepare for the band activities next year Rev. Ralph Handran, O.S.A., has announced that music lessons to interested students will soon be started.

Free drum lessons will be provided under the direction of Paul Wade. The band is in need of 12 drummers and these lessons will extend over a period of three weeks with a few hours practice weekly. The student must learn simple march beats. He will be provided with sticks.

Also open to interested students will be free instruction in the French horn, suzaphone and baritone horn. No particular training is required, except ability to read music. All interested students should see Father Handran immediately.

SURVEYING CLASSES CAMP POSSIBILITY

Malvern Prep Suggested Site for Civil, Electrical, Mechanical Engineer Activities

Malvern Prep School has been suggested as the location for the contemplated Summer Surveying School. If plans are realized, it will be attended by civil, electrical and mechanical engineering students of the sophomore and junior years.

Camp is expected to be held at the end of summer so as to interfere with summer jobs as little as possible. Civil engineering students will attend for six weeks which will be divided into two weeks of plane surveying, two weeks of railroad or highway surveying, and two weeks of advanced surveying. Electrical and mechanical engineers will take two weeks of plane surveying. Civil engineers will attend from August 1 to September 15. Others will attend from September 1 to September 15.

The estimated cost for civil engineers will be about 90 dollars. For others the cost to go to the camp will be about 30 dollars.

The location is excellent for a summer camp. The country is rolling and fairly open, free from rows of city homes and factories. There is a possibility of extending surveys onto adjoining private property.

Among the many advantages

Continued on Page Eight

SEMINARY CHOIR SINGS IN CHAPEL

Special program of liturgical music was presented by the Schola Cantorum, under the direction of Rev. Ralph Handran, O. S. A., in the college chapel last night.

Consisting of approximately 40 members, some of whom have been singing together for the past 12 or 13 years, this group has developed the co-ordination and timing necessary in the singing of this type of music.

There are three kinds of liturgical music: the Gregorian chant, polyphony, and modern liturgical music. Well-known examples of these are: "Attende Domine," a Gregorian chant, "Tristis Est Anima," a polyphony composition, and "Lamentation of Jeremiah," a modern liturgical work.

Friday night, Father Handran will take the choir to St. Rita's Church in Philadelphia, where a program similar to last night's will be presented.

ENGINEERING SCHOOL TO INDUCT GENERAL PLACEMENT SERVICE

Arrangements Under Supervision of Registrar; Seniors Receive Information Forms

PLAN TO BE RETROACTIVE

Personnel service for members of the senior engineering class which has been more or less informal in the past few years will assume the position of a regularly operating department this spring under the direction of Mr. P. F. Banmiller, registrar. This activity was made possible by the cooperation of the seniors themselves as well as the registrar.

In a written letter dated March 10, Mr. Banmiller stated "This spring we plan to develop our personnel service with the thought of giving greater assistance to our graduates. Each member of the class of 1939 will receive a supply of personnel sheets containing his photograph, name and address, and complete information concerning his degree, occupational choice and experiences, personal and family data, high school and college activities, etc. These sheets can be distributed to prospective employers when the seniors are making applications for employment."

He further stated, "The college

Continued on Page Eight

May 10 Date Set To Exclude Entry Essays on Authors

Mercier - Newman Medal to Be Presented Winner at Graduation Exercises

The dead line for submission of the essays in the Catholic Authors Contest is May 10. There are no requirements for eligibility in the contest other than being a student in the college.

This has been an annual award since its inception several years ago. However, last year there was no contest because of the death of Rev. John F. O'Brien, O. S. A., Litt. D., who has been in charge of the award for a number of years.

This year, Father McShea, English instructor in the school of arts, will be in charge of the contest.

In the last three years when the medal was given Joseph P. Carrol, Jr., won in 1936 and 1937. In 1935 Lawrence Goldschmidt won the award.

For the purpose of stimulating interest in the work of Catholic authors, the Mercier-Newman Medal was founded by Dr. C. M. Magee, formerly a member of the Villanova faculty.

Originally, the study was limited to Cardinal Newman but has since been extended to include any Catholic author of note. This study has been conducted in the form of essay contests, the winner of which receives the award.

HOLY NAME TO ELECT

Program of Clean Speech and Frequent Communions Gaining Campus Favor

The Holy Name Society will hold its annual elections immediately after the Easter vacation. The offices to be filled are those of president, vice president and secretary. Peter Mackin, retiring president of the society, is at present working on the final arrangements for the balloting.

"Although the organization does not appear to be very active," said President Mackin, "it is quietly and quite efficiently accomplishing its primary motives: clean speech on the campus, and communion for its members every First Friday."

Rainbow Room Orchestra Acclaimed By Socialites

Rhythmic Charlie Carroll, "Mickey Mouse Of The Drums," and Romantic Paula Kelly, Vocalist, Add to Entertainment Bill

"SYMPHONIC SWING" A HIT

By FRANK FITZPATRICK

Al Donahue and his Rainbow Room Orchestra have been signed to provide the music for the annual Junior Prom according to a special announcement made late yesterday afternoon by Charles D. Cavanaugh, chairman.

The musical style of Donahue can best be characterized as "symphonic swing."

Without getting into the raucous heat of a swing jam session, Donahue manages nevertheless to capture the wild beats befitting the class spots in which he is no popular.

Being, himself, a violinist of unusual ability, Donahue's tendency is to modify the cacophony of pure swing with a well developed string section, employed as background for his brass, which makes his music velvet smooth and untiring to dancers. No matter how torrid the tempo or how complicated the rhythm, his music is so arranged as never to lose its easy danceability.

Appearing currently at the Fox Theatre, he concentrates on entertainment specialties in which he himself takes a leading role, aided and abetted by his vivacious vocalist, Paula Kelly, and his irrepressible drummer, Charlie Carroll, the "Mickey Mouse" of the drums.

Simultaneously with this release Cavanaugh named the members of the committee who are to aid him.

Those from the School of Engineering are Vincent H. Baum, Allen A. Brown, and Melcihor W. Gaston. Those from the School of Commerce and Finance are Daniel A. Crossmire, Maurice P. Dunigan, William M. Gillespie, John F. Lang, Edward C. Leahy, J. Beatty Schermerhorn, Charles J. Volz, and Joseph J. York. Charles H. Lo-

Continued on Page Eight

GOVERNMENT GROUP MET GARNER, FARLEY ON WASHINGTON TRIP

Students Visit Senate, Congress, Hear Supreme Court, Labor, Commerce Cases

Governmental functions and high officials were observed in the details of their work by more than 30 Villanova students of government on their annual trip to Washington. The trip was under the direction of Dr. Harold F. Hartman and Rev. John R. Dunne, O. S. A.

The trip was arranged by these professors in order that students of government courses might obtain first hand information of the operation of several departments of the national government.

Among the various departments that were visited were the Congress and Senate of the United States, the Supreme Court, the departments of the Interior, Commerce and State. An interesting session of the National Labor Relations Board was attended and also a case before the Interstate Commerce Commission. A tour through the Federal Bureau of Investigation was made. Of special interest to banking students was the visit to the Federal Reserve Board.

Postmaster Farley was especially friendly and cordial, even to the extent of shaking hands and extending his personal greetings to each member of the party. The tall, athletic and impressive Postmaster surprised everyone by his remarkable memory and by the very personal manner in which he showed the group through his spa-

Continued on Page Four

ELECTION DATES SET BY COUNCIL

Class elections will be held following the Easter vacation. The Student Council, through its president, Frank Mozzi, has announced.

Freshmen will nominate their candidates on April 13 in the amphitheater. Elections will take place on April 17.

The sophomore class will nominate its candidates on April 19 with the elections to occur April 24. All elections will take place in the rear of the dining hall.

Juniors will not nominate or elect their officers until after Junior Week.

Mozzi wishes to remind all students that officers are elected by the students and they should select men who are fit for their respective offices.

A student to be eligible for election must have satisfactory scholastic achievement, good standing with Dean of Men, and satisfactory chapel record. He must also have attended Villanova for one year.

NEW ENGINEER FRAT ANNOUNCES AWARDS

Keys to be Given by Chi Epsilon Mu to Nominees

Sixteen candidates for Chi Epsilon Mu, the new engineering honor society, and the first of its kind at Villanova, were nominated at the engineering faculty meeting at the Registrar's office yesterday.

First announcement of plans for the society were made at the Phi Kappa Pi initiation banquet in February by Dr. E. L. Haenisch, chemical engineering advisor. It has been organized by a committee consisting of Dr. Haenisch, Mr. Emil Amelotti, M. S., mathematics instructor, and Mr. John A. Oakey, M. S., assistant professor in engineering.

The committee was appointed at the January faculty meeting to plan for an honor fraternity that will at first be local but later look to affiliation with a national engineering honorary, such as Tau Beta Pi.

Juniors with exceptional records and seniors who have been outstanding scholastically will be nominated each year; of the 16 charter

Continued on Page Eight

LOCAL C. C. P. A. UNIT ADOPTS RESOLUTION AGAINST SMITH BILL

VILLANOVAN Members Elected at First Meeting at St. [illegible] College

[illegible] has, I believe, had a very beneficial influence not only at Woods Hole but also in the numerous non-sectarian colleges and universities represented by these scientists. Although on the increase, the number of Catholic scientists in attendance at the Laboratory is still relatively small. It seems too bad that more Catholic schools do not take advantage of the opportunities offered by this Laboratory. Not only would science in Catholic schools profit by it, but the cause of Catholicity in general would receive distinct benefits from it.

In keeping with the policy of the science school of offering to its students the best in the field of science, Villanova expects in the near future to become a subscriber to this great Laboratory and to have a research room reserved there for its own investigators. It is our hope that each Summer two or three of the faculty members, along with a few of our best students, may find profit in using this research room and enhance the name of Villanova by their original contribution in the field of biology.

LENTEN SPEAKER

REV. FRANCIS A. DIEHL, O. S. A., will preach a sermon on "Marriage" at the weekly Lenten Service in the Chapel tonight at 6:35 P. M.

ENGINEERS INSPECT CANE SUGAR PLANT

Processes of Pennsylvania Sugar Company Shown to Members of A. S. M. E.

Accompanied by Mr. William J. Barber, M. S., faculty advisor of the society, a trip through the Pennsylvania Sugar Company was made by members of the Villanova Branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, on Monday, March 13, 1939.

At the plant the young engineers met Mr. D. Gutkoben, chief mechanical engineer of the company, who gave a lecture on engineering and on the process of refining cane sugar. He also illustrated with blue print the method of extracting beet sugar.

After the lecture the boilers, generators, docks and by-products were observed.

The group was conducted to the boiler room where it viewd two boilers fired with pulverized coal. They are seven stories high being the largest in Pennsylvania. The generator room, containing turbine generators and engines, was also visited.

At the dock heavy bags of sugar cane were being unloaded from a large ship. The Engineers were shown how the water is removed from the sugar by the use of centrifugal machines; how the syrup is evaporated to form pure sugar; how it is placed in bags, and packed for shipping.

The group saw how alcohol, antifreeze, dry ice, and others of the 33 products, obtained from the pure cane, are prepared. Large alcohol stills were inspected.

Finally each one was given a sample box of sugar cubes, a blueprint of the boilers, and an article on the manufacture of sugar. The moderator was given a blue print of the complete plans for the sugar plant.

Faculty Comments

Continued From Page Two

ing in some way work done at this Laboratory.

The service which the Laboratory has rendered to biological instruction in our schools and colleges and to advanced work in general is incalculable. It is the biological clearing house of this country, where the specialist who has been unable to keep up with the general advance of his science may learn from others what has been transpiring in fields outside his own, where teachers may exchange ideas as to the best methods of instruction, where distinguished men in various fields come to know each other in the most intimate and helpful way, and where all may get broader and truer ideas of the great problems of biology. The Laboratory is also a place to which schools, colleges and universities are coming to look for good men. This feature has never been organized and it receives no direct attention at Woods Hole but of the indirect influence of the Laboratory in discovering good men and placing them in good positions were known it would be seen that this feature is no small part of the service which the Marine Biological Laboratory renders to American biology.

Through the kindness of Mrs. Frank Lillie, a convert to our Faith and the wife of Dr. Frank Lillie, a present president of the Board, a Catholic home has been established at Woods Hole for Catholic students working at the Laboratory during the Summer months. This learned and devout Catholic woman has done all in her power to advance the study of science in Catholic schools by encouraging Catholic scientists to attend the Laboratory. Scientists as a rule are not much concerned with questions of religion and are imbued with the idea that it is impossible to submit oneself to the authority of any church and yet be free to investigate the many problems of biology. During the past three or four Summers the number of priests attending the Laboratory has been increased and their association with scientists gathered together at Woods Hole, has done much to break down prejudice, and a Combination that has thrilled millions all over the world.

THE GREAT WALLENDAS

a Top combination

The GREAT WALLENDAS the premier high wire artists of the world

. . . and the TOP Combination for more smoking pleasure is Chesterfield (the can't-be-copied blend)

The sun never sets on Chesterfield's popularity because Chesterfield combines . . . blends together . . . the world's best cigarette tobaccos in a way that's different from any other cigarette.

When you try them you will know why Chesterfields give millions of men and women more smoking pleasure . . . why THEY SATISFY

Chesterfield

. . . the blend that can't be copied
. . . the RIGHT COMBINATION of the world's best cigarette tobaccos

Copyright 1939, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

VILLANOVAN

Vol. 11—No. 19 VILLANOVA, PA., TUESDAY, APRIL 4, 1939 N. A. S. Z-660

Al Donahue Dated for Prom

Marion O'Brien, R. Barrett Head "Room Service" Cast

Supporting Players For Campus Edition of Broadway Hit Also Selected by Director Frayne

OPENING NIGHT SET FOR FRIDAY, APRIL 21

By JAMES F. HAUGHTON

Miss Marion O'Brien and Robert Barrett have been selected to play the leading roles in the Belle Masque production of "Room Service." This play is to be presented on Friday evening, April 21, and Sunday afternoon, April 23.

Mr. Anthony Frayne, M. A., coach of the dramatic group, has also announced the supporting cast for the play. They are: Miss Patricia Rice, Robert O'Connor, Robert E. O'Brien, Joseph McCabe, James O'Brien, Ray Manahan and Thomas O'Brien.

Miss O'Brien is a Rosemont College senior. She was a member of the cast in the Belle Masque production "Winterset." She is a member of the Jest and Gesture Club of Rosemont and has been active in collegiate affairs during her four years. She will play the part of "Christine" the girl friend of the leading man. As a stenographer, she attempts to get a break for her swain who is always in a rut.

Barrett, senior Artsman, played a leading role in the 1937 play, "Journey's End." He will play the part of "Miller" a sharp New Yorker and play producer who is a quick thinker, but always manages to get himself in trouble.

As "Hilda," Miss Rice, who is also a Rosemont student, will be the girl friend of the playwright Davis.

The part of "Davie" the weak-minded, reticent young man from Oswega will be handled by Joseph McCabe a freshman commerce student. Davis writes a play called "Good Speed" concerning a Polish miner which Miller wishes to produce.

Robert O'Brien takes the part of "Gribble," Miller's brother-in-law who manages the hotel where the

Continued on Page Eight

SURVEYING CLASSES CAMP POSSIBILITY

Malvern Prep Suggested Site for Civil, Electrical, Mechanical Engineer Activities

Malvern Prep School has been suggested as the location for the contemplated Summer Surveying School. If plans are realized, it will be attended by civil, electrical and mechanical engineering students of the sophomore and junior years.

Camp is expected to be held at the end of summer so as to interfere with summer jobs as little as possible. Civil engineering students will attend for six weeks which will be divided into two weeks of plane surveying, two weeks of railroad or highway surveying, and two weeks of advanced surveying. Electrical and mechanical engineers will take two weeks of plane surveying. Civil engineers will attend from August 1 to September 15. Others will attend from September 1 to September 15.

The estimated cost for civil engineers will be about 90 dollars. For others the cost to go to the camp will be about 30 dollars.

The location is excellent for a summer camp. The country is rolling and fairly open, free from rows of city homes and factories. There is a possibility of extending surveys onto adjoining private property.

Among the many advantages

Continued on Page Eight

SEMINARY CHOIR SINGS IN CHAPEL

Special program of liturgical music was presented by the Schola Cantorum, under the direction of Rev. Ralph Handran, O. S. A., in the college chapel last night.

Consisting of approximately 40 members, some of whom have been singing together for the past 12 or 13 years, this group has developed the co-ordination and timing necessary in the singing of this type of music.

There are three kinds of liturgical music: the Gregorian chant, polyphony, and modern liturgical music. Well-known examples of these are: "Attende Domine," a Gregorian chant, "Tristis Est Anima," a polyphony composition, and "Lamentation of Jeremiah," a modern liturgical work.

Friday night, Father Handran will take the choir to St. Rita's Church in Philadelphia, where a program similar to last night's will be presented.

STARS AS "CHRISTINE"

MARION O'BRIEN

Gratis Instruction Offered For Band

Opportunity Presented in Anticipation of Next Year's Organizations

To prepare for the band activities next year Rev. Ralph Handran, O.S.A., has announced that music lessons to interested students will soon be started.

Free drum lessons will be provided under the direction of Paul Wade. The band is in need of 12 drummers and these lessons will extend over a period of three weeks with a few hours practice weekly. The student must learn simple march beats. He will be provided with sticks.

Also open to interested students will be free instruction in the French horn, suzaphone and baritone horn. No particular training is required, except ability to read music. All interested students should see Father Handran immediately.

ENGINEERING SCHOOL TO INDUCT GENERAL PLACEMENT SERVICE

Arrangements Under Supervision of Registrar; Seniors Receive Information Forms

PLAN TO BE RETROACTIVE

Personnel service for members of the senior engineering class which has been more or less informal in the past few years will assume the position of a regularly operating department this spring under the direction of Mr. P. F. Banmiller, registrar. This activity was made possible by the cooperation of the seniors themselves as well as the registrar.

In a written letter dated March 10, Mr. Banmiller stated "This spring we plan to develop our personnel service with the thought of giving greater assistance to our graduates. Each member of the class of 1939 will receive a supply of personnel sheets containing his photograph, name and address, and complete information concerning his degree, occupational choice and experiences, personal and family data, high school and college activities, etc. These sheets can be distributed to prospective employers when the seniors are making applications for employment."

He further stated, "The college

Continued on Page Eight

May 10 Date Set To Exclude Entry Essays on Authors

Mercier - Newman Medal to Be Presented Winner at Graduation Exercises

The dead line for submission of the essays in the Catholic Authors Contest is May 10. There are no requirements for eligibility in the contest other than being a student in the college.

This has been an annual award since its inception several years ago. However, last year there was no contest because of the death of Rev. John F. O'Brien, O. S. A., Litt. D., who has been in charge of the award for a number of years.

This year, Father McShea, English instructor in the school of arts, will be in charge of the contest.

In the last three years when the medal was given Joseph P. Carrol, Jr., won in 1936 and 1937. In 1935 Lawrence Goldschmidt won the award.

For the purpose of stimulating interest in the work of Catholic authors, the Mercier-Newman Medal was founded by Dr. C. M. Magee, formerly a member of the Villanova faculty.

Originally, the study was limited to Cardinal Newman but has since been extended to include any Catholic author of note. This study has been conducted in the form of essay contests, the winner of which receives the award.

HOLY NAME TO ELECT

Program of Clean Speech and Frequent Communions Gaining Campus Favor

The Holy Name Society will hold its annual elections immediately after the Easter vacation. The offices to be filled are those of president, vice president and secretary. Peter Mackin, retiring president of the society, is at present working on the final arrangements for the balloting.

"Although the organization does not appear to be very active," said President Mackin, "it is quietly and quite efficiently accomplishing its primary motives: clean speech on the campus, and communion for its members every First Friday."

Rainbow Room Orchestra Acclaimed By Socialites

Rhythmic Charlie Carroll, "Mickey Mouse Of The Drums," and Romantic Paula Kelly, Vocalist, Add to Entertainment Bill

"SYMPHONIC SWING" A HIT

By FRANK FITZPATRICK

Al Donahue and his Rainbow Room Orchestra have been signed to provide the music for the annual Junior Prom according to a special announcement made late yesterday afternoon by Charles D. Cavanaugh, chairman.

The musical style of Donahue can best be characterized as "symphonic swing."

Without getting into the raucous heat of a swing jam session, Donahue manages nevertheless to capture the wild beats befitting the class spots in which he is no popular.

Being, himself, a violinist of unusual ability, Donahue's tendency is to modify the cacophony of pure swing with a well developed string section, employed as background for his brass, which makes his music velvet smooth and untiring to dancers. No matter how torrid the tempo or how complicated the rhythm, his music is so arranged as never to lose its easy danceability.

Appearing currently at the Fox Theatre, he concentrates on entertainment specialties in which he himself takes a leading role, aided and abetted by his vivacious vocalist, Paula Kelly, and his irrepressible drummer, Charlie Carroll, the "Mickey Mouse" of the drums.

Simultaneously with this release Cavanaugh named the members of the committee who are to aid him.

Those from the School of Engineering are Vincent H. Baum, Allen A. Brown, and Melcihor W. Gaston. Those from the School of Commerce and Finance are Daniel A. Crossmire, Maurice P. Dunigan, William M. Gillespie, John F. Lang, Edward C. Leahy, J. Beatty Schermerhorn, Charles J. Volz, and Joseph J. York. Charles H. Lo-

Continued on Page Eight

GOVERNMENT GROUP MET GARNER, FARLEY ON WASHINGTON TRIP

Students Visit Senate, Congress, Hear Supreme Court, Labor, Commerce Cases

Governmental functions and high officials were observed in the details of their work by more than 30 Villanova students of government on their annual trip to Washington. The trip was under the direction of Dr. Harold F. Hartman and Rev. John R. Dunne, O. S. A.

The trip was arranged by these professors in order that students of government courses might obtain first hand information of the operation of several departments of the national government.

Among the various departments that were visited were the Congress and Senate of the United States, the Supreme Court, the departments of the Interior, Commerce and State. An interesting session of the National Labor Relations Board was attended and also a case before the Interstate Commerce Commission. A tour through the Federal Bureau of Investigation was made. Of special interest to banking students was the visit to the Federal Reserve Board.

Postmaster Farley was especially friendly and cordial, even to the extent of shaking hands and extending his personal greetings to each member of the party. The tall, athletic and impressive Postmaster surprised everyone by his remarkable memory and by the very personal manner in which he showed the group through his spa-

Continued on Page Four

ELECTION DATES SET BY COUNCIL

Class elections will be held following the Easter vacation. The Student Council, through its president, Frank Mozzi, has announced.

Freshmen will nominate their candidates on April 13 in the amphitheater. Elections will take place on April 17.

The sophomore class will nominate its candidates on April 19 with the elections to occur April 24. All elections will take place in the rear of the dining hall.

Juniors will not nominate or elect their officers until after Junior Week.

Mozzi wishes to remind all students that officers are elected by the students and they should select men who are fit for their respective offices.

A student to be eligible for election must have satisfactory scholastic achievement, good standing with Dean of Men, and satisfactory chapel record. He must also have attended Villanova for one year.

NEW ENGINEER FRAT ANNOUNCES AWARDS

Keys to be Given by Chi Epsilon Mu to Nominees

Sixteen candidates for Chi Epsilon Mu, the new engineering honor society, and the first of its kind at Villanova, were nominated at the engineering faculty meeting at the Registrar's office yesterday.

First announcement of plans for the society were made at the Phi Kappa Pi initiation banquet in February by Dr. E. L. Haenisch, chemical engineering advisor. It has been organized by a committee consisting of Dr. Haenisch, Mr. Emil Ameloti, M. S., mathematics instructor, and Mr. John A. Oakey, M. S., assistant professor in engineering.

The committee was appointed at the January faculty meeting to plan for an honor fraternity that will at first be local but later look to affiliation with a national engineering honorary, such as Tau Beta Pi.

Juniors with exceptional records and seniors who have been outstanding scholastically will be nominated each year; of the 16 charter

Continued on Page Eight

VILLANOVAN

Published Weekly by the Students of Villanova College

Managing Board

JOHN J. HARRINGTON, '40 ..... Editor-in-Chief
JAMES P. COLLINS, '41 ..... College Editor
PHILIP M. DUNN, '40 ..... Sports Editor
JOHN T. GALLAGHER, '40 ..... Business Manager
JOSEPH N. BONGIOVANNI, '40 ..... Copy Editor
JOSEPH A. CIRELLI, '40 ..... Circulation Manager
MURRAY P. ZEALOR, '41 ..... Literary Editor
HENRY L. MANCUSO, '41 ..... Photography Editor
JOHN L. MAHER, '42 ..... Advertising Manager
JOSEPH F. BEE, '42 ..... Cartoonist

Columnists

Bernard A. Bellew, '40 ..... College Chatter
William F. Garrity, '40 ..... Odds and Ends
William J. Toy, '41 ..... Varieties
Harry A. Mazzei, '40 ..... Here and There
Anthony R. Liscio, '40 ..... Do You Know

Staff Writers

Justin G. Rubin, '40 — William E. Schubert, '42
Frank Fitzpatrick, '40 — William B. DeGrace, '42
Saul A. Wallach, '40 — Thomas H. Doyle, '42
Bernard Singer, '40 — Howard A. McCall, '42
Thomas J. Moore, '41 — John P. Fullam, '42
James F. Haughton, '41 — Thomas A. Shallow, '42
Andrea J. D'Angelo, '41 — Robert J. McIntyre, '42
David N. Reardon, '42 — Alfred Bongiovanni, '40
Joseph V. McCabe, '42 — William V. Sinnott, '40
Joseph A. Barnes, '41 — William J. Ehmer, '42
Joseph Santaniello '41 — James F. Donovan, '41
Robert W. Kiley, '41 — Frederick A. Rappleyea, '40
Robert J. Funabashi, '42 — William N. Way, '41
William B. Carey, '42 — Walter W. Lessing, '42
Francis J. Callahan, '42

Contributor

Lou Dubino, '39

Photography Staff

Melvin Bricker, '41 — Walter N. LaPorte, '42
John T. Sandonato, '41

Circulation Staff

Robert P. Schisler, '41 — Robert F. Donovan, '42
Bernard C. Crumb, '42 — Joseph D. Keffer, '42

Faculty Advisor—Rev. Edward B. McKee, O. S. A.

This paper is dedicated to one of the finest men who ever entered Villanova: scholar, athlete, gentleman—

L E O G O O D R E A U

Subscription—$2.00 per year.

Entered as second class matter at the Villanova Postoffice, December 27, 1928.

Member 1938 — 1939

Associated Collegiate Press

Distributor of Collegiate Digest

REPRESENTED FOR NATIONAL ADVERTISING BY
National Advertising Service, Inc.
College Publishers Representative
420 MADISON AVE. NEW YORK, N. Y.
CHICAGO · BOSTON · LOS ANGELES · SAN FRANCISCO

Member of the Catholic School Press Association
Member of the Catholic College Press Association
Member of the National Scholastic Press Association.

TUESDAY - - - - APRIL 4, 1939

To The Aid Of Labor

WITH much debate in Congress concerning the N. L. R. B., a buffet bill appeared in the Senate last week from the pens of Senators LaFollette and Thomas. This bill, cited as the Oppressive Labor Practices Act of 1939, bears a great resemblance to bills passed by Congress before. The proposed bill has for its purpose the elimination of certain oppressive labor practices affecting interstate and foreign commerce and for other purposes.

Congress has in this bill the power to regulate the instrumentalities and the channels of commerce and the mails for the transportation of goods produced by the employers engaged in the activities oppressive to fair labor practices. This is a possible attempt to regulate interstate commerce to the extent of intrastate commerce, as was attempted in the Bailey v. Drexel Furniture case. In this case Congress had taxed the labor of children as a means to regulate intrastate commerce.

Behind this bill Congress has the power to eliminate the utilization of labor spies, strikebreakers, the agencies of these factors, armed guard, industrial munitions which tend to violate the right of collective bargaining, provoking acts of violence. Congress assumes control over these factors because they disturb commerce, burden the free flow of it, and interfere with the police power of the several states.

The bill is a direct aid to industrial peace. With all the questionability as to how it might be questioned in the Supreme Court, it does in no way deprive the employer the fullest protection of property. It does not touch his legimate private protection equipment nor limit policing activities on his own premises. It strikes at aggressive private armies by whomsoever employed.

Lose Something?

SOME people lose themselves and are never found. At Villanova College it is often the case of some people losing articles that are never found. The only remedy to a situation of this kind is to remove it.

There are many potential remedies to overcome this situation. We have an information desk, a true place to retrieve and seek for lost articles. From whence can information come but from the information desk. There are bulletin boards in places of contact throughout the college, covering every conspicuous place.

Throughout the past these boards were used to a very minute extent, by the placing of one notice on one of these boards, at a place where most everyone will not see it. We do not suggest that there is motive behind work of this type, but if a centeralizing agency were in use, this practice would be eliminated.

The information booth is at your service. If you find something and do not know its owner hand it into this booth. If you are seeking a lost article, consult the list of lost articles that have been returned to the booth. Full co-operation means full enjoyment of this service.

Time For Action

IT is time to mind our own business.

Americans have been scanning the map of Europe and the threatening situation that has arisen. It might be well at this time to glance at the map of Europe as it was in 1914. This map showing a Europe, two-thirds the size of the United States; in 1914 there were 20 nations, today crisis began with the existence of 27. Here on this map is presented some score or more of soverign nationalities, most of them so densely populated that they are unable to be fed, each competing for foreign markets, raw materials, and political power.

The present situation in Europe is not all due to ambitions of Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini.

The Treaty of Versailles in closing the great war prepared not for peace but for war. It broke up Europe into weakened minorities, strengthened the imperialistic states of France and Britain. The minorities were not strong enough to lead a national existence, or to threaten neighbors by their weakened economic conditions though unbearable.

Instead of 20 nations, there were now 27; 7000 miles of new tariff walls were erected. The struggle for existence was on. The boundary line of the Treaty were impossible.

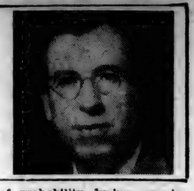
Hitler and Mussolini are the logical results of the Treaty of Versailles. Had our country been divided into some 30 states, an explosion here too would have been inevitable.

IN MEMORIAM

THE staff of the VILLANOVAN and the general student body take this opportunity to extend their sympathies to Cornelius O'Leary, sophomore commerce student, on the death of his father.

The staff and student body wish to express their profoundest sympathy upon the demise of Rev. John F. Farrell, O. S. A., late Prior of the Monastery. Although he was not immediately associated with the undergraduates of the lay departments in a personal manner, his importance and edifying holiness were easily recognized from afar.

Faculty Comments



Observations Of A Teacher

By Patrick J. Dougherty, M. A.

THAT class room discipline out to be "fait accompli" in college teaching.

That students do their best work in subjects in which they have the greatest interest.

That a teacher's duty is to make the course interesting — but not entertaining.

That interest in a subject is contagious — Students can catch it.

That there is no learning when there is no interest.

That interest, like mathematics, is cumulative.

That the "cut" system makes us forget our moral obligation to be interesting.

That enthusiasm on the part of the teacher is the result of ever-widening the boundary lines of the subject-matter.

That humor is a very important part of the teacher-student relationship.

That unity of purpose applies in teaching as much as in any other phase of life.

That the brightest students are often the most careless.

That the students most difficult to grade are the so-called average members of the group.

That the period since the World War has been the greatest laboratory period since the industrial revolution for the science of economics.

That a teacher not only must know his subject but he must know also its relationship to other subjects.

That teaching in college is a much easier lot than teaching either in the secondary or in the elementary school — with first grade teaching the most difficult of all.

That scholarship is essentially the first pre-requisite for college teaching.

That every teacher must be somewhat of an actor.

That teachers, like members of other professions, do not like every detail of their work.

That lecturing students on plans for the coming year is a waste of time — they usually are not interested and you must change plans as situations warrant anyway.

That after some classes you feel you did a good job — on other occasions and under similar circumstances you are convinced that the hour was wasted.

That the good student is almost consistently prepared and that the poor student is almost consistently unprepared — but — the average student demands everlasting vigilance.

That there is a high correlation between a student's class work and his performance on an intelligence test.

That eternal vigilance helps the law of probability during examinations.

That sarcasm should not be a part of a teacher's equipment.

That confidence in the teacher, like confidence in the money of a country must be maintained at all costs.

That we do not get as much out of our good students as we ought.

That we could do a great deal more with college students if they knew how to study.

That each crop of college freshmen is deplorably lacking in English grammar and mathematics.

That the economics aspects of taxation will occupy an important place in the college curriculum of tomorrow.

That teachers like every one else must profit by their mistakes. For instance:

During my first year at Villanova an incident occurred in one of my classes that served as a warning that some of the technique I learned as a teacher in the high school and in the elementary school was not going to be of much use in college teaching. After checking my roll one day I proceeded to check on the day's assignment. Accordingly I called on a young man for his report but he informed me that he was unprepared. As a reward for his delinquency I requested that he leave the classroom. He did. So I called on another but the answer was the same and so was the punishment. So in my best drill-sergeant voice I informed the class that in order to save time I was requesting all those who were unprepared to leave the room. They did — every last one of them.

ADVICE: Don't become a teacher unless you would be unhappy by not being one.

Do You Know?

The "Junior Courtier," a 52-page junior publication appeared on the campus during Junior Week of 1929. It was sold for 25 cents.

• • •

Besides Villanova College, the American Augustinians conduct 11 other educational institutions — seven preparatory schools and four seminaries.

• • •

Last year Villanova College received as a gift from the abbey of which Father Mendel was a member, the chair which he used at the time when he was performing his experiments.

• • •

The "Catholic Herald," the first Catholic newspaper of Philadelphia, was edited January 3, 1883. Its first named editor was Rev. Nicholas O'Donnell, O. S. A.

Shadow and Substance ... by BEE

College Chatter

By Barney Bellew

SPRING is here again:

Spring is here
The grass is nis,
I wonder where
The flowers is. (Tatler's—C. N. R.)

• • •

And with the Spring come proms which seem to take up all the slack in the lads and lassies minds. We find the junior class of St. Joe's College leading off the local proms with Glen Gray at the Bellevue on Easter Mondeve. Immaculata and La Salle are running their proms on the same night, April 28. I can see conflicts there already.

But our own Junior Prom will be the highlight of the season as usual. I can safely say that in the past few years Villanova's Junior Prom has been the outstanding social event of the Spring around the Philadelphia area.

Questionaires:

A question often heard argued in the pie shop and elsewhere is "whether or not college girls will make better wives than girls who have not had the benefit (?) of a college education."

La Salle put this same question to a number of students. The trend of opinions seemed to indicate that the poor working girl had more tape on the ball than the sophisticates. However, enough students stuck up for the more intellectual college girl to leave room for a debate.

Just what is a lady? That's a pretty hard question to answer according to a recent issue of the Rosemont Rambler.

Grace McQuail gave the only sensible answer that came near the qualities of a lady: A lady is primarily kind and thoughtful both to superiors and to her inferiors. She combines an external show of culture with an inner refinement. You ought to write a book on college girls Gracie, you have something there; 'cause quite a few girls seem to get it backwards.

• • •

Incidentally, Immaculata is having it's annual open house on April 23. All the Villanova lads are invited up to the Lot.

• • •

Once in a Lifetime:

Scarlet O'Fever took the leading role at a Temple frat house recently and caused the "jernt" to be quarantined for ten days. This gave a few students a holiday from classes and exams. One of the quarantees in a telephone interview invited anyone not interested in taking his exams to drop around.

Princeton Poll:

Larry Clinton led the bands at Princeton in a poll recently. Tommy Dorsey and Hal Kemp trailed. Their trend was toward swing music but with a smooth melody and a danceable rhythm.

Beauty and price both entered into their choice of an ideal car. The Buick filled this berth.

They also disputed the picture story of the average Princetonian in Life. Instead of spending $400 a year on clothes as was stated, the average Tiger spends only $165. (Sovereign.)

Introducing—

By JAMES F. HAUGHTON

JAMES CARROLL

FUNNY thing about James Carroll. Trying to get information out of him was like working for an Annie Oakley out of the "Greek." The guy's just naturally modest. That is, except on occasional athletic contest days. That's when he gets rolling. See he's a cheer-leader. Has been one for four years and this year he captained the group. What training he got in the line of mass vocalizing came while he was at St. John's Prep in Brooklyn where he flitted about with a megaphone.

But speaking of Brooklyn brings up a few thoughts. Brooklyn is supposed to have quite a ball team. And praising the Dodgers is Jim's favorite sport. Even when the Phillies beat them.

And Carroll doesn't even live in Brooklyn. He was born there though. When? Well Jim just wouldn't tell. But he sorta insinuated that it was somewhere around the turn of the century. But that'd make him kinda old. Well maybe he was just foolin'. He went to grammar school at Transfiguration pariah until his pater decided Queens was more conducive to study for young one and he hustled the Carroll contingent out on the Island a bit. Jim changed from the Transfiguration to St. Benedict Joseph where he gathered unto himself credit for eight years work.

Still a Brooklynite

Again the Brooklyn spirit broke out in him and he gathered his books daily to scramble back to St. John's Prep. Remember that St. John's University outfit which, along with 200 rooters and a couple of Indians, descended upon Convention Hall to do justice for the local cagemen. Well, the prep is the stepping stone to the University. While here Jim dilled and dallied in a bit of basketball. Rumors leak out that the kid was pretty good too.

S'funny thing, but when Jim was in high school he din't even know Villanova was a stopping point on the Pennsy Main Line road. He was all set to go to Holy Cross, but the Worcester institution of higher larnin' and good baseball teams didn't have an engineering course. So Jim scouted around a bit. A friend mentioned Villanova, Jim investigated and now he's about to graduate as a civil engineer.

Remember that bunch of engineers I spoke about. Well right now there are only three civil engineers. But all the civils have a society called the American Society of C. E. And Jim's the president of the local branch. He was custodian of the dough in his Junior year.

Carroll also belongs to another engineering group. That's the big engineering fraternity called Phi Kappa Pi of which all engineers are proud to be listed on the membership books. Jim's been a member for the full four years and last year handled the duties of sergeant-at-arms.

Serves on Altar

Another club which lists him as a four year member is the Sanctuary society. He's a ready student assistant for the chaplain and also handles the collection basket each Sunday along with Murray Zealor.

But the sage of the slide-rule is also athletically inclined. He has been during his four years here. With Fedigan winning all those championships in basketball and baseball Jim's been aiding their cause.

Even though he is a Fediganite through and through this man Carroll really has got an innate Austin spirit within. He's a fireman. At least he'd like to be. But he just won't talk about it. Rather, he's looking forward to handling the transit with New York engineering crew.

VARIETIES

Flying O'Briens Present Diversity Of Irish Humor

By JAMES F. HAUGHTON

THEY said Papa Dionne was lucky with five . . . But Mr. Anthony Frayne is unlucky. Why? Well one wild Irishman is bad . . . But four . . . well that's enough to cause an insurrection. And that's just what's going to happen in the Belle Masque "Room Service" when the four O'Briens . . . Marion, Bob, Jimmy and Tom get rollicking.

For instance there's Jimmy, that wild cracking gent from the wilds of Quaker Town . . . Jimmy . . . yeah that's the guy. The Bob Hope of the Campus . . . Quick retorts came with that egg when he was born and he hasn't forgotten any since. Take the time he was entertaining the Rosemont lassies in a bit of dramatica excellenta . . . He forgot his lines and remarked biantly: "Curses, I forgot my script." That's just the sort of a fellow he is . . . nothing bothers him and he always finds an answer to cope with any situation. Even in the class room . . . par excellent student too. His classmates regard him so highly that they elected him treasurer in the first three years of his college career.

Pardon us for not mentioning the ladies first, but we're taking them in the order of appearance on the photos . . . Now this Myrna Loy gal is really something, extra congenial . . . lots of friends . . . President of the Rosemont Senior Class . . . so we're told. Quite a dramatist too . . . Been with the Provincetown Players up Masschusetts way for a few Summers . . . so that makes her quality material for the Villanova stage . . . She may live near Notre Dame . . . yep, South Bend . . . but her heart belongs to Rosemont and the Belle Masque.

A glib talker is a hard man to cope with in any language . . . but when he's Irish that brings impossibles. Remember Robert Emmett the great Irish statesman and orator . . . what that man could do with Webster's best was amazing. Well the Belle Masque has got his namesake . . . but this lad added O'Brien to the Robert Emmett. Yeah Brooklyn Bob . . . often mistaken for one of the Dead End kids . . . another wisecracker . . . par excellent debater too . . . student in C&F . . . and always among the leaders in the class . . . hails from Flatbush . . . enough said . . . Brought down the house with his performance in last year's edition "Winterset." About to succeed Kryzwicki as mayor of Austin Hall . . . now head man in the east wing.

Last but not least always brings with it surprises . . . and we have one in Tom O'Brien the senior Artsman . . . his first college dramatic role . . . but he did handle many a part at St. Joseph's Prep. Claims he won't have to worry much because his wild, wavy hair and smiling blue eyes will amply aid him in playing the part of Hogarth the timid Irishman.

Mix all these O'Briens together, add a Barrett, Rice, O'Connor and McCabe and Manahan, mix well . . . then get your ticket for the Belle Masque's edition of "Room Service" to play at the local field house on April 21 and 23.

WHAT'S GOING ON

Tuesday, April 4

German Seminar ..... 9:45 A. M.
VILLANOVAN ..... 1:00 P. M.
Belle Air (Sports) ..... 1:00 P. M.
L. K. D. ..... 1:00 P. M.
Philosophy Seminar .... 1:30 P. M.
Lenten Sermon ..... 6:35 P. M.
Sociology Seminar ..... 7:00 P. M.

Wednesday, April 5

Easter Holidays Begin .. 12:30 P. M.

Thursday, April 6

Mass. State Game ..... 3:00 P. M.

Friday, April 7

Ursinus Game (Away) .. 3:00 P. M.

Wednesday, April 12

Residents Return ..... 8:30 P. M.
Pennsylvania Game (Away) ..... 3:00 P. M.

Thursday, April 13

Belle Air (College) ..... 1:00 P. M.
Glee Club ..... 4:00 P. M.
Research Seminar ..... 4:00 P. M.
Band ..... 7:00 P. M.

Friday, April 14

Belle Air (Photography) 1:00 P. M.
Providence Game (Away) 3:00 P. M.
'Room Service' Rehearsal 1:30 P. M.

Monday, April 17

P. K. P. ..... 10:45 A. M.
Mathematics Club ..... 12:30 P. M.
Belle Air (Arts) ..... 1:30 P. M.
Glee Club ..... 4:00 P. M.
Band ..... 7:00 P. M.
Sociology Seminar ..... 7:30 P. M.

VILLANOVA AT MEETINGS

Villanova students were active over the week-end attending various organization meetings.

Norman Kline, Joseph A. Gallagher and John Harrington attended the meeting of the National Federation of Catholic College Students at Rosemont on Sunday afternoon.

Murray P. Zealor and James P. Collins represented Villanova at the Middle Atlantic Student Peace Federation meeting at New Rochelle College. This organization is a member of the Catholic Student Peace Federation of the Catholic Association for International Peace.

ODDS and ENDS

By Bill Garrity

THE TATLER, weekly publication of the College of New Rochelle, devoted quite a bit of space to our illustrious publication in last week's edition. Two of the girls claim that we haven't been around because we haven't seen their school. They have seen Villanova, however, and are rightly proud of that fact.

• • •

FRED RAPPELYEA plans do do away with a certain garment he wore all Winter now that the warmer weather is approaching rapidly. It seems Freddy couldn't sleep without his knitted "booties" on during the cold nights of the Winter months.

• • •

A rather young freshman was overheard talking to an upperclassman the other day. The conversation went something like this: "Why are you so anxious for Sunday to get here, Frosh?" "Funnies!"

• • •

A little quip that might apply very readily to some of the boys: Charlie: "How many cigarettes do you smoke a day?" Bob: "Oh . . . any given number. . ."

• • •

All the juniors were astounded at the rapidity with which their feminine friends were answering letters lately. It suddenly dawned on them that Easter vacation is only a week away and junior week a couple of weeks after that.

• • •

Before the trip to Washington last week some of the fellows who are Day-hops slept in the dorms suspended on two chairs. The main reason was to get into condition for the long bus ride ahead of them. Everyone came back loaded down with education.

• • •

BILL DOBBINS spends quite a bit of time in the blue room each night at play practice. Are you practicing your crooning or trying to impress Patty?

• • •

BUZZ HART is developing quite a reputation as an eater. Buzz has a track worn from one of the rear tables up to the rail. If he doesn't get thirds on everything it is a sure bet the meal isn't a very good one.

• • •

"Till next time remember a gentleman when he sees an empty seat in one of the P. R. T. trolley cars always points it out to a lady—then races her for it!"

• • •

Here is a corker of a tongue twister. Once you have mastered this and still have no speech defect, stop into the office and we'll give you a back issue of the VILLANOVAN. The skunk thunk the stump stunk and the stump thunk the skunk stunk.

• • •

I know nobody wants to go home for the Easter because you won't have anything to do and you would rather take the third quarter exams over to fill in time. But you'll just have to go!

Where Is Utopia?

By ANDREA J. D'ANGELO

THE POUNDING sticks of drummers beat
A call to men for war,
As the tramp, the tramp of a million feet
Resounds on every shore.
To War! To War! To War! They growl,
These sons of bloody Mars,
And while they pass, hid 'neath a cowl,
Grim Death laughs from the stars.
Man-made birds fly overhead,
Dropping eggs of steel,
Below a spreading stream of red
Makes its gory seal.
Hatred, greed, lust, and fame
May on these scenes be found,
They all play at this horrid game
Of adding to Death's mound.

Is there no place upon this earth
Where the hounds of war can't bay,
Where a man is certain from his birth
To dwell in peace each day?
Is there no place where kindness reigns,
Where Beauty never dies,
Where the red blood coursing through our veins,
Responds not to battle cries?
Can't people learn to live like men
Whom God has given souls,
Or must they make this earth a den
Of ghastly, grinning ghouls?
Alas, howe'er it must be so
Until we learn to live
Like Christ so humble and so
And we our foes fo

VILLANOVAN

Published Weekly by the Students of Villanova College

Managing Board

JOHN J. HARRINGTON, '40 ..... Editor-in-Chief
JAMES P. COLLINS, '41 ..... College Editor
PHILIP M. DUNN, '40 ..... Sports Editor
JOHN T. GALLAGHER, '42 ..... Business Manager
JOSEPH N. BONGIOVANNI, '40 ..... Copy Editor
JOSEPH A. CIRELLI, '40 ..... Circulation Manager
MURRAY P. ZEALOR, '41 ..... Literary Editor
HENRY L. MANCUSO, '41 ..... Photography Editor
JOHN L. MAHER, '42 ..... Advertising Manager
JOSEPH F. BEE, '42 ..... Cartoonist

Columnists

Bernard A. Bellew, '40 ..... College Chatter
William F. Garrity, '40 ..... Odds and Ends
William J. Toy, '41 ..... Varieties
Harry A. Mazzei, '40 ..... Here and There
Anthony R. Liscio, '40 ..... Do You Know

Staff Writers

Justin G. Rubin, '40 — William E. Schubert, '42
Frank Fitzpatrick, '40 — William B. DeGrue, '42
Saul A. Wallach, '40 — Thomas H. Doyle, '42
Bernard Singer, '40 — Howard A. McCall, '42
John P. Fulham, '42 — Thomas Moore, '41
James F. Haughton, '41 — Thomas A. Shallow, '42
Andrea J. D'Angelo, '41 — Robert J. McIntyre, '42
David N. Reardon, '42 — Alfred Bongiovanni, '40
Joseph V. McCabe, '42 — William V. Sinnott, '40
Joseph A. Barnes, '41 — William J. Ehmer, '42
Joseph Santaniello, '41 — James F. Donovan, '41
Robert W. Kiley, '41 — Frederick A. Rappleyea, '40
Robert J. Funabashi, '42 — William N. Way, '41
William B. Carey, '42 — Walter W. Lessing, '42
Francis J. Cullihan, '42

Contributor

Lou Dubino, '39

Photography Staff

Melvin Bricker, '41 — Walter N. LaPorte, '42
John T. Sandonato, '41

Circulation Staff

Robert P. Schisler, '41 — Robert F. Donovan, '42
Bernard C. Crumb, '42 — Joseph D. Keffer, '42

Faculty Advisor—Rev. Edward B. McKee, O. S. A.

This paper is dedicated to one of the finest men who ever entered Villanova: scholar, athlete, gentleman—

LEO GOODREAU

Subscription—$2.00 per year.
Entered as second class matter at the Villanova Post-office, December 27, 1928.

1938 Member 1939

Associated Collegiate Press

Distributor of

Collegiate Digest

REPRESENTED FOR NATIONAL ADVERTISING BY
National Advertising Service, Inc.
College Publishers Representative
420 MADISON AVE. NEW YORK, N. Y.
CHICAGO - BOSTON - LOS ANGELES - SAN FRANCISCO

Member of the Catholic School Press Association
Member of the Catholic College Press Association
Member of the National Scholastic Press Association.

TUESDAY - - - - APRIL 4, 1939

To The Aid Of Labor

WITH much debate in Congress concerning the N. L. R. B., a buffet bill appeared in the Senate last week from the pens of Senators LaFollette and Thomas. This bill, cited as the Oppressive Labor Practices Act of 1939, bears a great resemblance to bills passed by Congress before. The proposed bill has for its purpose the elimination of certain oppressive labor practices affecting interstate and foreign commerce and for other purposes.

Congress has in this bill the power to regulate the instrumentalities and the channels of commerce and the mails for the transportation of goods produced by the employers engaged in the activities oppressive to fair labor practices. This is a possible attempt to regulate interstate commerce to the extent of intrastate commerce, as was attempted in the Bailey v. Drexel Furniture case. In this case Congress had taxed the labor of children as a means to regulate intrastate commerce.

Behind this bill Congress has the power to eliminate the utilization of labor spies, strikebreakers, the agencies of these factors, armed guard, industrial munitions which tend to violate the right of collective bargaining, provoking acts of violence. Congress assumes control over these factors because they disturb commerce, burden the free flow of it, and interfere with the police power of the several states.

The bill is a direct aid to industrial peace. With all the questionability as to how it might be questioned in the Supreme Court, it does in no way deprive the employer the fullest protection of property. It does not touch his legimate private protection equipment nor limit policing activities on his own premises. It strikes at aggressive private armies by whomsoever employed.

Lose Something?

SOME people lose themselves and are never found. At Villanova College it is often the case of some people losing articles that are never found. The only remedy to a situation of this kind is to remove it.

There are many potential remedies to overcome this situation. We have an information desk, a true place to retrieve and seek for lost articles. From whence can information come but from the information desk. There are bulletin boards in places of contact throughout the college, covering every conspicuous place.

Throughout the past these boards were used to a very minute extent, by the placing of one notice on one of these boards, at a place where most everyone will not see it. We do not suggest that there is motive behind work of this type, but if a centeralizing agency were in use, this practice would be eliminated.

The information booth is at your service. If you find something and do not know its owner hand it into this booth. If you are seeking a lost article, consult the list of lost articles that have been returned to the booth. Full co-operation means full enjoyment of this service.

Time For Action

IT is time to mind our own business.

Americans have been scanning the map of Europe and the threatening situation that has arisen. It might be well at this time to glance at the map of Europe as it was in 1914. This map showing a Europe, two-thirds the size of the United States; in 1914 there were 20 nations, today crisis began with the existence of 27. Here on this map is presented some score or more of soverign nationalities, most of them so densely populated that they are unable to be fed, each competing for foreign markets, raw materials, and political power.

The present situation in Europe is not all due to ambitions of Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini.

The Treaty of Versailles in closing the great war prepared not for peace but for war. It broke up Europe into weakened minorities, strengthened the imperialistic states of France and Britain. The minorities were not strong enough to lead a national existence, or to threaten neighbors by their weakened economic conditions though unbearable.

Instead of 20 nations, there were now 27; 7000 miles of new tariff walls were erected. The struggle for existence was on. The boundary line of the Treaty were impossible.

Hitler and Mussolini are the logical results of the Treaty of Versailles. Had our country been divided into some 30 states, an explosion here too would have been inevitable.

IN MEMORIAM

THE staff of the VILLANOVAN and the general student body take this opportunity to extend their sympathies to Cornelius O'Leary, sophomore commerce student, on the death of his father.

The staff and student body wish to express their profoundest sympathy upon the demise of Rev. John F. Farrell, O. S. A., late Prior of the Monastery. Although he was not immediately associated with the undergraduates of the lay departments in a personal manner, his importance and edifying holiness were easily recognized from afar.

Faculty Comments

Observations Of A Teacher
By
Patrick J. Dougherty, M. A.

THAT class room discipline out to be "fait accompli" in college teaching.

That students do their best work in subjects in which they have the greatest interest.

That a teacher's duty is to make the course interesting — but not entertaining.

That interest in a subject is contagious — Students can catch it.

That there is no learning when there is no interest.

That interest, like mathematics, is cumulative.

That the "cut" system makes us forget our moral obligation to be interesting.

That enthusiasm on the part of the teacher is the result of ever-widening the boundary lines of the subject-matter.

That humor is a very important part of the teacher-student relationship.

That unity of purpose applies in teaching as much as in any other phase of life.

That the brightest students are often the most careless.

That the students most difficult to grade are the so-called average members of the group.

That the period since the World War has been the greatest laboratory period since the industrial revolution for the science of economics.

That a teacher not only must know his subject but he must know also its relationship to other subjects.

That teaching in college is a much easier lot than teaching either in the secondary or in the elementary school — with first grade teaching the most difficult of all.

That scholarship is essentially the first pre-requisite for college teaching.

That every teacher must be somewhat of an actor.

That teachers, like members of other professions, do not like every detail of their work.

That lecturing students on plans for the coming year is a waste of time — they usually are not interested and you must change plans as situations warrant anyway.

That after some classes you 'feel you did a good job — on other occasions and under similar circumstances you are convinced that the hour was wasted.

That the good student is almost consistenly prepared and that the poor student is almost consistently unprepared — but — the average student demands everlasting vigilance.

That there is a high correlation between a student's class work and his performance on an intelligence test.

That eternal vigilance helps the law of probability during examinations.

That sarcasm should not be a part of a teacher's equipment.

That confidence in the teacher, like confidence in the money of a country must be maintained at all costs.

That we do not get as much out of our good students as we ought.

That we could do a great deal more with college students if they knew how to study.

That each crop of college freshmen is deplorably lacking in English grammar and mathematics.

That the economics aspects of taxation will occupy an important place in the college curriculum of tomorrow.

That teachers like every one else must profit by their mistakes. For instance:

During my first year at Villanova an incident occurred in one of my classes that served as a warning that some of the technique I learned as a teacher in the high school and in the elementary school was not going to be of much use in college teaching. After checking my roll one day I proceeded to check on the day's assignment. Accordingly I called on a young man for his report but he informed me that he was unprepared. As a reward for his dexterity in frequency I requested that he leave the classroom. He did. So I called on another but the answer was the same and so was the punishment. So in my best drill-sergeant voice I informed the class that in order to save time I was requesting all those who were unprepared to leave the room. They did — every last one of them.

ADVICE: Don't become a teacher unless you would be unhappy by not being one.

Do You Know?

The "Junior Courtier," a 52-page junior publication appeared on the campus during Junior Week of 1929. It was sold for 25 cents.

* * *

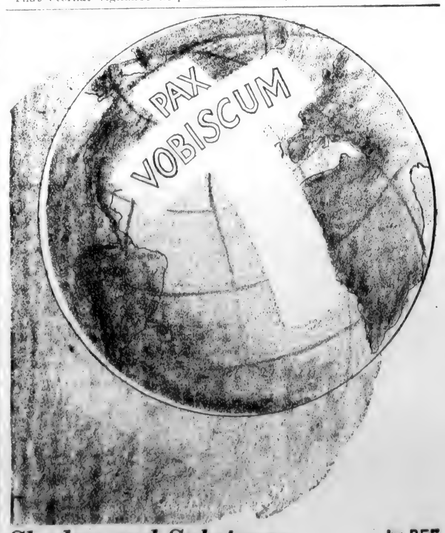
Besides Villanova College, the American Augustinians conduct 11 other educational institutions — seven preparatory schools and four seminaries.

* * *

Last year Villanova College received as a gift from the abbey of which Father Mendel was a member, the chair which he used at the time when he was performing his experiments.

* * *

The "Catholic Herald," the first Catholic newspaper of Philadelphia, was edited January 3, 1883. Its first named editor was Rev. Nicholas O'Donnell, O. S. A.



Shadow and Substance ... by BEE

College Chatter
By
Barney Bellew

SPRING is here again:
Spring is here
The grass is ris,
I wonder where
The flowers is. (Tatler'—C. N. R.)

* * *

And with the Spring come proms which seem to take up all the slack in the lads and lassies minds. We find the junior class of St. Joe's College leading off the local proms with Glen Gray at the Bellevue on Easter Mondeve. Immaculata and La Salle are running their proms on the same night, April 28. I can see conflicts there already.

But our own Junior Prom will be the highlight of the season as usual. I can safely say that in the past few years Villanova's Junior Prom has been the outstanding social event of the Spring around the Philadelphia area.

Questionaires:

A question often heard argued in the pie shop and elsewhere is "whether or not college girls will make better wives than girls who have not had the benefit (?) of a college education."

La Salle put this same question to a number of students. The trend of opinions seemed to indicate that the poor working girl had more tape on the ball than the sophisticates. However, enough students stuck up for the more intellectual college girl to leave room for a debate.

Just what is a lady? That's a pretty hard question to answer according to a recent issue of the Rosemont Rambler.

Grace McQuail gave the only sensible answer that came near the qualities of a lady: A lady is primarily kind and thoughtful both to superiors and to her inferiors. She combines an external show of culture with an inner refinement. You ought to write a book on college girls Gracie, you have something there; 'cause quite a few girls seem to get it backwards.

* * *

Incidentally, Immaculata is having it's annual open house on April 23. All the Villanova lads are invited up to the Lot.

* * *

Once in a Lifetime:

Scarlet O'Fever took the leading role at a Temple frat house recently and caused the "jernt" to be quarantined for ten days. This gave a few students a holiday from classes and exams. One of the quarantees in a telephone interview invited anyone not interested in taking his exams to drop around.

Princeton Poll:

Larry Clinton led the bands at Princeton in a poll recently. Tommy Dorsey and Hal Kemp trailed. Their trend was toward swing music but with a smooth melody and a danceable ryhthm.

Beauty and price both entered into their choice of an ideal car. The Buick filled this berth.

They also disputed the picture story of the average Princetonian in Life. Instead of spending $100 a year on clothes as was stated, the average Tiger spends only $165. (Sovereign.)

Introducing—

JAMES CARROLL

By JAMES F. HAUGHTON

FUNNY thing about James Carroll. Trying to get information out of him was like working for an Annie Oakley out of the "Greek." The guy's just naturally modest. That is, except on occasional athletic contest days. That's when he gets rolling. See he's a cheer-leader. Has been one for four years and this year he captained the group. What training he got in the line of mass vocalizing came while he was at St. John's Prep in Brooklyn where he flitted about with a megaphone.

But speaking of Brooklyn brings up a few thoughts. Brooklyn is supposed to have quite a ball team. And praising the Dodgers is Jim's favorite sport. Even when the Phillies beat them.

And Carroll doesn't even live in Brooklyn. He was born there though. When? Well Jim just wouldn't tell. But he sorta insinuated that it was somewhere around the turn of the century. But that'd make him kinda old. Well maybe he was just foolin'. He went to grammar school at Transfiguration parish until his pater decided Queens was more conducive to study for young one and he hustled the Carroll contingent out on the Island a bit. Jim changed from the Transfiguration to St. Benedict Joseph where he gathered unto himself credit for eight years work.

Still a Brooklynite

Again the Brooklyn spirit broke out in him and he gathered his books daily to scramble back to St. John's Prep. Remember that St. John's University outfit which, along with 200 rooters and a couple of Indians, descended upon Convention Hall to do justice for the local cagemen. Well, the prep is the stepping stone to the University. While here Jim dillied and dallied in a bit of basketball. Rumors leak out that the kid was pretty good too.

S'funny thing, but when Jim was in high school he din't even know Villanova was a stopping point on the Pennsy Main Line road. He was all set to go to Holy Cross, but the Worcester institution of higher larnin' and good baseball teams didn't have an engineering course. So Jim scouted around a bit. A friend mentioned Villanova, Jim investigated and now he's about to graduate as a civil engineer.

Remember that bunch of engineers I spoke about. Well right now there are only three civil engineers. But all the civils have a society called the American Society of C. E. And Jim's the president of the local branch. He was custodian of the dough in his Junior year.

Carroll also belongs to another engineering group. That's the big engineering fraternity called Phi Kappa Pi of which all engineers are proud to be listed on the membership books. Jim's been a member for the full four years and last year handled the duties of sergeant-at-arms.

Serves on Altar

Another club which lists him as a four year member is the Sanctuary society. He's a ready student assistant for the chaplain and also handles the collection basket each Sunday along with Murray Zealor.

But the sage of the slide-rule is also athletically inclined. He has been during his four years here. With Fediganwinning all those championships in basketball and baseball Jim's been aiding their cause.

Even though he is a Fediganite through and through this man Carroll really has got an innate Austin spirit within. He's a fireman. At least he'd like to be. But he just won't talk about it. Rather, he's looking forward to handling the transit with New York engineering crew.

VARIETIES

Flying O'Briens Present Diversity Of Irish Humor

By JAMES F. HAUGHTON

THEY said Papa Dionne was lucky with five . . . But Mr. Anthony Frayne is unlucky. Why? Well one wild Irishman is bad . . . But four . . . well that's enough to cause an insurrection. And that's just what's going to happen in the Belle Masque "Room Service" when the four O'Briens . . . Marion, Bob, Jimmy and Tom get rollicking.

For instance there's Jimmy, that wild cracking gent from the wilds of Quaker Town . . . Jimmy . . . yeah that's the guy. The Bob Hope of the Campus . . . Quick retorts came with that egg when he was born and he hasn't forgotten any since. Take the time he was entertaining the Rosemont lassies in a bit of dramatica excellenta . . . He forgot his lines and remarked blantly: "Curses, I forgot my script." That's just the sort of a fellow he is . . . nothing bothers him and he always finds an answer to cope with any situation. Even in the class room . . . par excellent student too. His classmates regard him so highly that they elected him treasurer in the first three years of his college career.

Pardon us for not mentioning the ladies first, but we're taking them in the order of appearance on the photos . . . Now this Myrna Loy gal is really something, extra congenial . . . lots of friends . . . President of the Rosemont Senior Class . . . so we're told. Quite a dramatist too . . . Been with the Provincetown Players up Massachusetts way for a few Summers . . . so that makes her quality material for the Villanova stage . . . She may live near Notre Dame . . . yep, South Bend . . . but her heart belongs to Rosemont and the Belle Masque.

A glib talker is a hard man to cope with in any language . . . but when he's Irish that brings impossibles. Remember Robert Emmett the great Irish statesman and orator . . . what that man could do with Webster's best was amazing. Well the Belle Masque has got his namesake . . . but this lad added O'Brien to the Robert Emmett. Yeah Brooklyn Bob . . . often mistaken for one of the Dead End kids . . . another wisecracker . . . par excellent debater too . . . student in C&F . . . and always among the leaders in the class . . . hails from Flatbush . . . enough said . . . Brought down the house with his performance in last year's edition "Winterset." About to succeed Kryzwicki as mayor of Austin Hall . . . now head man in the east wing.

Last but not least always brings with it surprises . . . and we have one in Tom O'Brien the senior Artsman . . . his first college dramatic role . . . but he did handle many a part at St. Joseph's Prep. Claims he won't have to worry much because his wild, wavy hair and smiling blue eyes will amply aid him in playing the part of Hogarth the timid Irishman.

Mix all these O'Briens together, add a Barrett, Rice, O'Connor and McCabe and Manahan, mix well . . . then get your ticket for the Belle Masque's edition of "Room Service" to play at the local field house on April 21 and 23.

WHAT'S GOING ON

Tuesday, April 4

German Seminar ..... 9:45 A. M.
VILLANOVAN ..... 1:00 P. M.
Belle Air (Sports) ..... 1:00 P. M.
L. K. D. ..... 2:00 P. M.
Philosophy Seminar .... 1:30 P. M.
Lenten Sermon ..... 6:35 P. M.
Sociology Seminar ..... 7:00 P. M.

Wednesday, April 5

Easter Holidays Begin . .12:30 P. M.

Thursday, April 6

Mass. State Game ..... 3:00 P. M.

Friday, April 7

Ursinus Game (Away) .. 3:00 P. M.

Wednesday, April 12

Residents Return ..... 8:30 P. M.
Pennsylvania Game (Away) ..... 3:00 P. M.

Thursday, April 13

Belle Air (College) ..... 1:00 P. M.
Glee Club ..... 4:00 P. M.
Research Seminar ..... 4:00 P. M.
Band ..... 7:00 P. M.

Friday, April 14

Belle Air (Photography) 1:00 P. M.
Providence Game (Away) 3:00 P. M.
'Room Service' Rehearsal 1:30 P. M.

Monday, April 17

P. K. P. .....10:45 A. M.
Mathematics Club .....12:30 P. M.
Belle Air (Arts) ..... 1:30 P. M.
Glee Club ..... 4:00 P. M.
Band ..... 7:00 P. M.
Sociology Seminar ..... 7:30 P. M.

VILLANOVA AT MEETINGS

Villanova students were active over the week-end attending various organization meetings.

Norman Kline, Joseph A. Gallagher and John Harrington attended the meeting of the National Federation of Catholic College Students at Rosemont on Sunday afternoon.

Murray P. Zealor and James P. Collins represented Villanova at the Middle Atlantic Student Peace Federation meeting at New Rochelle College. This organization is a member of the Catholic Student Peace Federation of the Catholic Association for International Peace.

Where Is Utopia?

By ANDREA J. D'ANGELO

THE POUNDING sticks of drummers beat
A call to men for war,
As the tramp, the tramp of a million feet
Resounds on every shore.
To War! To War! To War! They growl,
These sons of bloody Mars,
And while they pass, hid 'neath a cowl,
Grim Death laughs from the stars.
Man-made birds fly overhead,
Dropping eggs of steel,
Below a spreading stream of red
Makes its gory seal.
Hatred, greed, lust, and fame
May on these scenes be found,
They all play at this horrid game
Of adding to Death's mound.
Is there no place upon this earth
Where the hounds of war can't bay,
Where a man is certain from his birth
To dwell in peace each day?
Is there no place where kindness reigns,
Where Beauty never dies,
Where the red blood coursing through our veins,
Responds not to battle cries?
Can't people learn to live like men
Whom God has given souls,
Or must they make this earth a den
Of ghastly, grinning ghouls?
Alas, how'er it must be so
Until we learn to live
Like Christ so humble and so
And we our foes

ODDS and ENDS

By Bill Garrity

THE TATLER, weekly publication of the College of New Rochelle, devoted quite a bit of space to our illustrious publication in last week's edition. Two of the girls claim that we haven't been around because we haven't seen their school. They have seen Villanova, however, and are rightly proud of that fact.

* * *

FRED RAPPELYEA plans do do away with a certain garment he wore all Winter now that the warmer weather is approaching rapidly. It seems Freddy couldn't sleep without his knitted "booties" on during the cold nights of the Winter months.

* * *

A rather young freshman was overheard talking to an upperclassman the other day. The conversation went something like this: "Why are you so anxious for Sunday to get here, Frosh?" "Funnies!"

* * *

A little quip that might apply very readily to some of the boys: Charlie: "How many cigarettes do you smoke a day?" Bob: "Oh . . . any given number. . ."

* * *

All the juniors were astounded at the rapidty with which their feminine friends were answering letters lately. It suddenly dawned on them that Easter vacation is only a week away and junior week a couple of weeks after that.

* * *

Before the trip to Washington last week some of the fellows who are Day-hops slept in the dorms suspended on two chairs. The main reason was to get into condition for the long bus ride ahead of them. Everyone came back loaded down with education.

* * *

BILL DOBBINS spends quite a bit of time in the blue room each night at play practice. Are you practicing your crooning or trying to impress Patty?

* * *

BUZZ HART is developing quite a reputation as an cater. Buzz has a track worm from one of the rear tables up to the rail. If he doesn't get thirds on everything it is a sure bet the meal isn't a very good one.

* * *

"Till next time remember a gentleman when he sees an empty seat in one of the P. R. T. trolley cars always points it out to a lady—then races her for it!"

* * *

Here is a corker of a tongue twister. Once you have mastered this and still have no speech defect, stop into the office and we'll give you a back issue of the VILLANOVAN. The skunk thunk the stump stunk and the stump thunk the skunk stunk.

* * *

I know nobody wants to go home for the Easter because you won't have anything to do and you would rather take the third quarter exams over to fill in time. But you'll just have to go!

SCIENCE STUDENTS DISCUSS SEROLOGY AT RESEARCH CLUB

Use of Plant Extracts in Producing Animal Reaction Explained by Juniors

Serology, the study of plant serums, was the topic discussed at the regular Friday meeting of the Research Seminar.

Joseph Bach, junior science student, introduced the topic describing the use of plant extracts in producing various reactions in animals.

In certain cases, it was brought out that various plant pollens, when injected into animals produced an immunity to specific diseases, by the production of antibodies. These antibodies could then be extracted from the blood of the animals used, and injected into humans through various routes: the skin, mouth, or blood stream, hence producing immunity in the human.

Bach stated, "That in many cases, death was caused in animals by use of plant antigens." This statement was elaborated upon by completely discussing the effect of gradually increased doses upon an animal, which causes a toleration of toxins to take place, and an acclimatization reaction to proceed in the body.

Alfred Bongiovanni, and Armand Caleo, junior science students, concluded the meeting with detailed descriptions of how Serology could be applied to the classification of plants, and the identification of plant products by use of various tests as, the precipitation and agglutination reaction.

Learning Harmful? Philosophy Group Examines Question

Pershing Calabro Attempts Solution to Problem Under Consideration Today

What is the correct attitude toward learning? Was Tatian right when he said that faith alone is necessary; learning is to be despised? Or were the Latin Averroists correct in their emphasis on knowledge? Did St. Thomas Aquinas solve the problem? These are the questions which the philosophy seminar will look into this afternoon.

Pershing Calabro, senior in the School of Arts, will first examine the subject in a paper which he will deliver to the group. Then Albert Holl, in reviewing the paper, will point out other aspects of the question.

The group will enter the discussion. The members at this time usually point out what they consider weak points in the solution or solutions offered. Usually when the seminar completes its consideration of a question some general agreement is reached as to its solution Rev. Edward M. Dwyer, O. S. A., Ph. D., moderator, giving suggestions when they are necessary.

POSTERS ANNOUNCE JUNIOR PROMENADE

Posters on the coming Junior Prom have been put on the bulletin boards of the Villanova campus. The work of Clement Andrews, sophomore in the School of Arts, member of the varsity football team, they are all hand painted.

There are six in all and they have the following captions: "I can hardly wait," "I must see Annie tonight," "You'd better come."

The selected band will bring their own posters later, and these will be of the machine-made variety. They will point out the talents of their organization.

Posters for the Belle Masque production, "Room Service," have been made by Joseph Bee, freshman in the School of Engineering. They picture the front of a hotel, done in black and white, with the perspective taken from an altitude. They will be used to advertise the production.

YEAR BOOK COPY

With work rapidly nearing completion on the year book, Bernard McHenry, Editor-in-Chief, made it known this week that all copy that is to be entered in the publication must be turned in no later than tomorrow — before students leave the campus for the Easter vacation.

CONCLUDES SERIES

REV. ROBERT SULLIVAN, O. S. A., delivered a sermon entitled "The Mystical Body" last Tuesday evening in the college Chapel. This was the last of a series of Lenten addresses by various members of the faculty.

CHEMISTS TO LEARN GLASS-BLOWING

A. S. C. E. to Practice Unique Trade for Exhibition at Open House

A sound film on glass blowing will be shown at the next meeting of the Chemical Engineers society. Dr. Haenish intends to present a series of lectures on the same subject and to train a few students in the art of blowing glass. An exhibition of glass blowing will be part of the program of the Open House in May.

At recent meetings of the local chapter of the Society of Chemical Engineers, Francis P. O'Connell and John Maucieri spoke.

Francis P. O'Connell, junior in the School of Engineering, presented a paper on "Motor Fuel Economy in Europe." The topic of Maucieri's paper was the "Diatomaceous Silicia in Filtration Process."

During the course of the past year, this group has engaged in a variety of activities. Among these was the trip to Haverford College when Dr. Farragher spoke on the "Catalytic Aids in Thermal Decomposition of Petroleum."

A talk by Dr. Norman W. Krase, dean of the school of Chemical Engineering of the University of Pennsylvania, was given to the members of the society. Dr. Krase told members of the advantages of postgraduate work in chemical engineering.

Plans are under way for an alumni banquet to be held sometime in May.

MUSIC SEMINAR FEATURES MOVIE

A motion picture short on the life of Beethoven was shown at the Music Seminar at Simpson Hall last Wednesday and Thursday evenings. This was the second movie presented in recent weeks, the other being on the life of Johann Strauss the younger.

The musical program consisted of Schubert's "Unfinished Symphony," Grofe's Grand Canyon Suite, and Ravel's "Bolero." March Militaire had been scheduled, but the movie replaced it.

LIBRARY TO EXHIBIT N. Y. TIMES' SHEET DEPICTING COLLEGE

Proof Page of Metropolitan Paper to be Shown After Easter

A page from a 1936 New York Timea featuring Villanova College will be placed on exhibition on the library bulletin board at Mendel Hall first week after Easter vacation.

The library will put up proof-sheet of this issue in which Villanova was featured in connection with a full page national advertising campaign illustrating the sale of the metropolitan newspaper in collegiate and residential circles.

There was a scene of the Villanova station in the morning which had in contrast with the modern automobiles, the old Tally-Ho with its drivers dressed in old costumes. The following is a quote from the issue featuring Villanova:

"There is no village of Villanova—no Main Street—no shopping center. It is simply a suburban station on the Main Line of the Pennsylvania Railroad, running westward out of Philadelphia. And, of course, the college, a community of its own spread upon the hills along Lancaster Pike.

"Villanova is more an area than a community; but it focuses each morning upon the railroad station. There is nothing startling here in the sound of a coach horn as a drag swings down from Spring Mill Road—nor in the yelp of a setter in leash after a daybreak run in the fields. Nothing startling in the wide variety of transport labels on trunks and bags. For this is a metropolitan community settled in one of the mellowest and most beautiful countrysides in America, only eleven miles from Philadelphia."

Government Group Met Farley, Garner

Continued From Page One

cious office. The first assistant postmaster general Mr. W. W. Howes also extended his personal felicitations.

Vice President Garner displayed some of his dry humor and pleasing personality during his meeting with the Villanova students. He was very pleased to learn that American students are showing a more active and personal interest in the operation of their government. The speaker of the House, Mr. Bankhead received the party in his private office and spoke to them about patriotism and true love of their country. All these governmental officials were particularly impressive for their genuine love of country and the sincerity with which they performed their work.

The beautiful Franciscan Monastery on the outskirts of Washington and the Augustinian House at Catholic University were among the places of interest visited in the course of the trip.

Dr. Hartman and Father Dunne spent a great deal of time arranging the trip. Mr. Fitzpatrick, superintendent of Mails in the Phila. Postoffice, arranged the meeting with the Postmaster General. The gracious help rendered by Congressman Somers played no small part in making the visit to the nation's capitol, a very interesting and educational affair.

LEAD IN "ROOM SERVICE"

ROBERT J. BARRETT

CITY COLLEGE DEBATES

Beta Gamma Concludes Spring Debating Season Here Tomorrow Night

Beta Gamma will engage City College of New York in a debate on Wednesday, April 5, at 3 P. M., in the amphitheatre. This will be the last debate held before the Easter holidays.

Villanova will uphold the negative side of the debate which will be on the topic of pump-priming.

Last night the Beta Gamma members engaged Randolph-Macon College. The topic of the debate was: "Resolved that all private incomes over $50,000 per year should be 100 percent taxable for the excess."

LOCAL LABORATORY BEARING TEST SITE

Entire Process of Experiment and Adjustment Completed With Campus Aid

The Roller Bearing Company of America having received word that an oil pump bearing had failed in Texas, Mr. Victor Barr, '36, developing engineer of the company, asked Mr. J. Stanley Moorehouse, Acting Dean of the School of Engineering, if the laboratory in Mendel Hall could run a test to find the cause of the trouble.

The unit that failed was then shipped to Villanova and set up in the laboratory under working conditions, with a load of 60,000 pounds. Examination with the micrometer proved that the real cause of the trouble was that the shaft had buckled, and specifications for a new type of shaft were sent to the company.

When the new shaft arrived, it was set up in the unit and for over a week tests were run twenty-four hours a day, for a total of 175 hours.

Marshall Ward, engineering instructor, ran most of the night tests, and he was assisted by Raymond E. MacGregor, Edward A. Ritti, Otto K. Christoph, and Anthony J. Cirrito, all seniors in the Mechanical Engineering Department.

"I don't know how it happened, but you can realize how a musician feels when he's left his trombone on the train. Luckily the separation wasn't for long. I telephoned to the next station and soon had my trombone back."

Reunions of all kinds are best arranged by telephone. It's the fast, easy, inexpensive way of the smart college student.

Remember—Most Long Distance Rates are Reduced Every Night After 7 and All Day Sunday.

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY OF PENNSYLVANIA

Win One of the 5

PARKER PEN $1,000 COLLEGE SCHOLARSHIPS [OR $1,000 CASH]

Get FREE ENTRY BLANK and Rules at any store selling Parker Vacumatic Pens

One Scholarship Awarded Each Week for 5 Weeks

Plus 20 Weekly Cash Awards of $25 Each

105 AWARDS, TOTAL: $7,500

Nothing to Buy to Win

5 CONTESTS END SATURDAY, APRIL 8, 15, 22, 29—AND MAY 6

Army and Penn Listed on Track Schedule

CAT NINE OPENS SEASON THURSDAY

RUNNERS OUTDOORS; FOOTBALL PLAYERS STRENGTHEN SQUAD

Swarthmore, Juniata, F.&M., and Penn Relays Round Out Cinder Card

EXPECT MUCH OF MAHER

After a most successful season on the boards the track squad is now taking to the cinders. They have not been defeated in two years outdoors, and face the most difficult schedule yet attempted.

Especially outstanding in the indoor racing was the mile relay team. After placing second to a great Georgetown team in Philly, and third to Rhode Island and Boston in the N. Y. A. C. meet, the relay team assumed full strength and won the next three races. In winning these they broke a record at Washington and evened up the score with Rhode Island by defeating them. The squad composed of Barney Bellew, Pete Yankauskas, Bill Dobbins, and Bill Guiteras is the greatest mile quartet ever to represent Villanova on the track. They are now pointing for an American Championship at the Penn Relays.

Maher Successful

Johnny Maher, one of the fastest sprinters in the country, had a fairly successful season. To quote Jim Elliott, track coach, "Johnny is not an indoor runner. I expect him to do much better outdoors." However, Maher ran a dead heat with Barney Ewell in the Penn A. C. 50-yd. special in which they both broke the world record. Incidentally the record stood for 28 years before being shattered. Maher also won the Abbey trophy in the Catholic University Invitation Meet.

On the schedule are two new opponents; Army and Pennsylvania. Army has had the leading track

RUNNERS Continued on Page Seven

Diamond Stars in Pre-Season Workout

Lou Wannamacher, veteran outfielder, is shown "peppering" infielders John "Buzz" Howlett, Bob Pash, Mike Lazorchak, Francis "Cowboy" Crawley and Bob Bond. Four of the above infielders are scheduled to start the opening game on Thursday.

COACHES CONFER

Al Severance, mentor of Villanova's Middle - Atlantic District Basketball Champions, represented the Wildcats at the annual Coaches' meeting in Chicago recently. While west Al accompanied the rest of the coaches to the National Championship game between Ohio State, conqueror of Villanova, and Oregon University, western division champions. Oregon won.

BAY STATERS PLAY BLUE AGGREGATION ON LOCAL DIAMOND

Jacobs' Team Meets Ursinus, Penn, Providence, and B. C. in Away Games

LINE-UP STILL UNCERTAIN

On Thursday on the Main Line diamond Doc Jacobs' charges begin Villanova's 70th baseball season when they engage the Mass. State tossers in what may prove to be the toughest game of the season. The Bay Staters are led by Co-Captains Johnny "Bang-Bang" Bemben, a southpaw hurler who is rated one of the best in New England and is a good hitter as well, and Fran Riel, a right-handed pitcher who also hits well. When these men are not pitching they can usually be found in the outfield or at first base.

Visitors' Line-Up

Although the Mass. line-up is not yet definite the following tentative batting order looks like the one that will start against the Wildcats: "Bud" King, ss.; Don Allen, cf.; Bemben or "Babe" Phelps, 1b.; "Tap" Tappin, rf.; Paul Fanning, lf.; Stan Jakimcyk, 3b.; Al Izzyk, 2b.; Howie Steff, c.; and Riel, Bemben, or Frank Fanning (Paul's twin brother) pitching. This line-up contains three sophomores and two juniors.

On April 7 the Blue baseballers make a short trip to Collegeville to meet the Ursinus club from that town. The Bears and Cats are rivils of long standing, meeting each other twice a year in this sport. Bill Swift, big right-hander, will lead the Collegeville boys from the pitching box. Swift hit a homer against the Cats last year.

Meet Penn

Penn, the Wildcats' next opponent, will be met on Franklin Field on April 12. The addition of two football men to the starting line-up makes Penn a potent nine. From

BAY STATERS Continued on Page Seven

Wildcat Court Stars Honored; "Clipper" Likes Gridders' Spirit

Montgomery Selected on Several Teams; N. Y. U. Picks Lazorchak

Villanova's basketball season was officially closed with the loss to Ohio State in the N. C. A. A. championships, but honors for Wildcat performers are still piling up.

Jim Montgomery, who has played his last game for the 'Cats is far ahead in the "honor season." Monty has gained spots on several all-star quintets, played in an all-star game, and has generally gained recognition as one on the finest players of the past season.

Monty Makes A. P. A.-P.

The Associated Press All-Pennsylvania team, picked by a consensus of coaches and writer, placed "Jungle Jim" on its first team along with some of the greatest players of '38-'39 Diminutive Mike Lazorchak, who still has a year of competition left, was placed on the third team, while Johnny Krutulis missed recognition by one vote. Krutulis was given honorable mention.

Coach Calvert of the Lehigh University team picked Jim Montgom-

MONTGOMERY Continued on Page Six

Freshmen and Last Year's Recruits Show Up Well in Drills

Although the weather has not been of the best, "Clipper" and his charges have taken advantage of the few good days and have accomplished tremendous strides. Leaving the soft turf in front of Austin, they have been working out daily for the past two weeks on the stadium field.

The squad's performance during this period has caused both coaches to be well pleased. The players have shown a fine spirit and a willingness to give their best. Realizing the fact that there are three positions wide open, the line candidates are working particularly hard to gain a starting berth.

Frosh Good

A number of newcomers who showed promise on last year's freshmen squad are beginning to display the talents that made them worthy of the praise. This is very noticeable in the performances of backfield men Ad Worthington and Frank Famelette and line men Ed Koriskey, Enrico Napolatano, and "Elk" Murray.

Before being sidelined with an

FRESHMEN Continued on Page Seven

Sportorial

By Phil Dunn

Sports Editor

THAT Villanova's boxers should have been sent to the National Intercollegiate Boxing Championships is forcefully proven by the following record of the bouts: 135-pound champion, Gene Rankin, Wisconsin U., won his title after beating Danny Falco of Temple in the semifinals. Rankin, it may be remembered, drew with Kirk a few weeks ago. Omar Crocker, also of Wisconsin, took the 145 - pound crown. Billy Duffy is still the only man to go the limit with Crocker this year.

PHIL DUNN

Swancutt, who bested Mentzinger at Madison, won the 155-pound title; and Nick Lee, winner over Ed Killian by a very unpopular decision, was runner-up in the heavyweight class. Fred Stant, C. U., won the 165-division crown. Nojunas defeated Stant at Washington.

Wisconsin U., it may be noted, has 130 men report for boxing each year. Out of this an eight man team is to be picked. It is no wonder that they come up with a powerhouse year in and year out. In fact they have two teams of almost equal strength.

—V—

Tennis devotees are up in arms about the condition of the courts. Of course it may seem a little early, but it won't be long before the varsity

SPORTORIAL Continued on Page Six

WIDESPREAD FAME

Villanova's fame has spread to Europe. According to communications received here, moving pictures of the Villanova-Auburn football game were recently shown in a theatre in Rome, Italy.

Pat Vazzaluso, an alumnus taking graduate work in Italy saw the pictures and sent the news to Tony Liscio.

Dwyer Re-elected Golf Captain; Full Tennis Schedule Released

Linksmen List Meets With Temple, Fordham, and St. Joseph's Teams

With the Spring Bud slowly but surely coming to a blossom, the golf enthusiasts gathered together their golf clubs and have graced the campus and the nearby Main Line Golf Club getting in shape for the coming golf season.

During their initial meeting of the season presided over by Lou Dubino, who is nasuming the position of player-manager, the golf team re-elected Jim Dwyer to the position of Captain. From his past performances Jim justly deserves this honor and has always lived up to all expectations of him. He is a senior and will be finishing his fourth year as a member of the Villanova golf team. Attending the meeting were many newcomers and the ever reliable members of the past years.

Schedule Compiled

Lou Dubino has been busy contacting neighboring schools and has compiled a schedule of worthy opponents of the past. There are no newcomers on the Villanova schedule although St. Johns of

LINKSMEN Continued on Page Six

Racqueteers Meet New Foes; Battle To Be Waged For Varsity Berths

With all arrangements for the 1939 tennis season completed, a varsity squad of ten players marks time for the opening match of the season on April 15 when the Manhattan College racqueteers invade the local courts.

Missing from the squad that carried off five of eleven decisions last season, playing under the most difficult conditions any Villanova team has been asked to contend with, will be Jim Cousart and Ed Gibson, both graduated.

Lettermen Back

Returning lettermen are Dennis Dunne, Fred Rappleye, Bert Wellenbach, Leonard Weinfeld, Beatty Schermerhorn, John Leary, and Saul Wallach. From the ranks of the junior varsity come Ed Bannigan, Art Somers, and "Tex" Connors, all three are expected to raise havoc with members of last years' squad in the fight for starting singles posts.

From the intramural tourney others may pop up as possible varsity timber. All quarter-final-

RACQUETEERS Continued Page Six

SCIENCE STUDENTS DISCUSS SEROLOGY AT RESEARCH CLUB

Use of Plant Extracts in Producing Animal Reaction Explained by Juniors

Serology, the study of plant serums, was the topic discussed at the regular Friday meeting of the Research Seminar.

Joseph Bach, junior science student, introduced the topic, describing the use of plant extracts in producing various reactions in animals.

In certain cases, it was brought out that various plant pollens, when injected into animals produced an immunity to specific diseases, by the production of antibodies. These antibodies could then be extracted from the blood of the animals used, and injected into humans through various routes: the skin, mouth, or blood stream, hence producing immunity in the human.

Bach stated, "That in many cases, death was caused in animals by use of plant antigens." This statement was elaborated upon by completely discussing the effect of gradually increased doses upon an animal, which causes a foleation of toxins to take place and an acclimatization reaction to proceed in the body.

Alfred Bongiovanni, and Armand Caleo, junior science students, concluded the meeting with detailed descriptions of how Serology could be applied to the classification of plants, and the identification of plant products by use of various tests as, the precipitation and agglutination reaction.

Learning Harmful? Philosophy Group Examines Question

Pershing Calabro Attempts Solution to Problem Under Consideration Today

What is the correct attitude toward learning? Was Tatian right when he said that faith alone is necessary; learning is to be despised? Or were the Latin Averroists correct in their emphasis on knowledge? Did St. Thomas Aquinas solve the problem? These are the questions which the philosophy seminar will look into this afternoon.

Pershing Calabro, senior in the School of Arts, will first examine the subject in a paper which he will deliver to the group. Then Albert Holl, in reviewing the paper, will point out other aspects of the question.

The group will enter the discussion. The members at this time usually point out what they consider weak points in the solution or solutions offered. Usually when the seminar completes its consideration of a question some general agreement is reached as to its solution. Rev. Edward M. Dwyer, O. S. A., Ph. D., moderator, gives suggestions when they are necessary.

POSTERS ANNOUNCE JUNIOR PROMENADE

Posters on the coming Junior Prom have been put on the bulletin boards of the Villanova campus. The work of Clement Andrews, sophomore in the School of Arts, member of the varsity football team, they are all hand painted.

There are six in all and they have the following captions: "I can hardly wait." "I must see Annie tonight." "You'd better come."

The selected band will bring their own posters later, and these will be of the machine-made variety. They will point out the talents of their organization.

Posters for the Belle Masque production, "Room Service," have been made by Joseph Bee, freshman in the School of Engineering. They picture the front of a hotel, done in black and white, with the perspective taken from an altitude. They will be used to advertise the production.

YEAR BOOK COPY

With work rapidly nearing completion on the year book, Bernard McHenry, Editor-in-Chief, made it known this week that all copy that is to be entered in the publication must be turned in no later than tomorrow — before students leave the campus for the Easter vacation.

CONCLUDES SERIES

REV. ROBERT SULLIVAN, O. S. A., delivered a sermon entitled "The Mystical Body" last Tuesday evening in the college Chapel. This was the last of a series of Lenten addresses by various members of the faculty.

CHEMISTS TO LEARN GLASS-BLOWING

A. S. C. E. to Practice Unique Trade for Exhibition at Open House

A sound film on glass blowing will be shown at the next meeting of the Chemical Engineers society. Dr. Haenish intends to present a series of lectures on the same subject and to train a few students in the art of blowing glass. An exhibition of glass blowing will be part of the program of the Open House in May.

At recent meetings of the local chapter of the Society of Chemical Engineers, Francis P. O'Connell and John Maucieri spoke.

Francis P. O'Connell, junior in the School of Engineering, presented a paper on "Motor Fuel Economy in Europe." The topic of Maucieri's paper was the "Diatomaceous Silicia in Filtration Process."

During the course of the past year, this group has engaged in a variety of activities. Among these was the trip to Haverford College when Dr. Farragher spoke on the "Catalytic Aids in Thermal Decomposition of Petroleum."

A talk by Dr. Norman W. Krase, dean of the school of Chemical Engineering of the University of Pennsylvania, was given to the members of the society. Dr. Krase told members of the advantages of postgraduate work in chemical engineering.

Plans are under way for an alumni banquet to be held sometime in May.

MUSIC SEMINAR FEATURES MOVIE

A motion picture short on the life of Beethoven was shown at the Music Seminar at Simpson Hall last Wednesday and Thursday evenings. This was the second movie presented in recent weeks, the other being on the life of Johann Strauss the younger.

The musical program consisted of Schubert's "Unfinished Symphony," Grofe's Grand Canyon Suite, and Ravel's "Bolero." March Militaire had been scheduled, but the movie replaced it.

LIBRARY TO EXHIBIT N. Y. TIMES' SHEET DEPICTING COLLEGE

Proof Page of Metropolitan Paper to be Shown After Easter

A page from a 1936 New York Times featuring Villanova College will be placed on exhibition on the library bulletin board at Mendel Hall first week after Easter vacation.

The library will put up proof-sheet of this issue in which Villanova was featured in connection with a full page national advertising campaign illustrating the sale of the metropolitan newspaper in collegiate and residential circles.

There was a scene of the Villanova station in the morning which had in contrast with the modern automobiles, the old Tally-Ho with its drivers dressed in old costumes. The following is a quote from the issue featuring Villanova:

"There is no village of Villanova—no Main Street—no shopping center. It is simply a suburban station on the Main Line of the Pennsylvania Railroad, running westward out of Philadelphia. And, of course, the college, a community of its own spread upon the hills along Lancaster Pike.

"Villanova is more an area than a community; but it focuses each morning upon the railroad station. There is nothing startling here in the sound of a coach horn as a drag swings down from Spring Mill Road—nor in the yelp of a setter in leash after a daybreak run in the fields. Nothing startling in the wide variety of transport labels on trunks and bags. For this is a metropolitan community settled in one of the mellowest and most beautiful countrysides in America, only eleven miles from Philadelphia."

Government Group Met Farley, Garner

Continued From Page One

cious office. The first assistant postmaster general Mr. W. W. Howes also extended his personal felicitations.

Vice President Garner displayed some of his dry humor and pleasing personality during his meeting with the Villanova students. He was very pleased to learn that American students are showing a more active and personal interest in the operation of their government. The speaker of the House, Mr. Bankhead received the party in his private office and spoke to them about patriotism and true love of their country. All these governmental officials were particularly impressive for their genuine love of country and the sincerity with which they performed their work.

The beautiful Franciscan Monastery on the outskirts of Washington and the Augustinian House at Catholic University were among the places of interest visited in the course of the trip.

Dr. Hartman and Father Dunne spent a great deal of time arranging the trip. Mr. Fitzpatrick, superintendent of Mails in the Phila. Postoffice, arranged the meetings with the Postmaster General. The gracious help rendered by Congressman Somers played no small part in making the visit to the nation's capitol, a very interesting and educational affair.

LEAD IN "ROOM SERVICE"

ROBERT J. BARRETT

CITY COLLEGE DEBATES

Beta Gamma Concludes Spring Debating Season Here Tomorrow Night

Beta Gamma will engage City College of New York in a debate on Wednesday, April 5, at 3 P. M., in the amphitheatre. This will be the last debate held before the Easter holidays.

Villanova will uphold the negative side of the debate which will be on the topic of pump-priming.

Last night the Beta Gamma members engaged Randolph-Macon College. The topic of the debate was: "Resolved that all private incomes over $50,000 per year should be 100 percent taxable for the excess."

LOCAL LABORATORY BEARING TEST SITE

Entire Process of Experiment and Adjustment Completed With Campus Aid

The Roller Bearing Company of America having received word that an oil pump bearing had failed in Texas, Mr. Victor Barr, '36, developing engineer of the company, asked Mr. J. Stanley Moorehouse, Acting Dean of the School of Engineering, if the laboratory in Mendel Hall could run a test to find the cause of the trouble.

The unit that failed was then shipped to Villanova and set up in the laboratory under working conditions, with a load of 60,000 pounds. Examination with the micrometer proved that the real cause of the trouble was that the shaft had buckled, and specifications for a new type of shaft were sent to the company.

When the new shaft arrived, it was set up in the unit and for over a week tests were run twenty-four hours a day, for a total of 175 hours.

Marshall Ward, engineering instructor, ran most of the night tests, and he was assisted by Raymond E. MacGregor, Edward A. Ritti, Otto K. Christoph, and Anthony J. Cirrito, all seniors in the Mechanical Engineering Department.

Reunion with a Trombone

"I don't know how it happened, but you can realize how a musician feels when he's left his trombone on the train. Luckily the separation wasn't for long. I telephoned to the next station and soon had my trombone back."

Reunions of all kinds are best arranged by telephone. It's the fast, easy, inexpensive way of the smart college student.

Remember—Most Long Distance Rates are Reduced Every Night After 7 and All Day Sunday.

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY OF PENNSYLVANIA

Win One of the 5
PARKER PEN $1,000 COLLEGE SCHOLARSHIPS [OR $1,000 CASH]
Get FREE ENTRY BLANK and Rules at any store selling Parker Vacumatic Pens
One Scholarship Awarded Each Week for 5 Weeks
Plus 20 Weekly Cash Awards of $25 Each
105 AWARDS, TOTAL: $7,500
Nothing to Buy to Win
5 CONTESTS END SATURDAY, APRIL 8, 15, 22, 29—AND MAY 6

Army and Penn Listed on Track Schedule

CAT NINE OPENS SEASON THURSDAY

RUNNERS OUTDOORS; FOOTBALL PLAYERS STRENGTHEN SQUAD

Swarthmore, Juniata, F.&M., and Penn Relays Round Out Cinder Card

EXPECT MUCH OF MAHER

After a most successful season on the boards the track squad is now taking to the cinders. They have not been defeated in two years outdoors, and face the most difficult schedule yet attempted.

Especially outstanding in the indoor racing was the mile relay team. After placing second to a great Georgetown team in Philly, and third to Rhode Island and Boston in the N. Y. A. C. meet, the relay team assumed full strength and won the next three races. In winning these they broke a record at Washington and evened up the score with Rhode Island by defeating them. The squad composed of Barney Bellew, Pete Yankauskas, Bill Dobbins, and Bill Guiteras is the greatest mile quartet ever to represent Villanova on the track. They are now pointing for an American Championship at the Penn Relays.

Maher Successful

Johnny Maher, one of the fastest sprinters in the country, had a fairly successful season. To quote Jim Elliott, track coach, "Johnny is not an indoor runner. I expect him to do much better outdoors." However, Maher ran a dead heat with Barney Ewell in the Penn A. C. 50-yd. special in which they both broke the world record. Incidentally the record stood for 23 years before being shattered. Maher also won the Abbey trophy in the Catholic University Invitation Meet.

On the schedule are two new opponents; Army and Pennsylvania. Army has had the leading track

RUNNERS Continued on Page Seven

Diamond Stars in Pre-Season Workout

Lou Wannamacher, veteran outfielder, is shown "peppering" infielders John "Buzz" Howlett, Bob Pash, Mike Lazorchak, Francis "Cowboy" Crawley and Bob Bond. Four of the above infielders are scheduled to start the opening game on Thursday.

COACHES CONFER

Al Severance, mentor of Villanova's Middle-Atlantic District Basketball Champions, represented the Wildcats at the annual Coaches' meeting in Chicago recently. While west Al accompanied the rest of the coaches to the National Championship game between Ohio State, conqueror of Villanova, and Oregon University, western division champions. Oregon won.

Sportorial

By Phil Dunn
Sports Editor

THAT Villanova's boxers should have been sent to the National Intercollegiate Boxing Championships is forcefully proven by the following record of the bouts: 135-pound champion, Gene Rankin, Wisconsin U., won his title after beating Danny Falco of Temple in the semifinals. Rankin, it may be remembered, drew with Kirk a few weeks ago. Omar Crocker, also of Wisconsin, took the 145-pound crown. Billy Duffy is still the only man to go the limit with Crocker this year.

PHIL DUNN

Swancutt, who bested Mentzinger at Madison, won the 155-pound title; and Nick Lee, winner over Ed Killian by a very unpopular dicision, was runner-up in the heavyweight class. Fred Stant, C. U., won the 165-division crown. Nojunas defeated Stant at Washington.

Wisconsin U., it may be noted, has 130 men report for boxing each year. Out of this an eight man team is to be picked. It is no wonder that they come up with a powerhouse year in and year out. In fact they have two teams of almost equal strength.

—V—

Tennis devotees are up in arms about the condition of the courts. Of course it may seem a little early, but it won't be long before the varsity

SPORTORIAL Continued on Page Six

WIDESPREAD FAME

Villanova's fame has spread to Europe. According to communications received here, moving pictures of the Villanova-Auburn football game were recently shown in a theatre in Rome, Italy.

Pat Vazzaluso, an alumnus taking graduate work in Italy saw the pictures and sent the news to Tony Liscio.

BAY STATERS PLAY BLUE AGGREGATION ON LOCAL DIAMOND

Jacobs' Team Meets Ursinus, Penn, Providence, and B. C. in Away Games

LINE-UP STILL UNCERTAIN

On Thursday on the Main Line diamond Doc Jacobs' charges begin Villanova's 70th baseball season when they engage the Mass. State tossers in what may prove to be the toughest game of the season. The Bay Staters are led by Co-Captains Johnny "Bang-Bang" Bemben, a southpaw hurler who is rated one of the best in New England and is a good hitter as well, and Fran Riel, a right-handed pitcher who also hits well. When these men are not pitching they can usually be found in the outfield or at first base.

Visitors' Line-Up

Although the Mass. line-up is not yet definite the following tentative batting order looks like the one that will start against the Willcats: "Bud" King, ss.; Don Allen, cf.; Bemben or "Babe" Phelps, 1b.; "Tap" Tappin, rf.; Paul Fanning, lf.; Stan Jakimcyk, 3b.; Al Cwyk, 2b.; Howie Steff, c.; and Riel, Bemben, or Frank Fanning (Paul's twin brother) pitching. This line-up contains three sophomores and two juniors.

On April 7 the Blue baseballers make a short trip to Collegeville to meet the Ursinus club from that town. The Bears and Cats are rivals of long standing, meeting each other twice a year in this sport. Bill Swift, big right-hander, will lead the Collegeville boys from the pitching box. Swift hit a homer against the Cats last year.

Meet Penn

Penn, the Wildcats' next opponent, will be met on Franklin Field on April 12. The addition of two football men to the starting lineup makes Penn a potent nine.

BAY STATERS Continued on Page Seven

Wildcat Court Stars Honored; "Clipper" Likes Gridders' Spirit

Montgomery Selected on Several Teams; N. Y. U. Picks Lazorchak

Villanova's basketball season was officially closed with the loss to Ohio State in the N. C. A. A. championships, but honors for Wildcat performers are still piling up.

Jim Montgomery, who has played his last game for the 'Cats is far ahead in the "honor season." Monty has gained spots on several all-star quintets, played in an all-star game, and has generally gained recognition as one on the finest players of the past season.

Monty Makes A. P. A.-P.

The Associated Press All-Pennsylvania team, picked by a consensus of coaches and writer, placed "Jungle Jim" on its first team along with some of the greatest players of '38-'39 Diminutive Mike Lazorchak, who still has a year of competition left, was placed on the third team, while Johnny Krutulis missed recognition by one vote. Krutulis was given honorable mention.

Coach Calvert of the Lehigh University team picked Jim Montgom-

MONTGOMERY Continued on Page Six

Freshmen and Last Year's Recruits Show Up Well in Drills

Although the weather has not been of the best, "Clipper" and his charges have taken advantage of the few good days and have accomplished tremendous strides. Leaving the soft turf in front of Austin, they have been working out daily for the past two weeks on the stadium field.

The squad's performance during this period has caused both coaches to be well pleased. The players have shown a fine spirit and a willingness to give their best. Realizing the fact that there are three positions wide open, the line candidates are working particularly hard to gain a starting berth.

Frosh Good

A number of newcomers who showed promise on last year's freshmen squad are beginning to display the talents that made them worthy of the praise. This is very noticeable in the performances of backfield men Ad Worthington and Frank Famellette and line men Ed Koriskey, Enrico Napolatano, and "Elk" Murray.

Before being sidelined with an

FRESHMEN Continued on Page Seven

Dwyer Re-elected Golf Captain; Full Tennis Schedule Released

Linksmen List Meets With Temple, Fordham, and St. Joseph's Teams

With the Spring Bud slowly but surely coming to a blossom, the golf enthusiasts gathered together their golf clubs and have graced the campus and the nearby Main Line Golf Club getting in shape for the coming golf season.

During their initial meeting of the season presided over by Lou Dubino, who is assuming the position of player-manager, the golf team re-elected Jim Dwyer to the position of Captain. From his past performances Jim justly deserves this honor and has always lived up to all expectations of him. He is a senior and will be finishing his fourth year as a member of the Villanova golf team. Attending the meeting were many newcomers and the ever reliable members of the past years.

Schedule Compiled

Lou Dubino has been busy contacting neighboring schools and has compiled a schedule of worthy opponents of the past. There are no newcomers on the Villanova schedule although St. Johns of

LINKSMEN Continued on Page Six

Racqueteers Meet New Foes; Battle To Be Waged For Varsity Berths

With all arrangements for the 1939 tennis season completed, a varsity squad of ten players marks time for the opening match of the season on April 15 when the Manhattan College racqueteers invade the local courts.

Missing from the squad that carried off five of eleven decisions last season, playing under the most difficult conditions any Villanova team has been asked to contend with, will be Jim Colbert and Ed Gibson, both graduated.

Lettermen Back

Returning lettermen are Dennis Dunne, Fred Rappleyea, Bert Wellenbach, Leonard Weinfeld, Beatty Schermerhorn, John Lucas and Saul Wallach. From the ranks of the junior varsity come Ed Bannigan, Art Somers, and Alex Connors, all three are expected to raise havoc with members of last years' squad in the fight for starting singles posts.

From the intramural tourney others may pop up ra[illegible] varsity timber. All quarter[illegible]

RACQUETEERS Continued Page [illegible]

Fedigan And Mendel Win Opening Baseball Tilts

Cold Weather and Wind Hamper Players as Blueshirts Bow to Gigolos 3-2, and Penthousers Trip Greenies 8-6

CASTLES HOLDS AUSTIN TO ONE HIT

Fedigan Hall pushed across two runs in the sixth inning to defeat Austin Hall 3-2 in a seven inning affair. It was the opening game of the intramural baseball league, and although the diamond was swept by heavy winds a large crowd was on hand to witness the league opener.

Trailing the Austinites for five and one-half innings the Fedigans reached Carl Pantaleo for 3 hits in the last half of the sixth and scored twice with the aid of two Austin errors.

Frank Castles, who pitched the entire seven innings and allowed only one hit and two runs, both unearned, was credited with the victory.

Fedigan Scores

John Costello, first man up in the sixth, reached first on an error, La Balbo grounded out, Costello going to second, then Macek lashed a single into deep center scoring Costello with the tying run, on the throw-in Macek went to second and rode home with the winning run when Roche, pinch-hitting for Sandor, lashed a hard grounder through the box.

Getting off to a four run lead which was promptly tied by Father Dunne's Alumni team in the second inning the Mendel nine continued to peck away at the combined offerings of Gregolonis and Shea for four more runs in the third, fourth, and fifth innings to defeat their arch-rivals 8-6 in the seasons' opener for the two freshman clubs.

The spectacular pitching of Asbinrey, Mendel ace who came in during Alumni's four run second inning was easily the outstanding performance of the day. In his short stay in the box he faced 14 men and proceeded to strike out 10 of them. He weakened in the sixth to allow two runs to cross the plate but a fine play, Crumb to Fitzgeraid, the catcher, cut short Alumni's chances of winning the game.

Austin	ab.	r.	h.	e.
Pantaleo	2	0	0	0
Forkin	3	0	1	0
Thoma	3	0	0	1
Robinson	3	0	0	0
Vonera	3	0	0	0
Feraicano	3	0	0	0
Cleary	2	1	0	0
McGuire	2	0	0	0
Aleo	1	1	0	1
Totals	22	2	1	2

Fedigan	ab.	r.	h.	e.
Stellar	3	0	2	0
Dano	3	0	0	0
Costello	3	1	0	0
LaBalbo	3	1	0	2
Macek	3	1	2	0
Sandor	1	0	0	0
Bobrowski	1	0	0	0
Murphy	2	0	1	1
Casti e	1	0	0	0
Gillespie	2	0	1	0
Roche	1	0	1	0
Totals	23	3	6	3

Alumni	ab.	r.	h.	e.
McKenna	3	2	1	1
Nicora	2	1	2	0
Muench	2	0	0	0
Lasky	1	0	0	0
Shea	3	0	0	0
Dalton	1	0	0	1
Salvaia	1	0	0	0
Koch	3	1	1	1
Monahan	0	0	0	0
Gregolonis	0	0	0	0
Logan	0	0	0	0
Shuster	1	0	0	0
Conner	0	0	0	0
Mottews	1	0	0	0
Holland	2	0	0	1
Pannetti	1	0	1	0
Totals	22	5	5	4

Mendel	ab.	r.	h.	e.
Daley	1	2	0	0
Crumb	1	1	1	0
Clark	3	1	1	0
Mariani	2	2	1	0
Boggiano	2	0	0	0
DiPetrullo	1	0	0	0
Blanco	2	0	0	2
Fitzgerald	0	0	0	0
Cerullo	0	0	0	0
Asenbrey	1	2	1	0
Arnold	2	0	0	0
Cacciatore	1	0	0	0
Scornavacd	1	0	0	0
Totals	19	8	4	2

Linksmen

Continued From Page Five

Brooklyn was absent from the schedule the past year. Many of the schools will be played on the home and home basis.

Although the schedule isn't completed as yet, many of the dates being tentative, the golf team will play four of their matches on neighboring courses and six at home. Some of the opponents include Temple, St. Josephs, Fordham, Franklin and Marshall, and Rider College. Temple and Fordham are traditional Villanova rivals in this sport.

Use Main Line Course

The manager of the Main Line Golf Club has been contacted and permission has been granted to Villanova for the use of the course as their home course. The course is being improved by the new management and should be in good playing shape in the near future. In the meantime members of the golf squad are urged to practice on the college campus and await word as to when they are permitted the use of the course for their practice sessions. No member of the golf squad is allowed to practice on the course unless his name is present on the approved list of the Villanova Golf Team.

Some of the returning members of last year's squad present at the meeting were Dwyer, Morse, Pagano, and Randolph. Competitive matches will be run off in the near future to determine the other members of the golf team.

Racqueteers

Continued From Page Five

lists will be carried on the varsity scquad, excluding freshman, and will be given a fair trial against members of the first string. Those who fail to make the grade will be placed on the junior varsity squad which will also carry members of the 1942 class. A seven match schedule has been arranged and awaits approval of the athletic authorities.

Four new foes will appear on the Villanova schedule this year. Manhattan, St. John's, Brooklyn, and La Salle will be met for the first time.

The Schedule

April
15—Manhattan College .....Home
19—St. Joseph's College ....Home
24—Brooklyn College .....Home
29—Seton Hall College .....Home

May
6—St. John's of Brooklyn ..Home
9—Phila. Col. of Pharmacy..Phila.
12—La Salle College .....Home
13—Rider College .....Trenton
16—Moravian College .....Home
18—Temple University .....Phila.
19—Baltimore Univ. ....Baltimore
20—Loyola College .....Baltimore

Montgomery

Continued From Page Five

ery as one of the five finest players to face his twice-beaten Engineers during the last campaign. New York University, remembering its crushing defeat at the hands of the Wildcats, singled out Mike Lazorchak as a member of its all-opponent aggregation. It was the general consensus of N. Y. U. opinion that Mike was the largest factor in their defeat.

Three on All-Philly

The All-Philadelphia District team, picked by the Evening Bulletin, was made up almost entirely of Villanovans. Jim Montgomery, Mike Lazorchak, and John Krutulis were honored with positions on the mythical combine.

In an All-Star game held recently in Philadelphia, Villanova was also well represented. The game, held between the Philly Collegians and a team composed of graduating New York City stars, ended with the Philly college stars on the long end of a 51-50 score after an extra period of action. Jim Montgomery led the scoring parade of the Philadelphians with 18 points, with Lou Dubino following up with 14 points. Krutulis, the other Villanovan in the ball game rang up two counters in addition to setting up plays for his teammates. Krutulis, Montgomery, and Dubino were the only Wildcats eligible for the game, as only stars who have completed their college playing careers were permitted to play.

Sportorial

Continued From Page Five

starts playing and there are a great number of students not on the varsity who would like to be out wellding their racquets. The past week-ends have been ideal (almost) for participation in this, as in other games, and with promise of more and better weather we can readily see why the netters are getting itchy racquet hands.

—V—

Intramural baseball got underway on Sunday with one of its largest turn outs. The use of uniforms has certainly increased the color in the games, not to mention the interest that has been taken in them. A good home plate and pitcher's mound are other additions that will make the intramural games better; and the diamond has been laid out by student surveyors.

—V—

Doc Jacobs has a wealth of material working out behind the stadium these days. Villanova should really have a crackerjack ball club. This year's squad contains some of the finest throwing arms we've seen. Basca's and Naimo's are good examples.

In the Sportlight

By BOB FUNABASHI

Amidst the atmospheric air of learning and the bustle of the Hub, there arose a young man named "Cowboy" Crawley. It was not the Wild West which had left one of its descendants near the site of Bunker Hill, but the nickname "Cowboy" had been condescended upon him by his brother who first bore the title.

Cambridge Lad

Scholiasts say that Cambridge is the center of learning and so also it was the birthplace of the king of the keystone sack, Francis Thomas Crawley.

"Cowboy" had a busy day that afternoon of Oct. 14, 1916. He kicked and squirmed and cried and then his eyes chanced to wander to the far corners of the room and beheld a baseball glove. A smiling satisfaction swept over his face and then he setteld back to dreamland.

Attended Cambridge High

Cambridge High and Latin gave the "Cowboy" his first knowledge of the world and it also gave him the monopoly on the second base position. With him at the helm they swept onward to the City Championship. After the baseball season was over, the "Cowboy" donned a football suit and promptly ushered himself into the quarterback position to do-or-die for his Alma Mater. The flashing of skates and the contact of bodies amused the busy-bee of the school and so it was, that he became a member of the very much lauded Cambridge High hockey team. The sextet gained the honors of State champs.

Likes Second Base

On the final hinge of his College career, the "Cowboy" looks back upon his four years of baseball playing for the Blue and White. The keystone sack has always been the favorite spot on the diamond for hte "Cowboy" and with his 165 lbs. and 5:7 stature he found himself a member of the regulars since his sophomore year. A consistent .400 hitter "Cowboy" has always found his name listed inside the first three in the batting roster. Perfect execution on the ground plays and his precisive throw to first base make him the natural ball player type.

Off the diamond "Cowboy" is engaged in keep up his scholastic standing in the education course. He majors in social studies which will prepare him to teach after graduation. But the "Cowboy" believes he will carry on his interests in the baseball field by playing pro ball. In past summers he has been playing with Plattsburg, New York, in the Northern League and hopes are bright that he will go into professional baseball. "Cowboy" has had a glimpse of the major leagues while practicing with the Boston Red Sox and the Chicago Cubs, although never playing in actual competition.

Also Likes T. D.

Dancing to the refrains of Tommy Dorsey seems to have a soothing effect upon the well-known second baseman and disregarding adverse conditions, a certain nurse will accompany him to the forthcoming Junior prom. Sweet music hath its charms to "Cowboy" and jitterbug dancing is completely out of the picture.

KEEP SUPPLIED WITH SCHOOL TICKETS

Good on Buses and Rail Cars until used. 5¢ a Ride, including Special Free Transfers. School Identification Cards may be obtained at School Office.

PHILADELPHIA SUBURBAN TRANSPORTATION COMPANY
ARONIMINK TRANSPORTATION CO.

G. W. Cadwallader
Paints, Glass and Painters' Supplies
BUILDERS' SPECIALTIES
6101 MARKET ST.
Philadelphia
Phone SHErwood 1423

Prescriptions
Drugs & Toilet Articles
LA DOW'S PHARMACY
LANCASTER PIKE and SPRING MILL ROAD
VILLANOVA, PA.

FOR EXPERT CONVENIENT ATTENTION
SERVICE IS OUR FIRST THOUGHT
PATRONIZE
The CAMPUS Barber Shop
FIRST CLASS WORK HAIRCUT 40c
Popular Prices

Ardmore Theatre
Notice to Students
Did you know that your matriculation card will get you a reduced rate at the Ardmore Theatre at any time.
TUES., APRIL 4
JOHN BARRYMORE
"GREAT MAN VOTES"
Virginia Weiler - Peter Holden
WED., APRIL 5
From the book by J. Edgar Hoover
"PERSONS IN HIDING"
Lynne Overman - J. Carroll Naish
Patricia Morrison
THURS., FRI., SAT., APRIL 6, 7, 8
"HONOLULU"
Eleanor Powell - Robert Young
George Burns - Gracie Allen
SUN., MON., TUES., APRIL 9, 10, 11
Kipling's heroic lines inspire Hollywood's greatest movie
"GUNGA DIN"
Victor McLaglen - Cary Grant
Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. - Sam Jaffe
Joan Fontaine

SEVILLE THEATRE
TUESDAY, April 4
"JESSE JAMES"
Tyrone Power - Henry Fonda
Nancy Kelly
WED. & THURS., April 5-6
JOHN GARFIELD
"THEY MADE ME A CRIMINAL"
DEAD END KIDS
FRI. & SAT., April 7-8
CHARLES LAUGHTON
"THE BEACHCOMBER"
Elsa Lanchester
SUN., MON., TUES., Apr. 9-10-11
CAROLE LOMBARD
JAMES STEWART
"MADE FOR EACH OTHER"

Direction Warner Bros.
Tower Theatre
69th & Market Sts.
Motion Pictures Are Your Best Entertainment
TUES., WED. & THURS. April 4-5-6
LESLIE HOWARD
In Bernard Shaw's
"PYGMALION"
with
WENDY HILLER
A down to earth story of a gutter snipe transformed into a beauty in 90 days.
FRI., SAT., SUN. & MON.
MICKEY ROONEY
In Mark Twain's Adventures of
"HUCKLEBERRY FINN"

JEANNETT'S
BRYN MAWR FLOWER SHOP
Floral Ideas For All Occasions
Specializing in Corsages
Member Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association
823 Lancaster Ave.
Bryn Mawr 570

BURKE DAIRIES
MILK & CREAM
NORRISTOWN, PA.
Phone 2736-W

— RIDE FREE ON P. & W. RAILWAY MOVIE TICKET —
GRAND Theatre
NORRISTOWN
...es., April 4 — Double Feature
BORIS KARLOFF
"MYSTERY ROOM" and
"BEHIND BLACK MASK"
Wed., Thurs., April 5, 6
Florence Rice - Una Merkel
"4 GIRLS IN WHITE"
Fri., Sat., Mon., April 7, 8, 10
SHIRLEY TEMPLE
"LITTLE PRINCESS"

NORRIS Theatre
NORRISTOWN
Wed., Thurs., April 5, 6
Don Ameche - 3 Ritz Bros.
"THE 3 MUSKETEERS"
Fri., Sat., April 7, 8
ALICE FAYE
"TAILSPIN"
Mon., Tues., Wed., April 10, 11, 12
MICKEY ROONEY
"HUCKLEBERRY FINN"

ARRICK Theatre
Fri., Sat., April 7, 8
JANE WITHERS
"ARIZONA WILDCAT"
Wed., Thurs., April 5, 6
Double Feature
"LAST WARNING" and
"LITTLE ADVENTURESS"

Baseball Sidelights

IT won't be long now—just a few more days with Mass. State furnishing the opposition. The Massachusetts team won ten of their 13 games last year and this season have a 20-game card that embraces two Villanova opponents—Lehigh and Boston College.

• • •

Just in case you did not know: Bill Dietrich of Chicago White Sox no-hit fame attended Villanova for a short time—Len Merullo, '39 will probably play with the Los Angeles Angels, the Chicago Cubs farm—Leo Schopmeyer, '37 infielder, will play at Albany in the Eastern League—Art Mahan, '36 captain, is with Little Rock—"Mickey" Vernon, frosh first-sacker of '37 who went South with Washington this year will end up at Springfield—Walt Shinn, Penn football captain this year, now with Giants, was hailed by Bill Terry as the best "green" prospect he has seen in a long time. Shinn has tremendous power, hitting a ball to right field as far as most left hand hitters; but he hits the curve ball only fairly well and the "change-up" not at all.

• • •

Jim Schelle, senior, held Swarthmore to one hit in three innings last Saturday pitching for the Penn A. C. Last year, chucking for the varsity, he threw a couple two-hitters.

• • •

Bob Pash's arm seems to be just as great as Merullo's. For verification see Thoma, sophomore first baseman. Pash looks like a new man playing the short field; last year he was at third.

• • •

Freddie Maguire, formerly "Rabbit" Maranville's keystone cohort for the Boston Braves a few years back is the new baseball coach at Boston College replacing Frank "Cheese" McCrehan.

• • •

There is no Holy Cross game this season for the first time in three years, Jack Barry their coach claimed trips to Yale and Amherst in the same week of the originally scheduled Villanova game would be too fatiguing for his ball club. So-o-o-o the game was called off and no other date was offered.

P. S. The Cross has one pitcher, Mike Klarnick, no experienced catcher, one fair outfielder and three good infielders, "Red" Durand, senior infielder, will probably be converted into a pitcher.

Freshmen

Continued From Page Five

injured shoulder Ad Worthington looked very impressive in his regular position at fullback. He was plunging hard while on the offense and when he was backing up the line on defense not many plays went beyond the line of scrimmage.

Napolatano has put a great deal of zest into his playing and as a result his performances have shown marked improvement. Avoiding would-be blockers he has been very consistent in throwing opposing backs for losses.

Two Quarterbacks

Of the varsity men Ben Morkum and Paul Verbitsky have been most satisfactory to the "Clipper." A sophomore, Morkum has proven that he will be ready for game duty whenever the opportunity will present itself. Besides being one of the squad's best blockers and a fairly good passer, he is coming along fast as a "heady" field general. Verbitsky shifted from halfback to auxiliary quarterback, has put an added spark into his team. He has given his backs a lot of the poise that was lacking in the presence of freshmen field generals.

The passing of Mike Sabrinsky has picked up to a marked extent. Due to the ever watchful Vince McNally he has been able to get better accuracy and longer distance in all of his passes.

Bay Staters

Continued From Page Five

third to first their infield reads Trexler, Bradley, Diven, and Ogden. This combination is very tight defensively and contains sluggers. Frank Reagan of gridiron fame may hold down the catching post.

Providence and Boston College will be met in away games on April 14 and 15 respectively. The Rhode Islanders count heavily upon the strength of their pitching staff which contains "Lefty" Fallon and Walter Morris. Bill Kwasnieski aids and abets these stars.

Leads Boston

Captain Tommy Palumbo, Boston third sacker, Pilotte, ss, Byrnes, c, and Petrone, 1b. are the men on the B. C. squad that the Jacobsmen will have to stop. These men, all veterans, have shown well in pre-season workouts.

A tentative lineup, although not official, finds Art Vigilante behind the mask, Bob Bond on the initial bag, "Cowboy" Crawley on the keystone sack, Bobby Pash at the shortstop position and "Buzz" Howlett in the hot corner. In the outfield, Lou Wannemaker, John Donahue, Chick Morris, George Balmore, and Lloyd Rice are battling for starting berths. Pressing the infield for first positions are Nick Basca, Mike Lazochak, Pete Naimo and Mick Cuskey.

On the mound are southpaws Cliff Choquette, Andy Sisco, Connie Nicholas, and righthanders Joe Desmond and Connie O'Leary. Frequently seen behind the plate are "Reds" Murphy and Frank Mosas.

Doc Says "Fair"

After quite a bit of coaxing, Doc commented briefly on the squad. "They look fair," said Doc, "although third base and outfield are still a problem. With this warm weather our pitchers are beginning to show some form, but outside of that all I can is that nine men will be on the field for our first game—which is only a few days off.

Although the outlook appears gloomy to Coach Jacobs, others believe that Villanova will field a team second to none. At this date the squad appears to be composed of exceptionally hard hitters combined with some flashy fielders. The pitchers are gradually becoming effective and should be in rare form by the opening game.

Runners

Continued From Page Five

squad in the east for the past five years and is noted for its power in dual meets. The cindermen meet the cadets at West Point on May 13.

Penn Powerful

Pennsylvania has its best team in the past few years according to records of the indoor season. They have power and ability, besides individual stars. The Cats meet them at Penn's Franklin Stadium April 18.

The remainder of the schedule includes The Penn Relays, Juniata, Swarthmore, and Franklin and Marshall, all away. Some of the runners will be competing in the Middle Atlantic Championships in June and the National A. A. U. championships on July 4. Coach Elliott feels that the squad may not win all the meets but the fellows will represent themselves well.

To Run in Relays

Elliott stated that Maher has been invited to participate in the Invitation "100" at the Penn Relays. Also that he will enter a sprint team and a medley team in the relays. The sprint team is still in the making. Urbellis, Guiteras, and Maher will run but the fourth member is yet to be chosen.

Jim Elliott in the past two years has built up the best balanced team ever to represent Villanova. And it is helped by the addition of football players who have been excused from Spring practice. In the sprints he has Maher, "Whitey" Urbellis and Bill Guiteras. Bill also runs the quarter along with Barney Bellew and Pete Yankauskas. The half mile is filled by Bill Dobbins, Bellew, and Yankauskas. Tom McCabe has dropped from school and Tom Delate and Bill Duffy will fill up his position in the mile and the two mile.

Football Men Out

Harvey Buek, a consistent winner will again take care of the high and low hurdles, assisted by Bill Carey. In the field events we have Murphy in the high jump and broad jump; Tim Waad in the broad jump and javelin; Parsons in the high and broad jumps and Buzzalino in the shotput. Among the football men, Kolenda seems a good prospect in the discus and javelin. McMahon and Bukofski will "fill in" in the shotput.

INTRAMURAL SCHEDULE
Baseball

April 16—10:30 A. M. Austin vs. Alumni.
1:00 P. M. Fedigan vs. Mendel.
April 23—10:30 A. M. Austin vs. Mendel.
1:00 P. M. Fedigan vs. Alumni.
April 30—10:30 A. M. Mendel vs. Alumni.
1:00 P. M. Fedigan vs. Austin.
May 7—10:30 A. M. Fedigan vs. Mendel.
1:00 P. M. Austin vs. Alumni.
May 14—10:30 A. M. Fedigan vs. Alumni.
1:00 P. M. Austin vs. Mendel.

HERE and THERE

By HARRY MAZZEI

CONNING some of the editorial opinions of other college "rags," your correspondent cannot be anything but surprised at the amount of discussion spring practice has evoked this year. In bygone days the spring sessions merely were here and gone without much voluble criticism. This spring, however, certain young men are taking it upon themselves to brand the simultaneous arrival of the robin and football as a necessary evil.

We beg to disagree. Of course, this statement will probably provoke loud cries of "apple-polishing," but that is to be expected. Nevertheless if a poll were to be taken of the entire football squad, you may be quite certain that practically all of the gridders would be in favor of some measure of spring work outs.

Especially in a system employing the tricky formations and split second precision of "Clipper" Smith's Notre Dame variations is spring practice a requisite. Most of his plays involve the coordinated team work that is achieved only after long and tedious practices. Those of you who are on the outside can see the dividends such workouts pay by looking at the Smithmen's record during the past two years. Incidentally these season followed "Clipper's" only two spring sessions on the Main Line.

After all, if these drills were not held, most of the footballers would be wondering what to do with their time. These sessions come at a period when most of the squad is looking for some form of exercise and diversion. Spring football brings it to them in a constructive manner. Truly, there is no doubt that the up-and-coming freshmen need the practice more than the embryo seniors and juniors, but still the upperclassmen can afford to shake off some of the dust that comes from being too statuesque.

It will not be an expedient move to drop spring football until every team on the Wildcat grid schedule does likewise. It is very doubtful if any such action will take place—at least in the very near future.

While still on the subject of football (which we had better leave quickly, if yours truly desires to spend the rest of his days around here in peace), we thought this little ditty might be served as an appropriate dish. Perhaps the names belong to an earlier era, but the situation is the same. You may chalk the verse up to Bill Devers—he contributed it.

Shame, shame on old Notre Dame,
Leaving the Irish out of the game;
Sending Melinkovitch into the line,
Schwartz and Savoldi instead of O'Brien;
Leaving the Irish back on the bench,
Playing Italians, Polacks and French,
Swedes and Norwegians—and what became
Of the Irish of Old Notre Dame?

• • •

Spring is supposedly with us, but most of the sports that accompany the light zephyrs are still a few weeks away. Nevertheless it will be well worth tennis enthusiasts' while to wait a few weeks, according to Villanova's one man tennis staff, Saul Wallach. Wallach reports that on May 6 when the Blue and White meets the netsters from St. John's of Brooklyn, the Main Line courts will be graced by none other than Joey Fishbach, who plays number one for the Redmen. Fishbach is one of the outstanding collegiate racket swingers in the country, holds the National Indoor Intercollegiate championship, the Eastern Intercollegiate championship, and the indoor and outdoor Eastern Junior Championships. You tennis followers should make that St. Johns match a "must" affair.

COLADONATO
Bryn Mawr 1266
College Tailor Since 1925
Made to Measure Clothes, Suits and Topcoats
$24.50
CLEANING PRESSING
"THE CLOTHES WE SELL FIT WELL"
Cassocks and Capes at Reasonable Prices
See Campus Representative
ED DIMON - 235 Austin

The Wayne Hotel
LANCASTER AVENUE WAYNE, PA.
Telephone 380
Headquarters For Visitors to Villanova
Excellent Dinners at $1
SPECIAL STUDENT RATES
J. T. McFATE, Mgr.

Compliments of
BRYN MAWR TRUST CO.

Dance with Joy!
JIMMY JOY
AND HIS ORCHESTRA
Nightly...and Saturday at luncheon in the new
GARDEN TERRACE
Philadelphia's Smartest Atmosphere
Dinner $1.50. No cover charge. Finest food and beverages at honest prices.
The BENJAMIN FRANKLIN
Chestnut at Ninth
SAMUEL E. SHIPLEY Managing Director

Men's Clothes
Made-to-Measure
COLEBY
TAILORING Inc.
57th and Market Sts.
Suits and Topcoats
$24.75
See Campus Representative
TIM WAAD
210 Fedigan

Fedigan And Mendel Win Opening Baseball Tilts

Cold Weather and Wind Hamper Players as Blueshirts Bow to Gigolos 3-2, and Penthousers Trip Greenies 8-6

CASTLES HOLDS AUSTIN TO ONE HIT

Fedigan Hall pushed across two runs in the sixth inning to defeat Austin Hall 3-2 in a seven inning affair. It was the opening game of the intramural baseball league, and although the diamond was swept by heavy winds a large crowd was on hand to witness the league opener.

Trailing the Austinites for five and one-half innings the Fedigans reached Carl Fantaleo for 3 hits in the last half of the sixth and scored twice with the aid of two Austin errors.

Frank Castles, who pitched the entire seven innings and allowed only one hit and two runs, both unearned, was credited with the victory.

Fedigan Scores

John Costello, first man up in the sixth, reached first on an error. La Balbo grounded out, Costello going to second, then Macek lashed a single into deep center scoring Costello with the tying run, on the throw-in Macek went to second and rode home with the winning run when Roche, pinch-hitting for Sandor, lashed a hard grounder through the box.

Getting off to a four run lead which was promptly tied by Father Dinne's Alumni team in the second inning the Mendel nine continued to peck away at the combined offerings of Gregolonis and Shea for four more runs in the third, fourth, and fifth innings to defeat their arch-rivals 8-6 in the seasons' opener for the two freshman clubs.

The spectacular pitching of Asinbrey, Mendel ace who came in during Alumni's four run second inning was easily the outstanding performance of the day. In his short stay in the box he faced 14 men and proceeded to strike out 10 of them. He weakened in the sixth to allow two runs to cross the plate but a fine play Crumb to Fitzgerald, the catcher, cut short Alumni's chances of winning the game.

Austin	ab.	h.	e.
Pantaleo	2	0	0
Foran	2	1	0
Tinsley	2	0	0
Robinson	2	0	0
Vonbun	2	0	0
Fitzgerald	2	0	0
Cleary	2	0	0
McGuire	2	0	0
Allen	1	0	1
Totals	17	1	2

Fedigan	ab.	h.	e.
Steel	2	0
Dunn	0	0
Cain	1	0
Lasher	1	0	2
Mc	2	0
Sand	2	0
Lasher	0	0
Shea	1	0
Cleri	0	0
Gel	1	0
Roche	1	0
Totals	15	3	3

Mendel	ab.	h.	e.
Mck mat	1	0
No	2	0
Mac	2	0
La	2	0
Sh	2	0
Da	1	0
Sca	1	0
Ko	1	0
Ma	1	0
Gi	0	0
Lo	0	0
St	1	0
C	0	0
Mc	1	0
Ha	1	0
Jan	1	0
Totals	16	1

Mendel	ab.	h.	e.
De	1	0	0
Cu	1	1	0
C	1	1	0
Mc	1	0	0
Ro	0	0	0
D	1	0	0
Bi	1	0	2
Cr	1	0	0
Al	1	0	0
Ar	1	0	0
Ge	1	0	0
St	1	0	0
Totals	11	2

Linksmen

Continued From Page Five

Brooklyn was absent from the schedule the past year. Many of the schools will be played on the home and home basis.

Although the schedule isn't completed as yet, many of the dates being tentative, the golf team will play four of their matches on neighboring courses and six at home Some of the opponents include Temple, St. Joseph's, Fordham, Franklin and Marshall, and Rider College. Temple and Fordham are traditional Villanova rivals in this sport.

Use Main Line Course

The manager of the Main Line Golf Club has been contacted and permission has been granted to Villanova for the use of the course as their home course. The course is being improved by the new management and should be in good playing shape in the near future. In the meantime members of the golf squad are urged to practice on the college campus and await word as to when they are permitted the use of the course for their practice sessions. No member of the golf squad is allowed to practice on the course unless his name is present on the approved list of the Villanova Golf Team.

Some of the returning members of last year's squad present at the meeting were Dwyer, Morse, Pagano, and Randolph. Competitive matches will be run off in the near future to determine the other members of the golf team.

Racqueteers

Continued From Page Five

ists will be carried on the varsity squad, excluding freshman, and will be given a fair trial against members of the first string. Those who fail to make the grade will be placed on the junior varsity squad which will also carry members of the 1942 class. A seven match schedule has been arranged and awaits approval of the athletic authorities.

Four new foes will appear on the Villanova schedule this year, Manhattan, St. John's, Brooklyn, and La Salle will be met for the first time.

The Schedule

April
15 Manhattan College .....Home
19 St. Joseph's College ....Home
24 Brooklyn College .....Home
29 Seton Hall College .....Home

May
6 St. John's of Brookiyn ..Home
9 Phila. Col. of Pharmacy..Phila.
12 La Salle College .....Home
13 Rider College .....Trenton
16 Moravian College .....Home
18 Temple University .....Phila.
19 Baltimore Univ. ....Baltimore
20 Loyola College .....Baltimore

Montgomery

Continued From Page Five

ery as one of the five finest players to face his twice-beaten Engineers during the last campaign. New York University, remembering its crushing defeat at the hands of the Wildcats, singled out Mike Lazorchak as a member of its all-bpponent aggregation. It was the general consensus of N. Y. U. opinion that Mike was the largest factor in their defeat.

Three on All-Philly

The All-Philadelphia District team, picked by the Evening Bulletin, was made up almost entirely of Villanovans. Jim Montgomery, Mike Lazorchak, and John Krutulis were honored with positions on the mythical combine.

In an All-Star game held recently in Philadelphia, Villanova was also well represented. The game, held between the Philly Collegians and a team composed of graduating New York City stars, ended with the Philly college stars on the long end of a 51-50 score after an extra period of action. Jim Montgomery led the scoring parade of the Philadelphians with 18 points, with Lou Dubino following up with 14 points. Krutulis, the other Villanovan in the ball game rang up two counters in addition to setting up plays for his teammates. Krutulis, Montgomery, and Dubino were the only Wildcats eligible for the game, as only stars who have completed their college playing careers were permitted to play.

Sportorial

Continued From Page Five

starts playing and there are a great number of students not on the varsity who would like to be out wielding their racquets. The past week-ends have been ideal (almost), for participation in this, as in other games, and with promises of more and better weather we can readily see why the netters are getting itchy racquet hands.

—V—

Intramural baseball got underway on Sunday with one of its largest turn outs. The use of uniforms has certainly increased the color in the games, not to mention the interest that has been taken in them. A good home plate and pitcher's mound are other additions that will make the intramural games better; and the diamond has been laid out by student surveyors.

—V—

Doc Jacobs has a wealth of material working out behind the stadium these days. Villanova should really have a crackerjack ball club. This year's squad contains some of the finest throwing arms we've seen. Basca's and Naimo's are good examples.

In the Sportlight

By BOB FUNABASHI

Amidst the atmospheric air of learning and the bustle of the Hub, there arose a young man named "Cowboy" Crawley. It was not the Wild West which had left one of its descendants near the site of Bunker Hill, but the nickname "Cowboy" had been condescended upon him by his brother who first bore the title.

Cambridge Lad

Scholiasts say that Cambridge is the center of learning and so also it was the birthplace of the king of the keystone sack, Francis Thomas Crawley.

"Cowboy" had a busy day that afternoon of Oct. 14, 1916. He kicked and squirmed and cried and then his eyes chanced to wander to the far corners of the room and beheld a baseball glove. A smiling satisfaction swept over his face and then he setteld back to dreamland.

Attended Cambridge High

Cambridge High and Latin gave the "Cowboy" his first knowledge of the world and it also gave him the monopoly on the second base posltion.. With him at the helm they swept onward to the City Championship.

After the baseball season was over, the "Cowboy" donned a football suit and promptly ushered himself into the quarterback position to do-or-die for his Alma Mater. The flashing of skates and the contact of bodies amused the busy-bee of the school and so it was, that he became a member of the very much lauded Cambridge High hockey team. The sextet gained the honors of State champs.

Likes Second Base

On the final hinge of his College career, the "Cowboy" looks back upon his four years of baseball playing for the Blue and White. The keystone sack has always been the favorite spot on the diamond for hte "Cowboy" and with his 165 lbs. and 5:7 stature he found himself a member of the regulars since his sophomore year. A consistent .400 hitter "Cowboy" has always found his name listed inside the first three in the batting roster. Perfect execution on the ground plays and his precisive throw to first base make him the natural ball player type

Off the diamond "Cowboy" is engaged in keep up his scholastic standing in the education course. He majors in social studies which will prepare him to teach after graduation. But the "Cowboy" believes he will carry on his interests in the baseball field by playing pro ball. In past summers he has been playing with Plattsburg, New York, in the Northern League and hopes are bright that he will go into professional baseball. "Cowboy" has had a glimpse of the major leagues while practicing with the Boston Red Sox and the Chicago Cubs, although never playing in actual competition.

Also Likes T. D.

Dancing to the refrains of Tommy Dorsey seems to have a soothing effect upon the well-known second baseman and disregarding adverse conditions, a certain nurse will accompany him to the forthcoming Junior prom. Sweet music hath its charms to "Cowboy" and jitterbug dancing is completely out of the picture.

KEEP SUPPLIED WITH SCHOOL TICKETS

Good on Buses and Rail Cars until used. 5c a Ride, including Special Free Transfers. School Identification Cards may be obtained at School Office.

PHILADELPHIA SUBURBAN TRANSPORTATION COMPANY
ARONIMINK TRANSPORTATION CO.

Prescriptions
Drugs & Toilet Articles
LA DOW'S PHARMACY
LANCASTER PIKE and SPRING MILL ROAD
VILLANOVA, PA.

G. W. Cadwallader
Paints, Glass and Painters' Supplies
BUILDERS' SPECIALTIES
6101 MARKET ST.
Philadelphia
Phone SHErwood 1423

Ardmore Theatre
Notice to Students
Did you know that your matriculation card will get you a reduced rate at the Ardmore Theatre at any time.
TUES., APRIL 4
JOHN BARRYMORE
"GREAT MAN VOTES"
Virginia Weidler - Peter Holden
WED., APRIL 5
From the book by J. Edgar Hoover
"PERSONS IN HIDING"
Lynne Overman - J. Carroll Naish
Patricia Morrison
THURS., FRI., SAT., APRIL 6, 7, 8
"HONOLULU"
Eleanor Powell - Robert Young
George Burns - Gracie Allen
SUN., MON., TUES., APRIL 9, 10, 11
Kipling's heroic lines inspire Hollywood's greatest movie
"GUNGA DIN"
Victor McLaglen - Cary Grant
Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. - Sam Jaffe
Joan Fontaine

SEVILLE THEATRE
TUESDAY, April 4
"JESSE JAMES"
Tyrone Power - Henry Fonda
Nancy Kelly
WED. & THURS., April 5-6
JOHN GARFIELD
"THEY MADE ME A CRIMINAL"
DEAD END KIDS
FRI. & SAT., April 7-8
CHARLES LAUGHTON
"THE BEACHCOMBER"
Elsa Lanchester
SUN., MON., TUES., Apr. 9-10-11
CAROLE LOMBARD
JAMES STEWART
"MADE FOR EACH OTHER"

JEANNETT'S
BRYN MAWR FLOWER SHOP
Floral Ideas For All Occasions
Specializing in Corsages
Member Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association
823 Lancaster Ave.
Bryn Mawr 570

BURKE DAIRIES
MILK & CREAM
NORRISTOWN, PA.
Phone 2736-W

RIDE FREE ON P. & W. RAILWAY MOVIE TICKET
GRAND Theatre
NORRISTOWN
Sun., April 4 — Double Feature
BORIS KARLOFF
"MYSTERY ROOM" and
"BEHIND BLACK MASK"
Wed., Thurs., April 5, 6
Florence Rice - Una Merkel
"4 GIRLS IN WHITE"
Fri., Sat., Mon., April 7, 8, 10
SHIRLEY TEMPLE
"LITTLE PRINCESS"
NORRIS Theatre
NORRISTOWN
Wed., Thurs., April 5, 6
Don Ameche - 3 Ritz Bros.
"THE 3 MUSKETEERS"
Fri., Sat., April 7, 8
ALICE FAYE
"TAILSPIN"
Mon., Tues., Wed., April 10, 11, 12
MICKEY ROONEY
"HUCKLEBERRY FINN"
CARRICK Theatre
Fri., Sat., April 7, 8
JANE WITHERS
"ARIZONA WILDCAT"
Wed., Thurs., April 5, 6
Double Feature
"LAST WARNING" and
"LITTLE ADVENTURESS"

FOR EXPERT CONVENIENT ATTENTION
SERVICE IS OUR FIRST THOUGHT
PATRONIZE
The CAMPUS Barber Shop
FIRST CLASS WORK
HAIRCUT 40c
Popular Prices

Direction Warner Bros.
Tower Theatre
69th & Market Sts.
Motion Pictures Are Your Best Entertainment
TUES., WED. & THURS. April 4-5-6
LESLIE HOWARD
In Bernard Shaw's
"PYGMALION"
with
WENDY HILLER
A down to earth story of a gutter snipe transformed into a beauty in 30 days.
FRI., SAT., SUN. & MON.
MICKEY ROONEY
In Mark Twain's Adventures of
"HUCKLEBERRY FINN"

Baseball Sidelights

IT won't be long now—just a few more days with Mass. State furnishing the opposition, The Massachusetts team won ten of their 13 games last year and this season have a 20-game card that embraces two Villanova opponents —Lehigh and Boston College.

* * *

Just in case you did not know: Bill Dietrich of Chicago White Sox no-hit fame attended Villanova for a short time—Len Merullo, '39 will probably play with the Loe Angeles Angels, the Chicago Cubs farm—Leo Schopmeyer, '37 infielder, will play at Albany in the Eastern League—Art Mahan, '36 captain, is with Little Rock—"Mickey" Vernon, frosh first-sacker of '37 who went South with Washington this year will end up at Springfield—Walt Shinn, Penn football captain this year, now with Giants, was hailed by Bill Terry as the best "green" prospect he has seen in a long time. Shinn has tremendous power, hitting a ball to right field as far as most left hand hitters; but he hits the curve ball only fairly well and the "change-up" not at all.

* * *

Jim Schelle, senior, held Swarthmore to one hit in three innings last Saturday pitching for the Penn A. C. Last year, chucking for the varsity, he threw a couple two-hitters.

* * *

Bob Pash's arm seems to be just as great as Merullo's. For verification see Thoma, sophomore first baseman. Pash looks like a new man playing the short field; last year he was at third.

* * *

Freddie Maguire, formerly "Rabbit" Maranville's keystone cohort for the Boston Braves a few years back is the new baseball coach at Boston College replacing Frank "Cheese" McCrehan.

* * *

There is no Holy Cross game this season for the first time in three years. Jack Barry their coach claimed trips to Yale and Amherst in the same week of the originally scheduled Villanova game would be too fatiguing for his ball club. So-o-o-o the game was called off and no other date was offered.

P. S. The Cross has one pitcher, Mike Klarnick, no experienced catcher, one fair outfielder and three good infielders. "Red" Durand, senior infielder, will probably be converted into a pitcher.

Freshmen

Continued From Page Five

Injured shoulder Ad Worthington looked very impressive in his regular position at fullback. He was plunging hard while on the offense and when he was backing up the line on defense not many plays went beyond the line of scrimmage.

Napolatano has put a great deal of zest into his playing and as a result his performances have shown marked improvement. Avoiding would-be blockers he has been very consistent in throwing opposing backs for losses.

Two Quarterbacks

Of the varsity men Ben Morkum and Paul Verbitsky have been most satisfactory to the "Clipper." A sophomore, Morkum has proven that he will be ready for game duty whenever the opportunity will present itself. Besides being one of the squad's best blockers and a fairly good passer, he is coming along fast as a "heady" field general. Verbitsky shifted from halfback to auxiliary quarterback, has put an added spark into his team. He has given his backs a lot of the poise that was lacking in the presence of freshmen field generals.

The passing of Mike Sabrinsky has picked up to a marked extent. Due to the ever watchful Vince McNally he has been able to get better accuracy and longer distance in all of his passes.

Bay Staters

Continued From Page Five

third to first their infield reads Trexler, Bradley, Diven, and Ogden. This combination is very tight defensively and contains sluggers. Frank Reagan of gridiron fame may hold down the catching post.

Providence and Boston College will be met in away games on April 14 and 15 respectively. The Rhode Islanders count heavily upon the strength of their pitching staff which contains "Lefty" Fallon and Walter Morris. Bill Kwasnieski aids and abets these stars.

Leads Boston

Captain Tommy Palumbo, Boston third sacker, Pilotte, ss., Byrnes, c., and Petrone, 1b. are the men on the B. C. squad that the Jacobsmen will have to stop. These men, all veterans, have shown well in pre-season workouts.

A tentative lineup, although not official, finds Art Vigilante behind the mask, Bob Bond on the initial bag, "Cowboy" Crawley on the keystone sack, Bobby Pash at the shortstop position and "Buzz" Howlett in the hot corner. In the outfield, Lou Wannemaker, John Donahue, Chick Morris, George Balmore, and Lloyd Rice are batting for starting berths. Pressing the infield for first positions are Nick Basca, Mike Lazochak, Pete Naimo and Mick Cuskey.

On the mound are southpaws Cliff Choquette, Andy Sisco, Connie Nicholas, and righthanders Joe Desmond and Connie O'Leary. Frequently seen behind the plate are "Reds" Murphy and Frank Mosis.

Doc Says "Fair"

After quite a bit of coaxing, Doc commented briefly on the squad. "They look fair," said Doc, "although third base and outfield are still a problem. With this warm weather our pitchers are beginning to show some form, but outside of that all I can is that nine men will be on the field for our first game—which is only a few days off.

Although the outlook appears gloomy to Coach Jacobs, others believe that Villanova will field a team second to none. At this date the squad appears to be composed of exceptionally hard hitters combined with some flashy fielders. The pitchers are gradually becoming effective and should be in rare form by the opening game.

Runners

Continued From Page Five

squad in the east for the past five years and is noted for its power in dual meets. The cindermen meet the cadets at West Point on May 13.

Penn Powerful

Pennsylvania has its best team in the past few years according to records of the indoor season. They have power and ability, besides individual stars. The Cats meet them at Penn's Franklin Stadium April 18.

The remainder of the schedule includes The Penn Relays, Juniata, Swarthmore, and Franklin and Marshall, all away. Some of the runners will be competing in the Middle Atlantic Championships in June and the National A. A. U. championships on July 4. Coach Elliott feels that the squad may not win all the meets but the fellows will represent themselves well.

To Run in Relays

Elliott stated that Maher has been invited to participate in the Invitation "100" at the Penn Relays. Also that he will enter a sprint team and a medley team in the relays. The sprint team is still in the making. Urbellis, Guiteras, and Maher will run but the fourth member is yet to be chosen.

Jim Elliott in the past two years has built up the best balanced team ever to represent Villanova. And it is helped by the addition of football players who have been excused from Spring practice. In the sprints he has Maher, "Whitey" Urbellis and Bill Guiteras. Bill also runs the quarter along with Barney Bellew and Pete Yankauskas. The half mile is filled by Bill Dobbins, Bellew, and Yankauskas. Tom McCabe has dropped from school and Tom Delate and Bill Duffy will fill up his position in the mile and the two mile.

Football Men Out

Harvey Buck, a consistent winner will again take care of the high and low hurdles, assisted by Bill Carey. In the field events we have Art Murphy in the high jump and broad jump; Tim Waad in the broad jump and javelin; Parsons in the high and broad jumps and Buzzalino in the shotput. Among the football men, Kolenda seems a good prospect in the discus and javelin. McMahon and Bukofski will "fill in" in the shotput.

INTRAMURAL SCHEDULE
Baseball

April 16—10:30 A. M. Austin vs. Alumni.
1:00 P. M. Fedigan vs. Mendel.
April 23—10:30 A. M. Austin vs. Mendel.
1:00 P. M. Fedigan vs. Alumni.
April 30—10:30 A. M. Mendel vs. Alumni.
1:00 P. M. Fedigan vs. Austin.
May 7—10:30 A. M. Fedigan vs. Mendel.
1:00 P. M. Austin vs. Alumni.
May 14—10:30 A. M. Fedigan vs. Alumni.
1:00 P. M. Austin vs. Mendel.

HERE and THERE

By HARRY MAZZEI

CONNING some of the editorial opinions of other college "rags," your correspondent cannot be anything but surprised at the amount of discussio spring practice has evoked th.. year. In bygone days the spring sessions merely were here and gone without much volubie criticism. This spring, however, certain young men are taking it upon themselves to brand the simultaneous arrival of the robin and football as a necessary evil.

We beg to disagree. Of course, this statement will probably provoke loud cries of "apple-polishing," but that is to be expected. Nevertheless if a poll were to be taken of the entire football squad, you may be quite certain that practically all of the gridders would be in favor of some measure of spring work outs.

Especially in a system employing the tricky formations and split second precision of "Clipper" Smith's Notre Dame variations is spring practice a requisite. Most of his plays involve the coordinated team work that is achieved only after long and tedious practices. Those of you who are on the outside can see the dividends such workouts pay by looking at the Smithmen's record during the past two years. Incidentally these season followed "Clipper's" only two spring sessions on the Main Line.

After all, if these drills were not held, most of the footballers would be wondering what to do with their time. These sessions come at a period when most of the squad is looking for some form of exercise and diversion. Spring football brings it to them in a constructive manner. Truly, there is no doubt that the up-and-coming freshmen need the practice more than the embryo seniors and juniors, but still the upperclassmen can afford to shake off some of the dust that comes from being too statuesque.

It will not be an expedient move to drop spring football until every team on the Wildcat grid schedule does likewise. It is very doubtful if any such action will take place—at least in the very near future.

While still on the subject of football (which we had better leave quickly, if yours truly desires to spend the rest of his days around here in peace), we thought this little ditty might be served as an appropriate dish. Perhaps the names belong to an earlier era, but the situation is the same. You may chalk the verse up to Bill Devers—he contributed it.

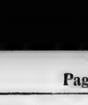
Shame, shame on old Notre Dame,
Leaving the Irish out of the game,
Sending Melinkovitch into the line,
Schwartz and Savoldi instead of O'Brien;
Leaving the Irish back on the bench,
Playing Italians, Polacks and French,
Swedes and Norwegians—and what became
Of the Irish of Old Notre Dame?

* * *

Spring is supposedly with us, but most of the sports that accompany the light zephyrs are still a few weeks away. Nevertheless it will be well worth tennis enthusiasts' while to wait a few weeks, according to Villanova's one man tennis staff, Saul Wallach. Wallach reports that on May 6 when the Blue and White meets the netsters from St. John's of Brooklyn, the Main Line courts will be graced by none other than Joey Fishbach, who plays number one for the Redmen. Fishbach is one of the outstanding collegiate racket swingers in the country, holds the National Indoor Intercollegiate championship, the Eastern Intercollegiate championship, and the indoor and outdoor Eastern Junior Championships. You tennis followers should make that St. Johns match a "must" affair.

COLADONATO
Bryn Mawr 1266
College Tailor Since 1925
Made to Measure Clothes, Suits and Topcoats
$24.50
CLEANING PRESSING
"THE CLOTHES WE SELL FIT WELL"
Cassocks and Capes at Reasonable Prices
See Campus Representative
ED DIMON - 235 Austin

The Wayne Hotel
LANCASTER AVENUE WAYNE, PA.
Telephone 380
Headquarters For Visitors to Villanova
Excellent Dinners at $1
SPECIAL STUDENT RATES
J. T. McFATE, Mgr.



Dance with Joy!
JIMMY JOY
AND HIS ORCHESTRA
Nightly...and Saturday at Luncheon in the new
GARDEN TERRACE
Philadelphia's Smartest Atmosphere
Dinner $1.50. No cover charge. Finest food and beverages at honest prices.
The BENJAMIN FRANKLIN
Chestnut at Ninth
SAMUEL EARLEY, Managing Director

Compliments of
BRYN MAWR TRUST CO.

Men's Clothes
Made-to-Measure
COLEBY
TAILORING Inc.
57th and Market Sts.
Suits and Topcoats
$24.75
See Campus Representative
TIM WAAD
210 Fedigan

Registrar Compiles Personnel Data

Continued From Page One

and the members of the engineering faculty will make direct contacts with those industries, business concerns and organizations which employ graduates in the various engineering branches. Every effort will be made to secure employment for our senior engineering students."

Besides providing for this year's graduates the service will include those members of the classes of 1935, 1936, 1937 and 1938. Realizing that this servic was not available previously, the members of the above classes were given a questionnaire form similar to that which the seniors received.

On the sheets that are submitted to prospective employers there is no mention of scholastic achievement. If the employer manifests an interest in several students from the information that he has obtained he will then be given the complete records of these students to select whom he may.

Next year it is hoped that there will be a completely established personnel service available under the direction of a capable administrator. This department will not only include the School of Technology but also the Schools of Arts, Science, and Commerce. In this manner Villanova will be keeping in step with the popular movement which is now establishing Personnel Bureaus in all the leading colleges of the country.

Engineers Form Honorary Society

Continued From Page One

members named yesterday six are juniors and ten seniors.

Announcement of who the candidates are will not be made publicly till the induction banquet in the middle of May, when the members will be presented with their keys.

The key is illustrated above in full size. It is of gold, with "Villanova" across the top in gold on blue, and the name of the fraternity, "Chi Epsilon Mu," is across the center in gold on white; the background of this lower portion is also gold.

In the name, "Chi" stands for Civil and Chemical Engineering, "Epsilon" for Electrical, and "Mu" for Mechanical.

Regular meetings of the fraternity will be held next year, some with outside speakers present and others taken up with discussion on advanced problems by the members alone.

Pick Masque Cast For 'Room Service'

Continued From Page One

theatrical troupe resides. He is an effeminate person and circumstances tend to make him nervous.

As "Wagner," Ray Manahan will be the vice president of the hotel chain who is a promised a promotion if he brings the hotel out of debt. He is a domineering and efficient man who is attempting to get ahead.

Thomas O'Brien will be "Hogarth" the meek, spineless representative of a collection agency.

Robert O'Connor will be "Binion" who is a stooge for Miller. Nothing seems to bother him.

Ae "Fakir" will be James O'Brien. This character is of the yes man type and a stooge.

The entire cast has been rehearsing for several weeks in preparation for the production. Harold Hart is in charge of settings while the publicity is being handled by Furman Kane and Murray Zealor.

Surveyors Propose Camp For Summer

Continued From Page One

enumerated by Mr. John A. Oakey, M. S., is the fact that the camp will give students the much needed practical work in surveying so that they will be able to compete on an even footing with students from other schools and with men in the outside world.

The camp will lighten scholastic load during the year. Despite the hard work, students have a good time at summer surveying camps. They look upon such outings as one of the highlights of their college careers. There will be ample provisions for sports and amusement. A nearby pond may be used for swimming.

NATURE PHOTO CONTEST SPONSORED BY BULLETIN

Five Dollar Prize for Best Student Shot; Contest Ends April 15

A prize will be awarded for the best nature photograph handed into the Mendel Bulletin. This announcement was made public last week by Bernard J. Miller, chairman of the publication. It must be taken by an amateur and be concerned with out-door life.

It was decided, since so many excellent Autumn and Winter pictures have been entered, to extend the time until April 15. The prize of five dollars will be awarded near the end of the semester.

All pictures received become the property of the bulletin to be used if the editors wish. It is the intention of the staff to use some of the better pictures in the magazine, in addition to the winning photograph.

To date, many articles have been received for publication but the selection of the best ones has not as yet taken place.

RAINBOW VOCALIST

PAULA KELLY

UNSIGNED LETTERS

VILLANOVAN announces that while it is glad to receive letters from the student body, it will not publish any that are anonymous.

28% OF SCHOLARSHIP SEEKERS NOW ENROLLED

Candidates Came From Three States and Twenty-four High Schools

Twenty-eight per cent of those who took the competitive examinations for three full scholarships to Villanova on June 20, 1938, now attend the college.

In a survey recently conducted by the VILLANOVAN, it was disclosed that out of the 69 contestants of last year, 19 are now Villanova students. That this is a high average is indicated by the fact that, as is necessary in many examinations to other colleges, registration is not necessary before the student is allowed to compete.

Three states and 20 high schools were represented in the '38 competition. Ninety-four per cent of the contestants came from Pennsylvania, four per cent from New Jersey, and two per cent from New York.

Rainbow Orchestra For Junior Prom

Continued From Page One

dowski is the lone representative from the School of Science. John J. Harrington, Henry A. Mazzei, and Alfred J. Wood represent the School of Arts.

Donahue is not only famous as a conductor but is well known as a composer. His present theme "Dancing in the Clouds" is an example of his work as is the currently popular "Don't Cross Your Fingers, Cross Your Heart." His latest novelty swing tune "Do You Want to Jump Children" has been recorded by both Gene Krupa, King of the Drums, and Erskine Hawkins, Louie "Satchmo" Armstrong's chief competition.

Rev. Daniel P. Falvey, moderator, wishes to call the attention of all juniors to the fact that all assessments must be paid by April 28. Tickets bought before May 3 for the Junior Prom are $4.50; after this date the price will be increased to $5.00.

BETTE DAVIS
WARNER BROS. STAR

FOR A

Perfect Performance

IN SMOKING PLEASURE

Before and after seeing BETTE DAVIS in "DARK VICTORY" ...coming soon to your local theatre enjoy Chesterfield's Happy Combination of the world's best cigarette tobaccos

Thanks to their can't-be-copied blend Chesterfields are refreshingly milder, taste better and have a more pleasing aroma. Chesterfield gives you just what you want in a cigarette.

When you try them you will know why Chesterfields give millions of men and women more smoking pleasure . . . why THEY SATISFY

Chesterfield

The RIGHT COMBINATION of the world's best cigarette tobaccos, They're Milder . . They Taste Better

Copyright 1939, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

VILLANOVAN

Vol. 11—No. 20 VILLANOVA, PA., TUESDAY, APRIL 18, 1939 N. A. S. Z-660

Junior Week Festivities To Begin Wednesday, May 3

Rev. Daniel P. Falvey, O. S. A., Celebrant of Special Mass; Blazer Ball, Open House Committees Listed; Dinner Dance Plans Progressing

DUFFY NAMED MOTHER'S DAY CHAIRMAN

By FRANK FITZPATRICK

Junior festivities will be opened solemnly at a Mass celebrated by the Rev. Daniel P. Falvey, O. S. A., class moderator, Wednesday, May 3, at ten o'clock in the college chapel.

The juniors are expected to attend the Mass attired in their blazers. Immediately after the Mass the traditional flag raising will be conducted with the Reverend Bernard M. Albers, O. S. A., presiding. Following this the planting of the class ivy and the tree will take place at a location yet to be determined under the direction of the Reverends Joseph C. Bartley, O. S. A., and James S. Riley, O. S. A. This will conclude the program until Wednesday evening when the Blazer Ball will be held.

Aiding Chairman Gallagher on the Blazer Ball Committee will be: John C. Hallinan, Casimir J. Kurek, John J. Seelaus, Harry A. Kunberger, Walter E. Kelly, Clement F. Dinon, and Edward J. Cierkowski of the engineering school. Walter J. Filipek and Edmund M. Malcolm of the School of Science; Robert N. Pash and Gerald J. Lynam of the Commerce and Finance School, and Joseph N. Bongivanni, Jr., and John A. Gogolinski of the School of Arts.

Seeing that the seniors are guests at this informal dance, Father Falvey has suggested that the juniors sponsor a grand march in which the seniors would participate.

President William V. Sinnott stated yesterday that William F. Duffy, junior in the School of Arts, would replace Robert E. O'Brien as chairman of Mother's Day. Duffy needs no introduction to followers of the Blue's Boxing team, serving in the capacity of captain. He is also an active member of the Connecticut Club as well as the Music Seminars.

When approached for a statement Duffy said, "Although there are but two weeks remaining 'till Mother's Day, O'Brien has completed some of the necessary tasks and all indications point to successful entertainment."

Arrangements for the Dinner

Continued on Page Three

OVER 100 COURSES GIVEN THIS SUMMER

Classes to be Held at Villanova and Hallahan High School

More than 100 courses will be offered this year at the Villanova College Summer Session. They will be held at Villanova and at Hallahan High School from June 26 to August 5. Over 1000 students were enrolled in the Summer school last year, and an equal number is expected this year by Rev. Joseph C. Bartley, O.S.A., Ph.D., Dean of the Summer School.

Registration will be held at Villanova, June 26 and 27, from 9 A. M. to 4 P. M., and at Hallahan on June 28 from 9 A. M. to noon. Opening exercises will take place in the college chapel Wednesday, June 28, at 8:30 A. M.

The Summer session courses have been designed to meet the needs of Catholic teaching Sisterhoods and Brotherhoods, schoolteachers and regular college students who wish to make up work or to take advanced courses. There are also courses for nurses in training or registered nurses, librarians or teachers seeking degrees in Library Science, graduate students taking courses in Summer school only, and special students.

The Summer session bulletin, containing complete information as to courses and rates, may be obtained at the office, Commerce and Finance building.

THOMAS M'KIMMEY GAINS CHIEF FROSH POST IN ELECTIONS

Gray Elected Vice President, Gabuzda Secretary; Melton, Sheehy Also Selected

Thomas McKimmey, student in the School of Arts, was elected President of the Class of 1942 at the elections held yesterday by the Student Council.

Richard Gray, also of the Arts school, became vice president. George Gabuzda, technology student, was chosen to fill the secretary post, while Andrew Mellon, business school Freshman will take care of the class finance as treasurer. Student Council representative will be filled by Thomas Sheehy of the science department.

Other candidates nominated for the presidency at the class meeting on Thursday, April 13, were: Anthony, Anderson, Edward Frank, Joseph McCabe, and David Reardon, all from the business school, John Kirchner from the engineering school, and Salvatore Campo of the School of Science.

For the office of vice president Vincent Gordon, School of Engineering, and Joseph Koch and James Traitz of the science school were also nominated.

David Daly, arts, Thomas Doyle and David Reardon of the business school, and Henry Martinez, an engineer, for the position of class secretary.

There were four candidates, each from a different school running for the position of treasurer. Those unsuccessful were: William Schubert, School of Arts, Joseph Parkin, School of Engineering, and Robert Dugan, School of Science.

For the position on the Student Council there were eight candidates. The seven who weren't elected are: Joseph Cashin, School of Engineering; Fred Clark, William Hooper, and Robert McIntyre, School of Commerce and Finance, and Frank Mattei, Lawrence McStravog, and Joseph Scornavacchi.

Nominations for officers in the Class of '41 will be held in the Mendel amphitheater, Room 215, 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Positions to be filled are those of

Continued on Page Eight

CATHOLIC SCHOOL PRESS TO SPONSOR CONFERENCE

Rev. J. L. O'Sullivan Featured Speaker; James Collins Leads Discussion on Reporting

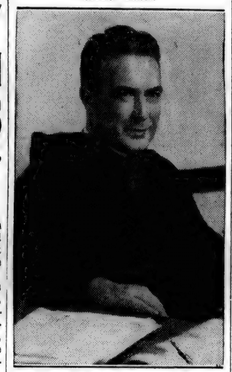
Under the direction of the Catholic School Press Association, a one-day Press Congress for the Catholic educational institutions in the Philadelphia area will be held on Immaculata campus, Saturday, April 22.

The speaker chosen is James P. Collins, college editor of the VILLANOVAN. He will speak on reportorial responsibility. There will be present J. L. O'Sullivan, dean of journalism at Marquette University and director of the Catholic School Press Association who will give an address and later meet the moderators in conference.

Rev. Theophane Maguire, C. P., editor of "The Sign," will speak to the promote delegates on "The Catholic Student and the Press." Rev. Charles J. McGovern, of our own diocesan organ, The Catholic Standard and Times, will speak at the Mass on "The Apostolate of the Press."

REV. J. DOUGHERTY NEW SECRETARY OF BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Position Vacated by Death of Rev. Touscher Filled by Science Dean



REV. JOSEPH M. DOUGHERTY

Rev. Joseph M. Dougherty, O. S. A., Ph. D., dean of the School of Science has been named a member of the Board of Trustees.

Fr. Dougherty will act in the capacity of Secretary to the Board, a position formerly held by the late Rev. Francis E. Tourscher, O. S. A., S. T. D.

Besides being dean of science and secretary of the Board of Trustees, Fr. Dougherty is a member of the Academic Council and Committee on Admissions. He is also Sub-Prior of the Villanova Monastery and member of the Athletic Board.

The Board of Trustees at the present time is composed of the following members: Very Rev. John T. Sheehan, O. S. A., S. T. B., J. C. D., chairman of the Board and Provincial of the Augustinian Order in America; Very Rev. Edward V. Stanford, O. S. A., M. S., LL. D., Treasurer of the Board, and Rev. Joseph M. Dougherty, O. S. A., Ph. D., secretary of the Board; Very Rev. Henry A. Caffrey, O. S. A., A. M.; Rev. James S. Reilly, O. S. A., A. B.; Mr. William Simpson, P. C.; and Mr. J. Stanley Smith, LL. D., are also members of the Board of Trustees.

CHORUS TO VISIT LOCAL COLLEGES

Glee Club Planning for Recitals at Immaculata and Rosemont Affairs

The college Glee Club, has accepted an invitation to sing at Immaculata College, during that institution's Junior Week, Saturday night, April 22.

Nancy R. Troy, chairman of Junior night, arranged this as a closed affair, marking the first day of Junior Week activities at the college.

The chorus, under the direction of Rev. Ralph J. Handran, O. S. A., is now preparing for a combined concert with the Rosemont College Girls Glee Club, to be presented during the first or second week in May.

The featured numbers of this concert are the Fugues of Bach; his Cantato No. 128, and his Chorale No. 25. The organizations will be accompanied by a string ensemble composed of students from both colleges.

PEACE CONFERENCE

James P. Collins, sophomore in the School of Arts, attended the third annual conference of the Catholic Student Peace Federations of the Catholic Association For International Peace as Villanova's representative. The sessions were held at the Mayflowr Hotel, Washington, D. C., on April 12.

"Room Service" Presented At Villanova This Week

Annual Belle Masque Production to Open Thursday Night at College Field House; Comedy Includes Many Riotous Scenes

ALL PERFORMANCES TO BEGIN AT 8:30 P. M.

By JAMES P. COLLINS

For the general public the Broadway hit comedy, "Room Service", will be presented by the Villanova Belle Masque dramatic society on Friday evening, April 21, and on Sunday evening April 23, at 8:30. A special closed performance will be given Thursday evening, April 22, for invited guests.

Among those to be in attendance on Thursday to witness the show will be local Little Theatre Groups, and the seminarians. Several noted personages are expected to be included in the audience, among whom will be Richard Bennett, the father of Constance, Joan and Barbara, the famous theatrical family.

There follows the entire cast of the play and the characters they potray as made known by Mr. Anthony J. Frayne, coach of the dramatic group: "Christine" is played by Marion O'Brien of Rosemont College; "Miller" by Robert Barrett; "Wagner" by Rey Monahan; "Gribble" by Robert E. O'Brien; "Fakir" by James O'Brien; "Davis" by Joseph McCabe; "Hilda" by Patricia Rice also of Rosemont College; "Jenkins" by William Dobbins; "Senator Blake" by Matt Kuber; "Hogarth" by Thomas O'Brien; "Sascha" by Witold Kryswicki; "Messenger" by Jerry Holland; and "Dr. Glass' by James Donovan.

As has been stated, the director is Mr. Frayne. His assistant is the Rev. Robert Sullivan, O. S. A. The all-important and essential men-behind-the-scenes whose faces are never seen before the curtain include Pershing Calabro, Harold Hart, Gerald Holland, and Robert Dooley. The publicity managers have been Ferman Kane and Murray Zealor.

One unique scene in the production calls for an entire full course dinner to be consumed upon the stage. The exceptional feature is in addition to the participation of the four O'Briens in the cast.

"Room Service," the play, differs from the motion picture of the

Continued on Page Three

TECHNICAL DISPLAYS INTEGRAL FEATURE DURING OPEN HOUSE

Brill, Budd, and Du Pont Companies Among Industries to Send Representatives

Preparatory and high school students and their parents will be given an opportunity to view at first hand the collegiate activities as displayed by the Villanova students at the annual Open House, May 1 and 2, between the hours of 2 and 5, and again at 6 to 9 in the evening.

Open for inspection will be the Commerce and Finance building, gymnasium, library, theater, work shop, swimming pool and the college dining room and kitchen. Also scheduled are several special attractions and glee club recitals.

Among the numerous technical displays at the exhibit will be:

Bacteriology: Milk analysis; blood counting and typing; typhoid detection; bacteria specimens and tests; etc.

General Biology: Animal and plant demonstrations; typical representatives of the various phyla in the animal and plant kingdom; parasitic animals; etc.

Embryology: Embryos of the various mammals; living chick embryos; etc.

Genetics: Animal, graph and chart demonstrations of the Mendelian laws of heredity, etc.

Histology: Methods of preparing materials for histological study.

Physiology: Basal metabolism and demonstration; kymograph recordings; etc.

Chemistry: Special apparatus for analysis and evaluation of fuels, lubricants, drugs, and food products; electro-plating; glass blowing; preparation and uses of dyes; etching; plastics; glass fabrics; microchemistry; cold light; black light; etc.

Physics: Gyroscope and uses; spectroscope; alpha-ray tracks; resonance; typical apparatus used in the physics laboratory; etc.

Chemical Engineering: Demonstrations of processes and principles of chemical engineering; filtration; absorption; flow of heat; evaporation; etc.

Civil Engineering; Surveying in-

Continued on Page Four

P. R. R. ENGINEER WRITES FOR 'VILLANOVA ENGINEER'

Farries, Mozier, Skelly, Raney, Heck Contribute to April Issue

Villanova's Engineering periodical will have two new writers in its latest issue together with several articles of interest to the Engineering student body. Eugene F. Mozier and John J. Skelly, both sophomore students, are the new writers.

Among the items contributed both by students and prominent men in their field as "Track Improvements" in which the many ways of track improvement are adequately discussed by Robert Fairies, assistant to the chief engineer of the Penna. Railroad.

"Glass fabric—its use in insulation," "Structual Welding," and the "New Alumni Employment Service" are some of the topics of interest written by John Raney, John Heck, and John J. Skelly respectively in the new issue of the Villanova Engineer.

AUGUSTINIAN GUILD HOLDS CARD PARTY

Prizes Will be Distributed; Villanovans to Entertain With Dance Music

The sixth annual card party for the benefit of the Augustinian Seminary Guild will be held tonight, from 8:30 to 11:15 in the Field House. After the card games there will be dancing until one o'clock to the swingful tunes of the Villanovans.

Arrangements are being made for refreshments. Radio games will be played in the lounge and pool rooms. The beautiful prizes to be distributed were secured through the efforts of the various committees.

The committees are very grateful for the splendid co-operation of the college authorities, the faculty, and the student body who have done much to make the affair a huge success.

Fr. Michael J. O'Donell, O. S. A., local moderator and general chairman of the card party wishes publicly to thank all who have helped and contributed and especially the several priests serving on each committee and the lay-men and lay-women who contributed their valuable time. Their efforts and assistance have been more than encouraging.

Fr. O'Donnell states further, "Judging from what has been done up to this week-end it appears that the card party will be one of the greatest we have

VILLANOVAN

Published Weekly by the Students of Villanova College

Managing Board

JOHN J. HARRINGTON, '40 ..... Editor-in-Chief
JAMES P. COLLINS, '41 ..... College Editor
PHILIP M. DUNN, '40 ..... Sports Editor
JOHN T. GALLAGHER, '40 ..... Business Manager
JOSEPH N. BONGIOVANNI, '40 ..... Copy Editor
JOSEPH A. CIRELLI, '40 ..... Circulation Manager
MURRAY P. ZEALOR, '41 ..... Literary Editor
HENRY L. MANCUSO, '41 ..... Photography Editor
JOHN L. MAHER, '42 ..... Advertising Manager
JOSEPH F. BEE, '42 ..... Cartoonist

Columnists

Bernard A. Bellew, '40 ..... College Chatter
William F. Garrity, '40 ..... Odds and Ends
William J. Toy, '41 ..... Varieties
Harry A. Mazzei, '40 ..... Here and There
Anthony R. Liscio, '40 ..... Know Villanova

Staff Writers

Justin G. Rubin, '40 — William E. Schubert, '42
Frank Fitzpatrick, '40 — William B. DeGrace, '42
Saul A. Wallach, '40 — Thomas H. Doyle, '42
Bernard Singer, '40 — Howard A. McCall, '42
Thomas J. Moore, '41 — John P. Fullam, '42
James F. Haughton, '41 — Thomas A. Shallow, '42
Andrea J. D'Angelo, '41 — Robert J. McIntyre, '42
David N. Reardon, '42 — Alfred Bongiovanni, '40
Joseph V. McCabe, '42 — William V. Sinnott, '40
Joseph A. Barnes, '41 — William J. Ehmer, '42
Joseph Santaniello '41 — James F. Donovan, '41
Robert W. Kiley, '41 — Frederick A. Rappleyea, '40
Robert J. Funabashi, '42 — William N. Way, '41
William B. Carey, '42 — Walter W. Lessing, '42
Francis J. Callahan, '42

Contributor

Lou Dubino, '39

Photography Staff

Melvin Bricker, '41 — Walter N. LaPorte, '42
John T. Sandonato, '41

Circulation Staff

Robert F. Schisler, '41 — Robert F. Donovan, '42
Bernard C. Crumb, '42 — Joseph D. Keffer, '42

Faculty Advisor—Rev. Edward B. McKee, O. S. A.

This paper is dedicated to one of the finest men who ever entered Villanova: scholar, athlete, gentleman—

L E O G O O D R E A U

Subscription—$2.00 per year.

Entered as second class matter at the Villanova Postoffice, December 27, 1928.

1938 Member 1939

Associated Collegiate Press

Distributor of

Collegiate Digest

REPRESENTED FOR NATIONAL ADVERTISING BY

National Advertising Service, Inc.

College Publishers Representative

420 MADISON AVE. NEW YORK, N. Y.

CHICAGO - BOSTON - LOS ANGELES - SAN FRANCISCO

Member of the Catholic School Pre ss Association
Member of the Catholic College Press Association
Member of the National Scholastic Press Association.

TUESDAY - - - - APRIL -, 1939

Is Propaganda Art?

IN a recent letter sent out by the Warner Brothers Company the statement was made that they intend to start a campaign of propaganda pictures, and they take a great deal of pride in boasting of their being the first in the industry in doing this.

Now, in the past, certain motion picture producers have claimed that the movies are an art in themselves, but we wonder if this will be the case in the event that the propaganda theme is inserted in their productions of the future.

Art is universal in scope, appreciation, and is not usually national in theme. The great masterpieces of the arts have been appreciated by all peoples of all nations. But if propaganda is made dominant in our American pictures, they will be ostracized from foreign lands by their very nature of being nationally restricted to this country in interest. The American public, that is constantly told that they enjoy many more privileges and rights than other nations, will be subjected to the same kind of controlled entertainment that is permitted in the European dictatorships.

From this it is only a step toward controlled radio and press. We, as Americans, do not want this! We want our entertainment free of political tint.

An appreciation of American institutions should not be forced onto the public; it should grow gradually, from a deep-rooted love—not from entertainment so disguised as to arouse an emotional patriotism.

Art is art only when it is free of political control and expresses the fear, joys, loves, hates of an entire people rather than a few self-interested individualists.

The Publicist President

IT is really pathetic what harm can be precipitated by indiscreet remarks made by the heads of a great government. President Roosevelt's recent statement to the press to the effect that he would be back in September unless war broke out was deplorable and wholly deserving of hearty condemnation, for it aroused apprehension both here and abroad. It led the European nations to believe that in the event of a general war the United States would fight.

Then a few days later, following this grand-stand show of bravado, the President sent out an appeal to Hitler and Mussolini to pledge themselves to the cause of peace for a period of at least ten years. Isn't it natural that the dictators viewed this plea with misgivings? They certainly perceived an inconsistency of views in the attitude taken by Mr. Roosevelt.

We are not questioning the sincerity of the President's speech; the course he was following could only have led to disastrous consequences—for America.

We hope that in the future the heads of our governments will refrain from making rash statements that will jeopardize the intrinsic value of noteworthy appeals made in good faith. First and last they should remember that if democracy is to be safeguarded, let us protect it here, not in European battlefields. If Europe wants our aid in helping them solve their problems, we will gladly do so, but not at the cost of the last war.

Unwise Economy

OF the deplorable conditions which exist in the school systems in Philadelphia and other districts throughout the state, the current difficulty in Sesquehanna County is a classic example. We find there hundreds of teachers who have been unpaid for months, some of whom have given up and decided to go on relief. Others have tried to obtain outside work to enable them to provide food and shelter. Not a few have lost their homes and others—men and women whose work it is to develop the minds and bodies and characters of the children entrusted to their care, performing an invaluable service to the community and the country at large and yet being denied even the slight remuneration which is due them.

Persons in other fields of endeavor seem sometimes to resent the freedom which a teacher is supposed to have — week-ends, holidays, and summers off.

Have they ever stopped to realize the obligations that conscientious teachers have? A bachelor degree is not sufficient; in their first three years teaching they are required to take at least six hours of additional study; they should belong to a number of community organizations in order to have personal contact with the parents of their students and they should by all means subscribe to a number of the better magazines, educational journals, etc. and keep up to date in current literature.

But how can all these things be done on the salaries which many teachers receive? Many can barely support themselves—let alone raise a family.

The recently proposed pay cut is a very unwise measure of economy. If some of the evils of politics such as mismanagement and duplications of work would be eliminated it would not be necessary to reduce the salaries of teachers which even now are far from being too large. They are denying a just compensation to the people in whose hands lies the destiny of our country, in view of the fact that they are responsible for training the statesmen of tomorrow.

Faculty Comments

Twentieth Century Civilization Has It Improved Mankind?
John F. Burns, O. S. A., Ph. D.

THE current enormous increase in the number and need of physicians, drugs, hospitals, health resorts and "remedies" hardly indicates that twentieth century civilization has improved mankind physically. Twentieth century civilization has improved itself, but seems to have left mankind adrift. Man has automobiles, heated homes, regulated light and sound, improved food-preservation and medication. But he cannot walk as far, endure as much, see, hear, digest, or even eliminate as well as formerly.

Grandma called some things carnal. Twentieth century civilization retorts that old Grandma is out of date. But witness the increase of laws penalizing immorality and injustice; the cry for more and bigger jails and stricter law enforcement; the sustained popularity of salacious literature and sexually stimulating entertainment; the startling increase, in our most advanced population-centers, of prostitution, social diseases and criminal litigation.

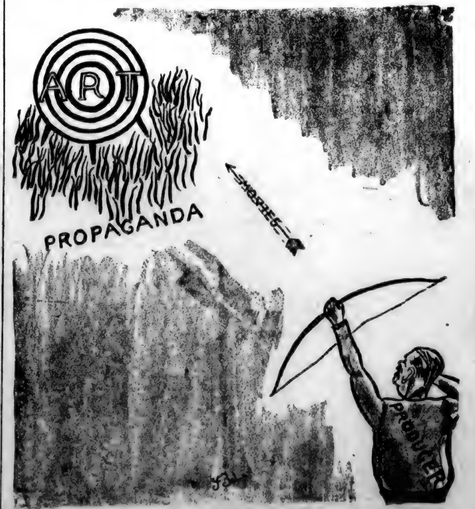
We are inclined to criticise past ages for intolerance and persecution. Has the twentieth century improved mankind in this respect? What of the current restriction of political and natural rights—of confiscation, imprisonments, exilings, mental and physical torture, actual slaughter of humanity for the "crime" of "religion" or of race? In the twentieth century man still crucifies his neighbor on a cross of intolerance!

But despite the millions spent on modern schools and schooling, what does Mr. Average Twentieth Century Man actually know? What has he time to read, beyond his newspaper, magazine, or occasional best-seller? How soundly does he think? Has he not allowed radio and press to atrophy his own inward resources for entertainment and judgment? It is said that our crowded theaters are a sign that mankind is reaching after higher culture and self-improvement. Are they not also a sign that mankind is seeking, through an interlude of illusion all too short, escape from his own vapidity, or perhaps from squalor, struggle, or exploded dreams?

Twentieth century civilization still holds mankind in economic and political serfdom. The average worker is bound to his hours and his place of labor as securely as the serf was ever bound to the "soil" in days gone by.. He is not economically free either to leave or to change. Almost the only economically free man today is the parasite who refuses work and prefers to live on money collected from his neighbor in taxes and distributed as relief. And the parasite, prolific product of the age, daily multiplies, eating away the vitals of the world's body politic. In too many countries citizens are fast degenerating into subjects. In too many places, governments tend to appropriate all the rights of individuals and to leave to them only their obligations. Paradoxically, in a civilization more materially perfect than ever before, more people are worse off than ever before.

Socially, family life was never more unstable than in the twentieth century. The bond between parents and children was never more relaxed. Legal stability of marriage is entirely wiped out in one country. In another, racial discrimination violates the individual's rights. Two of our sovereign states are even now threatening each other with retaliatory relaxations in their divorce legislation in order to attract more of the nation's "business" in the breaking up of homes.

Twentieth century civilization increases likewise the menace of mankind's greatest affliction—the horror of war. Hardly out of one stumbling, useless conflict, it now girds for another, feverishly preparing the most efficient means of destroying mankind and itself. The most gigantic hoax ever perpetrated upon humanity is in the failure of present-day civilization to accomplish its first and most essential purpose—to make the ordinary man and woman ordinarily happy. Twentieth century civilization seems to give to mankind everything except what is most needed—a sense of security, a reason for living and enduring, a haven at least in prospect. It has undoubtedly turned on the lights of material advancement. But it has turned out the light of hope, and has plunged the heart and the soul of mankind into darkness and fear.



Don't Miss the Mark ... by BELZ

CHARTER MEMBERS NAMED BY DEAN TO ENGINEERING FRAT

Chi Mu Epsilon, Honorary Fraternity to Number Outstanding Students

Names of the charter members of Chi Mu Epsilon, new engineering honorary society, were made known last Friday by Dr. Edward L. Haenisch, member of the faculty committee organizing the society and chemical engineering adviser.

The candidates were chosen at the engineering faculty meeting on April 3, and were selected for scholastic achievement, participation in extra-curricular activities, and any other qualifications or achievements to their credit.

The outstanding juniors elected are: Francis O'Connell, chemical; Frederick Rappleyea, mechanical; John Seelaus, mechanical; Daniel Troy, chemical; George Wengroyniuk, chemical, and George Wilson, electrical.

This year's seniors had no opportunity to be selected last year, so fewer members of the class will belong, and those who were chosen are exceptionally well qualified. The seniors selected are: Leo Bicher, chemical; John Burke, electrical; Anthony Cirrito, mechanical; Edward Conneen, chemical; Raymond MacGregor, mechanical; John Malaspina, chemical; Francis Mozzi, electrical; Edward Ritti; mechanical; Thomas Schaedler, electrical, and Frederick Welty, chemical.

Officers will be chosen and a constitution drawn up by the members after the induction banquet in May. The specific functions of the society and its activities will be determined by the members, but candidates will continue to be chosen by the faculty.

Local Papers To Aid Villanovan Exhibit

Open House Display Lists Inquirer, Bulletin, Associated Press Contributions

The VILLANOVAN will sponsor a press exhibit in conjunction with the Open House activities of Junior Week The exhibit will include displays from the local metropolitan dailies.

Through the courtesy of the Philadelphia Inquirer, an exhibit describing the various steps in the technique of writing, editing and printing of a news story will be on hand.

The work of the wirephoto service will be described and illustrated by an exhibit provided for by the Associated Press.

Also to be included in the exhibit will be a demonstration on the phases of newspaper photography and art work. The Philadelphia Bulletin has promised to send its equipment and men to make this display as realistic as possible.

Interracial Chapter Meets Here April 30

The Philadelphia chapter of the Catholic Intercollegiate Interracial Council will meet at Villanova in Simpson Hall at 2:30, Sunday, April 30. Villanova will be host to all in attendance.

Villanova will be represented by Joseph Bongiovanni, Murray Zealor, and Charles Dolan. Two guest speakers have been invited who will explain problems in the field at this business meeting.

At the last meeting, held at Rosemont College, Baroness de Heueck, Russian noblewoman and outstanding in bringing Catholic ideals to the Negroes in Harlem, practicing the Mystical Body of Christ from Friendship House in the midst of the Negro section, spoke on the topic which she is so well acquainted with.

Rev. William J. Lunney, moderator of the group, announced that at this meeting there will be an attempt made for determining the winners for the prizes of the recent poster and essay contest.

Fr. Lunney also stated that the last meeting of the group for this year will be held on May 7, at La Salle College.

Donahue Success With Dance Band After Obtaining Law Degree Honors

Orchestra Leader Proves Himself Capable Business Executive Also

AL DONAHUE

Al Donahue, who has been contracted by the cases of 1940 for the Junior Promenade of May 5, is considered one of the most outstanding orchestra leaders in the profession. But Donahue is not only recognized as a conductor, and his violin and vocal solos his outstanding features. His executive ability and business acumen are other attributes which have contributed to his success.

Born and brought up in Boston, Mass., Donahue graduated from Boston University School of Law with highest honors plus an LL.B. degree. When he gained his law degree he also received his diploma from the New England Conservatory of Music and thus was faced with a problem which was rather difficult to solve. He had to decide which career to follow—law or music. Coupling memories with foresight, he chose music.

The Lucky Break

His first engagement was at the exclusive Hollywood Beach Hotel in Florida. So successful did this engagement prove that he was recalled to the spot five consecutive seasons. Among these who danced to his music at the hotel one night was an executive of Paramount-Publix who visioned in the genial maestro a good bet for one of his theaters. The next day contracts were discussed and Al was assigned to the Fisher theater in Detroit, for a two-week period. He remained there for a whole year, serving as master of ceremonies besides conducting his orchestra.

From then on, his rise bordered on the sensational and his services were in demand at class spots throughout the nation. Checking his enviable record it is worthy to note that wherever Donahue has played, hotel, theater or night club, the management has always asked him to return with his men at the earliest possible date. He has played six return engagements at the exclusive Rainbow Room in New York's Rockefeller Center. This achievement has not been paralleled by any other orchestra since the opening of the famous room.

Other leading spots where Donahue has played in recent years include the swank Sands Point Bath Club, the Casino at Monte Carlo, the Roosevelt in New Orleans, New York's Waldorf Astoria, eight seasons at the Bermudian in Bermuda, the Netherlands Plaza in Cincinnati, the Book Cadillac in Detroit and the fashionable Colony Club in Palm Beach. While in Florida during the 1938 winter season he was honored by being selected to direct the music for the famous Gasparilla Ball held in Tampa.

It is his contention that the public, and that includes the "400" wants good music and for that reason he ignores musical "fads" which soon fade and stigmatize those whom they carry into oblivion. Proof that he is right is seen in the fact that in addition to his other successes his records for Vocalion are invariably best sellers.

A recent article in the authoritative trade publication, "Billboard," credits Donahue as the most important and biggest contractor in this particular field. This business is conducted in his impressive suite of offices in the Steinway Building in New York.

A Home Man

Besides the repute he has gained playing engagements throughout the country, Donahue is well-known to millions of radio listeners. He has broadcast over all the major networks and this experience has equipped him with an invaluable technical knowledge of radio.

Straying from the commercial aspect of his career and taking a few personal glances we find that he is married to the former Frederika Gallatin.

Vital statistics reveal that he weighs 160 pounds, is 5 ft. 11 in. tall and has brown hair and blue eyes.

Hobbies include golfing and swimming. He is a candid camera fan and likes to make color movies. He is noted for his keen sense of humor and his ability to make friends—and keep them!

'ROOM SERVICE' CAST READY FOR DEBUT

Continued From Page One

same name which featured the antics of the Marx Brothers. Though the lines were the same in the picture, the plot and the action was changed to suit the merry Marxes. The Belle Masque is to present the comedy just as it was given on Broadway. With this procedure the fine, original humor will be retained.

The entire show takes place in one room of a cheap Broadway hotel. In it the sorrows and sufferings of a producer and his friends are unfolded from their inception to their final and definite soultion. The producer and his associates wish to stage a play writen by a young man from Oswego, N. Y., but are confronted by a large hotel bill and by the utter lack of funds with which to settle it.

PATRICIA RICE

In order to thwart the plan of the hotel manager to evict them the would-be producers conceive of a clever ruse and have one of their number pretend to be afflicted by a case of measles. Temporarily the plan achieves its end, but the scheme is discovered in time. Meanwhile certain guaranties have been assured the producers to enable the proposed production to be carried through. Preparations are made, the cast is selected, and rehearsals are begun only to have the bottom fall out of the undertaking in the form of the withdrawal of the chief offered to cover the expenses. The tangle becomes so involved at times that no possible solution seems available. However, the ray of light shines through in the person of the owner of the chain of hotels who finances the play and leaves everyone in the state of blissful happiness.

"The Gadget Man" Collects Cameras And Odds and Ends

John Sandonato Chief Photography "Bug" on Campus

By HOWARD A. McCALL

Practically every college and university in the country has at least one photography "bug" on it's campus, and Villanova proudly presents her chief aspirant in this field in the personage of John T. Sandonato, sophomore in the Commerce and Finance School.

A Speed Graphic, a model G. Leica camera, a Weaton exposure meter, a Mendelson universal speed gun which can be adjusted to both the Speed Graphic and the Leica, a Royal trypod complete with the head, a set of studio stands and reflectors, a miniature developing tank, and a home-made copy attachment which enables him to take a picture of another photograph are among his most cherished possesions.

Always Changes Cameras

His collection started with an Argus, and it wasn't long before he exchanged this for a Certo film pact and a Vollenda. These he eventually traded for a Graphlex R B C. This model was soon swapped for the Speed Graphic, his prize possession.

Soon he brought a National Graphlex which he kept for the long period of five days. This he traded in for the Leica. He now possesses the Speed Graphic and the Leica, and, not content with these business transactions, he is endeavoring to purchase a studio enlarger and an eight by ten view camera.

Has Villanova Album

His newest album, dealing solely with different activities at Villanova, depicts the football and basketball teams in action, the Villanova-Rutgers boxing match, the Senior Ball, and funeral masses of Fr. Tourscher and Fr. O'Brien. Another of the volumes is devoted entirely to scenes on the Syracuse University campus.

Before departing from the room John made it known that he has been actively engaged in photography for the short span of two years, and that he attributes all of his knowledge of processing to the teachings of Parquette, who permits him to use the "dark room" in Mendal Hall to develop his pictures.

WILLIAM F. DUFFY

students for cooperation during the program of Open House. He is desirous of having each student interest some of his high school friends in this college. In checking back over the questionnaires submitted to former freshman classes it is surprising to note the number of undergraduates that have come in contact with Villanova through Open House. Hanlon contends that it is an important advertisement for the college and he hope sto have one hundred percent student support to make this year's show a complete success.

Composing the Open House Committee will be members of the Schools of Science and Engineering. In the Schol of Science Alfred M. Bongiovanni ,Richard R. Gove, John F. Macek, Marvin I. Mones, Gilbert E. Noll, Justin Rubin, and Francis X. Thomas will aid Hanlon. Engineers who will participate are Joseph B. Christoph, John A. Heck, Walter E. Kelly, Frederick A .Rappelyea, John J. Seelaus, Daniel J. Troy and George E. Wilson.

Chairman Hanlon also asks all junior arts and commerce men who would be interested in serving as guides for Open House to communicate with him either at 227 Austin Hall or at room 214 Mendel this Thursday, April 20, at 1:15 P. M.

JUNIOR WEEK PLANS NEARLY COMPLETED

Continued From Page One

Dance are progressing favorably, according to Chairman Francis M. Fitzpatrick. "It is virtually impossible to hold this affair at a country club as some students have requested due to the expense involved; therefore it is a certainty that the dinner will be held at some location in the city."

Peter E. Hanlon, chairman of Open House, wishes to appeal to all

COMPETITIVE TESTS WILL BE CONDUCTED FOR SCHOLARSHIPS

English, Foreign Language, American History, Algebra to Decide Winners

Competitive examinations on three $1000 scholarships will be conducted at Villanova College on May 27, 1939. These scholarships are applicable to a four year college course and will be awarded to properly qualified students for use beginning September, 1939. Award of scholarships will be based on the results of written examinations in four subjects — Mathematics, English, History and Language.

In Mathematics a comprehensive examination will be designed to test basic skills an principles included in the typical Algebra course (extending through quadratics).

The English examination will be on usage, spelling and vocabulary.

While American history to the present day will comprise the History test, a comprehensive examination covering Grammar, Vocabulary and Reading will be given in one of the following: French, German, Spanish or Latin.

Questions in the examinations will be based upon the material ordinarialy coverd during the high school courses in the subjects listed.

A regular program of activities is planned in order to provide entertainment for the students participating in the examination. It will include a tour of the campus and buildings and luncheon in the College Dining Hall.

Contestants should note that the examinations will be scheduled on daylight saving time.

Press Group Plans Periodical Exhibit

Newspapers, Films, Charts Illustrating Religious Advancement on Display

Plans for a Catholic press exhibit to take place on May 1 and 2 are rapidly nearing completion.

The exhibit will depict the widespread activities of the Catholic press. It is to be conducted in connection with Open House during Junior Week.

Included in the exhibit will be copies of many Catholic newspapers, leading Catholic periodicals, pamphlets, and general information on Catholic literature.

A main section of the general exhibit, which will be displayed in the day-students room on the first floor of Mendel Hall, will be devoted to the activities of the Religion Department. Charts illustrating the procedure followed in the teaching of religion in the various departments of the college will be on hand. Several interesting films on the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass, and the Sacrament of Baptism will also be shown.

A. I. E. E. CONDUCTS TOUR OF PHILA. ELECTRIC CO.

Engineers Tour Schuylkill River Plant to Note New Efficiency Methods

Mazda lamp manufacturing will be studied by the members of the A. I. E. E. at their next meeting on April 24.

Yesterday, the society in conjunction with the A. S. M. E., made an inspection tour of the Schuylkill River Plant of the Philaddelphia Electric Co. The purpose of the trip was to view methods of increasing the efficiency of power plants by making use of the exhaust steam of high-pressure, high-temperature boilers.

Francis J. Mozzi, chairman, has announced that the election of A. I. E. E. officers for the year 1939-40 will be held at the next meeting. A chairman and secretary will be chosen.

ENGINEER GROUP TO VISIT PLANT

In conjunction with the A. S. M. E., senior and junior members of the A. I. E. E. will visit the Schuylkill Power Plant which is located on the West River Drive, on April 17.

Francis J. Mozzi, chairman, has announced that officers for next year will be elected at the first meeting after the Easter vacation. A chairman and secretary will be chosen.

VILLANOVAN

Published Weekly by the Students of Villanova College

Managing Board

JOHN J. HARRINGTON, '40 ..... Editor-in-Chief
JAMES P. COLLINS, '41 ..... College Editor
PHILIP M. DUNN, '40 ..... Sports Editor
JOHN T. GALLAGHER, '42 ..... Business Manager
JOSEPH N. BONGIOVANNI, '40 ..... Copy Editor
JOSEPH A. CHIELLI, '40 ..... Circulation Manager
MURRAY P. ZEALOR, '41 ..... Literary Editor
HENRY L. MANCUSO, '41 ..... Photography Editor
JOHN L. MAHER, '42 ..... Advertising Manager
JOSEPH F. LEE, '42 ..... Cartoonist

Columnists

Bernard A. Bellew, '40 ..... College Chatter
William F. Garrity, '40 ..... Odds and Ends
William J. Toy, '41 ..... Varieties
Harry A. Mazzei, '40 ..... Here and There
Anthony R. Liscio, '40 ..... Know Villanova

Staff Writers

Justin G. Rubin, '40 — William E. Schubert, '42
Frank Fitzpatrick, '40 — William B. DeGrace, '42
Saul A. Wallach, '40 — Thomas H. Doyle, '42
Bernard Singer, '40 — Howard A. McCall, '42
Thomas J. Mooney, '41 — John P. Fallam, '42
James F. Haughton, '41 — Thomas A. Shallow, '42
Andrew J. D'Angelo, '41 — Robert J. McIntyre, '42
David N. Reardon, '42 — Alfred N. Bongiovanni, '40
Joseph V. McCabe, '42 — William V. Sinnott, '40
Joseph A. Barnes, '41 — William J. Elmer, '42
Joseph Santoriello, '41 — James F. Donovan, '41
Robert W. Kiley, '41 — Frederick A. Rappelyea, '40
Robert J. Funatashi, '42 — William N. Way, '41
William R. Carey, '42 — Walter W. Lessing, '42
Francis J. Callahan, '42

Contributor

Leo Dubino, '39

Photography Staff

Melvin Bricker, '41 — Walter N. LaPorte, '42
John T. Scandonato, '41

Circulation Staff

Robert P. Schisler, '41 — Robert F. Donovan, '42
Bernard C. Crumb, '42 — Joseph D. Keffer, '42

Faculty Advisor—Rev. Edward B. McKee, O. S. A.

This paper is dedicated to one of the finest men who ever entered Villanova: scholar, athlete, gentleman—

LEO GOODREAU

Subscription—$2.00 per year.
Entered as second class matter at the Villanova Post-office, December 27, 1928

1938 Member 1939
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

REPRESENTED FOR NATIONAL ADVERTISING BY
National Advertising Service, Inc.
College Publishers Representative
420 MADISON AVE. NEW YORK, N. Y.
CHICAGO · BOSTON · LOS ANGELES · SAN FRANCISCO

Member of the Catholic School Press Association
Member of the Catholic College Press Association
Member of the National Scholastic Press Association.

TUESDAY - - - - APRIL , 1939

Is Propaganda Art?

IN a recent letter sent out by the Warner Brothers Company the statement was made that they intend to start a campaign of propaganda pictures, and they take a great deal of pride in boasting of their being the first in the industry in doing this.

Now, in the past, certain motion picture producers have claimed that the movies are an art in themselves, but we wonder if this will be the case in the event that the propaganda theme is inserted in their productions of the future.

Art is universal in scope, appreciation, and is not usually national in theme. The great masterpieces of the arts have been appreciated by all peoples of all nations. But if propaganda is made dominant in our American pictures, they will be ostracized from foreign lands by their very nature of being nationally restricted to this country in interest. The American public, that is constantly told that they enjoy many more privileges and rights than other nations, will be subjected to the same kind of controlled entertainment that is permitted in the European dictatorships.

From this it is only a step toward controlled radio and press. We, as Americans, do not want this! We want our entertainment free of political tint.

An appreciation of American institutions should not be forced onto the public; it should grow gradually, from a deep-rooted love—not from entertainment so disguised as to arouse an emotional patriotism.

Art is art only when it is free of political control and expresses the fear, joys, loves, hates of an entire people rather than a few self-interested individualists.

The Publicist President

IT is really pathetic what harm can be precipitated by indiscreet remarks made by the heads of a great government. President Roosevelt's recent statement to the press to the effect that he would be back in September unless war broke out was deplorable and wholly deserving of hearty condemnation, for it aroused apprehension both here and abroad. It led the European nations to believe that in the event of a general war the United States would fight.

Then a few days later, following this grand-stand show of bravado, the President sent out an appeal to Hitler and Mussolini to pledge themselves to the cause of peace for a period of at least ten years. Isn't it natural that the dictators viewed this plea with misgivings? They certainly perceived an inconsistency of views in the attitude taken by Mr. Roosevelt.

We are not questioning the sincerity of the President's speech; the course he was following could only have led to disastrous consequences—for America.

We hope that in the future the heads of our governments will refrain from making rash statements that will jeopardize the intrinsic value of noteworthy appeals made in good faith. First and last they should remember that if democracy is to be safeguarded, let us protect it here, not in European battlefields. If Europe wants our aid in helping them solve their problems, we will gladly do so, but not at the cost of the last war.

Unwise Economy

OF the deplorable conditions which exist in the school systems in Philadelphia and other districts throughout the state, the current difficulty in Sesquehanna County is a classic example. We find there hundreds of teachers who have been unpaid for months, some of whom have given up and decided to go on relief. Others have tried to obtain outside work to enable them to provide food and shelter. Not a few have lost their homes and others—men and women whose work it is to develop the minds and bodies and characters of the children entrusted to their care, performing an invaluable service to the community and the country at large and yet being denied even the slight remuneration which is due them.

Persons in other fields of endeavor seem sometimes to resent the freedom which a teacher is supposed to have — week-ends, holidays, and summers off.

Have they ever stopped to realize the obligations that conscientious teachers have? A bachelor degree is not sufficient; in their first three years teaching they are required to take at least six hours of additional study; they should belong to a number of community organizations in order to have personal contact with the parents of their students and they should by all means subscribe to a number of the better magazines, educational journals, etc. and keep up to date in current literature.

But how can all these things be done on the salaries which many teachers receive? Many can barely support themselves—let alone raise a family.

The recently proposed pay cut is a very unwise measure of economy. If some of the evils of politics such as mismanagement and duplications of work would be eliminated it would not be necessary to reduce the salaries of teachers which even now are far from being too large. They are denying a just compensation to the people in whose hands lies the destiny of our country, in view of the fact that they are responsible for training the statesmen of tomorrow.

Faculty Comments

Twentieth Century Civilization Has It Improved Mankind?
John F. Burns, O. S. A., Ph. D.

THE current enormous increase in the number and need of physicians, drugs, hospitals, health resorts and "remedies" hardly indicates that twentieth century civilization has improved mankind physically. Twentieth century civilization has improved itself, but seems to have left mankind adrift. Man has automobiles, heated homes, regulated light and sound, improved food-preservation and medication. But he cannot walk as far, endure as much, see, hear, digest, or even eliminate as well as formerly.

Grandma called some things carnal. Twentieth century civilization retorts that old Grandma is out of date. But witness the increase of laws penalizing immorality and injustice; the cry for more and bigger jails and stricter law enforcement; the sustained popularity of salacious literature and sexually stimulating entertainment; the startling increase, in our most advanced population-centers, of prostitution, social diseases and criminal litigation.

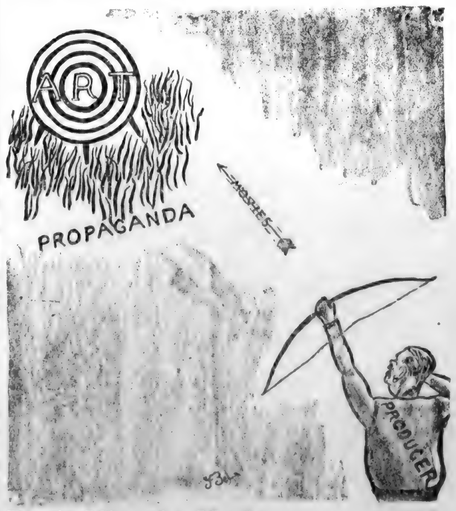
We are inclined to criticise past ages for intolerance and persecution. Has the twentieth century improved mankind in this respect? What of the current restriction of political and natural rights—of confiscation, imprisonments, exilings, mental and physical torture, actual slaughter of humanity for the "crime" of "religion" or of race? In the twentieth century man still crucifies his neighbor on a cross of intolerance!

But despite the millions spent on modern schools and schooling, what does Mr. Average Twentieth Century Man actually know? What has he time to read, beyond his newspaper, magazine, or occasional best-seller? How soundly does he think? Has he not allowed radio and press to atrophy his own inward resources for entertainment and judgment? It is said that our crowded theaters are a sign that mankind is reaching after higher culture and self-improvement. Are they not also a sign that mankind is seeking, through an interlude of illusion all too short, escape from his own vapidity, or perhaps from squalor, struggle, or exploded dreams?

Twentieth century civilization still holds mankind in economic and political serfdom. The average worker is bound to his hours and his place of labor as securely as the serf was ever bound to the "soil" in days gone by.. He is not economically free either to leave or to change. Almost the only economically free man today is the parasite who refuses work and prefers to live on money collected from his neighbor in taxes and distributed as relief. And the parasite, prolific product of the age, daily multiplies, eating away the vitals of the world's body politic. In too many countries citizens are fast degenerating into subjects. In too many places, governments tend to appropriate all the rights of individuals and to leave to them only their obligations. Paradoxically, in a civilization more materially perfect than ever before, more people are worse off than ever before.

Socially, family life was never more unstable than in the twentieth century. The bond between parents and children was never more relaxed. Legal stability of marriage is entirely wiped out in one country. In another, racial discrimination violates the individual's rights. Two of our sovereign states are even now threatening each other with retaliatory relaxations in their divorce legislation in order to attract more of the nation's "business" in the breaking up of homes.

Twentieth century civilization increases likewise the menace of mankind's greatest affliction—the horror of war. Hardly out of one stumbling, useless conflict, it now girds for another, feverishly preparing the most efficient means of destroying mankind and itself. The most gigantic hoax ever perpetrated upon humanity is in the failure of present-day civilization to accomplish its first and most essential purpose—to make the ordinary man and woman ordinarily happy. Twentieth century civilization seems to give to mankind everything except what is most needed—a sense of security, a reason for living and enduring, a haven at least in prospect. It has undoubtedly turned out the light of hope, and has plunged the heart and the soul of mankind into darkness and fear.



Don't Miss the Mark ... by BELZ

CHARTER MEMBERS NAMED BY DEAN TO ENGINEERING FRAT

Chi Mu Epsilon, Honorary Fraternity to Number Outstanding Students

Names of the charter members of Chi Mu Epsilon, new engineering honorary society, were made known last Friday by Dr. Edward L. Haenisch, member of the faculty committee organizing the society and chemical engineering adviser.

The candidates were chosen at the engineering faculty meeting on April 3, and were selected for scholastic achievement, participation in extra-curricular activities, and any other qualifications or achievements to their credit.

The outstanding juniors elected are: Francie O'Connell, chemical; Frederick Rappleyea, mechanical; John Seelaus, mechanical; Daniel Troy, chemical; George Wengroyniuk, chemical, and George Wilson, electrical.

This year's seniors had no opportunity to be selected last year, so fewer members of the class will belong, and those who were chosen are exceptionally; well qualified. The seniors selected are: Leo Bicher, chemical; John Burke, electrical; Anthony Cirrito, mechanical; Edward Conneen, chemical; Raymond MacGregor, mechanical; John Malaspina, chemical; Francis Mozzi, electrical; Edward Ritti; mechanical; Thomas Schaedler, electrical, and Frederick Welty, chemical.

Officers will be chosen and a constitution drawn up by the members after the induction banquet in May. The specific functions of the society and its activities will be determined by the members, but candidates will continue to be chosen by the faculty.

Local Papers To Aid Villanovan Exhibit

Open House Display Lists Inquirer, Bulletin, Associated Press Contributions

The VILLANOVAN will sponsor a press exhibit in conjunction with the Open House activities of Junior Week. The exhibit will include displays from the local metropolitan dailies.

Through the courtesy of the Philadelphia Inquirer, an exhibit describing the various steps in the technique of writing, editing and printing of a news story will be on hand.

The work of the wirephoto service will be described and illustrated by an exhibit provided for by the Associated Press.

Also to be included in the exhibit will be a demonstration of the phases of newspaper photography and art work. The Philadelphia Bulletin has promised to send its equipment and men to make this display as realistic as possible.

Interracial Chapter Meets Here April 30

The Philadelphia chapter of the Catholic Intercollegiate Interracial Council will meet at Villanova in Simpson Hall at 2:30, Sunday, April 30. Villanova will be host to all in attendance.

Villanova will be represented by Joseph Bongiovanni, Murray Zealor, and Charles Dolan. Two guest speakers have been invited who will explain problems in the field at this business meeting.

At the last meeting, held at Rosemont College, Baroness de Heueck, Russian noblewoman and outstanding in bringing Catholic ideals to the Negroes in Harlem, practicing the Mystical Body of Christ from Friendship House in the midst of the Negro section, spoke on the topic which she is so well acquainted with.

Rev. William J. Lunney, moderator of the group, announced that at this meeting there will be an attempt made for determining the winners for the prizes of the recent poster and essay contest.

Fr. Lunney also stated that the last meeting of the group for this year will be held on May 7, at La Salle College.

Donahue Success With Dance Band After Obtaining Law Degree Honors

Orchestra Leader Proves Himself Capable Business Executive Also

Al Donahue, who has been contracted by the cases of 1940 for the Junior Promenade of May 5, is considered one of the most outstanding orchestra leaders in the profession. But Donahue is not only recognized as a conductor, and his violin and vocal solos his outstanding features. His executive ability and business acumen are other attributes which have contributed to his success.

Born and brought up in Boston, Mass., Donahue graduated from Boston University School of Law with highest honors plus an LL.B. degree. When he gained his law degree he also received his diploma from the New England Conservatory of Music and thus was faced with a problem which was rather difficult to solve. He had to decide which career to follow—law or music. Coupling memories with foresight, he chose music.

The Lucky Break

His first engagement was at the exclusive Hollywood Beach Hotel in Florida. So successful did this engagement prove that he was recalled to the spot five consecutive seasons. Among these who danced to his music at the hotel one night was an executive of Paramount-Publix who visioned in the genial maestro a good bet for one of his theaters. The next day contracts were discussed and Al was assigned to the Fisher theater in Detroit, for a two-week period. He remained there for a whole year, serving as master of ceremonies besides conducting his orchestra.

AL DONAHUE

From then on, his rise bordered on the sensational and his services were in demand at class spots throughout the nation. Checking his enviable record it is worthy to note that wherever Donahue has played, hotel, theater or night club, the management has always asked him to return with his men at the earliest possible date. He has played six return engagements at the exclusive Rainbow Room in New York's Rockefeller Center. This achievement has not been paralleled by any other orchestra since the opening of the famous room.

Other leading spots where Donahue has played in recent years include the swank Sands Point Bath Club, the Casino at Monte Carlo, the Roosevelt in New Orleans, New York's Waldorf Astoria, eight seasons at the Bermudian in Bermuda, the Netherlands Plaza in Cincinnati, the Book Cadillac in Detroit and the fashionable Colony Club in Palm Beach. While in Florida during the 1938 winter season he was honored by being selected to direct the music for the famous Gasparilla Ball held in Tampa.

It is his contention that the public, and that includes the "400" wants good music and for that reason he ignores musical "fads" which soon fade and stigmatize those whom they carry into oblivion. Proof that he is right is seen in the fact that in addition to his other successes his records for Vocalion are invariably best sellers.

A recent article in the authoritative trade publication, "Billboard," credits Donahue as the most important and biggest contractor in this particular field. This business is conducted in his impressive suite of offices in the Steinway Building in New York.

A Home Man

Besides the repute he has gained playing engagements throughout the country, Donahue is well-known to millions of radio listeners. He has broadcast over all the major networks and this experience has equipped him with an invaluable technical knowledge of radio.

Straying from the commercial aspect of his career and taking a few personal glances we find that he is married to the former Frederika Gallatin.

While American history to the present day will comprise the History test, a comprehensive examination covering Grammar, Vocabulary and Reading will be given in one of the following: French, German, Spanish or Latin.

Questions in the examinations will be based upon the material ordinarily coverd during the high school courses in the subjects listed.

A regular program of activities is planned in order to provide entertainment for the students participating in the examination. It will include a tour of the campus and buildings and luncheon in the College Dining Hall.

Contestants should note that the examinations will be scheduled on daylight saving time.

'ROOM SERVICE' CAST READY FOR DEBUT

Continued From Page One

same name which featured the antics of the Marx Brothers. Though the lines were the same in the picture, the plot and the action was changed to suit the merry Marxes. The Belle Masque is to present the comedy just as it was given on Broadway. With this procedure the fine, original humor will be retained.

The entire show takes place in one room of a cheap Broadway hotel. In it the sorrows and sufferings of a producer and his friends are unfolded from their inception to their final and definite soultion. The producer and his associates wish to stage a play writen by a young man from Oswego, N. Y., but are contronted by a large hotel bill and by the utter lack of funds with which to settle it.

PATRICIA RICE

In order to thwart the plan of the hotel manager to evict them the would-be producers conceive of a clever ruse and have one of their number pretend to be afflicted by a case of measles. Temporarily the plan achieves its end, but the scheme is discovered in time. Meanwhile certain guaranties have been assured the producers to enable the proposed production to be carried through. Preparations are made, the cast is selected, and rehearsals are begun only to have the bottom fall out of the undertaking in the form of the withdrawal of the check offered to cover the expenses. The tangle becomes so involved at times that no possible solution seems available. However, the ray of ligh shines through in the person of the owner of the chain of hotels who finances the play and leaves everyone in the state of blissful happiness.

"The Gadget Man" Collects Cameras And Odds and Ends

John Sandonato Chief Photography "Bug" on Campus

By HOWARD A. McCALL

Practically every college and university in the country has at least one photography "bug" on it's campus, and Villanova proudly presents her chief aspirant in this field in the personage of John T. Sandonato, sophomore in the Commerce and Finance School.

A Speed Graphic, a model G. Leica camera, a Weston exposure meter, a Mendelson universal speed gun which can be adjusted to both the Speed Graphic and the Leica, a Royal trypod complete with the head, a set of studio stands and reflectors, a miniature developing tank, and a home-made copy attachment which enables him to take a picture of another photograph are among his most cherished possessions.

Always Changes Cameras

His collection started with an Argus, and it wasn't long before he exchanged this for a Certo film pact and a Vollenda. These he eventually traded for a Graphlex R B C. This model was soon swapped for the Speed Graphic, his prize possession.

Soon he brought a National Graphlex which he kept for the long period of five days. This he traded in for the Leica. He now possesses the Speed Graphic and the Leica, and, not content with these business transactions, he is endeavoring to purchase a studio enlarger and an eight by ten view camera.

Has Villanova Album

His newest album, dealing solely with different activities at Villanova, depicts the football and basketball teams in action, the Villanova-Rutgers boxing match, the Senior Ball, and funeral masses of Fr. Tourscher and Fr. O'Brien. Another of the volumes is devoted entirely to scenes on the Syracuse University campus.

Before departing from the room John made it known that he has been actively engaged in photography for the short span of two years, and that he attributes all of his knowledge of processing to the teachings of Parquette, who permits him to use the "dark room" in Mendal Hall to develop his pictures.

JUNIOR WEEK PLANS NEARLY COMPLETED

Continued From Page One

Dance are progressing favorably, according to Chairman Francis M. Fitzpatrcik. "It is virtually impossible to hold this affair at a country club as some students have requested due to the expense involved; therefore it is a certainty that the dinner will be held at some location in the city."

Peter E. Hanlon, chairman of Open House, wishes to appeal to all students for cooperation during the program of Open House. He is desirous of having each student interest some of his high school friends in this college. In checking back over the questionnaires submitted to former freshman classes it is surprising to note the number of undergraduates that have come in contact with Villanova through Open House. Hanlon contends that it is an important advertisement for the college and he hope sto have one hundred percent student support to make this year's show a complete success.

WILLIAM F. DUFFY

Composing the Open House Committee will be members of the Schools of Science and Engineering. In the Schol of Science Alfred M. Bongiovannt ,Richard R. Gove, John E. Macek, Marvin I. Mones, Gilbert E. Noll, Justin Rubin, and Francis X. Thomas will aid Hanlon. Engineers who will participate are Joseph B. Christoph, John A. Heck, Walter E. Kelly, Frederick A .Rappelyea, John J. Seelaus, Daniel J. Troy and George E. Wilson.

Chairman Hanlon also asks all junior arts and commerce men who would be interested in serving as guides for Open House to communicate with him either at 227 Austin Hall or at room 214 Mendel this Thursday, April 20, at 1:15 P. M.

COMPETITIVE TESTS WILL BE CONDUCTED FOR SCHOLARSHIPS

English, Foreign Language, American History, Algebra to Decide Winners

Competitive examinations on three $1000 scholarships will be conducted at Villanova College on May 27, 1939. These scholarships are applicable to a four year college course and will be awarded to properly qualified students for use beginning September, 1939. Award of scholarships will be based on the results of written examinations in four subjects — Mathematics, English, History and Language.

In Mathematics a comprehensive examination will be designed to test basic skills an principles included in the typical Algebra course (extending through quadratics).

The English examination will be on usage, spelling and vocabulary.

While American history to the present day will comprise the History test, a comprehensive examination covering Grammar, Vocabulary and Reading will be given in one of the following: French, German, Spanish or Latin.

Questions in the examinations will be based upon the material ordinarily coverd during the high school courses in the subjects listed.

A regular program of activities is planned in order to provide entertainment for the students participating in the examination. It will include a tour of the campus and buildings and luncheon in the College Dining Hall.

Contestants should note that the examinations will be scheduled on daylight saving time.

Press Group Plans Periodical Exhibit

Newspapers, Films, Charts Illustrating Religious Advancement on Display

Plans for a Catholic press exhibit to take place on May 1 and 2 are rapidly nearing completion.

The exhibit will depict the widespread activities of the Catholic press. It is to be conducted in connection with Open House during Junior Week.

Included in the exhibit will be copies of many Catholic newspapers, leading Catholic periodicals, pamphlets, and general information on Catholic literature.

A main section of the general exhibit, which will be displayed in the day-students room on the first floor of Mendel Hall, will be devoted to the activities of the Religion Department. Charts illustrating the procedure followed in the teaching of religion in the various departments of the college will be on hand. Several interesting films on the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass, and the Sacrament of Baptism will also be shown.

A. I. E. E. CONDUCTS TOUR OF PHILA. ELECTRIC CO.

Engineers Tour Schuylkill River Plant to Note New Efficiency Methods

Mazda lamp manufacturing will be studied by the members of the A. I. E. E. at their next meeting on April 24.

Yesterday, the society in conjunction with the A. S. M. E., made an inspection tour of the Schuylkill River Plant of the Philadelphia Electric Co. The purpose of the trip was to view methods of increasing the efficiency of power plants by making use of the exhaust steam of high-pressure, high-temperature boilers.

Francis J. Mozzi, chairman, has announced that the election of A. I. E. E. officers for the year 1939-40 will be held at the next meeting. A chairman and secretary will be chosen.

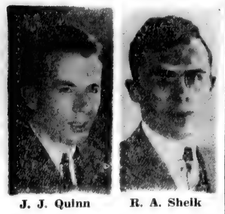
ENGINEER GROUP TO VISIT PLANT

In conjunction with the A. S. M. E., senior and junior members of the A. I. E. E. will visit the Schuylkill Power Plant which is located on the West River Drive, on April 17.

Francis J. Mozzi, chairman, has announced that officers for next year will be elected at the first meeting after the Easter vacation. A chairman and secretary will be chosen.

ENGINEERS' SOCIETY HOLDS DINNER DANCE

Llanerch Country Club Site of Phi Kappa Pi Annual Affair



J. J. Quinn R. A. Sheik

The Phi Kappa Pi dinner dance is to be held at the Llanerch Country Club, on Wednesday evening, May 17, between the hours 9 and 12. Dinner will be served at eleven o'clock. All members are expected to attend. Rev. J. O'Leary and alumni members have also been invited as guests.

On this occasion, fraternity keys are to be presented to the senior members, and the victorious fraternity basketball team is to be favored with miniature golden basketballs.

Joseph J. Quinn and Raymond A. Sheik are co-chairmen. The committee is comprised of J. Gehman, E. Glass, F. Welty (seniors); E. Cierkowski, C. Dinon, J. Dunnigan, E. Kirk, and D. Troy (juniors); D. Dalina and P. Farnsworth (sophomores); J. Dorsey (freshman).

This is the last social function of the year and will be semi-formal, attendance being restricted to fraternity members. All attending and desiring positions at the table, are asked to make requests to committeemen.

Technical Exhibits For Open House

Continued From Page One

struments; bridge models; tests on concrete; cement; asphalt; etc.

Electrical Engineering: Radio transmission and reception; high voltage generators; vacuum tube operation; demonstrations of arc rectifiers, motors, generators, oscillographs; etc.

Religion: Catholic press exhibits, visual aids in teaching religion.

Several industries will be represented at the affair by men of responsible positions. Among them will be men from Brill's, Budd's and du Pont's. It is felt that this bringing of leaders of industry to Villanova will tend to stimulate interest in the undertaking.

FORENSIC TEAM MEETS TIGERS

Villanova's freshman team will debate the frosh of Princeton University on Friday, April 21, in Simpson Hall.

"Pump-priming" will be the bone of contention. At the present time, the students who will represent the Alma Mater have not been chosen, but will be selected in the very near future.

In addition to this debate, several other contests have also been arranged. A debate with a freshman team from Lafayette College has tentatively been scheduled for April 28. This encounter will take place before an assembly of Saint Phillip and Saint James Catholic High School, Phillipsburg, N. J., and will deal with the proposal of an Anglo-American alliance.

At some time, not yet definite, before the end of the year, the team has planned a return engagement with the University of Pennsylvania frosh, and a debate with freshmen of Saint John's of Brooklyn.

DANCE FORMS PRESENTED

Members of the Music Seminar will be given a demonstration and analysis of the various dance forms at their next meeting.

The mazourka, tarantella, minuet, a modern dancing and several other forms will be demonstrated.

The meeting as usual will be held on both Wednesday and Thursday evenings. No meeting was held last week.

SEMINAR DEVELOPS ANTI-SEMITIC ISSUE

Sociology Group to Consider Present Topic for Remainder of Semester

Anti-semitism has been chosen as the new topic of discussion for the Sociology Seminar. This topic was discussed at the meeting held last evening and will be further considered during the next few weeks.

At the last meeting before the Easter vacation, debate on the question of inter-racial justice was brought to a close. Though no definite conclusion was reached by the members of the seminar, it was decided that the question is one deserving careful study and consideration.

Rev. Vincent A. McQuade, O. S. A., Ph. D., moderator, has announced that anti-semitism is probably the last subject that will be taken up by the seminar as meetings will close early in May in order to give the members an opportunity to prepare for the final examinations.

TEMPLE DEBATES FROSH

The frosh debating society represented by Ray Garraty and Thomas McKimmey, traveled to Temple on March 28. The topic discussed was that of government pump-priming.

Villanova upheld the affirmative, and Temple's team composed of Leonard Whartman, Arlin Adams, and Edward Kane, took the negative. Students were in attendance.

LAW SCHOOL AIDS GIVEN STUDENTS

Recently Professor William C. Henry, LL. B., faculty adviser for Pre-law students in the Commerce and Finance school announced that a special meeting for all prospective law school entrants will be held this Thursday, 1:15 P. M. in room 101 of the commerce and finance building.

Discussed at the meeting will be the nature and scope of college law courses and their significance in future law school studies. Requirements and applications for admission to these institutions will be available for the students. The respective merits of the numerous law schools will be discussed by Professor Henry.

Other senior students in the various schools on the campus who contemplate the study of law upon graduation are urged to attend.

ARC RECTIFIER PRESENTED

A Mercury-arc Rectifier with a capacity of 30 amperes at 110 volts direct current was presented to the Chemistry Department by the Malvern Preparatory School.

This instrument, valued at 400 dollars is used in changing alternating current to direct current, and it is to be used for this purpose in the Physical Chemistry course.

Rev. William G. Cullem, O. S. A., and Rev. Michael Hopkins, O. S. A., of the faculty of the prep school, were responsible for the gift of the equipment.

HISTORIANS DISCUSS WORLD CONDITIONS

Sudeten Crisis and Albanian Invasion Considered From Military, Political Angles

Similarities between the present situation in Europe and conditions as they were prior to the outbreak of the World War were discussed at the History Seminar, Thursday afternoon.

The various crises which have occurred such as the annexation of the Sudeten land by Germany and the overthrow of Albanian independence by Italy as well as the problems arising over Ethiopia, Prague, Memel and Czechoslovakia were discussed in the light of their political and military complications.

Some of the factors which contribute in bringing about a crisis of this sort are the dissemination of propaganda, alliances and excessive armament were considered as being particularly evident in the present day situation.

Comments were exchanged on the numerous alliances which exist or have existed between the various European countries.

At the next meeting next week a paper on the proposed Ludlow Referendum will be prepared and discussed by John Fullam.

Information, please...

This message is addressed to SENIORS and JUNIORS who have engaged in two or more student activities during the year.

WHAT does the business world hold in prospect for the college graduate today? Are the opportunities greater for those who have led an active life in their undergraduate days? If a man envisions a certain future for himself, can he, by applying himself, do anything about it?

These questions, and many more just as important to your future, will be answered in a series of informal meetings arranged by the Home Office Agency of The Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company.

These meetings will provide an unusual opportunity for you to learn about modern life insurance underwriting, to discuss its prospects, its compensation, and your possible aptitude for it.

The first meeting will be held in the Reception Room of Mendel Hall on Thursday, April 20th, at 1 P. M. Any preliminary inquiries should be addressed to

The Collegiate Personnel Bureau
M. A. Brown, Director

The Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company
HOME OFFICE AGENCY
SIXTH AND WALNUT STREETS • PHILADELPHIA, PA.

MARQUETTE UNIVERSITY

DENTISTRY as a Career

Dentistry offers an opportunity in the field of health service for men of ability and determination. Advanced standards have cut down dental school attendance by 44% in recent years.

The Marquette University Dental School is one of the 17 dental schools of the United States whose diplomas are recognized in all of the states.

The close relationship of the Dental and Medical Schools at Marquette University is an advantage to students.

Entrance requirements: Two years in a recognized College of Liberal Arts with satisfactory credits in biology, chemistry, and physics.

For complete information concerning opportunities in dentistry, write to the Secretary, Marquette University Dental School, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

MARQUETTE UNIVERSITY
Milwaukee

VILLANOVAN SPORTS

SUCCESSFUL CAGERS FETED AT BANQUET TENDERED BY GRADS

Eleven Players and Senior Manager Receive Gold Basketballs and Medals

JOURDET PRAISES MONTY

Eleven members of the Blue and White basketball team, winners of 20 out of 25 games during the past season, received awards at a dinner tendered by the alumni Thursday night, April 13, at the Fortside Inn, Fort Washington.

Gets Medals

Gold basketballs and medals were presented to Jim Montgomery, Lou Dubino, Art Vigilante, and John Krutulis — all seniors — George (Duke) Duzminski, Mike Lazorchak, Lloyd Rice, and Bill Sinnott — juniors — and Paul Nugent, "Chuck" Yund, and Ernie Robinson — of the sophomore class — and senior John Costello, manager.

Coach Al Severance lauded the players for their fine spirit and said that although the four graduating members of the squad would deprive next year's team of some height, he expected another winning quintet in 1939-40. This season's club carried Villanova to the greatest basketball heights it has ever achieved. After a very successful season they were selected to represent the Middle Atlantic district in the NCAA tournament. They went to the semi-finals in this national tournament.

Next Year

With regard to next season Severance said, "We hope to play some of the outstanding teams of the Middle West and most of those in the East."

Other speakers included Rev. B. M. Albers, O. S. A., Rev. H. A. Caffrey, O. S. A., and Rev. J. M. Dougherty, O S. A., all members of the Board of Athletic Control; George "Doc" Jacobs, baseball coach; "Jumbo" Jim Elliott, track mentor; "Clipper" Smith, football tutor and athletic director; and Leo Jourdet, Penn basketball coach, who hailed Jim Montgomery as the "finest player I saw on the Palestra floor this year." The toastmaster was Bill "Reds" Bradley.

GRIDMEN RESUME SPRING PRACTICE

Movies To Be Taken of Backs in "Swing Shift"

Resuming practice after a lapse of seven days the football squad wasted no time in returnnig to the swing of things, "Clipper" conducted a short scrimmage the first two days out and then followed with a light session on Saturday. Practice will continue until the end of April.

Enough work has been furnished so far as to enable the coaches to appraise the freshmen and obtain a universal acquaintance with the whole squad.

Movies of Shift

A local photographer is planning to take motion pictures of the backfield demonstrating the Notre Dame shift as employed by "Clipper" Smith. For this purpose Coach Smith will employ a backfield consisting of Ben Morkum at quarter, Bill Romanowski and Jerry Neri at the halves and John Gogolinski at fullback.

The pictures will be added to the growing library of motion pictures and used for future reference. It should prove very beneficial to incoming freshmen who find it a little difficult to master the Notre Dame shift as done in swing time.

Boston Star Safe at First

Frank Burns, B. C., left fielder, is safe at first during the seventh inning of Saturday's game, which Villanova won, 6-4. Bob Bond is shown taking Bob Pash's throw. In his previous attempt Burns hit a home run off the offerings of Cliff Choquette.

LINKSMEN PREPARE FOR ST. JOE MATCH

Open 1939 Season at Cedar Brook Country Club on Friday

Villanova's Golf Team will open its 1939 season on Friday, April 21, against St. Joseph's at the Cedar Brook Country Club. St. Joseph's has lost the services of three golfers by graduation but is well fortified with alternates who will step into their places.

Returning for St. Joseph's will be Bill Mills, who will lead the team and occupy the number one position. Mills has been playing consistently good golf for the past few years and should be a worthy opponent for Jim Dwyer. Aiding Mills will be Jack Burns, captain of last year's aggregation, and Ed Filmyer, both known to the Villanova golfers as good sports and good golfers. Burns will aid Mills by playing the number two position while Filmyer will fill in at the number three spot.

Lost to Boston

Meeting Boston College on the Cedar Brook Course on Friday, the St. Joseph's outfit went down to defeat by the score of 5½ to ½, having played only a four man team. This does not indicate that the Villanova team should have a setup. The previous meetings between Villanova and St. Joseph's have been nip and tuck all the way.

Villanova will look forward to five veterans in Captain Jim Dwyer, Lou Dubino, Cliff Randolph, Dave Morse, and Charles Roche. Dwyer and Dubino have been members of the golf team since entering Villanova and should end their golf careers with worthy records.

Filling in at the number six spot will be Joe Pagano, who is coming back to play golf after an absence of one year because of scholastic interference. Since alternates are needed in all sports, alternates of the golf team will be chosen in the very near future from the intramural golf tournament.

Schedule

A healthy schedule has been com-

LINKSMEN Continued on Page Seven

Sportorial

By Phil Dunn
Sports Editor

AS ARDENT a baseball fan as you will find on the campus, this writer nevertheless does not particularly care to sit through unnecessary delay in weather more suited to football in order to watch the national pastime being played. Therefore we ask that the argument submitted in a column in the Daily Pennsylvanian be given due thought and consideration.

PHIL DUNN

The writer of the pillar asked for the elimination of the customary whipping of the ball around the infield after each out—and in between times — and also the lessening of the number of warm-up throws allowed a pitcher when he takes his place in the box at the beginning of each inning.

There is no doubt that the suggestion, if carried out, would speed up the game. The question is, "Can these things be done?" Our answer is that it can, but it will take a long time. Rule changes can very easily take care of limiting the number of pitchers' throws to three (as the Penn columnist suggested) and they could also make the "pepper" engaged in by the infielders illegal. But what punishment could be meted out for the infraction of the new rules?

This question is one for much discussion pro and con. We don't think that rule changes would prove effective. In our opinion, only cooperation by the individual ball clubs with agreements as to the elimination of any unnecessary antics will solve the problem—if it is to be solved. Such action is a long way off and will be a long time getting here.

VILLANOVA VS. PENN AT FRANKLIN FIELD

Novel Meet Held Today; All Field Events To be Contested

After several weeks of intensive training on the cinders, the Wildcat track team will open its outdoor season in a practice meet against the University of Pennsylvania squad at Franklin Field this afternoon at three o'clock.

Although the running events, with the exception of the 100-yard dash, are not of the usual outdoor distance, they are of such a nature as to act as an intensive competitive workout for the sprinters and the middle-distance men.

The track events will consist of "100," "300," "600," and the 1000-yard runs.

Maher vs. Bradley

Johnny Maher, entered in the 100- and 300-yards, will meet an old rival in Ray Bradley of Penn who is also a sophomore. Since Johnny's first running days at West Catholic High School, he has constantly been dogged by Bradley, who ran with the colors of St. Joseph's Prep. Bradley, incidentally, copped both dashes against Dartmouth last week in the annual Penn-Dartmouth meet. In both races he turned in excellent times. Whitey Urbelis will team up with Johnny in these events, while Bill Guiteras will accompany both of them in the 300.

In the "600," Coach "Jumbo" Elliott plans to run Barney Bellew and Bill Guiteras. Penn's strongest man in this event will be Warren Wittens. Both Bellew and Guiteras have gotten themselves in good shape and plan to really "turn the heat on."

With the completion of the "600," Barney will toe the mark or the "1000." Also running for Villanova in this event will be Pete Yankauskus, former Kearney High and St. Benedict Prep athlete. Just last Summer, Pete traveled to Europe with the American Lithuanian team and annexed the

VILLANOVA Continued on Page Seven

BLUE BASEBALLERS LICK PENN AND B. C. IN FIRST CONTESTS

Joe Desmond Credited With Both Wins; Choquette and O'Leary Work

THREE GAMES CANCELLED

Thanks to a slim senior named Joe Desmond, Villanova's baseball Wildcats still remain undefeated after two trips to the post. Historic old Franklin Field was the scene of the 'Cats initial victory of the season when Doc Jacobs' nine shivered through an icy wind to trample the University of Pennsylvania, 8-2. Villanova's field provided the setting for the second win, when Boston College dropped a 6-4 decision.

Three other scheduled games were halted by the weather man as rain washed out the tussles with Massachusetts, Ursinus, and Providence.

Joe Desmond hurled seven and two-thirds innings against Penn's club and four sessions against Boston College, gaining credit for both wins. Soph Connie O'Leary finished the Penn game after Desmond had held the Quakers at bay through most of the game. Cliff Choquette started the Boston battle, but retired in the fifth inning.

Wannamacher Stars

Lou Wannamacher, brilliant centerfield, leads the hitters with four hits out of eight trips to the plate in the two games, although Art Vigilante led the parade against Boston's Eagles with two bingles in four trips.

Right from the opening pitch it was evident that the Wildcats were going to find Penn "easy pickin's." Extra-base hits were as frequent as wars in Europe as Lou Wannamacher, Bob Pash, Nick Basca, "Cowboy" Crawley, and even Pitcher Joe Desmond pounded the hide for long hits. Desmond slapped a triple in the second session that would have done credit to any hitter in the land. It looked for a moment as if Joe had Villanova's first home run under his belt, but a nice throw by the Penn fielder halted him at third.

Frequent Hits

In all 12 hits were registered by

BLUE Continued on Page Six

VILLANOVA QUITS DOUBLE HEADERS

Wildcat Quintet Withdraws From Convention Hall Twin Bills

With the banquet to the fine basketball team at the Fortside Inn last Thursday evening the 1938-39 season closed. Already plans for the campaign of 1939-40 are being formulated—schedule making with teams which will test the mettle of the Wildcats going on apace. One of the steps in the building of the future schedule was the withdrawal by Villanova from double-header basketball.

The Rev. B. M. Albers, O. S. A., moderator of athletics, announced recently that the college athletic board had given the matter of double-header basketball careful consideration before deciding to forego continued participation.

Fr. Albers stated that the board took its action after due deliberation and had decided that the future schedules would therefore be more conducive to the furtherance of Villanova's athletic policy.

ENGINEERS' SOCIETY HOLDS DINNER DANCE

Llanerch Country Club Site of Phi Kappa Pi Annual Affair

J. J. Quinn R. A. Sheik

The Phi Kappa Pi dinner dance is to be held at the Llanerch Country Club, on Wednesday evening, May 17, between the hours 9 and 12. Dinner will be served at eleven o'clock. All members are expected to attend. Rev. J. O'Leary and alumni members have also been invited as guests.

On this occasion, fraternity keys are to be presented to the senior members, and the victorious fraternity basketball team is to be favored with miniature golden basketballs.

Joseph J. Quinn and Raymond A. Sheik are co-chairmen. The committee is comprised of J. Gehman, E. Glass, F. Welty (seniors); E. Cierkowski, C. Dinon, J. Dunnigan, E. Kirk, and D. Troy (juniors); D. Dolina and P. Farnsworth (sophomores); J. Dorsey (freshman).

This is the last social function of the year and will be semi-formal, attendance being restricted to fraternity members. All attending and desiring position at the table, are asked to make requests to committeemen.

Testing and Exhibits For Open House

Continued From Page One

struments; bridge models; tests on concrete; cement; asphalt; etc.

Electrical Engineering: Radio transmission and reception; high voltage discharges; vacuum tube operation; demonstrations of arc rectifiers, motors, generators, oscillographs; etc.

Religious Catholic press exhibits, visual aids in teaching religion.

Several exhibits will be represented at the Fair by men of responsible positions. Among them will be men from Bells, Budd's and du Pont's. It is felt that this brings of leaders of industry to Villanova will tend to stimulate interest in the undertaking.

FORENSIC TEAM MEETS TIGERS

Villanova's freshman team will debate the frosh of Princeton University on Friday, April 21, in Simpson Hall.

"Pump-priming" will be the bone of contention. At the present time, the students who will represent the Alma Mater have not been chosen, but will be selected in the very near future.

In addition to this debate, several other contests have also been arranged. A debate with a freshman team from Lafayette College has tentatively been cheduled for April 28. This encounter will take place before an assembly of Saint Phillip and Saint James Catholic High School, Phillipsburg, N. J., and will deal with the proposal of an Anglo-American alliance.

At some time, not yet definite, before the end of the year, the team has planned a return engagement with the University of Pennsylvania frosh, and a debate with freshmen of Saint John's of Brooklyn.

DANCE FORMS PRESENTED

Members of the Music Seminar will be given a demonstration and analysis of the various dance forms at their next meeting.

The mazourka, tarantella, minuet, a modern dancing and several other forms will be demonstrated.

The meeting as usual will be held on both Wednesday and Thursday evenings. No meeting was held last week.

SEMINAR DEVELOPS ANTI-SEMITIC ISSUE

Sociology Group to Consider Present Topic for Remainder of Semester

Anti-semitism has been chosen as the new topic of discussion for the Sociology Seminar. This topic was discussed at the meeting held last evening and will be further considered during the next few weeks.

At the last meeting before the Easter vacation, debate on the question of inter-racial justice was brought to a close. Though no definite conclusion was reached by the members of the seminar, it was decided that the question is one deserving careful study and consideration.

Rev. Vincent A. McQuade, O. S. A., Ph. D., moderator, has announced that anti-semitism is probably the last subject that will be taken up by the seminar as meetings will close early in May in order to give the members an opportunity to prepare for the final examinations.

TEMPLE DEBATES FROSH

The frosh debating society ,represented by Ray Garraty and Thomas McKimmey, traveled to Temple on March 28. The topic discussed was that of government pump-priming.

Villanova upheld the affirmative, and Temple's team composed of Leonard Wbartman, Arlin Adams, and Edward Kane, took the negative. Students were in attendance.

LAW SCHOOL AIDS GIVEN STUDENTS

Recently Professor William C. Henry, LL. B., faculty adviser for Pre-law students in the Commerce and Finance school announced that a special meeting for all prospective law school entrants will be held this Thursday, 1:15 P. M. in room 101 of the commerce and finance building.

Discussed at the meeting will be the nature and scope of college law courses and their significance in future law school studies. Requirements and applications for admission to these institutions will be available for the students. The respective merits of the numerous law schools will be discussed by Professor Henry.

Other senior students in the various schools on the campus who contemplate the study of law upon graduation are urged to attend.

ARC RECTIFIER PRESENTED

A Mercury-arc Rectifier with a capacity of 30 amperes at 110 volts direct current was presented to the Chemistry Department by the Malvern Preparatory School.

This instrument, valued at 400 dollars ,is used in changing alternating current to direct current, and it is to be used for this purpose in the Physical Chemistry course.

Rev. William G. Cullem, O. S. A., and Rev. Michael Hopkins, O. S. A., of the faculty of the prep school, were responsible for the gift of the equipment.

HISTORIANS DISCUSS WORLD CONDITIONS

Sudeten Crisis and Albanian Invasion Considered From Military, Political Angles

Similarities between the present situation in Europe and conditions as they were prior to the outbreak of the World War were discussed at the History Seminar, Thursday afternoon.

The various crises which have occurred such as the annexation of the Sudeten land by Germany and the overthrow of Albanian independence by Italy as well as the problems arising over Ethiopia, Prague, Meinel and Czechoslovakia were discussed in the light of their political and military complications.

Some of the factors which contribute in bringing about a crisis of this sort are the disemination of propaganda, alliances and excessive armament were considered as being particularly evident in the present day situation.

Comments were exchanged on the numerous alliances which exist or have existed between the various European countries.

At the meeting next week a paper on the proposed Ludlow Referendum will be prepared and discussed by John Fullam.

Information, please...

This message is addressed to

SENIORS and JUNIORS

who have engaged in two or more student activities during the year.

WHAT does the business world hold in prospect for the college graduate today? Are the opportunities greater for those who have led an active life in their undergraduate days? If a man envisions a certain future for himself, can he, by applying himself, do anything about it?

These questions, and many more just as important to your future, will be answered in a series of informal meetings arranged by the Home Office Agency of The Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company.

These meetings will provide an unusual opportunity for you to learn about modern life insurance underwriting, to discuss its prospects, its compensation, and your possible aptitude for it.

The first meeting will be held in the Reception Room of Mendel Hall on Thursday, April 20th, at 1 P. M. Any preliminary inquiries should be addressed to

The Collegiate Personnel Bureau
M. A. Brown, Director

The Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company
HOME OFFICE AGENCY
SIXTH AND WALNUT STREETS • PHILADELPHIA, PA.

MARQUETTE UNIVERSITY

DENTISTRY as a Career

Dentistry offers an opportunity in the field of health service for men of ability and determination. Advanced standards have cut down dental school attendance by 44% in recent years.

The Marquette University Dental School is one of the 17 dental schools of the United States whose diplomas are recognized in all of the states.

The close relationship of the Dental and Medical Schools at Marquette University is an advantage to students.

Entrance requirements: Two years in a recognized College of Liberal Arts with satisfactory credits in biology, chemistry, and physics.

For complete information concerning opportunities in dentistry, write to the Secretary, Marquette University Dental School, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

MARQUETTE UNIVERSITY
Milwaukee

VILLANOVAN SPORTS

SUCCESSFUL CAGERS FETED AT BANQUET TENDERED BY GRADS

Eleven Players and Senior Manager Receive Gold Basketballs and Medals

JOURDET PRAISES MONTY

Eleven members of the Blue and White basketball team, winners of 20 out of 25 games during the past season, received awards at a dinner tendered by the alumni Thursday night, April 13, at the Fortside Inn, Fort Washington.

Gets Medals

Gold basketballs and medals were presented to Jim Montgomery, Lou Dubino, Art Vigilante, and John Krutulis — all seniors — George (Duke) Duzminski, Mike Lazorchak, Lloyd Rice, and Bill Sinnott — juniors — and Paul Nugent, "Chuck" Yund, and Ernie Robinson — of the sophomore class — and senior John Costello, manager.

Coach Al Severance lauded the players for their fine spirit and said that although the four graduating members of the squad would deprive next year's team of some height, he expected another winning quintet in 1939-40. This season's club carried Villanova to the greatest basketball heights it has ever achieved. After a very successful season they were selected to represent the Middle Atlantic district in the NCAA tournament. They went to the semi-finals in this national tournament.

Next Year

With regard to next season Severance said, "We hope to play some of the outstanding teams of the Middle West and most of those in the East."

Other speakers included Rev. B. M. Albers, O. S. A., Rev. H. A. Caffrey, O. S. A., and Rev. J. M. Dougherty, O S. A., all members of the Board of Athletic Control; George "Doc" Jacobs, baseball coach; "Jumbo" Jim Elliott, track mentor; "Clipper"" Smith, football tutor and athletic director; and Leo Jourdet, Penn basketball coach, who hailed Jim Montgomery as the "finest player I saw on the Palestra floor this year." The toastmaster was Bill "Reds" Bradley.

GRIDMEN RESUME SPRING PRACTICE

Movies To Be Taken of Backs in "Swing Shift"

Resuming practice after a lapse of seven days the football squad wasted no time in returnnig to the swing of things. "Clipper" conducted a short scrimmage the first two days out and then followed with a light session on Saturday. Practice will continue until the end of April.

Enough work has been furnished so far as to enable the coaches to appraise the freshmen and obtain a universal acquaintance with the whole squad.

Movies of Shift

A local photographer is planning to take motion pictures of the backfield demonstrating the Notre Dame shift as employed by "Clipper" Smith. For this purpose Coach Smith will employ a backfield consisting of Ben Morkum at quarter, Bill Romanowski and Jerry Nerl at the halves and John Gogolinski at fullback.

The pictures will be added to the growing library of motion pictures and used for future reference. It should prove very beneficial to incoming freshmen who find it a little difficult to master the Notre Dame shift as done in swing time.

Boston Star Safe at First

Frank Burns, B. C., left fielder, is safe at first during the seventh inning of Saturday's game, which Villanova won, 6-4. Bob Bond is shown taking Bob Pash's throw. In his previous attempt Burns hit a home run off the offerings of Cliff Choquette.

LINKSMEN PREPARE FOR ST. JOE MATCH

Open 1939 Season at Cedar Brook Country Club on Friday

Villanova's Golf Team will open its 1939 season on Friday, April 21, against St. Joseph's at the Cedar Brook Country Club. St. Joseph's has lost the services of three golfers by graduation but is well fortified with alternates who will step into their places.

Returning for St. Joseph's will be Bill Mills, who will lead the team and occupy the number one position. Mills has been playing consistently good golf for the past few years and should be a worthy opponent for Jim Dwyer. Aiding Mills will be Jack Burns, captain of last year's aggregation, and Ed Filmyer, both known to the Villanova golfers as good sports and good golfers. Burns will aid Mills by playing the number two position while Filmyer will fill in at the number three spot.

Lost to Boston

Meeting Boston College on the Cedar Brook Course on Friday, the St. Joseph's outfit went down to defeat by the score of 5½ to ½, having played only a four man team. This does not indicate that the Villanova team should have a setup. The previous meetings between Villanova and St. Joseph's have been nip and tuck all the way.

Villanova will look forward to five veterans in Captain Jim Dwyer, Lou Dubino, Cliff Randolph, Dave Morse, and Charles Roche. Dwyer and Dubino have been members of the golf team since entering Villanova and should end their golf careers with worthy records.

Filling in at the number six spot will be Joe Pagano, who is coming back to play golf after an absence of one year because of scholastic interference. Since alternates are needed in all sports, alternates of the golf team will be chosen in the very near future from the intramural golf tournament.

Schedule

A healthy schedule has been com-

LINKSMEN Continued on Page Seven

Sportorial

By Phil Dunn

Sports Editor

AS ARDENT a baseball fan as you will find on the campus, this writer nevertheless does not particularly care to sit through unnecessary delay in weather more suited to football in order to watch the national pastime being played. Therefore we ask that the argument submitted in a column in the Daily Pennsylvanian be given due thought and consideration.

PHIL DUNN

The writer of the pillar asked for the elimination of the customary whipping of the ball around the infield after each out—and in between times — and also the lessening of the number of warm-up throws allowed a pitcher when he takes his place in the box at the beginning of each inning.

There is no doubt that the suggestion, if carried out, would speed up the game. The question is, "Can these things be done?" Our answer is that it can, but it will take a long time. Rule changes can very easily take care of limiting the number of pitchers' throws to three (as the Penn columnist suggested) and they could also make the "pepper" engaged in by the infielders illegal. But what punishment could be meted out for the infraction of the new rules?

This question is one for much discussion pro and con. We don't think that rule changes would prove effective. In our opinion, only cooperation by the individual ball clubs with agreements as to the elimination of any unnecessary antics will solve the problem—if it is to be solved. Such action is a long way off and will be a long time getting here.

VILLANOVA VS. PENN AT FRANKLIN FIELD

Novel Meet Held Today; All Field Events To be Contested

After several weeks of intensive training on the cinders, the Wildcat track team will open its outdoor season in a practice meet against the University of Pennsylvania squad at Franklin Field this afternoon at three o'clock.

Although the running events, with the exception of the 100-yard dash, are not of the usual outdoor distance, they are of such a nature as to act as an intensive competitive workout for the sprinters and the middle-distance men.

The track events will consist of "100," "300," "600," and the 1000-yard runs.

Maher vs. Bradley

Johnny Maher, entered in the 100- and 300-yards, will meet an old rival in Ray Bradley of Penn who is also a sophomore. Since Johnny's first running days at West Catholic High School, he has constantly been dogged by Bradley, who ran with the colors of St. Joseph's Prep. Bradley, incidentally, copped both dashes against Dartmouth last week in the annual Penn-Dartmouth meet. In both races he turned in excellent times. Whitey Urbelis will team up with Johnny in these events, while Bill Guiteras will accompany both of them in the 300.

In the "600," Coach "Jumbo" Elliott plans to run Barney Bellew and Bill Guiteras. Penn's strongest man in this event will be Warren Wittens. Both Bellew and Guiteras have gotten themselves in good shape and plan to really "turn the heat on."

With the completion of the "600," Barney will toe the mark or the "1000." Also running for Villanova in this event will be Pete Yankauskus, former Kearney High and St. Benedict Prep athlete. Just last Summer, Pete traveled to Europe with the American Lithuanian team and annexed the

VILLANOVA Continued on Page Seven

BLUE BASEBALLERS LICK PENN AND B. C. IN FIRST CONTESTS

Joe Desmond Credited With Both Wins: Choquette and O'Leary Work

THREE GAMES CANCELLED

Thanks to a slim senior named Joe Desmond, Villanova's baseball Wildcats still remain undefeated after two trips to the post. Historic old Franklin Field was the scene of the 'Cats initial victory of the season when Doc Jacobs' nine shivered through an icy wind to trample the University of Pennsylvania, 8-2. Villanova's field provided the setting for the second win, when Boston College dropped a 6-4 decision.

Three other scheduled games were halted by the weather man as rain washed out the tussles with Massachusetts, Ursinus, and Providence.

Joe Desmond hurled seven and two-thirds innings against Penn's club and four sessions against Boston College, gaining credit for both wins. Soph Connie O'Leary finished the Penn game after Desmond had held the Quakers at bay through most of the game. Cliff Choquette started the Boston battle, but retired in the fifth inning.

Wannamacher Stars

Lou Wannamacher, brilliant centerfield, leads the hitters with four hits out of eight trips to the plate in the two games, although Art Vigilante led the parade against Boston's Eagles with two bingles in four trips.

Right from the opening pitch it was evident that the Wildcats were going to find Penn "easy pickin's." Extra-base hits were as frequent as wars in Europe as Lou Wannamacher, Bob Pash, Nick Basca, "Cowboy" Crawley, and even Pitcher Joe Desmond pounded the hide for long hits. Desmond slapped a triple in the second session that would have done credit to any hitter in the land. It looked for a moment as if Joe had Villanova's first home run under his belt, but a nice throw by the Penn fielder halted him at third.

Frequent Hits

In all 12 hits were registered by

BLUE Continued on Page Six

VILLANOVA QUITS DOUBLE HEADERS

Wildcat Quintet Withdraws From Convention Hall Twin Bills

With the banquet to the fine basketball team at the Fortside Inn last Thursday evening the 1938-39 season closed. Already plans for the campaign of 1939-40 are being formulated—schedule making with teams which will test the mettle of the Wildcats going on apace. One of the steps in the building of the future schedule was the withdrawal by Villanova from double-header basketball.

The Rev. B. M. Albers, O. S. A., moderator of athletics, announced recently that the college athletic board had given the matter of double-header basketball careful consideration before deciding to forego continued participation.

Fr. Albers stated that the board took its action after due deliberation and had decided that future schedules would be more conducive to the maintenance of Villanova's athletic policy

Castles Pitches Fedigan To League Lead

MENDEL TOPPED 7-1; AUSTIN TRIPS GREEN ON LATE SURGE 9-6

Pantaleo and MacGuire Star for Blueshirts; LoBalbo and Macek Gigolo Hitters

MALONE STRIKES OUT 16

Led by Carl Pantaleo who pitched for his team, and also contributed two singles, Austin defeated Alumni Hall, 9-6, and thereby moved into a tie for second place with Mendel Hall on Sunday morning.

Alumni got off to a two-run lead in the first inning, but failed to hold this lead as Austin in their half of the second scored four times. Still undaunted the greenhorns came back with three in the same inning to take the lead away from the Austin nine and then managed to hold it until the last inning when the fireworks really started wth Austin pushing across four runs on three walks and two hits to clinch the game.

Malone Shines

For the winners Pantaleo and Mc Guire were the hitting stars with two hits each, while for Alumni Alumni, Lasky and Koch each got two bingles But the pitching of Joe Malone, the freshman twirler who struck out 16 men, was easily the outstanding performance of the day

Despite the 7-1 score Fedigan Hall had to really put on the pressure in order to defeat a hard-fighting Mendel team, mainly through the fine pitching of Frank Castles, Fedigan ace who in striking out 11 batters and yielding only five hits posted his 10th consecutive victory in intramural competition

Fedigan Wins

Scoring two runs in the first inning on Steller's single and Lo Balbo's triple to deep left, Fedigan took an early lead of 2-0, Mendel showed some sign of life by scoring a run in the fifth on Crumb's walk and Hartford's pinch-hit double to right center, but this must have put the necessary spark in the upper classmen for they came to life and pushed across five runs to sew up the game for a firm grip on first place

Lo Balbo's triple and Macek's two singles were the chief offensive trusts by Fedigan, while Berkley, Cerrulo, and Hartford each banged out a two-bagger for Mendel's none too strong batting prowess at the plate.

Austin

	ab	h	r
Brown, 3b	1	0	0
Forkin, 2b	2	0	1
Cleary, 1b	3	1	1
Robinson, ss	3	0	1
McGuire, cf	3	2	3
Persiano, lf	3	0	0
Beasley, c	3	0	1
Howard, rf	3	0	1
Pantaleo, p	3	2	1
Alco, lf	1	0	0
Burton, rf	1	0	0
Totals	26	5	9

Alumni

	ab	h	r
Lasky, lf	4	2	2
Pannetti, 3b	3	1	1
Malone, p	3	1	0
Nicora, 1b	4	1	1
Matthews, rf	2	0	0
Koch, c	3	2	1
Ried, 2b	4	0	0
Holland, ss	3	1	0
Shea, cf	3	1	1
Szlucka, (x)	1	0	0
Gregolonis, (x)	1	0	0
Wheeler, 2b	1	0	0
Totals	30	9	6

(x) Pinch hitters.

Score by innings:

Austin	0	4	1	0	0	0	4	—	9	5
Alumni	2	3	1	0	0	0	0	—	6	9

Fedigan

	ab	h	r
Steller, cf	2	2	1
LaBalbo, 2b	4	2	1
Flood, ss	4	0	0
Macek, lf	3	1	2
Conners, 1b	2	1	0
Sandor, rf	3	0	0
Murphy, c	3	0	0
Castles, p	1	1	0
Rocise, rf	0	0	0
Carroll, lf	1	0	0
Fishetti, rf	0	0	0
Totals	19	7	4

Mendel

	ab	h	r
Clark, 1f	2	0	0
Daly, ss	4	0	1
Mariani, cf	3	0	0
Fitzgerald, c	3	0	1
Berkley, 1b	3	0	1
DiPetrillo, 3b	2	0	0
Crumb, 2b	2	1	0
Aisenbury, p	1	0	0
Cerullo, rf, p	1	0	0
Fox, rf	2	0	0
Hartford, lf, 1b	2	0	1
Totals	27	1	5

Score by innings:

Mendel	0	0	0	0	1	0	0	—	1	5
Fedigan	2	0	0	0	5	0	0	—	7	7

Tenth Straight

FRANK CASTLES,

Blue

Continued From Page Five

the 'Cat nine. Little Mike Lazrochak and Bob Bond were the only Wildcats to go hungry at the plate and it is suspected that they were two cold to care!

Penn managed to eke out three anemic singles, one lusty bingle, and a sweet double, the latter by the much publicized Frank Reagan. The Quaker's two runs came in the eighth innings when Desmond began to tire and Morris of Penn drove out a single to score Reagan and Ogden who had walked.

Five of Villanova's eight runs came in the first four innings, before the terrific cold swept Franklin Field.

Boston College proved to be much tougher than Penn, jumping to a 4-1 lead before the Jacobs clan went to work in the sixth inning. Boston used three pitchers, all of them effective enough to hold the powerful Villanova sluggers to a single extra-base wallop, a double by Wannamacher.

Six Hits

The Eagles nipped Choquette for eight hits and Desmond for two, but when the chips were down the 'Cat tossers tightened and refused to yield. Villanova was held to six hits, two by Vigilante and one each by Basca, Lazorchak, and Wannamacher.

Fielding errors proved costly to Boston in the sixth and seventh innings when the 'Cats pulled ahead. On the other hand, Villanova's fielding was close to perfect as Lazorchak, Pash, Crawley, and Bond sparkled as an infield combination.

CITY COLLEGE NINE ON OPPONENT LIST FOR COMING WEEK

Gettysburg and Lehigh Also to be Met; All Games Played Away

The game with City College at New York on Saturday heads the list of baseball contests to be engaged in during the ensuing week. Although trouble of the worst kind is expected in the Gettysburg and Lehigh games, the CCNY aggregation, led by Co-captains Milt Weintraub and Al Soupios, appears to be the strongest of the three.

Both Seniors

Weintraub, a senior who plays second base, has been the leading City College offensive spark in all their games to date, while Soupios, (of basketball fame) also a senior and who covers first, is one of New York's best. These men are aided by such standouts as pitchers Pat Brescia, Paul Graziano, and Aaron Soltes and Outfielders Balkan, Friedman, and Mayhew.

Lehigh, who beat Gettysburg 7-4 on Saturday, will be met today at Bethlehem. Outfielders Kromer and Nicholas, Catcher Kipe, and Second Baseman Griffith are the sparkplugs of this outfit.

O'Neill is G-Burg Threat

The Gettysburg contingent—also to be played away, the date being April 20—is led by "Porky" O'Neill, giant catcher and one of the best college big league prospects. O'Neill has held down the G-Burg backstop assignment for the past three years and was the best ball handler of their crack basketball outfit.

Others to watch on the Gettysburg nine are "Sonny" Bratton, who roams the gardens in left field and is a hard hitter, and Gerst Buyer, flashy shortstop defensively but not so good with the stick.

A R C LIFE SAVING TAUGHT IN POOL

A course in senior Red Cross Life Saving will begin at 3 P. M. Tuesday, April 18th, at Villanova. The course will be conducted by Ruggerio Flocco, swimming coach, under the supervision of Mr. E. Jackson, southwestern Pennsylvania Director of First Aid and Life Saving.

Students interesetd in taking the course, which prepares the successful student for life-guard work, will report every Tuesday and Thursday for about three weeks in order to fill the ten-hour instruction requirement. Registration fee is 75 cents. Interested parties should see Mr. Flocco.

In the Sportlight

Out in center field where the grass grows high amidst a vast acreage of territory, and the sun and wind are very prevalent during the springtime there roams the guardian of this garden plot, Lou "Hustler" Wannamacher.

This "iron man" of Villanova who has not missed an inning since his sophomore year, and who occupies the fourth spot on the Blue and White team, hails from the rural section of the largest city in the world; the place where the "Bronx cheer" originated. The Bronx, where ability runs high for baseball and her proteges, was the site of Lou's birthplace and the time was April 23, 1917.

Attended Tolentine

Lou attended Tolentine High in the Bronx and it was there that he secured the permanent position of roaming the outfield. At the center field position he was unanimously chosen for All-Bronx. His hitting was a bit dynamic and his fielding was that of a class AA league so there was no doubt in the minds of his selectors. Basketball was the other attraction for Lou so he promptly landed a berth on the varsity squad.

The feeling of satisfaction for furtherance in athletics and education entered upon Lou's thoughts so with the winning of a scholarship to the Blue and White institution, he attained those heights.

Now a senior in the Commerce and Finance School, and majoring in Finance the lad from way uptown takes delight in his favorite subject, Insurance, which might be his aim for the future. Lou still likes the idea of playing professional baseball with some top-notch club and with his graduation in June he has the choice of being business-minded or continuing his athletic career.

Plays in Northern League

For the past few summers Lou, along with his roommate, Joe Desmond, and "Cowboy" Crawley, has been playing ball in the Northern League. The famed St. Louis Cardinals have had him with them for preliminary practices before the big games and Lou wouldn't mind the idea of playing consistently with them.

The New York Yankees have their "iron man" in Lou Gehrig and so also the Blue and White club has an "iron man" in Lou Wannamacher who has not missed an inning of play since breaking into the line-up in his sophomore year. Fans who have been following "Doc" Jacob's team for the past few years have always noted the name of the center fielder in the well-known clean-up position. Lou held true to the position awarded him two years ago when he knocked out two home runs against Penn in Villanova's triumph.

According to Lou's opinion and the majority of the baseball team, Fordham will be the toughest opponent of the current season. For with Hank Borowy in the box for the Maroons they are supposed to be impenetrable.

Follows Horses

Lou has a mania for horse racing which is a sideline interest, the other which most young men have a fancy in does not appeal to Mr. Wannamacher.

Bryn Mawr Confectionery

Direction Warner Bros.
Tower Theatre
69th & Market Sts.
Motion Pictures Are Your Best Entertainment
Tues., Wed., Thurs., Apr. 18, 19, 20
SHIRLEY TEMPLE
— in —
"Little Princess"
with
Richard Greene
In Glorious Technicolor
Fri., Sat., Sun., Mon., April 21, 22, 23, 24
W. C. FIELDS
EDGAR BERGEN
CHARLIE MacCARTHY
— in —
the Comedy Hit
"You Can't Cheat An Honest Man"

SEVILLE THEATRE
Tuesday, April 18
ELEANOR POWELL
BURNS and ALLEN
"HONOLULU"
Wednesday, April 19
"THREE MUSKETEERS"
DON AMECHE
THE RITZ BROS.
Thurs., Fri. & Sat., Apr. 20-21-22
"GUNGA DIN"
VICTOR McLAGLEN
CARY GRANT
JOAN FONTAINE
Sun., Mon. & Tues., Apr. 23-24-25
LESLIE HOWARD
WENDY HILLER
"PYGMALION"

PACING THE DANCE PARADE!
SWING AND SWAY WITH SAMMY KAYE
AND HIS ORCHESTRA
in the
COMMODORE PALM ROOM
Dinner from $2. No cover charge at Dinner. Cover charge after 10 P. M., 75c weekdays; $1.50 Saturdays.
NEW YORK'S BEST LOCATED HOTEL
Frank J. Crohan, Pres.
RIGHT AT GRAND CENTRAL TERMINAL
SPECIAL TEA DANCE Every Saturday 5 to 6 P. M. No cover charge
"New York's Best Located Hotel"

— RIDE FREE ON P. & W. RAILWAY MOVIE TICKET —
GRAND Theatre
NORRISTOWN
Today & Wed., April 18, 19
James Dunn - Rochelle Hudson
"PRIDE OF THE NAVY"
Thurs., Fri., Sat., Apr. 20, 21, 22
JOHN GARFIELD in
"BLACKWELL'S ISLAND"
NORRIS Theatre
NORRISTOWN
Today & Wed., April 18, 19
Priscilla Lane & Jeffrey Lynn
'YES, MY DARLING DAUGHTER'
Thurs., Fri., Sat., Apr. 20, 21, 22
Claire Trevor - John Wayne
"STAGECOACH"
GARRICK Theatre
Wed., Thurs., April 19, 20
JOHN CARROLL
"I AM A CRIMINAL"
Buck Jones "Law of the Texas"
Fri., Sat., April 21, 22
ELEANOR POWELL
BURNS AND ALLEN
"HONOLULU"

Ardmore Theatre
Notice to Students
Did you know that your matriculation card will get you a reduced rate at the Ardmore Theatre at any time.
Tuesday, April 18
"YES, MY DARLING DAUGHTER"
PRISCILLA LANE
Wed. & Thurs., April 19-20
"FAST AND LOOSE"
ROBERT MONTGOMERY
ROSALIND RUSSELL
Fri. & Sat., April 21-22
"HUCKLEBERRY FINN"
MICKEY ROONEY
Sun. & Mon., April 23-24
"STAGECOACH"
CLAIRE TREVOR
JOHN WAYNE

G. W. Cadwallader
Paints, Glass and Painters' Supplies
BUILDERS' SPECIALTIES
6101 MARKET ST.
Philadelphia
Phone SHErwood 1423

Baseball Sidelights

By BOB BOND

IT finally happened — After several years Villanova won its opening baseball game, beating the University of Pennsylvania. Before Wednesday's tussle, it was Princeton who always managed to spoil the season for the locals by taking the inaugural.

• • •

Providence College came here Friday with one of the best collegiate nines in the east. The Friars claimed the finest college mound corps in Steve Fallon, Joe Kwasniewski, and Walter Morris. All three twirled in the Northern League last summer. Scouts, particularly the ivory hunters of the St. Louis Cardinals have waved contracts in front of Morris, but he has declined until he receives his sheepskin. Kwasniewski is the property of the Boston Red Sox as is Elton Deuse the big catcher of the Friars. Boston College presented another future major leaguer in Sig Somya, elongated right hander. Just to prove the Friars are baseball minded we offer Father Quinn, moderator of athletics at Providence, whose dad is none other than Bob Quinn, president of the Boston Bees of the National League.

• • •

Getting back to the Franklin Field game it was played on a windswept diamond. Penn had nothing to offer the few spectators who braved the elements to see the game. Frank Reagan, the Quaker's all-around athlete, really hit a couple, both of the extra base variety. Reagan now sports a batting avc age of .555 in five games. He should hit the ball in the Ivy League.

• • •

Walter Masterson, the sensational rookie in the Washington Senators camp, lost a one-run game to the Villanova Frosh team two years ago, when he was doing mound duty for North Catholic High. He may be just a pitcher or only another Feller. (Ouch!)

• • •

Just in case you did not know: Mike Garbark, catcher de-lux last season for the locals is now receiving them in the Sally League way down in Georgia, with Augusta . . . Jimmy Duffy renowned semi-pro pitcher and formerly of the Athletics has been working out with the Wildcats on the local baseball pasture. Duffy has been pitching seven ball games a week for the last seven or eight years and has won more than three-fourths of them. He has been a consistent winner against the colored big leaguers (National Colored League. And don't let any one tell you that some of those colored boys can't play baseball . . . Ray Stoviak, "150" football coach who played with the Phillies after he graduated last June, has given up baseball for coaching.

• • •

While you were enjoying your repast of Easter eggs the local lads spent their vacation as follows: Wannemacher studying the racing forms—Crawley on the telephone—Choquette arguing with Donohue—Murphy and Naimo trying to beat Lazorchak and yours truly in pinochle—Balmore writhing to Mary — Basca and Nichols snoring — O'Leary digesting Sport Story Magazine—Vigilante eating—Pash and Cuskey kibitzing.

• • •

Food for thought: We believe Brooklyn has been playing in the wrong league the way those Daffiness boys have been shellacking the New York Yankees, these last seven days.

Villanova

Continued From Page Five

800-meter title in the Lithuanian Olympics.

Usual Field Events

All the field events will take place in their usual manner.

In the shotput, the Wildcats are represented by Murphy and Buzzalino. Elliott is counting also on Tom McMahon to come out after Spring football practice is over.

The pole vault will be taken care of by veterans Tom Haynes and Brad McManus. Both these boys have been quick in getting into shape and have been scaling the heights with ease.

Tim Waad and Fred Waters are Elliott's choices for the discus. Again, football practice keeps away the valuable Len Kolenda and Frank Bukofski. Kolenda shows a natural ability for hurling the plate and promises big things.

Sprinter Johnny Maher, together with Tim Waad and Art Murphy, will do the broad-jumping for the Wildcats.

WEATHERMAN WINS OVER TENNIS MATCH

Meet With Manhattan Cancelled; Netters Oppose St. Joseph's Tomorrow

Saturday's bad weather put the Indian sign on the opening of the tennis season. Manhattan College's team was to play here then, but—weather permitting — tomorrow's match with St. Joseph's should prove a fitting opener. No information as to the make-up of the St. Joseph's team has been received. The rivalry between the schools, however, indicates that the match will be a closely contested one.

Saul Wallach will select his team from the following: Dennis Dunne, Fred Rappleyea, Jack Leary, Beatty Schermerhorn, Burt Wellenbach, Ed Banrigan, Art Sommers, "Tex" Connors, Bob Keeler and himself.

Brooklyn College will be met on Monday, April 24. Both these matches will be played on the home courts with opening games to start at 2:30.

HANDSOME JOHN

Johnny Wysocki, All-American end on the past two Villanova grid teams, has submitted to a surgical operation to remove a breathing obstruction in his nose. The operation will also improve "Wy's" profile. Perhaps the "Socker" will fill the bill for one of Cecil B. Demille's handsome grid heroes in a future Hollywood hokum act!

Linksmen

Continued From Page Five

plied by Manager Lou Dubino and will include the following:

April—

21—St Joseph's .....Away
26—F. & M. .....Home
28—Rider College .....Home
29—St. John's of Brooklyn Home

May—

3—St. Joseph's .....Home
10—Hampden-Sydney (pend) Home
12—Rider College .....Away
18—Fordham .....Home
19—St. John's of Brooklyn (Pending) Away

Temple has been contacted and in the very near future two matches will be arranged.

HERE and THERE

By HARRY MAZZEI

WITH Junior Week now less than a fortnight away, we decided to take a look at the sports calendar and see what tempting athletic morsels were to be served to the enthusiastic throngs certain to be in attendance during the festive six days. Alas and alack! for we soon found out that we were in the same predicament as was Mother Hubbard when she went to the proverbial cupboard.

Harry Mazzei

With a loud "yoicka" interspersed among other sordid and sultry expressions occasioned by our discovery, we did manage to discover that the utter dearth of athletic endeavor during Villanova's leading social week was saved by virtue of one lone tennis contest—the St. John's match on the Saturday after the Junior Prom.

During this week, the baseball team makes one appearance and that on a foreign diamond. The track team may have a meet, but said meet will also be on a distant cinderpath, so the silksters will be running away from home both figuratively and literally. Spring football most likely will be a thing of the past at this point. Anyhow, the "men in moleskins" should not be expected to perform for the benefit of spectators at this time of the year.

The schedule makers for the various sports of the Blue and White may have perfectly valid and legitimate reasons for failing to schedule home athletic contests during Junior Week, but they have yet to divulge them to us. Junior Week finds Villanova practically becoming a coed institution with the number of visitors on the compus almost trebling the student enrollment. This in itself insures a more than worthwhile turnout at any athletic fray that might be scheduled.

Junior Week comes only once a year and only once in four years does it take on real importance. During its brief span most of the student body have the "fair one" and possibly their families down for a visit. Naturally the Main Line students want to show these folks more than the exteriors and interiors of our ivy-colored walls. In what more interesting manner could these visitors be entertained than by watching Villanova's crack athletes in action?

After all, friends of Villanova students hear about the Wysockis, Bascas, Kelleys, Mahers, Desmonds and Wannemachers performing for the 'Cats, so there is a natural desire to see these widely-publicized performers in action. Junior Week should present this opportunity, but unfortunately it does not.

We feel that Villanova, by not holding a program of athletics during this classic week, is making a grave error, because it is losing an opportunity to create more friends and is also taking away from potential throngs of spectators the privilege of watching outstanding athletes in action.

Of course, it is too late to rectify the error at this late date, but definite action should be taken to prevent the recurrence of such a situation in the future. Most other colleges find it worthwhile to sponsor athletic events during their outstanding social weeks, so why shouldn't Villanova adopt the same custom? Yes, we would be borrowing an idea, but then shouldn't we always borrow ideas when we have the opportunity of improving ourselves?

Philip Harrison Store
Shoes & Clothing For The Family
Next Door to the Movies
BRYN MAWR, PA.

PARAMOUNT GRILLE
BRYN MAWR

Approved Penna. Private Business School
BUSINESS TRAINING
BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION AND SECRETARIAL SCIENCE for young men and women.
One, Two and Three Years Day and Evening Courses
8 Weeks Summer Session
Founded 1865
PEIRCE SCHOOL
Fine St. West of Broad Philadelphia, Pa.

Red Norvo
AND HIS ORCHESTRA
nightly in the new
GARDEN TERRACE
Philadelphia's Smartest Atmosphere
Finest food and beverages at honest prices. No cover charge. Luncheon from 75¢. Dinner from $1.50.

The BENJAMIN FRANKLIN
Chestnut at Ninth
SAMUEL LARKIN, Managing Director

Compliments of
BRYN MAWR TRUST CO.

Burke Dairies
Milk & Cream
NORRISTOWN, PA.
Phone 2736-W

COLADONATO
B. M. 1266
College Tailor Since 1925
Made to Measure Clothes
Suits and Topcoats
$24.50
CLEANING PRESSING
"THE CLOTHES WE SELL FIT WELL"
Cassocks and Capes at Reasonable Prices
See Campus Representative
ED DIMON
235 Austin

The Wayne Hotel
LANCASTER AVENUE
WAYNE, PA.
Telephone 380
Headquarters For Visitors to Villanova
Excellent Dinners at $1
SPECIAL STUDENT RATES
J. T. McFATE, Mgr.

Prescriptions
Drugs & Toilet Articles
LA DOW'S PHARMACY
LANCASTER PIKE and SPRING MILL ROAD
VILLANOVA, PA.

Connelly's
SAY IT WITH FLOWERS
MAIN LINE FLORIST
1226 Lancaster Pike
ROSEMONT
Bryn Mawr 252

FOR EXPERT CONVENIENT ATTENTION
SERVICE IS OUR FIRST THOUGHT
PATRONIZE
The CAMPUS Barber Shop
FIRST CLASS WORK
HAIRCUT 40c
Popular Prices

JEANNETT'S
BRYN MAWR FLOWER SHOP
Floral Ideas For All Occasions
Specializing in Corsages
Member Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association
823 Lancaster Ave.
Bryn Mawr 570

Men's Clothes Made-to-Measure
COLEBY Tailoring Inc.
57th & Market Sts.
Suits & Topcoats
$24.75
See Campus Representative
TIM WAAD
210 Fedigan

Castles Pitches Fedigan To League Lead

MENDEL TOPPED 7-1; AUSTIN TRIPS GREEN ON LATE SURGE 9-6

Pantaleo and MacGuire Star for Blueshirts; LoBalbo and Macek Gigolo Hitters

MALONE STRIKES OUT 16

Led by Carl Pantaleo who pitched for his team, and also contributed two singles, Austin defeated Alumni Hall, 9-6, and thereby moved into a tie for second place with Mendel Hall on Sunday morning.

Alumni got off to a two-run lead in the first inning, but failed to hold this lead as Austin in their half of the second scored four times. Still undaunted the greenhorns came back with three in the same inning to take the lead away from the Austin nine and then managed to hold it until the last inning when the fireworks really started wth Austin pushing across four runs on three walks and two hits to clinch the game.

Malone Shines

For the winners Pantaleo and Mc Guire were the hitting stars with two hits each, while for Alumni Alumni, Lasky and Koch each got two bingles. But the pitching of Joe Malone, the freshman twirler who struck out 16 men, was easily the outstanding performance of the day.

Despite the 7-1 score Fedigan Hall had to really put on the pressure in order to defeat a hard-fighting Mendel team, mainly through the fine pitching of Frank Castles, Fedigan ace who in striking out 11 batters and yielding only five hits posted his 10th consecutive victory in intramural competition

Fedigan Wins

Scoring two runs in the first inning on Steller's single and Lo Balbo's triple to deep left, Fedigan took an early lead of 2-0. Mendel showed some sign of life by scoring a run in the fifth on Crumb's walk and Hartford's pinch-hit double to right center, but this must have put the necessary spark in the upper classmen for they came to life and pushed across five runs to win the game for a fifth straight first place.

Lo Balbo's triple and Steller's two hits were the chief offensive [illegible] while Bertolino and Hartford each [illegible] for Mendel. Malone [illegible] pitched [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

[

LA SALLE SPONSORS CATHOLIC COLLEGE STUDENT CONCLAVE

Refugee Problem to be Discussed; Local Delegates to be Participants

La Salle College is the meeting place of the third joint discussion of the National Federation of Catholic College Students on April 23. All colleges in the group in the Philadelphia area will participate. The refugee problem will be examined along with some unique phases of interest. Canada, Mexico and other ports of entrance into this country will be discussed.

Four years ago the American Student Union was founded as an offspring of the Young Communist League. It spread rapidly through the country establishing branches in many of the non-Catholic colleges.

A little over a year ago the Catholic colleges realized this and decided to increase their influence for good by unifying their activities. So, with the encouragement of Pax Romana, the colleges in the New York area determined to do on a national basis what Pax Romana had done on an international basis. They set out to tie together the Catholic students activities which had been going on, each in its own limited and isolated sphere. December 12, 1937, the National Federation of Catholic College Students came into being.

Their policy of co-operating with other Catholic Action organization has led to their association with the American Pax Romana Committee, the Alumni Race Relations Council and the Catholic Interracial Council.

CATHOLIC PRESS HOLDS MEETING

Two Villanova students and two members of the Villanova alumni will be delegates at tonight's meeting of the recently organized Press Relations Committee, John J. Harrington and William E. Schubert will represent the students while J. N. Corcoran, Esq., is to be one of the alumni delegates.

The full title of this committee is "The United Catholic Organizations Press Relations Committee." The object of the organization is to discern anti-Catholic bias and all other untruths, intentional or not, as it appears in periodicals and magazines.

The committee had its origin in Philadelphia when the Knights of Columbus, Catholic Women's Alliance and other Catholic organizations resolved to join efforts in this worthy enterprise. Its chief concern at present is to solidify the organization through a union with similar Catholic groups in other cities in order that its protest might be weighty enough to effect a revision of the untruths.

A.S.M.E. MEMBERS GUESTS, VISITORS DURING WEEK

Members of the Villanova branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers were guests of the junior A. S. M. E. at the Engineers Club, Friday, April 14. Movies were shown, games were played and refreshments served.

Schuylkill Station of the Philadelphia Electric Company was visited by members of the society, accompanied by Mr. William J. Barber, faculty adviser of the society, Monday, April 17. Steam engines and large turbines were viewed.

The American Society of Mechanical Engineers will hold its student convention at Princeton University on April 24, 1939. All the Seniors are expected to attend.

Seniors Eligible for Fellowships At Pennsylvania, Montana, Duke

Announcements of fellowships, scholarships, and assistanceships open to seniors continue to be received at Villanova.

A scholarship in the study of state and local government is offered by the Institute of Local and State Government of the University of Pennsylvania. The holder is to major in this subject while studying for his degree of Master of Business Administration. He will have to pay only half of the tuition of $250 and, in addition, will receive a minimum fee of $25 a month while engaged in practice work in the subject.

Fellowships and graduate assistanceships are offered to students with an adequate knowledge of mineralogy, metallurgy, and their associated sciences by the School of Mines of the University of Montana. Fellowships in metallurgy, mining, and mineral dressing offer a nine-months course with recompense of $60 a month.

Fellowships in geology offer an eleven-months course with assistance of $60 a month.

Assistanceships to the Montana School of Mines are offered as follows: an assistanceship in mineral dressing for two years of nine-month periods at $675 for each period, and an assistanceship in geology for the same duration and of the same recompense with allowances for field work.

The School of Law of Duke University offers scholarships to students for the first year of $250 to cover tuition and matriculation fees. To those who hold the scholarships and display a high standard of work, a limited number of scholarships are offered for second- and third-year work.

Further information regarding these, and other, scholarships may be procured at the Registrar's office or from the editor of the VILLANOVAN.

SCIENCE PUBLICATION NEARS FINAL PRINTING

Entire Content of Mendel Bulletin Selected and Approved by Staff

Mendel Bulletin, the Science School publication, will make its appearance the last week in April.

This was revealed by Bernard J. Miller, chairman. All the articles have been selected and approved by the staff and are now in the process of being set. The proofs will soon be corrected, and the final printing is expected to take place sometime during the next two weeks.

In keeping with the new policy of the magazine, the articles will be written in popular style. A simplified form of presentation will be used enabling the student to appreciate the value of the results of research. Subject matter will not be too involved. It is hoped that many illustrations will increase the appeal to the readers.

McKimmey Voted Frosh President

Continued From Page One

president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, and the three members of the class in the Student Council.

All members of the class, including the present officers are eligible, providing they are approved by their deans, the chaplain, and the Board of Discipline. The nominations and election will be handled by members of Student Council.

FACULTY MEMBERS ASSIST EDUCATIONAL GROUP CONVENTIONS

Teachers Participate in National Societies During Easter Holidays

Rev. Edward V. Stanford, O. S. A., president of the college, and Mr. William Simpson, member of the Board of Trustees, attended the meeting of college trustees at Lafayette College, Easton, April 14.

At Misericordia College, Dallas, Pa., Rev. Charles J. McFadden, O. S. A., Ph. D., spoke on Catholic Action in the Primary and Secondary Schools at a meeting of the Sisters of Mercy on Monday, April 10.

Dr. Edward L. Haenisch, chemical engineering adviser, and Rev. John F. Hammond, O. S. A, M. A., associate professor, chemistry and chemical engineering, attended the semi-annual meeting of the American Chemical Society at Baltimore during the week of April 2.

Rev. William J. Lunney, O. S. A., M. A., was one of the speakers in a panel discussion on Joint Policy Committee at the meeting of the Catholic Association for International Peace at Washington, D. C.

The convention of the National Catholic Education Association in Washington, D. C., from April 11 to 14 was attended by Rev. John J. Vrana, O. S. A., M. A, and Rev. John J. Anderson, O. S. A., M. A. This association draws its members from all fields of Catholic education.

Rev. Daniel P. Falvey, O. S. A., A. B., instructor in library science, attended sessions of the meeting of the Catholic Library Association in Washington, D. C.

VILLANOVAN

Vol. 11—No. 21 VILLANOVA, PA., TUESDAY, APRIL 25, 1939 N. A. S. Z-660

OPEN HOUSE PLANS IN FINAL STAGES; SUCCESS PREDICTED

Complete Program For Annual Affair Released By Officials; Many Exhibits Planned

Plans for the Open House at Villanova are now in the final stage. The Open House will be held on May 1 and 2.

Posters have been sent to the Catholic high schools in Philadelphia in an effort to acquaint the graduating high school students with the facilities Villanova offers.

During both nights of the Open House there will be flood lights illuminating Mendel Hall. There will be one-way traffic on the campus during these days to facilitate transportation.

Peter Hanlon, chairman of the Open House committee, predicts great success for the chemical show which Dr. Haenisch will give for the visitors. Dr. Haenisch will put on a special chemical show at the Field House at 3:00 for Mothers' Day which will be held on the first day of Open House.

Hanlon stated that after the last Chemical show each night, the Glee Club will put on a brief recital if it is available. Hanlon has made an appeal for Junior Artsmen and C & Fmen to act as guides on the two days. The response has been so far extremely poor.

The Philadelphia Evening Bulletin is going to send an aerial wirephoto truck both evenings to take pictures of the Open House.

Feature events which will be held in room 215, amphitheatre, at Mendel Hall wil lbe the chemical show demonstrating Liquid Air at 7 and 8 P. M. on Monday and 4, 5, 7:30 and 8:30 on Tuesday, a movie showing fertilization and development in the sea urchin at 7:30 and 8:30 on Monday and 4:30, 5:30, 8 and 9 P. M. on Tuesday, and the final feature will be glass blowing from 3 to 7 P. M. on Monday, and 2 to 4 P. M. on Tuesday, and also between shows on both days.

LIBRARY RECEIVES VARIOUS ADDITIONS

File of Newspaper Clippings and Pamphlets, Artistically Bound Books Included

Recent additions to the College library have been made by the Revs. Edward V. Stanford, Joseph O'Maley, John J. Regnery, and the late Rev. Francis E. Tourscher, all of the Order of St. Augustine.

Father Stanford enriched the library with his gift of a steel case vertical file complete with a collection of newspaper clippings and pamphlets which he has been compiling since he came to Villanova.

The newspaper clippings deal chiefly with liturgical matters, Protestantism, federal education, and the Catholic and secular press. The pamphlet section involves everything from agnosticism to vocations. In this accumulation, which is more extensive than the newspaper clippings, Anglicanism, Catholic defense, charity, civic duties, peace, the Mass, and the Spanish question are the main factors considered.

This file treats of questions that are of every-day interest and which are a vital part of a Catholic education. In view of this fact, students will be afforded an opportunity to consult this file during the next school year if present plans materialize.

Fr. O'Maley has donated approximately two hundred books to the library which pertain to history in general.

Fr. Regnery recently presented the college with many artistically bound books of apologetics and philosophy by various German authors.

NEW FROSH MODERATOR

ROBERT M. SULLIVAN, O. S. A.

FR. SULLIVAN NAMED FROSH MODERATOR

Beta Gamma Adviser Assumes Charge of Class of 1942 for Four-Year Term

Rev. Robert M .Sullivan, O. S. A., A. B., M. A., has been named Moderator of the Freshman Class of 1942, according to a disclosure made during the past week by Rev. Bernard M. Albers, O. S. A., Vice-President and Dean of Men.

Serving in this capacity for four years, Father Sullivan will have the distinction of guiding the destinies of the centennial graduating class of Villanova, the first group having been graduated in 1842.

At present he is instructor in English in the Engineering School and Faculty adviser of the Belle Masque Dramatic Society and the Beta Gamma Debating Society.

Recently concluding extensive post-graduate studies, Father Sullivan was appointed to the faculty of the College last September. He was graduated from Villanova in 1930 and entered the Augustinian College in Washington, D. C. After being ordained to the priesthood, he enrolled in the Catholic University where he furthered his theological studies until he received his master's degree.

From 1933 to 1936, the University of Southern California was the scene of his post-graduate work from whence he journeyed to Oxford University in England.

SPANISH SOCIAL GIVEN BY CLUB

Moderator Decides to Make Affair For Members of Organization Only

Spanish music and a short play will be presented by members of the Spanish Club at their meeting this evening. The show is to be given for club members only.

It was originally planned that a public performance would be presented on April 23, when it is customary for all Spanish organizations to hold celebrations in honor of Miguel de Cervantes, author of Don Quixote.

Plans to give a show to the public were cancelled because the members did not have enough time to prepare and because the annual school play, "Room Service," is scheduled for the same day.

Merit awards, consisting of a medal and diploma, will be given to those members of the club who have distinguished themselves in the activities of the organization during the year. These medals are donated by the headquarters of all Spanish clubs in the country.

MOVIES OF GLASS MAKING

A forty-five minute moving picture dealing with the "Manufacture of Laboratory Glassware and Glass Blowing," will be presented before the Villanova Society of Chemical Engineers and to all interested parties on April 24.

KEATING SELECTED SOPHOMORE PREXY; DEASY VICE-PRES.

Elections Show Clarken, Appel, Randolph, Zealor Victors; Forkin, Van Hook Tie

Daniel Keating, sophomore in the engineering school, received the largest number of votes in the recent elections and thereby won the presidency of the Class of 1941. William Deasy, also of the engineering school, was elected vice president of the class.

The remainder of the successful ticket follows: Joseph Clarken, of the science school, secretary; William Appel, engineer, Clifford Randolph, and Murray Zealor, both of the business school, class Student Council representatives. A tie resulted in the treasurer elections between James Forkin, of the schoolof arts, and John Van Hook, engineer, thereby necessitating another election for this post.

The other candidates nominated for the presidency at the class meeting on Wednesday, April 19, were: Edward A. Eichman, Frank Lombardo, and Ernest Robinson, all from the commerce and finance school, and James Collins, school of arts.

For the office of secretary there were four candidates nominated, each from a different school. Those unsuccessful were: George Flannery, from the business school; Robert Schisler, educational department, and Charles Schafer, of the engineering school.

James Forkin, arts; David Morse, science school, and John Van Hook, of the engineering school, ran for the position of class treasurer.

For the position on the Student Council there were 12 candidates.

Continued on Page Four

Mathematics Club Inspects Analyzer At Moore School

Trip Arranged by Emil Amelotti, Mathematics Instructor, For Engineers

An instrument which is becoming indispensible in the complex calculations of research was inspected by the Mathematics Club in a visit to the Moore School of Electrical . Engineering of the University of Pennsylvania last night.

The Differential Analyzer which the freshman club saw in operation solves in 15 minutes problems which require weeks of calculation by experts. Such problems are common in present day research, physics and engineering, and the analyzer was developed for problems whose complexity rather than profundity held up progress.

There are only three machines of this type in this country, but the idea behind them goes back more than two hundred years to Leibnitz, who first suggested util-

Continued on Page Four

PHI KAPPA PI TO ELECT; INAUGURATIONS AT DINNER

Committee Still Undecided on Orchestra for Annual Dinner-Dance

Nominations for the election of officers of the Phi Kappa Pi were held last Friday. Elections are to take place May 3, from 12:30 to 1:30 in the amphitheatre of Mendel Hall. Newly elected officers will be inaugurated at the dinner-dance on May 17.

The dinner dance committee is still selecting an orchestra.

The society is endeavoring to secure another technical speaker before the close of the term.

Frank Melogiana, treasurer, reminds all members to clear up their dues before elections.

Benjamin Franklin Chosen Junior Dinner Dance Site

Program Inaugurated May 1; Dancing in the Garden Terrace Room to the Music of Bobby Hackett Will Conclude Colorful Week

MOTHER'S DAY COMMITTEE IS APPOINTED

Dining in the new Garden Terrace Room of the Benjamin Franklin Hotel with dancing to the music of Bobby Hackett will be the program for Saturday, May 6, the concluding exercise of Junior Week, according to a special release by Francis Fitzpatrick, Dinner Dance chairman .

Likewise, it has been decided by the officers of the class and Rev. Daniel P. Falvey, O. S. A., that Monday morning May 1, would be a more suitable and timely date to conduct the inaugurating activities of Junior Week rather than Wednesday morning as was previously announced. "It is only fitting that Junior Week should be opened solemnly before Mother's Day and Open House, which activities are considered integral parts of the make-up of this period," said J. Bradley McManus, chairman of Junior Week.

Dinner will be served at 7:30 P. M. with dancing immediately following. Every junior who has his assessment paid will, of course, be entitled to attend. All those Juniors who have not paid their assessment may make arrangements to pay a sum of $4.50 to any member of the committee, namely Heck and Melograna, engineers; Connors of the Business School; Back of the Science School, and Scott of the School of Arts. This must be paid on or before Wednesday, May 8, which is the latest date that reservations can be made for the affair, as the hotel requires a 48-hour advance notice.

Simultaneously with his release, Chairman William F. Duffy made known the committee which will aid him in the promotion of Mother's Day program. Composing the committee will be Francis X. Conners, Edward L. Jonic, Edward C. Leahy and Gerald J. Lynam of the School of Commerce and Finance, and Richard R. Gove and Marvin I. Mones of the School of Science.

PRESS MEETING HAS DEAN J. O'SULLIVAN PRINCIPAL SPEAKER

Reporting Discussion Led by James Collins of Villanova Delegation

By FRANK FITZPATRICK

Dean J. L. O'Sullivan of Marquette University was the principal speaker at this local press meeting of the Catholic Scholastic Press held at Immaculata College last Saturday. Other guest speakers included Rev. Charles J. McGovern, Rev. Dr. Francis J. Furey, and Rev. Theophane Maguire, C.P.

A recess, with a period of time allotted for registration, was then granted to the delegates. At 11 o'clock the actual business of the congerss had begun.

After a speech of welcome by Dr. Furey, the representatives of neighboring Catholic colleges and high schools filed into discussion rooms especially designated for particular depaitments.

Among the divisions listed, and the leader of each particular phase of journalistic endeavor were: college editors — Eugene Quindlen, La Salle; high school editors—Miss Elaine Donnelly, Hallahan Catholic Girls' High School; Annuals—Miss Catherine Minegey, Rosemont; Business—Wiliam Fox, St. Joseph's; and Reporting—James Collins, Villanova. Other representatives from Villanova were John Harrington, James Haughton and John Maher.

It was into the latter room in which Reporting was discussed

Continued on Page Eight

"FIDES ET RATIO" SEMINAR TOPIC

Joseph Bongiovanni to Discuss Question; Albert Holl to Review Presentation

This afternoon, the Philosophy Seminar will concern itself with the distinction between reason and revelation. Joseph N. Bongiovanni, Jr., junior artsman, will present the paper. It will be reviewed by Albert Holl, senior in the same school.

At a first glance this problem might seem to be of little importance because the student body of Villanova College has been taught that reason and revelation supplement each other. However, there still are many moderns who believe that reason conflicts with revelation.

In Mediaeval times this was also a very important philosophical question. The Averroists of the Latin school maintained that there was a duality of "Fides et ratio." They said that certain views which they held followed as a necessary conclusion to the immutable laws of reason but that their faith taught truth was otherwise.

Part of this group did not deny their faith but maintained that there was a conflict between reason and revelation.

This historical aspect will be examined in the meeting to give the proper background for the study of the problem.

SAILING TO TEXAS

Dr. and Mrs. McHugh are sailing from New York on June 15 for New Orleans. Dr. McHugh will work at the Graduate School of Education at the Catholic University division in San Antonio, Texas. They will return on August 15.

VILLANOVA MEETING HEARS VICTOR ASH

Alumnus to Speak on Interracial Question Before Assembled Colleges

It was disclosed today that Victor Ash, former Villanova student, will be the principal speaker at the meeting of the Catholic Intercollegiate Interracial Council which meets in Simpson Hall this Saturday.

Ash, a Negro student, who received a B. S. in Education two years ago, is now a student of Law at Howard University. He was invited to speak at the Council by the Rev. William J. Lunney, O. S. A., moderator of the local chapter of this organization.

The meeting, under the chairmanship of Frank Hutzel, Jr., of La Salle College, will be attended by representatives from Rosemont, La Salle, St. Joseph, Chestnut Hill and Immaculata colleges. This is to be the first meeting the Interracial Council ever held at Villanova.

Among the prominent fosterers of this movement who will attend is the Rev. William J. Walsh. Fr. Walsh is especially interested in the Negro problem. He has devoted all his energy and efforts to bringing Catholicism to the Negro.

Villanova is to be represented by Paul Juergens, Joseph N. Bongiovanni, Jr., Muray Zealor, Alfred M. Bongiovanni, Joseph S. Santaniello and Charles Dolan. Fr. Lunney extended an invitation to the general student body to be present.

VILLANOVAN

Published Weekly by the Students of Villanova College

Managing Board

JOHN J. HARRINGTON, '40 .....Editor-in-Chief
JAMES P. COLLINS, '41 .....College Editor
PHILIP M. DUNN, '40 .....Sports Editor
JOHN T. GALLAGHER, '42 .....Business Manager
JOSEPH N. BONGIOVANNI, '40 .....Copy Editor
JOSEPH A. CIRELLI, '40 .....Circulation Manager
MURRAY P. ZEALOR, '41 .....Literary Editor
HENRY L. MANCUSO, '41 .....Photography Editor
JOHN L. MAHER, '42 .....Advertising Manager
JOSEPH F. BEE, '42 .....Cartoonist

Columnists

Bernard A. Bellew, '40 .....College Chatter
William F. Garrity, '40 .....Odds and Ends
William J. Toy, '40 .....Varieties
Harry A. Mazzei, '40 .....Here and There
Anthony R. Liscio, '40 .....Know Villanova

Staff Writers

Justin G. Rubin, '40 — William E. Schubert, '42
Frank Fitzpatrick, '40 — William B. DeGraae, '42
Saul A. Wallach, '40 — Thomas H. Doyle, '42
Bernard Singer, '40 — Howard A. McCall, '42
Thomas J. Moore, '41 — John P. Fullam, '42
James F. Haughton, '41 — Thomas A. Shallow, '42
Andrea J. D'Angelo, '41 — Robert J. McIntyre, '42
David N. Reardon, '42 — Alfred Bongiovanni, '40
Joseph V. McCabe, '42 — William V. Sinnott, '40
Joseph A. Barnes, '41 — William J. Ehmer, '42
Joseph Sinagniello '41 — James F. Donovan, '41
Robert W. Kilfey, '41 — Frederick A. Rappleyea, '40
Robert J. Funabashi, '42 — William N. Way, '41
William B. Carey, '42 — Walter W. Lesnick, '42
Francis J. Callahan, '42 — Armand Salerno, '42

Contributor

Lou Dubino, '39

Photography Staff

Melvin Bricker, '41 — Walter N. LaPorte, '42
John T. Sandonato, '41

Circulation Staff

Robert P. Schisler, '41 — Robert F. Donovan, '42
Bernard C. Crumb, '42 — Joseph D. Keffer, '42

Faculty Advisor—Rev. Edward B. McKee, O. S. A.

This paper is dedicated to one of the finest men who ever entered Villanova: scholar, athlete, gentleman—

LEO GOODREAU

Subscription—$2.00 per year.
Entered as second class matter at the Villanova Postoffice, December 27, 1928.

1938 Member 1939
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

REPRESENTED FOR NATIONAL ADVERTISING BY
National Advertising Service, Inc.
College Publishers Representative
420 MADISON AVE. NEW YORK, N. Y.
CHICAGO • BOSTON • LOS ANGELES • SAN FRANCISCO

Member of the Catholic School Press Association
Member of the Catholic College Press Association
Member of the National Scholastic Press Association.

TUESDAY - - - - APRIL 25, 1939

Capitalism Complains

BIG business continues its lamentings and groans of inability to earn sufficient profit on money invested. There is no reason for this continued bemoaning of a non-existing crisis. During the past three years, said by many to be the worst in the history of business, the total profit above taxes, depreciation, and all other expenses has been 8.3 percent on net worth. This percentage includes all businesses, the standing stock of the railroads, and businesses that have been well managed.

Consider this percentage with the period that was said to be the greatest in the history of business, that of the era of 1927-29. The net profit on business during this period was 6.5 percent.

American business men are retarding prosperity, business security, and economic security of the nation. They are able to borrow from the near bursting banks money at 2 and 3 percent. They refuse. Their childlike grievances have conquered them, and all must suffer for them.

The American people can wake up now for the facts are before them. Their futures are being imperiled by man's greed. (How can it be greed for business is able to earn 4.5 percent on their investment.) There is a vicious circle and the nation at large is being oppressed.

Go Collegiate

COLLEGE publications and college life are the subject of much newspaper talk everyday. We are reading how each college has some representative trying to swallow the most goldfish; the co-eds are trying to become the most rapidly kissable.

Villanova College has something sensible to offer to the colleges of America. There is being organized on the campus the Gold Star Fathers. It does not attempt, however, to have essay contests upon the glories of Americanism. It is merely an organization to institute a greater practice of flag waving and patriotic song singing in America.

You, collegians, can become members of this rapid growing organization by sending in your donation to Villanova College. Proceeds will not be usurped but will be put to the task of building a tomb for another unknown soldier who shall die for an unknown reason.

Racqueteers!

SPRING is here to stay; the tennis season is just begun; we need tennis courts. The campus has been portioned off with many tennis courts. For the last few years only five have been kept in order, and made ready for playing. Villanova has a potential nine to eleven courts at its disposal, and yet five only are prepared for the immediate use of the student.

With this deficiency in numbers, players are obliged uselessly to stand in line waiting for courts while courts remain idle seeded with weeds. There is no need for this waste of time in waiting to play. There need be no waiting in line for courts. There are courts, a sufficient number, if they but be put into condition.

Missa Recitata

ALTAR boys are an innovation. They are the satisfaction of those who will not and cannot learn the responses of the mass. They have usurped the privilege of saying in unison the responses to the words and prayers of the priest. Formerly the responses to the priest at the altar were made by the congregation as a whole; today, one or two altar boys have that privilege.

Several years ago an attempt was made by the chaplain of the college to resurrect this practice of the "missa recitata." It was espoused by all, and yet this went the line of least resistance, the returning of the honor to the altar boys.

Only a man can become a priest, but all peoples, men and women both, may recite the responses to the mass. No longer need this privilege be within the grasp of a chosen few; the glory and the blessings need not alone be within the grasp of altar boys. All can share in this if they but join in the responses of the mass.

To The Clean Of Heart

ONE of the Beatitudes of Our Blessed Lord promises to the clean of heart the eternal sight and company of His holy presence.

Recently the Department of Justice of the United States compelled 58 of these erstwhile indecent and filthy occasions of sin to forego further publication and levied heavy fines upon their producers. This is certainly encouraging and especially so when other such blemishes to the American press have turned tail and run from the scene in fear of the similar, inevitable punishments. Deo Gratias.

At Rosemont College next Sunday the Philadelphia chapter of the Catholic College Press Association is sponsoring a conference to thresh out in its own right the best means of attack upon this vast horde of indecency streaming from secular American presses. The chapter is to be heartily commended for devoting its attention to this aggressive action which is so vitally necessary to the improvement of public morals.

Faculty Comments

Thomas A. Kiley, O. S. A., M. A.
Greek Translation

THE MOST practical benefit of translating Greek into English is to provide the student with an effective vehicle for accurate and forceful expression of his own thoughts in his own language. The excellence of our thoughts determines the value of the language that we use to express them. Hence the Greeks produced not only the greatest literature that the world has even seen, but also the most perfect language; for their love of beauty and harmony would never allow an ugly word to express a beautiful thought. The least offensive of our every day American expressions so typical of our life would rudely shock the Greek's sense of beauty. They serve to express our ideas, but these ideas resulting from our perusal of tabloid newspapers, low-priced magazines, short stories, and novels whose principal appeal is their cheap realism do not flatter our intellectual superiority. Some corrective of our language manners must be found, and the most competent and reliable is Greek which has given us not only all our literary models, but also a very large percentage of our vocabulary.

The first benefit of translating passages from Greek into English might be termed grammatical security. With the present decadence of speech and slipshod manners of speaking English becoming more widespread day by day due to the lack of sensible methods of teaching grammar in our high schools, it should be obvious that the study of the ancient classics is necessary not merely for the improvements of the English language, but more so, for its very life and salvation.

It is a deplorable fact of the short-sightedness of those who eliminated Greek from the curriculum that they not only removed the most effective aid in the proper understanding of English grammar and syntax, but even abolished the necessity of English grammar itself. Our school heads in their unrestrained ambition to devitalize the noble purposes of education to meet the job finding and money-making needs of students have stripped the teaching of English of all its rules and principles that make for correct and effective speech. This sad condition in the teaching of English can be rectified only by the study of the inflected forms of Greek nouns and verbs. For a knowledge of the various agreements and relations existing in a Greek sentence will not only show the student the necessity and manner of grammatical correctness in the use of his own language, but also will provide him with a variety and multiplicity of expressions that will endow his speech with flexibility and beauty.

But the greatest benefit that Greek confers upon the study of English is the means of acquiring through translation a perpetual discipline of using the right word in the right place. The excellence of Greek literature is its precise and discriminating use of words. Just as the Greeks had a special vocabulary for every form of their literature, so they had a special word for every shade of meaning. The Greeks had a passion for exactness. They were always weighing and balancing words, delicately dwelling upon shades of meaning, making fine distinctions, and choosing the proper cadence of sound.

This precision which the Greeks developed and used in all their forms of literature shines out most brilliantly in their use of epithets and figures of speech. Thus Homer, the father of epic poets, calls the gods: the far-darter; the lord of the storm clouds; silver-footed; ox-eyed; and dwelling in the upper air. He calls heroes: dog-faced; clothed in impudence; eager for gain; and worthless. Women are: bright-eyed; beautiful-cheeked; and fair-haired. The sea is: unfruitful; loud roaring; very deep; salty; and divine.

Aeschylus, the greatest of tragic poets, speaks of the breezes that waste time, make the crews to wander, cause hunger and delay. Night to him is the happy mother. He calls the stars: the bright rulers conspicuous in the air. He speaks of the murders in the house of Pelops as: the seed of wrath haunting the house, avenging the children.

Sophocles, another tragic poet, sees time as: all-seeing. He call the sun: the all-nurturing flame; and the ear: the font of hearing.

The beautiful imagery of Greek literature is a further illustration of the marvellous precision that the Greeks developed in their language. Aeschylus, one of the most imaginative of all poets, gives the following:

"The recreant lion wallowing in the couch."

"The wolf mated with the lioness."

"The black spash of the murderous dew."

"The patter of bloody rain."

The student who merely translates texts from Greek to find the equivalent in English will derive from his labors no other reward than an enlarged vocabulary. But if he strives with patience and intelligence to capture the exact shade of meaning contained in the text he will not only sense and appreciate the hidden beauty that escapes the indifferent translator, but he will also acquire a flexible and discriminating choice of words that will enable him to use his own words with precision and to make his meaning clear by using the right word in the right place.

—Letters!

The Villanovan Editor.

In the past, I have taken the opportunity of writing to the Villanovan solely on the pretext that I was one of the paper's innovators. Not wishing to abuse that privilege, I waited until some plausible excuse came along, regardless of how slight, as an excuse to pen a few lines.

I recently read the article by Professor Dougherty and being a member of the class to which he referred, I thought I would elaborate a little with reference to the incident referred to by him, in his closing paragraph which referred to the students walking out after he asked those who were not prepared, to leave the room.

That was the class of '30 which always boasted of an interlocking spirit of cooperation between its students. In meat, the Prof's article was correct from the standpoint of a professor but the underlying motive was that Professor Dougherty gave us an excuse. All that morning the class concentrated on the happening of something so that we could see the "A's" and "Yanks" play in Philadelphia, when the excuse came, naturally, we availed ourselves of it. This is not a reflection on Professor Dougherty because he was our counselor and best friend, but it manifests the spirit of the class of '30 and the bonds that still hold its members intact.

May I congratulate your staff on its splendid paper, which issue is a decided improvement over its original issue which was a four sheeted affair, its type in blue ink. May I suggest to Father McKee and the members of the Staff my appreciation for their splendid work done and the rejuvenation complex of the paper.

With sincere wishes for a continuation of your success, I remain,
Very truly yours,
JOSEPH J. RINALDI.

KnowVillanova

President William Howard Taft received an honorary degree at Villanova.

• • •

Father Carr, O. S. A., on February 23, 1800, pronounced the eulogy of George Washington in St. Mary's Church in Philadelphia. It was Fr. Carr who first called Washington the "Father of his Country."

• • •

In a presidential poll taken at Villanova in 1932, Roosevelt was the choice by a three to one majority.

• • •

In 1928 the senior class raffled off a Ford. Chances sold for 25 cents and the proceeds were to go to the Belle Air.

• • •

Villanova's first ice hockey team lost to the University of Pennsylvania on Saturday, February 22, 1930.

ODDS and ENDS

By Bill Garrity

HAVE you noticed John Wysocki's new nose? John spent his Easter vacation in Hahnemann Hospital having a plastic surgery job done on his proboscis. Time will tell the results.

• • •

Everybody went home to get a lot of rest during the recess. From the yawns and haggard looks they must have gotten too much. Egg rolling is a very strenuous sport.

• • •

"Chuck" Roche had a hard time getting back to school on time on Wednesday night. He fully intended to fly, but on reaching the airport found all the planes grounded. Kay must have waited a long time at Camden Airport.

• • •

Peter Eschman, prominent New York Alumnus, has been appointed secretary to one of Brooklyn's Supreme Court judges. Mr. Eschman has been president of the New York Alumni Club.

• • •

Princeton now sells beer suits to the students. Back in 1912 the boys went into overalls to prevent their clothes from being stained. Now the fashion is draped painters' outfits.

• • •

Did you know that in a sixty minute football game the ball is actually in play for only twelve minutes? The long hours of practice is where the real work comes in and the games are a form of relaxation for the players.

• • •

The girls at Immaculata still are complaining about the Villanovan. The main offender is a Miss F. M. (she won't give her name), who thinks the Villanovan should be printed on the glossy type of paper instead of the real newspaper used. Remember Miss, a paper is made by what it is composed of, not what it is printed on.

• • •

There has been a lot of complaining going on about the campus concerning the Juniors' choice for their Prom orchestra. Have you fellows ever heard the orchestra? Remember that the dance is made a success by the people on the campus, not outsiders. Only sixteen outsiders attended last year's Junior Prom.

• • •

Bob Whelan has already seen the motion picture "Pygmalion" twice. It wasn't that he liked the picture so much. Bob just couldn't get what was said the first time. He intends to go a third time just for enjoyment.

• • •

A letter was received complimenting the students on their prayers for special intentions. One of the students, Manus Dougherty, was in serious condition last year and was prayed for in the chapel. Since then he has improved greatly and is again in good health.

SOPHOMORE ELECTION

Elections for the post of Treasurer of the Sophomore Class will be held tomorrow noon. A tie resulted between James Forkin, artsman, and John VanHook, engineer, in the regular polling, thereby making necessary this special consideration. The same conditions governing the first election will be enforced in this one.

Frank Tichenor, Alumnus Publisher, Chats About Highlights of Career

Pluck Chief Factor in Rise to Important Journalistic Position

By WILLIAM F. GARRITY

High up on the thirteenth floor of the office building at 515 Madison Ave. in New York City works a man who is a credit to himself and to Villanova. This man is Frank A. Tichenor.

During Easter vacation I stopped into his office to discover personally just how he rose from the ranks to be publisher of five such magazines as — Aero Digest, New Outlook, The Spur, and a Spanish Magazine on Aeronautics.

Mr. Tichenor's start in the business world came through the intervention of the well known "lucky break." It so happened that he was in New York—sight-seeing—when he decided he liked the place enough to stay to seek his fortune.

Pugilist Brought Luck

The search started at the lower end of Broadway and ended at the White Photographic Studios when one of the numerous escapades of the great pugilist, Bob Fitzsimmons, resulted in his first job. He got in to see Mr. White and told him right away he had no experience, but that "I think I can do as well as some of the men you have working for you now." White was taken back by this straight forward young man. Just then a commotion starting in the hall and who walked into the office but Bob Fitzsimmons, the heavyweight boxing champion. It seemed that Bob had contracted for some pictures and at the time all the photographers were out of the studios. Mr. Tichenor stepped up and offered his services and was immediately accepted.

One hundred and forty-four prints were taken of the champion and they were so good that the next day Bob Fitzsimmons placed a large order. Young Frank Tichenor was on his way to great heights at the salary of $30 a week.

Attended Academy

Mr. Tichenor attended Villanova when it consisted of the Academy which was located in Alumni Hall. He asked me how strict the discipline was and laughed when I told him. In his time if a student committed an infraction of a rule he was given a long translation of either Latin or Greek. If the infraction were a serious one, the student was punished publicly in front of the whole congregation.

Football was just as popular in that time as it is now. Villanova was also just as well represented on the gridiron. One of the men sporting the Blue and White moleskins was a young fellow named Frank Tichenor. That year the team played such teams as Army, Fordham, and Navy.

Monopoly Brings Set-Back

After entering into the photographic business, Mr. Tichenor decided he would like to do greater things. He went in search of a job in motion pictures as he understood there was a great deal of money in that. He did so well that he became president of the General Film Company. "I could have done great things, but the company was dissolved as a monopoly by the Sherman Anti-Trust Act."

Following this setback newspaper work attracted him so he went to see Will Reed, the editor of the New York Herald. Mr. Reed offered him a job as an office boy at the huge salary of $15 a week. Knowing his talents were worth more than this he looked for something better.

Officer Prompted Magazine

After spending some more time in film companies he decided to lay off for a while and took a trip to Florida. Here he met Tom Sopwith, the sportsman, who took him for an airplane ride and started an interest in aviation. This interest was strengthened later by a meeting with General Mitchell of the Army Air Corps. General Mitchell gave him the idea to start an aviation magazine out of which developed Aero Digest. This magazine carries more paid advertising than any other published trade magazine.

I discovered how he turned to publishing for a livelihood. While at college he had a little success with work he had sent into the Philadelphia North American. So he thought, with his usual confidence, that he would make good. This he did because of a great deal of ambition and work.

The interview ended with a cordial handshake and a "Nice talking to you, Sonny." I went back to the teeming streets knowing that I had just met a fine business man and Catholic gentleman.

FRANK A. TICHENOR

Program For Mothers' Day

May 1, 1939

1:30—Reception of Mothers
—Villanova Field House
Address of Welcore
—Rev. Bernard M. Albers, O. S. A., Vice President
March from "Carmen"—Bizet
Symphonic Band
Lo, How a Rose
—Michael Praetorius
Male Chorus
Novelty
—Guitar and Accordian
E. Cogan and J. Pancheri
Tenor Solo —Selected
E. Lucente
Hungarian Dance
—Johannes Brahms
Violin Solo —C. Lodowski
Sylvia —Cley Speaks
Male Quartet
Princess of India—J. L. King
Symphonic Band
Alma Mater —J. Burke
—By Male Chorus and Symphonic Band.
Intermission
Message from Class of 1940
—William F. Duffey
Science Demonstration
—By Chemistry Dept.
3:30—Luncheon
—College Dining Hall
4:00—Open House —Mendel Hall
5:00—Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament
Celebrant, Rev. Daniel P. Falvey, O. S. A.
Servers, J. Griffin, C. Martin, J. Bradley McManus.
Music by Junior Class of the Augustinian Seminary.
Altar Decorations by Bro. Vincent, O. S. A.

College Chatter

By Barney Bellew

TO WHOM it may concern:

HERE was a lot of talk sliding back and forth about the choice of the band for the Junior Prom. It's about time you hear him as well as hear of him. Anyone from New York will testify as to his worth. He must be very, very good to last six years at "The Rainbow Room" in Rockefeller Center. As for myself, I think he has a very fine band that will please everyone.

You know, very often the dark horse comes through and the only ones that are sorry are the "Harveys" that passed him over without a glance. So if you play Al Donohue at odds of $4.50 for 2 I'm sure you'll come out way ahead.

Dear Old C. N. R.*

Nixie has been around and informs me that there are approximately 160 lassies in the senior class of which I spoke so highly. Now isn't that nice; Imagine letting loose this June 160 females who have been vacationing for four years. And all in one place too! Look out.

Nixie also informs me that you have one of the largest Catholic girls colleges in the country. She also tells of your beautiful campus. I guess I underrated you. However we do all right at Villanova as you know.

*C. N. R. stands for College of New Rochelle.

What

Comes once in a college lifetime?
Makes a lot of young things lucky?
Will you regret if you renege?
Is a modined vacation for tired Jrs.?
Breaks you worse than ever before?
Have you waited three years for?
Is attended by every loyal Junior?

You guessed It. Junior Week.

Poor Publicity:

St. Joseph's recently had a fashion show and believe it or not it made the papers. One of the fellows appeared in the darlingest costume. Thomas "Rugcut" Kain was chosen best dressed of the fashion plates and to quote a Philadelphia daily, "The best dressed man grimaced sourly, pulled up his green couvert cloth trousers, displaying a bit of Argyle (Scottish Tartan) socks, sat down, and crossed a brown cordovan shoe with rubber soles over a knee." Now is that mannish?

Want Some Sea Food:

Goldfish are not exactly seafood but the latest fad running around colleges is eating them alive. The last I heard were records of 67 goldfish; 400 grasshoppers; one phonograph record and a couple dozen angleworms.

Joe Parsons claims that no woman has been able to pin anything on him since he was a baby.

VILLANOVAN MEETS

There will be an extremely important meeting of the entire staff of the Villanovan today at 1:00 p. m. in Room 119 Mendel Hall. There will be a discussion of the special Open House issue which must go to press earlier than usual.

Introducing—

By BILL TOY

Imagine this college student with a ranking that has been consistently high. Insert in him a love for music. Associate him with social life at Villanova. Incorporate him into the political workings of the Class of 1939. Place him in an executive position on the VILLANOVAN staff. Complete the picture with a personality and an integrity which befits leaders and organizers, yet which lacks the self-importance which sometimes parallels the latter. Now, you have reached reality, and incidentally, the subject of this column—Harry J. McGlade, Jr.

Always a dependable backer of Villanova's social enterprises, there have been few he has missed. . . be they musical, thespian, educational, or terpsichorean. Proms, fraternity hops, dramatic productions, amateur nights, senior socials ,etc., all were graced with his presence and with his guests.

HARRY McGLADE, JR.

As a member of the Junior Prom committee, Harry joined the other members of his class in advocating the selection of Hal Kemp. His association with class politicians and political situations was one in which he was held in esteem. His advice was valued and his criticism welcomed. At political "bull sessions" Harry usually quelled the riot and saved the day with common sense, something which leaves no argument.

On Staff

Undoubtedly, as becomes nearly all those who have affiliated with the VILLANOVAN, Harry's most enjoyable times were spent in the interests of journalism. When momentum carried Harry from St. Joseph's College to the door of the VILLANOVAN office, he began his duties as a staff reporter. You have seen his work in this very column wherein a last word of merit is being paid him.

Late in his junior year, our graduate-to-be was appointed circulation manager. In this assignment Harry tackled with vigor a field that was new to him, and to some uninteresting. Working with a limited but capable staff of assistants, he set about the serious business of dispatching the VILLANOVAN through the mails. A newly anaugurated system of binding past issues was carried out under his supervision. For his diligent work Harry was awarded a VILLANOVAN key at the annual dinner-dance conducted by the publication.

In his lighter moments, Harry casts his interest toward the fairer sex, and welcomes a twirl on the local campuses. Rosemont has seen him often, but Villanova wishes always to call him her own. May his be success, the reward of gentlemanly conduct and intelligent pursuit.

WHAT'S GOING ON

Tuesday, April 25

German Seminar ..... 9:45 A. M.
P. K. P. ..... 10:45 A. M.
VILLANOVAN ..... 1:00 P. M.
Belle Air (Sports) ..... 1:00 P. M.
Philosophy Seminar ..... 1:30 P. M.
Manhattan Game (Home) 3:00 P. M.
F. and M. track meet (Away) ..... 3:00 P. M.
Sociology Seminar ..... 7:00 P. M.

Wednesday, April 26

Belle Air (Business) ..... 1:00 P. M.
F. and M. Golf Match (Home) ..... 2:30 P. M.
Temple Game (Home) ..... 3:00 P. M.
Music Seminar ..... 7:30 P. M.

Thursday, April 27

Science Seminar ..... 10:45 A. M.
L. K. D. ..... 1:00 P. M.
Belle Air (College) ..... 1:00 P. M.
Glee Club ..... 4:00 P. M.
Band ..... 7:00 P. M.
History Seminar ..... 7:00 P. M.
Music Seminar ..... 7:30 P. M.

Friday, April 28

German Seminar ..... 9:45 A. M.
Belle Air (Photography) ..... 1:00 P. M.
Rider Golf Match (Home) 2:30 P. M.
Research Seminar ..... 4:00 P. M.

Saturday, April 29

Seton Hall Tennis Match (Home) ..... 3:30 P. M.
St. John's of Brooklyn Golf Match (Home) ... 2:30 P. M.
Penn State Game (Away) 3:00 P. M.

Sunday, April 30

Mendel vs. Alumni ..... 10:30 A. M.
Fedigan vs. Austin ..... 1:00 A. M.
Interracial Council ..... 2:30 P. M.

Monday, May 1

P. K. P. ..... 10:45 A. M.
Mathematics Club ..... 12:30 P. M.
Belle Air (Arts) ..... 1:00 P. M.
Open House ..... 2:00-5:00 P. M.
6:00-9:00 P. M.

THE NEWS IN BRIEF

New director of the Villanovans is Paul Wade, senior education student, succeeding Bartholomeo Passanante, senior science man. The campus orchestra has been secured in several outside engagements.

"Social Security and the Catholic College" was presented by Rev. Vincent A. McQuade, O. S. A., Rev. Joseph I. Boyle was also in attendance.

Classical Convention of the Atlantic States is to be held at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel in Philadelphia on April 28 and 29. Rev. T. A. Kiley, O. S. A. and Rev. J. E. Bresnahan, O. S. A., will attend. All students are welcome.

Prize of $25 will be awarded by by the Foreign Traders Association of Philadelphia for the best essay on "The Importance of Foreign Trade" to the Philadelphia community. Information may be secured from Mr. Bernard Douredoure, 227 S. Front St., Philadelphia., Pa.

Investment Banking is the topic of an essay contest sponsored by the Investment Bankers Association of America, information regarding which may be secured from the educational director, 33 S. Clark St., Chicago.

Major Edward Bowes, famous purveyor of amateur talent and also head of the Capital Family was a dinner guest of Rev. Edward V. Stanford, O. S. A., president of the college, Sunday evening, April 16.

Several traveling graduates were campus visitors. Basil Dobrow and John Simons surprised each other by meeting on campus green. Basil is engaged in radio work while Simons is studying for a master's degree at the University of Michigan.

VILLANOVAN

Published Weekly by the Students of Villanova College

Managing Board

JOHN J. HARRINGTON, '40 ..... Editor-in-Chief
JAMES P. COLLINS, '41 ..... College Editor
PHILIP M. DUNN, '40 ..... Sports Editor
JOHN T. GALLAGHER, '42 ..... Business Manager
JOSEPH N. BONGIOVANNI, '40 ..... Copy Editor
JOSEPH A. CIRELLI, '40 ..... Circulation Manager
MURRAY P. ZEALOR, '41 ..... Literary Editor
HENRY L. MANCUSO, '41 ..... Photography Editor
JOHN L. MAHER, '42 ..... Advertising Manager
JOSEPH F. BEE, '42 ..... Cartoonist

Columnists

Bernard A. Bellew, '40 ..... College Chatter
William F. Garrity, '40 ..... Odds and Ends
William J. Toy, '41 ..... Varieties
Harry A. Mazzei, '40 ..... Here and There
Anthony R. Liscio, '40 ..... Know Villanova

Staff Writers

Justin G. Rubin, '40 — William E. Schubert, '42
Frank Fitzpatrick, '40 — William E. DeGrace, '42
Saul A. Wallach, '40 — Thomas H. Doyle, '42
Bernard Singer, '40 — Howard A. McCall, '42
Thomas J. Moore, '41 — John P. Fullam, '42
James F. Bringhurst, '41 — Thomas A. Shallow, '42
Andrew J. D'Angelo, '41 — Robert J. McIntyre, '42
David N. Reardon, '42 — Alfred Bongiovanni, '40
Joseph V. McGrath, '40 — William V. Sinnott, '40
Joseph A. Barnes, '41 — William J. Ebner, '42
Jocino Sammiello, '41 — James F. Donovan, '41
Robert W. Kelly, '41 — Frederick A. Happleyen, '40
Robert J. Funsheim, '42 — William N. Way, '41
William B. Carey, '42 — Walter W. Lessing, '42
Francis J. Callahan, '42 — Armand Salerno, '42

Contributor

Leo Dubino, '39

Photography Staff

Melvin Bricker, '41 — Walter N. LaForte, '42
John T. Sandonato, '41

Circulation Staff

Robert P. Schister, '41 — Robert E. Donovan, '42
Bernard C. Crumb, '42 — Joseph D. Keffer, '42

Faculty Advisor—Rev. Edward B. McKee, O. S. A.

This paper is dedicated to one of the finest men who ever entered Villanova: scholar, athlete, gentleman—

LEO GOODREAU

Subscription—$2.00 per year.
Entered as second class matter at the Villanova Postoffice, December 27, 1928.

1938 Member 1939

Associated Collegiate Press

Distributor of

Collegiate Digest

REPRESENTED FOR NATIONAL ADVERTISING BY
National Advertising Service, Inc.
College Publishers Representative
420 MADISON AVE. NEW YORK, N. Y.
CHICAGO · BOSTON · LOS ANGELES · SAN FRANCISCO

Member of the Catholic School Press Association
Member of the Catholic College Press Association
Member of the National Scholastic Press Association.

TUESDAY - - - - APRIL 25, 1939

Capitalism Complains

BIG business continues its lamentings and groans of inability to earn sufficient profit on money invested. There is no reason for this continued bemoaning of a non-existing crisis. During the past three years, said by many to be the worst in the history of business, the total profit above taxes, depreciation, and all other expenses has been 8.3 percent on net worth. This percentage includes all businesses, the standing stock of the railroads, and businesses that have been well managed.

Consider this percentage with the period that was said to be the greatest in the history of business, that of the era of 1927-29. The net profit on business during this period was 6.5 percent.

American business men are retarding prosperity, business security, and economic security of the nation. They are able to borrow from the near bursting banks money at 2 and 3 percent. They refuse. Their childlike grievances have conquered them, and all must suffer for them.

The American people can wake up now for the facts are before them. Their futures are being imperiled by man's greed. (How can it be greed for business is able to earn 4.5 percent on their investment.) There is a vicious circle and the nation at large is being oppressed.

Go Collegiate

COLLEGE publications and college life are the subject of much newspaper talk everyday. We are reading how each college has some representative trying to swallow the most goldfish; the co-eds are trying to become the most rapidly kissable.

Villanova College has something sensible to offer to the colleges of America. There is being organized on the campus the Gold Star Fathers. It does not attempt, however, to have essay contests upon the glories of Americanism. It is merely an organization to institute a greater practice of flag waving and patriotic song singing in America.

You, collegians, can become members of this rapid growing organization by sending in your donation to Villanova College. Proceeds will not be usurped but will be put to the task of building a tomb for another unknown soldier who shall die for an unknown reason.

Racqueteers!

SPRING is here to stay; the tennis season is just begun; we need tennis courts. The campus has been portioned off with many tennis courts. For the last few years only five have been kept in order, and made ready for playing. Villanova has a potential nine to eleven courts at its disposal, and yet five only are prepared for the immediate use of the student.

With this deficiency in numbers, players are obliged uselessly to stand in line waiting for courts while courts remain idle seeded with weeds. There is no need for this waste of time in waiting to play. There need be no waiting in line for courts. There are courts, a sufficient number, if they but be put into condition.

Missa Recitata

ALTAR boys are an innovation. They are the satisfaction of those who will not and cannot learn the responses of the mass. They have usurped the privilege of saying in unison the responses to the words and prayers of the priest. Formerly the responses to the priest at the altar were made by the congregation as a whole; today, one or two altar boys have that privilege.

Several years ago an attempt was made by the chaplain of the college to resurrect this practice of the "missa recitata." It was espoused by all, and yet this went the line of least resistance, the returning of the honor to the altar boys.

Only a man can become a priest, but all peoples, men and women both, may recite the responses to the mass. No longer need this privilege be within the grasp of a chosen few; the glory and the blessings need not alone be within the grasp of altar boys. All can share in this if they but join in the responses of the mass.

To The Clean Of Heart

ONE of the Beatitudes of Our Blessed Lord promises to the clean of heart the eternal sight and company of His holy presence.

Recently the Department of Justice of the United States compelled 58 of these erstwhile indecent and filthy occasions of sin to forego further publication and levied heavy fines upon their producers. This is certainly encouraging and especially so when other such blemishes to the American press have turned tail and run from the scene in fear of the similar, inevitable punishments. Deo Gratias.

At Rosemont College next Sunday the Philadelphia chapter of the Catholic College Press Association is sponsoring a conference to thresh out in its own right the best means of attack upon this vast horde of indecency streaming from secular American presses. The chapter is to be heartily commended for devoting its attention to this aggressive action which is so vitally necessary to the improvement of public morals.

Faculty Comments

Thomas A. Kiley, O. S. A., M. A.
Greek Translation

THE MOST practical benefit of translating Greek into English is to provide the student with an effective vehicle for accurate and forceful expression of his own thoughts in his own language. The excellence of our thoughts determines the value of the language that we use to express them. Hence the Greeks produced not only the greatest literature that the world has even seen, but also the most perfect language; for their love of beauty and harmony would never allow an ugly word to express a beautiful thought. The least offensive of our every day American expressions so typical of our life would rudely shock the Greek's sense of beauty. They serve to express our ideas, but these ideas resulting from our perusal of tabloid newspapers, low-priced magazines, short stories, and novels whose principal appeal is their cheap realism do not flatter our intellectual superiority. Some corrective of our language manners must be found, and the most competent and reliable is Greek which has given us not only all our literary models, but also a very large percentage of our vocabulary.

The first benefit of translating passages from Greek into English might be termed grammatical security. With the present decadence of speech and slipshod manners of speaking English becoming more widespread day by day due to the lack of sensible methods of teaching grammar in our high schools, it should be obvious that the study of the ancient classics is necessary not merely for the improvements of the English language, but more so, for its very life and salvation.

It is a deplorable fact of the short-sightedness of those who eliminated Greek from the curriculum that they not only removed the most effective aid in the proper understanding of English grammar and syntax, but even abolished the necessity of English grammar itself. Our school heads in their unrestrained ambition to devitalize the noble purposes of education to meet the job finding and money-making needs of students have stripped the teaching of English of all its rules and principles that make for correct and effective speech. This sad condition in the teaching of English can be rectified only by the study of the inflected forms of Greek nouns and verbs. For a knowledge of the various agreements and relations existing in a Greek sentence will not only show the student the necessity and manner of grammatical correctness in the use of his own language, but also will provide him with a variety and multiplicity of expressions that will endow his speech with flexibility and beauty.

But the greatest benefit that Greek confers upon the study of English is the means of acquiring, through translation a perpetual discipline of using the right word in the right place. The excellence of Greek literature is its precise and discriminating use of words. Just as the Greeks had a special vocabulary for every form of their literature, so they had a special word for every shade of meaning. The Greeks had a passion for exactness. They were always weighing and balancing words, delicately dwelling upon shades of meaning, making fine distinctions, and choosing the proper cadence of sound.

This precision which the Greeks developed and used in all their forms of literature shines out most brilliantly in their use of epithets and figures of speech. Thus Homer, the father of epic poets, calls the gods: the far-darter; the lord of the storm clouds; silver-footed; ox-eyed; and dwelling in the upper air. He calls heroes: dog-faced; clothed in impudence; eager for gain; and worthless. Women are: bright-eyed; beautiful-cheeked; and fair-haired. The sea is: unfruitful; loud roaring; very deep; salty; and divine.

Aeschylus, the greatest of tragic poets, speaks of the brutes that waste time, make the crews to wander, cause hunger and delay. Night to him is the happy mother. He calls the stars: the bright rulers conspicuous in the air. He speaks of the murders in the house of Pelops as: the seed of wrath haunting the house, avenging the children.

Sophocles, another tragic poet, sees time as: all-seeing. He call the sun: the all-nurturing flame; and the ear: the font of hearing.

The beautiful imagery of Greek literature is a further illustration of the marvellous precision that the Greeks developed in their language. Aeschylus, one of the most imaginative of all poets, gives the following:

"The reccreant lion wallowing in the couch."

"The wolf mated with the lioness."

"The black spash of the murderous dew."

"The patter of bloody rain."

The student who merely translates texts from Greek to find the equivalent in English will derive from his labors no other reward than an enlarged vocabulary. But if he strives with patience and intelligence to capture the exact shade of meaning contained in the text he will not only sense and appreciate the hidden beauty that escapes the indifferent translator, but he will also acquire a flexible and discriminating choice of words that will enable him to use his own words with precision and to make his meaning clear by using the right word in the right place.

—Letters!

The Villanovan Editor.

In the past, I have taken the opportunity of writing to the Villanovan solely on the pretext that I was one of the paper's innovators. Not wishing to abuse that privilege, I waited until some plausible excuse came along, regardless of how slight, as an excuse to pen a few lines.

I recently read the article by Professor Dougherty and being a member of the class to which he referred, I thought I would elaborate a little with reference to the incident referred to by him, in his closing paragraph which referred to the students walking out after he asked those who were not prepared, to leave the room.

That was the class of '30 which always boasted of an interlocking spirit of cooperation between its students. In most, the Prof's article was correct from the standpoint of a professor but the underlying motive was that Professor Dougherty gave us an excuse. All that morning the class concentrated on the happening of something so that we could see the "A's" and "Yanks" play in Philadelphia, when the excuse came, naturally, we availed ourselves of it. This is not a reflection on Professor Dougherty because he was our counselor and best friend, but it manifests the spirit of the class of '30 and the bonds that still hold its members intact.

May I congratulate your staff on its splendid paper, which issue is a decided improvement over its original issue which was a four sheeted affair, its type in blue ink. May I suggest to Father McKee and the members of the Staff my appreciation for then splendid work done and the rejuvenation complex of the paper.

With sincere wishes for a continuation of your success, I remain,
Very truly yours,
JOSEPH J. RINALDI.

KnowVillanova

President William Howard Taft received an honorary degree at Villanova.

* * *

Father Carr, O. S. A., on February 23, 1800, pronounced the eulogy of George Washington in St. Mary's Church in Philadelphia. It was Fr. Carr who first called Washington the "Father of his Country."

* * *

In a presidential poll taken at Villanova in 1932, Roosevelt was the choice by a three to one majority.

* * *

In 1928 the senior class raffled off a Ford. Chances sold for 25 cents and the proceeds were to go to the Belle Air.

* * *

Villanova's first ice hockey team lost to the University of Pennsylvania on Saturday, February 22, 1930.

ODDS and ENDS

By Bill Garrity

HAVE you noticed John Wysocki's new nose? John spent his Easter vacation in Hahnemann Hospital having a plastic surgery job done on his proboscis. Time will tell the results.

* * *

Everybody went home to get a lot of rest during the recess. From the yawns and haggard looks they must have gotten too much. Egg rolling is a very strenuous sport.

* * *

"Chuck" Roche had a hard time getting back to school on time on Wednesday night. He fully intended to fly, but on reaching the airport found all the planes grounded. Kay must have waited a long time at Camden Airport.

* * *

Peter Eschman, prominent New York Alumnus, has been appointed secretary to one of Brooklyn's Supreme Court judges. Mr. Eschman has been president of the New York Alumni Club.

* * *

Princeton now sells beer suits to the students. Back in 1912 the boys went into overalls to prevent their clothes from being stained. Now the fashion is draped painters' outfits.

* * *

Did you know that in a sixty minute football game the ball is actually in play for only twelve minutes? The long hours of practice is where the real work comes in and the games are a form of relaxation for the players.

* * *

The girls at Immaculata still are complaining about the Villanovan. The main offender is a Miss F. M. (she won't give her name), who thinks the Villanovan should be printed on the glossy type of paper instead of the real newspaper used. Remember Miss, a paper is made by what it is composed of, not what it is printed on.

* * *

There has been a lot of complaining going on about the campus concerning the Juniors' choice for their Prom orchestra. Have you fellows ever heard the orchestra? Remember that the dance is made a success by the people on the campus, not outsiders. Only sixteen outsiders attended last year's Junior Prom.

* * *

Bob Whelan has already seen the motion picture "Pygmalion" twice. It wasn't that he liked the picture so much. Bob just couldn't get what was said the first time. He intends to go a third time just for enjoyment.

*

A letter was received complimenting the students on their prayers for special intentions. One of the students, Manus Dougherty, was in serious condition last year and was prayed for in the chapel. Since then he has improved greatly and is again in good health.

SOPHOMORE ELECTION

Elections for the post of Treasurer of the Sophomore Class will be held tomorrow noon. A tie resulted between James Fortin, artsman, and John VanHook, engineer, in the regular polling, thereby making necessary this special consideration. The same conditions governing the first election will be enforced in this one.

Frank Tichenor, Alumnus Publisher, Chats About Highlights of Career

Pluck Chief Factor in Rise to Important Journalistic Position

By WILLIAM F. GARRITY

High up on the thirteenth floor of the office building at 515 Madison Ave. in New York City works a man who is a credit to himself and to Villanova. This man is Frank A. Tichenor.

During Easter vacation I stopped into his office to discover personally just how he rose from the ranks to be publisher of five such magazines as — Aero Digest, New Outlook, The Spur, and a Spanish Magazine on Aeronautics.

Mr. Tichenor's start in the business world came through the intervention of the well known "lucky break." It so happened that he was in New York—sight-seeing—when he decided he liked the place enough to stay to seek his fortune.

Taglist Brought Luck

The search started at the lower end of Broadway and ended at the White Photographic Studios when one of the numerous escapades of the great pugilist, Bob Fitzsimmons, resulted in his first job. He got in to see Mr. White and told him right away he had no experience, but that "I think I can do as well as some of the men you have working for you now." White was taken aback by this straight forward young man. Just then a commotion starting in the hall and who walked into the office but Bob Fitzsimmons, the heavyweight boxing champion. It seemed that Bob had contracted for some pictures and at the time all the photographers were out of the studios. Mr. Tichenor stepped up and offered his services and was immediately accepted.

One hundred and forty-four prints were taken of the champion and they were so good that the next day Bob Fitzsimmons placed a large order. Young Frank Tichenor was on his way to great heights at the salary of $30 a week.

Attended Academy

Mr. Tichenor attended Villanova when it consisted of the Academy which was located in Alumni Hall. He asked me how strict the discipline was and laughed when I told him. In his time if a student committed an infraction of a rule he was given a long translation of either Latin or Greek. If the infraction were a serious one, the student was punished publicly in front of the whole congregation.

Football was just as popular in that time as it is now. Villanova was also just as well represented on the gridiron. One of the men sporting the Blue and White moleskins was a young fellow named Frank Tichenor. That year the team played such teams as Army, Fordham, and Navy.

Monopoly Brings Set-Back

After entering into the photographic business, Mr. Tichenor decided he would like to do greater things. He went in search of a job in motion pictures as he understood there was a great deal of money in that. He did so well that he became president of the General Film Company. "I could have done great things, but the company was dissolved as a monopoly by the Sherman Anti-Trust Act."

Following this setback newspaper work attracted him so he went to see Will Reed, the editor of the New York Herald. Mr. Reed offered him a job as an office boy at the huge safary of $15 a week. Knowing his talents were worth more than this he looked for something better.

Officer Prompted Magazine

After spending some more time in film companies he decided to lay off for a while and took a trip to Florida. Here he met Tom Sopwith, the sportsman, who took him for an airplane ride and started an interest in aviation. This interest was strengthened later by a meeting with General Mitchell of the Army Air Corps. General Mitchell gave him the idea to start an aviation magazine out of which developed Aero Digest. This magazine carries more paid advertising than any other published trade magazine.

I discovered how he turned to publishing for a livelihood. While at college he had a little success with work he had sent into the Philadelphia North American. So he thought, with his usual confidence, that he would make good. This he did because of a great deal of ambition and work.

The interview ended with a cordial handshake and a "Nice talking to you, Sonny." I went back to the teeming streets knowing that I had just met a fine business man and Catholic gentleman.

FRANK A. TICHENOR

College Chatter

By Barney Bellew

TO WHOM it may concern: HERE was a lot of talk sliding back and forth about the choice of the band for the Junior Prom. It's about time you hear him as well as hear of him. Anyone from New York will testify as to his worth. He must be very, very good to last six years at "The Rainbow Room" in Rockefeller Center. As for myself, I think he has a very fine band that will please everyone.

You know, very often the dark horse comes through and the only ones that are sorry are the "Harveys' that passed him over without a glance. So if you play Al Donohue at odds of $4.50 for 2 I'm sure you'll come out way ahead.

Dear Old C. N. R.*

Nixie has been around and informs me that there are approximately 160 lassies in the senior class of which I spoke so highly. Now isn't that nice; Imagine letting loose this June 160 females who have been vacationing for four years. And all in one place too! Look out.

Nixie also informs me that you have one of the largest Catholic girls colleges in the country. She also tells of your beautiful campus. I guess I underrated you. However we do all right at Villanova as you know.

* C. N. R. stands for College of New Rochelle.

What

Comes once in a college lifetime?
Makes a lot of young things lucky?
Will you regret if you renege?
Is a modified vacation for tired Jrs.?
Breaks you worse than ever before?
Have you waited three years for?
Is attended by every loyal Junior?

You guessed it. Junior Week.

Poor Publicity:

St. Joseph's recently had a fashion show and believe it or not it made the papers. One of the fellows appeared in the darlingest costume. Thomas "Rupert" Kain was chosen best dressed of the fashion plates and to quote a Philadelphia daily, 'The best dressed man grimaced sourly, pulled up his green couvert cloth trousers, displaying a bit of Argyle (Scottish Tartan) socks, sat down, and crossed a brown cordovan shoe with rubber soles over a knee." Now is that mannish?

Want Some Sea Food:

Goldfish are not exactly seafood but the latest fad running around colleges is eating them alive. The last I heard were records of 67 goldfish; 400 grasshoppers; one phonograph record and a couple dozen cockroaches.

Joe Parsons claims that no woman has been able to pin anything on him since he was a baby.

VILLANOVAN MEETS

There will be an extremely important meeting of the entire staff of the Villanovan today at 1:00 p. m. in Room 119 Mendel Hall. There will be a discussion of the special Open House issue which must go to press earlier than usual.

Program For Mothers' Day

May 1, 1939

1:30—Reception of Mothers
—Villanova Field House
Address of Welcome
—Rev. Bernard M. Albers, O. S. A., Vice President
March from "Carmen"—Bizet
Symphonic Band
Lo, How a Rose
—Michael Praetorius
Male Chorus
Novelty
—Guitar and Accordian
E. Cogan and J. Fancheri
Tenor Solo —Selected
E. Lucente
Hungarian Dance
—Johannes Brahms
Violin Solo —C. Lodowski
Sylvia —Cley Speaks
Male Quartet
Princess of India—J. L. King
Symphonic Band
Alma Mater —J. Burke
—By Male Chorus and Symphonic Band.
Intermission
Message from Class of 1940
—William F. Duffey
Science Demonstration
—By Chemistry Dept.
3:30—Luncheon
—College Dining Hall
4:00—Open House —Mendel Hall
5:00—Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament
Celebrant, Rev. Daniel P. Faivey, O. S. A.
Servers, J. Griffin, C. Martin, J. Bradley McManus.
Music by Junior Class of the Augustinian Seminary.
Altar Decorations by Bro. Vincent, O. S. A.

Introducing

By BILL TOY

Imagine this college student with a ranking that has been consistently high. Insert in him a love for music. Associate him with social life at Villanova. Incorporate him into the political workings of the Class of 1940. Place him in an executive position on the VILLANOVAN staff. Complete the picture with a personality and an integrity which befits leaders and organizers, yet which lacks the self-importance which sometimes parallels the latter. Now, you have reached reality, and incidentally, the subject of this column—Harry J. McGlade, Jr.

Always a dependable backer of Villanova's social enterprises, there have been few he has missed. . . be they musical, thespian, educational, or terpsichorean. Proms, fraternity hops, dramatic productions, amateur nights, senior socials ,etc., all were graced with his presence and with his guests.

HARRY McGLADE, JR.

As a member of the Junior Prom committee, Harry joined the other members of his class in advocating the selection of Hal Kemp. His association with class politicians and political situations was one in which he was held in esteem. His advice was valued and his criticism welcomed. At political "bull sessions" Harry usually quelled the riot and saved the day with common sense, something which leaves no argument.

On Staff

Undoubtedly, as becomes nearly all those who have affiliated with the VILLANOVAN, Harry's most enjoyable times were spent in the intercsts of journalism. When momentum carried Harry from St. Joseph's College to the door of the VILLANOVAN office, he began his duties as a staff reporter. You have seen his work in this very column wherein a last word of merit is being paid him.

Late in his junior year, our graduate-to-be was appointed circulation manager. In this assignment Harry tackled with vigor a field that was new to him, and to some uninteresting. Working with a limited but capable staff of assistants, he set about the serious business of dispatching the VILLANOVAN through the mails. A newly amalgamated system of binding past issues was carried out under his supervision. For his diligent work Harry was awarded a VILLANOVAN key at the annual dinner-dance conducted by the publication.

In his lighter moments, Harry casts his interest toward the fairer sex, and welcomes a twirl on the local campuses. Rosemont has seen him often, but Villanova wishes always to call him her own. May his be success, the reward of gentlemanly conduct and intelligent pursuit.

WHAT'S GOING ON-

Tuesday, April 25

German Seminar ..... 9:45 A. M.
P. K. P. ..... 10:45 A. M.
VILLANOVAN ..... 1:00 P. M.
Belle Air (Sports) ..... 1:00 P. M.
Philosophy Seminar ..... 1:30 P. M.
Manhattan Game (Home) 3:00 P. M.
F. and M. track meet (Away) ..... 3:00 P. M.
Sociology Seminar ..... 7:00 P. M.

Wednesday, April 26

Belle Air (Business) .... 1:00 P. M.
F. and M. Golf Match (Home) ..... 2:30 P. M.
Temple Game (Home) .. 3:00 P. M.
Music Seminar ..... 7:30 P. M.

Thursday, April 27

Science Seminar ..... 10:45 A. M.
L. K. D. ..... 1:00 P. M.
Belle Air (College) ..... 1:00 P. M.
Glee Club ..... 4:00 P. M.
Band ..... 7:00 P. M.
History Seminar ..... 7:00 P. M.
Music Seminar ..... 7:30 P. M.

Friday, April 28

German Seminar ..... 9:45 A. M.
Belle Air (Photography). 1:00 P. M.
Rider Golf Match (Home) 2:30 P. M.
Research Seminar ..... 4:00 P. M.

Saturday, April 29

Seton Hall Tennis Match (Home) ..... 3:30 P. M.
St. John's of Brooklyn Golf Match (Home) ... 2:30 P. M.
Penn State Game (Away) 3:00 P. M.

Sunday, April 30

Mendel vs. Alumni ..... 10:30 A. M.
Fedigan vs. Austin ..... 1:00 A. M.
Interracial Council ..... 2:30 P. M.

Monday, May 1

P. K. P. ..... 10:45 A. M.
Mathematics Club ..... 12:30 P. M.
Belle Air (Arts) ..... 1:00 P. M.
Open House ..... 2:00-5:00 P. M.
6:00-9:00 P. M.

THE NEWS IN BRIEF

New director of the Villanovans is Paul Wade, senior education student, succeeding Bartholomeo Passanante, senior science man. The campus orchestra has been secured in several outside engagements.

"Social Security and the Catholic College" was presented by Rev. Vincent A. McQuade, O. S. A., Rev. Joseph I. Boyle was also in attendance.

Classical Convention of the Atlantic States is to be held at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel in Philadelphia on April 28 and 29. Rev. T. A. Kiley, O. S. A. and Rev. J. E. Bresnahan, O. S. A., will attend. All students are welcome.

Prize of $25 will be awarded by by the Foreign Traders Association of Philadelphia for the best essay on "The Importance of Foreign Trade" to the Philadelphia community. Information may be secured from Mr. Bernard Douredoure, 227 S. Front St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Investment Banking is the topic of an essay contest sponsored by the Investment Bankers Association of America, information regarding which may be secured from the educational director, 33 S. Clark St., Chicago.

Major Edward Bowes, famous purveyor of amateur talent and also head of the Capital Family was a dinner guest of Rev. Edward V. Stanford, O. S. A., president of the college, Sunday evening, April 16.

Several traveling graduates were campus visitors, Basil Dobrow and John Simons surprised each other by meeting on campus green. Basil is engaged in radio work while Simons is studying for a [illegible] degree at the U[illegible] gan.

COLLEGE PRESIDENT HONORARY MEMBER OF NEW FRATERNITY

Chi Mu Epsilon Select Committee for Induction Banquet May 15

Chi Mu Epsilon, new engineering honorary, held its organization meeting last Thursday, April 20, in 214 Mendel. At this meeting Mr. John A. Oakey, M. S., assistant engineering professor, was introduced as moderator by Dr. Edward L. Haenisch, chairman of the faculty committee organizing the society and chemical engineering advisor.

The first action of the members then was to unanimously elect Rev. Edward V. Stanford, O. S. A., president of the college, the first honorary member, in recognition of his services as a member of the engineering faculty prior to his appointment and in appreciation for his co-operation ever since.

Mr. Oakey then directed the appointment of committees to handle specific details of the organization and plan for the induction banquet, which is set for May 15. The committees will work with the faculty organizing committee of Mr. Emil Amelotti, M. S., assistant mathematics professor, Dr. Haenisch, and Mr. Oakey.

The constitution and by-laws of the society are to be drawn up by Raymond J. MacGregor, A. John Malaspina, Thomas J. Schaedler, and Frederick Welty, with the help of Mr. Amelotti. They will also arrange for the election of officers, to take place before the banquet. It has been decided that dues will be five dollars a year, with the cost of the key included. Anthony J. Cirrito, Edward Kinneen, and Frank Mozzi will work with Mr. Oakey to introduce a suitable ritual for the induction of members.

Plans for the dinner and the general organization of the group are to be handled by Leo Bicher, John Burke, and Edward Burke. Dr. Haenisch is helping in this, and he revealed that a prominent engineering alumnus is to be guest at the banquet.

ENGINEER FACULTY TO STUDY PROJECTS

Professors of Civil, Mechanical Departments Appointed to Research

Members of the mechanical and civil engineering faculty have recently been appointed to groups studying current problems in home heating and community sanitation.

A study of chimneys in small homes was undertaken recently by Mr. J. Stanley Morehouse, M.S., acting dean of the engineering school, in conjunction with experiments being conducted in the laboratories of the Anthracite Institute at Primos, Pa.

Mr. Morehouse is doing this work as a member of a sub-committee of the Solid Fuel Committee of the American Society of Heating and Ventilating Engineers.

In acceding to a request of the local authorities, Mr. John A. Oakey, M.S., assistant engineering professor, recently became a member of the Board of Health of Radnor Township.

Mr. Oakey was asked to take the position because of his experience in civil engineering, which will be of great help in dealing with the sanitation engineering which the board handles.

ALUMNI PLANS WELCOME FOR SENIORS AT DANCE

May 19 Date Set For Terpsichorean Affair at Cricket Club

The Alumni will hold their annual Spring dance in order to welcome the graduating class on Friday, May 19.

This year's affair will be held at the Philadelphia Cricket Club with music furnished by the Villanovans. The chairman will be Joseph Linsiata who announces that all seniors are cordially invited.

B. A. Passanante will also serve on the committee and will be the first undercalssman to receive such an honor.

Keegan Lectures on 'Cholyecystitecomy'

Cholyecystitecomy was lectured on before the biology and physiology classes of Villanova and Haliahan by James A. Keegan, senior in the education department.

This is a process employed in removing the gall bladder, to which many innovations have been added. Keegan's lectures have been illustrated through the use of many slides and drawings.

The subject is a pertinent one since it has received consideration in the April issue of the magazine, "Medical World."

ADVISORY COUNCIL MEET AT LUNCHEON

Topic of Discussion Is on "Pending Legislation Affecting Higher Education"

At a luncheon meeting of the General Advisory Council of the college yesterday afternoon in the Farragut Room of the Union League in Philadelphia the V. Rev. Edward V. Stanford, O. S. A., president of the college, talked on "Pending Legislation Affecting Higher Education."

Fr. Stanford also attended a meeting of the National Commission of Church-Related Colleges held during the past week at the Deshler-Warick Hotel in Columbus, Ohio, and he will be at a meeting of the Board of Directors of the American Association of Colleges on Friday.

Villanova was represented at the Centennial Celebration of Duke University held April 21, 22, and 23 an alumnus, by Dr. George G. Herr of Southern Pines, N. C.

Another alumnus will represent the college next June 3 at the 75th anniversary of the founding of Gallaude College in Washington, D. C.

Teacher training and library work was the theme of a conference of the State Department of Education attended by Rev. Joseph C. Bartley, O. S. A. Dean of the School of Commerce and Finance.

PHILLIPSBURG SCENE OF DEBATE WITH LAFAYETTE

Salerno, McKimmey Handle Anglo-American Topic Before High School Audience

A freshman team from Lafayette College will be the next opponent of the Villanova Jayvee debaters, on Friday, April 28. The proposed Anglo-American Alliance will be discussed.

The debate, which will take place before an assembly of a parochial high school in Phillipsburg, N. J., will see Armand Salerno and Thomas McKimmey defending the negative for Villanova, while Lafayette will uphold the affirmative.

On Friday, April 21, a debate was held between Princeton and Villanova freshmen on the Pump-Priming question. Messrs. Belz and Fullam represented Villanova on the negative, while Messrs. Carter and Farrar formed Princeton's affirmative team. Fullam and Farrar were the rebuttalists.

Plans have been made for a tour, including debates with Saint John's of Brooklyn and Mt. Saint Vincent's, in addition to a home debate with Muhlenberg on May 31.

PRESS ASSOCIATION MEETS

"Indecent Literature" to be Critically Discussed at Rosemont on Sunday

"Indecent Literature" was decided upon for the subject of the next meeting of the Catholic College Press Association which will be held Sunday, April 30, at Rosemont College.

Talks will be presented on this topic by representatives from Villanova, La Salle, and Chestnut Hill. The papers will treat of the danger of indecent literature and the action which Catholics should take to remedy the situation. After a general discussion a release will be prepared stating student opinion.

The Catholic College Press Association decided on this topic, Sunday, April 23, at St. Joseph's College. The trustees and officers of the group attended and discussed topics and organization.

BELLE MASQUE PLAYERS IN ANNUAL SPRING PLAY

Raymond Manahan (left), as the ambitious hotel chain executive, is seen demanding explanations of the vacillating manager, as portrayed by Robert O'Brien, in one of the comical scenes from "Room Service."

"Room Service" Players Score With Riotous Performances at Field House

By JAMES F. HAUGHTON

A riotous farce came rolling down Lancaster Pike over the week-end after two months of preparation and dropped right into the laps of several hundred pleased theatregoers.

To single out any particular individual would be a difficult proposition because all did so well. The play was nicely divided and gave all an opportunity to display their talents.

As Wagner, the hotel chain representative, who was sent to put the White Way on its feet, Ray Manahan fitted right in. Attempts to lockout the theatrical trouble made him very gruff, but that ambition of vice-president was finally reached. His frantic and a bit effeminate hotel manager, Robert O'Brien was one of the evenings surprises. Never would one think that this was the same person who played such a rowdy part in last year's production "Winterset." But the transition proved effective and Joe Gribbie worried himself to death almost.

To handle the part that Groucho Marx played in the movie version required much because the majority of the audience probably saw the film edition and had certain expectations. But Robert Barret was equal to the part. Many were his moments of distress as he carried the banner for his troupe before he finally got a Broadway hit. His numerous attempts to avoid the threatened foreclosure received much help from Bob O'connor who looked and sounded very Ned Sparkish as Harry Binion, the director of Godspeed. O'Connor carried his megaphone constantly and between wisecracks it helped him to retain his professional proclivity.

Probably one of the most entertaining surprises of the evening was Joseph McCabe making his campus theatrical debut as Davis, the Oswega yokel whose inspired pen wrote "Godspeed." McCabe looked like a lad from place where even the milk train didn't stop, and he acted it. His believing manner, Gotham-amazed attitude made him fit very well into his first work.

From the Rosemont college dramatists came two very talented young ladies in Misses Marion O'Brien and Patricia Rice. Both made very capable secretaries who possessed an intimate love af the theater and applied it in an assisting manner as Christine Marlowe and Hilda Manney. Christine was the young lady who was so interested in Miller, the producer, that she not only looked for a backer, but also fed and nursed members of the almost-defunct troupe. Miss Rice was the hotel stenographer who thought the Russian waiter from Moscow, Witold Kryzwicki, deserved an opportunity and finally persuaded the author to write him in for a part.

From the remainder of the supporting cast it would be hard to single out any particular person because they also all did well. Kryzwicki as the inspired waiter-actor had the perfect accent; William Dobbins as the backer's representative was a bit manhandled by several of the stag, but came through in fine fettle; that physical touch was also spilled to James Donovan as the hotel physician who didn't agree with the impromptu diagnosis of the trouble physician, Jim O'Brien. As Faker Englund, O'Brien brought down the house with his wise cracks and entertaining antics. But for the life of him, he couldn't find a shirt. Two entertaining messengers were Gerald Lynam representing some alert credit agency, Gerald Holland of the bank which wouldn't accept the backer's check. Lynam had a nicely acquired brogue, but was it alert enough to heed the false start the troupe gave him.

WCAU AND KYW STUDIOS INSPECTED BY ENGINEERS

A. I. E. E. Also Elects Secretary and Chairman for 1939-40

Inspection tours of the WCAU and KYW studios were made by members of the A. I. E. E. on April 21.

At a meeting held yesterday, the organization elected a chairman and secretary for the year 1939-40 but the results will not be made public until those chosen have been approved by the faculty.

The society was unable to secure the film on mazda lamp construction which was to be shown on April 24, but if possible it will be shown at some later date.

A ping-pong contest with A. I. E. E. members from Pennsylvania University has been arranged for some time during the second week of May.

Unusual Machine Seen By Math Club

Continued From Page One

izing complex mechanical relationships for intricate processes of measuring.

Mr. Emil Amelotti, M.S., arranged the trip through Mr. George Hare, who has charge of the operation of the machine.

May 22 was the date set for the club's dinner at the weekly meeting in Simpson Hall yesterday afternoon. The dinner will be followed by a talk on "Magic Squares" by Joseph C. Dorsey.

Keating Elected Sophomore Prexy

Continued From Page One

The nine who were not elected are: Frank Abbott, Paul Farnsworth, and Edward J. Kelly, school of engineering; James Donovan, school of arts; James Haughton, Walter Kelly, from the commerce and finance school; Robert Kiley, Edward Steinhardt, and Fred Steiger, of the science school.

Nominations for the students of the class of '40 will not be held until the activities of junior week have been terminated. Positions to be filled are those of president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, and the four members of the class in the Student Council.

HAVERFORD CHEM. CLUB ENTERTAINS LOCAL GROUP

Dr. Wendell Stanley, of Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, Lecturer

The Chemistry Club of Haverford College entertained members of the Villanova faculty and student body as guests at a lecture of Dr. Wendell M. Stanley. Dr. Stanley is from the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research. He spoke last Wednesday evening at Robert's Hall, Haverford College. "The Properties and Structure and Properties of Viruses" was the subject of the talk.

Dr. Edward L. Haenisch, chemical engineering advisor, Rev. John F. Hammond, O. S. A., M. A., and Rev. Edward F. Jenkins, O. S. A., Ph. D., attended, as did George F. Kamen and Andrew McKane, junior chemistry majors, and Alfred M. Bongiovanni, Winslow J. Borkowski, and Charles A. Skowron, of the School of Science.

A. S. C. E. MEMBERS PLAN TO SHOW FILM OF LINCOLN TUNNEL

James Carrol Represents Villanova at Meeting of Philadelphia Area

The American Society of Civil Engineers has released plans for an extensive program. It started Monday with a student convention of all chapters in the Philadelphia area, and will end late in the year with several trips.

Villanova was represented at the convention at Lehigh by 18 student-members. James Carrol, president of the local chapter, read a paper on "Highway Improvements." The paper met with the general approval of his audience.

Wednesday, the organization will present a motion picture in connection with the construction of the Lincoln Tunnel. A most cordial invitation is extended to the entire student body as well. "The attendees will be assured of a good show," said Secretary Cyril Daly, "and we are looking forward to seeing a greater part of the students there. The final details as to time and place will be posted on all bulletin boards."

At the last business meeting, plans for the election of next year's officers were discussed. The following men were nominated for offices: president — Joseph Gallagher, Charles Barret and Clement Dinon; vice president — Vincent Baum, Matthew Bassow and Melchor Gaston; secretary-treasurer — Joseph Skelly, Louis Cattaneo and J. McGuire. The date for the balloting has been tentatively scheduled for the week of April 25.

Because of a conflict with Junior Week, a trip to the Valley Forge Cement plant has been postponed to the week following.

Also postponed was a film on the construction of the Golden Gate Bridge. This latter film will be shown through the courtesy of the Roebling Cable Co. of Trenton.

Sportorial

By Joe Barnes
Acting Sports Editor

IN every college there are many athletes, who do not have the necessary ability to make a varsity team in football, baseball, and basketball. Yet they are just as desirous of playing in intercollegiate competition as are any of our Wysocki's, Basca's, etc. It is our contention that such athletes should be provided with the opportunity of representing Villanova in intercollegiate sport.

We are of the opinion that junior-varsity teams should be formed in football, basketball, and baseball to enable players, who haven't the ability to make one of Villanova's top-notch varsity aggregations, to engage in the sports they like. That we have plenty of material for such activities can be well shown by the calibre of the athletes in the Intramural sports. We have seen several athletes competing in the intramurals, who could easily make varsity teams at many of the colleges in this area. We might mention Keating, Castles, and McGurk as examples. However they haven't the ability to make the Villanova varsity. Why not give them the chance to show their wares in intercollegiate competition, instead of hiding their light in Alumni Gym or the Mendel playing fields?

Please do not think that we are casting any aspersoins upon Father McKee's excellent intramural program. There isn't a better developed program anywhere in the nation at a college of Villanova's size. It is perhaps the greatest thing in Villanova athletics. But our idea is that the program would be even better if it included only those who are without any special abilities in athletics, which means the average college student. Those who possess some ability, but are handicapped by size, weight, etc, or have been dropped from a varsity team, would be included in the junior-varsity.

With an intramural—junior-varsity — varsity program of athletics the set-up would be ideal. "Athletics for All" would be more than just a nice-sounding slogan, it would be a fact. At the present time we do not have athletics for all because many of the men on intramural teams are much too good for the average student. With these men moved up to junior-varsity teams there would be room for the rest of the student body to engage in the intramurals.

Another important factor in the introduction of junior-varsity teams is that they would provide the thrill of representing Villanova against other schools, the lack of which is the intramurals' greatest drawback.

In football we already have a 150-pound team to take care of the lightweights, but what about those over 150 pounds? They also should be given the opportunity to play.

As usual there is one great drawback. Where is the cash to finance such a program going to come from? Like John Kiernan, of "Information Please" fame, we always have an answer. Whether it is worthwhile we leave to you to decide. Good or not it still presents a solution.

We suggest a minor sports association be formed of the managers and members of the junior-varsity teams in football, basketball, and baseball, along with the managers and members of the 150-pound football team, the tennis, golf, boxing, and swimming teams. The association, which to function

SPORTORIAL Continued on Page Six

CATS FACE MANHATTAN TODAY

C. C. N. Y. NINE WINS AS VILLANOVA CLUB LOSES FIRST GAME

O'Leary and Desmond Fail to Hold Gotham Tossers as Cats Lose, 12-4

VILLANOVA TEAM OFF FORM

By BOB FUNABASHI

Behind Pat Brescia's repulsive hurling and the spectacular batting and fielding of Bill Mayhew, the nicknamed Beavers of City College gnawed a deep cut into the two game win streak of the Wildcats by a jolting 12-4 decision.

Villanova, traveling to New York ,met their Nemesis after previously beating Penn and Boston College. It was the fourth successive triumph for the Beavers and their fifth victory in seven games.

Wildcats Lead

The Wildcats hopped off to a two-run lead in the first inning with Nick Basca's single into left field tallied Bob Pash and "Cowboy" Crawley. But the Villanova lead was rather brusque and in the latter part of the second inning, the Beavers pushed across five runs. Pat Brescia, who starred on the mound for the Beavers, contributed a double and then went to third on a wild patch. Connie O'Leary, who drew the starting assignment for the Blue, became a bit erratic and walked Meister and Balkan, loading the bases. Cozin's single brought Brescia home for the first run and then Meister scored from third on Monitto's grounder to second on to tie up the game at 2-2. With two away Mayhew, star slugger for the City College nine, stepped to the plate and slammed O'Leary's fast ball into deep center field, clearing the bases.

Mayhew drove in four runs for the Beavers, with a single, double and triple and was passed once. In center field he made five catches, two of which weer the spectacular type.

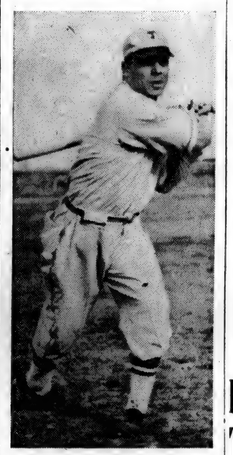
Cats Rally

Villanova rallied to drive across a single tally in the fourth frame when O'Leary walked and Crawley doubled to left center to score the pitcher.

The New Yorkers in their bland maner drove across two more runs in the fifth inning and in the eighth they drove O'Leary from the mound with a barrage of hits. Joe Desmond replaced O'Leary but the Beavers showed no mercy for the two-time winner for the Wildcats and when the inning was end-

C. C. N. Y. Continued on Page Seven

Owl Slugger



GEORGE HONOCHICK

Hero of the gridiron, Honochick is also clean-up man on the Temple nine. He hopes that some of his mates will get on base tomorrow so that he can have something to clean up!

F. & M., Rider, St. John's On Wildcat Golf Card

The Villanova golf team will attempt to pry the lid off the 1939 season tomorrow afternoon with a meet with Franklin and Marshall College scheduled for the home links in Radnor.

On Friday afternoon the 'Cat linksmen will play hosts to the Rider College golfers. This match will also be played in Radnor. The week's card will be concluded on Saturday, when the strong St. John's of Brooklyn club will invade the Blue stronghold.

Captain Jim Dwyer, veteran Number one man of the home aggregation will announce the starting team.

INFECTED FINGER

Harry Mazzei, ace quarterback on "Clipper" Smith's grid team and conductor of the Here and There column in this publication, was sent home to North Bergen, N. J., last week as a result of an infected finger incurred in practice. Harry pounded out his column from the sickbed so that his readers would not meet disappointment.

Rain:

The weatherman and Villanova's Spring sport schedulemakers have had quite a time attempting to thwart each other this Spring. Eight out of eleven tennis, golf and baseball contests have been cancelled so far, most of them by rain. Five baseball games were washed out by the omnipresent April showers. Only three have been played. Bad condition of the courts caused the cancellation of the first tennis match with Manhattan College, while the second was called off by an unexpected action of St. Joseph's Colege. The Hawk officials also called off their golf match with the Blue without formal explanation. Only the track team has thwarted cancellations thus far.

BROOKLYN COLLEGE TOPS RACQUETEERS

Strong Flatbushers Outclass Wildcat Team in Opener on Villanova Courts

Villanova's tennis team, after having their first two matches cancelled, finally got their season opened yesterday, but met with dire consequences. Brooklyn College, presenting a suprisingly strong ensemble, found the unseasoned Blue to be fairly easy meat and went home with a victory under their belts.

In the opening match Dennis Dunne, Villanova's Number one man, fell easy prey before the s' ughtering smashes of the famed Brooklyn champion, Izzy Goldstein won hands down by the scores of 6-2, 6-1.

Dave Keefe c. the Flatbush collegians had little trouble with Fred Rappleyea in winning 6-2, 6-2. Rappleyea played a fine brand of tennis but Keefe had too much on the ball for Villanova's man.

Villanova's hard-working captain, Saul Wallach, was up against Brooklyns Ruznak in his match and lost by the same scores as in the Keefe-Rappleyea affair.

The decisive defeat of the Blue and White was attributed by some to be a result of the difficulty in getting practice sessions under way this year. The home court renovation was only recently completed and very few practice sessions have been worked in by the Villanova team. The team is confident that it will get going before long.

CRUCIAL WEEK FOR JACOBSMEN BEGINS WITH GAME TODAY

Temple and State Threaten to Halt Blue Team; Manhattan Team Revamped

GAMES START AT 3 P. M.

By JIM HAUGHTON

An old wet and windy gent who travels under the pseudonym of Bill X. Badweather having created havoc with local outdoor follies has promised to hit to a different terrain so that Doc Jacobs may entertain two old football rivals, Manhattan and Temple.

So this afternoon at 3:00, if the raucous lad keeps his promise, Villanova's men of the stick will tangle with the Jaspers of Manhattan.

The New Yorkers have a rather inept organization according to advance dope. Thus far they've been hammered from pillar to post on several occasions. Princeton, among ohters, started the season off by soundly whacking the Bronxites. And the Jaspers' metropolitan neighbor, City College, continued to aid the cause by sinking them under a barrage of base hits.

Lettermen Lost

But there seems to be a good reason for this ill-luck on the diamond. For eight of last year's ten lettermen have been lost and little comparable strength has been added. It is doubtful that the Jaspers with material on hand can come near equalling the '38 record of twelve victories and three defeats.

Missing from the ranks are such stars as Ray Volpi, Jack Daly, Al Caruso, Ed Glancy and Russ Kurtz. And then Don Phillips, third ranking pitcher of 1938, hiked himself off to display his wares at Holy Cross.

Hoping to carry on the cause are Captain Frank Jost, a fixture at first base; captain-elect of the basketeers, Jim Sarullo, at second; Frank Romano handling the shortstop spot; and to aid at third will be Frank Gnup of Aliquippa, Pa. The outfield will have Carl Morgan at left, Ted Mazur at center and Walt Perrin at right. Bill Schwitter, a soph basketball man, will probably handle the pitchers.

Mainstay of the chuckers is Tom Coughlin who last year shut out St. John's in his only start. He is a big strong lad with plenty of control. Backing up in case of difficulties will be Jack Hartz, Dave Farabaugh, Ken Larkin and Ray McMahon. Hartz in particular shows good promise with a snappy fast ball.

Owls Strong

But Wednesday brings with it much trouble in the person of Pep Young and his strong Temple ball club. The Owls who on their yearly visit to the local camping grounds arouse the metropolitan scribes to reach into the morgue and relate of the many times the Owls and Cats have tangled, etc., bring with them one of the strongest teams in history.

For the Broad Street lads who use a neighboring flower box as a campus have several men who have caused major league ivory hunters to turn an open eye to the ranks. There is Howie Black, of basketball fame, who is already lined up with the farm system of the St. Louis Cardinals. Black is a snappy second sacker and last year whacked out a cute .310 average. Another standout is George Nemchik who was a member of the 1936 U. S. Olympic soccer team. He handles the shortstop section and batted a nice .323 to lead the

CRUCIAL Continued on Page Six

Runners Lose To Pennsylvania In Mock Meet As Maher Gleams

By BILL CAREY

Running in a constant drizzle of rain, which kept up throughout the afternoon, the Wildcat trackmen went down to defeat at the hands of Pennsylvania University, in an informal meet at Franklin Field last Tuesday.

Turning in brilliant performances for the Blue and White were Johnny Maher and Bill Guiteras.

Maher, running on the rain-soaked track, came in victor in the 100-yard dash in the fast time of 10 seconds flat. Just a step behind was Whitey Urbellis. Lavine of Penn finished third.

Guiteras Wins

Guiteras, who copped the 600, got off to a bad start, but took the lead at the 300-yard mark, and from that point he turned on the heat to finish 10 yards to the good, in 1:14.2. Pete Yankauskus, sprinting home, just missed catching Heed of Penn who finished second.

The 1000-yard run furnished plenty of competition with John Drebinger of the Blue and Red beating out Barney Bellew of the Wildcats by a scant two or three yards. The lead changed three times throughout the run, and was only decided in the last 25 yards when Drebinger, outsprinted Bellew to slowly pull away to the tape.

Ray Bradley of Penn turned in the sensational time of 31.6 in the 300 when he beat out Whitey Urbellis and Johnny Maher.

Point-Winners

Other point-winners for the Wildcats were Brad McManus, third in the pole vault; Parson and Murphy, who were tied for second in the high jump. Kolenda took second in the discus, Buzzalino was third in the shotput and Carey, third in the high hurdles.

Coach Elliot was satisfied with the showing of the team in general, and especially of the runners. This afternoon the team will travel to Lancaster to meet the Diplomat tracksters of Franklin and Marshall College. The Diplomats, always strong in athletics,

RUNNERS Continued on Page Six

COLLEGE PRESIDENT HONORARY MEMBER OF NEW FRATERNITY

Chi Mu Epsilon Select Committee for Induction Banquet May 15

Chi Mu Epsilon, new engineering honorary, held its organization meeting last Thursday, April 20, in 214 Mendel. At this meeting Mr. John A. Oakey, M. S., assistant engineering professor, was introduced as moderator by Dr. Edward L. Haenisch, chairman of the faculty committee organizing the society and chemical engineering advisor.

The first action of the members then was to unanimously elect Rev. Edward V. Stanford, O. S. A., president of the college, the first honorary member, in recognition of his services as a member of the engineering faculty prior to his appointment and in appreciation for his co-operation ever since.

Mr. Oakey then directed the appointment of committees to handle specific details of the organization and plan for the induction banquet, which is set for May 15. The committees will work with the faculty organizing committee of Mr. Emil Amelotti, M. S., assistant mathematics professor, Dr. Haenisch, and Mr. Oakey.

The constitution and by-laws of the society are to be drawn up by Raymond J. MacGregor, A. John Malaspina, Thomas J. Schaedler, and Frederick Welty, with the help of Mr. Amelotti. They will also arrange for the election of officers, to take place before the banquet. It has been decided that dues will be five dollars a year, with the cost of the key included. Anthony J. Cirrito, Edward Kinneen, and Frank Mozzi will work with Mr. Oakey to introduce a suitable ritual for the induction of members.

Plans for the dinner and the general organization of the group are to be handled by Leo Bicher, John Burke, and Edward Burke. Dr. Haenisch is helping in this, and he revealed that a prominent engineering alumnus is to be guest at the banquet.

Keegan Lectures on 'Cholyecystitecomy'

Cholyecystitecomy was lectured on before the biology and physiology classes of Villanova and Hallahan by James A. Keegan, senior in the education department.

This is a process employed in removing the gall bladder, to which many innovations have been added. Keegan's lectures have been illustrated through the use of many slides and drawings.

The subject is a pertinent one since it has received consideration in the April issue of the magazine, "Medical World."

ADVISORY COUNCIL MEET AT LUNCHEON

Topic of Discussion Is on "Pending Legislation Affecting Higher Education"

At a luncheon meeting of the General Advisory Council of the college yesterday afternoon in the Farragut Room of the Union League in Philadelphia the V. Rev. Edward V. Stanford, O. S. A., president of the college, talked on "Pending Legislation Affecting Higher Education."

Fr. Stanford also attended a meeting of the National Commission of Church-Related Colleges held during the past week at the Deshler-Warick Hotel in Columbus, Ohio, and he will be at a meeting of the Board of Directors of the American Association of Colleges on Friday.

Villanova was represented at the Centennial Celebration of Duke University held April 21, 22, and 23 an alumnus, by Dr. George G. Herr of Southern Pines, N. C.

Another alumnus will represent the college next June 3 at the 75th anniversary of the founding of Gallaude College in Washington, D. C.

Teacher training and library work was the theme of a conference of the State Department of Education attended by Rev. Joseph C. Bartley, O. S. A. Dean of the School of Commerce and Finance.

ENGINEER FACULTY TO STUDY PROJECTS

Professors of Civil, Mechanical Departments Appointed to Research

Members of the mechanical and civil engineering faculty have recently been appointed to groups studying current problems in home heating and community sanitation.

A study of chimneys in small homes was undertaken recently by Mr. J. Stanley Morehouse, M.S., acting dean of the engineering school, in conjunction with experiments being conducted in the laboratories of the Anthracite Institute at Primos, Pa.

Mr. Morehouse is doing this work as a member of a sub-committee of the Solid Fuel Committee of the American Society of Heating and Ventilating Engineers.

In acceding to a request of the local authorities, Mr. John A. Oakey, M.S. assistant engineering professor, recently became a member of the Board of Health of Radnor Township.

Mr. Oakey was asked to take the position because of his experience in civil engineering, which will be of great help in dealing with the sanitation engineering which the board handles.

ALUMNI PLANS WELCOME FOR SENIORS AT DANCE

May 19 Date Set For Terpsichorean Affair at Cricket Club

The Alumni will hold their annual Spring dance in order to welcome the graduating class on Friday, May 19.

This year's affair will be held at the Philadelphia Cricket Club with music furnished by the Villanovans. The chairman will be Joseph Linskis who announces that all seniors are cordially invited.

B. A. Passantanie will also serve on the committee and will be the first underclassman to receive such an honor.

PHILLIPSBURG SCENE OF DEBATE WITH LAFAYETTE

Salerno, McKimmey Handle Anglo-American Topic Before High School Audience

A freshman team from Lafayette College will be the next opponent of the Villanova Jayvee debaters, on Friday, April 28. The proposed Anglo-American Alliance will be discussed.

The debate, which will take place before an assembly of a parochial high school in Phillipsburg, N. J., will see Armand Salerno and Thomas McKimmey defending the negative for Villanova, while Lafayette will uphold the affirmative.

On Friday, April 21, a debate was held between Princeton and Villanova freshmen on the Pump-Firming question. Messrs. Belz and Fullam represented Villanova on the negative, while Messrs. Carter and Farrar formed Princeton's affirmative team. Fullam and Farrar were the rebuttalists.

Plans have been made for a tour, including debates with Saint John's of Brooklyn and Mt. Saint Vincent's, in addition to a home debate with Muhlenberg on May 31.

PRESS ASSOCIATION MEETS

"Indecent Literature" to be Critically Discussed at Rosemont on Sunday

"Indecent Literature" was decided upon for the subject of the next meeting of the Catholic College Press Association which will be held Sunday, April 30, at Rosemont College.

Talks will be presented on this topic by representatives from Villanova, La Salle, and Chestnut Hill. The papers will treat of the danger of indecent literature and the action which Catholics should take to remedy the situation. After a general discussion a release will be prepared stating student opinion.

The Catholic College Press Association decided on this topic, Sunday, April 23, at St. Joseph's College. The trustees and officers of the group attended and discussed topics and organization.

BELLE MASQUE PLAYERS IN ANNUAL SPRING PLAY

Raymond Manahan (left), as the ambitious hotel chain executive, is seen demanding explanations of the vacillating manager, as portrayed by Robert O'Brien, in one of the comical scenes from "Room Service."

"Room Service" Players Score With Riotous Performances at Field House

By JAMES F. HAUGHTON

A riotous farce came rolling down Lancaster Pike over the week-end after two months of preparation and dropped right into the laps of several hundred pleased theatregoers.

To single out any particular individual would be a difficult proposition because all did so well. The play was nicely divided and gave all an opportunity to display their talents.

As Wagner, the hotel chain representative, who was sent to put the White Way on its feet, Ray Manahan fitted right in. Attempts to lockout the theatrical trouble made him very gruff, but that ambition of vice-president was finally reached. His frantic and a bit effeminate hotel manager, Robert O'Brien was one of the evenings surprises. Never would one think that this was the same person who played such a rowdy part in last year's production "Winterset." But the transition proved effective and Joe Gribbie worried himself to death almost.

To handle the part that Groucho Marx played in the movie version required much because the majority of the audience probably saw the film edition and had certain expectations. But Robert Barret was equal to the part. Many were his moments of distress as he carried the banner for his troupe before he finally got a Broadway hit. His numerous attempts to avoid the threatened foreclosure received much help from Bob O'Connor who looked and sounded very Ned Sparkish as Harry Binion the director of Godspeed. O'Connor carried his megaphone constantly and between wisecracks it helped him to retain his professional proclivity.

Probably one of the most entertaining surprises of the evening was Joseph McCabe making his campus theatrical debut as Davis, the Oswega yokel whose inspired pen wrote "Godspeed." McCabe looked like a lad from place where even the milk train didn't stop, and he acted it. His believing manner, Gotham-amazed attitude made him fit very well into his first work.

From the Rosemont college dramatists came two very talented young ladies in Misses Marion O'Brien and Patricia Rice. Both made very capable secretaries who possessed an intimate love af the theater and applied it in an assisting manner as Christine Marlowe and Hilda Manney. Christine was the young lady who was so interested in Miller, the producer, that she not only looked for a backer, but also fed and nursed members of the almost-defunct troupe. Miss Rice was the hotel stenographer who thought the Russian waiter from Moscow, Witold Kryzwicki, deserved an opportunity and finally persuaded the author to write him in for a part.

From the remainder of the supporting cast it would be hard to single out any particular person because they also all did well. Kryzwicki as the inspired waiter-actor had the perfect accent; William Dobbins as the backer's representative was a bit manhandled by several of the stag, but came through in fine fettle; that physical touch was also spied to James Donovan as the hotel physician who didn't agree with the impromptu diagnosis of the trouble physician, Jim O'Brien. As Fake Englund, O'Brien brought down the house with his wise cracks and entertaining antics. But for the life of him, he couldn't find a shirt. Two entertaining messengers were Gerald Lynam representing some alert credit agency, Gerald Holland of the bank which wouldn't accept the backer's check. Lynam had a nicely acquired brogue, but was a bit alert enough to heed the false start the troupe gave him.

WCAU AND KYW STUDIOS INSPECTED BY ENGINEERS

A. I. E. E. Also Elects Secretary and Chairman for 1939-40

Inspection tours of the WCAU and KYW studios were made by members of the A. I. E. E. on April 21.

At a meeting held yesterday, the organization elected a chairman and secretary for the year 1939-40 but the results will not be made public until those chosen have been approved by the faculty.

The society was unable to secure the film on mazda lamp construction which was to be shown on April 24, but if possible it will be shown at some later date.

A ping-pong contest with A. I. E. E. members from Pennsylvania University has been arranged for some time during the second week of May.

HAVERFORD CHEM. CLUB ENTERTAINS LOCAL GROUP

Dr. Wendell Stanley, of Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, Lecturer

The Chemistry Club of Haverford College entertained members of the Villanova faculty and student body as guests at a lecture of Dr. Wendell M. Stanley, Dr. Stanley is from the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research. He spoke last Wednesday evening at Robert's Hall, Haverford College, "The Properties and Structure and Properties of Viruses" was the subject of the talk.

Dr. Edward L. Haenisch, chemical engineering advisor, Rev. John F. Hammond, O. S. A., M. A., and Rev. Edward F. Jenkins, O. S. A., Ph. D., attended, as did George F. Kamen and Andrew McKane, junior chemistry majors, and Alfred M. Bongiovanni, Winslow J. Borkowski, and Charles A. Skowron, of the School of Science.

A. S. C. E. MEMBERS PLAN TO SHOW FILM OF LINCOLN TUNNEL

James Carrol Represents Villanova at Meeting of Philadelphia Area

The American Society of Civil Engineers has released plans for an extensive program. It started Monday with a student convention of all chapters in the Philadelphia area, and will end late in the year with several trips.

Villanova was represented at the convention at Lehigh by 15 student-members. James Carrol, president of the local chapter, read a paper on "Highway Improvements." The paper met with the general approval of his audience.

Wednesday, the organization will present a motion picture in connection with the construction of the Lincoln Tunnel. A most cordial invitation is extended to the entire student body as well. "The attendees will be assured of a good show," said Secretary Cyril Daly, "and we are looking forward to seeing a greater part of the students there. The final details as to time and place will be posted on all bulletin boards."

At the last business meeting, plans for the election of next year's officers were discussed. The following men were nominated for offices: president — Joseph Gallagher, Charles Barret and Clement Dinon; vice president — Vincent Baum, Matthew Bassow and Melchor Gaston; secretary-treasurer — Joseph Skelly, Louis Cattaneo and J. McGuire. The date for the balloting has been tentatively scheduled for the week of April 25.

Because of a conflict with Junior Week, a trip to the Valley Forge Cement plant has been postponed to the week following.

Also postponed was a film on the construction of the Golden Gate Bridge. This latter film will be shown through the courtesy of the Roebling Cable Co. of Trenton.

Unusual Machine Seen By Math Club

Continued From Page One

izing complex mechanical relationships for intricate processes of measuring.

Mr. Emil Amelotti, M.S. arranged the trip through Mr. George Hare, who has charge of the operation of the machine.

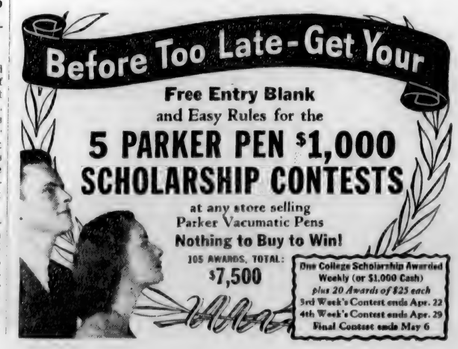
May 22 was the date set for the club's dinner at the weekly meeting in Simpson Hall yesterday afternoon. The dinner will be followed by a talk on "Magic Squares" by Joseph C. Dorsey.

Keating Elected Sophomore Prexy

Continued From Page One

The nine who were not elected are Frank Abbott, Paul Farnsworth, and Edward J. Kelly, school of engineering; James Donovan, school of arts; James Haughton, Walter Kelly, from the commerce and finance school; Robert Kiley, Edward Steinbardt, and Fred Stelle, of the science school.

Nominations for the students of the class of '40 will not be held until the activities of junior week have been terminated. Positions to be filled are those of president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, and the four members of the class in the Student Council.



VILLANOVAN SPORTS

Sportorial

By Joe Barnes
Acting Sports Editor

IN every college there are many athletes, who do not have the necessary ability to make a varsity team in football, baseball, and basketball. Yet they are just as desirous of playing in intercollegiate competition as are any of our Wysocki's, Basca's, etc. It is our contention that such athletes should be provided with the opportunity of representing Villanova in intercollegiate sport.

We are of the opinion that junior-varsity teams should be formed in football, basketball, and baseball to enable players, who haven't the ability to make one of Villanova's top-notch varsity aggregations, to engage in the sports they like. That we have plenty of material for such activities can be well shown by the calibre of the athletes in the Intramural sports. We have seen several athletes competing in the intramurals, who could easily make varsity teams at many of the colleges in this area. We might mention Keating, Castles, and McGurk as examples. However they haven't the ability to make the Villanova varsity. Why not give them the chance to show their wares in intercollegiate competition, instead of hiding their light in Alumni Gym or the Mendel playing fields?

Please do not think that we are casting any aspersoins upon Father McKee's excellent intramural program. There isn't a better developed program anywhere in the nation at a college of Villanova's size. It is perhaps the greatest thing in Villanova athletics. But our idea is that the program would be even better if it included only those who are without any special abilities in athletics, which means the average college student. Those who possess some ability, but are handicapped by size, weight, etc. or have been dropped from a varsity team, would be included in the junior-varsity.

With an intramural—junior-varsity — varsity program of athletics the set-up would be ideal, "Athletics for All" would be more than just a nice-sounding slogan, it would be a fact. At the present time we do not have athletics for all because many of the men on intramural teams are much too good for the average student. With these men moved up to junior-varsity teams there would be room for the rest of the student body to engage in the intramurals.

Another important factor in the introduction of junior-varsity teams is that they would provide the thrill of representing Villanova' against other schools, the lack of which is the intramurals' greatest drawback.

In football we already have a 150-pound team to take care of the lightweights, but what about those over 150 pounds? They also should be given the opportunity to play.

As usual there is one great drawback. Where is the cash to finance such a program going to come from? Like John Kiernan, of "Information Please" fame, we always have an answer. Whether it is worthwhile we leave to you to decide. Good or not it still presents a solution.

We suggest a minor sports association be formed of the managers and members of the junior-varsity teams in football, basketball, and baseball, along with the managers and members of the 150-pound football team, the tennis, golf, boxing, and swimming teams. The association, which to function

SPORTORIAL Continued on Page Six

CATS FACE MANHATTAN TODAY

C. C. N. Y. NINE WINS AS VILLANOVA CLUB LOSES FIRST GAME

O'Leary and Desmond Fail to Hold Gotham Tossers as Cats Lose, 12-4

VILLANOVA TEAM OFF FORM

By BOB FUNABASHI

Behind Pat Brescia's repulsive hurling and the spectacular batting and fielding of Bill Mayhew, the nicknamed Beavers of City College gnawed a deep cut into the two game win streak of the Wildcats by a jolting 12-4 decision.

Villanova, traveling to New York ,met their Nemesis after previously beating Penn and Boston College. It was the fourth successive triumph for the Beavers and their fifth victory in seven games.

Wildcats Lead

The Wildcats hopped off to a two-run lead in the first inning with Nick Basca's single into left field tallied Bob Pash and "Cowboy" Crawley. But the Villanova lead was rather brusque and in the latter part of the second inning, the Beavers pushed across five runs. Pat Brescia, who starred on the mound for the Beavers, contributed a double and then went to third on a wild patch. Connie O'Leary, who drew the starting assignment for the Blue, became a bit erratic and walked Meister and Balkan, loading the bases. Cozin's single brought Brescia home for the first run and then Meister scored from third on Monitto's grounder to secon to tie up the game at 2-2. With two away Mayhew, star slugger for the City College nine, stepped to the plate and slammed O'Leary's fast ball into deep center field, clearing the bases.

Mayhew drove in four runs for the Beavers, with a single, double and triple and was passed once. In center field he made five catches, two of which weer the spectacular type.

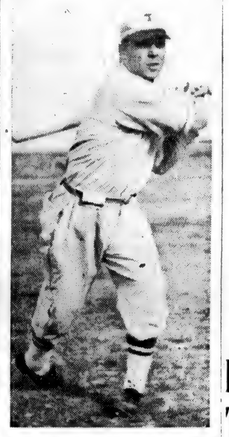
Cats Rally

Villanova rallied to drive across a single tally in the fourth frame when O'Leary walked and Crawley doubled to left center to score the pitcher.

The New Yorkers in their bland manner drove across two more runs in the fifth inning and in the eighth they drove O'Leary from the mound with a barrage of hits. Joe Desmond replaced O'Leary but the Beavers showed no mercy for the two-time winner for the Wildcats and when the inning was end-

C. C. N. Y. Continued on Page Seven

Owl Slugger



GEORGE HONOCHICK

Hero of the gridiron, Honochick is also clean-up man on the Temple nine. He hopes that some of his mates will get on base tomorrow so that he can have something to clean up!

F. & M., Rider, St. John's On Wildcat Golf Card

The Villanova golf team will attempt to pry the lid off the 1939 season tomorrow afternoon with a meet with Franklin and Marshall College scheduled for the home links in Radnor.

On Friday afternoon the Catlinksmen will play hosts to the Rider College golfers. This match will also be played in Radnor. The week's card will be concluded on Saturday, when the strong St. John's of Brooklyn club will invade the Blue stronghold.

Captain Jim Dwyer, veteran Number one man of the home aggregation will announce the starting team.

INFECTED FINGER

Harry Mazzei, ace quarterback on "Clipper" Smith's grid team and conductor of the Here and There column in this publication, was sent home to North Bergen, N. J., last week as a result of an infected finger incurred in practice. Harry pounded out his column from the sickbed so that his readers would not meet disappointment.

Rain:

The weatherman and Villanova's Spring sport schedulemakers have had quite a time attempting to thwart each other this Spring. Eight out of eleven tennis, golf and baseball contests have been cancelled so far, most of them by rain. Five baseball games were washed out by the omnipresent April showers. Only three have been played. Bad condition of the courts caused the cancellation of the first tennis match with Manhattan College, while the second was called off by an unexpected action of St. Joseph's Colege. The Hawk officials also called off their golf match with the Blue without formal explanation. Only the track team has thwarted cancellations thus far.

BROOKLYN COLLEGE TOPS RACQUETEERS

Strong Flatbushers Outclass Wildcat Team in Opener on Villanova Courts

Villanova's tennis team, after having their first two matches cancelled, finally got their season opened yesterday, but met with dire consequences. Brooklyn College, presenting a suprisingly strong ensemble, found the unseasoned Blue to be fairly easy meat and went home with a victory under their belts.

In the opening match Dennis Dunne, Villanova's Number one man, fell easy prey before the sightening smashes of the famed Brooklyn champion, Izzy Goldstein won hands down by the scores of 6-2, 6-1.

Dave Keefe of the Flatbush collegians had little trouble with Fred Rappleyea in winning 6-2, 6-2. Rappleyea played a fine brand of tennis but Keefe had too much on the ball for Villanova's man.

Villanova's hard-working captain, Saul Wallach, was up against Brooklyns Ruznak in his match and lost by the same scores as in the Keefe-Rappleyea affair.

The decisive defeat of the Blue and White was attributed by some to be a result of the difficulty in getting practice sessions under way this year. The home court renovation was only recently completed and very few practice sessions have been worked in by the Villanova team. The team is confident that it will get going before long.

CRUCIAL WEEK FOR JACOBSMEN BEGINS WITH GAME TODAY

Temple and State Threaten to Halt Blue Team; Manhattan Team Revamped

GAMES START AT 3 P. M.

By JIM HAUGHTON

An old wet and windy gent who travels under the pseudonym of Bill X. Badweather having created havoc with local outdoor follies has promised to hit to a different terrain so that Doc Jacobs may entertain two old football rivals, Manhattan and Temple.

So this afternoon at 3:00, if the raucous lad keeps his promise, Villanova's men of the stick will tangle with the Jaspers of Manhattan.

The New Yorkers have a rather inept organization according to advance dope. Thus far they've been hammered from Dallas to Boston on several occasions. Princeton among others, started the season off by soundly whacking the Bronxites. And the Jaspers' metropolitan neighbor, City College, continued to aid the cause by sinking them under a barrage of base hits.

Lettermen Lost

But there seems to be a good reason for this ill-luck on the diamond. For eight of last years ten lettermen have been lost and little comparable strength has been added. It is doubtful that the Jaspers with material on hand can come near equalling the '38 record of twelve victories and three defeats.

Missing from the ranks are such stars as Ray Volpi, Jack Daly, Al Caruso, Ed Glancy and Russ Kurtz. And then Don Phillips, third ranking pitcher of 1938, hiked himself off to display his wares at Holy Cross.

Hoping to carry on the cause are Captain Frank Jost, a fixture at first base; captain-elect of the basketeers, Jim Sarullo, at second; Frank Romano handling the shortstop spot; and to aid at third will be Frank Gnup of Aliquippa, Pa. The outfield will have Carl Morgan at left, Ted Mazur at center and Walt Perrin at right. Bill Schwitter, a soph basketball man, will probably handle the pitchers.

Mainstay of the chuckers is Tom Coughlin who last year shut out St. John's in his only start. He is a big strong lad with plenty of control. Backing up in case of difficulties will be Jack Hartz, Dave Farabaugh, Ken Larkin and Ray McMahon. Hartz in particular shows good promise with a snappy fast ball.

Owls Strong

But Wednesday brings with it much trouble in the person of Pep Young and his strong Temple ball club. The Owls who on their yearly visit to the local camping grounds arouse the metropolitan scribes to reach into the morgue and relate of the many times the Owls and Cats have tangled, etc., bring with them one of the strongest teams in history.

For the Broad Street lads who use a neighboring flower box as a campus have several men who have caused major league ivory hunters to turn an open eye to the ranks. There is Howie Black, of basketball fame, who is already lined up with the farm system of the St. Louis Cardinals. Black is a snappy second sacker and last year whacked out a cute .310 average. Another standout is George Nemchik who was a member of the 1936 U. S. Olympic soccer team. He handles the shortstop section and batted a nice .325 to lead the

CRUCIAL Continued on Page Six

Runners Lose To Pennsylvania In Mock Meet As Maher Gleams

By BILL CAREY

Running in a constant drizzle of rain, which kept up throughout the afternoon, the Wildcat trackmen went down to defeat at the hands of Pennsylvania University, in an informal meet at Franklin Field last Tuesday.

Turning in brilliant performances for the Blue and White were Johnny Maher and Bill Guiteras.

Maher, running on the rain-soaked track, came in victor in the 100-yard dash in the fast time of 10 seconds flat. Just a step behind was Whitey Urbellis. Lavine of Penn finished third.

Guiteras Wins

Guiteras, who copped the 600, got off to a bad start, but took the lead at the 300-yard mark, and from that point he turned on the heat to finish 10 yards to the good, in 1:14.2. Pete Yankauskus, sprinting home, just missed catching Heed of Penn who finished second.

The 1000-yard run furnished plenty of competition with John Drebinger of the Blue and Red beating out Barney Bellew of the Wildcats by a scant two or three yards. The lead changed three times throughout the run, and was only decided in the last 25 yards when Drebinger, outsprinted Bellew to slowly pull away to the tape.

Ray Bradley of Penn turned in the sensational time of 31.6 in the 300 when he beat out Whitey Urbellis and Johnny Maher.

Point-Winners

Other point-winners for the Wildcats were Brad McManus, third in the pole vault; Parson and Murphy, who were tied for second in the high jump. Kolenda took second in the discus, Buzzalino was third in the shotput and Carey, third in the high hurdles.

Coach Elliot was satisfied with the showing of the team in general, and especially of the runners. This afternoon the team will travel to Lancaster to meet the Diplomat tracksters of Franklin and Marshall College. The Diplomats, always strong in athletics,

RUNNERS Continued on Page Six

FEDIGAN WINS, 6-0 AS CASTLES HOLDS ALUMNI TO TWO HITS

Mendel Nine Slaughters Austin in Morning Game, 15-2; Fedigan Leads Loop

Behind the two-hit pitching of Frank Castles, Fedigan ace, Alumni Hall went down to its third defeat in as many starts.

Although allowing only three hits to the Fedigan team, Joe Malone was wild in spots and through four errors by his teammates Fedigan managed to score six runs, two in the second on no hits, two in the third on a two bagger by Costello and then a run in the last inning on LaBalbo's single.

The only hits off Castles were by Lasky and Malone, both coming in the second and third innings. LaBalbo, Costello and Urban were the only hitters to t ch the offerings of Malone.

In winning this game Fedigan tightens its grip on first place by a three game margin.

Mendel Wins

Pounding Austin Hall for 15 runs and 18 hits Mendel Hall moved into sole possession of second place behind the fine pitching of Aisenbrey, the Mendel flinger.

Showing no mercy for the offerings of Carl Panteleo, Mendel had two big innings in which they pushed across four runs in the third, and six runs in the ninth. Clark, Cerullo and Daly found their batting eyes sharpened after this encounter for they each got three hits apiece to pace the attack, while every other player received at least one hit.

McGuire for Austin was the only potent batsman; he was able to find the range for two hits off the offerings of Aisenbury.

Alumni	ab.	r.	h.
Lasky, lf	3	0	1
Holland, ss	3	0	0
McKenna, 3b	3	0	0
Nicora, 1b	3	0	0
Koch, c	3	0	0
Malone, p	2	0	0
Mathews, 2b	1	0	0
Connera, 2b	1	0	0
Shea, cf	1	0	0
Fannetti	1	0	0
Wheeler	1	0	0
Moore	1	0	0
Totals	23	0	2

Fedigan	ab.	r.	h.
Steller, 1b	2	0	0
Gillespie, 2b	3	1	0
La Balbo, ss	3	1	0
Macek, lf	4	0	1
Costello, 3b	3	2	1
Sandor, rf	2	1	0
Roach, cf	1	0	0
Murphy, c	3	0	0
Castles, p	3	1	0
Cornell	1	0	0
Epstein	1	0	0
Urban	1	0	1
Totals	26	6	3

Fedigan	0	0	2	1	0	0	1	0	2	6	3
Alumni	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	2

Austin	ab.	r.	h.
Panteleo, p	4	0	0
Howard, 2b	3	0	0
Thomas, 1b	3	0	0
Robinson, ss	4	0	0
Fagan, rf	2	1	1
Aisenbrey, p	2	1	1
Clarke, lf	3	0	1
McGuire, cf	3	0	1
Devereaux, c	3	0	0
Beasley	0	0	0
Totals	26	2	4

Mendel	ab.	r.	h.
Daly, ss	5	1	3
Marshall, cf	5	3	2
Cerullo, rf	4	3	2
Fitzpatrick, c	4	2	2
Hoerle, 1b	3	0	1
Clark, lb	3	2	2
Roseland, lf	3	2	1
Crouch, 2b	3	0	1
Aisenbrey, p	3	1	1
DiPetrillo	1	1	0
Fox	2	1	1
Totals	39	15	18

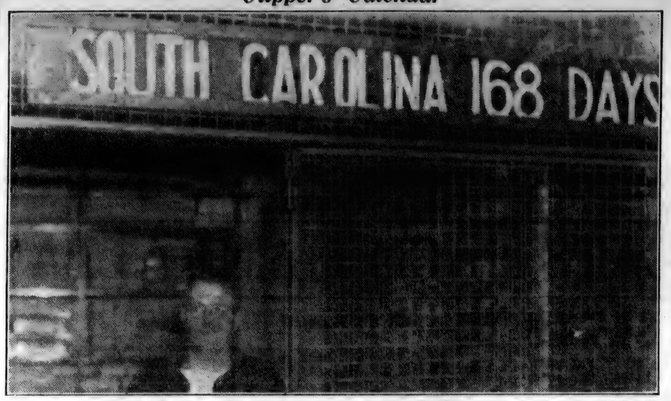
Mendel	0	2	4	0	1	2	6	–	15	18	3
Austin	0	2	0	0	0	0	0	–	2	6	3

PARAMOUNT GRILLE
BRYN MAWR

Approved Penna. Private Business School
BUSINESS TRAINING

BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION AND SECRETARIAL SCIENCE for young men and women.
One, Two and Three Years
Day and Evening Courses
8 Weeks Summer Session
Founded 1865
PEIRCE SCHOOL
Pine St. West of Broad Philadelphia, Pa.

"Clipper's" Calendar



The above sign, which hangs over the equipment room at the Field House, serves as a reminder to the Villanova football team of a certain afternoon last Fall when a stubborn South Carolina outfit smirched the Wildcat's season with a 6-6 tie. The Gamecocks will be met on October 7 this year. "Clipper" doesn't want the boys to forget.

Baseball Sidelights

By BOB BOND

IT was one week ago today that the New York Herald Tribune carried a story to the effect that there was a rumor on the Fordham campus that VILLANOVA after this year was discontinuing baseball. Can Villanova be dropping a sport that made the school renowned long before football became the sport it is here? Villanova has always had good ball clubs, one could say perennially great ball teams, This year we have one of the best hitting outfits ever to represent the school. The weather permitting the record of the team should be one of the greatest ever compiled by a baseball team here. Two infielders, one outfielder, a catcher and a pitcher, Joe Desmond are the only ones lost by graduation. With such a residue will baseball be dropped? There are ball players on the squad not playing who would make most college coaches very contented; to say the least. I mean fellows such as Balmore, Morris, Rice and Howlett. Rittenmeyer, a freshman infielder looks a great prospect. And this is the last year of baseball——

• • •

Manhattan College can boast of their two big-league ballplayers even if they do not win the ball game today as "Buddy" Hassett, Boston Bees gardener and erstwhile Brooklyn first-sacker, and Joe Gallagher, Yankee freshman out-fielder, attended there. When Hassett was in college he very conscientiously would rake the ground around the first-hassock daily. He must have at least received "A" for effort while attending the Gotham institution of higher learning.

• • •

Temple's maurading ball club will furnish the opposition for the Wildcats tomorrow, providing the inclement weather stays away. In the last two years Villanova has won one out of four from the Owls. Jack Williams has proved to be the nemisis winning the three games with his stellar pitching. He did not pitch in the other game. Last year Williams sneaked through winning two close ones; at Temple the score was four to two and here playing for the Alumni five to two in eleven innings. Those who hail Fordham's "Hank" Borowsky as the outstanding collegiate pitcher had better take a good look at Williams before saying more. This year he has been troubled by bursitis, "Dizzy" Dean's ailment last year.

• • •

Bob Nicol, basketball star and last year an outfielder has been converted to a pitcher by Coach "Pep" Young and has been doing a very good job. Nicol may be the starter in the box. Johnny Nemchik Owl's third sacker is one of the outstanding soccer players in these environs. On the whole Temple presents practically an all veteran outfit. Only four of Villanova's teams played against Temple last year, five if Desmond pitches for the home forces.

Crucial

Continued From Page Five

regulars in the average column.

Williams Out

Coach Pep Young is a bit disappointed that he won't be able to use his experienced right hander, Jack Williams. Williams created quite a sensation in collegiate circles for the past two years and the Boston Red Sox have been rumored as giving him the kind-eye. But Jack is suffering from the bane of all pitchers, a sore finger, and probably won't see action till late in May.

But the Owl pitching crew contains several steady pitchers. The surprise of the season is Bob Nicol, of gridiron fame, who so ably limited the Boston College outfit to a few hits. He looked exceptionally fast against the "Bean-Towners" and will probably start tomorrow.

In reserve are Norm Harris, Joe Matchett and Ed Fulmer. Handling the catching duties will be an experienced receiver, Howie Coyne of Hareham, Mass. Howie has been a regular for two years and last year batted over the .300 mark.

Meet State Saturday

The week-end will bring with it a nice trip for the locals when they travel to the foot of the Nittany Mountains to tangle with the Lions of Penn State. State always claims a good ball squad and will greet the locals with such strong men as Harry Harrison and Bill Patrick. Harrison, who gained fame as the mere mite of the gridiron, also rides wild on the base paths and at the shortstop position.

Dine and Dance
Bryn Mawr Confectionery

Direction Warner Bros.
Tower Theatre
69th & Market Sts.
Motion Pictures Are Your Best Entertainment
TUES., WED. & THURS., April 25-26-27
Mighty Human Drama
"LET US LIVE"
MAUREEN O'SULLIVAN
HENRY FONDA
RALPH BELLAMY
FRI., SAT., SUN. & MON., April 28-29-30 May 1
IRENE DUNNE
CHARLES BOYER
"LOVE AFFAIR"
Drama to hit your heart . . . one of the finest pictures you'll see this year.

SEVILLE THEATRE
Tuesday, April 25
LESLIE HOWARD
WENDY HILLER
"PYGMALION"
Wed. & Thurs., April 26-27
"YES, MY DARLING DAUGHTER"
PRISCILLA LANE
Fri. & Sat., April 28-29
ROBERT MONTGOMERY
ROSALIND RUSSELL
"FAST AND LOOSE"
Sun. & Mon., April 30-May 1
MICKEY ROONEY
"HUCKLEBERRY FINN"
Walter Connelly

G. W. Cadwallader
Paints, Glass and Painters' Supplies
BUILDERS' SPECIALTIES
6101 MARKET ST.
Philadelphia
Phone SHErwood 1423

— RIDE FREE ON P. & W. RAILWAY MOVIE TICKET —
GRAND Theatre
NORRISTOWN
Tuesday
RICHARD GREENE in "HOUND OF BASKERVILLE"
Wednesday and Thursday
SYLVIA SIDNEY in "ONE THIRD OF A NATION"
Friday, Saturday & Monday
JAMES CAGNEY in "OKLAHOMA KID"
NORRIS Theatre
NORRISTOWN
Tuesday and Wednesday
Joan Crawford - James Stewart "ICE FOLLIES OF 1939"
Thursday and Friday
W. C. Fields - Charlie McCarthy "YOU CAN'T CHEAT AN HONEST MAN"
Saturday, Monday & Tuesday
DEANNA DURBIN in "THREE SMART GIRLS"
GARRICK Theatre
Wednesday and Thursday "CHAN IN HONOLULU" and "PIRATES OF THE SKIES"
Friday and Saturday
Three Hits Bros. - Don Ameche in "THREE MUSKETEERS"

Sportorial

Continued From Page Five

properly should be under the chairmanship of a student appointed by Villanova authorities, would assume the duties of financing the sports under its wing through various means such as raffles, dances, etc. The association would also arrange schedules, award letters, etc.

Such an association would entail plenty of work for the students interested in it, but we think that there are enough students interested in the advancement of Villanova to take care of this easily. Members of the association could be rewarded with keys for their services. To insure co-operation it could be made compulsory for any student in minor sports to belong to the association.

Space does not present the means to elaborate on these ideas at this time, but we believe that we have presented sufficient food for thought. Let's have "sports for all" at Villanova.

Incidentally such an association would also relieve the college of the expense attached to tennis, golf, boxing, and swimming. The income from football and basketball could be returned to further those sports.

Runners

Continued From Page Five

will probably give the Blue a rough afternoon. Villanova hopes rest mainly in the track events as F. & M. is reputedly strong in the field events.

TRACK EVENTS

120-Yard High Hurdles—1, Cauffman, Penn; 2, McCawley, Penn; 3, Carey, Villanova. Time: 15.1 sec.

100-Yard Dash—1, Meher, Villanova; 2, Urbellis, Villanova; 3, Lavine, Penn. Time: .10 sec.

600-Yard Run—1, Guiteras, Villanova; 2, Heed, Penn; 3, Yankauskas, Villanova. Time: 1 min., 14.2 sec.

1000-Yard Run—1, Dreheinger, Penn; 2, Belley, Villanova; 3, Boylan, Penn. Time: 3 min., 20 sec.

300-Yard Dash—1, Bradley, Penn; 2, Urbellis, Villanova; 3, Maher, Villanova. Time 31.6 sec.

FIELD EVENTS

Shotput—1, Wexler, Penn; 2, Schumann, Penn; 3, Buzzallno, Villanova. Dist.—45 ft. 4½ in.

Discus—1, Schumann, Penn; 2, Kolenda, Villanova; 3, Wexler, Penn. Dist. —124 ft.

High Jump—1, Moore and McKimmey, Penn; 2, Troup, Penn; Murphy and Parsons, Villanova. Ht.—6 ft.

Pole Vault—1, Shifalacqua, Penn; 2, Higgins, Penn; 3, McManus, Villanova.

NOW!
BOBBY HACKETT
AND HIS ORCHESTRA
Nightly...and Saturday at luncheon in the new
GARDEN TERRACE
Philadelphia's Smartest Atmosphere
Dinner $1.50. No cover charge. Finest food and beverages at honest prices.
The BENJAMIN FRANKLIN
Chestnut at Ninth

Ardmore Theatre
Notice to Students
Did you know that your matriculation card will get you a reduced rate at the Ardmore Theatre at any time.
Tues. & Wed., April 25-26
NELSON EDDY
"LET FREEDOM RING"
Thursday, April 27
JACKIE COOPER
FREDDIE BARTHOLOMEW
"SPIRIT OF CULVER"
Fri. & Sat., April 28-29
"THE ICE FOLLIES OF 1939"
JOAN CRAWFORD
JAMES STEWART
Sun. & Mon., April 30-May 1
JAMES CAGNEY
"OKLAHOMA KID"

In the Sportlight

From the sandlots to the major leagues is the aim and desire of the young man named Joe Desmond who first saw the light of day October 4, 1917, in Chester, Pa. It was in that town that Joe built up an enviable reputation as a ball player, which reputation he has carried with him ever since.

Like any other community in America, Chester has its sandlots, and its youth takes advantage of them. Joe is no exception to the rule and from the time he started in at the Immaculate Heart Parochial School most of his spare time was spent on these sandlots. Disdaining all the other positions, Joe started right in "toeing the slab." He has been pitching ever since.

Started West Catholic

When his grammar school days were over, he decided to enroll at West Catholic High School. This he did; but after a few months there his longing to be nearer home (so that he could spend more time on the diamond) became so strong that he shifted to Chester High. While there, he showed his prowess by playing on the baseball team for four years. It was during his senior year in high school that both his sandlot and school fame spread and he came under the notice of "Doc" Jacobs of Villanova. After a short talk with one of Doc's scouts, Joe was persuaded to matriculate at Villanova.

Amiable and very sociable, Joe soon made a host of friends here—among them the Bronx Handicapper Lou Wannemacher with whom he is now rooming. Joe decided to major in Finance in the Commerce and Finance School. Being very diligent and hard working, he has obtained an enviable record as a student as well as an athlete. When the call came for the baseball candidates Joe was one of the first to report. His work made him a fine prospect for his sophomore year and in that season he earned a place on the squad. Ever since then Joe has been one of the mainstays of Doc Jacobs' pitching staff.

Always dependable, Joe has turned his share of wins. In his three years on the varsity his most notable performance was his pitching of a three-hitter in one of the first games of the season, although Joe thinks that his best effort was the triple he laced out in the opening game of this season against Penn. Even though Joe is an ace on the mound his batting eye is not too sharp according to his teammates who have bestowed the title of "Slugger" upon him. However, Joe need not worry about that if he continues to turn back the opposing teams with those righthanded slants of his.

Likes Golf

Off the diamond Joe likes to indulge in golf. In past years when college has closed up Joe was to be found playing in the "Mountain League." Last summer found him playing with Stroudsburg while in the summer previous he alternated his services between the West Virginia and the Vermont clubs. His plans for the future concern the obtaining of a place on one of the major league clubs. So far he has had several feelers offered and as yet is undecided.

According to his chums Joe is still eligible for any girl. When one looks at this tall athletic six-footer one wonders why this is, but Joe himself has an answer for that one. It seems that at the tender age of two years Joe was unlucky enough to fall from a second story window. Joe is not to be pitied, however, for he runs a very fine Date Bureau. So if Joe fails to make the grade (which is not at all probable), he can always fall back on his present business establishment, his Date Bureau.

OWLS TIE

In an informal spring practice grid game at Temple Stadium Temple's renovated Owls and the Manhattan Jaspers, both old Villanova opponents, played to a two-touchdown tie. Extra-points were not attempted. The game provided a prevue on what Villanova must face on two Saturday afternoons next fall.

KEEP SUPPLIED WITH SCHOOL TICKETS
Good on Buses and Rail Cars until used. 5c a Ride, including Special Free Transfers. School Identification Cards may be obtained at School Office.
PHILADELPHIA SUBURBAN TRANSPORTATION COMPANY
ARONIMINK TRANSPORTATION CO.

Burke Dairies
Milk & Cream
NORRISTOWN, PA.
Phone 2736-W

C. C. N. Y.

Continued From Page Five

ed, five runs were chalked up by the City College lads.

In the ninth inning the Wildcats added to their final run but not enough to have any effects upon the final score.

Seven Hits

Brescia lasted the whole game for the Beavers, being quite effective on the mound, limiting the Wildcats to seven hits and striking out six batters. Batting in the fifth slot he garnered two doubles over the short right field fence. Connie O'Leary was the strike-out artist of the day, fanning nine Beaver batsmen, but his five walks and two wild pitches, behind four errors of his teammates were deathblows.

Villanova	ab.	r.	h.	o.	a.
C'wley, 2b	4	1	1	3	0
Pash, ss	5	2	2	1	2
D'ghue, lf	4	0	1	1	0
W'n'cher, cf	4	0	1	1	0
Bond, 1b	2	0	1	7	0
Basca, rf	3	0	1	0	0
B'more, rf	2	0	0	0	0
L'z'chak, 3b	3	0	0	0	2
Vigilante, c	4	0	0	10	1
O'Leary, p	1	1	0	1	3
D'smond, p	1	0	0	0	0
Totals	32	4	7	24	8

C. C. N. Y.	ab.	r.	h.	o.	a.
Grieco, 3b	5	1	2	3	2
S'chter, lf	5	1	1	0	0
M'hew, cf	4	2	3	5	0
Souplos, 1b	5	1	1	7	0
Brescia, p	5	1	2	0	0
Meister, c	4	1	0	6	0
Balkin, rf	1	2	0	2	0
Cozin, ss	2	1	2	3	3
Monitto, 2b	3	2	2	2	3
Totals	34	12	11	27	8

Villanova	2	0	0	1	0	0	0	1	–	4
C. C. N. Y.	0	5	0	0	2	0	0	5	x	12

COLLEGE OFFICIALS DENY HERALD STORY

Villanova athletic authorities have ridiculed recent rumors that the Wildcats would drop baseball from the athletic curricula after this year. The rumors, which came to attention through Irv Marsh's column in the New York Herald-Tribune, are said to have originated on the campus of Fordham University. The Rams are scheduled to meet "Doc" Jacobs' men in New York this spring. Fr. Albers, Athletic Moderator, said that such an idea had never been considered.

PROSPECT

Barney Schmidt, who withstood all the cuts of the Notre Dame freshman football squad last year, may enter this institution in the fall. Schmidt, who hails from Harrisburg, Pa., wants to go to a school nearer home.

Philip Harrison Store
Shoes & Clothing For The Family
Next Door to the Movies
BRYN MAWR, PA.

The Wayne Hotel
LANCASTER AVENUE
WAYNE, PA.
Telephone 380
Headquarters For Visitors to Villanova
Excellent Dinners at $1
SPECIAL STUDENT RATES
J. T. McFATE, Mgr.

Compliments of
The
BRYN MAWR TRUST CO.
Bryn Mawr, Pa.

HERE and THERE

By HARRY MAZZEI

LAST week's surprising announcement by the athletic board withdrawing Wildcat quintets from future double - headers participation struck the campus as unexpectedly as would a date on the U. of P.'s grid schedule. Yours truly was among those struck; the proclamation landed squarely between both orbs and made him feel for a minute the way a rather rotund, not-so-young gentleman (?) named Tony Galento is going to feel come the night of June 17!

Harry Mazzei

Nevertheless, after the first effects of the board's decision were overcome, and we had time to retrospect and even prognosticate, we couldn't help but feel that the step was an act of sound judgment.

There are those of you who may argue that the unpredicted hop, skip and jump from under the eaves of lofty Convention Hall will cause large dents, vents, and rents in Villanova's fame and fortune ($) on the ribbed floor. These arguments, while they are not altogether unfounded, especially the publicity angle, are not and should not be strong enough to deter the board from its present stand.

To the conductor of this line the athletic board's announcement means one thing; Villanova College will finally begin to play "big time" basketball in its own gym and before its own students, for it is well-known, though not widely-publicized, fact that an average of less than one-fifth of the student enrollment turned out for each of last season's Convention Hall doubleheaders. Villanova basketball is being given back to; not the Indians, but the student body.

It became very tiresome to trudge down to the Field House once or twice a week for the past three Winters to see the 'Cats roll up points with boring regularity against some foe that did not belong on the same floor with them. The new set-up although it may not eliminate the above-mentioned "necessary evil," may at least find some representative fives doing battle with the Blue. For the last several seasons the boys who planked down their tuition had to go to Philadelphia to see the 'Cats meet an outstanding opponent. That they did not care to do this is borne out by the attendance records.

You may also present the argument that there won't be any outsiders or paid admissions at the Field House to warrant playing a good team. In other words Villanova will not be able to meet high expenses. Before you relax on that question we'll ask you to hark back to the Winter of 1938 when the lives of St. John's and Villanova clashed in the Main Line Field House. That night the Field House was jammed by a crowd that sat in the aisles, stood on the otuskirts of the playing floor, yes, and even hung from the rafters. Crowds that would be in attendance regularly if teams of St. John's caliber were brought to Villanova as a steady diet and not as a seven-year wonder.

After all, the students do deserve some consideration, and it seems that the athletic board is giving them the recognition they deserve by making this change. This move should certainly be a popular one with those interested in Villanova basketball for Villanova College, but there are those to whom the loss of the 'Cat color will be a severe blow. Still we can't help but feel that the best course has been followed.

Prescriptions
Drugs & Toilet Articles
LA DOW'S PHARMACY
LANCASTER PIKE and SPRING MILL ROAD
VILLANOVA, PA.

Connelly's
SAY IT WITH FLOWERS
MAIN LINE FLORIST
1226 Lancaster Pike
ROSEMONT
Bryn Mawr 252

JEANNETT'S
BRYN MAWR FLOWER SHOP
Floral Ideas For All Occasions
Specializing in Corsages
Member Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association
823 Lancaster Ave.
Bryn Mawr 570

COLADONATO
B. M. 1266
College Tailor Since 1925
Made to Measure Clothes
Suits and Topcoats
$24.50
CLEANING PRESSING
"THE CLOTHES WE SELL FIT WELL"
Cassocks and Capes at Reasonable Prices
See Campus Representative
ED DIMON
235 Austin

Men's Clothes Made-to-Measure
COLEBY Tailoring Inc.
57th & Market Sts.
Suits & Topcoats
$24.75
See Campus Representative
TIM WAAD
210 Fedigan

FEDIGAN WINS, 6-0 AS CASTLES HOLDS ALUMNI TO TWO HITS

Mendel Nine Slaughters Austin in Morning Game, 15-2; Fedigan Leads Loop

Behind the two-hit pitching of Frank Castles, Fedigan ace, Alumni Hall went down to its third defeat in as many starts.

Although allowing only three hits to the Fedigan team, he McGuire was wild in spots and issued four errors by his teammates Fedigan managed to score six runs, two in the second on no hits, one in the third on two hits and three more in the fourth on a walk, two errors and three hits, one of which was a double by Lasky and Mahon batting in the second and third runs. Lt. Balon, Costello and Dolan were the only hitters to reach the offerings of Malone.

In winning this game Fedigan tightens its grip on first place by a three game margin.

Mendel Wins

Pounding Austin Hall for 15 runs and 18 hits Mendel Hall moved into sole possession of second place behind the fine pitching of Alsenbrey, the Mendel flinger.

Showing no mercy for the offerings of Carl Pantaleo, Mendel had two big innings in which they pushed across four runs in the third, and six runs in the ninth. Clark, Cerullo and Daly found their batting eyes sharpened after this encounter for they each got three hits apiece to pace the attack, while every other player received at least one hit.

McGuire for Austin was the only potent batsman; he was able to find the range for two hits off the offerings of Alsenbrey.

Alumni	ab.	r.	h.
Lasky, lf	3	0	1
Holland, ss	3	0	0
McKenzie, 2b	2	0	0
Nicola, lb	3	0	0
Koch, c	3	0	0
Malone, p	2	0	1
Mahon, 2b	1	0	0
Connors, 2b	1	0	0
Shea, cf	1	0	0
Fanelli, rf	1	0	0
Wheeler, rf	1	0	0
Moore	1	0	0
Totals	21	0	2

Fedigan	ab.	r.	h.
Stellato, lb	2	0	0
Gill, c	3	1	1
Lo	3	1	1
Ma	3	0	0
Co	3	1	0
Sm	3	1	0
Ba	3	1	0
Mo	3	0	0
Ca	3	1	0
Fe	3	1	1
T

"Clipper's" Calendar

The above sign, which hangs over the equipment room at the Field House, serves as a reminder to the Villanova football team of a certain afternoon last Fall when a stubborn South Carolina outfit snatched the Wildcat's season with a 6-6 tie. The Gamecocks will be met on October 7 this year. "Clipper" doesn't want the boys to forget.

Baseball Sidelights

By BOB BOND

It was one week ago today that the New York Herald Tribune carried a story to the effect that there was a rumor on the Fordham campus that VILLANOVA after this year was discontinuing baseball. Can Villanova be dropping a sport that made the school renowned long before football became the sport it is here? Villanova has always had good ball clubs, one could say perennially great ball teams. This year we have one of the best hitting outfits ever to represent the school. The weather permitting the record of the team should be one of the greatest ever compiled by a baseball team here. Two infielders, one outfielder, a catcher and a pitcher, Joe Desmond are the only ones lost by graduation. With such a residue will baseball be dropped? There are ball players on the squad not playing who would make most college crutches very contented to pass the best. I mean fellows such as Ballouris, Norris, Fiore and Rowbotham. Ellenberger, a freshman infielder looks a great prospect. And this is the first year of baseball——

Villanova College can boast of their two big league ballplayers even if they do not win the game today as "Daddy" Hassett, Boston Bees gardener and erstwhile Brooklyn first-sacker, and Joe Gallagher, Yankee freshman out-fielder, attended there. When Hassett was in college he very conscientiously would rake the ground around the first-hassock daily. He must have at least received "A" for effort while attending the Gotham institution of higher learning.

* * *

Temple's maurading ball club will furnish the opposition for the Wildcats tomorrow, providing the inclement weather stays away. In the last two years Villanova has won one out of four from the Owls. Jack Williams has proved to be the nemisis winning the three games with his stellar pitching. He did not pitch in the other game. Last year Williams sneaked through winning two close ones; at Temple the score was four to two and here playing for the Alumni five to two in eleven innings. Those who hail Fordham's "Hank" Borowsay as the outstanding collegeiate pitcher had better take a good look at Williams before saying more. This year he has been troubled by bursitis, "Dizzy" Dean's ailment last year.

* * *

Bob Nicol, basketball star and last year an outfielder has been converted to a pitcher by Coach "Pep" Young and has been doing a very good job. Nicol may be the starter in the box. Johnny Nemchik Owl's third sacker is one of the outstanding soccer players in these environs. On the whole Temple presents practically an all veteran outfit. Only four of Villanova's teams played against Temple last year, five if Desmond pitches for the home forces.

Crucial

Continued From Page Five

regulars in the average column.

Williams Out

Coach Pep Young is a bit disappointed that he won't be able to use his experienced right hander, Jack Williams. Williams created quite a sensation in collegiate circles for the past two years and the Boston Red Sox have been rumored as giving him the kind-eye. But Jack is suffering from the bane of all pitchers, a sore finger, and probably won't see action till late in May.

But the Owl pitching crew contains several steady pitchers. The surprise of the season is Bob Nicol, of gridiron fame, who so ably limited the Boston College outfit to a few hits. He looked exceptionally fast against the "Bean-Towners" and will probably start tomorrow.

In reserve are Norm Harris, Joe Matchett and Ed Fulmer. Handling the catching duties will be an experienced receiver, Howie Coyne of Hareham, Mass. Howie has been a regular for two years and last year batted over the .300 mark.

Meet State Saturday

The week-end will bring with it a nice trip for the locals when they travel to the foot of the Nittany Mountains to tangle with the Lions of Penn State, State always claims a good ball squad and will greet the locals with such strong men as Harry Harrison and Bill Patrick. Harrison, who gained fame as the mere mite of the gridiron, also rides wild on the base paths and at the shortstop position.

Sportorial

Continued From Page Five

properly should be under the chairmanship of a student appointed by Villanova authorities, would assume the duties of financing the sports under its wing through various means such as raffles, dances, etc. The association would also arrange schedules, award letters, etc.

Such an association would entail plenty of work for the students interested in it, but we think that there are enough students interested in the advancement of Villanova to take care of this easily. Members of the association could be rewarded with keys for their services. To insure co-operation it could be made compulsory for any student in minor sports to belong to the association.

Space does not present the means to elaborate on these ideas at this time, but we believe that we have presented sufficient food for thought. Let's have "sports for all" at Villanova.

Incidentally such an association would also relieve the college of the expense attached to tennis, golf, boxing, and swimming. The income from football and basketball could be returned to further those sports.

Runners

Continued From Page Five

will probably give the Blue a rough afternoon. Villanova hopes rest mainly in the track events as F. & M. is reputedly strong in the field events.

TRACK EVENTS

120-Yard High Hurdles—1, Cauffman, Penn; 2, McCawley, Penn; 3, Carey, Villanova. Time: 15.1 sec.

100-Yard Dash—1, Meher, Villanova; 2, Urbellis, Villanova; 3, Lavine, Penn. Time: .10 sec.

440-Yard Run—1, Guiteras, Villanova; 2, Heed, Penn; 3, Yankauskas, Villanova. Time: 1 min., 14.2 sec.

1000-Yard Run—1, Drebeinger, Penn; 2, Bellew, Villanova; 3, Boylan, Penn. Time: 2 min., 20 sec.

300-Yard Dash—1, Bradley, Penn; 2, Urbellis, Villanova; 3, Maher, Villanova. Time 31.6 sec.

FIELD EVENTS

Shotput—1, Wexler, Penn; 2, Schumann, Penn; 3, Buzzalino, Villanova. Dist.—45 ft. 4½ in.

Discus—1, Schumann, Penn; 2, Kolenda, Villanova; 3, Wexler, Penn. Dist. —124 ft.

High Jump—1, Moore and McKimney, Penn; 2, Troup, Penn; Murphy and Parsons, Villanova. Ht.—6 ft.

Pole Vault—1, Shifalacqua, Penn; 2, Higgins, Penn; 3, McManus, Villanova.

Bryn Mawr Confectionery

Direction Warner Bros.
Tower Theatre
69th & Market Sts.
Motion Pictures Are Your Best Entertainment
TUES., WED. & THURS. April 25-26-27
Mighty Human Drama
"LET US LIVE"
MAUREEN O'SULLIVAN
HENRY FONDA
RALPH BELLAMY
FRI., SAT., SUN. & MON. April 28-29-30 May 1
IRENE DUNNE
CHARLES BOYER
"LOVE AFFAIR"
Drama to hit your heart . . . one of the finest pictures you'll see this year.

SEVILLE THEATRE
Tuesday, April 25
LESLIE HOWARD
WENDY HILLER
"PYGMALION"
Wed. & Thurs., April 26-27
"YES, MY DARLING DAUGHTER"
PRISCILLA LANE
Fri. & Sat., April 28-29
ROBERT MONTGOMERY
ROSALIND RUSSELL
"FAST AND LOOSE"
Sun. & Mon., April 30-May 1
MICKEY ROONEY
"HUCKLEBERRY FINN"
Walter Connelly

NOW!
BOBBY HACKETT
AND HIS ORCHESTRA
Nightly...and Saturday at luncheon in the new
GARDEN TERRACE
Philadelphia's Smartest Atmosphere
Dinner $1.50. No cover charge. Finest food and beverages at honest prices.
The BENJAMIN FRANKLIN
Chestnut at Ninth
SAMUEL EARLEY, Managing Director

— RIDE FREE ON P. & W. RAILWAY MOVIE TICKET —
GRAND Theatre
NORRISTOWN
Tuesday
RICHARD GREENE in
"HOUND OF BASKERVILLE"
Wednesday and Thursday
SYLVIA SIDNEY in
"ONE THIRD OF A NATION"
Friday, Saturday & Monday
JAMES CAGNEY in
"OKLAHOMA KID"
NORRIS Theatre
NORRISTOWN
Tuesday and Wednesday
Joan Crawford - James Stewart
"ICE FOLLIES OF 1939"
Thursday and Friday
W. C. Fields - Charlie McCarthy
"YOU CAN'T CHEAT AN HONEST MAN"
Saturday, Monday & Tuesday
DEANNA DURBIN in "THREE SMART GIRLS"
GARRICK Theatre
Wednesday and Thursday
"CHAN IN HONOLULU" and
"PIRATES OF THE SKIES"
Friday and Saturday
Three Ritz Bros. - Don Ameche in
"THREE MUSKETEERS"

Ardmore Theatre
Notice to Students
Did you know that your matriculation card will get you a reduced rate at the Ardmore Theatre at any time
Tues. & Wed., April 25-26
NELSON EDDY
"LET FREEDOM RING"
Thursday, April 27
JACKIE COOPER
FREDDIE BARTHOLOMEW
"SPIRIT OF CULVER"
Fri. & Sat., April 28-29
"THE ICE FOLLIES OF 1939"
JOAN CRAWFORD
JAMES STEWART
Sun. & Mon., April 30-May 1
JAMES CAGNEY
"OKLAHOMA KID"

PARAMOUNT GRILLE
BRYN MAWR

Accredited Penna. State Licensed
BUSINESS TRAINING
BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION AND SECRETARIAL SCIENCE for young men and women.
One Two and Three Years Day and Evening Courses 8 Weeks Summer Session
Founded 1865
PEIRCE SCHOOL
Pine Street Square Phila. Pa.

G. W. Cadwallader
Paints, Glass and Painters' Supplies
BUILDERS' SPECIALTIES
6101 MARKET ST.
Philadelphia
Phone SHErwood 1423

In the Sportlight

From the sandlots to the major leagues is the aim and desire of the young man named Joe Desmond who first saw the light of day October 4, 1917, in Chester, Pa. It was in that town that Joe built up an enviable reputation as a ball player, which reputation he has carried with him ever since.

Like any other community in America, Chester has its sandlots, and its youth takes advantage of them. Joe is no exception to the rule and from the time he started in at the Immaculate Heart Parochial School most of his spare time was spent on these sandlots. Disdaining all the other positions, Joe started right in "toeing the slab." He has been pitching ever since.

Started West Catholic

When his grammar school days were over, he decided to enroll at West Catholic High School. This he did; but after a few months there his longing to be nearer home (so that he could spend more time on the diamond) became so strong that he shifted to Chester High. While there, he showed his prowess by playing on the baseball team for four years. It was during his senior year in high school that both his sandlot and school fame spread and he came under the notice of "Doc" Jacobs of Villanova. After a short talk with one of Doc's scouts, Joe was persuaded to matriculate at Villanova.

Amiable and very sociable, Joe soon made a host of friends here—among them the Bronx Handicapper Lou Wannemacher with whom he is now rooming. Joe decided to major in Finance in the Commerce and Finance School. Being very diligent and hard working, he has obtained an enviable record as a student as well as an athlete. When the call came for the baseball candidates Joe was one of the first to report. His work made him a fine prospect for his sophomore year and in that season he earned a place on the squad. Ever since then Joe has been one of the mainstays of Doc Jacobs' pitching staff.

Always dependable, Joe has turned his share of wins. In his three years on the varsity his most notable performance was his pitching of a three-hitter in one of the first games of the season, although Joe thinks that his best effort was the triple he laced out in the opening game of this season against Penn. Even though Joe is an ace on the mound his batting eye is not too sharp according to his teammates who have bestowed the title of "Slugger" upon him. However, Joe need not worry about that if he continues to turn back the opposing teams with those righthanded slants of his.

Likes Golf

Off the diamond Joe likes to indulge in golf. In past years when college has closed up Joe was to be found playing in the "Mountain League." Last summer found him playing with Stroudsburg while in the summer previous he alternated his services between the West Virginia and the Vermont clubs. His plans for the future concern the obtaining of a place on one of the major league clubs. So far he has had several feelers offered and as yet is undecided.

According to his chums Joe is still eligible for any girl. When one looks at this tall athletic six-footer one wonders why this is, but Joe himself has an answer for that one. It seems that at the tender age of two years Joe was unlucky enough to fall from a second story window. Joe is not to be pitied, however, for he runs a very fine Date Bureau. So if Joe fails to make the grade (which is not at all probable), he can always fall back on his present business establishment, his Date Bureau.

OWLS TIE

In an informal spring practice grid game at Temple Stadium Temple's renovated Owls and the Manhattan Jaspers, both old Villanova opponents, played to a two-touchdown tie. Extra-points were not attempted. The game provided a prevue on what Villanova must face on two Saturday afternoons next fall.

C. C. N. Y.

Continued From Page Five

ed, five runs were chalked up by the City College lads.

In the ninth inning the Wildcats added to their final run but not enough to have any effects upon the final score.

Seven Hits

Brescia lasted the whole game for the Beavers, being quite effective on the mound, limiting the Wildcats to seven hits and striking out six batters. Batting in the fifth slot he garnered two doubles over the short right field fence. Connie O'Leary was the strike-out artist of the day, fanning nine Beaver batsmen, but his five walks and two wild pitches, behind four errors of his teammates were deathblows.

Villanova	ab.	r.	h.	o.	a.
Cwiley, 2b	4	1	1	3	0
Pasli, ss	5	2	2	1	2
Dgchue, lf	4	0	1	1	0
Wrichter, cf	4	0	1	1	0
Rond, 1b	2	0	1	7	0
Rasch, rf	3	0	1	0	0
Rmore, rf	2	0	0	0	0
Lyschak, 3b	3	0	0	0	2
Vitchimte, c	4	0	0	10	1
O'Leary, p	1	1	0	1	3
D'smond, p	0	0	0	0	0
Totals	32	4	7	24	8

C. C. N. Y.	ab.	r.	h.	o.	a.
Grieco, 3b	4	1	2	2	2
Schter, lf	5	1	1	0	0
Mhew, cf	4	2	3	5	0
Sompion, 2b	5	1	1	7	6
Brescia, p	5	1	2	0	0
Meister, c	4	1	0	8	0
Balkin, rf	4	0	2	2	0
Cozin, ss	2	1	2	3	3
Monitto, 2b	3	2	0	2	3
Totals	34	12	11	27	8

Villanova ..... 2 0 0 1 0 0 0 1 —4
C. C. N. Y. ..... 0 5 0 0 2 0 0 5 x—12

COLLEGE OFFICIALS DENY HERALD STORY

Villanova athletic authorities have ridiculed recent rumors that the Wildcats would drop baseball from the athletic curricula after this year. The rumors, which came to attention through Irv Marsh's column in the New York Herald-Tribune, are said to have originated on the campus of Fordham University. The Rams are scheduled to meet "Doc" Jacobs' men in New York this spring. Fr. Albers, Athletic Moderator, said that such an idea had never been considered.

PROSPECT

Barney Schmidt, who withstood all the cuts of the Notre Dame freshman football squad last year, may enter this institution in the fall. Schmidt, who hails from Harrisburg, Pa., wants to go to a school nearer home.

HERE and THERE

By HARRY MAZZEI

LAST week's surprising announcement by the athletic board withdrawing Wildcat quintets from future double - headers participation struck the campus as unexpectedly as would a date on the U. of P.'s grid schedule. Yours truly was among those struck; the proclamation landed squarely between both orbs and made him feel for a minute the way a rather rotund, not-so-young gentleman (?) named Tony Galento is going to feel come the night of June 17!

Harry Mazzei

Nevertheless, after the first effects of the board's decision were overcome, and we had time to retrospect and even prognasticate we couldn't help but feel that the step was an act of sound judgment.

There are those of you who may argue that the unpredicted hop, skip and jump from under the eaves of lofty Convention Hall will cause large dents, vents, and rents in Villanova's fame and fortune ($) on the ribbed floor. These arguments, while they are not altogether unfounded, especially the publicity angle, are not and should not be strong enough to deter the board from its present stand.

To the conductor of this line the athletic board's announcement means one thing; Villanova College will finally begin to play "big time" basketball in its own gym and before its own students, for it is well-known, though not widely-publicized, fact that an average of less than one-fifth of the student enrollment turned out for each of last season's Convention Hall doubleheaders. Villanova basketball is being given back to; not the Indians, but the student body.

It became very tiresome to trudge down to the Field House once or twice a week for the past three Winters to see the 'Cats roll up points with boring regularity against some foe that did not belong on the same floor with them. The new set-up although it may not eliminate the above-mentioned "necessary evil," may at least find some representative fives doing battle with the Blue. For the last several seasons the boys who planked down their tuition had to go to Philadelphia to see the 'Cats meet an outstanding opponent. That they did not care to do this is borne out by the attendance records.

You may also present the argument that there won't be any outsiders or paid admissions at the Field House to warrant playing a good team. In other words Villanova will not be able to meet high expenses. Before you relax on that question we'll ask you to hark back to the Winter of 1938 when the fives of St. John's and Villanova clashed in the Main Line Field House. That night the Field House was jammed by a crowd that sat in the aisles, stood on the otuskirts of the playing floor, yes, and even hung from the rafters. Crowds that would be in attendance regularly if teams of St. John's caliber were brought to Villanova as a steady diet and not as a seven-year wonder.

After all, the students do deserve some consideration, and it seems that the athletic board is giving them the recognition they deserve by making this change. This move should certainly be a popular one with those interested in Villanova basketball for Villanova College, but there are those to whom the loss of the 'Cat color will be a severe blow. Still we can't help but feel that the best course has been followed.

KEEP SUPPLIED WITH SCHOOL TICKETS
Good on Buses and Rail Cars until used. 5c a Ride, including Special Free Transfers. School Identification Cards may be obtained at School Office.
PHILADELPHIA SUBURBAN TRANSPORTATION COMPANY
ARONIMINK TRANSPORTATION CO.

Philip Harrison Store
Shoes & Clothing For The Family
Next Door to the Movies
BRYN MAWR, PA.

The Wayne Hotel
LANCASTER AVENUE
WAYNE, PA.
Telephone 380
Headquarters For Visitors to Villanova
Excellent Dinners at $1
SPECIAL STUDENT RATES
J. T. McFATE, Mgr.

Burke Dairies
Milk & Cream
NORRISTOWN, PA.
Phone 2736-W

Compliments of The
BRYN MAWR TRUST CO.
Bryn Mawr, Pa.

Prescriptions
Drugs & Toilet Articles
LA DOW'S PHARMACY
LANCASTER PIKE and SPRING MILL ROAD
VILLANOVA, PA.

Connelly's
SAY IT WITH FLOWERS
MAIN LINE FLORIST
1226 Lancaster Pike
ROSEMONT
Bryn Mawr 232

JEANNETT'S
BRYN MAWR FLOWER SHOP
Floral Ideas For All Occasions
Specializing in Corsages
Member Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association
823 Lancaster Ave.
Bryn Mawr 570

COLADONATO
B. M. 1266
College Tailor Since 1925
Made to Measure Clothes
Suits and Topcoats
$24.50
CLEANING PRESSING
"THE CLOTHES WE SELL FIT WELL"
Cassocks and Capes at Reasonable Prices
See Campus Representative
ED DIMON
235 Austin

Men's Clothes Made-to-Measure
COLEBY Tailoring Inc.
57th & Market Sts.
Suits & Topcoats
$24.75
See Campus Representative
TIM WAAD
210 Fedigan

LUDLOW AMENDMENT SUBJECT OF PAPER READ BY J. FULLAM

Historic Implications of Question Examined by History Students in Seminar

John Fullam, freshman in the School of Arts, read a paper on the history and implications of the proposed Ludlow War Referendum, at the regular weekly meeting of the history seminar. A discussion of the various arguments that have been advanced both for and against the bill occupied the rest of the period.

It was obvious from a reading of the bill that it would apply especially to any proposal for an offensive war. Ludlow's sentiment as expressed in his proposed constitutional amendment is that the United States should be safeguarded from being pushed into a war which is really no concern of ours. He would have the power of declaring war vested in the hands of the people, directly, and not in the hands of their representatives in Congress.

Reference was made to the repeated attempts to get the bill through Congress; all of those have so far been unsuccessful. It was significant to note that although Ludlow is a Democrat, the administration has opposed his policy.

Opinions of the students varied on the advisability of such a piece of legislation and a free discusesoin was entered into by all present.

It was decided that only two more meetings of the group will be held during the remainder of the semester; the dates of these meetings being April 27 and May 11.

Dean O'Sullivan Lectures Press

Continued From Page One

that the majority of the delegates put in appearance. James Collins, the leader in this department, called to the attention of the group the vital necessity of the reporter to the newspaper, he called the reporter the "eyes and ears, the very heart of the publication."

He proceeded from this then to enlarge upon the qualities that tend to make the competent reporter. He emphasized the fact that careful attention to the most minute detail, and delicate accuracy should be the key-note of all good reporting. "Factual error is ruinous and must be erased . . . Every name should be verified by the reporter because in this case the duty cannot be justly shunted upon the copy and proof readers. . . .Being accurate is simply being careful under a different name."

An adjournment for lunch and a short period of relaxation was then afforded to the group. The next meeting scheduled was the highlight of the entire conference. It consisted, in the main, of an address by Dean J. L. O'Sullivan, director of the Catholic School Press Association.

In his talk entitled "Pope Pius XI and the Press," Dean O'Sullivan spoke at length of the activities of the late pope in the field of journalism, and he consistently quoted him. We ust follow the admirable advice imparted to us by Pope Pius XI held Mr. O'Sullivan, and we must never, under any circumstances, forget the admonitions he has tendered to us. It was the speaker's belief that the Catholic student was the proper -element to introduce reforms into the press.

Mr. O'Sullivan, who qualifies as an outstanding figure in American journalism, is the Dean of the School of Journalism at Marquette University.

Later on in the afternoon, the Rev. Fr. Theophane Maguire, C. P., gave an address on "the Catholic Student and the Press." Fr. Maguire, at present the editor of the "Sign", was of virtually the same mind as Mr. O'Sullivan as regards the attitude in which the Catholic student should adopt towards the press.

At 5 p. m. the conference was brought to a close by the benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament.

Mr. O'Sullivan acted as Honorary Chairman of the proceedings. In full charge of the activities were Miss Vernine M. Kelly and Miss Margaret H. Prausa, in the capacities of chairman and vice-chairman respectively.

MECH ENGINEERS ATTEND BANQUET

Nine senior mechanical engineers and Mr. J. Stanley Morehouse, M.S., Acting Dean of the engineering school, were guests at the dinner of the Power Transmission Club of Philadelphia given in the Poor Richard Club last Friday evening.

Engineering students from the University of Delaware, Drexel Institute, the University of Pennsylvania, and Swarthmore College also attended.

Executives of local industries were present to tell of the opportunities in the transmission field, while Mr. E. R. Rath, senior engineer of the National Power Transmission, described significant improvements in group power transmission.

Among the Villanova students present were: Otto Christoph, Raymond MacGregor, Joseph Quinn, Anthony J. Cirrito, Robert J. Mattis and Edward A. Ritti.

GLEE CLUB TO PRESENT OPEN HOUSE PROGRAM

Also to Combine With Symphonic Band for Mother's Day

Last Saturday night the Villanova College Glee Club, under the direction of Rev. Ralph Handran, M. Mus., O. S. A., presented a musical entertainment, featuring a solo by Ed Lucente, for the Junior Class at Immaculata College.

Next Monday and Tuesday evenings, May 1 and 2, the Glee Club will present programs in connection with Open House. Also, on May 1, the Glee Club and Band will entertain the mothers in a special Mother's Day program, designed to synopsize musical activities at Villanova.

The Glee Club will hold its first rehearsal this afternoon at 4 P. M. in preparation for a joint concert with Rosemont College. Father Handran has announced that a band rehearsal will be held Thursday night at 7 P. M.

SCIENCE GROUP STUDIES INSECTS' USES TO MAN

Secretion of Maggots Which Prevents Putrifaction Is Discussed by Students

"Insects as the Friends of Man" was the topic of the paper delivered by J. E. Nelson at the last meeting of the Research Seminar. I. P. Merlinsky also presented a paper. His topic was "The Healing Properties of Maggots in Wounds."

The first paper touched on the medical uses of insects. It was pointed out that in some parts of the world they are considered a rare delicacy. Another point examined was the part insects play in agriculture.

Merlinsky explained the history of the discovery that maggots have medicinal value. It was discovered during the World War that in many wounds of long duration there was no putrifaction.

Doctors were puzzled by this but after a close examination of many cases they found that the wounds were infested by maggots. These maggots gave off a substance which prevented putrifaction. Now the chemical compostition of the secretion is known and used.

After the presentation of these papers a general discussion ensued. Many points of view were brought to bear on the subject of study.

MODERN ART TENDENCY DISCUSSED AT LECTURE

Philosophy of Beauty and Effects on Behaviour Analyzed by Rev. Healy

"Beauty and the Fine Arts" was the topic of a lecture given by Rev. Paul F. Healey, O. S. A., last night in Simpson Hall.

The philosophy of esthetics an analysis of beauty and its relation to primary human endeavor, together with modern tendencies in art and their digression from a sound philosophical basis provided material for Fr. Healey's talk.

Examples from various periods in poetry, sculpture, architecture, and painting were cited.

Students from the School of Arts, those in art appreciation classes, and interested faculty members were in attendance.

The right combination for a satisfying show is ERROL FLYNN & OLIVIA de HAVILLAND in DODGE CITY a WARNER BROS. picture coming soon to your local theatre.

The right combination for a really satisfying smoke is Chesterfield's can't-be-copied blend of the world's best cigarette tobaccos.

The RIGHT COMBINATION SATISFIES MILLIONS

Chesterfield's Happy Combination (blend) of the finest American and Turkish tobaccos satisfies millions because it gives them smoking pleasure they get from no other cigarette. Refreshing mildness, better taste and more pleasing aroma are Chesterfield's feature attractions with smokers everywhere.

When you try them you will know why Chesterfields give millions of men and women more smoking pleasure...why THEY SATISFY

Chesterfield

The RIGHT COMBINATION of the world's best cigarette tobaccos, THEY'RE MILDER...THEY TASTE BETTER

Copyright 1939, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

VILLANOVAN

Vol. 11—No. 22 VILLANOVA, PA., TUESDAY, MAY 2, 1939 N. A. S. Z-660

Technology Exhibits Head Program For Open House

Students, Teachers, Visitors Invited to Witness Two-Day Exhibition; All College Departments Will Be Represented

By ANDREA D'ANGELO

Interesting exhibits of various departments and schools in the college mark the two-day Open House program for students of high schools, teachers, and friends of the institution.

Among the experiments conducted by the Chemistry and Science Departments will be: analysis of gasoline and lubricant oils, analysis of steel, electrolysis and electroplating, observation of molecular movement, exhibit of typical research laboratory with equipment for glass blowing and high vacuum experimentation.

In the biochemistry laboratory will be exhibited drugs, drug reactions, constituents of cell and food, and the composition of milk-digestion (salivary, gastric, and intestinal) will be explained.

Those interested in Civil and Electrical Engineering will find displays in the laboratories of the respective departments. A complete explanation and exhibition of all steps in highway building and of instruments used in surveying have been prepared for the visitors. Motors, generators, the "bucking bronco," the "ever-flowing wine jug," "seeing sound" and hearing light" are among the many phenomena to be explained to the visitors of the erectral laboratory.

The entire makeup of the VILLANOVAN will be on exhibit accompanied by staff members' talks on assignments, news gathering, rewriting, work at the print shop, finished product, and exhibits from the leading Philadelphia newspapers and Associated Press.

Included in the Catholic Press exhibit, there will be on display a comprehensive analysis of religion courses as taught at Villanova. An interesting part of this particular event is the showing of the visual aids used by the various religion teachers in their courses.

Feature events will be held in the Amphitheatre, and visitors will be shown a chemical show — with liquid air demonstrations; a movie showing fertilization and development in the sea urchin; and glass blowing.

In the Histology Laboratory the

Continued on Page Eight

JAS. FORKIN NAMED TREASURER IN SOPH CLASS FINAL VOTE

Stalemate Necessitated New Election; Junior Election After Junior Week

Elections for the Sophomore Class were completed on April 26, in the rear of the residents' dining hall when James Forkin, student in the School of Arts, was selected treasurer of the class over John Van Hook, Schol of Engineering. This election was held as a result of a tie between the candidates.

The election of the junior officers will take place sometime after the activities of junior week have terminated. The positions to be filled are those of president, vice-president, treasurer, secretary, and three representatives in the student council.

The chief purpose of the student council is to act as an intermediary between the student body and the faculty. This, however, is not the only duty of the organization. In order to show the nature of the other offices it will be necessary to make an enumeration.

In college politics the Student Council acts as an impartial judge, controlling all elections, and functions as the leading campus-government organization. The organization also plays a major role in the revivement of school spirit before all of the important athletic contests. In addition to these duties it takes complete charge of Spiritual Bouquets for deceased members of the various classes and faculty.

The Student Council consits of the presidents of each class, one member of the sophomore class, three from the junior class, the president of each campus fraternity, the editors of the Belle Air, VILLANOVAN and Villanova Engineer, and four elected seniors.

AWARDS TO BE GIVEN QUALIFIED STUDENTS

Extra-Curricular Certificates Will be Presented; Naval Academy Institutes System

Exactly 54 extra-curricular activities will be eligible to have members on the list of those receiving Merit Awards next month before the assembled student body in the Commerce and Finance auditorium. This reward is conferred on the students who have taken an active, lively, and conscientious part in these various activities and have a good scholastic record. The student must be in good standing with the dean of men and the chaplain.

The students who have fulfilled the necessary requirements will then be presented with engraved diplomas, a formal recognition of worthiness. This certificate bears the seal of the college together with the name of the student, the activity in which he has participated, and the signature of the president of the college, the dean of men, the faculty moderator, and the chairman of the student council.

It is quite interesting to note that the United States Naval Academy just recently adopted this same method of recognizing the efforts of the midshipmen for excellence in extra curricular activities. This fact is further proof that extra-curricular activities are a vital part of a good education and that they should be encouraged by rewards in proportion to their worth.

Many Volumes Are Added to Library; Makes Total 6320

In March, 2777 Books Were Circulated, Averaging Three Per Student

A total of 50,000 volumes are sheived in the Villanova College Library which is an increase of 6,320 volumes since March 1938.

Probably a more startling fact, however, is that in the course of the past month of March, 2,777 volumes were in circulation, which number naturally does not include the numerous reference books which the students use in the Library proper.

Undoubtedly one of the most important additions to the Library in the past year was the private library of the late Father Tourscher. His books, though treating of various topics, deal principally with Church History and the Early Christian Fathers.

New Projects in Library

Ever striving for improvement the Library has recently acquired through exchange 744 periodicals which will complete the periodical sets.

COOPER AWARDED MENDEL MEDAL FOR NOTABLE RESEARCH

College Honors Catholic Scientist for Exhaustive Work in Anthropology

STUDIED AMERICAN INDIAN

Rev. John M. Cooper, Ph. D., professor of Anthropology at the Catholic University of America, Washington, D. C., will receive the Mendel Medal of Villanova College on Thursday evening, May 4th, according to an announcement made on April 24th by the Very Rev. Edward V. Stanford, O. S. A., president of the college.

Eleventh Recipient

The Mendel Medal is awarded annually in recognition of outstanding achevement in the field of science. Dr. Cooper, the eleventh recipient of the award, has been named for notable research and discoveries in anthropology.

The Mendel Medal was founded by Villanova College in 1928, in honor of Gregor Mendel, Abbot of the Augustinian Monastery, Brunn, Austria, whose scientific researches have given the world the now celebrated Mendelian Laws of Heredity.

Dr. Cooper's scientific work has been concerned chiefly with the North American Indians. Since 1915, he has made twelve expeditions into the Indian territories, productive of many significant discoveries relating to land tenure, hunting and trapping methods, and the magico-religious culture of such

Continued on Page Four

PERSONNEL BUREAU AID TO GRADUATES

Employment Opportunities Increased for Engineer Students by System

Employment opportunities for graduating and graduated Villanova engineers have been increased with the inauguration of the Engineering Employment Bureau. The bureau itself has been in operation for several years, but this system is to be changed.

The system is that each member of the graduating class receive a supply of personnel sheets containing his photograph, name, address and complete information concerning his degree, occupational choice, experience, personal and family data, plus high school and college activities.

PAETRUS BANMILLER

These sheets will then be sent to all prospective employers. College members of the engineering faculty can also contact industries, concerns that employ graduate engineers. Thus the interested employer has a complete record of the applicant.

Graduates as far back as 1935 are also to have the use of this new service. Forms will be sent to them so that they may avail themselves of the opportunity. Those graduates who are not satisfied with their present position and seek a change will file their form with the bureau and any call for experienced engineers can be quickly answered.

Gala Events Officially Inaugurate Junior Week

Traditional Blazer Ball, Junior Prom and Class Dinner Dance Arranged For May 3, 5, 6; Al Donahue Featured in Main Event

By FRANK FITZPATRICK

The first taste of social life in the brilliant series of Junior Week events will take place tomorrow evening with the annual Blazer Ball to be held in the college field house. At this informal gathering the members of the Junior Class will act as hosts to the members of the Senior Class.

Music for the occasion will be furnished by the Villanovans under the baton of Paul Wade, senior education student. This function will inaugurate a novel grand march for the seniors.

Next on the entertainment program will be the Junior Promenade held on Friday evening in the college field house. Featuring the "Symphonic Swing" of Al Donahue with Paula Kelly vocalizing and Charlie "Mickey Mouse" Carrol supplying individualized interpretations on his drums the evening will come to an end shortly after the grand march of the juniors.

Junior Week, highlight of the Villanova social season was officially inaugurated yesterday morning with a Mass marking the formal debut of the third year class into a program that fairly bristles with collegiate formalities and social contacts.

The Mother's Day program opened at 1:30 P. M. when the guests assembled in the Villanova College Field House and were greeted by Rev. Bernard M. Albers, O. S. A., vice president. After the welcoming address the mothers remained for a special musicale. Entertainment was rendered by the Symphonic Orchestra, the Glee Club, a male quartet, and special selections by Ed Lucente and Charles Lodowski.

With the end of the musical entertainment the mothers returned to the college dining room for luncheon. Immediately following this they were introduced to the various experiments and exhibits of Open House conducted by undergraduates in the Schools of Science and Engineering. Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament in the Chapel closed the day dedicated by the Junior Class to the Mothers.

A fitting climax to Junior Week will be the annual Dinner Dance to be held in the Garden Terrace Room of the Benjamin Franklin Hotel. This event is a closed affair with only juniors and their guests present.

It was not necessary to underwrite the prom band this year. This

Continued on Page Eight

DEPARTMENT BUILDS LABORATORIES FOR CHEM. ENGINEERS

Generators for Direct Current and Air Compressors Also Secured

Three new major laboratories have been installed in the Department of Chemistry and Chemical Engineering. These new structures, which cost $8700, will enable the student to study the operations of plant size equipment. The equipment is necessary for all chemical manufacturing processes. The laboratories include apparatus to be used for metallurgical and technical analysis.

In addition to the lew laboratories many other improvements have been made in the department. Generators for supplying direct current to several laboratories have been added along with a portable compressor making compressed air available.

Faculty Increased

The faculty has been changed and expanded by seven members, including three doctors and four who are working for their doctorates. The two basic curricula are Bachelor of Chemical Engineering and Bachelor of Science in Chemistry. The former is a revised and modernized course, and the latter is a new and specialized curriculum with a wide choice of electives.

The department now has over 30 different courses, ranging from General Chemistry lectures to courses leading to the M. S. degree. There are over five new courses in Chemical Engineering, and over seven in the Chemistry department.

Students who complete the course favorably are urged to at-

Continued on Page Four

Travel Facilities to Phila. Via P. R. R. Listed For Guests

Junior Week Visitors Aided By Compilation of Fares And Mileage

With the arrival of Junior Week and its numerous activities a great interest is manifested in transportation facilities.

Parents will be arriving for Mother's Day and the lucky fellows will have their girl friends coming from home for the social events during the week.

The VILLANOVAN has compiled the fare, first class and coach, and distance by rail from some of the major terminals in the East to Philadelphia via the Pennsylvania Railroad to be of assistance to those intending to visit the college.

To Philadelphia from:—

	First Class	Coach	Distance
Atlantic City	$2.05	$1.73	68 miles
Boston	10.50	8.88	323.4 "
Chicago	34.55	20.44	816.3 "
New York	2.70	2.25	90 "
Pittsburgh	10.45	8.69	347.9 "
Scranton	4.90	4.07	168.1 "
Trenton	1.00	.83	33.5 "
Washington	4.00	3.32	132.5 "
Wilkes-Barre	4.35	3.61	176.6 "

SCIENCE STUDENTS PURSUE SPECIMENS

Combined Field Trip and Picnic Held Near Media by Seminar

In quest of specimens for the science department open house exhibit, members of the science seminar conducted a field trip on Thursday, April 27. As the social aspect of the trip a picnic was held at Media for the group.

To aid the beginning botanist, the college maintains a hot house which grows cultivated specimens. The trees upon the campus are all labeled and classified; while the library contains books necessary for students to readily learn the various types of trees, flowers, and mosses, found in the surrounding countryside.

On each side of the campus is a pond, each containing an abundant supply of aquatic plants, fishes, and amphibia, as algae, water lilies, frogs, salamanders, and insect larvae. Here biologists grow their specimens exactly as they are found in their natural habitat.

Cardinals, orioles, wild ducks, hawks, owls, and pheasants, are a few of the wild birds, in addition to the wild animals, that may be observed in the neighboring woods and streams.

VILLANOVAN

Published Weekly by the Students of Villanova College, Villanova, Pa.

Managing Board

JOHN J. HARRINGTON, '40 ..... Editor-in-Chief
JAMES P. COLLINS, '41 ..... College Editor
PHILIP M. DUNN, '40 ..... Sports Editor
JOHN T. GALLAGHER, '42 ..... Business Manager
JOSEPH N. BONGIOVANNI, JR., '40 ... Copy Editor
JOSEPH A. CIRELLI, '40 ..... Circulation Manager
MURRAY P. ZEALOR, '41 ..... Literary Editor
HENRY L. MANCUSO, '41 ..... Photography Editor
JOHN L. MAHER, '42 ..... Advertising Manager
JOSEPH F. BEE, '42 ..... Cartoonist

Columnists

Bernard A. Bellew, '40 ..... College Chatter
William F. Garrity, '40 ..... Odds and Ends
William J. Toy, '41 ..... Varieties
Harry A. Mazzei, '40 ..... Here and There
Anthony R. Liscio, '40 ..... Know Villanova

Staff Writers

Justin G. Rubin, '40 — William E. Schubert, '42
Frank Fitzpatrick, '40 — William B. DeGrace, '42
Saul A. Wallach, '40 — Thomas H. Doyle, '42
Bernard Singer, '40 — Howard A. McCall, '42
Thomas J. Moore, '41 — John P. Fullam, '42
James F. Haughton, '41 — Thomas A. Shallow, '42
Andrea J. D'Angelo, '41 — Robert J. McIntyre, '42
David N. Reardon, '42 — Alfred Bongiovanni, '40
Joseph V. McCabe, '42 — William V. Sinnott, '40
Joseph A. Barnes, '41 — William J. Ehmer, '42
Joseph Santaniello '41 — James F. Donovan, '41
Robert W. Kiley, '41 — Frederick A. Rappleyea, '40
Robert J. Funahashi, '42 — William N. Way, '41
William B. Carey, '42 — Walter W. Lessing, '42
Francis J. Callahan, '42 — Armand Salerno, '42
Thomas A. Sullivan, '42 — Thomas J. McKimmey, '42

Contributor

Lou Dubino, '39

Photography Staff

Melvin Bricker, '41 — Walter N. LaPorte, '42
John T. Sandonato, '41

Circulation Staff

Robert F. Schisler, '41 — Robert F. Donovan, '42
Bernard C. Crumb, '42 — Joseph D. Keffer, '42

Faculty Advisor—Rev. Edward B. McKee, O. S. A.

This paper is dedicated to one of the finest men who ever entered Villanova: scholar, athlete, gentleman—
L E O G O O D R E A U

Subscription—$2.00 per year.
Entered as second class matter at the Villanova Postoffice, December 27, 1928.

1938 Member 1939
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

REPRESENTED FOR NATIONAL ADVERTISING BY
National Advertising Service, Inc.
College Publishers Representative
420 MADISON AVE. NEW YORK, N. Y.
CHICAGO • BOSTON • LOS ANGELES • SAN FRANCISCO

Member of the Catholic School Press Association
Member of the Catholic College Press Association
Member of the National Scholastic Press Association.

TUESDAY - - - - - MAY 2, 1939

Enjoying Learning

THE advantage derived by being associated with any of the many seminars on the campus is dual. It should primarily be recognized that intellectual development from merely a point of view of pursuit of knowledge should not be the sole aim of a college education. The knowledge acquired through lecture and study takes on a new lustre through an invigorating extra-curricular atmosphere. Secondarily, seminars enable the student to satisfy his interests in subjects not included in his regular curriculum.

Active attendance at a seminar offers the student an opportunity of speaking before an informal group and ultimately gives him poise and charm requisite of a college graduate and certainly expected of one by the public. His ability to speak in harmony with other participants is developed and by listening to other members of the same seminar, he is able to improve himself by their example. Presentations before such groups is certainly valuable in acquainting the student with research methods. Finally, the very subject matter presented at these seminars adds to the store of knowledge of its members.

Perhaps the most conspicuous example of attendance at seminars for the purpose of satisfying interests of a student other than those comprising a regular part of his curriculum, is the particular popularity of the Music Seminar. Through such a medium interests secondary to the particular course of study may be cultivated and without which certainly such opportunity would be lacking.

Conducive to the success of such seminars, is the new addition to the college of Simpson Hall. It adds much comfort and informality to the various meetings, and through its specific dedication to seminar purposes, it emphasizes the extra-curricular character of the organizations.

Complete Education

DESPITE nearly universal education in the United States, anti-democratic forces and crime continue to grow in pace. One of the chief reasons for this unfortunate condition is that many of our schools have divorced religion from education.

As the best training for citizenship, the Roman Catholic Archibishops and Bishops of the United States, meeting in Washington, advocated, "An education that unites intellectual, moral, and religious elements, Such an education inculcates a sense of responsibility, a respect for authority and a considerateness for the rights of others which are the necessary foundations of civic virtue — more necessary, where, as in a democracy, the citizen, enjoying a large freedom has a greater obligation to govern himself. We are convinced that as religion and morality are essential to right living and to the public welfare, both should be included in the work of education."

Too many modern schools, on the other hand, while providing for intellectual and physical development, neglect to provide for religion, which alone can purify the heart and promote moral efficacy.

Education should aim at the first and harmonious development of the intellectual, physical, and moral powers of man. Instruction and the acquisition of knowledge are merely the means to education and should not be made an end in themselves.

Realizing that the practice of the Catholic Ideal of Life in justice and charity is indispensable to the truly educated man, Villanova has taken care to provide for all these essential and indispensable elements of true and complete education.

Back to Scholasticism

TO-DAY we exalt in our progress. We are far superior to our brethren of a yesteryear—just look at the automobile for instance—they didn't have them. We need only to look back at Mediaevel philosophy or Mediaevel anything, for that matter, with a cynical gaze that is not even conducive to objective historical research.

With this attitude we rush forth like impetuous children, kick over all the traces and refuse to learn the lessons of the past. What is the result? Instead of building on the foundations of the past we make the same mistakes that were made in the very earliest philosophical investigation. We react from subjectivism to realism in cycles.

We ask that Scholasticism be used as a foundation on which to build on—not because it is ours but because it is the only sane approach to philosophy that we know. Back then to Scholasticism. Back then to St. Thomas Aquinas and St. Augustine. Back then to Truth.

A Small College

THE inestimable advantages enjoyed by those who receive their education from a small, well-equipped college cannot be over emphasized. The small classes make for a closer contact between professor and student with the former taking a personal interest in the intellectual development of the latter. The laboratories not being over-crowded, each student not only has ample space for work, but what is more important, has the use of apparatus to himself, so that he is constrained to understand all the factors involved in an experiment before he is able to perform it.

The number of friendships and acquaintances formed among fellow students, is usually of such proportions that the whole institution takes on the character of a large family with each individual knowing and willing to co-operate with the other.

ODDS and ENDS

By Bill Garrity

VILLANOVA COLLEGE offers everything that the student could possibly desire. Its location is excellent both from a standpoint of beauty and convenience. Its buildings are well equipped — and its fellows — well, it's harder to find a better group anywhere. Unlike many colleges there is a general feeling of good fellowship which cannot be easily found.

A custom which has brought about a great deal of this good fellowship is the well known "hello habit" inculcated into the freshman by the rules. How many of us realize upon seeing the close friendships and sincere relationships of students, here at Villanova, that many of these fellows hadn't ever seen one another before coming to Villanova?

The aforementioned "hello habit" is a ruling that every student must say hello to everyone he happens to meet on the campus. In such a large group there are bound to be some fellows a bit bashful. This custom enables the bashful freshman to meet the willing senior, and the boy from out-of-town gets acquainted with his next door neighbor. Soon this custom really becomes a habit and does more to create good fellowship on the Villanova campus than any other feature.

Villanova students are always free to drop in any room on the campus and join in the talkfest going on. The priests' rooms are always open, and it is never too late nor inconvenient for the students to drop in for a chat with the good Fathers who make themselves the students' companions.

Another feature of Villanova which will not be found in the larger colleges and universities is the close relation with all the teachers. The classes are never too large for the professor to give individual attention. In some of the larger schools the professor has so many students in each class that he doesn't have the chance to call on some of the class at all throughout the entire year. At Villanova, the student has plenty of opportunity to ask questions during and after class. If he becomes involved in something he doesn't understand, he has ample opportunity to see his teacher during office hours.

In summary, the boy who enters the gates unpolished and retiring goes forth a gentleman with a developed intellect and ready to fight for his sustinence and place in life.

College Chatter

By Barney Bellew

IN THIS issue the VILLANOVAN prints the first rotogravure section in its history. Thus another step is taken in the evolution of the college sheet.

Behind the scenes is the Rev. Edward V. McKee, O.S.A., M.A. In his capacity of moderator Fr. McKee works energetically for the advancement of the paper. Since his appointment in 1932 he has effected many improvements—though he manages to make himself inconspicuous

College editor this year is Jim Collins. Taking care of the sports angle is Phil Dunn. Murray Zealor keeps a lively editorial section moving. Circulation is supervised by Joseph Cirelli. The cartoons are drawn by Joe Bee.

Joe Bongiovanni contributes his bit as copy editor while Jake Gallagher heads the business staff. Johnny Maher takes care of getting advertisements while Gus Mancuso snaps the pictures. Of course their work would be impossible without the support of a capable staff. The editorial board is backed by 45 members counting myself and fellow columnists.

The VILLANOVAN is a weekly. It makes its appearance nearly every Tuesday of the school year. From the original VILLANOVAN in 1895 to the issue you are now reading is a far call. The publication first appeared as a magazine. Somewhere between 1895 and the present it evolved, progressed or degenerated into a newspaper. At some later date the color of the print was changed from a light blue to what it now is.

For a real appreciation of the workings of the VILLANOVAN staff you really ought to see them in action on Friday afternoon. Four typewriters are heard busily clicking — from busy clicking to Fitzpatrick's two-finger thumping. Others are waiting in line. At the editor's desk sits Harrington as unperturbed and calm as a philosopher—quite in contrast with the surrounding excitement.

Three scholarships, valued at $1000 each, will be awarded to the winners of the competitive examinations to be held here, at Villanova, May 27. These scholarships are applicable to a four year college course and are for use beginning next September.

In addition to these three, many scholastic scholarships are awarded annually to Villanova College by various high schools throughout the country. At present, there are 48 scholarship winners from 15 schools at Villanova. The following is a list of those enrolled scholarship winners:

Catholic Education . . . . . . by BEE

SCIENTIFIC TOPICS CREATE INTEREST IN PRE-MED SOCIETIES

New Research Seminar Thrives; Science Group, L. K. D. Hold Attention

Motion pictures depicting the "Normal Fertilization of the Sea-Urchin Egg" were presented at the last meeting of the Research Seminar, Friday, April 28. The development of the egg was shown before and after fertilization.

The films were obtained by Rev. James A. Donnellon, O. S. A., moderator, from Dr. F. Moser, who is doing research on this subject at the Osborne Zoological Laboratory at Yale University.

Two papers reported on lately were: "The Evils of Marihuana" by Leonard Flinkman, senior premedical, and one presented by Carl Pantaleo, also a senior, on "The Inheritance of Blood Types."

Science Seminar Arouses Interest

Since the inauguration of the Science Seminar in 1927 by Rev. Jos. M. Dougherty, O. S. A., Ph. D., an hour has been set aside each week in the interest of the students. The purpose is to create an interest in various scientific subjects.

During the present year the following well-known men appeared before the science group; Hamilton Dalton, known to radio audiences as the "Town Crier," who spoke on "The Importance of the Radio in Everyday Life"; Dr. L. V. Heilbrunn, noted authority and teacher of physiology, whose topic was "Science and Democracy"; and Dr. Joseph J. Toland, who addressed the group on the topic "Catholic Ethics and Ideals in the Medical Profession."

L. K. D. Fosters Fellowship

Oldest of the science organizations is the Lamba Kappa Delta Fraternity. Membership in this group is confined to students of high scholastic standing. The members of "L. K. D." desire to continue onward in the field of medicine. Approximately 70 students are included on its present rolls.

Meetings of the fraternity are held bi-monthly, at which time various speakers appear before the group. Among those who addressed the fraternal organization are Henry Bellew, D. O., who spoke on "Endocrinology," and Gregg Salisbury, D. D. S., whose topic was "Professional Life — Success or Failure."

CAMPUS SEMINARS VARIOUSLY ACTIVE

Philosophy, History Seminars, Spanish Club Enjoy Spirited Discussion Periods

Joseph Bongiovanni will read a paper on "Faith and Reason for the Philosophy seminar to be held this week in Simpson Hall.

Last Thursday, the timely topic of "The United States Deporting Alien Communists" was discussed in a paper presented by Joseph Higgins. This commentary on the action that the United States is taking in curbing ultra-radical factions in this country was held in connection with the regular weekly meeting of the History Seminar.

Frank Quinones was awarded a medal and a diploma in view of the services he has rendered to the Spanish club for the past two years. The award was made last Wednesday evening at the regular meeting of the club. Quinones, a sophomore in the science school, is the secretary of the organization.

Rev. I. Lozano, O. S. A., moderator, made the presentation and expressed the heartiest congratulations on behalf of himself and the group. The medal and diploma are the gifts of the nation wide Spanish clubs headquarters.

Also scheduled for this meeting was the festival that had planned to honor Miguel de Cervantes, immortal Spanish author and poet. This festival was to be held in conjunction with similar celebrations held all over that part of the world where Spanish is spoken. However, because of local friction with "Room Service" and Junior Week, the club was forced to cancel the undertaking. Before the meeting was adjourned, the members of the organization sang several Spanish airs.

Apparatus Improves Laboratory Technique

New mechanical glass-blowing apparatus is shown at left operated by its designer, the Rev. Joseph W. Paquette, O. S. A., M. S., instructor in chemistry and chemical engineering. Technique in gas analysis is demonstrated by George Haluszka, sophomore chemical engineering student, in one of the laboratories.

Focal Point of Junior Celebrations Reached With Al Donahue at Prom

By FRANK FITZPATRICK

Students from the metropolitan area who are familiar with Al Donahue have made inquiry as to just how the juniors obtained the services of a band that has played in Radio City for the past six seasons. The answer is Al Donahue has recently been on a presentation tour which included successful engagements at New York's Paramount and Philadelphia's Fox Theatres.

His case is parallel to that of Jan Savitt and his Tophatters, a Philadelphia organization. For years Savitt remained in this locale, broadcasting exclusively for KYW and playing one night engagements at country clubs. Recently he has changed his policy resulting in his going into a spot at the Hotel Lincoln in New York, to follow the clarinet music of the new King of Swing, Art Shaw.

To Philadelphians who had known of his ability it was no surprise, but to New Yorkers it was a pleasant experience to find a "dark horse" so capable. It may truthfully be stated that the Tophatters were a tremendous hit, and so those students who have scruples about Donahue should listen to a few of his recordings and judge for themselves as to his capability.

Al Donahue, who himself was a collegian, having attended Boston Law School, realizes what a Junior Prom is and should be and can be counted on for his usual excellent performance.

The Milk Bar that will provide refreshment for guests at the Junior Prom will be another innovation in this particular field. In former years soft drinks have always been served. This year, in contrast, the Milk Bar will serve chocolate milk and ice cream as its specialties.

PHILIP DUNN ELECTED NEW HOLY NAME SOCIETY PRES.

At its meeting after chapel services last Tuesday evening, the Holy Name Society elected as its president Philip H. Dunn, junior in the business school, and formerly vice-president of the organization. Other officers elected were: Joseph B. Clarken, sopohomore pre-med as vice-president, and Robert J. Konees, freshman in the business school as secretary.

Both resident and day students are members of the Holy Name. The former go to Communion in a body in the college chapel the second Sunday of every month of the school year, while the others do the same at their parish churches.

Coming Events

Monday, May 1

P. K. P. ..... 10:45 A. M.
Mathematics Club .... 12:30 P. M.
Belle Air (Arts) ..... 1:00 P. M.
Mothers' Day Program ..... 1:30-5:10 P. M.
Open House ..... 2:00-5:00 P. M.
6:00-9:00 P. M.

Tuesday, May 2

Belle Air (Sports) .... 1:00 P. M.
Loyola Game (At Baltimore) ..... 3:00 P. M.

Wednesday, May 3

P. K. P. ..... 12:30 P. M.
VILLANOVAN ..... 1:00 P. M.
Belle Air (Business) .. 1:00 P. M.
Blazer Ball ..... 9:00 P. M.

Thursday, May 4

Science Seminar ..... 10:45 A. M.
Belle Air (College) ... 1:00 P. M.

Friday, May 5

German Seminar ..... 9:45 A. M.
Belle Air (Photography) 1:00 P. M.
Research Seminar .... 4:00 P. M.
Junior Promenade .... 9:00 P. M.

Saturday, May 6

St. John's of Brooklyn Tennis (Home) ..... 2:30 P. M.
Junior Dinner Dance .. 7:30 P. M.

Sunday, May 7

Fedigan vs. Mendel .. 10:30 A. M.
Austin vs. Alumni .... 1:00 P. M.

Monday, May 8

P. K. P. ..... 10:45 A. M.
Mathematics Club .... 12:30 P. M.
Belle Air (Arts) ..... 1:00 P. M.

Rev. B. Albers Releases List of Authorized Clubs; Fraternities, Seminars, and Publications Included

Some Recently Organized; Others Backed By Long Tradition

A list of authorized student organizations for the year 1938-39 has recently been released by Rev. Bernard M. Albers, O. S. A., vice president.

In addition to the different campus publications, the Villanova band and orchestra, and the debating and dramatic societies, this list includes clubs, fraternities and seminars.

Some of these organizations have been in existence for a number of years, some have been formed recently, while others are not functioning at the present time.

Inactive Groups

Epsilon Phi Theta, the fraternity for the Arts School and the oldest fraternity on the campus, has not been active for the past few years. The Flying Club, too, though it is still officially recognized, has not functioned recently.

The Sociology, Philosophy and Mathematics Seminars are a few of the more recently organized groups. The Mathematics Seminar, the newest of these, was formed at the beginning of the present semester under the direction of Mr. Emil Amoelotti.

The most novel club on the campus is the Chess Club. The Music Seminar is the most popular. So many students have been attending the meetings of the latter that it was found necessary to hold these meetings on two separate evenings in order to accommodate the crowd.

Locality Club

In addition to these organizations, there are also a few unauthorized clubs which have been arranged by the students from various districts of the country. The most prominent of these are the Massachusetts Club, the Connecticut Club and the Wilkes-Barre Club.

Villanova also has representatives in the various intercollegiate societies, such as the Catholic College Peace Association, the Interracial Council, the National Federation of Catholic College Students, Pax Romana and Press Relations Committee.

Authorized student organizations and their moderators: 1938-39

American Institute of Electrical Engineers—Harry S. Buecke, M.S., E.E.

American Soiecty of Civil Engineers—John A. Oakey, M.S.

American Society of Mechanical Engineers — Stanley Morehouse, M.E.

Band—Rev. Ralph J. Handran, O.S.A., A.B., M.Mus.

"Belle Air" — Year book—Rev. Daniel P. Falvey, O.S.A., A.B.

Belle Masque—Dramatics — Rev. Robert M. Sullivan, O.S.A., M.A.

Beta Gamma—Varsity Debating —Rev. Robert M. Sullivan, O.S.A., M.A.

Catholic Press Apostolate, Rev. Edward B. McKee, O.S.A., M.A.

Chemical Engineers' Society—Edward L. Haenisch, Ph.D.

Chess Club — Rev. Lorenzo Lozano, O.S.A., A.B.

Class of 1939—Rev. William J. Lunney, O.S.A., M.A.

Class of 1940—Rev. Daniel P. Falvey, O.S.A., A.B.

Class of 1941 — Rev. John R. Dunne, O.S.A., M.A.

Epsilon Phi Theta—Rev. John F. Burns, O.S.A., Ph.D.

Flying Club—William Gorman.

Frosh Debating Society — Rev. Robert M. Sullivan, O.S.A., M.A.

German Seminar—Rev. J. Lunney, O.S.A., M.A.

Glee Club—Rev. Ralph J. Handran, O.S.A., A.B., M.Mus.

History Seminar — Harold F. Hartman, Ph.D.

Holy Name Society—Rev. Joseph I. Boyle, O.S.A., M.A.

International Relations Club—Rev. William J. Lunney, O.S.A., M.A.

Lambda Kappa Delta—Rev. Joseph M. Dougherty, O.S.A., Ph.D.

Mathematics Seminar—Emil Amelotti, M.S.

"Mendel Bulletin"—Rev. Joseph M. Dougherty, O.S.A., Ph.D.

Music Seminar — Rev. John J. Vrana, O.S.A., M.A.

Phi Kappa Pi — Rev. John S. O'Leary, O.S.A., M.S.

Philosophy Seminar — Rev. Edward M. Dwyer, O.S.A., Ph.D.

Sanctuary Society—Rev. Joseph I. Boyle, O.S.A., M.A.

Science Seminar — Rev. James A. Donnellon, O.S.A., Ph.D.

Sociology Seminar — Rev. Vincent A. McQuade, O.S.A., Ph.D.

Spanish Seminar—Rev. Lorenzo Lozano, O.S.A., A.B.

Student Council—Rev. Bernard M. Albers, O.S.A., M.A.

Study Club—Rev. John J. Vrana, O.S.A., M.A.

"Villanovan"—Newspaper — Rev. Edward B. McKee, O.S.A., M.A.

"Villanovans"—Orchestra — Rev. Ralph J. Handran, O.S.A., A.B., M.Mus.

"Villanova Engineer"—Rev. John J. Vrana, O.S.A., M.A.

Liturgical Music Requisites Listed Properly Treated

Auditory Methods Highly Valuable as Devotional Aid; Various Types of Chant Delineated

By ALFRED BONGIOVANNI

Pius X states that church music must have sanctity, beauty, and universality. It is an auditory aid toward creating an atmosphere appropriate to the particular services, just as stained glass windows and statues are visual forms. The odor of flowers and incense is also a stimulus toward lifting the mind to holy sentiments.

Another requirement of liturgical music, is that it be objective. It must not be of a nature such as to distract the attention of the worshiper from the actual services to the music. The music is subordinate to the act; its purpose being merely to assist in creating the proper mood for the service. It must therefore have an atmosphere of tranquility.

Rev. Ralph J. Handran, M. Mus., O. S. A., explains that in ordinary conversation, or in music, a passionate disposition is represented by sudden accent. This commands attention and as such it could never be used in liturgical music. Such a disposition would have to be treated more cautiously and gradually. Therefore, music which in any way would tend toward distraction from the services to the music itself would not be satisfactory for the church.

Pius X in his Modo Propio states: "The more a musical composition for use in church, is like a plain chant in its movement, its inspiration, and its feeling, so much the more is it proper as liturgical music, and the more it differs from this highest model, so much the less is it worthy of the house of God." For this reason, the work of Palestrina is especially suitable, since it avoids too much attractiveness.

The use of liturgical music during the Lenten season, is to culminate in the Tenebrae, which is the singing of the ordinarily recited divine office. The Tenebrae is celebrated in all Catholic churches on Spy Wednesday, Holy Thursday and Holy Friday.

As regards the chants, there are three types. The Gregorian chant, polyphony, and modern liturgical music. The Gregorian chant possibly coincides best with the conception of Pius X as to what liturgical music should be, in that it is the simplest of the three and consists of only a single melody. Polyphony on the other hand consists of many melodies mixed together. Modern liturgical music also has harmony.

BAND ADDED COLOR TO BALL GAMES

Rev. Handran Appointed to Post of Moderator at Beginning of Year

In keeping with the trend of modern music the Villanova College band will incorporate several swing selections to its repertoire next year. Its renditions of "Alexander's Ragtime Band" and "A Tisket a Tasket" during the past athletic season greatly improved its appeal to students and other fans.

Each Saturday afternoon in the fall, the Villanova College band, resplendent in blue and white uniforms, adds color to the football games by its musical renditions and its complicated marching formations. The band's performance at the games and its concert held in connection with the Senior Social were two highlights of the past school year.

The band consists of approximately 48 members, under the direction of Mr. Paul Teel. Rev. Ralph Handran, M. Mus., O. S. A., assumed the duties of moderator this year.

Two new instruments, a lyre and a glockenspeil, acquired by the band this year, will be continued next season.

John Eldracher, drum major, attracted much attention during the past year with his high-stepping performances. In fact, his prowess was so highly touted that he was called upon to display his wares on the stage of the Earle Theater, during Horace Heidt's engagement there.

VILLANOVAN

Published Weekly by the Students of Villanova College, Villanova, Pa.

Managing Board

JOHN J. HARRINGTON, '40 ..... Editor-in-Chief
JAMES P. COLLINS, '41 ..... College Editor
PHILIP M. DUNN, '40 ..... Sports Editor
JOHN T. GALLAGHER, '42 ..... Business Manager
JOSEPH N. BONGIOVANNI, JR., '40 ..... Copy Editor
JOSEPH A. CICELLI, '40 ..... Circulation Manager
MURRAY P. ZEALOR, '41 ..... Literary Editor
HENRY L. MANCUSO, '41 ..... Photography Editor
JOHN L. MAHER, '42 ..... Advertising Manager
JOSEPH F. BFE, '42 ..... Cartoonist

Columnists

Bernard A. Bellew, '40 ..... College Chatter
William F. Garrity, '40 ..... Odds and Ends
William J. Toy, '41 ..... Varieties
Harry A. Mazzei, '40 ..... Here and There
Anthony R. Liscio, '39 ..... Know Villanova

Staff Writers

Justin G. Rubin, '40 — William E. Schubert, '42
Frank Fitzpatrick, '40 — William B. DeGrace, '42
Saul A. Wallach, '40 — Thomas H. Doyle, '42
Bernard Singer, '40 — Howard A. McCall, '42
Thomas J. Moore, '41 — John F. Fullam, '42
James F. Hamilton, '41 — Thomas A. Shallow, '42
Andrea J. D'Angelo, '41 — Robert J. McIntyre, '42
David N. Reardon, '42 — Alfred Bongiovanni, '40
Joseph V. McCabe, '42 — William V. Simnoffi, '40
Joseph A. Barnes, '41 — William J. Elmer, '42
Joseph Santaniello '41 — James F. Donovan, '41
Robert W. Kilby, '41 — Frederick A. Rappleyan, '40
Robert J. Funabashi, '42 — William N. Way, '41
William B. Carey, '42 — Walter W. Lessing, '42
Francis J. Callahan, '42 — Armond Salerno, '42
Thomas A. Sullivan, '42 — Thomas J. McKimmey, '42

Contributor

Lou Dubino, '39

Photography Staff

Melvin Bricker, '41 — Walter N. LaForte, '42
John T. Sandonato, '41

Circulation Staff

Robert P. Schisler, '41 — Robert F. Donovan, '42
Bernard C. Crumb, '42 — Joseph D. Koffer, '42

Faculty Advisor—Rev. Edward B. McKee, O. S. A.

This paper is dedicated to one of the finest men who ever entered Villanova: scholar, athlete, gentleman—
L. P. O. GOODREAU

Subscription—$2.00 per year.
Entered as second class matter at the Villanova Post-office, December 27, 1928.

1938 Member 1939
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

REPRESENTED FOR NATIONAL ADVERTISING BY
National Advertising Service, Inc.
College Publishers Representative
420 MADISON AVE. NEW YORK, N. Y.
CHICAGO • BOSTON • LOS ANGELES • SAN FRANCISCO

Member of the Catholic School Press Association
Member of the Catholic College Press Association
Member of the National Scholastic Press Association.

TUESDAY - - - - - MAY 2, 1939

Enjoying Learning

THE advantage derived by being associated with any of the many seminars on the campus is dual. It should primarily be recognized that intellectual development from merely a point of view of pursuit of knowledge should not be the sole aim of a college education. The knowledge acquired through lecture and study takes on a new lustre through an invigorating extra-curricular atmosphere. Secondarily, seminars enable the student to satisfy his interests in subjects not included in his regular curriculum.

Active attendance at a seminar offers the student an opportunity of speaking before an informal group and ultimately gives him poise and charm requisite of a college graduate and certainly expected of one by the public. His ability to speak in harmony with other participants is developed and by listening to other members of the same seminar, he is able to improve himself by their example. Presentations before such groups is certainly valuable in acquainting the student with research methods. Finally, the very subject matter presented at these seminars adds to the store of knowledge of its members.

Perhaps the most conspicuous example of attendance at seminars for the purpose of satisfying interests of a student other than those comprising a regular part of his curriculum, is the particular popularity of the Music Seminar. Through such a medium interests secondary to the particular course of study may be cultivated and without which certainly such opportunity would be lacking.

Conducive to the success of such seminars, is the new addition to the college of Simpson Hall. It adds much comfort and informality to the various meetings, and through its specific dedication to seminar purposes, it emphasizes the extra-curricular character of the organizations.

Complete Education

DESPITE nearly universal education in the United States, anti-democratic forces and crime continue to grow in pace. One of the chief reasons for this unfortunate condition is that many of our schools have divorced religion from education.

As the best training for citizenship, the Roman Catholic Archibishops and Bishops of the United States, meeting in Washington, advocated, "An education that unites intellectual, moral, and religious elements, Such an education inculcates a sense of responsibility, a respect for authority and a considerateness for the rights of others which are the necessary foundations of civic virtue — more necessary, where, as in a democracy, the citizen, enjoying a large freedom has a greater obligation to govern himself. We are convinced that as religion and morality are essential to right living and to the public welfare, both should be included in the work of education."

Too many modern schools, on the other hand, while providing for intellectual and physical development, neglect to provide for religion, which alone can purify the heart and promote moral efficacy.

Education should aim at the full and harmonious development of the intellectual, physical, and moral powers of man. Instruction and the acquisition of knowledge are merely the means to education and should not be made an end in themselves.

Realizing that the practice of the Catholic Ideal of Life in justice and charity is indispensable to the truly educated man, Villanova has taken care to provide for all these essential and indispensable elements of true and complete education.

Back to Scholasticism

TO-DAY we exalt in our progress. We are far superior to our brethren of a yesteryear—just look at the automobile for instance—they didn't have them. We need only to look back at Mediaevel philosophy or Mediaevel anything, for that matter, with a cynical gaze that is not even conducive to objective historical research.

With this attitude we rush forth like impetuous children, kick over all the traces and refuse to learn the lessons of the past. What is the result? Instead of building on the foundations of the past we make the same mistakes that were made in the very earliest philosophical investigation. We react from subjectivism to realism in cycles.

We ask that Scholasticism be used as a foundation on which to build on—not because it is ours but because it is the only sane approach to philosophy that we know. Back then to Scholasticism. Back then to St. Thomas Aquinas and St. Augustine. Back then to Truth.

A Small College

THE inestimable advantages enjoyed by those who receive their education from a small, well-equipped college cannot be over emphasized. The small classes make for a closer contact between professor and student with the former taking a personal interest in the intellectual development of the latter. The laboratories not being over-crowded, each student not only has ample space for work, but what is more important, has the use of apparatus to himself, so that he is constrained to understand all the factors involved in an experiment before he is able to perform it.

The number of friendships and acquaintances formed among fellow students, is usually of such proportions that the whole institution takes on the character of a large family with each individual knowing and willing to co-operate with the other.

ODDS and ENDS

By Bill Garrity

VILLANOVA COLLEGE offers everything that the student could possibly desire. Its location is excellent both from a standpoint of beauty and convenience. Its buildings are well equipped — and its fellows — well, it's harder to find a better group anywhere. Unlike many colleges there is a general feeling of good fellowship which cannot be easily found.

A custom which has brought about a great deal of this good fellowship is the well known "hello habit" inculcated into the freshman by the rules. How many of us realize upon seeing the close friendships and sincere relationships of students, here at Villanova, that many of these fellows hadn't ever seen one another before coming to Villanova?

The aforementioned "hello habit" is a ruling that every student must say hello to everyone he happens to meet on the campus. In such a large group there are bound to be some fellows a bit bashful. This custom enables the bashful freshman to meet the willing senior, and the boy from out-of-town gets acquainted with his next door neighbor. Soon this custom really becomes a habit and does more to create good fellowship on the Villanova campus than any other feature.

Villanova students are always free to drop in any room on the campus and join in the talkfest going on. The priests' rooms are always open, and it is never too late nor inconvenient for the students to drop in for a chat with the good Fathers who make themselves the students' companions.

Another feature of Villanova which will not be found in the larger colleges and universities is the close relation with all the teachers. The classes are never too large for the professor to give individual attention. In some of the larger schools the professor has so many students in each class that he doesn't have the chance to call on some of the class at all throughout the entire year. At Villanova, the student has plenty of opportunity to ask questions during and after class. If he becomes involved in something he doesn't understand, he has ample opportunity to see his teacher during office hours.

In summary, the boy who enters the gates unpolished and retiring goes forth a gentleman with a developed intellect and ready to fight for his sustinence and place in life.

College Chatter

By Barney Bellew

IN THIS issue the VILLANOVAN prints the first rotogravure section in its history. Thus another step is taken in the evolution of the college sheet.

Behind the scenes is the Rev. Edward V. McKee, O.S.A., M.A. In his capacity of moderator Fr. McKee works energetically for the advancement of the paper. Since his appointment in 1932 he has effected many improvements—though he manages to make himself inconspicuous

College editor this year is Jim Collins. Taking care of the sports angle is Phil Dunn. Murray Zealor keeps a lively editorial section moving. Circulation is supervised by Joseph Cirelli. The cartoons are drawn by Joe Bee.

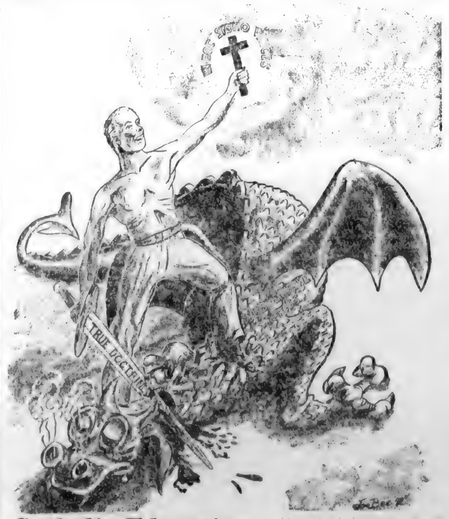
Joe Bonglovanni contributes his bit as copy editor while Jake Gallagher heads the business staff. Johnny Maher takes care of getting advertisements while Gus Mancuso snaps the pictures. Of course their work would be impossible without the support of a capable staff. The editorial board is backed by 45 members counting myself and fellow columnists.

The VILLANOVAN is a weekly. It makes its appearance nearly every Tuesday of the school year. From the original VILLANOVAN in 1895 to the issue you are now reading is a far call. The publication first appeared as a magazine. Somewhere between 1895 and the present it evolved, progressed or degenerated into a newspaper. At some later date the color of the print was changed from a light blue to what it now is.

For a real appreciation of the workings of the VILLANOVAN staff you really ought to see them in action on Friday afternoon. Four typewriters are heard busily clicking — from busy clicking to Fitzpatrick's two-finger thumping. Others are waiting in line. At the editor's desk sits Harrington as unperturbed and calm as a philosopher—quite in contrast with the surrounding excitement.

Three scholarships, valued at $1000 each, will be awarded to the winners of the competitive examinations to be held here, at Villanova, May 27. These scholarships are applicable to a four year college course and are for use beginning next September.

In addition to these three, many scholastic scholarships are awarded annually to Villanova College by various high schools throughout the country. At present, there are 48 scholarship winners from 15 schools at Villanova. The following is a list of those enrolled scholarship winners:



Catholic Education . . . . . . by BEE

SCIENTIFIC TOPICS CREATE INTEREST IN PRE-MED SOCIETIES

New Research Seminar Thrives; Science Group, L. K. D. Hold Attention

Motion pictures depicting the "Normal Fertilization of the Sea-Urchin Egg" were presented at the last meeting of the Research Seminar, Friday, April 28. The development of the egg was shown before and after fertilization.

The films were obtained by Rev. James A. Donnellon, O. S. A., moderator, from Dr. F. Moser, who is doing research on this subject at the Osborne Zoological Laboratory at Yale University.

Two papers reported on lately were: "The Evils of Marihuana" by Leonard Flinkman, senior premedical, and one presented by Carl Pantaleo, also a senior, on "The Inheritance of Blood Types."

Science Seminar Arouses Interest

Since the inauguration of the Science Seminar in 1927 by Rev. Jos. M. Dougherty, O. S. A., Ph. D., an hour has been set aside each week in the interest of the students. The purpose is to create an interest in various scientific subjects.

During the present year the following well-known men appeared before the science group; Hamilton Dalton, known to radio audiences as the "Town Crier," who spoke on "The Importance of the Radio in Everyday Life"; Dr. L. V. Heilbrunn, noted authority and teacher of physiology, whose topic was "Science and Democracy"; and Dr. Joseph J. Toland, who addressed the group on the topic "Catholic Ethics and Ideals in the Medical Profession."

L. K. D. Fosters Fellowship

Oldest of the science organizations is the Lamba Kappa Delta Fraternity. Membership in this group is confined to students of high scholastic standing. The members of "L. K. D." desire to continue onward in the field of medicine. Approximately 70 students are included on its present rolls.

Meetings of the fraternity are held bi-monthly, at which time various speakers appear before the group. Among those who addressed the fraternal organization are Henry Bellew, D. O., who spoke on "Endocrinology," and Gregg Salisbury, D. D. S., whose topic was "Professional Life — Success or Failure."

CAMPUS SEMINARS VARIOUSLY ACTIVE

Philosophy, History Seminars, Spanish Club Enjoy Spirited Discussion Periods

Joseph Bonglovanni will read a paper on "Faith and Reason for the Philosophy seminar to be held this week in Simpson Hall.

Last Thursday, the timely topic of "The United States Deporting Alien Communists" was discussed in a paper presented by Joseph Higgins. This commentary on the action that the United States is taking in curbing ultra-radical factions in this country was held in connection with the regular weekly meeting of the History Seminar.

Frank Quinones was awarded a medal and a diploma in view of the services he has rendered to the Spanish club for the past two years. The award was made last Wednesday evening at the regular meeting of the club. Quinones, a sophomore in the science school, is the secretary of the organization.

Rev. L. Lozano, O. S. A., moderator, made the presentation and expressed the heartiest congratulations on behalf of himself and the group. The medal and diploma are the gifts of the nation wide Spanish clubs headquarters.

Also scheduled for this meeting was the festival that had planned to honor Miguel de Cervantes, immortal Spanish author and poet. This festival was to be held in conjunction with similar celebrations held all over that part of the world where Spanish is spoken. However, because of local friction with "Room Service" and Junior Week, the club was forced to cancel the undertaking. Before the meeting was adjourned, the members of the organization sang several Spanish airs.

Apparatus Improves Laboratory Technique

New mechanical glass-blowing apparatus is shown at left operated by its designer, the Rev. Joseph W. Paquette, O. S. A., M. S., instructor in chemistry and chemical engineering. Technique in gas analysis is demonstrated by George Haluszka, sophomore chemical engineering student, in one of the laboratories.

Focal Point of Junior Celebrations Reached With Al Donahue at Prom

By FRANK FITZPATRICK

Students from the metropolitan area who are familiar with Al Donahue have made inquiry as to just how the juniors obtained the services of a band that has played in Radio City for the past six seasons. The answer is Al Donahue has recently been on a presentation tour which included successful engagements at New York's Paramount and Philadelphia's Fox Theatres.

His case is parallel to that of Jan Savitt and his Tophatters, a Philadelphia organization. For years Savitt remained in this locale, broadcasting exclusively for KYW and playing one night engagements at country clubs. Recently he has changed his policy resulting in his going into a spot at the Hotel Lincoln in New York, to follow the clarinet music of the new King of Swing, Art Shaw.

To Philadelphians who had known of his ability it was no surprise, but to New Yorkers it was a pleasant experience to find a "dark horse" so capable. It may truthfully, be stated that the Tophatters were a tremendous hit, and so those students who have scruples about Donahue should listen to a few of his recordings and judge for themselves as to his capability.

Al Donahue, who himself was a collegian, having attended Boston Law School, realizes what a Junior Prom is and should be and can be counted on for his usual excellent performance.

The Milk Bar that will provide refreshment for guests at the Junior Prom will be another innovation in this particular field. In former years soft drinks have always been served. This year, in contrast, the Milk Bar will serve chocolate milk and ice cream as its specialties.

PHILIP DUNN ELECTED NEW HOLY NAME SOCIETY PRES.

At its meeting after chapel services last Tuesday evening, the Holy Name Society elected as its president Philip H. Dunn, junior in the business school, and formerly vice-president of the organization. Other officers elected were: Joseph B. Clarken, sopohomore pre-med as vice-president, and Robert J. Koness, freshman in the business school as secretary.

Both resident and day students are members of the Holy Name. The former go to Communion in a body in the college chapel the second Sunday of every month of the school year, while the others do the same at their parish churches.

Coming Events

Monday, May 1

P. K. P. ..... 10:45 A. M.
Mathematics Club .... 12:30 P. M.
Belle Air (Arts) ..... 1:00 P. M.
Mothers' Day Program ..... 1:30-5:10 P. M.
Open House ..... 2:00-5:00 P. M.
6:00-9:00 P. M.

Tuesday, May 2

Belle Air (Sports) .... 1:00 P. M.
Loyola Game (At Baltimore) ..... 3:00 P. M.

Wednesday, May 3

P. K. P. ..... 12:30 P. M.
VILLANOVAN ..... 1:00 P. M.
Belle Air (Business) .. 1:00 P. M.
Blazer Ball ..... 9:00 P. M.

Thursday, May 4

Science Seminar ..... 10:45 A. M.
Belle Air (College) ... 1:00 P. M.

Friday, May 5

German Seminar ..... 9:45 A. M.
Belle Air (Photography) 1:00 P. M.
Research Seminar .... 4:00 P. M.
Junior Promenade .... 9:00 P. M.

Saturday, May 6

St. John's of Brooklyn Tennis (Home) ..... 2:30 P. M.
Junior Dinner Dance .. 7:30 P. M.

Sunday, May 7

Fedigan vs. Mendel ... 10:30 A. M.
Austin vs. Alumni .... 1:00 P. M.

Monday, May 8

P. K. P. ..... 10:45 A. M.
Mathematics Club .... 12:30 P. M.
Belle Air (Arts) ..... 1:00 P. M.

Liturgical Music Requisites Listed Properly Treated

Auditory Methods Highly Valuable as Devotional Aid; Various Types of Chant Delineated

By ALFRED BONGIOVANNI

Pius X states that church music must have sanctity, beauty, and universality. It is an auditory aid toward creating an atmosphere appropriate to the particular services, just as stained glass windows and statues are visual forms. The odor of flowers and incense is also a stimulus toward lifting the mind to holy sentiments.

Another requirement of liturgical music, is that it be objective. It must not be of a nature such as to distract the attention of the worshiper from the actual services to the music. The music is subordinate to the act; its purpose being merely to assist in creating the proper mood for the service. It must therefore have an atmosphere of tranquility.

Rev. Ralph J. Handran, M. Mus., O. S. A., explains that in ordinary conversation, or lay music, a passionate disposition is represented by sudden accent. This commands attention and as such it could never be used in liturgical music. Such a disposition would have to be trented more cautiously and gradually. Therefore, music which in any way would tend toward distraction from the services to the music itself would not be satisfactory for the church.

Pius X in his Modo Propio states: "The more a musical composition for use in church, is like a plain chant in its movement, its inspiration, and its feeling, so much the more is it proper as liturgical music, and the more it differs from this highest model, so much the less is it worthy of the house of God." For this reason, the work of Palestrina is especially suitable, since it avoids too much attractiveness.

The use of liturgical music during the Lenten season, is to culminate in the Tenebrae, which is the singing of the ordinarily recited divine office. The Tenebrae is celebrated in all Catholic churches on Spy Wednesday, Holy Thursday and Holy Friday.

As regards the chants, there are three types. The Gregorian chant, polyphony, and modern liturgical music. The Gregorian chant possibly coincides best with the conception of Pius X as to what liturgical music should be, in that it is the simplest of the three and consists of only a single melody. Polyphony on the other hand consists of many melodies mixed together. Modern liturgical music also has harmony.

Rev. B. Albers Releases List of Authorized Clubs; Fraternities, Seminars, and Publications Included

Some Recently Organized; Others Backed By Long Tradition

A list of authorized student organizations for the year 1938-39 has recently been released by Rev. Bernard M. Albers, O. S. A., vice president.

In addition to the different campus publications, the Villanova band and orchestra, and the debating and dramatic societies, this list includes clubs, fraternities and seminars.

Some of these organizations have been in existence for a number of years, some have been formed recently, while others are not functioning at the present time.

Inactive Groups

Epsilon Phi Theta, the fraternity for the Arts School and the oldest fraternity on the campus, has not been active for the past few years. The Flying Club, too, though it is still officially recognized, has not functioned recently.

The Sociology, Philosophy and Mathematics Seminars are a few of the more recently organized groups. The Mathematics Seminar, the newest of these, was formed at the beginning of the present semester under the direction of Mr. Emil Amolotti.

The most novel club on the campus is the Chess Club. The Music Seminar is the most popular. So many students have been attending the meetings of the latter that it was found necessary to hold these meetings on two separate evenings in order to accommodate the crowd.

Locality Club

In addition to these organizations, there are also a few unauthorized clubs which have been arranged by the students from various districts of the country. The most prominent of these are the Massachusetts Club, the Connecticut Club and the Wilkes-Barre Club.

Villanova also has representatives in the various intercollegiate societies, such as the Catholic College Peace Association, the Interracial Council, the National Federation of Catholic College Students, Pax Romana and Press Reations Committee.

Authorized student organizations and their moderators: 1938-39

American Institute of Electrical Engineers—Harry S. Bueche, M.S., E.E.

American Soicety of Civil Engineers—John A. Oakey, M.S.

American Society of Mechanical Engineers — Stanley Morehouse, M.E.

Band—Rev. Ralph J. Handran, O.S.A., A.B., M.Mus.

"Belle Air" — Year book—Rev. Daniel P. Falvey, O.S.A., A.B.

Belle Masque—Dramatics—Rev. Robert M. Sullivan, O.S.A., M.A.

Beta Gamma—Varsity Debating —Rev. Robert M. Sullivan, O.S.A., M.A.

Catholic Press Apostolate, Rev. Edward B. McKee, O.S.A., M.A.

Chemical Engineers' Society—Edward L. Haenisch, Ph.D.

Chess Club — Rev. Lorenzo Lozano, O.S.A., A.B.

Class of 1939—Rev. William J. Lunney, O.S.A., M.A.

Class of 1940—Rev. Daniel P. Falvey, O.S.A., A.B.

Class of 1941 — Rev. John R. Dunne, O.S.A., M.A.

Epsilon Phi Theta—Rev. John F. Burns, O.S.A., Ph.D.

Flying Club—William Gorman.

Frosh Debating Society — Rev. Robert M. Sullivan, O.S.A., M.A.

German Seminar—Rev. J. Lunney, O.S.A., M.A.

Glee Club—Rev. Ralph J. Handran, O.S.A., A.B., M.Mus.

History Seminar — Harold F. Hartman, Ph.D.

Holy Name Society—Rev. Joseph I. Boyle, O.S.A., M.A.

International Relations Club—Rev. William J. Lunney, O.S.A., M.A.

Lambda Kappa Delta—Rev. Joseph M. Dougherty, O.S.A., Ph.D.

Mathematics Seminar—Emil Amelotti, M.S.

"Mendel Bulletin"—Rev. Joseph M. Dougherty, O.S.A., Ph.D.

Music Seminar — Rev. John J. Vrana, O.S.A., M.A.

Phi Kappa Pi — Rev. John S. O'Leary, O.S.A., M.S.

Philosophy Seminar — Rev. Edward M. Dwyer, O.S.A., Ph.D.

Sanctuary Society—Rev. Joseph I. Boyle, O.S.A., M.A.

Science Seminar — Rev. James A. Donnellon, O.S.A., Ph.D.

Sociology Seminar — Rev. Vincent A. McQuade, O.S.A., Ph.D.

Spanish Seminar—Rev. Lorenzo Lozano, O.S.A., A.B.

Student Council—Rev. Bernard M. Albers, O.S.A., M.A.

Study Club—Rev. John J. Vrana, O.S.A., M.A.

"Villanovan"—Newspaper — Rev. Edward B. McKee, O.S.A., M.A.

"Villanovans"—Orchestra — Rev. Ralph J. Handran, O.S.A., A.B., M.Mus.

'Villanova Engineer"—Rev. John J. Vrana, O.S.A., M.A.

BAND ADDED COLOR TO BALL GAMES

Rev. Handran Appointed to Post of Moderator at Beginning of Year

In keeping with the trend of modern music, the Villanova College band will incorporate several swing selections to its repertoire next year. Its renditions of "Alexander's Ragtime Band" and "A Tisket a Tasket" during the past athletic season greatly increased its appeal to students and other fans.

Each Saturday afternoon in the fall, the Villanova College band, resplendent in blue and white uniforms, adds color to the football games by its musical renditions and its complicated marching formations. The band's performance at the games and its concert held in connection with the Senior Soiree were two highlights of the past school year.

The band consists of approximately 48 members, under the direction of Mr. Paul Tice. Rev. Ralph Handran, M. Mus., O. S. A., assumed the duties of moderator this year.

Two new instruments, a bass and a glockenspeil, acquired by the band this year, will [illegible] next season.

John Eldracher, [illegible] tracted much attention [illegible] past year with his [illegible] performances. In [illegible] was so highly [illegible] called upon [illegible] on the [illegible] during [illegible] there

CHORISTERS OF TWO COLLEGES PREPARE COMBINED PROGRAM

Debussy, Chopin, Bach Represented on Joint Recital at Rosemont

C. SCHWARTZ K. J. KEARNS

A joint recital of the Rosemont College and Villanova College glee clubs will be given next Monday evening on the Rosemont Campus at 8:30. Admission is by matriculation card.

The program will include, besides chorus numbers, instrumental presentations and vocal solos.

Miss Charlotte Schwartz, president of the Rambler glee club, has chosen for a solo rendition a composition of Margaret R. Lang's, "Day Is Done." Miss Schwartz, accompanied by the choral group, will also take the lead in a creation of Curry's "Nightingale."

Edward Lucente will be featured in a presentation of "Panis Angelicus" from the pen of Caesar Frank.

A Villanova quartet, consisting of Joseph York, William J. Appel, John D'Ippolito, and Charles Cavanaugh, will sing "Sylvia" by Oley Speaks.

Among the contributions of the chorus will be two of Bach's cantatas, "Bless the Lord," and "In Peace and Joy."

Gabriel Pierne's "Impromptou Caprice" is the selection of Miss Kathryn Jane Kearns, harpist.

Two solo pianists from Rosemont are also on the program: Miss Marianne Gilliland playing Debussy's "Little Shepherd" and Miss Jacqueline McCrystle playing a "Waltz in A Flat by Chopin."

A string quartet of three violins and a cello will also be included.

BELLE AIR RELEASE DATE SET MAY 17

All Work for Year Book Completed and Now at Printer

The Belle Air, Villanova's yearly publication, will appear on the campus on or about May 17.

All art work and pictorial work has been completed at the present time and all copies are in. The sport section has been completely finished.

There still remain the index and captions for the pictures to be finished.

Under the guidance of Editor Bernard J. McHenry, the staff has been working since last October. Rev. Daniel P. Falvey, O. S. A., A. B., B. S. in Lib. Sc., has continued as moderator of the publication.

Each year the Belle Air chooses some particular theme to be developed; the subject this year has been Communism. All phases of student activity are given due treatment, including sports, laboratories, classroom activities, seminars, clubs, etc.

One of the particular aims of the staff has been to emphasize the intra-mural section. To do this they have allowed more space for these activities than has been previously provided and have included a number of pictures.

New Chemistry Labs Enhance Facilities

Continued From Page One

tend a graduate school, and within the last two years three members have enrolled in other schools. These students have made outstanding records in their chosen schools.

Library expansion parallels the growth of the curricula, and many new reference works and texts have been added in order to cope with the new courses. Another plan is in operation which will extend the collection to foreign magazines and abstracts. Whenever the need arises, the students may make use of the Franklin Institute Library.

Flash! No Goldfish For Prom Fountain

Several students who have been in secret training for the national intercollegiate Goldfish Derby are in store for a disappointment. According to Charles Cavanaugh, chairman ,there will not be "free liddy finnies in the middy of a poo," to quote the popular refrain. Although there will be the customary fountain the committee deemed it best to omit the fish as the present record for "goldfish gulpin'" stands at 85 and stocking the pool for a new record attempt would entail quite a little expense.

Gulpin' Joe Back, pride of the science school, and generally recognized as having the best chance for setting a new mark said: "If they won't supply them we'll bring them ourselves. Even if they don't have goldfish there's nothing to prevent us from having a swim and thus getting a fish's idea of the whole dance." (Ed. note: If Joe is successful, the scoop will appear in the VILLANOVAN.

ENGINEERING CLUBS PLAN ACTIVITIES

C. M. E. to Hold Induction Banquet; P. K. P. Dinner-Dance at Brookline

In addition to their usual trips to industrial plants, the presentation of movies on technical processes, and reading of papers at meetings by members, the many engineering organizations have several social events planned for the near future.

The induction banquet for the Chi Mu Epsilon honorary society, whose key is illustrated here, is scheduled for May 15. Members of this new fraternity are selected from the outstanding students in the junior and senior classes, and election to it has become the highest honor an engineering student can work for.

Phi Kappa Pi, to which most engineers belong, is having its dinner-dance at the Brookline Country Club May 17. In its thirty-two years "Phi Kapp" has become the largest and one of the most successful frats on the campus. The Mathematics Club concludes its year's program with a dinner on May 22. As at all its meetings, a member will deliver a paper on a mathematical subject.

Each department in the engineering school has a society for helping the students learn more about their particular field. Among these organizations, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and the American Institute of Electrical Engineers have attended conventions of their national affiliates at Princeton and Haverford College lately, and the Villanova Chemical Society and local branch of the American Society of Civil Engineers have had movie shorts of their programs.

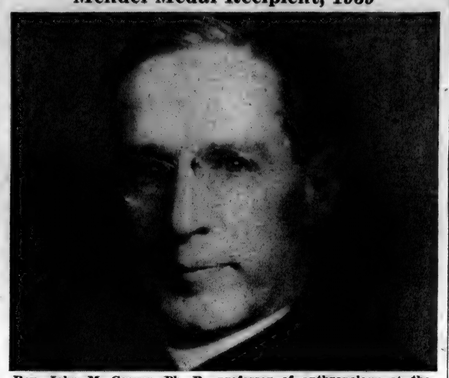
ENGINEER PRINTS PRIZE TREATISE

The main article in the May issue of the Villanova Engineer will be, "The Effect of Parasitic Reflectors and Directors in Ultra-Short Wave Transmitters," by John Gehman, a senior in the school of electrical engineering. The article won for its author first prize at the convention of the American Society of Electrical Engineers, held recently at Haverford College.

The May issue of the Magazine will be dedicated to the seniors since it is the last issue that will be distributed, while they are at Villanova. A short write-up will be dedicated to each senior.

Fred Welty, a senior in the School of Chemical Engineering, wrote on "The New Unit Operations Laboratory." The author describes the equipment in a very interesting manner. Pictures to illustrate the equipment will also accompany the article.

Mendel Medal Recipient, 1939



Rev. John M. Cooper, Ph. D., professor of anthropology at the Catholic University of America, will be awarded the Mendel Medal on Thursday evening at a dinner to be tendered in his honor at the college.

Medal Awarded To Fr. Cooper

Continued From Page One

tribes as Tetes-de-Boule Cree, James Bay Cree and Montagnais and the Althabaskan speaking peoples of the Mackenzie Valley. To his credit, also are due exhaustive studies in the culture of the Tribes of Tierra del Fuego.

Dr. Cooper has published four books on his findings in Anthropology, as well as numerous articles which have appeared in scientific journals in this country and abroad. His fellow scientists of the American Anthropological Association chose him to serve as secretary from 1931 to 1937, and as vice-president from 1937 to the present. Dr. Cooper is a past president of the Anthropological Society of Washington; chairman of the National Research Council Committee on Survey of South American Indians; corresponding member, Sociedad Anthropologia Argentina; member of the Washington Academy of Sciences, Societe des Americanistes de Paris, and Anthropologische Gesellschaft in Wien. He has been the moving spirit of the Catholic Anthropological Conference serving from the beginning as secretary-treasurer and editor of the Conference Publications, and of its quarterly, "Primitive Man."

Ordained in Rome

Dr. Cooper received his early education at Calvert Hall, Baltimore, Maryland, and two years later, enrolled at the American College in Rome. The Doctor of Philosophy Degree was conferred on him by the Roman Academy of St. Thomas in 1902, and three years later, he was awarded the Doctorate in Sacred Theology by Propaganda College in Rome. He was ordained to the priesthood in Rome, on June 17th, 1905; Dr. Cooper has been a member of the faculty of the Catholic University since 1909, and Professor of Anthropology since 1928.

Dr. John A. Kolmer, professor of Medicine at Temple University Medical School; director, Research Institute of Cutaneous Medicine, Philadelphia, first recipient of the award ,received the Mendel award in 1929.

The second winner of the Mendel Award was Dr. Albert F. Zahm, pioneer in Aeronautics, director of Aeronautical Research in the Library of Congress, Washington, D. C., who received it in 1930. In 1931, Dr. Karl F. Herzfeld, professor of Physics at the Catholic University received the Mendel Medal.

The fourth winner of the Mendel Medal was Dr. Francis P. Garvan, late president of the Chemical Foundation of America, New York, to whom it was given by the college in 1932. Dr. Hugh Stott Taylor, F. R. S. L., chairman of the Chemistry Department, Princeton University, who received the award in 1933.

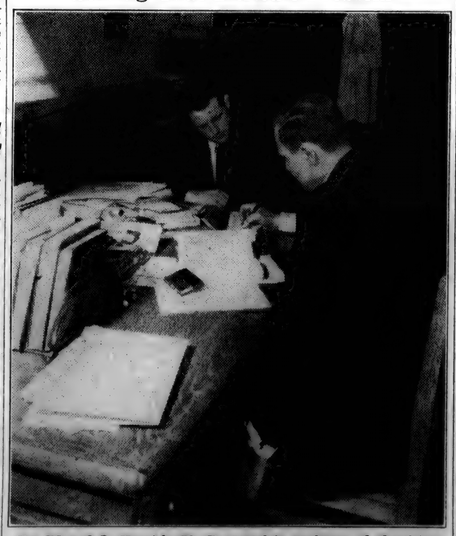
The Mendel Medal was given in 1934 to Abbe George Lemaitre, Ph. D., D. Sc., professor of Astro-Physics at the Catholic University of Louvain.

Dr. Francis Owen Rice, associate professor of Chemistry at Johns Hopkins University, was the seventh Mendel award, receiving it in 1935.

The eighth Mendel Medal award was given in 1936 to the Rev. Julius Arthur Nieuwland, C. S. C., late professor of Chemistry at the University of Notre Dame. It was given in the following year, 1937, to Rev. Pierre Teilhard de Chardin, S. J., Paleontologist with the National Geological Survey of China.

Last year, 1938, the Mendel Medal was awarded to Dr. Thomas Parran, Surgeon General of the United States Public Health Service.

Solving That Difficult Problem



Dr. Edward L. Haenish, Ph. D., associate professor of chemistry and chemical engineering, gives his personal attention to a student in accordance with the new advisory system adopted in the School of Technology.

DRAMATIC PROGRAM BROUGHT TO CLOSE AFTER ACTIVE YEAR

Comedy-Hit, "Room Service," Final Presentation; Highlights Reviewed

Performances on April 21 and 23 of its annual production, "Room Service," brought to a close a busy season of activity for Belle Masque, the college dramatic society.

Shortly after the opening of the school year in September, plans were put forward to hold the annual Dramateurs Reception. This reception consisted of the presentation of a series of one act plays, directed by students, in order that promising talent might be uncovered for the big production which was recently put on. Each individual skit took approximately twenty minutes with melodramas and farces being enacted. On Tuesday evening, November 29, the finished products were put on for an enthusiastic audience at the Field House.

Early in December it was announced by Mr. Anthony J. Frayne, faculty director of the organization, that the forthcoming Spring production was to be the riotous satire on show business, "Room Service." Immediately after this announcement tryouts were held for parts in the show. Meeting this call with intense enthusiasm a large number of aspirants turned out and it was only after much painstaking elimination that the final cast was chosen. Since a majority of the characters in the play were those of an elderly, yet comical type, seven seniors were cast in the parts.

With the choice of cast completed there began an intense period of rehearsals which culminated in the evenings of the two performances. Although not all members of the society were able to obtain parts in the show, nevertheless, everyone was eager to lend assistance. Since actors alone do not make for a successful performance, but the building and furnishing of the set, publicity, ticket promotion and many other details all are a vital and integral part of the production, all members of Belle Masque took some part in the success of the show.

So it was with mingled emotions of regret and relief that the members of Belle Masque brought to a close a most successfu lseason. For any students interested in obtaining practical knowledge in stage craft, at the same time enjoyment in an extra curricular activity an excellent opportunity is afforded by membership in the Belle Masque Society.

OBSERVATION TRIPS MADE BY ENGINEERS

College's Location Fosters Nearby Plant Excursions; Students Submit Reports

The education of Villanova's engineers is not entirely acquired within the four walls of the class room. Believing that a knowledge of the practical is a necessary supplement to theoretical learning, the engineering faculty has encouraged their pupils to seek a clearer insight of the work they are preparing for by observation trips to nearby manufacturing establishments.

The location of the College affords exceptional opportunities for such a program, inasmuch as it is in the heart of one of the country's greatest industrial districts. Large plants in Philadelphia, Camden, and Trenton are easily accessible. Therefore, many carefully supervised inspections of these plants are no inconspicuous part of the engineers curricula.

That these trips have been successful is evidenced by the large numbers who display their interest by attendance. But, lest the trips degenerate into mere "larks" for some students, reports must be submitted to the instructors after each trip.

Naturally, all four branches of the Engineering School do not go on these excursions together because what should be observed by the Chemistry students would be of no interest to the Civil, or Electrical or Mechanical Engineers and vice versa. They are usually conducted monthly.

Sportorial

By Phil Dunn
Sports Editor

TWO weeks ago this columnist punched out a pillar advocating consideration of the suggestion of another writer that certain actions engaged in by ball players be eliminated. As was expected the suggestion drew no little unfavorable comment from participants in the national pastime. These arguments naturally took the players' view of the subject, while we considered spectators only, and said so.

PHIL DUNN

One such argument stated that if infielders were to cease "whipping the ball around the horn," their arms would "fall off." Being an ex-infielder, we can readily appreciate this condition, but it is our opinion that seldom during one inning will a player's arm become so cold that a snap throw will injure it.

Most of those who commented on the column claim that the real delay of the game is caused by the pitcher. The fellow who twirled the first innings for Manhattan on Tuesday is a classic example. Each pitch required the time it ordinarily takes a chucker to throw two. Stepping out of the box, exaggerated motions, and out and out slowness contributed to making the spectators restless and less interested in the game.

This may be a solution to our problem: Make the pitcher work faster and you have a faster game. This could be made into a rule leaving it to the discretion of the umpire as to whether or not the pitcher is delaying the game, and providing the calling of a balk as a penalty to lackadaisical moundsmen.

—V—

Villanova's track team, defeated in an informal meet at Penn because of a weakness in the field events, improved themselves enough to have the same field events provide the margin of victory in the F. & M. meet. If this can be taken as an indication of what is to come, we can expect a really good, and well balanced squad here this year and in the future. Harvey Buck, hurdler, is the only senior under Coach Elliott's wing, and Bill Carey has shown up very well in hurdle races to date.

With Johnny (White Hope) Maher, and a good relay team returning to action in 1939-40 we think it would be wise for "Jumbo" to begin building next year's outfit right now. Of course you must take each contest in its turn, but we can see no harm in looking ahead in this instance.

—V—

Why doesn't Villanova play more baseball games? This question has been asked, not only by students who watch the games, but by those varsity men who play in them.

There are only a few colleges who engage in the practice of playing a great number of games, but there seems to be little reason for small schedules. Interference with classes (we would bring that up!) seems the only drawback. Of course everyone knows that athletes do not go to classes anyhow.

In a serious vein, however, we do believe that a six-game series with each opponent should be agreed upon by schedule-makers. Then, after these games have been played, there will be little doubt as to which team is superior. As it is, a greatly inferior nine can

SPORTORIAL Continued on Page Six

RUNNERS BEAT F&M BY 68 TO 58 COUNT IN SEASON'S FIRST

Maher and Carey Contribute Two Victories Each in Wildcat Win

Opening its season officially the Wildcat track team defeated the Diplomats of Franklin and Marshall College, last Tuesday at Lancaster. The Cats' strength in the field events proved to be the deciding factor in the victory. The field men captured four of the six events, losing only the javelin and the discus tosses, while the first places in the running events were evenly distributed at four each.

Johnny Maher and Bill Carey were the meet's only double winners. Maher captured both dashes while Carey breasted the tape in the high and low hurdles. Johnny had an easy time of it, winning both races with plenty to spare, but still turned in the good times of 10:1 and 22 flat.

Jumpers Win

Also turning in notable performances were Art Murphy and Jack Parsons. Parsons won the high jump, beating out teammate Murphy, while the order was reversed in the broad jump.

Chasing Maher to the tape in the "100" were Le Crone of F. and M. and Whitey Urbellis. In the "220" the finish was the same.

In the "440," Bill Guiteras, Wildcat star, was nosed out by Le Crone of the Diplomats. Bill was leading coming up the home stretch and it was only in the last foot that a hair-width defeat was charged against him. Pete Yankauskas another Wildcat was third.

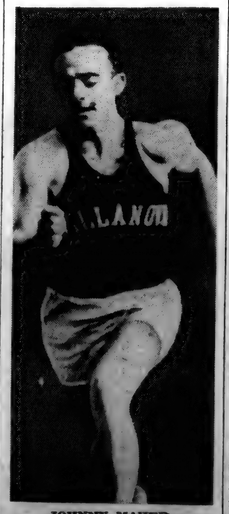
Bellew Runs Distances

Barney Bellew, making his debut in the mile, finished third behind Howard and Roberts of F. and M. He came back a half-hour later to again finish third, this time in the half mile. Yankauskas was second in this race.

"Buzz" Buzzalino took the shot put with a heave of 43 feet 5½ inches. Shibanoff of F. and M. was second, and managed to take first in the discus. The other first place

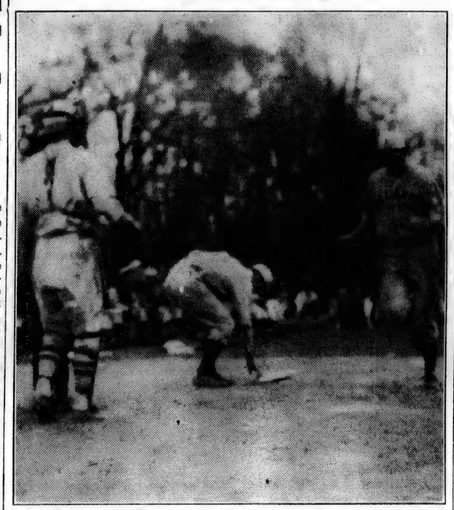
RUNNERS Continued on Page Seven

Sprinter



JOHNNY MAHER, Wildcat dash man deluxe.

Cat Fielder Scoring



John Donoghue, Villanova left fielder, crosses the plate in the Cats' second inning splurge. Bob Pash is picking up a bat, while Schwitter, Jasper backstop, looks on. Villanova won a 13-6 decision.

Rain Keeps Linksmen Inactive; Netters Prepared for Seton Hall

Court Squad Seeks Win to Gain .500 Percentage; Rice to Return

A thoroughly aroused Villanova College tennis team attempted to redeem themselves for the disastrous showing made against Brooklyn College last week, when they crossed racquets with Seton Hall College, Saturday morning on the local courts. At press-time the results were unknown.

Brooklyn Experienced

The Faltbushers with a veteran combination had been playing for several weeks previously and sported a three match winning streak when they tangled with the Villanova racqueteers. It was the first match for the locals on the home courts, which were made available for play for the first time, one hour before the match, due to the heavy rain storms of the past few weeks.

In a match played at South Orange last year, Villanova defeated the Seton Hallers by the score of 6-3 and then went on to New York City only to lose to Fordham, 5-4 the same afternoon.

Rice May Return

Heartened by the unexpected announcement that Lloyd Rice would return to the tennis team after a year's absence, Wildcat followers have reason to believe that the local racquetmen should do as well as last season when they split even a twelve match schedule.

Rice played at the number one singles post during his freshman year, winning five of his six matches. At Georgetown Prep he captured the Maryland Interscholastic championship.

Line-up

Saul Wallach, major-domo of the local forces, used Dennis Dunne, Fred Rappleyea, Edward Banagan, Beatty Schermerhorn, "Tex" Coners and Joe Hirsch at the single posts for the Seton Hall match which started at ten o'clock in the morning.

SPRING FOOTBALL

Now that the second of the unannounced and unpublicized (even in the local sheet) spring football scrimmages has been contested, it is expected that the gridders will taper off in their drills. Their performances on the last two Saturdays auger well for next Fall's prospects.

Match With F. & M. Washed Out; Golfers Meet Hampden on May 10

RAIN!

Once again an abundance of precipitating H2O caused the cancellation of a varsity match. Franklin and Marshall's linksmen were to play Villanova's on the Main Line course on Wednesday, April 25, and play they did — for eleven holes. As each foursome holed out on the eleventh green the matches were called by mutual agreement.

Matches were to be played with Rider College and St. John's of Brooklyn on Friday and Saturday respectively after which the golfers are to meet Hampden-Sidney, a Virginia school, on Wednesday, May 10.

VILLANOVA NINE MEETS LOYOLA

"Doc" Jacobs' once-defeated baseball club left today for Baltimore to meet the Loyola College nine on the southerners' home terrain. The Loyolans are coached by "Lefty" Rietz, who once played for Villanova.

The Loyola club has not set the world on fire in their performances this year, but they have showed a very good small-college team. Always tops on their home grounds the southern club will undoubtedly offer high-grade opposition for the Blue and White team.

O'Leary May Hurl

Although it is not definitely settled, it is probable that Connie O'Leary will do the hurling for Villanova with Art Vigilante behind the bat as usual. The same infield, Bond, Crawley, Pash, and Lazorchick will remain intact.

Possible changes are imminent in the outfield due to the fine showing of sophomore George Balmore. Lou Wannemacher is, of course, a fixture in the center gardens, so, if Balmore is inserted into the line-up he will replace either John Donoghue in left field or Nick Basca in right.

No other games are scheduled for the Cats this week. The Temple game, washed out last week, will be played at a date to be announced later.

WILDCAT TOSSERS LACE MANHATTAN FOR THIRD TRIUMPH

Blues Garner 17 Hits to Aid Choquette in Winning Initial Start

By BOB FUNABASHI

Dodging "Ole Jupe Pluvius" who had already undermined five previous diamond duels, the Wildcats uncoiled their incisive weapons of warfare, last Tuesday afternoon, and combined a barrage of long hits with Southpaw Cliff Choquette's timely twirling to send Father Knickerbocker's settlers back to New York, on the short side of a 13-6 decision.

The Wednesday afternoon annual fray between Villanova and Temple was called off due to inclement conditions.

Get Nine Runs

Staging a nine run rally in the second inning the Wildcats blew the lid and thus enabled Cliff Choquette to breeze on to his first victory of the season. The diminutive southpaw allowed eleven hits as he went the entire distance and struck out six of the opposing Jaspers.

Confirmed by the idea that hits win the ball game, the Wildcats battered out 17 safeties and assaulted three Manhattan pitchers in a perspiring contest. Nick Basca, rightfielder, converted from fame on the gridiron, slammed out a home run, triple and single while Bob Bond collected four safeties, one a double. Altogether it was a grand-slam day for "Doc" Jacob's charges with a total of six extra base hits.

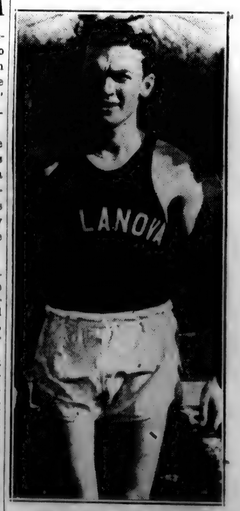
Tie Score

A single by Wannemacher in the first inning scored Pash for the first run but the Jaspers came back with a run of their own in the second inning on a walk and two errors to tie the count.

But the Wildcats could not be

WILDCAT Continued on Page Seven

Mentor



"JUMBO" JIM ELLIOTT, Blue and White track coach.

Austin Heads Intramural List

BLUESHIRTS FIRST AS INTRAMURALS ENTER FINAL LAP

Fedigan Close on Blueshirts' Heels With Thirty-two Points After Six Events

While Fedigan Hall is gaining points by consistent victories on the diamond, we find that to date Austin's Blueshirts are leading the intramural race with a total in all sports of 44 markers. The aforementioned Fedigan club is 12 points behind in second place, while the frosh dorms, Alumni and Mendel, are battling for third with identical scores of 27½. C. & F. with 18½ and the Mendel Day-hops with 15½ hold the bottom positions.

Firsts in softball, amateur night, and swimming have earned Austin the top spot. The Gigolos came through with a winner in basketball's first-half season to earn themselves ten points. Other firsts go to C. & F. for the second-half basketball championship and Alumni for putting out the best boxing team.

As the intramural baseball season reaches the half-way mark a careful recapitulation of the league standings show a favored Fedigan team in first place with three wins in three attempts, a surprisingly strong Mendel team in second with two wins and one defeat, Austin in the third position with one win and two defeats, and a hard fighting Alumni team with no victories in three chances. Of course these standings do not take last Sunday's games into account.

Castles Aids Fedigan

The success of Fedigan Hall can be traced to the sensational hurling of their ace pitcher Frank Castles who has won eleven straight games in intramural competition over a span of three years without tasting a defeat. If Fedigan can win the next two games they will insure themselves of the league championship which was held by Austin last year.

Mendel Hall, the black horse of the intramural race, has shown some very fine hitting power at the plate and if the pitching department holds up you can look for a surprising upset. In last week's game they handed the defending champs their worst defeat in two years by swamping them under a barrage of base hits, thus enabling them to move into sole possession of second place.

Austin Hall fails to look like a contender this year as they are weak in two of the most important parts of the game, pitching and fielding. The loss of Castles is hard to overcome but Carl Pantaleo is doing a herculean job in filling his shoes. Although Austin is down in third place they can not be counted out because if the boys decide to combine their streaks of hitting and fielding they will be in the thick of the fight down to the finish.

Alumni Hall although in last place can still win the next three and tie for first place but they will have to show more power in their hitting department. In Joe Malone they have an excellent pitcher who has averaged 12 strikeouts per game, but his fielding support is not up to par.

CHALLENGED!

Jim Collins, College Editor of the VILLANOVAN, professes to be quite a tennis player. His constant bragging of his racquet ability came to a head when he was challenged to a match by an honorable member of the sport section. With a bit of hemming and hawing the indominitable College (or, as Jim puts it), "University" Editor, muttered something about no practice and changed the subject.

INTRAMURAL STANDINGS TO DATE

	Fall Softball	First Half Basketball	Second Half Basketball	Amateur Night	Boxing	Swimming	TOTALS
AUSTIN	10	3	4	7	2	10	1	4	3	10	1	44
FEDIGAN	3	10	1	5	3	7	2	4	3	3	4	32
ALUMNI	6	3	2	5	1½	5	3	4	10	1	5	3	27½
MENDEL RESIDENTS	6	3	1	6	1½	5	5	3	7	2	7	2	27½
COM. & FINANCE	0		5	3	10	1	1½	2	1	6	1	6	18½
MENDEL DAY HOPS	0		7	2	3	4	1½	2	2	5	2	5	15½

FOOTBALL FACTS

Fifty-eight men are listed on the varsity football spring training roster. . .the Wildcats are over five deep at every position. . .which bodes well for the future. . .20 juniors, 11 sophomores, and 27 frosh make up the squad. . .How many will be back for the opening kick-off next fall is not known at this time. . ."Many are called but few are chosen."

Stanley Strynziewicz possesses the longest name on the squad. . .He pitied the headline writers and abbreviated it to Stan Stress. . .Stan was All-Scholastic a few years back at Chester, Pa., High. . .one of the smoothest ends in Chester history.

Nanticoke High in the coal regions of Pennsylvania furnished no less than three top-notch ends for "Clipper" Smith's current edition. Frank Bukofski, Len Kolenda, and "Legs" Shedlosky all hail from the Nanticoke institution.

"The Clipper" may sing songs of woe about his tackle situation, but the eyes of this scribe have caused him to think that the "Clipper" is putting on an act. . .Over a ton of the finest tackles in the East caper around the Villanova gridiron daily. . .From Cook to Sten the tackle roster looks pretty smooth . . .229 pound George Killian is the heaviest. . .185 pound Walt Carter is the "lightweight" of the group.

Halfbacks are so plentiful that they fall all over each other in practice. . .eleven candidates for four jobs. . .and all of them great timber.

Villanova's first grid team played two games. The first contest was with the old Logan A. C., once a power in amateur sports. . .The new-born Wildcats were undefeated in that first season, just as they were in the past two.

An All-Time All-Villanova team would go something like this: (WE don't back this team ourselves, we are just taking the word of the "old-timers"): Ends, Jose Walsh, '10, and Johnny Wysocki, '39; Tackles, Pat Regan, '16, and Johnny Mellus, '38; Guards, Ed Michaels, '36, and Tomp Riep, '17; Centre—Pick your own, we're too tired.

Backs on the mythical club would probably be George Randour, '34, Johnny Gillespie, '30, Joe Slavin, '07, Charley McGuckin, '18. Perhaps the personnel of the above team will be considerably changed after the coming season!

SUBSTITUTES SHINE IN PRACTICE GAME

Absence of Four Regulars Fails to Hinder Footballers in Scrimmage

Taking into consideration that four varsity members were absent, the squad looked very well in the first practice game of the spring season. Three members of the varsity backfield were out as was one of the varsity guards.

Substituting for the injured Mazzei, Ben Morkum proved a very capable quarterback. As "Clipper" was calling the plays Morkum did not have to worry about the selection of plays. He confined his talents to blocking; and in leading almost every running play he was directly responsible for the many large gains made through the opposition's line. Reputed to be one of the best blockers on the team he removed all doubts from those who were the least bit skeptical.

Joe Behot, from his fullback position proved to be the best of the newcomers. His defensive play was commendable. Backing up the left side of the line he stopped one running play after another with hard, jolting tackles. By intercepting a pass he was indirectly responsible for one of the touchdowns scored.

Reliable as ever, center Andy Chisik once more proved to be one of the outstanding men on the field. Playing for about one hour and twenty-five minutes he managed to have a hand in almost every tackle.

As a group the squad looked very good on the down field blocking. "Clipper" has been stressing blocking for many weeks now and it appears that the time was not spent in vain.

KEEP SUPPLIED WITH SCHOOL TICKETS
Good on Buses and Rail Cars until used. 5c a Ride, including Special Free Transfers. School Identification Cards may be obtained at School Office.
PHILADELPHIA SUBURBAN TRANSPORTATION COMPANY
ARONIMINK TRANSPORTATION CO.

PARAMOUNT GRILLE
BRYN MAWR

Compliments of
BRYN MAWR TRUST CO.

Direction Warner Bros.
Tower Theatre
69th & Market Sts.
Motion Pictures Are Your Best Entertainment
Tues., Wed., Thurs.
SYLVIA SIDNEY
"ONE THIRD OF A NATION"
With Leif Erickson
Sensational Dramatic Hit
Fri., Sat., Sun., Mon.
DEANNA DURBIN
"THREE SMART GIRLS GROW UP"
With Charles Winnegor
It's Delightful, Delirious, It's Delovely

— RIDE FREE ON P. & W. RAILWAY MOVIE TICKET —
GRAND Theatre
NORRISTOWN
— Tuesday —
DENNIS O'KEEFE in "BURN 'EM UP O'CONNOR"
Wednesday and Thursday
WENDY BARRIE in "SAINT STRIKES BACK"
Friday and Saturday
WALLACE BEERY in "SERGEANT MADDEN"
NORRIS Theatre
NORRISTOWN
Tuesday
DEANNA DURBIN in "3 SMART GIRLS GROW UP"
Wednesday, Thursday, & Friday
Irene Dunne - Charles Boyer in "LOVE AFFAIR"
Saturday, Monday & Tuesday
Claudette Colbert - Don Ameche in "MIDNIGHT"
GARRICK Theatre
Wednesday and Thursday
Double Feature
Friday and Saturday
ANNE SHIRLEY in "BOY SLAVES"

SEVILLE THEATRE
Monday (Last Day)
"HUCKLEBERRY FINN" MICKEY ROONEY
Tuesday and Wednesday
Gary Cooper - Merle Oberon "COWBOY AND THE LADY"
Thurs., Fri., and Sat.
"STAGE COACH"
John Wayne - Claire Trevor
Saturday Matinee
Special Show for the Kiddies
Sunday and Monday
"LET FREEDOM RING"
Nelson Eddy - Victor McLaglen

Connelly's
SAY IT WITH FLOWERS
MAIN LINE FLORIST
1226 Lancaster Pike
ROSEMONT
Bryn Mawr 252

Ardmore Theatre
Notice to Students
Did you know that your matriculation card will get you a reduced rate at the Ardmore Theatre at any time.
Tues. & Wed.
"CAFE SOCIETY"
FRED MacMURRAY
Thursday
'THE SAINT STRIKES BACK' With Wendy Barrie and George Sanders
Fri. & Sat.
W. C. Fields - Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy "YOU CAN'T CHEAT AN HONEST MAN"
Sunday
Henry Fonda - Maureen O'Sullivan "LET US LIVE"
Monday
"FOUR GIRLS IN WHITE" With Florence Rice

In the Sportlight

By FRED RAPPELYEA

From the region where many a fine ball player was born, a young man named Bobby Bond started his life. It was in Newton, Massachusetts, that Bob was born on July 14, 1917. This little town was only a temporary residence for Bobby for since that day in July, he has traveled the length of this country and even up into the regions of Canada.

In West Junior High in his home town, Bobby started his baseball career by playing on the school team for two years. In the last year he was elected captain by his mates. While in Junior High he also participated in basketball. His next place of learning, Watertown High, found him again taking up the glove and playing first base for the school team. Here again he became captain of the team in his final year.

Chosen All-Scholastic

Besides his baseball activities, Bobby also found time to play football for two years and basketball for a like period of time. However he shone best in baseball as is witnessed by the fact that he was selected on the All-Scholastic team in his region in the year of 1934. On this team was Elbie Fletcher who is now first basing for the Boston Bees. That year there were two first baseman selected.

After Watertown High, Bobby continued his education at St. John's Prep in Danvers, Massachusetts. At this place he confined his athletic endeavors solely to the diamond. While here he was contacted by the present Villanova baseball coach, "Doc" Jacobs. "Doc" induced Bobby (by means of a scholarship) to matriculate at Villanova.

Rooms With "Cowboy"

In his freshman year at Villanova, Bobby showed great promise as a first sacker and virtually clinched a position on the varsity for the next year by his performance. Here he entered the education school where he is now majoring in social studies. Possessing a fine personality and a clever wit this six-foot, left hander soon had a fine collection of friends, among them being "Cowboy" Crawley with whom he has spent four pleasurable years as roommate.

In his sophomore year Bobby led the team in batting. His lefthanded drives of the opposing pitchers' slants soon earned him the enviable reputation of being a slugger. In his Junior year he had a batting average of .430 until the last game of the year. This year his present best accomplishment has been the knocking out of four hits in five trips to the plate against Manhattan. Having 4 for 4, and hoping for a perfect play at the plate, Bobby came up for his last time at bat only to strike out .

During his summer vacations he has spent his time playing baseball in the North, having played in Nova Scotia, Canada, Cape Cod, Saranac Lake, Montpelier, Vermont, and in Three Rivers, Quebec. When he graduates Bobby does not plan to fololw his studies in education but wants to follow up his first love, baseball. As yet he has not had any offers that he wishes to disclose but it is safe to say that he will have several before long.

Likes Cards

Besides sports Bobby has a passion for playing cards, especially bridge and pinochle. Bobby has an alliance with Mike Lazorchak and together they are practically unbeaten. In regard to social activities Bobby is right in the lime light. He has been one of the few lads to "crash the Bryn Mawr league." On weekends he can usually be found at Tommy Caspar's house in Wayne.

Bobby's motto, which he always has in mind, is, "You can not live on what you have done, but only on what you are doing at the present." It is certain that with such a motto and with all his accomplishments, Bobby need never fear for future success.

Sportorial

Continued From Page Five

"get hot" and defeat a better club. But this would only happen once, or twice at the most, in a six-game series.

Such an occurrence as the one which reputedly happened in New York two weeks ago could then be discounted as a freak, provided, of course, that the series ended with Villanova on the long end of the count.

Baseball Sidelights

By BOB BOND

THE TEMPLE CAME scheduled for last Wednesday which was rained out will be played at a later date. . .Against Manhattan Villanova showed the hitting power which was sadly lacking in the C. C. N. Y. game . . .In the latter fracas the umpiring was very anti-Villanova. In one inning the "ump" behind the bat missed, without exaggeration, at least four strikes thrown by O'Leary as well as a force play at the plate; these decisions all abetted C. C. N. Y. in the big inning in which they scored five runs. . . Manhattan came here with an aggregation (no compliment intended) which certainly did not do justice to their past ball clubs. The ordinary spectator may not have noticed their listless attitude but they just didn't care. Seven runs behind and still helping Choquette by hitting the first pitch and not playing the percentage is one good example.

Frank Castles is undefeated in four years of intramural ball and is really setting up an imposing record. Castles really deserves a great deal of credit as he is not in what one would call the best of physical condition, having stomach trouble.

"Barney" McCoskey has become the darling of the Detroit fans thus making them forget their old favorite "Gee" Walker. Walker is the Brooklyn Dodger type, if you know what we mean. There is a story told about Walker of an incident which occurred when he was with Detroit. It seems his wife and young daughter were listening to a broadcast of a Detroit game when the announcer said, "There is a snap throw to first base and the Detroit man is caught flat-footed." Walker's baby daughter exclaimed: "Mommy, did Daddy get caught off base again?" It finally became so bad that "Mickey" Cochrane who was managing the Tigers at this time fined Walker every time he was caught off base. P. S. It was not a matter of one or two times either.

College baseball players will be interested in a criticism made of them by "Pep" Young, regular second baseman of the Detroit Tigers and coach at Temple University the past eight seasons. He says, "Because of an easy-going attitude there are quite a number of college ball-players who have the ability to get into a major league line-up after a year or two of experience in the minors, but they fail to make the grade because they lose too gracefully."

"Quack" Escott, last year's southpaw chucker, is now the baseball coach at St. Clement's High School of Somerville, Mass. His team has won five straight games and has a chance to win the Catholic League of Boston pennant. If so, it would be the first in the history of the school.

Holy Cross came up with a new pitcher, Joe Delaney, a teammate of John Wysocki's in the East-West game, to aid their only mound ace, "Mike" Klarnick. Delaney, pitching against Providence College a few days ago, held them to three hits and lost a shut-out only by his wildness in the eighth inning. It was Delaney's first start as a college moundsman although a senior. A garguantuan tackle, Delaney played stellar football for the Cross ,the success of the line being attributed mostly to him.

Prescriptions
Drugs & Toilet Articles
LA DOW'S PHARMACY
LANCASTER PIKE and SPRING MILL ROAD
VILLANOVA, PA.

Burke Dairies
Milk & Cream
NORRISTOWN, PA.
Phone 2736-W

Runners

Continued From Page Five

winner for the Wildcats was Tom Haynes in the pole vault.

The trackmen will not run again until May 13th, when they travel to West Point to take on the Cadets. Army has another strong team that hopes to keep up the pace of their former teams. For past five years they have been voted by coaches as the outstanding dual team of the East.

100-Yard Dash—1, Maher, Villanova; 2, Le Crone, F. and M.; 3, Urbellis, Villanova. Time—10.1.

Shotput—Won by Buzzalino, Villanova; 2, Shibanoff, F. and M.; 3, Gerland, Villanova. Distance—43 feet, 5½ inches.

120 High Hurdle —1, Carey, Villanova; 2, Wilson, F. and M.; 3, Bridenbaugh, F. and M. Time—16.8.

Mile—1, Howard, F. and M.; 2, Roberts, F. and M.; 3, Bellew, Villanova. Time—4.38.9.

Pole Vault—1, Haynes, Villanova; 2, McManus, Villanova; 3, tie between Rodgers and Watt, F. and M. Height —10 feet, 3 inches.

Javelin — 1, Cohen, F. and M.; 2, Waad, Villanova; 3, Kuresky, Villanova. Distance—183 feet, 10 inches. (New college record.)

440-Yard Dash—1, LeCrone, F. and M.; 2, Gulteaukas, Villanova; 3, Yankaukas, Villanova. Time—.51.

220 Low Hurdles — Won by Carey, Villanova; 2, Wilson, F. and M.; 3, Busk, Villanova. Time—26.7 seconds.

Discus—1, Shibanoff, F. and M.; 2, Kolenda, Villanova; 3, Irvin, F. and M. Distance—123 feet, 4 inches.

880-Yard Run—1, Rothermel, F. and M.; 2, Yankaukas, Villanova; 3, Bellew, Villanova. Time—2.4.9.

High Jump—1, Parson, Villanova; 2, Murphy, Villanova; 3, Wilson, F. and M. Height—5 feet, 11 inches.

220-Yard Dash—1, Maher, Villanova; 2, LeCrone, F. and M.; 3, Urbellis, Villanova. Time—22 secs.

Two-Mile Run —1, Roberts, F. and M.; 2, Rothermel, F. and M.; 3, Howard, F. and M. Time—10.30.5.

Broad Jump—1, Murphy, Villanova; 2, Parsons, Villanova; 3, Kephart, F. and M. Distance—20 feet, 10½inches.

AUSTIN LEADS

In the last six years of Fr. McKee's Intramural Sport competition the hall of which he is moderator, Austin, has taken three championships. Alumni hall, home of the effervescent Frosh, has copped two crowns, while the Mendel Day-Hops crept in to grab one diadem. Fedigan and C. & F. have never taken the title, although the Gigolos have a fair chance this year.

HAZLETON COACH

Hughie McGeehan, one of the greatest baseball and football stars ever to represent Villanova, is now coach of the state-championship basketball team at Hazleton High. Hughie, who never played basketball for the Blue, has had remarkable success with his Hazleton teams. Oddly enough his football teams at Hazleton have not been very successful!

Wildcat

Continued From Page Five

checked long for in the second inning the fireworks started with Bond bunting down the third base line, catching the Jaspers asleep. Then came a lengthy rally until the whole team had batted around. Four walks combined with two mishaps and seven hits sent pitcher Farabough to the sidelines and he was replaced by Hartz. Basca, with a home run deep into left field drove three runs in and Pash and Crawley batted in two apiece.

One more run was picked up in the third inning when Choquette walked and scored on "Cowboy" Crawley's second two-base hit of the game. In the sixth frame the Wildcats added their last two runs in which Basca's triple was featured.

Jaspers Score

Manhattan collected their second and third runs in the third inning when Jost was issued a free pass, advanced to second on Perrin's single and then scored on Sarullo's hard hit ball through shortstop.

Perrin scored on an error a moment later. Three runs were totaled in the eighth and ninth innings on three Villanova errors. Choquette went merrily on his way after his safe advantage in the second inning and was quite liberal in his hurling but he always kept the New Yorkers in check.

Sarullo, the Jasper's second baseman, led his team in hitting, collecting three hits in five times at bat and was errorless in his field play. Ted Mazur, Manhattan's regular football end, got a total of two hits out of five times at bat. He committed one error in the second inning which was quite costly.

The Line-ups

Villanova	ab.	r.	h.	o.	a.
Crawley, 2b	4	1	2	3	4
Pash, ss	5	2	1	3	0
Donoghue, lf	3	1	1	3	0
Wannemacher, cf	4	1	2	3	0
Bond, 1b	4	2	3	6	0
Basca, rf	5	2	3	0	0
Lazorchak, 3b	3	1	1	2	2
Vigilante, c	4	1	1	8	0
Choquette, p	4	1	0	0	1
Totals	38	12	14	27	7

Manhattan	ab.	r.	h.	o.	a.
Mazur, cf	5	0	2	3	0
Little, 3b	5	1	2	2	0
Jost, 1b	3	1	1	6	0
Morgan, lf	2	0	0	0	1
Perrin, rf	4	1	1	0	0
Romano, ss	3	1	0	3	5
Sarullo, 2b	5	1	3	4	6
Schwitter, c	5	0	0	3	2
Farabaugh, p	3	0	0	0	0
Hartz, p	1	1	1	0	2
Strain, p	0	0	0	0	0
Connors, lf	1	0	1	1	0
Totals	38	6	11	24	12

Manhattan ..... 0 1 2 0 0 0 2 1—6
Villanova ..... 2 1 9 1 0 0 2 0 0 x—15

Two base hits — Crawley, 2; Bond, Donoghue. Three base hits—Basca. Stolen Base—Pash, Jost. Double Play —Sarullo, Romano and Jost. Base on Balls — Off Farabaugh, 3; Hartz, 4; Choquette, 4. Struck Out—By Hartz, 4; Choquett , 6. Hits Off—Farabaugh, 10 in 5 1-3 innings; Hartz, 5 in 1 2-3 innings; Strain, 2 in 1 inning. Losing pitcher — Farabaugh. Umpires — Voorhees and Dinsmore. Time of Game—2:45.

GOLFERS PLAY

Three members of Villanova's varsity golf team participated in a contest between local college All-Stars and the Spring Haven Country Club on Sunday, April 23 at Swarthmore. The collegians loss was definitely not due to the efforts of the Main Line boys. Jim Dwyer and Lou Dubino held their men even at one and one-half to one and one half, while Cliff Randolf won a two and one-half to one-half decision over his opponent.

FOR EXPERT CONVENIENT ATTENTION
SERVICE IS OUR FIRST THOUGHT
PATRONIZE
The CAMPUS Barber Shop
FIRST CLASS WORK
HAIRCUT 40c
Popular Prices

The Wayne Hotel
LANCASTER AVENUE
WAYNE, PA.
Telephone 380
Headquarters For Visitors to Villanova
Excellent Dinners at $1
SPECIAL STUDENT RATES
J. T. McFATE, Mgr.

HERE and THERE

By JOE BARNES

YOURS TRULY is becoming the All-American subsitute around these parts. Last week Boss-man Phil Dunn decided to hike himself off on a little vacation so we did the substituting. This week finds Harry Mazzei, regular conductor of this column, home in North Bergen so we again find ourselves in the substitution spot.

* * *

Substituting for Mazzei gives us an idea for a tall story to our future grandchildren. As you know Mazzei is one of the finest quarterbacks ever to represent the Blue on the gridiron so someday when we go to shooting the bull with the grandchildren we can proudly (and truthfully) say that we went in as a substitute for the great Harry Mazzei one day. Of course we won't add that we substituted for him on the paper, not the gridiron!

* * *

We have been wondering whether our Sportorial advocating junior-varsity sports had any effect on students and authorities last week. No response came. Perhaps we were barking up the wrong tree! We still think that it is a darn good idea (the trouble is that nobody else does!)

* * *

Some of you fellows may think that sports-writers are a motley crew, who can write about things but can't practice what they preach. We seem to be considered a literary-minded bunch. The VILLANOVAN sports staff gives an excellent contradiction to this. Starting at the top (?) we have Sports-Editor Phil Dunn, who played some football for Harrisburg Catholic High a few years back. Then, of course, we have the famous "Baby Tank," Harry Mazzei, who usually pounds out this column. Being the best quarterback in the East, Harry needs no further introduction. Saul Waldach, another scribe, is captain and star of the tennis team. Frosh Bill Carey and Walt Lessing are track and football stars, respectively, so you can see that they can do a little more than just write about those events! Bill Sinnott, a shy forward on Al Severance's basketball five, is an able sports-writer, as is tall Lou Dubino, another star courtman. Bobby Bond, for three years the regular first baseman on the baseball nine, is the conductor of the "Sidelights" column to be found on this page.

The moral is, dear reader, "DON'T GET TOUGH WITH THE SPORTS SCRIBES!" (Except me).

* * *

Two scheduled golf and tennis matches, both with the same college, have been cancelled by the prospective Wildcat opponents. No formal explanation or letter was received—just a phone call from a graduate manager; nothing in any way official was received by Villanova authorities. It seems that the cancellation had something to do with basketball. The Blue courtmen weren't scheduled to meet this college in the first place, but somehow or another these "small-time" collegians got the idea that we were snubbing them. So they tried to act like "big-timers" and broke the relations in tennis and golf. Instead of being "big-time" they have shown themselves in their true colors—just "small fry"!

* * *

They tell me that this is the "Open House Issue" of the VILLANOVAN and that we shall have double the usual number of readers because of the influx of visitors to this historic and beautiful campus. For this reason, they tell me, this column should glow with words of praise to the Alma Mater. I do not agree. Why should I pound the typewriter keys to a white heat in putting the glory of Villanova into mere words? Nothing that I can say about Villanova and Villanova athletics can add any to what others have done.

Villanova speaks for itself. The deeds of our gridders, courtmen, baseballers, golfers, runners, etc. speak for themselves. The story of Villanova is written on time itself, not on mere paper that will yellow with age. Villanovans gone by have written the history of the school. They have used actions, not words, to inscribe the honor and glory of the greatest college in the land!

The above statement may be disputed by other collegians. However we stand by our words. To us there is no hall of learning that excels our own Villanova. We stand together, 1000 sons of the Blue and White and we shall stand together until the final days come upon us.

We could go on forever like this. We could mention names, names that are synonymous with Villanova. Hughie McGeehan, Leo Goodreau, Eddie Michaels, and hundreds of others. Open House issue or no Open House issue, this humble writer refuses to attempt to put their deeds into words. We are helpless to do so. All we can say is the oft-repeated phrase, "than which there is none better."

Men's Clothes Made-to-Measure
COLEBY
Tailoring Inc.
57th & Market Sts.
Suits & Topcoats
$24.75
See Campus Representative
TIM WAAD
210 Fedigan

Typical "Davey Day-Hop" Romps Through 24 Hours of Vicissitudes

By ANDREA J. D'ANGELO

Among Villanova's student body there is the individual intimately called the "day hop," so dubbed because of his daily commutation to and from the college. Now let us take Davey Day Hop as the typical commuter and follow him through his trials and tribulations, joys and cheer as he wends his way during one day of attendance at College.

About seven o'clock in the morning Davey is wrested from the arms of Morpheus by the insistent calling of his ever-diligent mother, who makes sure that he gets up in time for class. After a few half-hearted attempts, Davey gets up at a quarter past, bathes, dresses, rushes down to breakfast only to find that he must hurry to catch the bus or "el." Running out of the house "a la Dagwood" he boards the bus and settles down in the comfortable seat to snatch a few more precious moments of sleep.

Upon arriving at the Sixty-ninth Street P & W terminal, he is fully awakened (or if he is not, the jostling and playfulness of his classmates will soon arouse him fully). In ten or fifteen minutes he is in site of the college campus, shakes off the last lingering sign of drowsiness and prepares himself to present an alert mind to his profs.

Down to the locker room and into Louie's Pie Shop he goes, where he conducts many a philosophical, sportorial, or social conference. According to Davey Day Hop, what the statesmen of the world really need is a good pie shop where great problems can be discussed intelligently—over a cup of coffee.

At exactly ten minutes to nine the bell for the first class sounds through the place, summoning Davey to continue his intellectual ramblings, this time under the expert guidance and counsel of his various teachers. So, he spends the best part of the morning (and the afternoon, if he is not in the Commerce and Finance School) attending classes.

During lunch hour he is apt to congregate with his friends in the Day Hop's room in Mendel Hall, where all discussions interrupted by class are continued. Classes being over, he spends his time in extra-curricular activities. If he is journalistically inclined, there is the VILLANOVA , the Belle-Air, and the various other magazines in the science and engineering schools. If his talents tend toward the histrionic or forensic side, there are the Dramatic and Debating societies. In fact all of the activities on the campus are open to Davey Day Hop.

Cooperation Keynote In Open House Show

Continued From Page One

various steps taken in the preparation of materials for Histological study will be outlined. The Bacteriological and Anatomical exhibits include: The various syphilitic tests, bacterial detection of polluted waters, bacterial analysis of milk, anatomical dissections and specimens.

The Botany Laboratory will have seedlings of various plants and exhibitions of various plant pigments. The General Biology Laboratory will display various animals from the one-celled animals as the Euglena, etc., and the higher forms such as the Mammalian class of animals.

General Inorganic Laboratory will conduct demonstrations of etching, flaming Ice, and the "Cartesian Diver." The Physics Laboratory will show the Mechanical eye, Ultra-Violet ray, and "Accelleration Dut to Gravity."

VACATION SESSIONS TO START JUNE 26

Summer School to Offer 112 Courses; Library Science Course Changed

Villanova College will open its 21st annual summer session on Monday, June 26, according to an announcement made this week by the Rev. Joseph C. Bartley, O. S. A., director.

One hundred and twelve courses will be offered, 66 in undergraduate work, and 46 in graduate work. The various courses are drawn from the following fields: accounting, art, biology, business law, chemistry, economics, education, engineering, English, finance, French, German, history, Latin, library science, mathematics, music, nursing, philosophy, physics, sociology and Spanish.

The program in library science has been adapted to meet the additional requirements recently adopted by the State Department of Education in Pennsylvania. It also meets the recommendations of the Board of Education for Librarianship of the American Library Association. Courses leading to a library science major of 36 semester hours have been provided, as well as a curriculum leading to the degree of Bachelor in Library Science.

Simpson Hall, a recent addition to the resident facilities, will be used exclusively for the religious Brothers in attendance at the summer session.

Intimate Peek Into Residents Diary Reveals Astounding Impressions

By JAMES F. DONOVAN

DEAR DIARY:

Well, as Columbus said, here we are at twelve midnight after an unusually gruelling day. Jim woke me up at a quarter to seven, Lou at seven thirty, and Joe at eight. Of all these methods, Jim used the lowest. He pulled me right out of bed. It took me two minutes to get to sleep again. Finally got up at a quarter to nine in plenty of time to make class at 8:55 A. M. No breakfast of course, but I made class.

Postman Doesn't Ring

Ice cream for dessert today! Third time this week. We must be going to play Pitt next fall. Took my time eating. I'm being kidded for staying ten minutes in the dining hall. After lunch I moseyed down to the P. O. (post office.) A dash in the door. A gaze in the box. Didn't Horace Heidt play a song called "Dust"? Now I know where he got the inspiration. Oh well. Maybe I should have written the family a longer post card. And Joan is overdue too. Well, if she thinks I'm going to get in a dither about her, she's just about right. I wonder if Tommy, the tenor-mouthed mush face has been wooing the Muse. Well, I'll be home in a few days and I'll college-hay her to the gills. Yessiree, Villanovans are whipper-doos with the females!

Went down to Bryn Mawr this afternoon. The place was strewn with Rosemont and Bryn Mawr girls. They looked like Indians from a reservation with those scarfs they wrap around their heads. I'm glad I'm the sensible type. Oh hello blondy! All right, Toots, I'm talking to the dog, don't freeze up like Admiral Byrd. I only have my Villanova tradition-bound raincoat on. I didn't come for a polar expedition. Come back in time to watch "Swing and Sway Smith's swishing Sweeney." The boys look hot. Yeah they're sweating. Oh well, wait till the old face rolls around again.

And So To Bed

Supper was peachy. The place was lousy with vitamins and calories. They were dripping off the trays. Chapel was short tonight. Merely night prayers. After chapel settled myself down to write my term paper. No good. Before you could say "Bill Robinson," the masquerade was over and I was deep in a "bull session." We used the somewhat specific subject. "The Date of Affairs." Doc Ed and Big Bill are awful dopes. I told them so. They replied in Kind, as the old saying goes. We fixed the water spigot so it knocks your eye out when you go to take a drink. Landy was dripping wet. A couple of the boys got mad. Well, some people are just hard to get along with. That's why I have the door locked. The roomie is working his limited vocabulary overtime and intimates that my retiring hour is at hand. We'll probably run another bull session until three a. m. That'll burn him up. Well toodle oo, darling diary. Wake me up early, roomie, for on the morrow, I am to be queen of the May.

Festive Junior Theme Dominates College

Continued From Page One

marks the first time since the inception of the custom of obtaining namebands that the class holding Promenade has not had recourse to this method. This was made possible by the payment of 65 assessments, assuring a successful attendance for the three social programs.

WORLD'S PLEASURE

Chesterfield

...the RIGHT COMBINATION of the world's best cigarette tobaccos ...they're MILDER and TASTE BETTER

At the New York World's Fair

... Captain NANCY LOWRY and her Guides will show millions their way around.

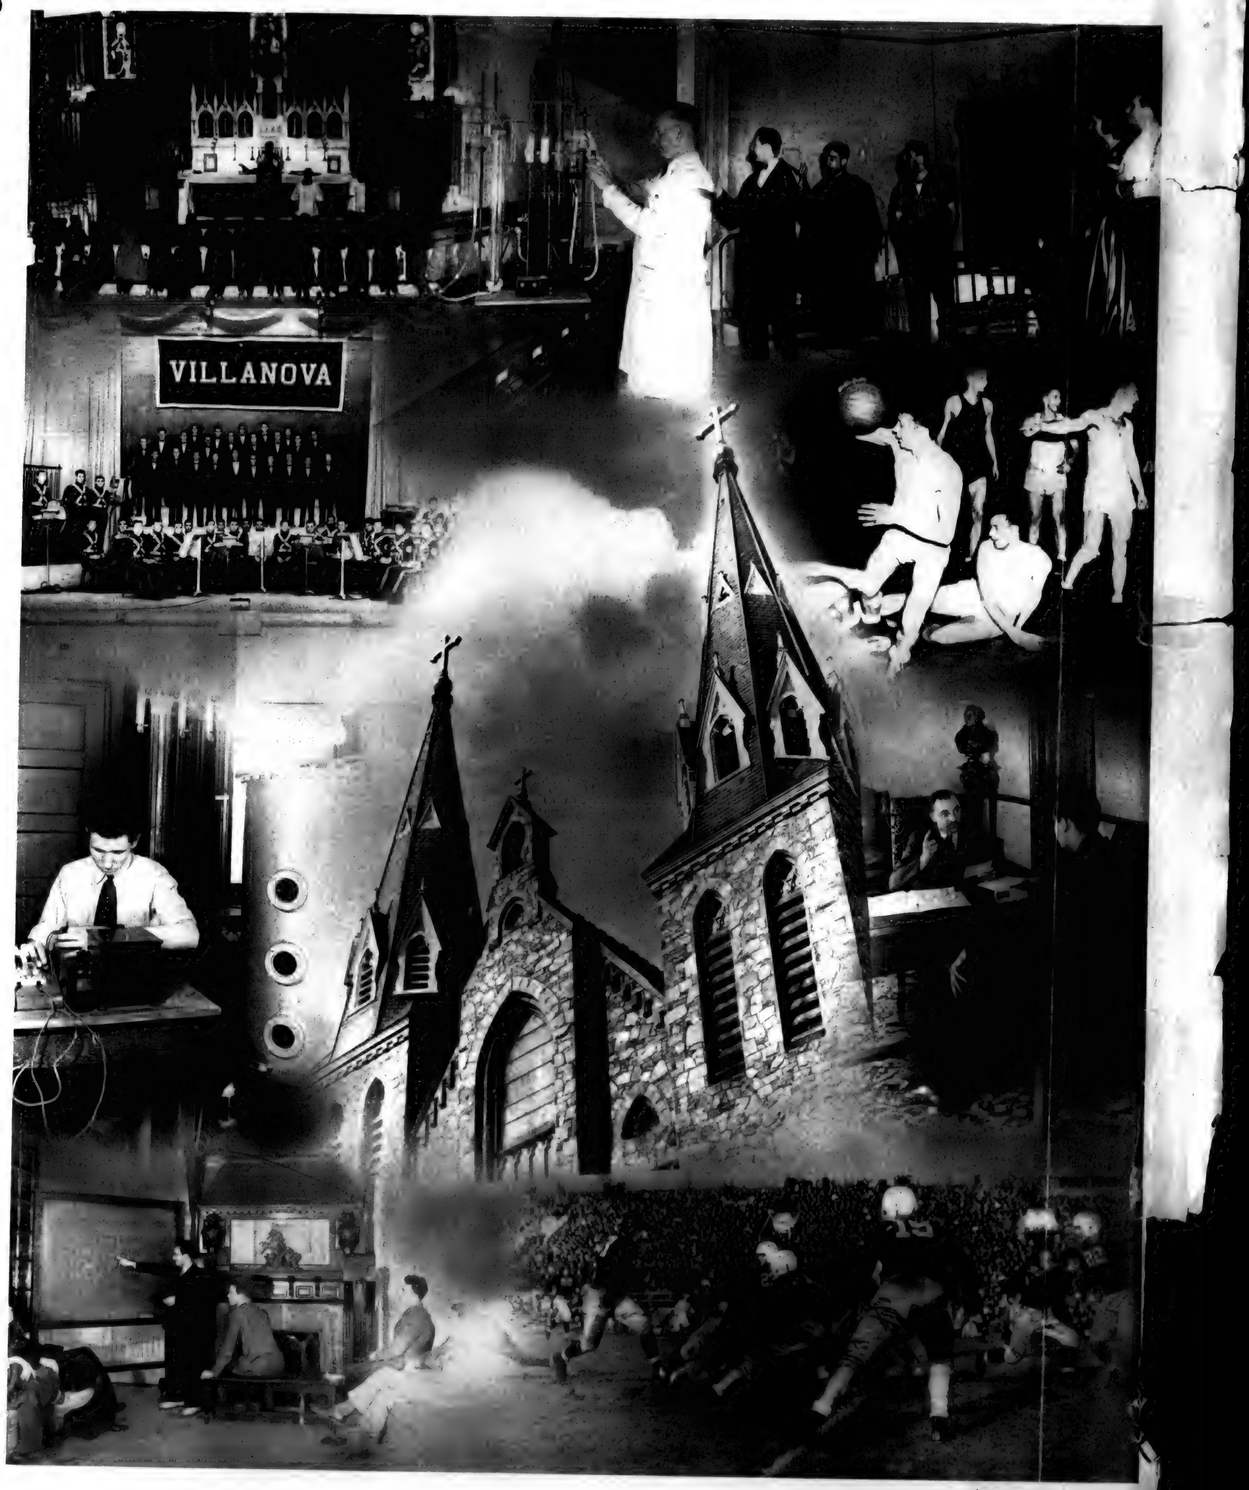
And at the Fair... or wherever you go... Chesterfield's right combination of the world's best cigarette tobaccos is showing millions the way to more smoking pleasure.

When you try them you'll know why Chesterfields give smokers just what they want in a cigarette... more refreshing mildness ... better taste... more pleasing aroma.
THEY SATISFY

Copyright 1939, LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

VILLANOVAN

Special Edition VILLANOVA, PA. SPRING, 1939



Typical "Davey Day-Hop" Romps Through 24 Hours of Vicissitudes

By ANDREA J. D'ANGELO

Among Villanova's student body there is the individual intimately called the "day hop," so dubbed because of his daily commutation to and from the college. Now let us take Davey Day Hop as the typical commuter and follow him through his trials and tribulations, joys and cheer as he wends his way during one day of attendance at College.

About seven o'clock in the morning Davey is wrested from the arms of Morpheus by the insistent calling of his ever-diligent mother, who makes sure that he gets up in time for class. After a few half-hearted attempts, Davey gets up at a quarter past, bathes, dresses, rushes down to breakfast only to find that he must hurry to catch the bus or "el." Running out of the house "a la Dagwood" he boards the bus and settles down in the comfortable seat to snatch a few more precious moments of sleep.

Upon arriving at the Sixty-ninth Street P & W terminal, he is fully awakened (or if he is not, the jostling and playfulness of his classmates will soon arouse him fully). In ten or fifteen minutes he is in site of the college campus, shakes off the last lingering sign of drowsiness and prepares himself to present an alert mind to his profs.

Down to the locker room and into Louie's Pie Shop he goes, where he conducts many a philosophical, sportorial, or social conference. According to Davey Day Hop, what the statesmen of the world really need is a good pie shop where great problems can be discussed intelligently—over a cup of coffee.

At exactly ten minutes to nine the bell for the first class sounds through the place, summoning Davey to continue his intellectual ramblings, this time under the expert guidance and counsel of his various teachers. So, he spends the best part of the morning (and the afternoon, if he is not in the Commerce and Finance School) attending classes.

During lunch hour he is apt to congregate with his friends in the Day Hop's room in Mendel Hall, where all discussions interrupted by class are continued. Classes being over, he spends his time in extra-curricular activities. If he is journalistically inclined, there is the VILLANOVA , the Belle-Air, and the various other magazines in the science and engineering schools. If his talents tend toward the histrionic or forensic side, there are the Dramatic and Debating societies. In fact all of the activities on the campus are open to Davey Day Hop.

Cooperation Keynote In Open House Show

Continued From Page One

various steps taken in the preparation of materials for Histological study will be outlined. The Bacteriological and Anatomical exhibits include: The various syphilitic tests, bacterial detection of polluted waters, bacterial analysis of milk, anatomical dissections and specimens.

The Botany Laboratory will have seedlings of various plants and exhibitions of various plant pigments. The General Biology Laboratory will display various animals from the one-celled animals as the Euglena, etc., and the higher forms such as the Mammalian class of animals.

General Inorganic Laboratory will conduct demonstrations of etching, flaming ice, and the "Cartesian Diver." The Physics Laboratory will show the Mechanical eye, Ultra-Violet ray, and "Accelleration Dut to Gravity."

VACATION SESSIONS TO START JUNE 26

Summer School to Offer 112 Courses; Library Science Course Changed

Villanova College will open its 21st annual summer session on Monday, June 26, according to an announcement made this week by the Rev. Joseph C. Bartley, O. S. A., director.

One hundred and twelve courses will be offered, 66 in undergraduate work, and 46 in graduate work. The various courses are drawn from the following fields: accounting, art, biology, business law, chemistry, economics, education, engineering, English, finance, French, German, history, Latin, library science, mathematics, music, nursing, philosophy, physics, sociology and Spanish.

The program in library science has been adapted to meet the additional requirements recently adopted by the State Department of Education in Pennsylvania. It also meets the recommendations of the Board of Education for Librarianship of the American Library Association. Courses leading to a library science major of 36 semester hours have been provided, as well as a curriculum leading to the degree of Bachelor in Library Science.

Simpson Hall, a recent addition to the resident facilities, will be used exclusively for the religious Brothers in attendance at the summer session.

Intimate Peek Into Residents Diary Reveals Astounding Impressions

By JAMES F. DONOVAN

DEAR DIARY:

Well, as Columbus said, here we are at twelve midnight after an unusually gruelling day. Jim woke me up at a quarter to seven, Lou at seven thirty, and Joe at eight. Of all these methods, Jim used the lowest. He pulled me right out of bed. It took me two minutes to get to sleep again. Finally got up at a quarter to nine in plenty of time to make class at 8:55 A. M. No breakfast of course, but I made class.

Postman Doesn't Ring

Ice cream for dessert today! Third time this week. We must be going to play Pitt next fall. Took my time eating. I'm being kidded for staying ten minutes in the dining hall. After lunch I moseyed down to the P. O. (post office.) A dash in the door. A gaze in the box. Didn't Horace Heidt play a song called "Dust"? Now I know where he got the inspiration. Oh well. Maybe I should have written the family a longer post card. And Joan is overdue too. Well, if she thinks I'm going to get in a dither about her, she's just about right. I wonder if Tommy, the tenor-mouthed mush face has been wooing the Muse. Well, I'll be home in a few days and I'll college-hay her to the gills. Yessiree, Villanovans are whipper-doos with the females!

Went down to Bryn Mawr this afternoon. The place was strewn with Rosemont and Bryn Mawr girls. They looked like Indians from a reservation with those scarfs they wrap around their heads. I'm glad I'm the sensible type. Oh hello blondy! All right, Toots, I'm talking to the dog, don't freeze up like Admiral Byrd. I only have my Villanova tradition-bound raincoat on. I didn't come for a polar expedition. Come back in time to watch "Swing and Sway Smith's swishing Sweeney." The boys look hot. Yeah they're sweating. Oh well, wait till the old face rolls around again.

And So To Bed

Supper was peachy. The place was lousy with vitamins and calories. They were dripping off the trays. Chapel was short tonight. Merely night prayers. After chapel settled myself down to write my term paper. No good. Before you could say "Bill Robinson," the masquerade was over and I was deep in a "bull session." We used the somewhat specific subject "The Date of Affairs." Doc Ed and Big Bill are awful dopes. I told them so. They replied in Kind, as the old saying goes. We fixed the water spigot so it knocks your eye out when you go to take a drink. Landy was dripping wet. A couple of the boys got mad. Well, some people are just hard to get along with. That's why I have the door locked. The roomie is working his limited vocabulary overtime and intimates that my retiring hour is at hand. We'll probably run another bull session until three a. m. That'll burn him up. Well toodle oo, darling diary. Wake me up early, roomie, for on the morrow, I am to be queen of the May.

Festive Junior Theme Dominates College

Continued From Page One

marks the first time since the inception of the custom of obtaining namebands that the class holding Promenade has not had recourse to this method. This was made possible by the payment of 65 assessments, assuring a successful attendance for the three social programs.

WORLD'S PLEASURE

Chesterfield

...the RIGHT COMBINATION of the world's best cigarette tobaccos ...they're MILDER and TASTE BETTER

At the New York World's Fair

... Captain NANCY LOWRY and her Guides will show millions their way around.

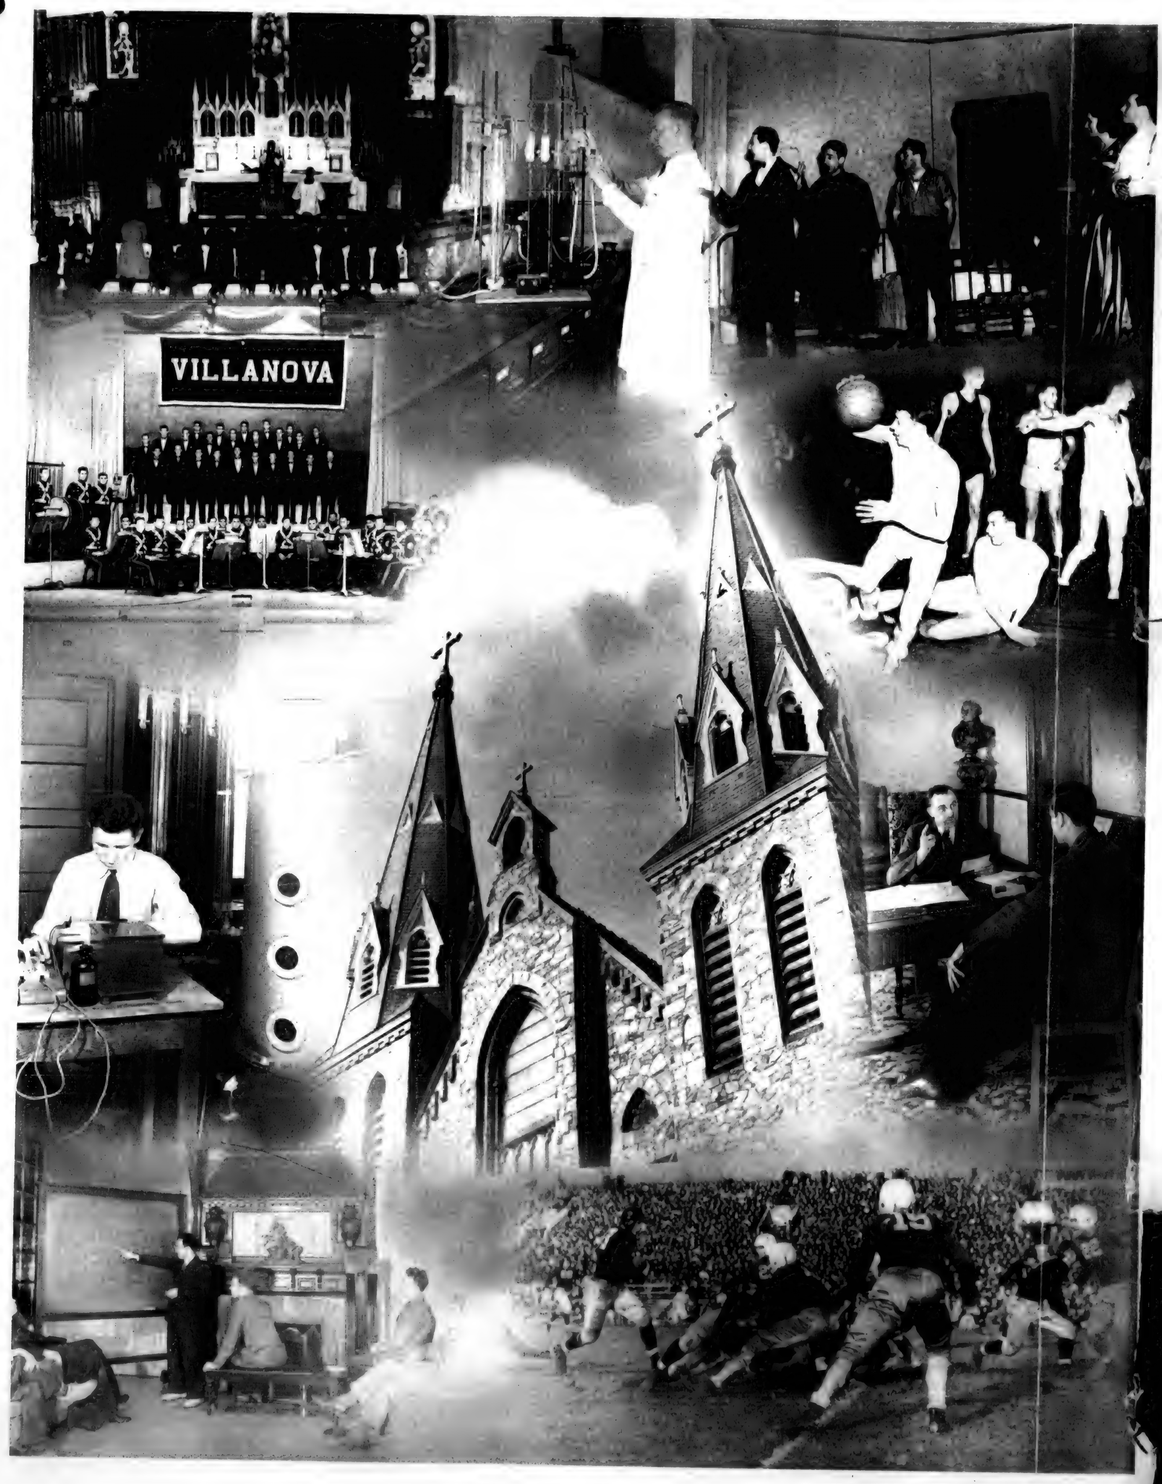
And at the Fair... or wherever you go... Chesterfield's right combination of the world's best cigarette tobaccos is showing millions the way to more smoking pleasure.

When you try them you'll know why Chesterfields give smokers just what they want in a cigarette... more refreshing mildness ... better taste... more pleasing aroma. THEY SATISFY

Copyright 1939, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

VILLANOVAN

Special Edition VILLANOVA, PA. SPRING, 1939



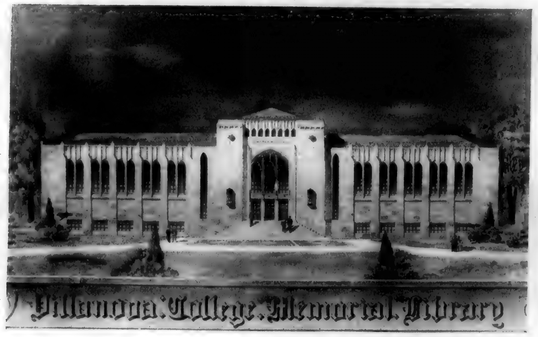
Villanova's Campus

JUST ninety-seven years ago Villanova undertook the education of Catholic youth, setting as its goal the production of the true Christian gentleman. Today, Villanova is graduating, each year, men that are ready and fit to take their places in the various professions. Ever ready and alert to make progressive changes in curriculum or equipment, the Administration presents to the Catholic youth of today a well rounded staff of competent teachers and up-to-date equipment that compares favorably with the best. At the same time she is not unmindful of her great heritage from the past. These pages will give a hurried glance at a few of the interesting activities ever taking place on Villanova's Campus.

(LEFT) SEMINAR ROOM:—The latest addition to Villanova's Campus is Simpson Hall, housing the seminar rooms. This is a typical seminar group enjoying the comforts of an informal but studious environment.

• VC •

LIBRARY:—A reading room in the library, ever the center of studious activity. The library houses, at present, over 50,000 volumes.



PROPOSED LIBRARY:—A drawing of Villanova's proposed library to house 150,000 volumes together with seminar rooms, reading rooms and archives. Villanova's collection of valuable manuscripts, incunabula, special collections of first editions, limited editions and autographs will be suitably housed and exhibited in the new structure. During the past year 7,246 new books were added to the library collection and 24,713 volumes, excluding periodicals, were circulated among the students. Over 150 magazines and newspapers are currently received.

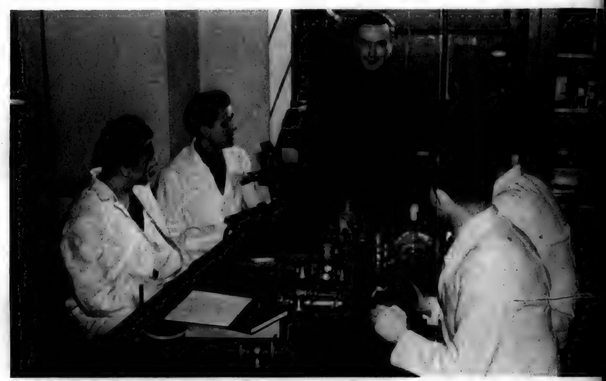
• VC •

CAMPUS PUBLICATIONS:—Student publications include "THE VILLANOVAN," a weekly newspaper, an "All American" winner for three consecutive years and "All Catholic" winner for the past two years; "THE BELLE AIR," a campus year book, published annually by the Senior class has received "All American" award by the N.S.P.A. and "All Catholic" award by the N.C.P.A.; "THE MENDEL BULLETIN," a student scientific journal, published by the science students and another N.S.P.A. "All American" publication; "THE VILLANOVA ENGINEER," student publication of the Engineering students and member of the Engineering College Magazines Associated, an organization of leading Engineering college magazines in the country. Over 125 students actively engage in editing these publications.

BUSINESS:—A class in Money and Banking in session under the able tutorship of Professor Dougherty of the Commerce and Finance Faculty.

MUSIC SEMINAR:—Each week Music Seminars are held in the Seminar Building presenting the great music of the past and present. The world's masterpieces are played from High Fidelity recordings and analyzed by a commentator. Programatic notes are issued at each session. All students have an opportunity of knowing and enjoying the great music of the world.

HISTORY LECTURE:—A lecture on European History conducted by the able Doctor Hartman. Student interest in history and government is ever kept alive by Doctor Hartman's organized field trips, radio broadcast meetings, news clippings and seminars.



SCIENCE:—A recitation session in the Immunology Laboratory under the capable direction of Father Dougherty, O.S.A., Dean of the School of Science. At present there are 190 students enrolled in this department. Every student has the opportunity of individual attention in assisting him to acquire a broad scientific background.

• VC •

THE DRAMA—Scenes from the 1938 production of "Winterset" staged by the Villanova Dramatic Club, "Belle Masque." This group of actors yearly stage a major production such as; "Journey's End," produced in 1937; "Winterset," of 1938, and "Room Service," the current production of 1939. In addition there is a series of one-act plays in the Fall of the year. This valuable extra-curricular activity is open to all interested students. Villanova's stage is completely equipped with the most modern facilities for handling any type of dramatic production. Students receive instruction in stage management, construction and painting of scenery and detailed coaching in the thespian art. Villanova's plays are highly regarded in collegiate dramatic circles.

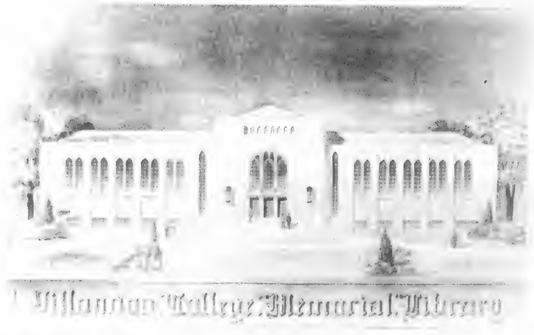
Villanova's Campus

JUST ninety-seven years ago Villanova undertook the education of Catholic youth, setting as its goal the production of the true Christian gentleman. Today, Villanova is graduating, each year, men that are ready and fit to take their places in the various professions. Ever ready and alert to make progressive changes in curriculum or equipment, the Administration presents to the Catholic youth of today a well rounded staff of competent teachers and up-to-date equipment that compares favorably with the best. At the same time she is not unmindful of her great heritage from the past. These pages will give a hurried glance at a few of the interesting activities ever taking place on Villanova's Campus.

(LEFT) SEMINAR ROOM:—The latest addition to Villanova's Campus is Simpson Hall, housing the seminar rooms. This is a typical seminar group enjoying the comforts of an informal but studious environment.

• VC •

LIBRARY:—A reading room in the library, ever the center of studious activity. The library houses, at present, over 50,000 volumes.



PROPOSED LIBRARY:—A drawing of Villanova's proposed library to house 150,000 volumes together with seminar rooms, reading rooms and archives. Villanova's collection of valuable manuscripts, incunabula, special collections of first editions, limited editions and autographs will be suitably housed and exhibited in the new structure. During the past year 7,246 new books were added to the library collection and 24,713 volumes, excluding periodicals, were circulated among the students. Over 150 magazines and newspapers are currently received.

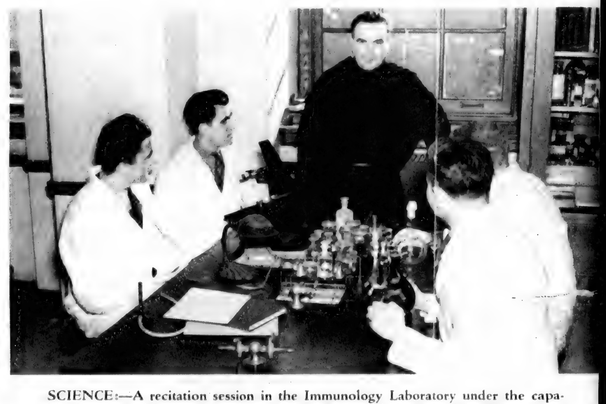
• VC •

CAMPUS PUBLICATIONS:—Student publications include "THE VILLANOVAN," a weekly newspaper, an "All American" winner for three consecutive years and "All Catholic" winner for the past two years; "THE BELLE AIR," a campus year book, published annually by the Senior class has received "All American" award by the N.S.P.A. and "All Catholic" award by the N.C.P.A.; "THE MENDEL BULLETIN," a student scientific journal, published by the science students and another N.S.P.A. "All American" publication; "THE VILLANOVA ENGINEER," student publication of the Engineering students and member of the Engineering College Magazines Associated, an organization of leading Engineering college magazines in the country. Over 125 students actively engage in editing these publications.

BUSINESS:—A class in Money and Banking in session under the able tutorship of Professor Dougherty of the Commerce and Finance Faculty.

HISTORY LECTURE:—A lecture on European History conducted by the able Doctor Hartman. Student interest in history and government is ever kept alive by Doctor Hartman's organized field trips, radio broadcast meetings, news clippings and seminars.

MUSIC SEMINAR:—Each week Music Seminars are held in the Seminar Building presenting the great music of the past and present. The world's masterpieces are played from High Fidelity recordings and analyzed by a commentator. Programatic notes are issued at each session. All students have an opportunity of knowing and enjoying the great music of the world.

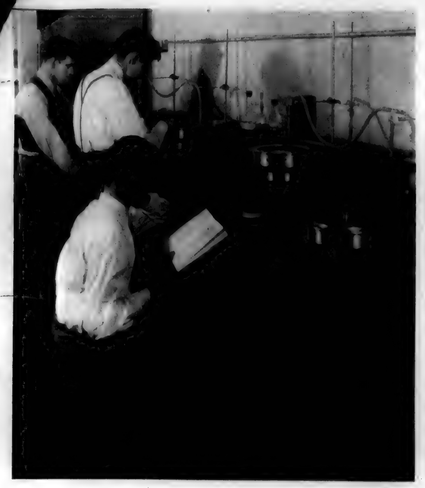


SCIENCE:—A recitation session in the Immunology Laboratory under the capable direction of Father Dougherty, O.S.A., Dean of the School of Science. At present there are 190 students enrolled in this department. Every student has the opportunity of individual attention in assisting him to acquire a broad scientific background.

• VC •

THE DRAMA—Scenes from the 1938 production of "Winterset" staged by the Villanova Dramatic Club, "Belle Masque." This group of actors yearly stage a major production such as; "Journey's End," produced in 1937; "Winterset," of 1938, and "Room Service," the current production of 1939. In addition there is a series of one-act plays in the Fall of the year. This valuable extra-curricular activity is open to all interested students. Villanova's stage is completely equipped with the most modern facilities for handling any type of dramatic production. Students receive instruction in stage management, construction and painting of scenery and detailed coaching in the thespian art. Villanova's plays are highly regarded in collegiate dramatic circles.

New Engineering Laboratory Equipment . . . . .



MATERIALS TESTING:—The strength of materials is an important factor in all engineering construction. The tension-compression testing machine pictured above is testing the compression strength of a concrete mix.

WITH industrial advancements in science and engineering taking place constantly, it is necessary for educational institutions to keep their students abreast of these developments. Villanova has installed the latest equipment in its science and engineering laboratories. The Metallography Laboratory has added new specimen polishing apparatus, microscopes and camera for photomicrography of specimens. The Materials Testing Laboratory has acquired compression testing equipment, horizontal static Dynamic balancing machine and an impact testing machine. Equipment has been added in the Hydraulics, Surveying and Welding Departments. A complete laboratory in Chemical Engineering has recently been installed. Many modern improvements have been made in the General Chemistry Department. Pictured on this page are a few of the latest additions to Villanova's laboratories.

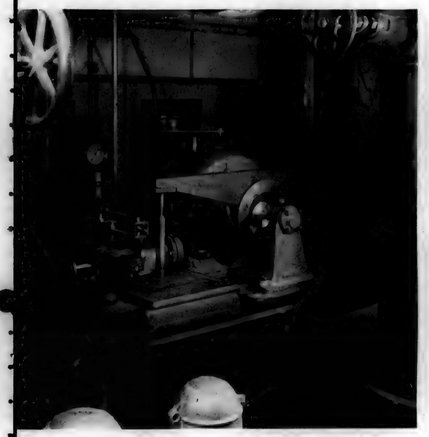
METALLOGRAPHY is that branch of metallurgy which deals with the internal structure of metals. Left:—Final polishing of metal specimens before being photomicrographed. Above:—Making micrographs of specimens for examination.

Microscopic examination of specimens.

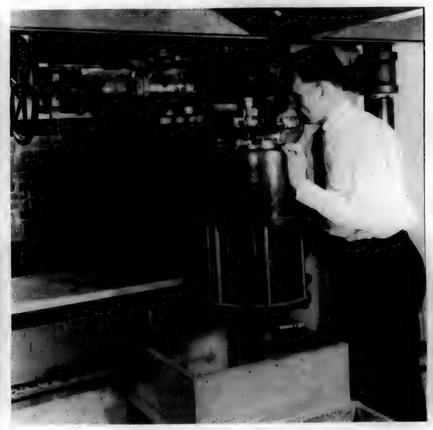
Statically balancing the crank shaft of a six cylinder automobile engine.

HYDRAULICS:—A general view of the new Hydraulics Laboratory.

SURVEYING:—Sighting through a ten-second theodolite.



A view taken in the Hydraulics Laboratory showing the Pelton wheel with the Prony brake set up for a test.



Reaction turbine and wier box, showing manual control of wicket gates.

WELDING:—A student making a bronze welding for a cast iron floor plate.

Science

THE Science Department was established in 1915 to meet the growing demand for a specialized preparation for Medical School and has merited the recognition of the New York Board of Regents, the American Association of Medical Colleges, and the State Board of Medical Licensors. The Bachelor of Science degree offered by this Department is approved by the Association of Colleges of the Middle States and Maryland. Its course also meets the requirements of the Council of Medical Education and Hospitals of the American Medical Association.

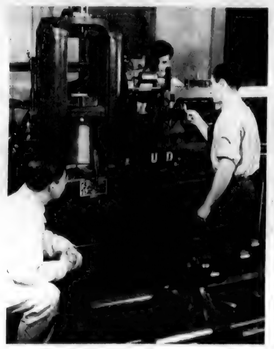
THE School of Science offers its students, besides an excellent scientific curriculum, a well-balanced and broad course. In addition to lectures in General Biology; Bacteriology; Comparative and Human Anatomy; Embryology; Genetics; Physics; Physiology; Inorganic, Physiological, Organic and Physical Chemistry; Histology and others; a course of Immunology, taught by the Dean, a specialist in this field, is also offered. Left:—A lecture in Chemistry by Doctor Haenisch. For recitation periods these lecture groups are broken into groups of no more than twenty students.

BIOLOGY:—Students viewing the wonders of nature through the microscope. Every student in Science has a microscope assigned to his use.

MICROSCOPES:—A section of the cabinets holding the microscopes used by the students in the Science Department.

New Engineering Laboratory Equipment . . . . .

METALLOGRAPHY is that branch of metallurgy which deals with the internal structure of metals. Left:—Final polishing of metal specimens before being photomicrographed. Above:—Making micrographs of specimens for examination.



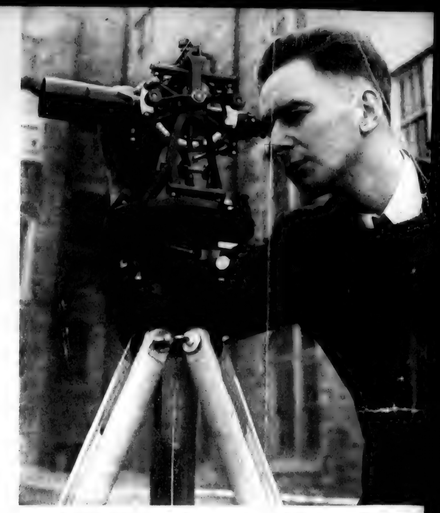
MATERIALS TESTING:—The strength of materials is an important factor in all engineering construction. The tension-compression testing machine pictured above is testing the compression strength of a concrete mix.

WITH industrial advancements in science and engineering taking place constantly, it is necessary for educational institutions to keep their students abreast of these developments. Villanova has installed the latest equipment in its science and engineering laboratories. The Metallography Laboratory has added new specimen polishing apparatus, microscopes and camera for photomicrography of specimens. The Materials Testing Laboratory has acquired compression testing equipment, horizontal [illegible] Dynamic balancing machine and an impact testing machine. Equipment has been added in the Hydraulics, Surveying and Welding Departments. A complete laboratory in Chemical Engineering has recently been installed. Many modern improvements have been made in the General Chemistry Department. Pictured on this page are a few of the latest additions to Villanova's laboratories.

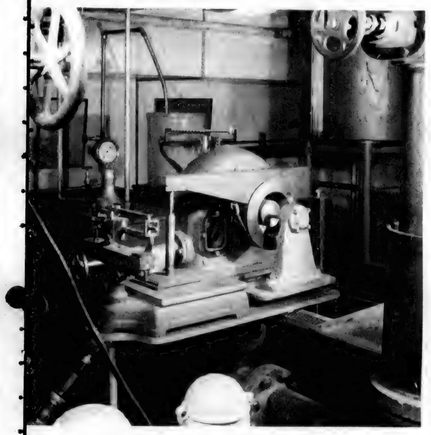
Microscopic examination of specimens.

Statically balancing the crank shaft of a six cylinder automobile engine.

HYDRAULICS:—A general view of the new Hydraulics Laboratory.



SURVEYING:—Sighting through a ten-second theodolite.



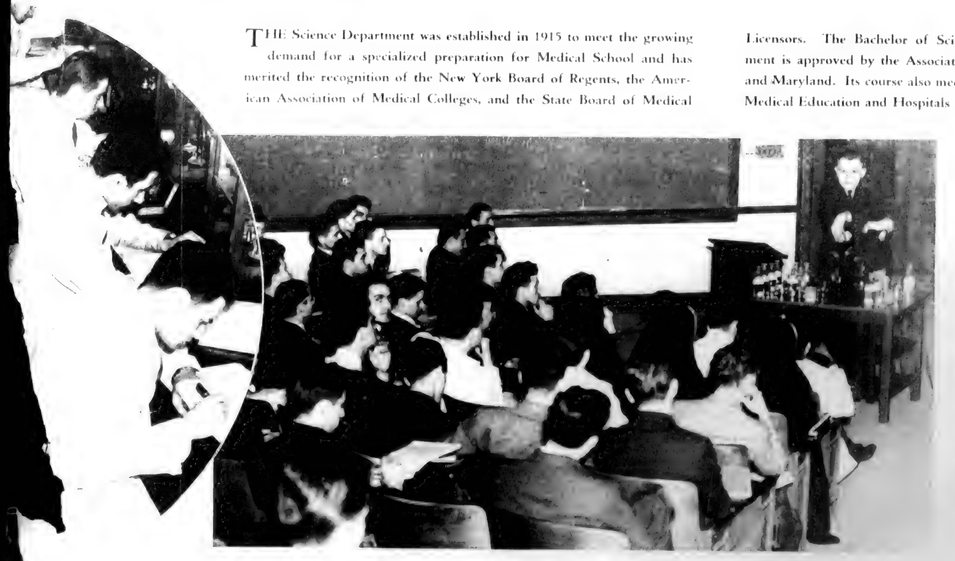
A view taken in the Hydraulics Laboratory showing the Pelton wheel with the Prony brake set up for a test.

Reaction turbine and wier box, showing manual control of wicket gates.

WELDING:—A student making a bronze welding for a cast iron floor plate.

Science

THE Science Department was established in 1915 to meet the growing demand for a specialized preparation for Medical School and has merited the recognition of the New York Board of Regents, the American Association of Medical Colleges, and the State Board of Medical Licensors. The Bachelor of Science degree offered by this Department is approved by the Association of Colleges of the Middle States and Maryland. Its course also meets the requirements of the Council of Medical Education and Hospitals of the American Medical Association.

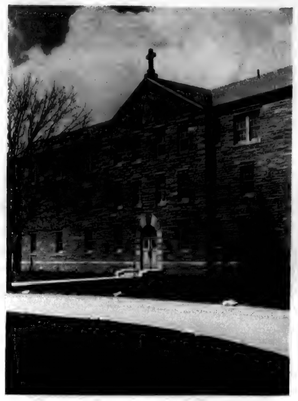


THE School of Science offers its students, besides an excellent scientific curriculum, a well-balanced and broad course. In addition to lectures in General Biology; Bacteriology; Comparative and Human Anatomy; Embryology; Genetics; Physics; Physiology; Inorganic, Physiological, Organic and Physical Chemistry; Histology and others; a course of Immunology, taught by the Dean, a specialist in this field, is also offered. Left:—A lecture in Chemistry by Doctor Haenisch. For recitation periods these lecture groups are broken into groups of no more than twenty students.

BIOLOGY:—Students viewing the wonders of nature through the microscope. Every student in Science has a microscope assigned to his use.

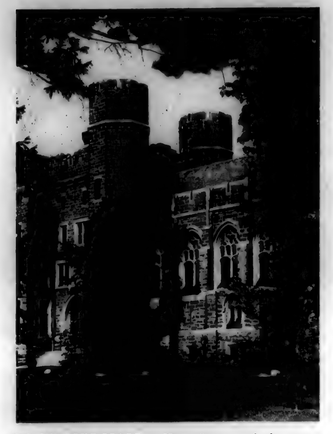
MICROSCOPES:—A section of the cabinets holding the microscopes used by the students in the Science Department.

ALUMNI HALL:—A Freshman dormitory.

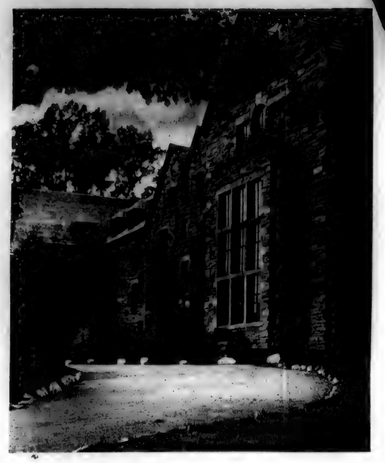


FEDIGAN HALL:—An Upper-class dormitory.

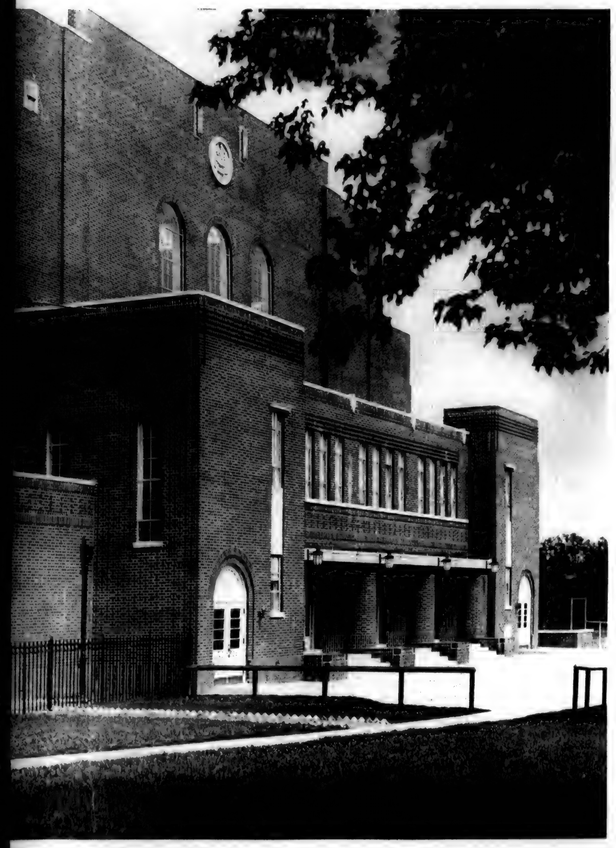
MENDEL HALL:—he Administration Building



ST. MARY'S HALL:—Dormitory and classroom facilities for Ecclesiastical students.



AUSTIN HALL:—An Upper-class dormitory.



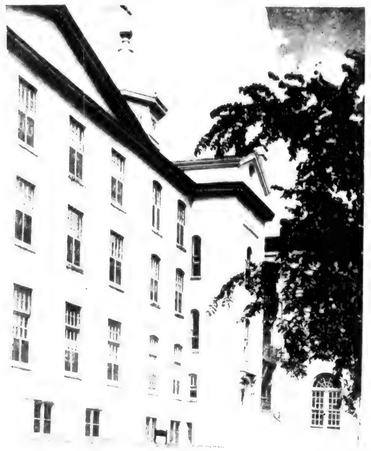
GYMNASIUM:—Field House, Auditorium and Swimming Pool.

COMMERCE AND FINANCE BUILDING:—Lecture rooms for Commerce and Finance Students.

Campus Scenes

THE Campus of one hundred and sixty acres in one of the most beautiful and wealthy residential sections in America, is among the showplaces in the Philadelphia district. The buildings are eleven in number, and include Mendel Hall, the Administration Building; Fedigan Hall, Austin Hall, Alumni Hall, St. Mary's Hall, St. Rita's Hall, Student Dormitories; Monastery Hall; College Chapel; Commerce and Finance Building; Gymnasium; Swimming Pool and Stadium.

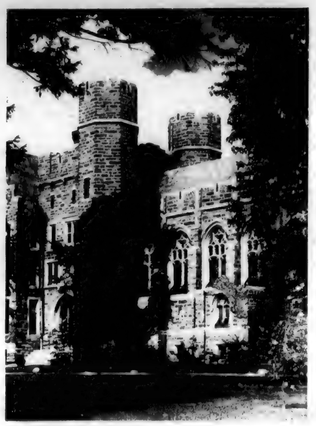
THE Campus is situated on the "Main Line" of the Pennsylvania Railroad, six miles west of Philadelphia City Limits. Excellent train service brings one to Villanova from Central Philadelphia in twenty-five minutes; from New York in two hours; from Washington in three hours.



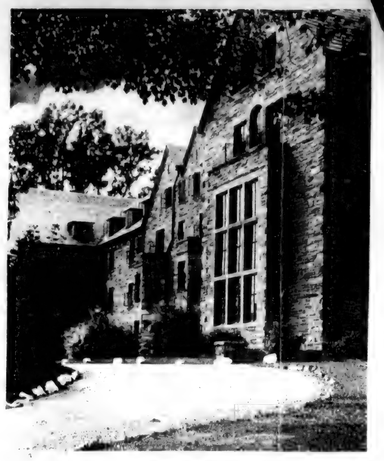
ALUMNI HALL:—A Freshman dormitory.

FEDIGAN HALL:—An Upper-class dormitory.

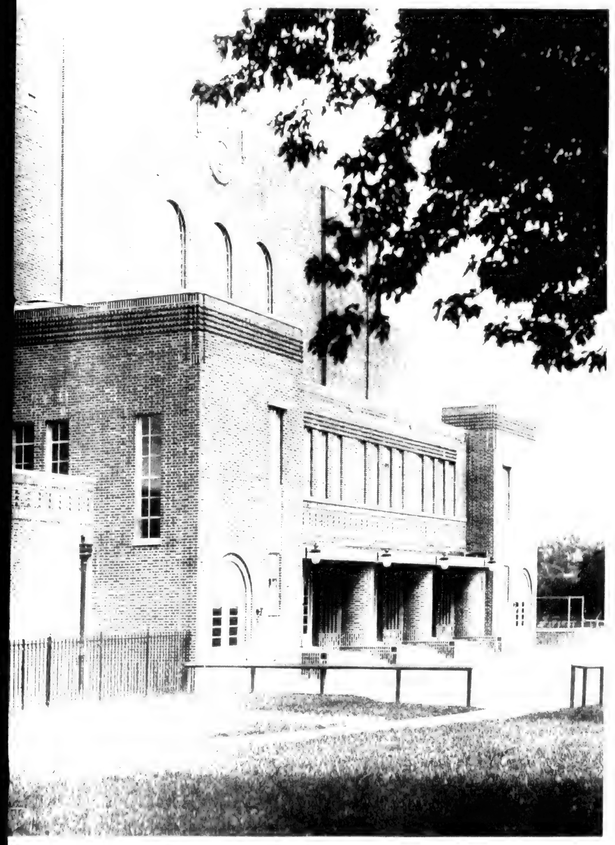
MENDEL HALL:—he Administration Building



ST. MARY'S HALL:—Dormitory and classroom facilities for Ecclesiastical students.



AUSTIN HALL:—An Upper-class dormitory.

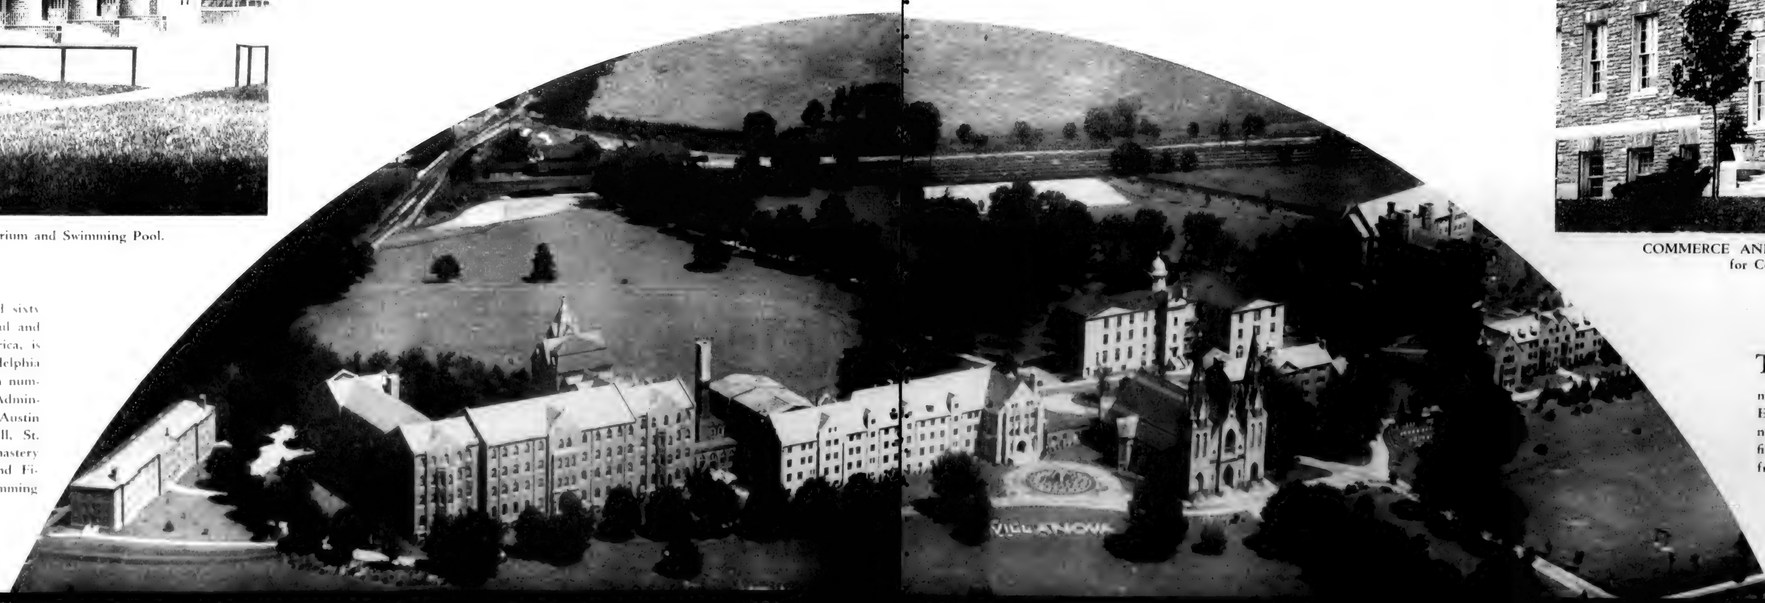


GYMNASIUM:—Field House, Auditorium and Swimming Pool.

COMMERCE AND FINANCE BUILDING:—Lecture rooms for Commerce and Finance Students.

Campus Scenes

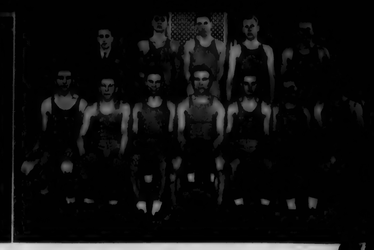
THE Campus of one hundred and sixty acres in one of the most beautiful and wealthy residential sections in America, is among the showplaces in the Philadelphia district. The buildings are eleven in number, and include Mendel Hall, the Administration Building; Fedigan Hall, Austin Hall, Alumni Hall, St. Mary's Hall, St. Rita's Hall, Student Dormitories; Monastery Hall; College Chapel; Commerce and Finance Building; Gymnasium; Swimming Pool and Stadium.



THE Campus is situated on the "Main Line" of the Pennsylvania Railroad, six miles west of Philadelphia City Limits. Excellent train service brings one to Villanova from Central Philadelphia in twenty-five minutes; from New York in two hours; from Washington in three hours.

Gymnasium facilities include bowling, wrestling and billiards among others and help to diversify the intra-mural program.

Mendel Residents

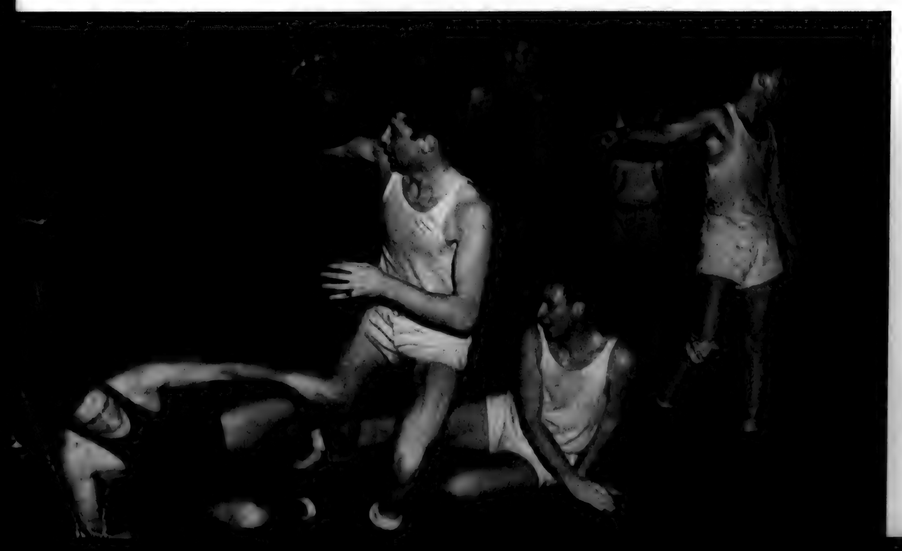


Alumni Hall

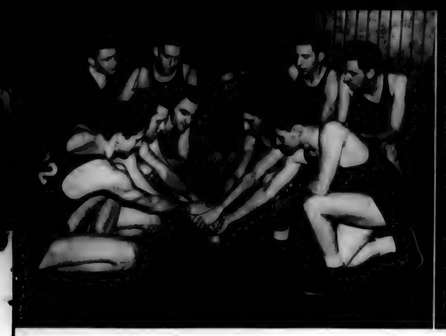
Sports For All

THE Intra-Mural program at Villanova includes the following competitive activities: Basketball, Baseball, Softball, Amateur Night, Boxing, Wrestling, Swimming, Golf, Tennis, Bowling, and Touch Football. There are six teams in the intra-mural league. Four of these teams represent students living on the campus, while the other two teams represent off-campus students. Over sixty per cent of the student body participates actively in the various phases of the intra-mural program.

Murphy of Fedigan nipping Burns of Alumni at the plate.

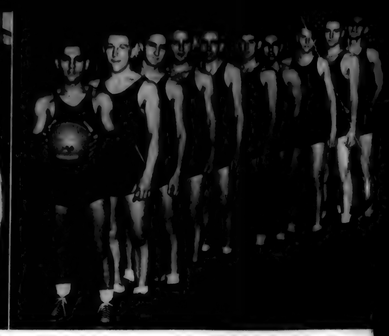


BASKETBALL is the kingpin of intra-mural sports as it has the most extensive season, and occupies the attention of the greatest number of students. The present season of 1938-39 was outstanding for the fine brand of basketball displayed, and its closely contested games. Villanova's "Hank Luisettis" started the season when Fedigan defeated Austin. In this game, the Fediganites stamped themselves as important contenders for the championship. Fedigan went on to win the first half crown without the loss of a game. The C. & F. students with a fast, tall and powerful team, outclassed the rest of the field to win second half honors and qualify for the play-offs. In the play-offs, Fedigan took the first game, but lost the second encounter. The final game of this hectic play-off was won by the C. & F. Club. Some of the strenuous action of the final game of the play-offs appears on the left.



Fedigan Hall

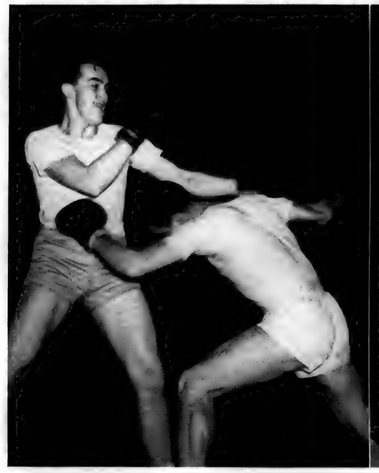
Mendel Day Students

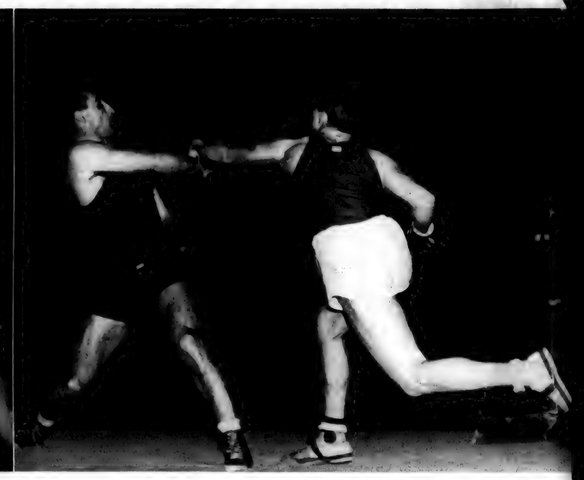


Austin Hall

• VC •

BOXING:—After the Christmas vacation, the cream of the Intra-mural leather pushers battled through sixteen fast and furious bouts to decide the championships. The Intra-mural boxing show was given much advance publicity but none predicted the fine showing that was witnessed by the capacity crowd in the Field House. Alumni Hall boxers, besides securing a few black eyes and sore noses, won the boxing crown for the second consecutive year. Austin was runner-up. Right: Brennan of Austin landing a blow to the mid-section of Schreck, Mendel Hall. Piscione of Austin blocking a hay-maker from Bushek, Alumni Hall.



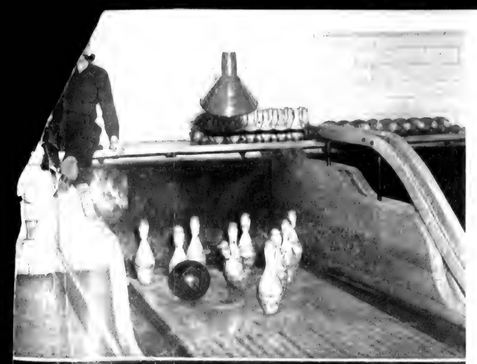


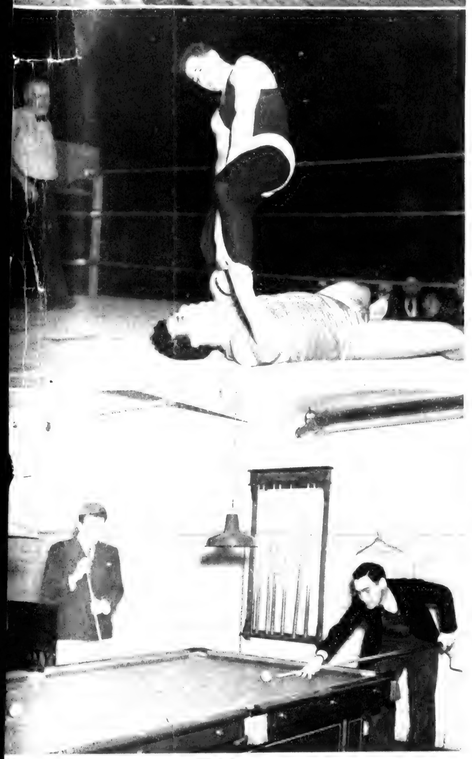
• VC •

BASEBALL:—With the coming of spring, Baseball takes the limelight in the Intra-mural program.

• VC •

AMATEUR NIGHT:—Representatives from each dormitory and the off-campus groups presented fine talent in vocalization, impersonations and dramatic productions for one of the most jubilant and amusing affairs of the year. Austin Hall's football beauties displayed a fine fashion show to capture top honors. Fedigan swung through some fancy capers to take second place. Mendel residents, Mendel off-campus students, Alumni Hall and Commerce and Finance off-campus students finished in respective order. Right: Assortment of Amateur Night Hi-Jinks.





Gymnasium facilities include bowling, wrestling and billiards among others and help to diversify the intra-mural program.

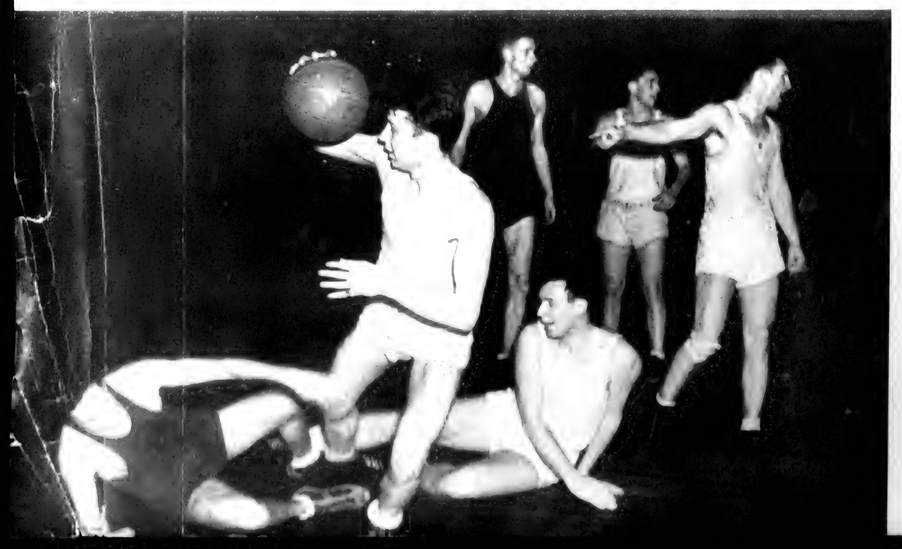
Mendel Residents

Alumni Hall

Sports For All

THE Intra-Mural program at Villanova includes the following competitive activities: Basketball, Baseball, Softball, Amateur Night, Boxing, Wrestling, Swimming, Golf, Tennis, Bowling, and Touch Football. There are six teams in the intra-mural league. Four of these teams represent students living on the campus, while the other two teams represent off-campus students. Over sixty per cent of the student body participates actively in the various phases of the intra-mural program.

Murphy of Fedigan nipping Burns of Alumni at the plate.



BASKETBALL is the kingpin of intra-mural sports as it has the most extensive season, and occupies the attention of the greatest number of students. The present season of 1938-39 was outstanding for the fine brand of basketball displayed, and its closely contested games. Villanova's "Hank Luisettis" started the season when Fedigan defeated Austin. In this game, the Fediganites stamped themselves as important contenders for the championship. Fedigan went on to win the first half crown without the loss of a game. The C. & F. students with a fast, tall and powerful team, outclassed the rest of the field to win second half honors and qualify for the play-offs. In the play-offs, Fedigan took the first game, but lost the second encounter. The final game of this hectic play-off was won by the C. & F. Club. Some of the strenuous action of the final game of the play-offs appears on the left.

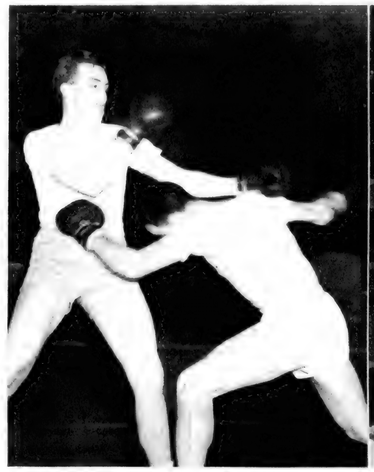
Fedigan Hall

Mendel Day Students

Austin Hall

• VC •

BOXING:—After the Christmas vacation, the cream of the Intra-mural leather pushers battled through sixteen fast and furious bouts to decide the championships. The Intra-mural boxing show was given much advance publicity but none predicted the fine showing that was witnessed by the capacity crowd in the Field House. Alumni Hall boxers, besides securing a few black eyes and sore noses, won the boxing crown for the second consecutive year. Austin was runner-up. Right: Brennan of Austin landing a blow to the mid-section of Schreck, Mendel Hall. Piscione of Austin blocking a hay-maker from Bushek, Alumni Hall.

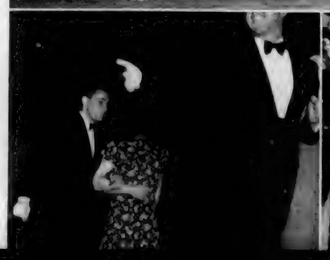


• VC •

BASEBALL:—With the coming of spring, Baseball takes the limelight in the Intra-mural program.

• VC •

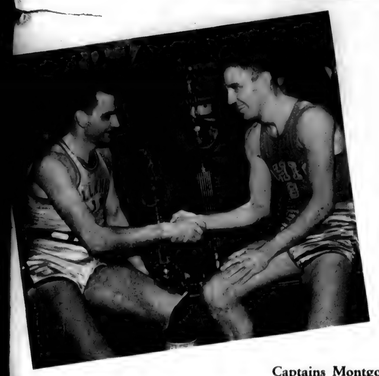
AMATEUR NIGHT:—Representatives from each dormitory and the off-campus groups presented fine talent in vocalization, impersonations and dramatic productions for one of the most jubilant and amusing affairs of the year. Austin Hall's football beauties displayed a fine fashion show to capture top honors. Fedigan swung through some fancy capers to take second place. Mendel residents, Mendel off-campus students, Alumni Hall and Commerce and Finance off-campus students finished in respective order. Right: Assortment of Amateur Night Hi-Jinks.



Villanova's Varsity Teams

THE exceptionally high calibre of Villanova's varsity athletic teams is evidenced by the national prominence they have attained in the past few years. A striking example of this renown is the Blue and White football team. Undefeated in the past two seasons, they are ranked by experts among the really great elevens of the United States. The 1938 edition of gridders, the famous "undefeated and uninvited" eleven, had only a tie with South Carolina to mar an otherwise perfect record. In 1937 the pigskin bearers, tied by Auburn, went to California and defeated Loyola in a post-season encounter. Left: All-American John Wysocki scoring in Temple game.

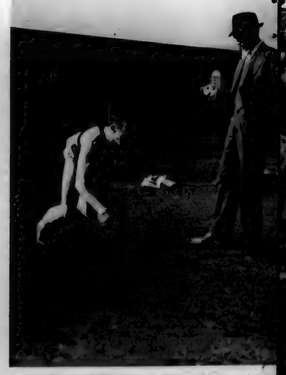
Captain Jimmy Dwyer



OPENING their season with twelve straight wins, the Wildcat dribblers continued through a 25 game schedule to list as their victims such highly rated quintets as Roanoke, St. Francis, New York University, C.C.N.Y., Lehigh, Baltimore, and Brown. In all, the basketeers suffered five losses, four of these being to mid-western teams, and the fifth to the crack St. John's of Brooklyn outfit. Such a record against Eastern opponents earned the courtmen the selection as Middle Atlantic District representative in the National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament. In this tourney they reached the semi-finals by a decisive 42-30 victory over Brown University. Their quest for a national title ended, however, with the loss to Ohio State in the Eastern finals by a 53-36 score. The Ohio State team, led by Captain Jimmie Hull who established an individual scoring mark for the University of Pennsylvania Palestra in the game; Illinois, DePaul and Loyola, both of Chicago, are the four Mid-Western fives who bested the Blue and White.

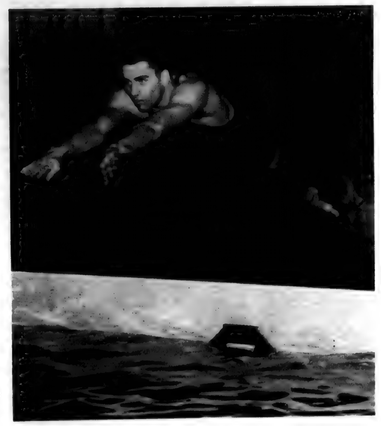
Captains Montgomery of Villanova and Hull of Ohio State.

Donald McGurk, 150 lb. "All-American."



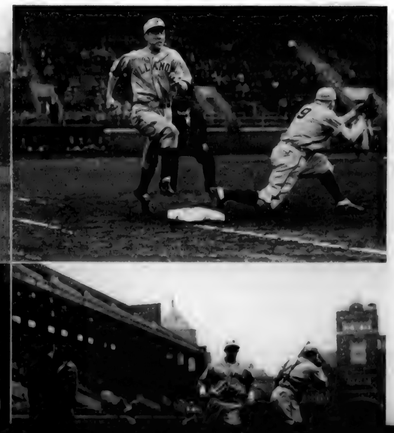
Coach Elliot and John Maher, Sprint Star

SWIMMING, boxing, tennis, and golf are varsity sports at Villanova. This year Walter Kelley's sensational swimming netted him a national A.A.U. title, and recognition as one of the East's beat sprinters. Defeated on only one occasion, he holds pool records galore both here and other schools. Co-Captains Billy Duffy (pictured) and Eddie Kirk had fine boxing seasons this year. Others who shined for the Gadsby squad are John Nojunas and Bobby Mentzinger. On the tennis court Villanova meets some of the highest brand of competition. Brooklyn College, Manhattan, and Temple are among the better teams the Wildcat netters meet. Captain Jimmy Dwyer, who never goes far over par, leads the golfers in their campaigns.



Walter Kelley, Swim Star.

Coach Gadsby and Bill Duffy.



SPRING, on the Villanova Campus, brings with it baseball, the most traditional of all Villanova sports. Since 1869, when the first Villanova nine took the field, this school has sent more players into organized baseball than any other college. It was in 1895 that Villanova first assumed prominence when they outscored a Manhattan team that had never before been beaten on their home grounds. Present day Wildcat nines have a schedule as much top-flight as any in the country, and are well known for the fine quality of their play.

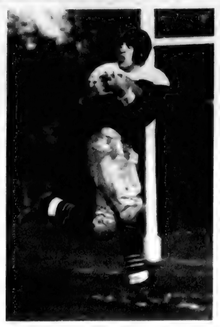
Villanova's Varsity Teams

THE exceptionally high calibre of Villanova's varsity athletic teams is evidenced by the national prominence they have attained in the past few years. A striking example of this renown is the Blue and White football team. Undefeated in the past two seasons, they are ranked by experts among the really great elevens of the United States. The 1938 edition of gridders, the famous "undefeated and uninvited" eleven, had only a tie with South Carolina to mar an otherwise perfect record. In 1937 the pigskin bearers, tied by Auburn, went to California and defeated Loyola in a post-season encounter. Left: All-American John Wysocki scoring in Temple game.

Captain Jimmy Dwyer

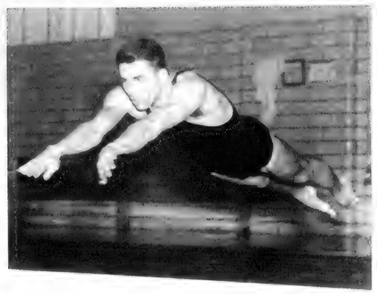
OPENING their season with twelve straight wins, the Wildcat dribblers continued through a 25 game schedule to list as their victims such highly rated quintets as Roanoke, St. Francis, New York University, C.C.N.Y., Lehigh, Baltimore, and Brown. In all, the basketeers suffered five losses, four of these being to mid-western teams, and the fifth to the crack St. John's of Brooklyn outfit. Such a record against Eastern opponents earned the courtmen the selection as Middle Atlantic District representative in the National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament. In this tourney they reached the semi-finals by a decisive 42-30 victory over Brown University. Their quest for a national title ended, however, with the loss to Ohio State in the Eastern finals by a 53-36 score. The Ohio State team, led by Captain Jimmie Hull who established an individual scoring mark for the University of Pennsylvania Palestra in the game; Illinois, DePaul and Loyola, both of Chicago, are the four Mid-Western fives who bested the Blue and White.

Captains Montgomery of Villanova and Hull of Ohio State.



Donald McGurk, 150 lb. "All-American."

SWIMMING, boxing, tennis, and golf are varsity sports at Villanova. This year Walter Kelley's sensational swimming netted him a national A.A.U. title, and recognition as one of the East's beat sprinters. Defeated on only one occasion, he holds pool records galore both here and other schools. Co-Captains Billy Duffy (pictured) and Eddie Kirk had fine boxing seasons this year. Others who shined for the Gadsby squad are John Nojunas and Bobby Mentzinger. On the tennis court Villanova meets some of the highest brand of competition. Brooklyn College, Manhattan, and Temple are among the better teams the Wildcat netters meet. Captain Jimmy Dwyer, who never goes far over par, leads the golfers in their campaigns.



Walter Kelley, Swim Star.

Coach Gadsby and Bill Duffy.

Coach Elliot and John Maher, Sprint Star

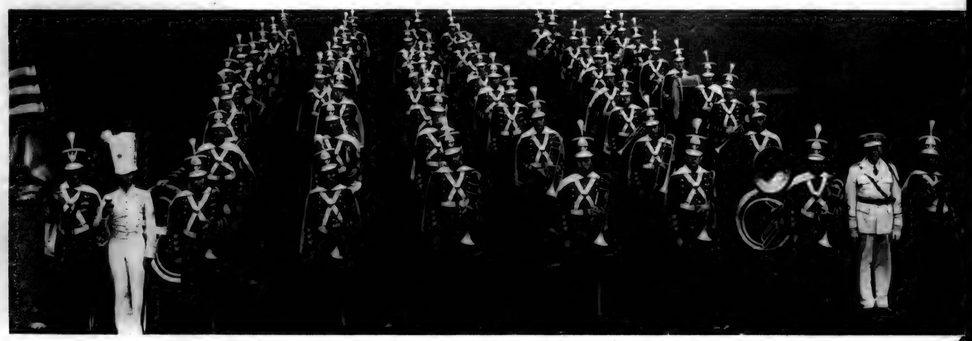
SPRING, on the Villanova Campus, brings with it baseball, the most traditional of all Villanova sports. Since 1869, when the first Villanova nine took the field, this school has sent more players into organized baseball than any other college. It was in 1895 that Villanova first assumed prominence when they outscored a Manhattan team that had never before been beaten on their home grounds. Present day Wildcat nines have a schedule as much top-flight as any in the country, and are well known for the fine quality of their play.

Extra-Curricular Activities

DEBATING:—Villanova debaters have travelled far and wide doing verbal battle with outstanding collegiate teams of the country. Both Freshman and varsity teams have gained much forensic experience in their verbal encounters in classroom, town hall, and radio.

SANCTUARY SOCIETY:—Campus religious organizations include the Sanctuary Society, pictured above, the Holy Name Society, Catholic Press Apostolate.

DEBATER:—Individual tutoring in public speaking is a necessary part of instruction in the curriculum of all students.



MUSIC:—Villanova's musical organizations include the Band, Glee Club, Symphonic Band, "Villanovans," student dance band, and Music Club. These organizations enlist the musical services of over one hundred and fifty students. Individual tutoring has enabled these musical groups to become leaders in their field.

• VC •

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES:—The Junior Promenade, Senior and Sophomore dances are the major socials of the year. The Senior "Belle Air" Ball and the Junior Prom are the outstanding social functions. Fraternity events, dances of the various classes, dinners for the different publication staffs are among the minor social activities. The leading bands of the nation furnish music for the Senior Ball and Junior Prom. Such outstanding orchestra leaders as Hal Kemp, Tommy Dorsey, Glen Gray, Will Osborne, Ozzie Nelson, Jan Garber and Isham Jones have contributed to the success of Villanova's social events. These affairs are held in the spacious field house which lends itself to effective decorative schems.

RIGHT:—The 1938 Belle Air Ball in full swing to the music of Leith Stevens and his Columbia Swing Club Band.

VILLANOVAN

Vol. 11—No. 23 | VILLANOVA, PA., TUESDAY, MAY 9, 1939 | N. A. S. Z-660

H. MURPHY ELECTED PRESIDENT, SKELLY VICE-PRES. IN P. K. P.

Abbott Chosen Treasurer, Maley, Secretary; Kelly, Keating Also Successful

Harold Murphy was elected president of the Phi Kappa Pi, engineer fraternity, at the elections held on May 3. At the same time, John J. Skelly became vice president, Frank Abbott, treasurer, and Thomas Maley, secretary. The fraternity chose Walter Kelly as its representative to the Student Council and Daniel Keating as its sargeant at arms. The tenure of all these offices is one year.

The new officers will be formally inducted in their positions at the annual P. K. P. dinner-dance on May 17 at the Llanerch Country Club.

In the design of the keys given each year to its graduating members a rather unique effect will be in evidence as there will be an emerald in each of the owl's eyes (the owl is the fraternity insignia) and the seal will be on a purple enamel background.

These keys will be presented to the following students at the dinner-dance: Leo B. Bicher, John W. Burke, James J. Carroll, Anthony J. Cirrito, Edward M. Conneen, Cyril E. Daly, John C. Linsley, Robert J. Mattis, Frank J. Mozzi, Joseph J. Quinn, Thomas J. Schaedler, Frederick Welty, Edward A. Ritti, Alexander J. Kristaponis, John B. Gehman, A. John Malaspina, Raymond A. Sheik, and Edward W. Glass.

The list of those nominated for the offices filled on May 3 is: for president, Edward Cierkowski, Allen Brown, John Hock, and Harold Murphy; for vice president, Hyman Malkin, Edward J. Kelly, John J. Skelly, and James Flood;

Continued on Page Four

JUNIORS MAY STILL ORDER CLASS RINGS

Frank Pimpinella Makes Special Arrangements for Students Securing Rings Later

Juniors desirous of obtaining class rings and who have not yet placed orders may obtain them by ordering before September 1, 1939.

To avoid any difficulty or inconvenience, Frank Pimpinella, chairman of the ring committee, has made special arrangements.

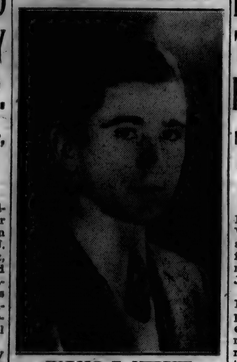
Orders will be taken by Pimpinella until May 15. The deposits and balances on the rings may be paid before the students leave for the summer vacation; if this is done, the C. O. D. charges on the rings will be eliminated. In all cases, the ring will be mailed to the purchaser, since it takes approximately four weeks to manufacture them.

To take care of orders placed after May 15, Pimpinella is sending a list of the remaining juniors to the manufacturer, Loren Murchinson and Company, Inc., 40 Clinton St., Newark, N. J. The list is an authorization that such juniors may have their rings by dealing directly with the company. The expiration date of the contract is September 1. After this all negotiations close.

The manufacturer will send price lists, order blanks, and other information to those juniors who write to them during the vacation. Those who do not order from Pimpinella before May 15 will have to pay C. O. D. and postage charges when the ring arrives at the purchaser's home.

If any junior needs further information during the summer, Pimpinella will be glad to help him if the junior will write to him at his home address, 60 Clinton Ave., [illegible]

P. K. P. President



HAROLD F. MURPHY

CONTEST TO DECIDE VALEDICTORIAN POST

Various Deans Choose Men in Their Respective Schools to Compete

Rev. Bernard M. Albers, dean of men, announced today that Thomas Delate, Paul Juergens, Bernard Miller, John Urie, A. Norman Klein, Frederick Waters, Frederick Welty, and Leo Bicher are eligible to compete for the honor of valedictorian.

These men have been chosen by the deans of the various schools in view of scholastic ability, moral character and conscientious spirit of cooperation exhibited in the four years spent at Villanova.

The date of the oratorical elimination contests has been set for May 11, at 1 P. M. in the Commerce and Finance auditorium. The procedure of the elimination will be modeled after that of previous years. Each man will be given an opportunity to speak on a topic which he has selected. He will be judged according to style of presentation and other qualities necessary in a valedictorian.

Mr. Frayne who is in charge of the contest has not yet released the names of the judges.

MOREHOUSE IS A. S. M. E. OFFICER

Dean of Engineering School Elected Secretary-Treasurer of Local Branch

Mr. J. Stanley Morehouse, M. S., acting dean of the School of Engineering, was elected Secretary-Treasurer of the Philadelphia branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers at their monthly meeting on April 25.

In this position, Mr. Morehouse will have charge of most of the details of the annual national meeting of the society which will be held in Philadelphia next December. This will be the first time in its fifty years that the organization has had this meeting outside New York.

The American Society of Mechanical Engineers is the blue ribbon group in its field. Members are college graduates with at least four years practical experience, and among these are the outstanding engineering executives and teachers of the country.

TIME EXTENDED

An extension of time has been granted in the Catholic Authors contest. May 15 is the new date for final entries in the annual contest for which a prize is given at commencement. The former deadline was May 10. Entries should be given to Rev. John J. McShea, O. S. A., directing the contest.

LAWRENCE ALUMNUS TO RECEIVE DEGREE FOR MUNICIPAL WORK

Mayor Known for Economy Which Allowed Same City Wage Level

Walter A Griffin, of Lawrence, Mass., and of the class of 1924 of Villanova, will receive the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from Villanova College at the Annual Commencement on Thursday, June 8.

This was announced Saturday by Rev. E. V. Stanford, O.S.A., president of the college, who stated that "Mayor Griffin is being recognized for outstanding achievements in civic affairs during his three successive terms of office as chief executive of Lawrence."

Mayor Griffin, who attended the engineering school at Villanova, was elected Licensing Commissioner of Lawrence in 1928 at the age of 27 and held this position for five years. Chosen Mayor of Lawrence in 1933, Mr. Griffin was re-elected in 1935 and again in 1937.

During his administration the city of Lawrence has constructed a new city hospital and infirmary for the aged, two municipal swimming pools, a new filtration plant and water basin, a new fire house, municipal airport, twelve new bridges, and a city-owned parking area adjacent to the business district.

Mayor Griffin's management and rigid economy have made possible the restoration of full salaries to all civic employes who had previously been cut fifteen percent.

Besides his activities within the confines of Lawrence Griffin has also taken action in state and national affairs. It was he who led the fight of the textile communities of New England against the reciprocal trade treaty with Great Britain. The mayor started agi-

Continued on Page Four

FRAT TO INDUCT LEADERS MAY 11

Twenty-one Seniors Receive Keys at Dance This Year

Culminating its activities for the year, the Lambda Kappa Delta fraternity will elect the officers for the coming year at its next meeting Thursday evening, May 11.

Chas. Martin and Harry Taylor, junior science men, were nominated for the presidential post at the last meeting of the fraternity.

Other members who were nominated for fraternity official posts are: Joseph Clarken and Robert Kiley, sophomores in the School of Science; for the vice presidency, Joseph S. Santaniello and Joseph Camarda, also sophomores; for treasurer; Eugene Nelson and Joseph Kooh, freshmen in the School of Science, for the post of secretary; Alfred Bongiovanni and Peter Hanlon, juniors, for Student Council, and Francis Thomas, for sergeant at arms.

Twenty-one seniors were presented with the gold and onyx fraternity keys by John C. Urie, president of the fraternity, during the past week. These keys are conferred annually upon the graduating members. The fraternity pins for those members who requested them have been secured by Martin Kassell, senior in the Science School.

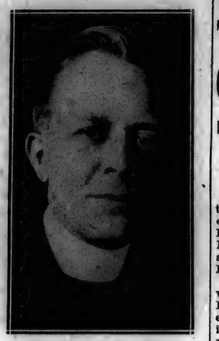
JUNIOR NOMINATION DATE

Nominations for Class of 1940 offices will be held tomorrow in the amphitheatre at 1 o'clock under the auspices of the Student Council.

Offices to be filled are those of president, vice president, treasurer, secretary, and two positions on the Student Council. The election will not take place until next Monday, May 15.

The present members of the Student Council are requested by Frank Mozzi, chairman, to attend a meeting on Wednesday, May 10.

Sociology Speaker



—Bachrach.

REV. RAYMOND A. McGOWAN

CITY ALUMNI HOLD WELCOMING AFFAIR

Seniors to be Guests of Grads at Dance, Reception May 19

The fourth annual dance and reception to be sponsored by the Villanova Club of Philadelphia at the Philadelphia Cricket Club in Chestnut Hill on Friday, May 19, will welcome the members of the Class 1939. The primary purpose of this function is to acquaint the graduates with the Villanova alumni.

Joseph J. Linsalata, '35, who is chairman of the dance for the second time since its inauguration in 1936 by the club, said that this affair will surpass all the others because it is no longer an experiment but an annual activity of the alumni organization.

Those serving on the committee with Mr. Linsalata are Thomas Kennedy, '37, Aloysius Fitzpatrick, '37, Charles McCough, '35, William Murtha, 33, James A. Carr, '34, Dominick A. Pascucci, '38, Joseph Gaynor, '32, Daniel Murphy, '36, Edward V. Flynn, '35 and Bartolomeo A. Passanante, 39. Mr. Pass-

Continued on Page Eight

S.P.E.E. MAY MEET HERE FOR 1942

Dean of Engineering Invited Electrical Group to Visit Villanova Centennial

An invitation to have its Fall meeting here during the college's centennial in 1942 was offered to the Middle Atlantic section of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education by Mr. J. Stanley Morehouse, M.S., Acting Dean of the engineering school, at the Spring meeting of the group at Swarthmore College last Saturday.

The S. P. E. E. has members in every engineering school in the country, and 300 representatives from more than 35 schools were present at Swarthmore. Action on the Villanova invitation will be taken later, but it is thought that it will be accepted, and that the '42 meeting will be a feature in the engineering school's celebration of the centennial.

Eight members of the Villanova engineering faculty were at the meeting last Saturday. Besides Mr. Morehouse, Mr. Emil Amelotti, M.S., Mr. William J. Barber, M.S., Mr. Harry S. Bueche, M.S., E.E., Mr. William G. Driscoll, M. S., Dr. Edward L. Haenisch and Mr. William Haltenberger, Jr., M.S., attended.

CULTURE TESTS

Culture tests will be given to Arts and Education students sometime within the next few weeks. This announcement was made by Dr. William H. McHugh, head of the Department of Education.

VILLANOVA COLLEGE TO SPONSOR COUNCIL ON SOCIAL ISSUES

Rev. R. McGowan to Discuss "Message of the Encyclicals" at Student Symposium

A symposium considering "Christian Social Reconstruction" will be conducted by the Social Science Department of Villanova College, May 15. It will be held in the auditorium of the Commerce and Finance biulding at 3:00 o'clock.

Commemorating the 48th anniversary of Pope Leo XIII's Great Encyclical on Labor and the eighth anniversary of Quadragesimo Anno, the symposium will present Rev. R. A. McGowan, Assistant Director, Dept. of Social Action of the N. C. W. C. as its principal speaker. Fr. McGowan will give "The Message of the Encyclicals" bringing forth the amplification of Rerum Novarum by Quadragesimo Anno. He will explain how the people of the world are directed to avoid the extremes of Communism and Fascism thereby helping to bring about better living conditions for men.

In addition to Fr. McGowan's address there will be two other talks; one on "Labor and the Encyclicals," given by Robert Barrett; the second on "A Living Wage," to be delivered by B. A. Passanante.

A round table discussions will follow on "The New Deal and the Program of the Encyclicals." William Ward, John Pillion, Norman Klein, Witold Krzywicki and Charles Martin, will compose the group, which will examine the similarities and differences between the New Deal Legislation and the writings of the Popes. All of these students are seniors with the exception of Charles Martin, a junior.

The symposium will terminate with a general discussion by the

Continued on Page Eight

SMUTTY LITERATURE CENSURED BY PRESS

Youthful Delinquency Blamed on Current Wave of Immoral Publications

The Philadelphia Chapter of the Catholic College Press Association, meeting at Rosemont College, last Sunday, pledged its support to a campaign against indecent literature.

Colleges present were Chestnut Hill, Villanova, Rosemont, St. Joseph's, La Salle and Immaculata.

The students held that freedom of the press cannot be confused with license. Youthful delinquency was traced to a current wave of immoral publications.

"The peddling of smut to America in the name of art" was denounced. "Owing to the pernicious influence of indecent literature," art was seen as "divorced from beauty and associated with all that appeals to the lower faculties."

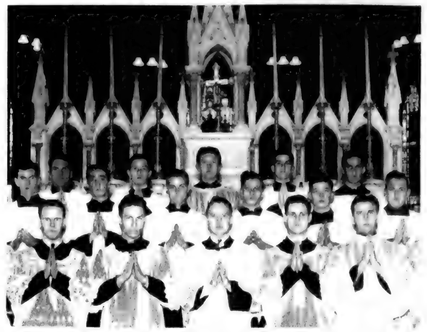
Advocating a list of the worst offenders to be circulated throughout the colleges, the students urged an to boycott the names appearing on this list. They also promised their support and co-operation to the drive sponsored by the National Organization for Decent Literature.

DIGEST PHOTO CONTEST

Winning photographs in the second annual collegiate photography contest are featured in this week's edition of Collegiate Digest Villanova students are invited to enter their best pictures in next year's competition, the deadline for which will be about March 1, 1940.

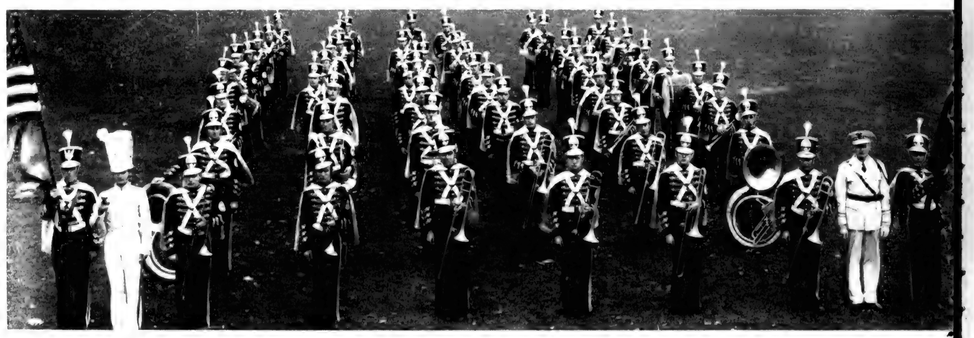
Extra-Curricular Activities

DEBATING:—Villanova debaters have travelled far and wide doing verbal battle with outstanding collegiate teams of the country. Both Freshman and varsity teams have gained much forensic experience in their verbal encounters in classroom, town hall, and radio.



SANCTUARY SOCIETY:—Campus religious organizations include the Sanctuary Society, pictured above, the Holy Name Society, Catholic Press Apostolate.

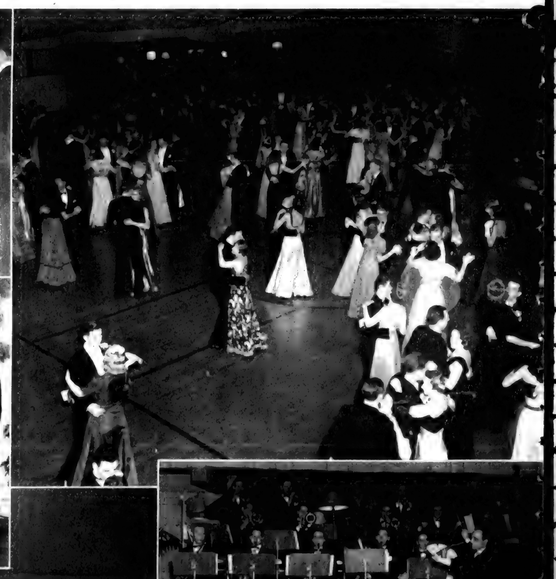
DEBATER:—Individual tutoring in public speaking is a necessary part of instruction in the curriculum of all students.



MUSIC:—Villanova's musical organizations include the Band, Glee Club, Symphonic Band, "Villanovans," student dance band, and Music Club. These organizations enlist the musical services of over one hundred and fifty students. Individual tutoring has enabled these musical groups to become leaders in their field.

• VC •

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES:—The Junior Promenade, Senior and Sophomore dances are the major socials of the year. The Senior "Belle Air" Ball and the Junior Prom are the outstanding social functions. Fraternity events, dances of the various classes, dinners for the different publication staffs are among the minor social activities. The leading bands of the nation furnish music for the Senior Ball and Junior Prom. Such outstanding orchestra leaders as Hal Kemp, Tommy Dorsey, Glen Gray, Will Osborne, Ozzie Nelson, Jan Garber and Isham Jones have contributed to the success of Villanova's social events. These affairs are held in the spacious field house which lends itself to effective decorative schems.



RIGHT:—The 1938 Belle Air Ball in full swing to the music of Leith Stevens and his Columbia Swing Club Band.

VILLANOVAN

Vol. 11—No. 23 | VILLANOVA, PA., TUESDAY, MAY 9, 1939 | N. A. S. Z-660

H. MURPHY ELECTED PRESIDENT, SKELLY VICE-PRES. IN P. K. P.

Abbott Chosen Treasurer, Maley, Secretary; Kelly, Keating Also Successful

Harold Murphy was elected president of the Phi Kappa Pi, engineer fraternity, at the elections held on May 3. At the same time, John J. Skelly became vice president, Frank Abbott, treasurer, and Thomas Maley, secretary. The fraternity chose Walter Kelly as its representative to the Student Council and Daniel Keating as its sargeant at arms. The tenure of all these offices is one year.

The new officers will be formally inducted in their positions at the annual P. K. P. dinner-dance on May 17 at the Llanerch Country Club.

In the design of the keys given each year to its graduating members a rather unique effect will be in evidence as there will be an emerald in each of the owl's eyes (the owl is the fraternity insignia) and the seal will be on a purple enamel background.

These keys will be presented to the following students at the dinner-dance: Leo B. Bicher, John W. Burke, James J. Carroll, Anthony J. Cirrito, Edward M. Conneen, Cyril E. Daly, John C. Linsley, Robert J. Mattis, Frank J. Mozzi, Joseph J. Quinn, Thomas J. Schaedler, Frederick Welty, Edward A. Ritti, Alexander J. Kristaponis, John B. Gehman, A. John Malaspina, Raymond A. Sheik, and Edward W. Glass.

The list of those nominated for the offices filled on May 3 is: for president, Edward Clerkowski, Allen Brown, John Heck, and Harold Murphy; for vice president, Hyman Malkin, Edward J. Kelly, John J. Skelly, and James Flood;

Continued on Page Four

JUNIORS MAY STILL ORDER CLASS RINGS

Frank Pimpinella Makes Special Arrangements for Students Securing Rings Later

Juniors desirous of obtaining class rings and who have not yet placed orders may obtain them by ordering before September 1, 1939.

To avoid any difficulty or inconvenience, Frank Pimpinella, chairman of the ring committee, has made special arrangements.

Orders will be taken by Pimpinella until May 15. The deposits and baiances on the rings may be paid before the students leave for the summer vacation; if this is done, the C. O. D. charges on the rings will be eliminated. In all cases, the ring will be mailed to the purchaser, since it takes approximately four weeks to manufacture them.

To take care of orders placed after May 15, Pimpinella is sending a list of the remaining juniors to the manufacturer, Loren Murchinson and Company, Inc., 40 Clinton St., Newark, N. J. The list is an authorization that such juniors may have their rings by dealing directly with the company. The expiration date of the contract is September 1. After this all negotiations close.

The manufacturer will send price lists, order blanks, and other information to those juniors who write to them during the vacation. Those who do not order from Pimpinella before May 15 will have to pay C. O. D. and postage charges when the ring arrives at the purchaser's home.

If any junior needs further information during the summer, Pimpinella will be glad to help him if the junior will write to him at his home address, 99 Clinton Ave., Stamford, Conn.

P. K. P. President

HAROLD F. MURPHY

CONTEST TO DECIDE VALEDICTORIAN POST

Various Deans Choose Men in Their Respective Schools to Compete

Rev. Bernard M. Albers, dean of men announced today that Thomas Delate, Paul Juergens, Bernard Miller, John Urie, A. Norman Klein, Frederick Waters, Frederick Welty, and Leo Bicher are eligible to compete for the honor of valedictorian.

These men have been chosen by the deans of the various schools in view of scholastic ability, moral character and conscientious spirit of cooperation exhibited in the four years spent at Villanova.

The date of the oratorical elimination contests has been set for May 11, at 1 P. M. in the Commerce and Finance auditorium. The procedure of the elimination will be modeled after that of previous years. Each man will be given an opportunity to speak on a topic which he has selected. He will be judged according to style of presentation and other qualities necessary in a valedictorian.

Mr. Frayne who is in charge of the contest has not yet released the names of the judges.

MOREHOUSE IS A. S. M. E. OFFICER

Dean of Engineering School Elected Secretary-Treasurer of Local Branch

Mr. J. Stanley Morehouse, M. S., acting dean of the School of Engineering, was elected Secretary-Treasurer of the Philadelphia branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers at their monthly meeting on April 25.

In this position, Mr. Morehouse will have charge of most of the details of the annual national meeting of the society which will be held in Philadelphia next December. This will be the first time in its fifty years that the organization has had this meeting outside New York.

The American Society of Mechanical Engineers is the blue ribbon group in its field. Members are college graduates with at least four years practical experience, and among these are the outstanding engineering executives and teachers of the country.

TIME EXTENDED

An extension of time has been granted in the Catholic Authors contest. May 15 is the new date for final entries in the annual contest for which a prize is given at commencement. The former deadline was May 10. Entries should be given to Rev. John J. McShea, O.S.A., directing the contest.

LAWRENCE ALUMNUS TO RECEIVE DEGREE FOR MUNICIPAL WORK

Mayor Known for Economy Which Allowed Same City Wage Level

Walter A Griffin, of Lawrence, Mass., and of the class of 1924 of Villanova, will receive the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from Villanova College at the Annual Commencement on Thursday, June 8.

This was announced Saturday by Rev. E. V. Stanford, O.S.A., president of the college, who stated that "Mayor Griffin is being recognized for outstanding achievements in civic affairs during his three successive terms of office as chief executive of Lawrence."

Mayor Griffin, who attended the engineering school at Villanova, was elected Licensing Commissioner of Lawrence in 1928 at the age of 27 and held this position for five years. Chosen Mayor of Lawrence in 1933, Mr. Griffin was re-elected in 1935 and again in 1937.

During his administration the city of Lawrence has constructed a new city hospital and infirmary for the aged, two municipal swimming pools, a new filtration plant and water basin, a new fire house, municipal airport, twelve new bridges, and a city-owned parking area adjacent to the business district.

Mayor Griffin's management and rigid economy have made possible the restoration of full salaries to all civic employes who had previously been cut fifteen percent.

Besides his activities within the confines of Lawrence Griffin has also taken action in state and national affairs. It was he who led the fight of the textile communities of New England against the reciprocal trade treaty with Great Britain. The mayor started agi-

Continued on Page Four

FRAT TO INDUCT LEADERS MAY 11

Twenty-one Seniors Receive Keys at Dance This Year

Culminating its activities for the year, the Lambda Kappa Delta fraternity will elect the officers for the coming year at its next meeting Thursday evening, May 11.

Chas. Martin and Harry Taylor, junior science men, were nominated for the presidential post at the last meeting of the fraternity.

Other members who were nominated for fraternity official posts are: Joseph Clarken and Robert Kiley, sophomores in the School of Science; for the vice presidency, Joseph S. Santaniello and Joseph Camarda, also sophomores; for treasurer; Eugene Nelson and Joseph Koch, freshmen in the School of Science, for the post of secretary; Alfred Bongiovanni and Peter Hanlon, juniore, for Student Council, and Francis Thomas, for sergeant at arms.

Twenty-one seniors were presented with the gold and onyx fraternity keys by John C. Urie, president of the fraternity, during the past week. These keys are conferred annually upon the graduating members. The fraternity pins for those members who requested them have been secured by Martin Kassell, senior in the Science School.

JUNIOR NOMINATION DATE

Nominations for Class of 1940 offices will be held tomorrow in the amphitheatre at 1 o'clock under the auspices of the Student Council.

Offices to be filled are those of president, vice president, treasurer, secretary, and two positions on the Student Council. The election will not take place until next Monday, May 15.

The present members of the Student Council are requested by Frank Mozzi, chairman, to attend a meeting on Wednesday, May 10.

Sociology Speaker

—Bachrach.

REV. RAYMOND A. McGOWAN

CITY ALUMNI HOLD WELCOMING AFFAIR

Seniors to be Guests of Grads at Dance, Reception May 19

The fourth annual dance and reception to be sponsored by the Villanova Club of Philadelphia at the Philadelphia Cricket Club in Chestnut Hill on Friday, May 19, will welcome the members of the Class 1939. The primary purpose of this function is to acquaint the graduates with the Villanova alumni.

Joseph J. Linsalata, '35, who is chairman of the dance for the second time since its inauguration in 1936 by the club, said that this affair will surpass all the others because it is no longer an experiment but an annual activity of the alumni organization.

Those serving on the committee with Mr. Linsalata are Thomas Kennedy, '37, Aloysius Fitzpatrick, '37, Charles McCough, '35, William Murtha, 33, James A. Carr, '34, Dominick A. Pascucci, '38, Joseph Gaynor, '32, Daniel Murphy, '36, Edward V. Flynn, '35 and Bartolomeo A. Passanante, 39. Mr. Fass-

Continued on Page Eight

S.P.E.E. MAY MEET HERE FOR 1942

Dean of Engineering Invited Electrical Group to Visit Villanova Centennial

An invitation to have its Fall meeting here during the college's centennial in 1942 was offered to the Middle Atlantic section of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education by Mr. J. Stanley Morehouse, M.S., Acting Dean of the engineering school, at the Spring meeting of the group at Swarthmore College last Saturday.

The S. P. E. E. has members in every engineering school in the country, and 300 representatives from more than 35 schools were present at Swarthmore. Action on the Villanova invitation will be taken later, but it is thought that it will be accepted, and that the '42 meeting will be a feature in the engineering school's celebration of the centennial.

Eight members of the Villanova engineering faculty were at the meeting last Saturday. Besides Mr. Morehouse, Mr. Emil Amelotti, M.S., Mr. William J. Barber, M.S., Mr. Harry S. Buesche, M.S., E.E., Mr. William G. Driscoll, M. S., Dr. Edward L. Haenisch and Mr. William Haltenberger, Jr., M.S., attended.

CULTURE TESTS

Culture tests will be given to Arts and Education students sometime within the next few weeks. This announcement was made by Dr. William H. McHugh, head of the Department of Education.

VILLANOVA COLLEGE TO SPONSOR COUNCIL ON SOCIAL ISSUES

Rev. R. McGowan to Discuss "Message of the Encyclicals" at Student Symposium

A symposium considering "Christian Social Reconstruction" will be conducted by the Social Science Department of Villanova College, May 15. It will be held in the auditorium of the Commerce and Finance biulding at 3:00 o'clock.

Commemorating the 48th anniversary of Pope Leo XIII's Great Encyclical on Labor and the eighth anniversary of Quadragesimo Anno, the symposium will present Rev. R. A. McGowan, Assistant Director, Dept. of Social Action of the N. C. W. C. as its principal speaker. Fr. McGowan will give "The Message of the Encyclicals" bringing forth the amplification of Rerum Novarum by Quadragesimo Anno. He will explain how the people of the world are directed to avoid the extremes of Communism and Fascism thereby helping to bring about better living conditions for men.

In addition to Fr. McGowan's address there will be two other talks; one on "Labor and the Encyclicals," given by Robert Barrett; the second on "A Living Wage," to be delivered by B. A. Passanante.

A round table discussions will follow on "The New Deal and the Program of the Encyclicals." William Ward, John Pillion, Norman Klein, Witold Krzywicki and Charles Martin, will compose the group, which will examine the similarities and differences between the New Deal Legislation and the writings of the Popes. All of these students are seniors with the exception of Charles Martin, a junior.

The symposium will terminate with a general discussion by the

Continued on Page Eight

SMUTTY LITERATURE CENSURED BY PRESS

Youthful Delinquency Blamed on Current Wave of Immoral Publications

The Philadelphia Chapter of the Catholic College Press Association, meeting at Rosemont College, last Sunday, pledged its support to a campaign against indecent literature.

Colleges present were Chestnut Hill, Villanova, Rosemont, St. Joseph's, La Salle and Immaculata.

The students held that freedom of the press cannot be confused with license. Youthful delinquency was traced to a current wave of immoral publications.

"The peddling of amut to America in the name of art" was denounced. "Owing to the pernicious influence of indecent literature," art was seen as "divorced from beauty and associated with all that appeals to the lower faculties."

Advocating a list of the worst offenders to be circulated throughout the colleges, the students urged all to boycott the names appearing on this list. They also promised their support and co-operation to the drive sponsored by the National Organization for Decent Literature.

DIGEST PHOTO CONTEST

Winning photographs in the second annual collegiate photography contest are featured in this week's edition of Collegiate Digest. Villanova students are invited to enter their best pictures in next year's competition, the deadline for which will be about March 1, 1940.

VILLANOVAN

Published Weekly by the Students of Villanova College, Villanova, Pa.

Managing Board

JOHN J. HARRINGTON, '40 ..... Editor-in-Chief
JAMES P. COLLINS, '41 ..... College Editor
PHILIP M. DUNN, '40 ..... Sports Editor
JOHN T. GALLAGHER, '42 ..... Business Manager
JOSEPH N. BONGIOVANNI, JR., '40 ..... Copy Editor
JOSEPH A. CIRELLI, '40 ..... Circulation Manager
MURRAY P. ZEALOR, '41 ..... Literary Editor
HENRY L. MANCUSO, '41 ..... Photography Editor
JOHN L. MAHER, '42 ..... Advertising Manager
JOSEPH F. BEE, '42 ..... Cartoonist

Columnists

Bernard A. Bellew, '40 ..... College Chatter
William F. Garrity, '40 ..... Odds and Ends
William J. Toy, '41 ..... Varieties
Harry A. Mazzei, '40 ..... Here and There
Anthony R. Liscio, '40 ..... Know Villanova

Staff Writers

Justin G. Rubin, '40 — William E. Schubert, '42
Frank Fitzpatrick, '40 — William B. DeGrace, '42
Saul A. Wallach, '40 — Thomas H. Doyle, '42
Bernard Singer, '40 — Howard A. McCall, '42
Thomas J. Moore, '41 — John P. Fullam, '42
James F. Haughton, '41 — Thomas A. Shallow, '42
Andrea J. D'Angelo, '41 — Robert J. McIntyre, '42
David N. Reardon, '42 — Alfred Bongiovanni, '40
Joseph V. McCabe, '42 — William V. Sinnott, '40
Joseph A. Barnes, '42 — William J. Ehmer, '42
Joseph Santaniello '41 — James F. Donovan, '41
Robert W. Kiley, '41 — Frederick A. Rappleyea, '40
Robert J. Funshashi, '42 — William N. Way, '41
William B. Carey, '42 — Walter W Lessing, '42
Francis J. Callahan, '42 — Armand Salerno, '42
Thomas A. Sullivan, '42 — Thomas J. McKimmey, '42
Gerald Belz, '42

Contributor

Lou Dubino, '39

Photography Staff

Melvin Bricker, '41 — Walter N. LaPorte, '42
John T. Sandonato, '41

Circulation Staff

Robert P. Schisler, '41 — Robert F. Donovan, '42
Bernard C. Crumb, '42 — Joseph D. Keffer, '42

Faculty Advisor—Rev. Edward B. McKee, O. S. A.

This paper is dedicated to one of the finest men who ever entered Villanova: scholar, athlete, gentleman—
L E O G O O R E A U

Subscription—$2.00 per year.
Entered as second class matter at the Villanova Post-office, December 27, 1928.

1938 Member 1939
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

REPRESENTED FOR NATIONAL ADVERTISING BY
National Advertising Service, Inc.
College Publishers Representative
420 MADISON AVE. NEW YORK, N. Y.
CHICAGO - BOSTON - LOS ANGELES - SAN FRANCISCO

Member of the Catholic School Press Association
Member of the Catholic College Press Association
Member of the National Scholastic Press Association.

TUESDAY - - - - - MAY 9, 1939

Preventing Fraud

SINCE at this time there is much talk in the press about primary elections and possible candidates for the national elections in the future, it is fitting that a few pertinent remarks be made concerning a much needed reform and modernization of election and registration laws in this country.

Although the right of voting is apparently not denied to anyone fulfilling the proper requirements, in several states the poll-tax as a prerequisite of the right to vote still exists. This is an undemocratic practice and should be repealed. Moreover, the ballots employed should be shortened and simplified so that the most ignorant can use them without the prejudiced aid of their political bosses.

Election frauds could be easily done away with by extending the use of automatic voting machines to all the states and forcing compliance to this regulation. Uniform national and local registration laws would hinder the possibility of last-minute registration padding, and all registration data should be reported by the several cities and counties to a central agency to be given to the public press.

Finally there should be established election boards in the counties and cities which would have to act immediately and efficiently to avoid the practice of holding up election returns by unscrupulous politicians.

Worthy of Emulation

IT seems that every time the word "politics" is spoken, the supposed synonym "dishonesty" creeps into the conversation. Although it is true that in a large number of instances politics is mixed up with graft, dishonesty, and other vices, this does not necessarily denote that honesty and politics do not mix.

As an outstanding example of this phenomenon the case of Mayor Griffin of Lawrence, Massachusetts, may be cited. Throughout his terms as mayor of this town, city hall has been bereft of those chiseling, grafting, leeches—the drones, and thus the financial affairs of the city have gone from the red to the blue column. As a Catholic layman Mayor Griffin has not lost sight of the fact that charity and justice cannot be separated from conduct, either private, personal, or official.

Literature

IT has been gratifying to note that Villanova students are aware of the importance of doing library work. During the month of March, there were 2700 books borrowed from the library. This is an average of three books per student. Naturally there were some students who took more than three books apiece.

During the coming weeks and in future years, it would be well for Villanova students to become more energetic in the use of the library, because the class room should serve only to guide students toward obtaining knowledge; it should not be considered as furnishing all the information necessary or desirable.

— And Literature

COLLEGE students are fortunate in having the opportunity to learn the difference between good and bad reading matter. If they would unite to convince the public that such material is a perversion of the real idea of writing and that as literature it is absolutely no good, perhaps publishing companies would desist from feeding these occasions of sin to innocent persons.

Unfortunately, though, not even college students are immune to sexy stories, as evidenced by the appearance of an advertisement for contraceptives in one college paper and an interview with a strip teaser which was featured in another.

It cannot be denied that there is a crying need for a purge in the literary world in this regard; and if college students, supposedly the backbone of the next generation and representative of higher learning in America, are so degraded, then what can we expect from the rest of the public in the future?

Proposed Tea Dance

WITH the climax of Junior Week on the occasion of the Junior Prom and its ultimate culmination at the subsequent dinner dance, a problem worthy of future consideration has arisen.

Young ladies who had travelled considerable distances to attend these affairs were the source of their escorts' discomfort in regard to the manner in which they might spend the intermittent Saturday afternoon. While undoubtedly in the majority of cases suitable entertainment was discovered, it has nevertheless been suggested that an informal social be henceforth arranged for that period.

In this regard a tea dance which could be held on the campus was a well-received suggestion. The details of such an affair could be arranged in accordance with the wishes of the class concerned.

In addition to being a welcome solution to this problem, it would surely add more color to Junior Week. In this connection there has risen, however, a question of additional expense, but certainly the advantages derived from such an arrangement would over-balance the slight expense which might be incurred by so informal an affair.

INTRODUCING

By ANDREA J. D'ANGELO

AMBITIOUS SCRIBES busily pounded typewriters, pencils flew over paper in an endeavor to beat the deadline, and straining voices vainly strived to be heard above the general din and clatter that accompanies the preparatory steps in the making-up of the VILLANOVAN when the outer door of the office opened. The moment was dramatic beyond all verbal portent, for I was now to vindicate myself as an aspiring journalist—I was to interview the senior for whose approbation and words of praise neophyte reporters on the staff worked diligently.

JAMES P. TOFANI

James Patrick Tofani nonchalantly sauntered into the room, carelessly tossed his books on a nearby chair, and asked me to begin. Thus, slowly but with astonishing vivacity he disclosed to me the leaves of his amazingly ascending career.

Then Comes the Dawn

On February 5, 1918 the Tofani family in Clifton Heights, Pennsylvania was presented with a new arrival, whom they decided to name James Patrick. It was an obscure and humble beginning to be sure, but soon at the Clifton Heights grammar school Jim strove for recognition and attained it by being the number one student in his class, and its treasurer.

It was at Upper Darby high school that his journalistic flair came to the fore. Not content with mere reportorial duties, he advanced himself to the position of editor of the school paper, which position he held for a while.

All Around Man

Although he definitely was not out to be a great and imposing athlete, Jim, not to be outdone, won an enviable popularity in intramural basketball. Finally the day of graduation came around with the consequent problem of choosing a college. Due to his brother Joseph's influence (his brother having graduated from here in '35), Jim decided to matriculate at Villanova.

Having always been an intense admirer of the great lawyers of history, Jim Tofani registered in the School of Commerce and Finan in '35, and took the pre-Law course they offer there.

Almost immediately he was imbued with the proper Villanova spirit, which fosters a sound extra-curricular program, and entered the intramural basketball league, and became a promising member of the VILLANOVAN. But in his sophomore year he decided to branch out in his interests.

Social Lion

He became a member of the Sophomore Cotillion committee and was elected to the Sophomore Orientation Committee. In this year it was that he attained the post of VILLANOVAN college editor and that interesting but fiery feud between Passanante and Tofani started. Passanante has been resigning for the past two years, but always just before Jim wanted to fire him; under the apparent hostile mask there burns a fervid friendship and mutual admiration that speaks for itself. Anyone will attest to the fact that Bert and Jim are a hard combination to beat at pinochle or in an argument.

Jim's fame as a social lion (Bert Passanante calls him a "wolf"!), made him a much sought for member of the Junior Dinner Dance committee. In May of this year the height of his journalistic aspirations was realized when he was appointed co-editor in chief of the VILLANOVAN with Robert Howe.

Thus we pass to his final year, rapidly coming to a close, with its approaching climax at commencement in June. He was appointed to the Student Council and served again on the Orientation Committee.

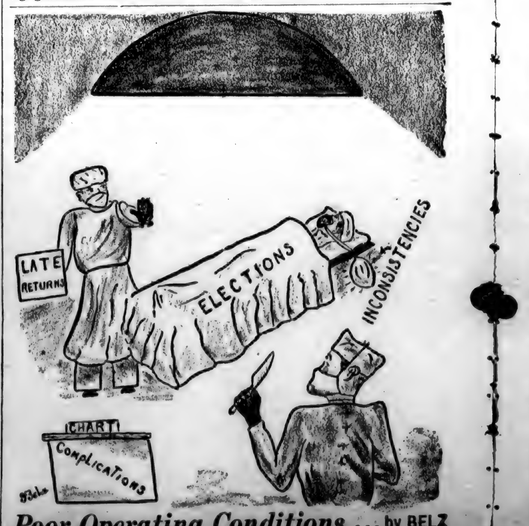
Poetical Side

Although his interests tend to legal side, Jim takes time out to admire now and then some poetry, especially Poe's poem entitled "To Helen," to which he attaches a special significance. In fact, this debonair personification of suavity fosters a tender affection for nurses, for his vivid eulogies on their humanitarian work sound like a campaign speech for funds.

Speaking of campaign speeches reminds me of another side to this versatile personality. Ardently, fervidly, ferociously, altruistically, and stalwartly he defends the New Deal. To him Franklin Roosevelt, Guffey, and others of the present Democratic party in office represent the highest peak of political achievement.

An admirer of justice and fair play, he bitterly denounces all types of political, social, economic, and religious oppression. "The Little Defender of the Oppressed" is an appropriate cognate for this fiery neophyte advocate.

Jim Tofani intends to matriculate at the University of Pennsylvania Law School in the fall. For the immediate future his talents are directed to being a Corporation lawyer. After this is achieved, he says, "Who Knows?"



Poor Operating Conditions ... by BELZ

ODDS and ENDS

By Bill Garrity

THE CAMPUS took on the appearance of a used car lot with all the different makes of automobiles parked around. Most of the Juniors had their crawling terrors down for the festivities.

• • •

The Rosemont girls have a little parody written for our popular "College Days." They have changed the last two lines to "Villanova White, Villanova Pink, Villanova, Villanova we think you have a heavy odor."

• • •

The Open House with all its visitors seemed to be thoroughly enjoyed by those who took advantage of it. The guides all did a rushing business — taking telephone numbers and addresses. Guide buttons were at a premium.

• • •

CLEM ANDREWS promised to bring a date to the Open House on Tuesday night. Such carrying on, Clem!

• • •

The Greeks certainly emptied in a hurry last Thursday night. Someone decided to conduct an experiment to see how quickly the place could be cleared without using force. The odor of SO2 still permeates the Rancho Greeko.

• • •

Have you heard the new recording by the Andrew's Sisters of "Rock-a-by-baby?" It looks like they've brought out a sequel to "Hold Tight."

• • •

Looks like JOE YORK was exasperated by the cigarette borrowers in the Belle Air Office. He tacked up a package of Chesterfields on the bulletin board with the following sign: Free Cigarettes to Staff of Belle Air, Courtesy of Joe York.

• • •

The Villanovan's quartet were the hit of the Blazer Ball. JOE FANCERI, ED COGAN, GEORGIE WHITE and CY DALY make up the combination and can jam in great style. The boys are still knocking them dead at The Conestoga Mill.

• • •

BOB WILDEROTTER would like to know just when the flowers will be planted in the sign on the front lawn. Robert has been all of a dither for over a month worrying about it. The authorities should do something as it is a shame to have people losing sleep.

• • •

Hurrah for the Red and Blue. ED COGAN, campus playboy, had as his prom companion the charmatress who garnered top honors in Penn's "Glamour Girl" poll recently.

• • •

BONDed definition of war: Two nations engaged in self-defense.

KnowVillanova

In 1929 Villanova defeated Duke University at football by the score of 58-12.

• • •

Fr. Robert Browne, an Augustinian Missionary in Augusta, Georgia, was the first to suggest the establishment of a Catholic University at Washington, D. C.

• • •

The engineering publication, the "Villanova Engineer," was once known as the "Owl."

• • •

On June 1, 1929, the Pi Omega Phi advertised their Farewell Hop by releasing parachutes from an aeroplane.

• • •

Starting at Mexico in 1542 the Augustinians were the first Missionaries to circumnavigate the globe.

• • •

In 1915 Villanova defeated Fordham and the Cadets of West Point at football.

College Paper Receives Campus, Secular Opinions

By JOHN J. HARRINGTON
Editor-in-Chief

Campus comments on this newspaper agree in many respects with those of college journalism teachers.

This observation is drawn from a comparison of criticisms received from the Associated Collegiate Press with a survey of student opinion taken during the past semester.

Judges of the contest, in which more than 400 publications participated, awarded the VILLANOVAN first class honor rating.

Student readers agreed with the judges in ranking news coverage, sports, balance, headlines, and make-up as the paper's best features. The judges included copyreading and proofreading, but on this point the students objected.

"Umph" Desired

Agreement was reached again in desire for more original feature material of human interest, more "umph" in the news, elimination of superfluous words, better ink distribution, and less routine stories on extra-curricular activities.

Whereas the judges marked typography as only fair to good, those interviewed were of one mind in admiring the "newspaperish" typography.

Some suggestions of the judges regarding stagnant make-up on pages two and three and excessive column material have been effected.

Mazzei Good

Should have less cut and dried news—more stories of campus life . . . columns all very silly . . . faculty column is very good; Phil Dunn's work is never long enough and Mazzei is good . . . should have news of alumni doings . . . want a letters to the editor column . . . more personal items needed . . . improve style of writing . . . sports page very good . . . paper is not critical enough—doesn't show the student opinion and always takes the side of the administration . . . as good as any college paper—better than New York papers . . . less clique news—more activities of other college campuses . . . yearbook is always ignored by paper. . .

Humor Wanting

Quite satisfied . . . shows too much effort to fill it up—not free and easy style . . . better grade of paper . . . frosh don't get enough play—intramurals played up too much . . . need more humor . . . better social and scandal column . . . not enough social news . . . it's free—I like it!

Responses to inquiries as to the editorials were varied:

Never looked to see what they were about . . . too serious . . . think they run the same one every week, changing the title . . . paper should run editorials on increasing social activities . . . read them if title is interesting . . . more student problems should be discussed in editorials . . . ought to praise somebody once in a while . . . work for improvements on campus . . . editorials now run are good, but not the type for a college paper . . . more work by Deverall . . . national issues are discussed in other papers, not student issues—why not talk up student rights rather than foreign situation . . .

Specific editorial topics were suggested:

Informal Dances

Student council should run informal dances in Simpson Hall, charging small admission fee—with money buy and keep latest records . . . campaign to stop "gypping" in dining hall line . . . path across Mendel field . . . how to get on civil service lists—discuss hospitalization plan and that sort of thing . . . less keep off the grass editorials . . . student use of bowling allies and pool tables without fee . . . more anti-communist editorials . . . editorials so far have condemned Congress for inaction—what about the student council inaction . . . run one on frosh not saying hello—freshmen act like seniors around here . . . why not sponsor a brdige tournament?

An editorial in this issue is the result of support for a tea dance promised the interviewers, of whom Joseph Higgins, a former staff member, was most active.

Prom Maestro A Candidate For Perpetual Motion Fame

By FRANK FITZPATRICK

In order to play for our prom last Friday it was necessary for Al Donahue to come to the field house from Wisconsin. Friday morning he was engaged from 10 A. M. until 1:30 P. M. in New York making records of the latest hits. After the completion of this task the band left New York. Donahue himself arrived here early and directed as well as helped the arrangement of the band stand.

Gives Away Drumsticks

Charlie Carrol, whose crazy antics proved one of the high spots of entertainment for the evening, gave four sets of autographed drum sticks to a lucky few. Perhaps Charlie was at his best in his rendition of the "Three Little Fishes." His excellent drumming ability should not be over-shadowed by his clownings as he gave several solos that were comparable to the best of any "name" drummer.

Fills Shaw's Engagements

During the recent illness of Artie Shaw, the former incumbent of the Rainbow Room has been substituting for the "King of the Clarinet."

After playing the Alma Mater at the prom Donahue graciously offered to send the college an orchestration of it in his own particular style.

Friday night after the dance was over he left immediately in his bus for Providence, R. I., where he had to fill a Saturday engagement. Tomorrow night (Wednesday) finds him back in the Rainbow Room for the start of his sixth season in this popular spot, playing nightly from seven till three.

Favorite Songs

Al Donahue is indeed a busy man.

Shortly before midnight the juniors gathered in the Blue Room from where they started the Grand March. Immediately following the March the three songs rating high in Junior favor were played — "Begin the Beguine" — "Our Love" and 'Deep Purple." As the band played the final theme claps of approval and sighs of regret were mingled. For although the evening was an extremely pleasant one, it was also, it seemed, an extremely short one.

Other Socials

Saturday was the culmination of the Class of '40's endeavor. Each little detail was perfect. The fairer sex were more than pleased with the little gold bracelets given as favors and as each box was opened murmurs of approval were heard.

The Blazer Ball held on Wednesday proved to be a worthy inauguration to the program of social activities. The subdued lighting brought forth the silent beauty of a strictly informal dance. With the Seniors participating in their last grand march the evening's fun came to an auspicious close. Likewise it provided the first glimpse of the much publicized milk bar.

Mothers Enjoyed It

Mother's Day, if the success of the day may be judged by the happy faces, lived up to their fondest expectations. Chairman Wm. F. Duffy appeared as Master of Ceremonies at a very interesting show which included an exhibit of liquid air under the guidance of Prof. Haenisch. The experiments of Open House were then thrown open to the public at large.

VARIETIES

By WILLIAM J TOY

Clean Vaudeville Suffers As Risque Dramas Prosper; News of the Show People

IN the opinion of this writer there is a kick to register. Instead of our usual writeup of bands and stars, I would like to give a plug for one of our theatres.

Philadelphia is a very large town and should be able to support a first class vaudeville house. However, it seems this is not the case. The Fox Theatre which is the only big time house in the city has been sadly neglected by the fans. How can an enterprise put on good first class shows if support is not forthcoming from the city's fans? First rate bands and screen celebrities are presented every week together with a first run feature at practically the same prices used by the other downtown houses, but the Fox still does not draw. If any readers know why, or have any complaints, let me know and they will be forwarded.

• • •

While on the topic of kicks, we may as well proceed to the legitimate theatres. Why is it these houses must persist in puting on shows which are within the censorship laws but do not meet the taste of the better class of people. These shows are strictly within the law and cannot be stopped except by a stronger censorship of the persons designated for this work.

Several years ago the movies were also guilty of this fault but they have since greatly improved their pictures. If our Catholic associations for the betterment of morals want something fine to fight for, this is it. Why should the legitimate shows be permitted to capitalize on this fact by placing in their ads headings resembling, "too hot for the movies", and the like. Let's show them they can be cleaned up too.

ODDITIES IN THE NEWS:

Benny Goodman now features muted trumpets. (They sound pretty good, too). He's finally reorganizing his band.

WANT A JOB?

The New York World's Fair has recently announced that several hundred college students will be hired this summer for work at the Fair Grounds. The name and college of the driver will be placed on the chair for the benefit of the rider. The only pre-requisite asked is the ability to hold a good conversation. Good advertisement for the school!

NEW PROGRAM:

A new radio show graces the airwaves. It's known as the "Grouch Club". Anyone appearing on it may air their pet peeves publically. Pity the profs if any college students get a chance. Tune in on WCAU on Sundays and hear the grouches.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS:

Bea Wain, noted singer with Clinton's orch., was recently playing cards on a train with other members of the band when she noticed two men sitting all alone. She invited them to join the game and for the first time saw, when one raised his hand, they were handcuffed together. One was a detective taking a notorious card sharp to the State Penn. WAS HER FACE RED!

FLASHES! ! !

Jack Warner is shipping a print of "Juarez" to Mexico City for President Lazaro Cardenas to show his cabinet . . . 40 Moslems working in "The Rains Came" kneel in prayer every sundown, whatever else the company may be doing . . . The impossible has happened — ex-G-Man Leon Turrou has a personal bodyguard . . . RKO is using 60 "alligators" and "hepcats" for jitterbug scenes in "Little Mother" . . .

• • •

Bob Hope's Tuesday radio program shows a two and one-half point increase on newest CAB listeners' survey . . . Fibber McGee rating also up again!

• • •

Frances Langford is spending her spare time away from the CBS-Star Theater studying navigation with Professor Clayton Carus of the University of Southern California. She's preparing to launch her yacht, the Calupa, now building at the Wilmington Boat Works.

• • •

Bob Crosby is holding a "Swing Madness' dance contest at Chicago's Blackhawk restaurant Wednesday, May 10. Purpose is to find a new dance suitable to be titled "Swing Madness." Winning team will get week's paid engagement with Crosby and his Bobcats. Second and third place winners will receive cash awards.

• • •

Jane Crusinberry, author of radio's "Story of Mary Marlin," will enter Chicago's Passavant Hospital for a major operation within the next two weeks . . . just now she is busy plotting her scripts ahead so there will be no interruption of broadcasts during the period of recuperation following the operation.

• • •

Benny Gobdman will be the subject of a Federal Theater Radio broadcast titled "Clarinet Marmalade" on June 12, when the life of the Tuesday Night Swing Caravan leader will be featured over over WMCA, and the Inter-City Network.

College Chatter

By Barney Bellew

OPEN HOUSE attracted the best crowd ever. And everyone is of the opinion that the displays were far ahead of any yet. The science department led in popularity. But that is only natural for the folksies like the natural biological displays rather than the perplexing chemical shows. Also they like to know what makes one tick.

According to a survey, more fellows woifed their pals' girl friends this year than ever before. But you can't blame them for there certaintly was an abundance of raw material to keep them busy. I regret that I didn't have a little time myself 'cause I would have given Jimmy Donovan a little wolfing, not to mention Joe Parkins.

• • •

Auburn Plainsman:

Bad men want their women
To be like cigarettes.
All slender and trim
In a case,
Waiting in a row
To be selected,
Set aflame—and—
When their flame has died—
Discarded.
More fastidious men
Prefer women like cigars,
Those are more exclusive,
Look better
And last longer;
If the brand is good
They are not given away.
Good men treat women
Like pipes
And become more attached to them,
The older they become!
When the flame is burned out
They still look after them,
Knock them gently
(But lovingly)
And care for them always—
No man shares his pipe.

• • •

Local Talent:

Rosemont will not have open house this year. They presented a fine show last spring and should endeavor to do the same next spring if not now.

Bryn Mawr College held its famous May Day recently; likewise Swarthmore College. The College of Chestnut Hill, alias Mt. St. Joseph's, held their May Day last Sunday. La Salle and St. Joseph's will not have a May Day Procesalon this year; they can't find a Maypole.

• • •

The Villanovans came through with a swell dance for the Junior Blazer Ball. They will play at a prom for one of the local high schools, the end of this month.

• • •

The difference between an asylum and a college; you have to improve to get out of an asylum.

—Loyolan.

Calendar

Tuesday, May 9

VILLANOVAN ..... 1:00 P. M.
Philosophy Seminar .... 1:30 P. M.
Tennis, Phila. College of Pharmacy (Away) 2:30 P. M.

Wednesday, May 10

Golf, Hampden-Sydney (Home) 2:30 P. M.
Music Seminar ..... 7:30 P. M.

Thursday, May 11

Baseball Game (at Providence, R. I.) 3:00 P. M.
History Seminar ..... 7:00 P. M.
Music Seminar ..... 7:30 P. M.

Friday, May 12

German Seminar ..... 9:45 A. M.
La Salle Tennis Match (Home) 2:30 P. M.
Golf (at Rider College). 2:30 P. M.
Research Seminar ..... 4:00 P. M.

Saturday, May 13

Tennis (at Rider) .... 2:30 P. M.
Track (at West Point) . 3:00 P. M.
Baseball (at Williams) . 3:00 P. M.

Sunday, May 14

Fedigan vs. Alumni ....10:30 A. M.

Monday May 15

Mathematics Club .....12:30 P. M.
Baseball (at St. John's, Brooklyn) 3:00 P. M.
C. M. E. Banquet ..... 7:30 P. M.

VILLANOVAN

Published Weekly by the Students of Villanova College, Villanova, Pa.

Managing Board

JOHN J. HARRINGTON, '40 ..... Editor-in-Chief
JAMES P. COLLINS, '41 ..... College Editor
PHILIP M. DUNN, '40 ..... Sports Editor
JOHN T. GALLAGHER, '42 ..... Business Manager
JOSEPH N. RONGIOVANNI, JR., '40 ..... Copy Editor
JOSEPH A. CIRELLI, '40 ..... Circulation Manager
MURRAY P. ZEALOR, '41 ..... Literary Editor
HENRY L. MANCUSO, '41 ..... Photography Editor
JOHN L. MAHER, '42 ..... Advertising Manager
JOSEPH F. BEE '42 ..... Cartoonist

Columnists

Bernard A. Bellew, '40 ..... College Chatter
William F. Garrity, '40 ..... Odds and Ends
William J. Toy, '41 ..... Varieties
Harry A. Mazack, '41 ..... Here and There
Anthony R. Liesio, '40 ..... Know Villanova

Staff Writers

Justin G. Dunn, '40 — William E. Schubert, '42
Frank Fitzpatrick, '40 — William B. DeGrace, '42
Saul A. Wallach, '40 — Thomas H. Doyle, '42
Bernard Singer, '40 — Howard A. McCall, '42
Thomas J. Moore, '41 — John P. Fullam, '42
James F. Haughton, '41 — Thomas A. Shallow, '42
Andrea J. D'Angelo, '41 — Robert J. McIntyre, '42
David N. Reardon, '42 — Alfred Rongiovanni, '40
Joseph V. McCabe, '42 — William V. Sinnott, '40
Joseph A. Barnes, '41 — William J. Ehmer, '42
Joseph Sinopoli, '41 — James F. Donovan, '41
Robert W. Kiley, '41 — Frederick A. Rappleyea, '40
Robert J. Funatushi, '42 — William N. Way, '41
William B. Curry, '42 — Walter W. Lessing, '42
Francis J. Cullahan, '42 — Armand Salerno, '42
Thomas A. Sullivan, '42 — Thomas J. McKinney, '42
Gerald Belz, '42

Contributor

Lon Dubino, '39

Photography Staff

Melvin Bricker, '41 — Walter N. LaPorte, '42
John T. Sandonato, '41

Circulation Staff

Robert P. Schisler, '41 — Robert F. Donovan, '42
Bernard C. Crumb, '42 — Joseph D. Keffer, '42

Faculty Advisor—Rev. Edward B. McGee, O. S. A.

This paper is dedicated to one of the finest men who ever entered Villanova: scholar, athlete, gentleman—
L E O G O O D R E A U

Subscription—$2.00 per year.
Entered as second class matter at the Villanova Post-office, December 27, 1928.

1938 Member 1939
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

REPRESENTED FOR NATIONAL ADVERTISING BY
National Advertising Service, Inc.
College Publishers Representative
420 Madison Ave. New York, N. Y.
Chicago · Boston · Los Angeles · San Francisco

Member of the Catholic School Press Association
Member of the Catholic College Press Association
Member of the National Scholastic Press Association.

TUESDAY - - - - - MAY 9, 1939

Preventing Fraud

SINCE at this time there is much talk in the press about primary elections and possible candidates for the national elections in the future, it is fitting that a few pertinent remarks be made concerning a much needed reform and modernization of election and registration laws in this country.

Although the right of voting is apparently not denied to anyone fulfilling the proper requirements, in several states the poll-tax as a prerequisite of the right to vote still exists. This is an undemocratic practice and should be repealed. Moreover, the ballots employed should be shortened and simplified so that the most ignorant can use them without the prejudiced aid of their political bosses.

Election frauds could be easily done away with by extending the use of automatic voting machines to all the states and forcing compliance to this regulation. Uniform national and local registration laws would hinder the possibility of last-minute registration padding, and all registration data should be reported by the several cities and counties to a central agency to be given to the public press.

Finally there should be established election boards in the counties and cities which would have to act immediately and efficiently to avoid the practice of holding up election returns by unscrupulous politicians.

Worthy of Emulation

IT seems that every time the word "politics" is spoken, the supposed synonym "dishonesty" creeps into the conversation. Although it is true that in a large number of instances politics is mixed up with graft, dishonesty, and other vices, this does not necessarily denote that honesty and politics do not mix.

As an outstanding example of this phenomenon the case of Mayor Griffin of Lawrence, Massachusetts, may be cited. Throughout his terms as mayor of this town, city hall has been bereft of those chiseling, grafting, leeches—the drones, and thus the financial affairs of the city have gone from the red to the blue column. As a Catholic layman Mayor Griffin has not lost sight of the fact that charity and justice cannot be separated from conduct, either private, personal, or official.

Literature

IT has been gratifying to note that Villanova students are aware of the importance of doing library work. During the month of March, there were 2700 books borrowed from the library. This is an average of three books per student. Naturally there were some students who took more than three books apiece.

During the coming weeks and in future years, it would be well for Villanova students to become more energetic in the use of the library, because the class room should serve only to guide students toward obtaining knowledge; it should not be considered as furnishing all the information necessary or desirable.

— And Literature

COLLEGE students are fortunate in having the opportunity to learn the difference between good and bad reading matter. If they would unite to convince the public that such material is a perversion of the real idea of writing and that as literature it is absolutely no good, perhaps publishing companies would desist from feeding these occasions of sin to innocent persons.

Unfortunately, though, not even college students are immune to sexy stories, as evidenced by the appearance of an advertisement for contraceptives in one college paper and an interview with a strip teaser which was featured in another.

It cannot be denied that there is a crying need for a purge in the literary world in this regard; and if college students, supposedly the backbone of the next generation and representative of higher learning in America, are so degraded, then what can we expect from the rest of the public in the future?

Proposed Tea Dance

WITH the climax of Junior Week on the occasion of the Junior Prom and its ultimate culmination at the subsequent dinner dance, a problem worthy of future consideration has arisen.

Young ladies who had travelled considerable distances to attend these affairs were the source of their escorts' discomfort in regard to the manner in which they might spend the intermittent Saturday afternoon. While undoubtedly in the majority of cases suitable entertainment was discovered, it has nevertheless been suggested that an informal social be henceforth arranged for that period.

In this regard a tea dance which could be held on the campus was a well-received suggestion. The details of such an affair could be arranged in accordance with the wishes of the class concerned.

In addition to being a welcome solution to this problem, it would surely add more color to Junior Week. In this connection there has risen, however, a question of additional expense, but certainly the advantages derived from such an arrangement would over-balance the slight expense which might be incurred by so informal an affair.

INTRODUCING

By ANDREA J. D'ANGELO

AMBITIOUS SCRIBES busily pounded typewriters, pencils flew over paper in an endeavor to beat the deadline, and straining voices vainly strived to be heard above the general din and clatter that accompanies the preparatory steps in the making-up of the VILLANOVAN when the outer door of the office opened. The moment was dramatic beyond all verbal portent, for I was now to vindicate myself as an aspiring journalist—I was to interview the senior for whose approbation and words of praise neophyte reporters on the staff worked diligently.

JAMES P. TOFANI

James Patrick Tofani nonchalantly sauntered into the room, carelessly tossed his books on a nearby chair, and asked me to begin. Thus, slowly but with astonishing vivacity he disclosed to me the leaves of his amazingly ascending career.

Then Comes the Dawn

On February 5, 1918 the Tofani family in Clifton Heights, Pennsylvania was presented with a new arrival, whom they decided to name James Patrick. It was an obscure and humble beginning to be sure, but soon at the Clifton Heights grammar school Jim strove for recognition and attained it by being the number one student in his class, and its treasurer.

It was at Upper Darby high school that his journalistic flair came to the fore. Not content with mere reportorial duties, he advanced himself to the position of editor of the school paper, which position he held for a while.

All Around Man

Although he definitely was not cut to be a great and imposing athlete, Jim, not to be outdone, won an enviable popularity in intramural basketball. Finally the day of graduation came around with the consequent problem of choosing a college. Due to his brother Joseph's influence (his brother having graduated from here in '35), Jim decided to matriculate at Villanova.

Having always been an intense admirer of the great lawyers of history, Jim Tofani registered in the School of Commerce and Finan in '35, and took the pre-Law course they offer there.

Almost immediately he was imbued with the proper Villanova spirit, which fosters a sound extra-curricular program, and entered the intramural basketball league, and became a promising member of the VILLANOVAN. But in his sophomore year he decided to branch out in his interests.

Social Lion

He became a member of the Sophomore Cotillion committee and was elected to the Sophomore Orientation Committee. In this year it was that he attained the post of VILLANOVAN college editor and that interesting but fiery feud between Passanante and Tofani started. Passanante has been resigning for the past two years, but always just before Jim wanted to fire him; under the apparent hostile mask there burns a fervid friendship and mutual admiration that speaks for itself. Anyone will attest to the fact that Bert and Jim are a hard combination to beat at pinochle or in an argument.

Jim's fame as a social lion (Bert Passanante calls him a "wolf"!), made him a much sought for member of the Junior Dinner Dance committee. In May of this year the height of his journalistic aspirations was realized when he was appointed co-editor in chief of the VILLANOVAN with Robert Howe.

Thus we pass to his final year, rapidly coming to a close, with its approaching climax at commencement in June. He was appointed to the Student Council and served again on the Orientation Committee.

Poetical Side

Although his interests tend to legal side, Jim takes time out to admire now and then some poetry, especially Poe's poem entitled "To Helen," to which he attaches a special significance. In fact, this debonair personification of suavity fosters a tender affection for nurses, for his vivid eulogies on their humanitarian work sound like a campaign speech for funds.

Speaking of campaign speeches reminds me of another side to this versatile personality. Ardently, fervidly, ferociously, altruistically, and stalwartly he defends the New Deal. To him Franklin Roosevelt, Guffey, and others of the present Democratic party in office represent the highest peak of political achievement

An admirer of justice and fair play, he bitterly denounces all types of political, social ,economic, and religious oppression. "The Little Defender of the Oppressed" is an appropriate cognate for this fiery neophyte advocate.

Jim Tofani intends to matriculate at the University of Pennsylvania Law School in the fall. For the immediate future his talents are directed to being a Corporation lawyer. After this is achieved, he says, "Who Knows?"

Poor Operating Conditions ... by BELZ

ODDS and ENDS

By Bill Garrity

THE CAMPUS took on the appearance of a used car lot with all the different makes of automobiles parked around. Most of the Juniors had their crawling terrors down for the festivities.

• • •

The Rosemont girls have a little parody written for our popular "College Days." They have changed the last two lines to "Villanova White, Villanova Pink, Villanova, Villanova we think you have a heavy odor."

• • •

The Open House with all its visitors seemed to be thoroughly enjoyed by those who took advantage of it. The guides all did a rushing business — taking telephone numbers and addresses. Guide buttons were at a premium.

• • •

CLEM ANDREWS promised to bring a date to the Open House on Tuesday night. Such carrying on, Clem!

• • •

The Greeks certainly emptied in a hurry last Thursday night. Someone decided to conduct an experiment to see how quickly the place could be cleared without using force. The odor of SO2 still permeates the Rancho Greeko.

• • •

Have you heard the new recording by the Andrew's Sisters of "Rock-a-by-baby?" It looks like they've brought out a sequel to "Hold Tight."

• • •

Looks like JOE YORK was exasperated by the cigarette borrowers in the Belle Air Office. He tacked up a package of Chesterfields on the bulletin board with the following sign: Free Cigarettes to Staff of Belle Air, Courtesy of Joe York.

• • •

The Villanovan's quartet were the hit of the Blazer Ball. JOE PANCERI, ED COGAN, GEORGIE WHITE and CY DALY make up the combination and can jam in great style. The boys are still knocking them dead at The Conestoga Mill.

• • •

BOB WILDEROTTER would like to know just when the flowers will be planted in the sign on the front lawn. Robert has been all of a dither for over a month worrying about it. The authorities should do something as it is a shame to have people losing sleep.

• • •

Hurrah for the Red and Blue. ED COGAN, campus playboy, had as his prom companion the charmstress who garnered top honors in Penn's "Glamour Girl" poll recently.

• • •

BONDed definition of war: Two nations engaged in self-defense.

Know Villanova

In 1929 Villanova defeated Duke University at football by the score of 58-12.

• • •

Fr. Robert Browne, an Augustinian Missionary in Augusta, Georgia, was the first to suggest the establishment of a Catholic University at Washington, D. C.

• • •

The engineering publication, the "Villanova Engineer," was once known as the "Owl."

• • •

On June 1, 1929, the Pi Omega Phi advertised their Farewell Hop by releasing parachutes from an aeroplane.

• • •

Starting at Mexico in 1542 the Augustinians were the first Missionaries to circumnavigate the globe.

• • •

In 1915 Villanova defeated Fordham and the Cadets of West Point at football.

College Paper Receives Campus, Secular Opinions

By JOHN J. HARRINGTON
Editor-in-Chief

Campus comments on this newspaper agree in many respects with those of college journalism teachers.

This observation is drawn from a comparison of criticisms received from the Associated Collegiate Press with a survey of student opinion taken during the past semester.

Judges of the contest, in which more than 400 publications participated, awarded the VILLANOVAN first class honor rating.

Student readers agreed with the judges in ranking news coverage, sports, balance, headlines, and make-up as the paper's best features. The judges included copyreading and proofreading, but on this point the students objected.

"Umph" Desired

Agreement was reached again in desire for more original feature material of human interest, more "umph" in the news, elimination of superfluous words, better ink distribution, and less routine stories on extra-curricular activities.

Whereas the judges marked typography as only fair to good, those interviewed were of one mind in admiring the "newspaperish" typography.

Some suggestions of the judges regarding stagnant make-up on pages two and three and excessive column material have been effected.

Mazzei Good

Should have less cut and dried news—more stories of campus life . . . columns all very silly . . . faculty column is very good; Phil Dunn's work is never long enough and Mazzei is good . . . should have news of alumni doings . . . want a letters to the editor column . . . more personal items needed . . . improve style of writing . . . sports page very good . . . paper is not critical enough—doesn't show the student opinion and always takes the side of the administration . . . as good as any college paper—better than New York papers . . . less clique news—more activities of other college campuses . . . yearbook is always ignored by paper. . .

Humor Wanting

Quite satisfied . . . shows too much effort to fill it up—not free and easy style . . . better grade of paper . . . frosh don't get enough play—intramurals played up too much . . . need more humor . . . better social and scandal column . . . not enough social news . . . It's free—I like it!

Responses to inquiries as to the editorials were varied:

Never looked to see what they were about . . . too serious . . . think they run the same one every week, changing the title . . . paper should run editorials on increasing social activities . . . read them if title is interesting . . . more student problems should be discussed in editorials . . . ought to praise somebody once in a while . . . work for improvements on campus . . . editorials now run are good, but not the type for a college paper . . . more work by Deverall . . . national issues are discussed in other papers, not student issues—why not talk up student rights rather than foreign situation . . .

Specific editorial topics were suggested:

Informal Dances

Student council should run informal dances in Simpson Hall, charging small admission fee—with money buy and keep latest records . . . campaign to stop "gypping" in dining hall line . . . path across Mendel field . . . how to get on civil service lists—discuss hospitalization plan and that sort of thing . . . less keep off the grass editorials . . . student use of bowling allies and pool tables without fee . . . more anti-communist editorials . . . editorials so far have condemned Congress for inaction—what about the student council inaction . . . run one on frosh not saying hello—freshmen act like seniors around here . . . why not sponsor a brdige tournament?

An editorial in this issue is the result of support for a tea dance promised the interviewers, of whom Joseph Higgins, a former staff member, was most active.

Prom Maestro A Candidate For Perpetual Motion Fame

By FRANK FITZPATRICK

In order to play for our prom last Friday it was necessary for Al Donahue to come to the field house from Wisconsin. Friday morning he was engaged from 10 A. M. until 1:30 P. M. in New York making records of the latest hits. After the completion of this task the band left New York. Donahue himself arrived here early and directed as well as helped the arrangement of the band stand.

Gives Away Drumsticks

Charlie Carrol, whose crazy antics proved one of the high spots of entertainment for the evening, gave four sets of autographed drum sticks to a lucky few. Perhaps Charlie was at his best in his rendition of the "Three Little Fishes." His excellent drumming ability should not be over-shadowed by his clownings as he gave several solos that were comparable to the best of any "name" drummer.

Fills Shaw's Engagements

During the recent illness of Artie Shaw, the former incumbent of the Rainbow Room has been substituting for the "King of the Clarinet."

After playing the Alma Mater at the prom Donahue graciously offered to send the college an orchestration of it in his own particular style.

Friday night after the dance was over he left immediately in his bus for Providence, R. I., where he had to fill a Saturday engagement. Tomorrow night (Wednesday) finds him back in the Rainbow Room for the start of his sixth season in this popular spot, playing nightly from seven till three.

Favorite Songs

Al Donahue is indeed a busy man.

Shortly before midnight the juniors gathered in the Blue Room from where they started the Grand March. Immediately following the March the three songs rating high in Junior favor were played — "Begin the Beguine" — "Our Love" and "Deep Purple." As the band played the final theme claps of approval and aighs of regret were mingled. For although the evening was an extremely pleasant one, it was also, it seemed, an exteremely short one.

Other Socials

Saturday was the culmination of the Class of '40's endeavor. Each little detail was perfect. The fairer sex were more than pleased with the little gold bracelets given as favors and as each box was opened murmurs of approval were heard.

The Blazer Ball held on Wednesday proved to be a worthy inauguration to the program of social activities. The subdued lighting brought forth the silent beauty of a strictly informal dance. With the Seniors participating in their last grand march the evening's fun came to an auspicious close. Likewise it provided the first glimpse of the much publicized milk bar.

[illegible] It

Mother's Day, if the success of the day may be judged by the happy faces, lived up to their fondest expectations. Chairman Wm. F. Duffy appeared as Master of Ceremonies at a very interesting show which included an exhibit of liquid air under the guidance of Prof. Haenisch. The experiments of Open House were then thrown open to the public at large.

VARIETIES

By WILLIAM J TOY

Clean Vaudeville Suffers As Risque Dramas Prosper; News of the Show People

IN the opinion of this writer there is a kick to register. Instead of our usual writeup of bands and stars, I would like to give a plug for one of our theatres.

Philadelphia is a very large town and should be able to support a first class vaudeville house. However, it seems this is not the case. The Fox Theatre which is the only big time house in the city has been sadly neglected by the fans. How can an enterprise put on good first class shows if support is not forthcoming from the city's fans? First rate bands and screen celebrities are presented every week together with a first run feature at practically the same prices used by the other downtown houses, but the Fox still does not draw. If any readers know why, or have any complaints, let me know and they will be forwarded.

• • •

While on the topic of kicks, we may as well proceed to the legitimate theatres. Why is it these houses must persist in puting on shows which are within the censorship laws but do not meet the taste of the better class of people. These shows are strictly within the law and cannot be stopped except by a stronger censorship of the persons designated for this work.

Several years ago the movies were also guilty of this fault but they have since greatly improved their pictures. If our Catholic associations for the betterment of morals want Something fine to fight for, this is it. Why should the legitimate shows be permitted to capitalize on this fact by placing in their ads headings resembling, "too hot for the movies", and the like. Let's show them they can be cleaned up too.

ODDITIES IN THE NEWS:

Benny Goodman now features muted trumpets. (They sound pretty good, too). He's finally reorganizing his band.

WANT A JOB?

The New York World's Fair has recently announced that several hundred college students will be hired this summer for work at the Fair Grounds. The name and college of the driver will be placed on the chair for the benefit of the rider. The only pre-requisite asked is the ability to hold a good conversation. Good advertisement for the school!

NEW PROGRAM:

A new radio show graces the airwaves. It's known as the "Grouch Club". Anyone appearing on it may air their pet peeves publically. Pity the profs if any college students get a chance. Tune in on WCAU on Sundays and hear the grouches.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS:

Bea Waln, noted singer with Clinton's orch., was recently playing cards on a train with other members of the band when she noticed two men sitting all alone. She invited them to join the game and for the first time saw, when one raised his hand, they were handcuffed together. One was a detective taking a notorious card sharp to the State Penn. WAS HER FACE RED!

FLASHES! ! !

Jack Warner is shipping a print of "Juarez" to Mexico City for President Lazaro Cardenas to show his cabinet . . . 40 Moslems working in "The Rains Came" kneel in prayer every sundown, whatever else the company may be doing . . . The impossible has happened — ex-G-Man Leon Turrou has a personal bodyguard . . . RKO is using 60 "alligators" and "hepcats" for jitterbug scenes in "Little Mother" . . .

• • •

Bob Hope's Tuesday radio program shows a two and one-half point increase on newest CAB listeners' survey . . . Fibber McGee rating also up again!

• • •

Frances Langford is spending her spare time away from the CBS-Star Theater studying navigation with Professor Clayton Carus of the University of Southern California. She's preparing to launch her yacht, the Catupa, now building at the Wilmington Boat Works.

• • •

Bob Crosby is holding a "Swing Madness' dance contest at Chicago's Blackhawk restaurant Wednesday, May 10. Purpose is to find a new dance suitable to be titled "Swing Madness." Winning team will get week's paid engagement with Crosby and his Bobcats. Second and third place winners will receive cash awards.

• • •

Jane Crusinberry, author of radio's "Story of Mary Marlin," will enter Chicago's Passavant Hospital for a major operation within the next two weeks . . . just now she is busy plotting her scripts ahead so there will be no interruption of broadcasts during the period of recuperation following the operation.

• • •

Benny Goodman will be the subject of a Federal Theater Radio broadcast titled "Clarinet Marmalade" on June 18, when the life of the Tuesday Night Swing Caravan leader will be featured over over WMCA, and the Inter-City Network.

College Chatter

By Barney Bellew

OPEN HOUSE attracted the best crowd ever. And everyone is of the opinion that the displays were far ahead of any yet. The science department led in popularity. But that is only natural for the folksies like the natural biological displays rather than the perplexing chemical shows. Also they like to know what makes one tick.

According to a survey, more fellows wolfed their pals' girl friends this year than ever before. But you can't blame them for there certainly was an abundance of raw material to keep them busy. I regret that I didn't have a little time myself 'cause I would have given Jimmy Donovan a little wolfing, not to mention Joe Parkins.

• • •

Auburn Plainsman:

Bad men want their women
To be like cigarettes.
All slender and trim
In a case,
Waiting in a row
To be selected,
Set aflame—and—
When their flame has died—
Discarded.
More fastidious men
Prefer women like cigars.
Those are more exclusive,
Look better
And last longer;
If the brand is good
They are not given away.
Good men treat women
Like pipes
And become more attached to them,
The older they become!
When the flame is burned out
They still look after them,
Knock them gently
(But lovingly)
And care for them always—
No man shares his pipe.

• • •

Local Talent:

Rosemont will not have open house this year. They presented a fine show last spring and should endeavor to do the same next spring if not now.

Bryn Mawr College held its famous May Day recently; likewise Swarthmore College. The College of Chestnut Hill, alias Mt. St. Joseph's, held their May Day last Sunday. La Salle and St. Joseph's will not have a May Day Procession this year; they can't find a Maypole.

• • •

The Villanovans came through with a swell dance for the Junior Blazer Ball. They will play at a prom for one of the local high schools, the end of this month.

• • •

The difference between an asylum and a college; you have to improve to get out of an asylum.

—Loyolan.

Calendar

Tuesday, May 9

VILLANOVAN ..... 1:00 P. M.
Philosophy Seminar .... 1:30 P. M.
Tennis, Phila. College of Pharmacy (Away) 2:30 P. M.

Wednesday, May 10

Golf, Hampden-Sydney (Home) 2:30 P. M.
Music Seminar ..... 7:30 P. M.

Thursday, May 11

Baseball Game (at Providence, R. I.) 3:00 P. M.
History Seminar ..... 7:00 P. M.
Music Seminar ..... 7:30 P. M.

Friday, May 12

German Seminar ..... 9:45 A. M.
La Salle Tennis Match (Home) 2:30 P. M.
Golf (at Rider College). 2:30 P. M.
Research Seminar ..... 4:00 P. M.

Saturday, May 13

Tennis (at Rider) ..... 2:30 P. M.
Track (at West Point) . 3:00 P. M.
Baseball (at Williams) . 3:00 P. M.

Sunday, May 14

Fedigan vs. Alumni ...10:30 A. M.

Monday May 15

Mathematics Club .....12:30 P. M.
Baseball (at St. John's, Brooklyn) 3:00 P. M.
C. M. E. Banquet ..... 7:30 P. M.

RACIAL SUPERIORITY THEORY DENIED BY MENDEL MEDALIST

Anthropology No Support to Doctrine Says Rev. John Cooper, Ph. D.

That an application of the principles of anthropolgy as it is understood at present lends no support to doctrines of racial superiority was brought out in an address by the Rev. John Montgomery Cooper, Ph. D., on his acceptance of the Mendel Medal for 1939. The award was made at a faculty dinner held in the monastery dining hall, Thursday ,May 4.

At present, Dr. Cooper is vice-president of the American Anthropological association.

In the past, he served as president of the Anthropological Society of Washington, chairman of the Research Council Committee on Survey of South American Indians, corresponding member of the Sociedad Anthropologia Argentina, member of the Washington Academy of Sciences, Societe des Americanistes de Paris and Anthropologische Gesellschaft in Wien.

He has been the moving spirit of the Catholic Anthropological Conference, serving from the beginning as secretary-treasurer and editor of the conference publications, and of its quarterly "Primitive Man."

Rev. Edward V. Stanford, O. S. A., president of the college, in his speech compared Fr. Cooper with the ideal Catholic scientist described in Fr. Cooper's own book, which is used by the third year students in religion.

Dr. Hugh Scott Taylor, F. R. S. L, chairman of the Chemistry Department, Princeton University, and recipient of the Mendel Medal in 1933 spoke on behalf of the Mendel Medalists of past years, four of whom were present.

The advisory committee that selected this year's recipient was composed of past winners of the Mendel Medal.

Many faculty members were accompanied by their wives.

IF YOU WOULD HAVE HAIR, YOU MUST EAT

Prof. Butcher Says Men Should Eat More Food to Keep Hair

CLINTON, N. Y.—ACP—Men, if your hair is growing thin in places and baldness is approaching, you should eat more and better food to arrest the receding hair-line.

That is the assertion of Prof. Earl O. Butcher of the department of biology at Hamilton College who recently gained evidence for his statements in experiments completed on white rats. Dr. Butcher proved that demands for energy and for body repair are first met before the hair receives its quota of nutrition.

Business and domestic worries, the common excuse given for failing hair, may cause the loss of appetite and in that way decrease the intake of food necessary to nurture the hair cells, Dr. Butcher says.

Dr. Butcher noted that white rats get a new growth of hair every thirty-five days. If the animals, however, are underfed, their bodies continue to grow in length, and they are as active as ever, but their hair growth occurs only every 50 or 60 days, if at all.

Undernourishment retards the hair growth through the endocrine glands. Just exactly how these glands allow the other necessities of the body to be satisfied at the expense of the hair is being further investigated. Another challenge to scientists is the extent that endocrine glands can be altered so that hair can be induced to grow.

"Less worry and better appetites, more rest and less energy-consuming activity should be the salvation of America's hair problem," Dr. Butcher declared.

VILLANOVAN MEETS

This afternoon at 1:00 P. M., in Room 119, Mendel Hall, there will be a meeting of the combined College and Sport Staffs. All will kindly be present on time.

Visitors Have Blood Typed

During Open House premedical students demonstrated blood typing technique for those interested in knowing what blood classification they are in. Martin O. Kassell, senior science man, may be seen preparing the test, which is important in blood transfusions.

Lose Neither Your Hope Nor Pride In Bumming About the Countryside

By JAMES P. COLLINS

Murray P. Zealor, of Sophomore Presidency, Junior Council, and Hitler-profile fame, in the exceptional company of your correspondent (no ad libs, please, especially from the boys in the rear who are commonly called sports writers; stress the commonly), gaily set out upon this little sojourn to the peace Conference at New Rochelle, N. Y., one Friday afternoon, a half hour after the center of our plantery system had passed its zenith.

Without raising a digit we secured transportation with two C & F fellows wending their hilarious ways homeward down to City Line. Arrived upon that scene—just opposite the St. Charles Borromeo Seminary—we planted our cardboard destination sign upon a bush and waited with our forefingers waving in the breeze. "Waited" is no word for it—our stop-over was so extended that the darn sign began to match the shrub sprout for sprout.

At long last up drives a car with funny writing all over the side of it. Wearing glad smiles, the over night bag in hand, we have one foot on the running board only to look into a pair of nice blue eyes of a grinning Irish face surmounted by a new blue cap with a badge. Yep, the Police. Gulping like the "free liddy finnies', we retracted our too hasty feet and looked miserably at ease. All of this for nothing because the strong guardian of the law kindly inquired our destination, told us to pack along our sign when leaving, if ever, and wished us God-speed on our excursion.

With the next car to stop—a 1937 Plymouth—rode our fairy godmother and the answer to our bachelor prayers. The driver—I presume he was the operator of the vehicle since he was sitting behind the wheel—was an agreeable man of middle age, much interested in gardening and his new home. To him we loaned our bodily selves and attention for nigh on three and a half hours, as far as Jersey City in the language of the crow.

During this second and most fruitful lift of the trip many and sundry were the topics of conversation. We three skipped from politics to the Brooklyn Dodgers, from truck gardening to reckless drivers and back to the beloved Dodgers. Oh, yas, the home towns came in for a bit of ear-bending and praise. The ball game on the radio between the Pirates and the Reds went a long way to provide the homey atmosphere—homey, that is, if you lived above a shooting gallery and had an off-key soprano for a wife with ten lovely, squalling offsprings all in action at once.

Well, tempus did fugit, and we flit right along, a consistent fifty per throughout, into the unique domicile of Mayor Hague and Jimmy Donovan. With "muchia gratias" and a touching "Au Revoir", we three became two and departed from our gray-haired benefactor.

Thus ends the first installment of this happy (no preceding adjective witch rhymes with Pap, kindly notice) little ditty. Will we two reach our destination safely? If so, so what? Will Lady Fortune continue to court her two little sons? Are we crazy? (How did that get in here?) Look for the thrilling conclusion to this madelerdrama next week in the VILLANOVAN. If you have any time to spare, also lok for Phil Dunn and Joe "Binnie" Barnes. They have been going around in a fog since they had an original idea between them last week.

ESTIMATED 2500 AT OPEN HOUSE

Between 2500 and 3000 visitors attended the fourth Villanova Open House program, held Monday and Tuesday, May 1 and 2, according to an official estimate. This attendance far surpassed that of any other year.

The numerous exhibits drew favorable comment from groups of high school students, parents, representatives from other colleges, professional men, and representatives of large industries and organizations who were present.

PICTURES ON SALE

All pictures taken during Junior Week will be on display and for sale in the reception room of Mendel Hall on Thursday, from 12:00 to 5:00 P. M. They will include pictures of the opening ceremonies, Mothers' Day, Open House, the Prom, the Blazer Ball, and the Dinner Dance. About 60 pictures were taken on Mothers' Day, about ten at the Blazer Ball, 40 at the Junior Prom, and ten at the Dinner Dance.

FILM OF HOLLAND TUNNEL PRESENTED BY ENGINEERS

Presentation of a lecture dealing with the construction of the Holland Tunnel was held at last week's A. S. C. E. meeting.

As facilities prevented the showing of the actual motion pictures, Mr. Young, of the New York Port Authority, volunteered to show the group a number of slides he had acquired on the gigantic engineering project. In addition, Mr. Young undertook to explain every slide and added anecdotes about the actual work involved.

Lawrence Alumnus To Receive Degree

Continued From Page One

tation which aroused the New England governors and had an audience at the White House in order to further his pleas for the owners and operatives of New England mills.

He married Miss Grace Kelley of Lawrence. They have two children, Walter A., Jr., and James.

DRAMA PRESENTED BY INTERRACIALISTS

Ash Relates Problems of Negro to Collegiate Council

A drama "The Pied Piper of Peru," was presented under the auspices of the Intercollegiate Interacial Conference at La Salle College, last Sunday afternoon.

This group had met the week before at Simpson Hall on the college campus. At this meeting Victor Ash, former student of Villanova spoke. He pointed out the crises which a Negro faces in the embracing of the Catholic faith.

He pointed out that discrimination is made against the Negro in certain parts of the country. In some cases he is not allowed to attend various colleges. This, Ash said, makes it difficult for him to explain that the Church really is universal.

Following the address there were representatives from La Salle, St. Joseph's, Villanova Immaculata, and Rosemont. The meeting was under the chairmanship of Charles Hutzel of La Salle.

During the course of this discussion Fr. Walsh tried to point out solutions to the various difficulties. He told of the various movements being made within the folds of the Church to educate the Catholic priesthood and laity to do their duty towards the Negro.

Fr. Walsh mentioned a press league that had been instituted for that very purpose.

for Mother's Day

Next to the pleasure of having you home for the day, there's nothing Mother would enjoy more than the sound of your voice.

The low night rates on Long Distance calls are in effect all day Sunday. Why not have a good, long voice visit with her?

It will make her day complete.

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY OF PENNSYLVANIA

ENGINEERS HAVE ALUMNI BANQUET

Graduates From Classes of '33 to '38 Guests at Villanova

Chemical engineering alumni from the classes of '33 to '38 will be the guests of the Villanova Society of Chemical Engineers at a dinner at the college on Saturday, May 7.

The graduates will then meet the members of the society and have an opportunity to become better acquainted with the engineering personnel service and to inspect the laboratories that have been added since their time.

Mr. Paetrus F. Banmiller, director of the new service, has been receiving requests for experienced men. Any who wish to make a change will be able to confer with him at the dinner.

John Malaspina, president of the society, has charge of the affair and from the response he has had to date he expects to have most of the 46 graduates present. Those unable to attend will write, telling about what they've been doing, and these letters will be read to those present.

Harold Murphy Heads P. K. P.

Continued From Page One

for treasurer, Paul Farnsworth, Frank Abbott, and Edward Hlubny; for secretary, Thomas Maley; for Student Council, John Maucieri, Harry Kunberger, and Walter Kelly.

The eelction of the sergeant at arms was rather unusual inasmuch as a majority was not obtained by any of the candidates at first and the ultimate winner had to be decided by a re-election. Those originally nominated for this position were Daniel Keating, Fred Berger, and Daniel Dalina.

Wildcat Nine Ends Borowy's Winning Streak

St. John's Humbles Netters After 'Cats Top Seton Hall

Dunne Wins Singles Match for Blue; Fishbach, Brooklyn Ace, Stars in Redmen's 5-3 Victory on Local Courts

Sportorial

By Phil Dunn
Sports Editor

ALL of the sports columnists wrote pillars about Lou Gehrig when he recently broke his consecutive game streak of 2130; but none of them did one that can touch that of Heywood Broun. Mr. Broun who writes a syndicated column daily, explained with sound logic why Lou was never recognized as the greatest first baseman in the game—that is, by the great majority of the people.

PHIL DUNN

"Colorless" is a fairly good description of an "Iron Horse" or mechanical man. A machine, and Lou is a human machine, while doing its job methodically and perfectly is, nevertheless, lacking in color. More people enjoy watching an occasional grandstand play than a succession of flawless movements that have nothing spectacular about them.

Gehrig was not a spectacular ball .player,. but .he .did .his.. work thoroughly. Besides this he was in there every day, pounding away both at bat and afield. That cannot be said about any other nominee for the mythical "Best" spot.

—V—

Still on the Gehrig situation, Mr. Bround attributes the fall of the "Iron Horse' 'to newspapermen. This, too, has logic to back it up. It is the colorful player who gets his name in the papers most often, and while Lou was up there blasting out homers and driving in runs, he had his share of glory. Even then, however, the monotony of the thing was becoming boring to writers and readers alike. Gehrig's failure last year to hit .300 was played up to his disadvantage by the press and the "mob" took up the chant that has him on the bench today.

That rejuvenation took place in the Yankee lineup cannot be denied. The very day he withdrew from his post the New Yorkers scored 22 runs. It appears then that it is time Lou took a rest. He will be around for many more seasons and will play his share of the games, but his contention that the record of consecutive games meant nothing to him was a pretense. As one writer had it, "He passed up too many chances" to break the streak for that statement to be true.

—V—

Johnny Wysocki received a bid to play in the annual Chicago All-Star game this year. He, himself, is not sure but it is believed he will not accept. He claims that he is through with football—which is in our opinion, a smart claim, if he can stick to it. The "filthy lucre" angle has overcome the objections of many college stars who said they would not play pro ball (most recently Davie O'Brien); and so we wonder weather or not Johnny will be on the roster of professional team next year.

Joey Fishbach, St. John's ace and National Indoor Junior kingpin made his long awaited appearance on the Villanova courts Saturday afternoon. Facing him was Sophomore Eddie Banagan who is rapidly rounding into championship calibre. Fishbach won his match in jig time at 6-1, 6-1.

It is interesting to note that Banagan earned 19 points and forced the St. John's ace to commit four errors in the first set. In the second canto Banagan scored 17 points and forced his opponent to err on six occasions with long drives to the corner of the court.

Fishbach Flashy

Fishbach was omnipotent at the net laying away point after point on smashes to all sides of the court. Where most college players wait for the ball to bounce, this clever exponent of the game would take the ball on the volley and drop them for points. His deception was remarkable; couple that with his other traits and you have a champion.

It was Dennis Dunne who brought the Wildcats their first points of the match. Facing Johnny Williams at the number 5 post, he ran into difficulty in the second set after he copped the first at 6-4. Dunne blew a 4-1 lead to lose at 6-4. The third set was a marathon with the tide turning in favor of each player at different intervals. Williams, holding a 5-4 lead with 30-love, cracked wide open when the Villanova boy blasted three straight down-the-line placements to pull out the game. That was the endl for the St. John's player who dropped the next two giving Dunne the match at 7-5.

Win Doubles

"Tex" Conners and Johnny Leary

ST. JOHN'S Continued on Page Seven

Blue Meets Army In Track At Point

Runners Do Well in Relays; Shedlosky Turns in Notable Performance

With the Penn Relays more than a week behind them the track men travel to West Point this Saturday to take on the cadets in their second dual meet of the year.

Coach Elliot expressed his satisfaction of the showing of his men at the relay carnival and especially of Johnny Maher and "Legs" Shedlosky. Maher, pitted against the greatest sprinters in the country in the special 100-yard dash, turned in a brilliant performance. Although Johnny placed fourth, he was credited with a 9:8 time. It should be remembered that he was running on the much used pole position when he did this.

Cats in Fast Heat

The half-mile team finished fourth in the American Championship. Pitt set a new record for this event when they captured it in 1:42:8. The Wildcats had the fastest qualifying time in the morning as they were beating out such teams as Cornell and North Texas State Teachers.

It was in this race and as a member of th mile relay that Shedlosky proved his capability. With only a week of practice, "Legs" conditioned himself to run in the sprint relay on Friday, while Saturday he ran in the heats and finals of the half-mile relay, and

BLUE Continued on Page Six

New Award

The trophy pictured above has been donated by the VILLANOVAN to intramural sports. Each year the group winning the Intramural Championship will have its name engraved upon the plate at the base; and the moderator of the winners will retain the trophy for one year.

HARD TASK REMAINS AS PRACTICE ENDS

Ends Worry "Clipper"; Two Practice Games Aid Coaches in Spotting Standouts

By BILL DeGRACE

Terminating the tenth and final week of Spring practice Coach Smith is convinced that the Villanova squad will have a more difficult task to perform next Fall than last in preparing for the season's games. Hindered by the inclement and inconsistent weather, the squad has been unable to perform close line work from an offensive point of view and as a result the offensive has been fluctuating.

Only eight games are listed for next Fall but every team is of a high calibre and will be striving to abolish that two-year streak of Villanova's. It will be impossible for the team to allow another South Carolnia let-down or other such relapses as they have in the past if they wish to remain unbeaten.

F. & M. Proves Strong

Last week's practice game was a profitable one from a mental point of view because it made the squad realize that they will have to play better all-around football. The coaching staff are grateful to Franklin and Marshall for allowing the team to come down to appraise the talents of the Villanova squad and to afford such formidable opposition.

Foremost cause of worriment at this late stage to the "Clipper" is the end problem. The ends, with the exception of Bukofski and Nowak, have been very unimpressive and Coach Smith is convinced that the freshmen have to accomplish tremendous strides if they wish to see any game action next Fall. "Clipper" realizes that Bukofski and Nowak cannot play every minute of every game and that there is a dire necessity for capable reserves. Contrary to reports the Villanova squad is not five deep in every position. There is a great difference between a football player and a member of the squad.

Bukofski Liked

N. Y. U. coaches were high in

HARD TASK Continued on Page Seven

Fordham Star Loses First As Blue Tossers Win 7-2

Joe Desmond Allows But Seven Hits, No Walks, Fans Four; Mike Lazorchak and Jack Donoghue Sparkle Offensively

By BOB FUNABASHI

Defying the insurmountable odds of a 17-game winning streak held by Fordham's "Hank" Borowy, the Wildcats tarnished the Rams of Rose Hill by a 7-2 victory, last Saturday afternoon at Fordham Field before a large crowd of 3000.

The Rams, with Borowy seeking his eighth straight victory this year were held to seven scattered hits as Joe Desmond went the entire distance for the Wildcats, chalking up his third victory and thereby ruining the unbeatable record of Borowy, who has never tasted defeat during his college career.

Lazorchak Gets Four Hits

The Villanova batsmen were equally effective in the defeat by punching out eleven hits for seven earned runs. Diminutive Mike Lazorchak was the hitting star of the game, smashing out a triple and three singles, driving in two runs and scoring thrice himself.

Fordham pushed off to an early lead in the second inning and with their temporary headstart the fans were of the thought that Borowy was on his way to fulfill his conquest. His single, followed by Bill Krywicki's triple to deep center field and John Dillon's sacrifice fly gave Fordham a 2-0 lead as the Wildcats came up to bat in the top half of the third.

'Cats Score in third

Undaunted by Borowy's tentative grip over them for the first two frames the Wildcats penetrated the pitching of Fordham's ace and

FORDHAM Continued on Page Six

Golfers Win, Lose In First Matches

Rider Defeated 5½ to 2½ While St. John's Linksmen Take 6-3 Verdict

Having had its initial golf match with Franklin & Marshall rained out after eleven holes were played, the Villanova sextet officially opened the 1939 golf season with an impressive 5 1-2 to 3 1-2 win over Rider College of Trenton on Friday, April 28. Captain Jim Dwyer led the Villanovans to their initial win with a decisive victory over Carlos Accettola by the score of 5-3.

"Chuck" Roche, Dwyer's playing partner was less fortunate and came out on the short end of the match with Carl Bradbury by the total of 5-4. Through Dwyer's impressive playing Villanova was able to eke out a 1-up decision in the foursome best ball match.

'Cat Pair Have Best Ball

Playing in the second foursome for Villanova were Joe Pagano and Lou Dubino. After staging a sensational uphill battle after being 4 down with seven holes remaining to play, Joe managed to come within striking distance of a "halve" but finally lost out 2-1. Dubino found his opponent to his liking and blasted his way to a seven hole lead in the first nine holes and finally ended his match on the thirteenth green with a 6-5 victory. Through their combined efforts, Pagano and Dubino were

GOLFERS Continued on Page Seven

SIX GAMES CARDED IN '150' LOOP FOR VETERAN BLUE CLUB

Stoviakmen Open With Cornell at Ithaca on Oct. 14; Two Home Games

By JOE BARNES

Six games, two at home and four on foreign soil, compose the 1939 bill of fare for Coach Ray Stoviak's fast-rising 150-pound grid team. The season will open on October 14th when the Blue eleven will travel to Ithaca, N. Y., to engage the powerful Cornell club.

Thirteen days after their engagement on the banks of Cayuga's famed waters, on October 27 to be exact, Villanova's mighty mites will again hit the travel trail. This time they will play beneath the ivy of Princeton University. Last year the Princeton Tiger clawed his way to the top rung of the loop ladder and emerged champion of the Lightweight Conference.

'Cats Seek Revenge

Despite his championship qualities the Tiger had plenty of trouble against the Wildcat last Fall. Perhaps this year will see the Wildcat defeat avenged.

Third game on the schedule is the Blue's curtain-raiser for the home fans. The boys from 33rd and Spruce St., Pennsylvania, will provide the party of the second part. Two seasons ago Villanova walloped the Quaker eleven, 20-0, and last year were held to a 0-0 deadlock.

November 11 sees the Blue team hitting the road again, this time for a fray with Rutgers University at New Brunswick, N. J. Home of the conference big-wigs, New Brunswick is THE place to show your finest wares. Last Fall the Rutgers club held the Wildcats to a scoreless tie.

Easton Trip

Easton, Pa. is the final traveling destination for Stoviak's crew. Lafayette, lone victim of last year's team, will be the hosts as Villanova attempts to repeat its victory. The date is November 17.

Yale University, minus "Dick Merriwell," comes to Goodreau Stadium on November to help the Blue close down its season. The Eli eleven were crown-holders two seasons back.

An interesting sidelight of the schedule is the absence of conflict with varsity games. Last year the two schedules did not harmonize and much confusion resulted. Such an occurrence is not possible this Fall.

McGurk Returns

Prospects at this time are hard to analyze as the one-fifties do not engage in Spring training like the varsity. However, several veterans are returning, including A "All-American" Don McGurk at end; "Guy" Lombardo, Brad McManus, and a host of others.

150-LB. FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Oct. 14—Cornell at Ithaca, N. Y.
Oct. 27—Princeton at Princeton, N. J.
Nov. 3—Pennsylvania Villanova.
Nov. 11—Rutgers at New Brunswick, N. J.
Nov. 17—Lafayette at Easton, Pa.
Nov 25—Yale at Villanova.

Mendel Takes Intramural Baseball Lead

Win Forfeit From Fedigan Then Trounce Austin 8-3

Blueshirts, Playing Double-Header, Beat Alumni in Afternoon; Gigolos Must Win Next Sunday to Tie For Lead

By WALTER LESSING

The intramural baseball race was thrown into a muddle last Sunday as Fedigan hall, leaders in the race up to date, forfeited their chances of clinching the title by failing to put a team on the field.

Since they were scheduled to meet Mendel hall, their only rivals for the crown, they not only gave them the game but they assured this dark horse team of at least a tie in the league standings.

Since Fedigan did not make an appearance, Austin hall played a double-header, losing to Mendel 8-3 in the morning tilt, and winning the nightcap 16-11 over Alumni hall.

Fitzgerald Hits Homer

Paced by the hitting of Cerullo and Fitzgerald, the latter hitting a tremendous home run, Mendel was able to down Father McKee's ball club for the second straight time. Steve Alsenbrey, Mendel's ace twirler, in winning his fourth victory of the season, limited Austin to three runs and eight hits. The only men able to solve his slants with consistency were Cleary and McGuire, the former getting his first home run of the season, a long drive down the left field foul line. Pantaleo, pitching for Austin, was touched for two hits by the hard-hitting Cerrullo.

In the second game of the day the Blueshirts fattened their run-production mark by pounding Alumni for 16 runs on only eight hits. Boudon, Pantaleo, and Forkin paced the attack with two hits each, while for Alumni Nicora and Lozowski were the leading hitters. Austin came up with a new pitcher in Haluszka who looks like a real prospect; a little wild in spots he walked eight men, but managed to strike out ten batters.

Fedigan Meets Alumni

The important game of season will be played next Sunday when Fedigan meets Alumni at 10:30 o'clock. Fedigan, in second place by a half game, needs a victory to tie Mendel for the league lead; a defeat would assure Mendel of the championship.

The standing of the league now shows Mendel in front with five wins and one loss; Fedigan hall holds second place with four and one; Austin is third with three and three; while Alumni is in the cellar with five defeats and no victories.

Fedigan will be favored when they take the field next Sunday morning for they already hold a decision over Alumni's nine, but Father Dunne has been pointing for this game and expects to put a team on the field that will upset all the advance predictions by snapping Frank Castles' winning streak and assuring Mendel of the championship.

The pitching assignments will most likely find Castles facing Malone, with Murpy catching for Fedigan and Lozowski for Alumni.

Fordham

Continued From Page Five

thrust three runs across the plate in the third to startle the Maroon's fans.

George Balmore, with his initial start in the outfield, promptly drove a single over second to start the inning. Crawley imitated the actions of Balmore by also singling, putting Balmore on second base. Then Borowy became a bit illusive and Lazorchak broke the ice for Villanova by driving in Balmore on a single to right. The fourth straight hit was issued by Borowy on Donoghue's single which sent Crawley scurrying home for the second run. Lazorchak moved to third on Donoghue's bingle and then scored on Wanmeacher's sacrifice fly, to put the Wildcats in front with a one run margin.

Lazorchak Triples

In the fifth, with Crawley on first base, Lazorchak poled out a mighty three base hit, scoring Crawley and putting the Villanova fans in ecstacies. Donoghue's ground out sent Lazorchak home for the second run of the frame.

Borowy was rather unyielding for the next three innings, while his teammates could offer but little co-operation at bat, and he was quite effective in the strike-out department, in which he is noted.

But his impressive pitching did not hold for long, for in the final stanza Lazorchak again threw a monkeywrench into the works by garnering his fourth hit. With two away Crawley walked, drawing the first free pass of the game, and then stole second on a wild throw on an attempt to nab him. Another wild throw sent him home for Villanova's sixth run. Lazorchak lined a single through the box and Donoghue, who also had an effective day at bat, smashed out his third hit scoring Lazorchak. Desmond checked any chance of the Maroon's scoring in the ninth and upheld his perfect mound twirling.

Villanova's Fifth Win

Since the brace of runs he gave the Rams in the second inning, he limited them to four scattered hits for the remaining seven innings. Not once did he issue a base on balls and his four strikeouts occurred at the proper moments. His triumph over Fordham gave Villanova their fifth victory of the campaign as against two setbacks, one by C. C. N. Y. and the other by Penn State.

Villanova	ab.	r.	h.	o.	a.
Crawley, 2b	4	3	2	0	2
Lazorchak, ss	5	3	4	5	2
Donoghue, rf	3	0	1	0	0
Wanniemacher, lf	4	0	0	5	0
Boud, 1b	4	0	0	8	1
Brady, 3b	4	0	1	1	0
Vigilante, c	4	0	1	7	0
Balmore, cf	4	1	1	0	0
Desmond, p	4	0	0	1	1
Totals	38	7	11	27	6

Fordham	ab.	r.	h.	o.	a.
J. Hearn, ss	4	0	1	1	3
M. Hearn, cf	4	2	2	1	0
Petrino, lf	4	0	0	2	0
McGurk, 1b	4	0	1	6	0
Principe, 3b	4	0	0	0	1
Borowy, p	4	1	1	1	1
Krywecki, c	4	1	2	9	0
Dillon, 2b	2	0	0	3	3
Hasemiller, rf	2	0	0	4	0
Cahill, 3b	1	0	0	0	0
Totals	33	2	7	27	7

Villanova ..... 0 0 3 0 2 0 0 0 2—7
Fordham ..... 0 2 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—2

Errors—Villanova, 2 (Lazorchak, Balmore); Fordham, 2 (Dillon, 2).

Struck out—By Desmond, 4; by Borowy, 3. Sacrifice—Wannemacher, Dillon. Three-base hits—Krywicki, Lazorchak. Double play—Lazorchak and Bond. Bases on balls—Off Borowy, 1. Runs batted in — Lazorchak, 2; Donoghue, 3; Wannemacher, 1. Stolen bases — Crawley, Lazorchak. Left on bases—Villanova, 6; Fordham, 5. Time of game—1.50. Umpires—Browne and Meade.

In the Sportlight

By JIM HAUGHTON

With the advent of summer which brings with it golf and tennis weather, it is no more than fitting that the sports spotlight should fall on a young gentleman who is probably the campus' leading exponent in those fields. That fellow is Jim Dwyer.

He has been garnering honor after honor in both fields for the past several years and will go down in the books of Wildcat sport fame as one of the most skillful athletes in two of sportsdom's most skillful and exacting games.

Captains Golfers

Right now Jim is leading the local linksmen over bunker and tee as captain. And he has been meeting with fair success. In three attempts thus far he has walked off with honors in two, losing only to the St. John's representative by a close margin. And recently when he, along with a few locals, combined with nearby collegians against a strong country club outfit Jim came out on top.

Jim has been a member of the local link squad since coming to Villanova and also captained the group last year. His sophomore year found him going right through the opposition for a perfect battle card. And last year he was almost as successful, losing only one match.

Whenever you converse with a golfer, the subject usually gets around to the question, "Well, what was the best you ever shot?" In Jim Dwyer's case the answer is a nice low 70. He's shot that mark several times and claims he doesn't care if he doesn't go below it, just as long as he doesn't jump above it.

Plays Excellent Tennis

You may recall that up in the lead some mention was made of tennis. Well Jim Dwyer also excels in that sort of competition too. He's only played tennis one year here because his golfing activity kept him busy. But the record he compiled will stand a lot of shooting at, and still remain intact. In 14 matches Jim came out on top with only one defeat. That was against the West Chester Teachers netman. But later when they met, Jim evened the count.

And then to add a little dessert to the menu he went over across the highway for the intramural tennis tourney and hiked back with the victory cup under his arm.

Up in Trenton where Jim hails from he has also gathered unto himself quite a fancy court record. He won the city Junior Tennis Championship in 1933 and again in 1935. He lost in quarter-finals in '34, but his cousin, Bill Dwyer, who now captains the St. Joe court crew stepped up and kept the honor right in the family. Together these two court cousins have also gathered quite a few doubles honors up near the Jersey capital town.

Jim is a graduate of Cathedral High in Trenton and while there captained the tennis squad for two years, besides leading the golfers for his four years.

Made All-Intramural

As everybody on the local camping ground now, intramural basketball is "the" thing during the snowy season. Well Jim manages to keep warm and limbered by playing on the Austin Hall contingent. His deceptive ball handling was so good his second year that the board of selectors decided he was the man for the job of guard and thus he landed on the All-Intramural team.

Other activities besides sports have kept Jim well occupied during his four-year stay on the local terrain. He's a member of the Commerce and Finance student body where he majors in Finance. And whenever Will Osborne is mentioned Jim Dwyer's name naturally follows. For it was Jim as chairman of the Senior Ball who was an instrumental factor in signing the creater of Slide-Music for the campus terpsichorean emporium.

Along with being a leader in the sports league, Jim also rates as one lad rigut up with the leaders in the race for sartorial elegance. For no matter when you meet Jim he is well groomed, with the crease in the right place and the garment a pace-maker in style.

Blue

Continued From Page Five

then carried the baton for a quarter on the mile team. This performance proved that he is worth watching in the future.

Mile Relay Team Second

With Pete Yankaukas anchoring, the mile quartet placed second in their event. The Wildcats were credited with a 3:26 mile.

Coach Elliot is looking forward with great eagerness to the Army meet. This is quite a boost from recent schedules and if the team can make a good showing, he can guarantee more meets of this kind. He is loking for Maher, Gulteras, Bellew and Buzzalino to get their share of points.

NOTICE

A well known sports authority will address the sports staff at the regular meeting of the Villanovan to be held in Room 119, Mendel at 1 o'clock. Be there!

Prescriptions
Drugs & Toilet Articles
LA DOW'S PHARMACY
LANCASTER PIKE and SPRING MILL ROAD
VILLANOVA, PA.

Philip Harrison Store
Shoes & Clothing For The Family
Next Door to the Movies
BRYN MAWR, PA.

KEEP SUPPLIED WITH SCHOOL TICKETS
Good on Buses and Rail Cars until used. 3c a Ride, including Special Free Transfers. School Identification Cards may be obtained at School Office.
PHILADELPHIA SUBURBAN TRANSPORTATION COMPANY
ARDMORE TRANSPORTATION CO.

— RIDE FREE ON P. & W. RAILWAY MOVIE TICKET —
GRAND Theatre, NORRISTOWN
Tuesday
Maureen O'Sullivan in "LET US LIVE"
Wednesday & Thursday
Tony Martin - Gloria Stuart in "WINNER TAKE ALL"
Friday & Saturday
Mickey Rooney in "HUCKLEBERRY FINN"
NORRIS Theatre, NORRISTOWN
Tuesday
Claudette Colbert - Don Ameche in "MIDNIGHT"
Wednesday & Thursday
Jeanette MacDonald in "BROADWAY SERENADE"
Fri., Sat., Mon. & Tues.
Errol Flynn in "DODGE CITY"
GARRICK Theatre
Wed. & Thurs. - Double Feature
'Pardon Our Nerve' - 'Prison Train'
Friday & Saturday
Priscilla Lane & J. Lynn in 'YES, MY DARLING DAUGHTER'

VILLANOVAN ADVERTISERS DESERVE YOUR PATRONAGE

Direction Warner Bros.
Tower Theatre
69th & Market Sts.
Motion Pictures Are Your Best Entertainment
Wednesday & Thursday
WALLACE BEERY in "SERGEANT MADDEN"
Starting Friday For One Week
CLAUDETTE COLBERT DON AMECHE John Barrymore in "MIDNIGHT"
A Romantic Comedy

SEVILLE THEATRE
Tuesday
WARNER BAXTER and LORETTA YOUNG in "WIFE, HUSBAND AND FRIEND"
Wednesday & Thursday
"THE OKLAHOMA KID" with JAMES CAGNEY
Friday & Saturday
"ICE FOLLIES OF 1939" JOAN CRAWFORD and JAMES STEWART
Sunday & Monday
SHIRLEY TEMPLE in "LITTLE PRINCESS"

Ardmore Theatre
Notice to Students
Did you know that your matriculation card will get you a reduced rate at the Ardmore Theatre at any time.
Tuesday
"FOUR GIRLS IN WHITE" with Florence Rice - Una Merkel Buddy Ebsen - Kent Taylor
Wednesday
ADOLPHE MENJOU in "KING OF THE TURF" with Dolores Costello Walter Abel - Alan Dinehart
Thursday, Friday & Saturday
IRENE DUNNE CHARLES BOYER in "LOVE AFFAIR" with Maria Auspenskaya - Lee Bowman Latest March of Time
Sunday & Monday
JOHN GARFIELD in "BLACKWELL'S ISLAND" with Rosemary Lane - Stanley Field

Hard Task

Continued From Page Five

their praise of Frank Bukofski's end play. His tireless booming play was a thorn in the side of the Violets all afternoon

The brightest spot of the Spring season as far as "Clipper" is concerned is the fine work of freshman Joe Behot, a back possessing a fine football head with the rare ability of doing the right thing at the right time. Besides this he is a fine all-around back.

Another freshman back who has pleased the coaches is Ad Worthington. He has the makings of developing into a fine forward passer. A plunging fullback, it remains for him to acquire the knack of running with effectiveness to either side. On the field he looks the part of a fire-chilled veteran and that is something very few freshmen possess.

Frosh Showing Improvement

Other freshmen, such as Nieman, McClelland, Korisky, Kasky, and Stenn have given reason to believe that by next Fall they will be ready for varsity competition. All are big and have been effective on both offense and defense.

Of last years varsity squad a number of the members have improved considerably. Morkum has made the most remarkable advancement. In the past year he has gained a wealth of football knowledge and has displayed it this year on both the football field and in the football classroom. In the quarterly examinations he has made a fine showing.

Varsity Backs Better

Both Shader and Sabrinsky are running harder than last year. The latter has improved his passing and Shader is blocking with more finesse. Sabrinsky, although he does not display a lot of flash and fire on the field, is always in there playing a good steady game.

One thing the F. and M. game brought out very clearly was the fact that Dave Di Filippo can still play a good game at guard when he puts his mind to it. During the major part of the Spring he was inclined to lay back, but once inserted into the game he displayed the ability that enabled him to be a starting guard for the past two years.

St. John's

Continued From Page Five

presented a formidable duo in the number one doubles spot. With machine-like rapidity they brushed aside Guardella and Hume by scores of 6-2, 6-3. Both boys were powerful at the net where they hammered away at the two St. John's men who had previously walked over Villanovans Conners and Ibarguen in singles matches.

In other singles tests Beatty Schermerhorn bowed to Bob Gurian 6-3, 6-4, and Les Powers humbled Joe Hirsch 6-4, 3-6, 6-2.

Seton Stopped

It was a different story against Seton Hall with the Wallachmen making a clean sweep of the doubles after they had split with the Jersey collegians in the six singles tests. Winners for the locals were Fred Rappleyea, Beatty Schermerhorn, and Eddie Banagan. In the doubles Rappleyea teamed with Banegan to defeat Sullivan and Peccorelli; Wallach and Schermerhorn barely beat Sadowski and Gleason, and Conners playing with Joe Hirsch won an uphill battle from Rakoon and Wood in three long sets.

HECKLER WINS

A couple of years ago there was a fellow who attended the A's games and continually heckled them. One day they had him thrown out of the park. He brought the case to court and the judge ruled that he was within his constitutional rights to yell, scream and heckle as much as he desired. Connie Mack in order to appease this man gave him a season's pass and has continued to do so in order that he will not "ride" the A's.

CAT NINE'S ANNUAL NEW ENGLAND TRIP BEGINS WEDNESDAY

The cancellation of a scheduled game with Holy Cross (by H. C.) leaves three contests to be played by "Doc" Jacobs charges on their annual New England trip which begins on Wednesday and ends Monday. While on the road the Blue and White nine will play Providence, Williams, and Boston College on the 11th, 13th and 15th of May, respectively.

The Providence and Boston clubs have already appeared here. The former, while they played only one inning, got off to a fast start and scored a run on a day that was so windy that the umpire called the game for fear that someone would be injured.

B. C. in Close Game Here

Boston College dropped a close 6-4 decision to the locals in the best contest waged on the Main Line diamond this season. Frank Burns led the Eagles attack with a line-drive homer over the left field which sent Boston into a three run lead at 4-1. This lead was slowly whittled away with the aid of Boston errors, which indicates that an errorless Eagle infield may defeat the 'Cats at Boston on the 15th.

Williams College, whose baseball team will be met at Williamstown, Mass., on Saturday, has been having a very successful season to date. This little school concentrates on baseball as far as varsity athletics go and is expected to provide plenty of competition for the Wildcats when they meet.

Golfers

Continued From Page Five

able to win the best ball match 5-4.

Dave Morse and Cliff Randolph rounded out the remaining two-some of the Villanova golf team and split with their opponents as far as points were concerned. Morse lost to George Davis of Rider 3-2 and Randolph showed some promise of becoming a top-notcher by his 4-3 victory over Charels Warms. The best ball match ended in a tie.

Dwyer led the medal play with a four over par 74 while Accettola, Bradbury and Dubino followed with 81's.

St. John's Wins

Meeting St. John's of Brooklyn the following day, the Villanova outfit was less fortunate losing the match 6-3. Very much off form, Dwyer lost his first match of the season 3-2 to Russ Ebbets. Charles Roche also had trouble in finding his range and fell before Joe Goward 4-3. St. John's captured the best ball by the 4-3 total.

Following the first twosome's example Joe Pagano fell before Wayne Christensen on the eighteenth green after coming from behind and tying his match on the seventeenth. Dubino carried on his good work of the past day and beat Joe Parillo, 4-2. Through the excellent work of Christensen, St. John's won the best ball match on the eighteenth green 1 up.

Randolph On Top 3-2

Cliff Randolph came through with his usual fine performance and won handily from Al Adamcyzk 3-2 while Morse after having been four down on the fourteenth green, won the next three holes but fell short of a halve with Adamcyzk when Al sank a 20-foot putt on the final green to equal Morse's par three in the best ball department.

Dine Dance
Bryn Mawr Confectionery

Approved Penna. Private Business School
BUSINESS TRAINING
BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION AND SECRETARIAL SCIENCE for young men and women.
One, Two and Three Years Day and Evening Courses
8 Weeks Summer Session
Founded 1865
PEIRCE SCHOOL
Pine St. West of Broad Philadelphia, Pa.

G. W. Cadwallader
Paints, Glass and Painters' Supplies
BUILDERS' SPECIALTIES
6101 MARKET ST.
Philadelphia
Phone SHErwood 1423

Baseball Sidelights

By BOB BOND

Did you ever hear the one about the fellow who was in the batting slump? He tried bat after bat with no success. Finally in desperation he came across a very slender stick which he decided to try as it was the only one he had not used. He came out of his batting slump with a "bang" and really hit that ball. When interviewed and asked the reason for his phenomenal streak of slugging he said, ' I don't know who this Chinese fellow, Fungo, is; but boy! he has a great bat." For more of this type stories see Bob Pash.

Jimmy Powers told this one the othe day. It seems there was a couple of scouts in Florida looking for talent. One day they came across a huge boy throwing rocks at squirrels. Every time he threw a rock a squirrel would fall out of a tree. He was throwing the rocks with his left hand and had a nice easy motion. The scouts immediately became very excited and one of them accosted the big southpaw.

"Say son," said the big league ivory hunter, "did you ever do any pitching?"

"Yas, I sure has," replied the boy.

"How would you like to pitch for our big-league team?" asked the scout.

The boy replied, "Well, I reckon I could, if you all gave me more dough than ah gets chucking for the town team. Ah gets a dollar a game."

"We can give you more than that," was the answer. "We need a good left-hander badly."

"But," protested the boy, "ah's no left-hander."

The scout wanted then to know why he was throwing rocks at the squirrels with his left hand. The boy said, "Did you ever try to eat squashed squirrels." P. S. I didn't think you would get it.

"Connie" Nicholas threw a fine game Tuesday against Loyola, holding the opponents to three hits, two being of the scratch variety. Villanova presented a revamped line-up with Lazorchok at short, Howlett at third, Balmore in center and Wannamacher moving over to left. Howlett hit the longest ball of the day, a long triple to center field.

Did you know that—per usual the veterans in the big leagues are getting a slow start and it is the hitting of the rookies that is carrying the teams through. "Barney" McCoskey of Detroit has gone into a slump, and if he does not come out of it soon, the early Spring sensation will be sent back to the minors . . . Al Simmons can't miss hitting .300 if he plays 90 games with the Bees . . . Gamblers are taking odds that "Debs" Garms of the Bees will lead the National League in hitting . . . Nick Etten, ex-Villanovan continues to hit for the Athletics . . . Jim Schelle, last year's varsity pitcher and now a senior in the C. & F. school pitched against Duke for the Pennacs. This game meant a lot to Schelle as Mack likes him very much and if he had beaten the A's junior varsity, well . . . Advance press notices would indicate that Eric Tipton, Duke's All-American football player and present clean-up hitter on the baseball club will join the A's upon graduation . . . The National League hurlers are having a hard time getting Merrill May, rookie third sacker of the Phillies out.

PARAMOUNT GRILLE
BRYN MAWR

The Wayne Hotel
LANCASTER AVENUE
WAYNE, PA.
Telephone 380
Headquarters For Visitors to Villanova
Excellent Dinners at $1
SPECIAL STUDENT RATES
J. T. McFATE, Mgr.

HERE and THERE

By HARRY MAZZEI

NOW that Nellie Stoate (rain to you guys) has decided to move to less fertile fields, the spring athletes of these parts may finally, like "Little Sir Echo," come out to play.

To say that rain has been partly responsible for the spring teams' hitherto poor performances would be making a mild statement. There can be no doubt but that all of Villanova's present competing outfits—baseball, tennis, golf, and track—have been severely handicapped by the excessive outbursts of spring rains.

Pitchers have sore arms; the hitters' eyes were so far off in their timing they thought opposing hurlers were throwing split peas at them; the joints of the cinder path performers were stiffer than freshmen first going through Clipper's "Swing Shift;" the overhand smashes of the netsters have been digging up clay beyond the baselines; and the golfers were having difficulty with their slices and hooks.

Harry Mazzei

With the emerging of that "big, red-faced fellow" from those overcast skies, it is hoped that the varsity clubs will begin to move upstream.

At this writing the diamond minions are sporting five wins as against two losses; the track team has split even in two dual matches (but they turned in several commendable performances in the Penn Relays); and the linksmen and racquetters are striving for a .500 percentage. This is definitely below par for Villanova athletics. Within a few weeks we hope to be able to say (although we don't relish this particular phrase) "I told you so."

* * *

Byram Saam, who narrates the Wildcat grid contests over the ether, dropped into the athletic office the other day bearing ominous tidings from the great Southwest, where footballs are manufactured with wings on them. "By," you may recall, originally hails from the Texas country, so his word may be accepted without those well-known salt granules.

According to the pleasant radio commentator the football championship of the Southwestern Conference will be contested between Texas Christian, last year's winners, Texas A. and M., and Arkansas. The latter two aggregations loom large on the Blue grid "sked," so it looks like "plenty tough sledding" in the fall.

* * *

In the complaint department, we have been told that swimming in the college pool has been curtailed of late by the failure of the pool attendents to put in an appearance. It seems that several of the students have the responsibility of opening and closing the tank and handling the swimming equipment, and when they are not on the job the pool remains closed.

Lately they've been rather negligent with the result that prospective "ripple-makers" have had to remain in dry-dock. This is a condition that should be remedied immediately, for it's growing warmer every day.

* * *

It seems that several of the gridders have been wondering how to apply a "Congressional Bloc." We suggest that they take their problem to Dr. Hartman of the Political Science Department, rather than to Clipper ("Toward a More Picturesque Speech") Smith.

* * *

There was no little comment overheard from those large crowds that inhabited the campus last week about the paucity of athletic events at such an opportune time. Why not plan now to stymie any such future recurrence?

* * *

We doff our chapeau this week to Connie Nicholas, the smooth working southpaw from the Bronx. The husky left-hander got up from the bench last Tuesday after being there for practically all of the spring and turned in the most impressive twirling performance that "Doc" Jacobs has witnessed this year.

* * *

Nicholas, strangely enough, has yet to hook up with an outfit for summer mound work, but a few more exhibitions like the one against Loyola will find the vacation league managers beating a path to his door.

Burke Dairies
Milk & Cream
NORRISTOWN, PA.
Phone 2736-W

JEANNETT'S BRYN MAWR FLOWER SHOP
Floral Ideas For All Occasions
Specializing in Corsages
Member Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association
823 Lancaster Ave.
Bryn Mawr 570

Men's Clothes Made-to-Measure
COLEBY Tailoring Inc.
57th & Market Sts.
Suits & Topcoats
$24.75
See Campus Representative
TIM WAAD
210 Fedigan

COLADONATO
B. M. 1266
College Tailor Since 1925
Made to Measure Clothes
Suits and Topcoats
$24.50
CLEANING PRESSING
"THE CLOTHES WE SELL FIT WELL"
Cassocks and Capes at Reasonable Prices
See Campus Representative
ED DIMON
235 Austin

Mendel Takes Intramural Baseball Lead

Win Forfeit From Fedigan Then Trounce Austin 8-3

Blueshirts, Playing Double-Header, Beat Alumni in Afternoon; Gigolos Must Win Next Sunday to Tie For Lead

By WALTER LESSING

The intramural baseball race was thrown into a muddle last Sunday as Fedigan hall, leaders in the race up to date, forfeited their chances of clinching the title by failing to put a team on the field.

Since they were scheduled to meet Mendel hall, their only rivals for the crown, they not only gave them the game but they assured this dark horse team of at least a tie in the league standings.

Since Fedigan did not make an appearance, Austin hall played a double-header, losing to Mendel 8-3 in the morning tilt, and winning the nightcap 16-11 over Alumni hall.

Fitzgerald Hits Homer

Paced by the hitting of Cerullo and Fitzgerald, the latter hitting a tremendous home run, Mendel was able to down Father McKee's ball club for the second straight time. Steve Alsenbrey, Mendel's ace twirler, in winning his fourth victory of the season, limited Austin to three runs and eight hits. The only men able to solve his slants with consistency were Cleary and McGuire, the former getting his first home run of the season, a long drive down the left field foul line. Pantaleo, pitching for Austin, was touched for two hits by the hard-hitting Cerrullo.

In the second game of the day the Blueshirts fattened their run-production mark by pounding Alumni for 16 runs on only eight hits. Boudon, Pantaleo, and Forkin paced the attack with two hits each, while for Alumni Nicora and Lozowski were the leading hitters. Austin came up with a new pitcher in Haluszka who looks like a real prospect; a little wild in spots he walked eight men, but managed to strike out ten batters.

Fedigan Meets Alumni

The important game of season will be played next Sunday when Fedigan meets Alumni at 10:30 o'clock. Fedigan, in second place by a half game, needs a victory to tie Mendel for the league lead; a defeat would assure Mendel of the championship.

The standing of the league now shows Mendel in front with five wins and one loss; Fedigan hall holds second place with four and one. Austin is found with three and three; while Alumnites in the cellar with five defeats and no victories.

Fedigan will be favored when they take the field next Sunday morning for they already hold a decision over Alumni's nine, but Father Dunne has been pooling for this game and expects to put a team on the field that will upset all the advance predictions by using Cpls. Frank Castle's winning check and assuring Mendel of the championship.

The pitching assignments will most likely find Charles Ewing Malone, with Murphy catching for Fedigan and Lozowski for Alumni

Fordham

Continued From Page Five

thrust three runs across the plate in the third to startle the Maroon's fans.

George Balmore, with his initial start in the outfield, promptly drove a single over second to start the inning. Crawley imitated the actions of Balmore by also singling, putting Balmore on second base. Then Borowy became a bit illusive and Lazorchak broke the ice for Villanova by driving in Balmore on a single to right. The fourth straight hit was issued by Borowy on Donoghue's single which sent Crawley scurrying home for the second run. Lazorchak moved to third on Donoghue's bingle and then scored on Wannemacher's sacrifice fly, to put the Wildcats in front with a one run margin.

Lazorchak Triples

In the fifth, with Crawley on first base, Lazorchak poled out a mighty three base hit, scoring Crawley and putting the Villanova fans in ecstacies. Donoghue's ground out sent Lazorchak home for the second run of the frame.

Borowy was rather unyielding for the next three innings, while his teammates could offer but little co-operation at bat, and he was quite effective in the strike-out department, in which he is noted.

But his impressive pitching did not hold for long, for in the final stanza Lazorchak again threw a monkeywrench into the works by garneting his fourth hit. With two away Crawley walked, drawing the first free pass of the game, and then stole second on a wild throw on an attempt to nab him. Another wild throw sent him home for Villanova's sixth run. Lazorchak lined a single through the box and Donoghue, who also had an effective day at bat, smashed out his third hit scoring Lazorchak. Desmond checked any chance of the Maroon's scoring in the ninth and upheld his perfect mound twirling.

Villanova's Fifth Win

Since the brace of runs he gave the Rams in the second inning, he limited them to four scattered hits for the remaining seven innings. Not once did he issue a base on balls and his bowl strikeouts occurred at the proper moments. His triumph over Fordham gave Villanova their fifth victory of the campaign as against two setbacks, one by C. C. N. Y. and the other by Penn State.

Villanova	ab.	r.	h.	o.	a.
Crawley, 2b	3	1	2	0	2
Lazorchak, ss	4	1	2	2	2
Donoghue, rf	3	0	1	0	0
Wannemacher, lf	4	0	0	3	0
Balmore, cf	4	0	0	2	0
Borowy, p	3	0	0	0	3
Desmond, 3b	3	0	1	1	0
Cerullo, c	3	0	1	7	0
Fitzgerald, 1b	3	0	1	9	0
Totals	28	2	7	24	7

Fordham	ab.	r.	h.	o.	a.
J. Hearn, ss	4	0	1	1	0
Al Hearn, cf	4	0	2	1	0
Dillon, lf	4	0	0	2	0
McGrath, 1b	4	0	1	6	0
Principe, 3b	4	0	0	0	0
Borowski, p	4	0	1	1	1
Kopanski, c	4	1	2	9	1
Dineen, 2b	2	0	0	3	3
Hasbrouck, rf	2	0	0	1	0
Cahill, 2b	1	0	0	0	0
Totals	33	1	7	27	5

Villanova ..... 0 0 3 2 0 0 0 2—7
Fordham ..... 0 2 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—2

Errors—Villanova, 2 (Lazorchak, Balmore); Fordham, 2 (Dillon, 2).

Struck out—By Desmond, 4; by Borowy, 8. Sacrifice—Wannemacher, Dillon. Three-base hits—Krywicki, Lazorchak. Double play—Lazorchak and Bond. Bases on balls—Off Borowy, 1. Runs batted in — Lazorchak, 2; Donoghue, 3; Wannemacher, 1. Stolen bases — Crawley, Lazorchak. Left on bases—Villanova, 6; Fordham, 5. Time of game—1.50. Umpires—Browne and Meade.

In the Sportlight

By JIM HAUGHTON

With the advent of summer which brings with it golf and tennis weather, it is no more than fitting that the sports spotlight should fall on a young gentleman who is probably the campus' leading exponent in those fields. That fellow is Jim Dwyer.

He has been garnering honor after honor in both fields for the past several years and will go down in the books of Wildcat sport fame as one of the most skillful athletes in two of sportsdom's most skillful and exacting games.

Captains Golfers

Right now Jim is leading the local linksmen over bunker and tee as captain. And he has been meeting with fair success. In three attempts thus far he has walked off with honors in two, losing only to the St. John's representative by a close margin. And recently when he, along with a few locals, combined with nearby collegians against a strong country club outfit Jim came out on top.

Jim has been a member of the local link squad since coming to Villanova and also captained the group last year. His sophomore year found him going right through the opposition for a perfect battle card. And last year he was almost as successful, losing only one match.

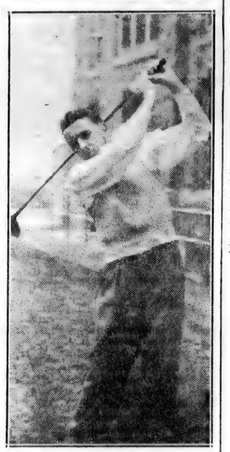
Whenever you converse with a golfer, the subject usually gets around to the question, "Well, what was the best you ever shot?" In Jim Dwyer's case the answer is a nice low 70. He's shot that mark several times and claims he doesn't care if he doesn't go below it, just as long as he doesn't jump above it.

Plays Excellent Tennis

You may recall that up in the lead some mention was made of tennis. Well Jim Dwyer also excels in that sort of competition too. He's only played tennis one year here because his golfing activity kept him busy. But the record he compiled will stand a lot of shooting at, and still remain intact. In 14 matches Jim came out on top with only one defeat. That was against the West Chester Teachers netman. But later when they met, Jim evened the count.

And then to add a little dessert to the menu he went over across the highway for the intramural tennis tourney and hiked back with the victory cup under his arm.

Up in Trenton where Jim hails from he has also gathered unto himself quite a fancy court record. He won the city Junior Tennis Championship in 1933 and again in 1935. He lost in quarter-finals in '34, but his cousin, Bill Dwyer, who now captains the St. Joe court crew stepped up and kept the honor right in the family. Together these two court cousins have also gathered quite a few doubles honors up near the Jersey capital town.



Jim is a graduate of Cathedral High in Trenton and while there captained the tennis squad for two years, besides leading the golfers for his four years.

Made All-Intramural

As everybody on the local camping ground now, intramural basketball is "the" thing during the snowy season. Well Jim manages to keep warm and limbered by playing on the Austin Hall contingent. His deceptive ball handling was so good his second year that the board of selectors decided he was the man for the job of guard and thus he landed on the All-Intramural team.

Other activities besides sports have kept Jim well occupied during his four-year stay on the local terrain. He's a member of the Commerce and Finance student body where he majors in Finance. And whenever Will Osborne is mentioned Jim Dwyer's name naturally follows. For it was Jim as chairman of the Senior Ball who was an instrumental factor in signing the creater of Slide-Music for the campus terpsichorean emporium.

Along with being a leader in the sports league, Jim also rates as one lad rigat up with the leaders in the race for sartorial elegance. For no matter when you meet Jim he a well groomed, with the crease in the right place and the garment a pace-maker in style.

Blue

Continued From Page Five

then carried the lotion for a spatter on the nine team. This performance proved that he is worth watching in the future.

Mile Relay Team Second

With Pete Yankanikas anchoring, the mile quartet placed second in their event. The Wildcats were credited with a 3:26 mile.

Coach Elliot is looking forward with great eagerness to the Army meet. This is quite a boost from recent schedules and if the team can make a good showing, he can guarantee more meets of this kind. He is looking for Maher, Gultenas, Bellew and Buzzalino to get their share of points.

NOTICE

A well known sports authority will address the sports staff at the regular meeting of the Villanovan to be held in Room 119, Mendel at 1 o'clock. Be there!

Prescriptions
Drugs & Toilet Articles
LA DOW'S PHARMACY
LANCASTER PIKE and SPRING MILL ROAD
VILLANOVA, PA.

Philip Harrison Store
Shoes & Clothing For The Family
Next Door to the Movies
BRYN MAWR, PA.

KEEP SUPPLIED WITH SCHOOL TICKETS
Good on Buses and Rail Cars until used. 5c a Ride, Including Special Free Transfers. School Identification Cards may be obtained at School Office.
PHILADELPHIA SUBURBAN TRANSPORTATION COMPANY
ARDMORE TRANSPORTATION CO.

— RIDE FREE ON P. & W. RAILWAY MOVIE TICKET —

GRAND Theatre
NORRISTOWN
Tuesday
Maureen O'Sullivan in "LET US LIVE"
Wednesday & Thursday
Tony Martin - Gloria Stuart in "WINNER TAKE ALL"
Friday & Saturday
Mickey Rooney in "HUCKLEBERRY FINN"

NORRIS Theatre
NORRISTOWN
Tuesday
Claudette Colbert - Don Ameche in "MIDNIGHT"
Wednesday & Thursday
Jeanette MacDonald in "BROADWAY SERENADE"
Fri., Sat., Mon. & Tues.
Errol Flynn in "DODGE CITY"

GARRICK Theatre
Wed. & Thurs. - Double Feature
'Pardon Our Nerve' - 'Prison Train'
Friday & Saturday
Priscilla Lane & J. Lynn in 'YES, MY DARLING DAUGHTER'

VILLANOVAN ADVERTISERS DESERVE YOUR PATRONAGE

Direction Warner Bros.
Tower Theatre
69th & Market Sts.
Motion Pictures Are Your Best Entertainment
Wednesday & Thursday
WALLACE BEERY in "SERGEANT MADDEN"
Starting Friday For One Week
CLAUDETTE COLBERT
DON AMECHE
John Barrymore in "MIDNIGHT"
A Romantic Comedy

SEVILLE THEATRE
Tuesday
WARNER BAXTER and LORETTA YOUNG in "WIFE, HUSBAND AND FRIEND"
Wednesday & Thursday
"THE OKLAHOMA KID" with JAMES CAGNEY
Friday & Saturday
"ICE FOLLIES OF 1939"
JOAN CRAWFORD and JAMES STEWART
Sunday & Monday
SHIRLEY TEMPLE in "LITTLE PRINCESS"

Ardmore Theatre
Notice to Students
Did you know that your matriculation card will get you a reduced rate at the Ardmore Theatre at any time.
Tuesday
"FOUR GIRLS IN WHITE" with Florence Rice - Una Merkel
Buddy Ebsen - Kent Taylor
Wednesday
ADOLPHE MENJOU in "KING OF THE TURF" with Dolores Costello
Walter Abel - Alan Dinehart
Thursday, Friday & Saturday
IRENE DUNNE
CHARLES BOYER
In "LOVE AFFAIR" with Maria Auspenskaya - Leo Bowman
Latest March of Time
Sunday & Monday
JOHN GARFIELD in "BLACKWELL'S ISLAND" with Rosemary Lane - Stanley Field

Hard Task

Continued From Page Five

their praise of Frank Bukofskl's end play. His tireless booming play was a thorn in the side of the Violets all afternoon.

The brightest spot of the Spring season as far as "Clipper" is concerned is the fine work of freshman Joe Behot, a back possessing a fine football head with the rare ability of doing the right thing at the right time. Besides this he is a fine all-around back.

Another freshman back who has pleased the coaches is Ad Worthington. He has the makings of developing into a fine forward passer. A plunging fullback, it remains for him to acquire the knack of running with effectiveness to either side. On the field he looks the part of a fire-chilled veteran and that is something very few freshmen possess.

Frosh Showing Improvement

Other freshmen such as Nieman, McClelland, Korisky, Kosky, and Stenn have given reason to believe that by next Fall they will be ready for varsity competition. All are big and have been effective on both offense and defense.

Of last years varsity squad a number of the members have improved considerably. Morkum has made the most remarkable advancement. In the past year he has gained a wealth of football knowledge and has displayed it this year on both the football field and in the football classroom. In the quarterly examinations he has made a fine showing.

Varsity Backs Better

Both Shader and Sabrinsky are running harder than last year. The latter has improved his passing and Shader is blocking with more finesse. Sabrinsky, although he does not display a lot of flash and fire on the field, is always in there playing a good steady game.

One thing the F. and M. game brought out very clearly was the fact that Dave Di Filippo can still play a good game at guard when he puts his mind to it. During the major part of the Spring he was inclined to lay back, but once inserted into the game he displayed the ability that enabled him to be a starting guard for the past two years.

St. John's

Continued From Page Five

presented a formidable duo in the number one doubles spot. With machine-like rapidity they brushed aside Guardella and Hume by scores of 6-2, 6-3. Both boys were powerful at the net where they hammered away at the two St. John's men who had previously walked over Villanovans Conners and Ibarguen in singles matches.

In other singles tests Beatty Schermerhorn bowed to Bob Gurian 6-3, 6-4, and Les Powers humbled Joe Hirsch 6-4, 3-6, 6-2.

Seton Stopped

It was a different story against Seton Hall with the Wallachmen making a clean sweep of the doubles after they had split with the Jersey collegians in the six singles tests. Winners for the locals were Fred Rappleyea, Beatty Schermerhorn, and Eddie Banagan. In the doubles Rappleyea teamed with Banagan to defeat Sullivan and Peccorelli; Wallach and Schermerhorn barely beat Sadowski and Gleason, and Conners playing with Joe Hirsch won an uphill battle from Rokoon and Wood in three long sets.

HECKLER WINS

A couple of years ago there was a fellow who attended the A's games and continually heckled them. One day they had him thrown out of the park. He brought the case to court and the judge ruled that he was within his constitutional rights to yell, scream and heckle as much as he desired. Connie Mack in order to appease this man gave him a season's pass and has continued to do so in order that he will not "ride" the A's.

Approved Penna. Private Business School
BUSINESS TRAINING
BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION AND SECRETARIAL SCIENCE for young men and women.
One, Two and Three Years Day and Evening Courses
8 Weeks Summer Session
Founded 1865
PEIRCE SCHOOL
Pine St. West of Broad Philadelphia, Pa.

CAT NINE'S ANNUAL NEW ENGLAND TRIP BEGINS WEDNESDAY

The cancellation of a scheduled game with Holy Cross (by H. C.) leaves three contests to be played by "Doc" Jacobs charges on their annual New England trip which begins on Wednesday and ends Monday. While on the road the Blue and White nine will play Providence, Williams, and Boston College on the 11th, 13th and 15th of May, respectively.

The Providence and Boston clubs have already appeared here. The former, while they played only one inning, got off to a fast start and scored a run on a day that was so windy that the umpire called the game for fear that someone would be injured.

B. C. in Close Game Here

Boston College dropped a close 6-4 decision to the locals in the best contest waged on the Main Line diamond this season. Frank Burns led the Eagles attack with a line-drive homer over the left field which sent Boston into a three run lead at 4-1. This lead was slowly whittled away with the aid of Boston errors, which indicates that an errorless Eagle infield may defeat the 'Cats at Boston on the 15th.

Williams College, whose baseball team will be met at Williamstown, Mass., on Saturday, has been having a very successful season to date. This little school concentrates on baseball as far as varsity athletics go and is expected to provide plenty of competition for the Wildcats when they meet.

Golfers

Continued From Page Five

able to win the best ball match 5-4.

Dave Morse and Cliff Randolph rounded out the remaining twosome of the Villanova golf team and split with their opponents as far as points were concerned. Morse lost to George Davis of Rider 3-2 and Randolph showed some promise of becoming a topnotcher by his 4-3 victory over Charels Warms. The best ball match ended in a tie.

Dwyer led the medal play with a four over par 74 while Accettola, Bradbury and Dubino followed with 81's.

St. John's Wins

Meeting St. John's of Brooklyn the following day, the Villanova outfit was less fortunate losing the match 6-3. Very much off form, Dwyer lost his first match of the season 3-2 to Russ Ebbets. Charles Roche also had trouble in finding his range and fell before Joe Goward 4-3. St. John's captured the best ball by the 4-3 total.

Following the first twosome's example Joe Pagano fell before Wayne Christensen on the eighteenth green after coming from behind and tying his match on the seventeenth. Dubino carried on his good work of the past day and beat Joe Parillo, 4-2. Through the excellent work of Christensen, St. John's won the best ball match on the eighteenth green 1 up.

Randolph On Top 3-2

Cliff Randolph came through with his usual fine performance and won handily from Al Adamcyzk 3-2 while Morse after having been four down on the fourteenth green, won the next three holes but fell short of a halve with Adamcyzk when Al sank a 20-foot putt on the final green to equal Morse's par three in the best ball department.

Bryn Mawr Confectionery

Baseball Sidelights

By BOB BOND

Did you ever hear the one about the fellow who was in the batting slump? He tried bat after bat with no success. Finally in desperation he came across a very slender stick which he decided to try as it was the only one he had not used. He came out of his batting slump with a "bang" and really hit that ball. When interviewed and asked the reason for his phenomenal streak of slugging he said, 'I don't know who this Chinese fellow, Fungo, is; but boy! he has a great bat." For more of this type stories see Bob Pash.

Jimmy Powers told this one the othe day. It seems there was a couple of scouts in Florida looking for talent. One day they came across a huge boy throwing rocks at squirrels. Every time he threw a rock a squirrel would fall out of a tree. He was throwing the rocks with his left hand and had a nice easy motion. The scouts immediately became very excited and one of them accosted the big southpaw.

"Say son," said the big league ivory hunter, "did you ever do any pitching?"

"Yas, I sure has," replied the boy.

"How would you like to pitch for our big-league team?" asked the scout.

The boy replied, "Well, I reckon I could, if you all gave me more dough than ah gets chucking for the town team. Ah gets a dollar a game."

"We can give you more than that," was the answer. "We need a good left-hander badly."

"But," protested the boy, "ah's no left-hander."

The scout wanted then to know why he was throwing rocks at the squirrels with his left hand. The boy said, "Did you ever try to eat squashed squirrels." P. S. I didn't think you would get it.

"Connie" Nicholas threw a fine game Tuesday against Loyola, holding the opponents to three hits, two being of the scratch variety. Villanova presented a revamped line-up with Lazorchek at short, Howlett at third, Balmore in center and Wannamacher moving over to left. Howlett hit the longest ball of the day, a long triple to center field.

Did you know that—per usual the veterans in the big leagues are getting a slow start and it is the hitting of the rookies that is carrying the teams through. "Barney" McCoskey of Detroit has gone into a slump, and if he does not come out of it soon, the early Spring sensation will be sent back to the minors . . . Al Simmons can't miss hitting .300 if he plays 90 games with the Bees . . . Gamblers are taking odds that "Debs" Garms of the Bees will lead the National League in hitting . . . . . Nick Etten, ex-Villanovan continues to hit for the Athletics . . . Jim Schelle, last year's varsity pitcher and now a senior in the C. & F. school pitched against Duke for the Pennacs. This game meant a lot to Schelle as Mack likes him very much and if he had beaten the A's junior varsity, well . . . Advance press notices would indicate that Eric Tipton, Duke's All-American football player and present clean-up hitter on the baseball club will join the A's upon graduation . . . The National League hurlers are having a hard time getting Merrill May, rookie third sacker of the Phillies out.

PARAMOUNT GRILLE
BRYN MAWR

The Wayne Hotel
LANCASTER AVENUE
WAYNE, PA.
Telephone 380
Headquarters For Visitors to Villanova
Excellent Dinners at $1
SPECIAL STUDENT RATES
J. T. McFATE, Mgr.

G. W. Cadwallader
Paints, Glass and Painters' Supplies
BUILDERS' SPECIALTIES
6101 MARKET ST.
Philadelphia
Phone SHErwood 1423

HERE and THERE

By HARRY MAZZEI

NOW that Nellie Stoate (rain to you guys) has decided to move to less fertile fields, the spring athletes of these parts may finally, like "Little Sir Echo," come out to play.

To say that rain has been partly responsible for the spring teams' hitherto poor performances would be making a mild statement. There can be no doubt but that all of Villanova's present competing outfits—baseball, tennis, golf, and track—have been severely handicapped by the excessive outbursts of spring rains.

Pitchers have sore arms; the hitters' eyes were so far off in their timing they thought opposing hurlers were throwing split peas at them; the joints of the cinder path performers were stiffer than freshmen first going through Clipper's "Swing Shift;" the overhand smashes of the netsters have been digging up clay beyond the baseline; and the golfers were having difficulty with their slices and hooks.

Harry Mazzei

With the emerging of that "big-red-faced fellow" from those overcast skies, it is hoped that the varsity clubs will begin to move upstream.

At this writing the diamond minions are sporting five wins as against two losses; the track team has split even in two dual matches (but they turned in several commendable performances in the Penn Relays); and the linksmen and racquetters are striving for a .500 percentage. This is definitely below par for Villanova athletics. Within a few weeks we hope to be able to say (although we don't relish this particular phrase) "I told you so."

Byram Saam, who narrates the Wildcat grid contests over the ether, dropped into the athletic office the other day bearing ominous tidings from the great Southwest, where footballs are manufactured with wings on them. "By," you may recall, originally hails from the Texas country, so his word may be accepted without those well-known salt granules.

According to the pleasant radio commentator the football championship of the Southwestern Conference will be contested between Texas Christian, last year's winners, Texas A. and M., and Arkansas. The latter two aggregations loom large on the Blue grid "sled," so it looks like "plenty tough sledding"? in the fall.

* * *

In the complaint department, we have been told that swimming in the college pool has been curtailed of late by the failure of the pool attendents to put in an appearance. It seems that several of the students have the responsibility of opening and closing the tank and handling the swimming equipment, and when they are not on the job the pool remains closed.

Lately they've been rather negligent with the result that prospective "ripple-makers" have had to remain in dry-dock. This is a condition that should be remedied immediately, for it's growing warmer every day.

* * *

It seems that several of the gridders have been wondering how to apply a "Congressional Bloc." We suggest that they take their problem to Dr. Hartman of the Political Science Department, rather than to Clipper ("Toward a More Picturesque Speech") Smith.

* * *

There was no little comment overheard from those large crowds that inhabited the campus last week about the paucity of athletic events at such an opportune time. Why not plan now to stymie any such future recurrence?

* * *

We doff our chapeau this week to Connie Nicholas, the smooth working southpaw from the Bronx. The husky left-hander got up from the bench last Tuesday after being there for practically all of the spring and turned in the most impressive twirling performance that "Doc" Jacobs has witnessed this year.

* * *

Nicholas, strangely enough, has yet to hook up with an outfit for summer mound work, but a few more exhibitions like the one against Loyola will find the vacation league managers beating a path to his door.

Burke Dairies
Milk & Cream
NORRISTOWN, PA.
Phone 2736-W

JEANNETT'S
BRYN MAWR FLOWER SHOP
Floral Ideas For All Occasions
Specializing in Corsages
Member Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association
823 Lancaster Ave.
Bryn Mawr 570

COLADONATO
B. M. 1266
College Tailor Since 1925
Made to Measure Clothes
Suits and Topcoats
$24.50
CLEANING PRESSING
"THE CLOTHES WE SELL FIT WELL"
Cassocks and Capes at Reasonable Prices
See Campus Representative
ED DIMON
235 Austin

Men's Clothes Made-to-Measure
COLEBY
Tailoring Inc.
57th & Market Sts.
Suits & Topcoats
$24.75
See Campus Representative
TIM WAAD
210 Fedigan

CHEM ENGINEERS URSINUS GUESTS

Faculty and Students Represent Villanova at Society of Chemical Engineers

Faculty members and students in the chemistry department represented the Villanova Society of Chemical Engineers at the Spring meeting of the Intercollegiate Student Chemists at Ursinus College, Collegeville, Pa., on Saturday, April 29.

Allen Goldblatt, who is doing graduate work in chemistry, delivered a paper on the "Iodimetric Detection of Copper," which is the subject of his thesis for the Master of Science degree.

The Villanova group is the newest member of the I. S. C., which has other member clubs at Albright, Gettysburg, Haverford, Lafayette, Swarthmore, Temple University, University of Delaware and Ursinus.

The affiliation is in its sixth year now, and for the last three years it has been publishing a magazine, "The Photon." Each year a different college handles the editorial duties, although all the schools in the group contribute to it.

Symposium Meets On Social Issues

Continued From Page One

entire audience. Such a meeting is the first of its type to be conducted by any Catholic college in the Philadelphia area.

Invitations have been sent to the Catholic colleges and various Newman Clubs, and to the general public of this section.

The committee on arrangements for the entire symposium is headed by Charles A. R. Skowron, and in addition consists of Bede Howard, John Curran, and John Pillion, while the chairman of the proceedings is Thomas E. Delate.

LIVE SPECIMENS SHOWN AT TALK

Mr. Daniel Mannix, Noted Naturalist, Explains Habits of His Pets

Bringing a pet vulture and a bull snake to give vitality to his lecture, Mr. Daniel Mannix presented a descriptive talk on animals to the Science Seminar last Thursday.

Mr. Mannix, a noted naturalist and resident of Rosemont, lectured upon the many animals to be found in his "back-yard zoo," a work that has won for him wide recognition. His collection of fauna includes snakes, fish, monkeys, crows and skunks.

The habits peculiar to each of his animals were briefly described by the lecturer, and the discourse was supplemented by colored motion pictures.

Mr. Mannix has learned in his experience with crows and hawks that the former are amazingly clever, while the latter, although good hunters, are trained only with difficulty. The extreme care necessary in training falcons for hunting was emphasized. With the aid of his motion pictures, Mr. Mannix illustrated the manner in which falcons capture their prey.

SPEAKS AT COMMENCEMENT

Dr. William H. McHugh, head of the Department of Education, will be the principal speaker at the commencement exercises of the Altoona Nurses' Training School. The exercises will be held on the first week of September.

MERCHANT MARINE

For information on securing practical ship experience on board a training ship of the American Nautical Academy, National Training School for Merchant Marine officers, write to the Academy at Washington, D. C.

Third Quarter Honor Ratings Posted By Commerce And Engineering Deans

Lists of those who led their classes in studies during the third quarter have recently been released by the dean of the School of Commerce and Finance and the acting dean of the School of Engineering.

Honor rolls for the School of Arts and the School of Science have not yet been compiled, as some of the markings have not been turned in to the deans.

Those who received the rating of excellent in studies in the business school are as follows:

Senior class: Stanley Bobrowski, George Bishop, and Hugh McGlincy.

Junior class: Frank Pimpinella, Ronald Tornwall, and Robert O'Brien.

Sophomore class: James Haughton, George Flannery, Clifford Randolph, and Anthony Vinci.

Freshman class: Thomas Sullivan, Thomas Doyle, Edward Frank, and John Parson.

Businessmen who were awarded the honor of merit in studies are:

Seniors: Edward Loughery, John Costello, Thomas DaRosa, and Norman Klein.

Juniors: Francis Connors, John Brown, Thomas Casper, and Joseph York.

Sophomores: James McGarey, Raymond Valentine, and Richard Heley.

Freshmen: Fred Clark, William Hayes, Lawrence Molloy, James Pike, and Antonio Tammaro.

Engmeers listed on the honor roll follow:

Senior class: John W. Burke, John B. Gehman, Frecerick Welty, Leo B. Bicher, Thomas J. Schaedler, Joseph J. Quinn, Edward M. Conneen, A. John Malaspina, Anthony J. Cirrito, Frank M. Carroll, and Cyril E. Daly.

Junior class: Frederick Rappleyea, Daniel J. Troy, George Wilson, John J. Seelaus, George M. Wengryniuk, and Edward J. Cierkowski.

Sophomore class: Frank W. Smith, George Haluezka, John F. McKinney, Raymond E. Vener, William J. Appel, Paul Farnsworth, James Flood, John VanHook, and Charles Pullen.

Freshman class: Paul E. Brown, Thomas Shallow, Bernard Clarke, Edward Eichman, John Madison, Vincent Gordon, Joseph Wickland, Samuel Tankoos, Charles Denzler, John Kirchner, Joseph C. Dorsey, Thomas Junker, Nicholas Aceto, Thomas DeSipin, Robert Ayerle, and George Gabuzda.

BEE DECLARED WINNER IN GEOMETRY CONTEST

Joseph Bee, freshman engineering student, was the winner of the descriptive geometry contest, held in connection with the Open House program.

Bee's project was the intersection of the development of two cones and was made from plaster of Paris. The project and the drawing from which it was made are on display in the drawing room.

The contest was open to all freshman engineers taking descriptive geometry. A slide rule, valued at $16.00 was given to the winner.

FROSH FORENSIC TEAM TO ENGAGE LAFAYETTE

Phillipsburgh, N. J., will provide the setting for the Villanova freshman debaters' next contest which is with Lafayette College freshmen tomorrow afternoon.

Thomas McKimmey and John Fullam will represent Villanova on the negative of the Anglo-American Alliance proposition. McKimmey will serve as rebuttalist.

On Friday, May 5, Armand Salerno and Ray Garraty traveled to New York City to debate a team from St. John's of Brooklyn on the pump-priming issue. Villanova upheld the affirmative in the debate, with Salerno as rebuttalist.

City Alumni Hold Welcoming Affair

Continued From Page One

anante is the first undergraduate to serve on the committee.

At this celebration in honor of the graduates the music will be provided by the Villanovans under the direction of Paul Wade. A quartet composed of Cyril Daly, bass; Edward Cogan, guitar; Joe Pancheri, saxaphone; and George White, clarinet will augment the dancing with novel swing melodies. Bill Dobbins will present his chanting arrangements.

A spacious ballroom which can accommodate over 200 couples will be available for dancing. Special arrangements have been made with the management to have the main dining room at the disposal of those present for the purpose of relaxation and refreshments.

The reunion is strictly an invitation affair and the subscription will be $1.50. All members of the Class of 1939 will be the guests of the alumni association and tickets for the affair will be distributed to them by Paetrus Banmiller in his office without cost upon proper identification. Mr. Passanante, the undergraduate member of the committee will have tickets for sale to those not in the Class of 1939.

MAROON COLOR SCHEME CHOSEN FOR BELLE AIR

A deep maroon instead of the usual blue and white will be the color scheme of the 1939 Belle Air.

Practically all work but the printing has been completed. Work on the opening section has already begun at the printer's; pictures and dividers have been completely prepared.

As usual, the members of the staff will be entertained at a dinner given in their honor, at which time they will be presented with their copies of the book. On the day following the dinner, copies will be distributed to the student body.

VILLANOVAN

Vol. 11—No. 24 VILLANOVA, PA., TUESDAY, MAY 16, 1939 N. A. S. Z-660

HANLON PRESIDENT, MARTIN TREASURER IN JUNIOR ELECTION

Yesterday's Balloting Selects Heck, Fanning, Casper, and Dunn Other Officers

Peter E. Hanlon, a junior science student, became president of the Class of 1940 when he polled the greatest number of votes in yesterday's elections.

Simultaneously John A. Heck, engineer, was chosen vice-president; Arthur E. Fanning, School of Arts, secretary; Charles G. Martin, science man, treasurer; Thomas J. Casper and Philip M. Dunn, both of the Commerce and Finance School, Student Council representatives.

The successful ticket of candidates named above, although elected at the termination of their junior year, will remain in office throughout the whole of next year.

Others nominated for the post of president were: Bradley J. McManus. Frank A. Pimpinella, and Joseph J. York in the School of Commerce and Finance; Edward J. Kirk, School of Engineering and Henry A. Mazzei of the Education Department.

Arthur W. Murphy and Timothy A. Wood of the School of Commerce and Finance, were candidates for the vice-presidency.

Arthur E. Fanning of the School of Arts was re-elected secretary, Gerald J. Lynam being the other candidate.

The remaining candidates for treasurer were: Edward J. Cierkowski of the School of Engineering; John F. Lang and John H. Lind of the Commerce and Finance School.

The following were the unsuccessful aspirants to the Student Council: Alfred J. Wood, School of Arts; Harry A. Kunberger of the School of Engineering; Edward L. Jonik, Edward C. Leahy, Ronnie Tornwall and Charles J. Volz, all of the Commerce and Finance School.

SEMINAR DISCUSSES 'SULPHANILAMIDE'

Story of Drug, Its History, and Medicinal Uses Explained

"The History of Sulphanilimide" was discussed by George Decherney, junior science student, at the meeting of the Research Seminar last Friday.

He traced this modern drug from the time of its discovery, just after the World War, to the present day. Listed among its derivatives are sulphopyradine, prontisil, etc. Many cases of pneumonia, spinal meningitis, rheumatic heart fever, and numerous other afflictions, respond favorably to the administration of these drugs. An outstanding feature of this drug and its derivatives is the low cost which enables the most destitute sufferers to obtain use of it.

"Today," explained Decherney, "sulphanilimide is one of the most outstanding problems in research due to its wide application. No limit of its uses has been determined yet."

"Parthenogenens and Werogamy" was the topic of the talk given by Robert Griffin, also a junior in the science school. Much research is being done in the field — eggs of various animals are cut in half. One half contains the nucleus, the other does not. By artificial methods, the non-nucleated half is stimulated and begins to go through the various stages of real fertilization. It does not progress very far due to its abnormal conditions.

A brief discussion was then held in which many ideas were set forth.

1940 President

PETER E. HANLON

EXTRA-CURRICULAR AWARDS CONFERRED

Approximately One Quarter of Total Enrollment Honored Before General Convocation

Merit awards, totaling 353, were presented to 207 students by Rev. Edward V. Stanford, O.S.A., president of the college, last Tuesday morning in the Commerce and Finance auditorium. The awards were made at an assembly of the entire college at which the deans of the various schools and a number of the faculty officiated.

In order that a student be so honored he must have "enjoyed good scholastic standing and who has also shown himself worthy of merit in extra-curricular activity." These words are engraved upon each certificate and explain the conditions of the awards.

The outstanding recipients included James Carrol, Thomas Delate and Thomas Schaedler, each of whom received five. All are seniors. Among those receiving four are: Francis J. Mozzi, Joseph M. Pagano, and Thomas J. Carbine, seniors; Frederick A. Rappleyes, Charles H. Lodowski and Edward Cierkowski, juniors; Murray P. Zealor, sophomore, and John Fullam, freshman.

A medal is awarded annually at Commencement to the senior who has earned the most merit awards in his four years at Villanova. Last year John Simons was the recipient. Among present seniors leading in the number of extra-curricular activities are Thomas

Continued on Page Three

MARTIN ELECTED L. K. D. PRESIDENT

Kiley, Santaniello, Thomas, Koch and Bongiovanni Also Successful Candidates

Charles Martin, junior in the science school, was elected president of the Lambda Kappa Delta fraternity at its last meeting for the year.

Other members who have been elected to key positions of the fraternity are Robert Kiley, vice-president, Joseph S. Santaniello, treasurer, Joseph Koch ,secretary, Francis Thomas, sergeant-at-arms, and Alfred Bongiovanni, student council.

Others who were up for these posts are Harry Taylor, presidential candidate, Joseph Clarken for vice-president, Joseph Nelson for secretary, and Peter Hanlon for student council.

The new president states: "As president of the L. K. D. I shall do my utmost in seeing that the L. K. D. shall continue to be the outstanding fraternity of Villanova." Martin succeeds John C. Urie who was president for this past year.

E. JONIK APPOINTED EDITOR OF ANNUAL FOR ENSUING YEAR

Staff Dinner May 24 at Whitehall Apartments; Distribution May 25 or 26

Edward L. Jonik, Commerce and Finance student, has been chosen next year's editor of the Belle Air. This announcement was made today by Rev. Daniel P. Falvey, O. S. A., faculty moderator of the senior publication.

The new editor first entered Villanova as a freshman in 1933. The following year he left school to work . He returned to school in 1937, but continued to hold a full-time job as a shipper until this January.

EDWARD L. JONIK

Jonik, besides being engaged in many student activities, is also an athlete. He rows stroke on the senior eight of a shell from the Fairmount Rowing Association, where he also edits the club bulletin. He served as a member of this year's Mother's Day Committee.

When informed of his appointment Jonik said, "It will be my endeavor to increase the participation of the student body in pro-

Continued on Page Eight

Livestock Is Tested By Instructor For Pneumonia Serum

Goats Used in Hope of Discovering Time Saving Method of Treatment

Experiments in connection with pneumonia typing and agglutination are being conducted by Anthony Immordino, instructor in physiology.

Goats are being injected with antigen in various forms in the hope of producing a serum which will agglutinate more than one type of pneumonia germ and thus be a time-saving factor in the fight against this infectious disease.

The experiment is being carried out in the following way. A solid mass culture of pneumonia germs is made and a part of this culture is taken and mixed with 0.5 percent solution of phenol in order to produce antigens. These antigens are injected into a goat to produce antibodies.

Another part of the mass culture is mixed with human urine and the antigens which are obtained are injected into a second goat. A third goat is used as the control animal and is injected only with human urine.

The animals are then killed and the clear sera obtained. The sera is then used in the agglutination of different types of pneumonia and it is hoped that more than one type of pneumonia will be agglutinated by the sera obtained from the goat injection with the mass culture and human urine.

Villanova Confers Degree On Major Edward Bowes

One Hundred Sixty-Five Students to Receive Degrees at Ninty-Sixth Annual Commencement of College on June 8

Receiving Degree

MAJOR EDWARD BOWES

By ARMAND SALERNO

Major Edward Bowes will receive the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from Villanova College at the 96th annual commencement June 8. Similarly honored will be Mayor Walter A. Griffin of Lawrence, Mass.

The Very Reverend John T. Sheehan, J. C. D., Provincial of the Order of St. Augustine, will preside over the assembly.

At the same ceremony 165 others are also to receive degrees. The distribution is as follows; 6, Master of Arts; 1, Master of Science; 40, Bachelor of Arts; 1, Bachelor of Science in Nursing Education; 20, Bachelor of Science in Education; 44, Bachelor of Science in Economics; 32, Bachelor of Science in Biology; 6, Bachelor of Electrical Engineering; 3, Bachelor of Civil Engineering; 6, Bachelor of Chemical Engineering; 6, Bachelor of Mechanical Engineering.

The program of the day will begin with a solemn high mass at 9 A. M. in the college chapel. Very Rev. Edward V. Stanford, O. S. A., Ll. D., will be the celebrant.

Fr. Skelly to Address

The Very Rev. Bartholomew J. Skelly, Class of 1922, will deliver the Baccalaureate address.

The conferring of the degrees will take place at 2:30 in the field house.

Major Bowes has had an active and varied career. Before launching his original Amateur Hour which brought him fame on the radio, he was engaged in the real estate business on the West Coast. In the course of his business the Major became especially interested in theatrical real estate. It was this interest that brought him into contact with the movie industry in Hollywood. When he was conscripted into the theatrical ranks, he showed so much promise and capability that he was soon appointed to the vice presidency of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. This posi-

Continued on Page Eight

F. WATERS CHOSEN FOR VALEDICTORY

Frs. McGrath, Rodgers, and Gilligan Act as Judges in Contest

In a competitive oratorical contest held last Thursday in the Commerce and Finance School auditorium Fred Waters was adjudged valedictorian of the class of 1939.

Vieing against Waters were A. Norman Klein, Leo Bicher, Thomas Delate, Paul Juergens, John Urie, Bernard Miller and Frederick Welty.

Waters has been connected with speech organizations for a number of years. He has been an active member of the Beta Gamma debating team since his sophomore year. He has also been a consistent performer in the annual gold medal oratory contest.

However, debate and speech have not been Waters' only confinements. He has been connected with the VILLANOVAN for four years. In his senior year he wrote the popular "Varieties" column.

Waters has in addition to his other activities been a member of the Belle Air staff in his sophomore year. Last year he served on the Belle Masque organization. In his final year he has been a member of the varsity track team.

He intends to enter an investment house in Philadelphia upon graduation. He has been training for this post by majoring in finance.

The judges of the contest were the Revs. Thomas J. Rodgers, Robert E. McGrath and Thomas F. Gilligan—all of the Augustinian order.

WALTER E. KELLY ELECTED CHAIRMAN OF ELECTRICALS

Walter E. Kelly, junior engineer, has been elected chairman of the A. I. E. E. for the school year 1939-40. This announcement was made today by Francis J. Mozzi who is the retiring chairman.

Joseph F. Calvarese, also a junior in the engineering school, was elected secretary for the same period. Both Kelly and Calverese were chosen last week.

The A. I. E. E. inaugurated its social program last Friday when it held a ping-pong contest with the Pennsylvania branch of the A. I. E. E. This was the first time that the society has engaged in any activities which do not pertain directly to electrical engineering.

SOIL-LESS PLANTS GROWN BY SENIORS

Description of Results to Appear in Next Issue of Mendel Bulletin

Prior to the appointment of a new staff, Bernard J. Miller, chairman of the editorial board of the Mendel Bulletin, has released the titles of the articles which will appear in the next issue of the science journal.

Chief among a varied array of scientific essays will be an article on "Hydroponics," the soil-less growth of plants, by Matthew Kuber and Edward Lucente, senior pre-medical students.

Other articles appearing in the final issue of the Mendel Bulletin are as follows: "The Standardization of Neurological Methods" by John C. Urie and Matthew Kuber; an informal treatise on "Phagocytes" by Lawrence Knaphle and William Ward; and an article by Miss Donovan on "Growth of Parramecia."

Heading the list of articles which appeared in the recent issue of the Mendel Bulletin was an article by Robert G. Howe, senior pre-medical, entitled "Science—The Alpha and Omega of Knowledge." This article clearly shows the distinction which must be made between true science and the evils of false science if one would possess really factual knowledge.

Other articles appearing in this edition are: "Studies of Unfertilized Human Ova, Number Two," by Miller, Stanley P. Reimann, and Gilson C. Engel; an essay on "Trout Fishing" by James W. Mullarkey, science student, and several other interesting treatises.

CHEM ENGINEERS URSINUS GUESTS

Faculty and Students Represent Villanova at Society of Chemical Engineers

Faculty members and students in the chemistry department represented the Villanova Society of Chemical Engineers at the Spring meeting of the Intercollegiate Student Chemists at Ursinus College, Collegeville, Pa., on Saturday, April 29.

Allen Goldblatt, who is doing graduate work in chemistry, delivered a paper on the "Iodimetric Detection of Copper," which is the subject of his thesis for the Master of Science degree.

The Villanova group is the newest member of the I. S. C., which has other member clubs at Albright, Gettysburg, Haverford, Lafayette, Swarthmore, Temple University, University of Delaware and Ursinus.

The affiliation is in its sixth year now, and for the last three years it has been publishing a magazine, "The Proton." Each year a different college handles the editorial duties, although all the schools in the group contribute to it.

LIVE SPECIMENS SHOWN AT TALK

Mr. Daniel Mannix, Noted Naturalist, Explains Habits of His Pets

Bringing a pet vulture and a bull snake to give vitality to his lecture, Mr. Daniel Mannix presented a descriptive talk on animals to the Science Seminar last Thursday.

Mr. Mannix, a noted naturalist and resident of Rosemont, lectured upon the many animals to be found in his "back-yard zoo," a work that has won for him wide recognition. His collection of fauna includes snakes, fish, monkeys, crows and skunks.

The habits peculiar to each of his animals were briefly described by the lecturer, and the discourse was supplemented by colored motion pictures.

Mr. Mannix has learned in his experience with crows and hawks that the former are amazingly clever, while the latter, although good hunters, are trained only with difficulty. The extreme care necessary in training falcons for hunting was emphasized. With the aid of his motion pictures, Mr. Mannix illustrated the manner in which falcons capture their prey.

Symposium Meets On Social Issues

Continued From Page One

entire audience. Such a meeting is the first of its type to be conducted by any Catholic college in the Philadelphia area.

Invitations have been sent to the Catholic colleges and various Newman Clubs, and to the general public of this section.

The committee on arrangements for the entire symposium is headed by Charles A. R. Skowron, and in addition consists of Bede Howard, John Curran, and John Pellica, while the chairman of the proceedings is Thomas E. Delay.

SPEAKS AT COMMENCEMENT

Dr. William H. McHugh, head of the Department of Education, will be the principal speaker at the commencement exercises of the Altoona Nurses' Training School. The exercises will be held on the first week of September.

MERCHANT MARINE

For information on securing practical ship experience on board a training ship of the American Nautical Academy, National Training School for Merchant Marine officers, write to the Academy at Washington, D. C.

Third Quarter Honor Ratings Posted By Commerce And Engineering Deans

Lists of those who led their classes in studies during the third quarter have recently been released by the dean of the School of Commerce and Finance and the acting dean of the School of Engineering.

Honor rolls for the School of Arts and the School of Science have not yet been compiled, as some of the markings have not been turned in to the deans.

Those who received the rating of excellent in studies in the business school are as follows:

Senior class: Stanley Bobrowski, George Bishop, and Hugh McGlincy.

Junior class: Frank Pimpinella, Ronald Tornwall, and Robert O'Brien.

Sophomore class: James Haughton, George Flannery, Clifford Randolph, and Anthony Vinci.

Freshman class: Thomas Sullivan, Thomas Doyle, Edward Frank, and John Parson.

Businessmen who were awarded the honor of merit in studies are:

Seniors: Edward Loughery, John Costello, Thomas DaRosa, and Norman Klein.

Juniors: Francis Connors, John Brown, Thomas Casper, and Joseph York.

Sophomores: James McGarey, Raymond Valentine, and Richard Heley.

Freshmen: Fred Clark, William Hayes, Lawrence Molloy, James Pike, and Antonio Tammaro.

Engineers listed on the honor roll follow:

Senior class: John W. Burke, John B. Gehman, Frecerick Welty, Leo B. Bicher, Thomas J. Schaedler, Joseph J. Quinn, Edward M. Conneen, A. John Malaspina, Anthony J. Cirrito, Frank M. Carroll, and Cyril E. Daly.

Junior class: Frederick Rappleyea, Daniel J. Troy, George Wilson, John J. Seelaus, George M. Wengryniuk, and Edward J. Cierkowski.

Sophomore class: Frank W. Smith, George Haluezka, John F. McKinney, Raymond E. Vener, William J. Appel, Paul Farnsworth, James Flood, John VanHook, and Charles Pullen.

Freshman class: Paul E. Brown, Thomas Shallow, Bernard Clarke, Edward Eichman, John Madison, Vincent Gordon, Joseph Wickland, Samuel Tankoos, Charles Denzler, John Kirchner, Joseph C. Dorsey, Thomas Junker, Nicholas Aceto, Thomas DeSipin, Robert Ayerle, and George Gabuzda.

BEE DECLARED WINNER IN GEOMETRY CONTEST

Joseph Bee, freshman engineering student, was the winner of the descriptive geometry contest, held in connection with the Open House program.

Bee's project was the intersection of the development of two cones and was made from plaster of Paris. The project and the drawing from which it was made are on display in the drawing room.

The contest was open to all freshman engineers taking descriptive geometry. A slide rule, valued at $16.00 was given to the winner.

FROSH FORENSIC TEAM TO ENGAGE LAFAYETTE

Phillipsburgh, N. J., will provide the setting for the Villanova freshman debaters' next contest which is with Lafayette College freshmen tomorrow afternoon.

Thomas McKimmey and John Fullam will represent Villanova on the negative of the Anglo-American Alliance proposition. McKimmey will serve as rebuttalist.

On Friday, May 5, Armand Salerno and Ray Garraty traveled to New York City to debate a team from St. John's of Brooklyn on the pump-priming issue. Villanova upheld the affirmative in the debate, with Salerno as rebuttalist.

City Alumni Hold Welcoming Affair

Continued From Page One

anante is the first undergraduate to serve on the committee.

At this celebration in honor of the graduates the music will be provided by the Villanovans under the direction of Paul Wade. A quartet composed of Cyril Daly, bass; Edward Cogan, guitar; Joe Pancheri, saxaphone; and George White, clarinet will augment the dancing with novel swing melodies. Bill Dobbins will present his chanting arrangements.

A spacious ballroom which can accommodate over 200 couples will be available for dancing. Special arrangements have been made with the management to have the main dining room at the disposal of those present for the purpose of relaxation and refreshments.

The reunion is strictly an invitation affair and the subscription will be $1.50. All members of the Class of 1939 will be the guests of the alumni association and tickets for the affair will be distributed to them by Paetrue Banmiller in his office without cost upon proper identification. Mr. Passanante, the undergraduate member of the committee will have tickets for sale to those not in the Class of 1939.

MAROON COLOR SCHEME CHOSEN FOR BELLE AIR

A deep maroon instead of the usual blue and white will be the color scheme of the 1939 Belle Air.

Practically all work but the printing has been completed. Work on the opening section has already begun at the printer's; pictures and dividers have been completely prepared.

As usual, the members of the staff will be entertained at a dinner given in their honor, at which time they will be presented with their copies of the book. On the day following the dinner, copies will be distributed to the student body.

Television would show you
Chesterfield
has the RIGHT COMBINATION
for More Smoking Pleasure

Every year thousands of visitors to the Chesterfield factories see the infinite care with which the world's best tobaccos are combined to give you Chesterfield's can't-be-copied blend.

It is this wonderful blend that makes Chesterfield so refreshingly different . . . milder, better-tasting, with a more pleasing aroma.

When you try them you will see why Chesterfield gives millions of men and women more smoking pleasure . . . why THEY SATISFY Shown here is one of the many blending operations in the making of Chesterfields. Everything science knows about or money can buy is used to make Chesterfield a milder, better-tasting cigarette.

They Satisfy

Copyright 1939, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

VILLANOVAN

Vol. 11—No. 24 VILLANOVA, PA., TUESDAY, MAY 16, 1939 N. A. S. Z-660

HANLON PRESIDENT, MARTIN TREASURER IN JUNIOR ELECTION

Yesterday's Balloting Selects Heck, Fanning, Casper, and Dunn Other Officers

Peter E. Hanlon, a junior science student, became president of the Class of 1940 when he polled the greatest number of votes in yesterday's elections.

Simultaneously John A. Heck, engineer, was chosen vice-president; Arthur E. Fanning, School of Arts, secretary; Charles G. Martin, science man, treasurer; Thomas J. Casper and Philip M. Dunn, both of the Commerce and Finance School, Student Council representatives.

The successful ticket of candidates named above, although elected at the termination of their junior year, will remain in office throughout the whole of next year.

Others nominated for the post of president were: Bradley J. McManus, Frank A. Pimpinella, and Joseph J. York in the School of Commerce and Finance; Edward J. Kirk, School of Engineering and Henry A. Mazzei of the Education Department.

Arthur W. Murphy and Timothy A. Wood of the School of Commerce and Finance, were candidates for the vice-presidency.

Arthur E. Fanning of the School of Arts was re-elected secretary, Gerald J. Lynam being the other candidate.

The remaining candidates for treasurer were: Edward J. Cierkowski of the School of Engineering; John F. Lang and John H. Lind of the Commerce and Finance School.

The following were the unsuccessful aspirants to the Student Council: Alfred J. Wood, School of Arts; Harry A. Kunberger of the School of Engineering; Edward L. Jonik, Edward C. Leahy, Ronnie Tornwall and Charles J. Volz, all of the Commerce and Finance School.

SEMINAR DISCUSSES 'SULPHANILAMIDE'

Story of Drug, Its History, and Medicinal Uses Explained

"The History of Sulphanilimide" was discussed by George Decherney, junior science student, at the meeting of the Research Seminar last Friday.

He traced this modern drug from the time of its discovery, just after the World War, to the present day. Listed among its derivatives are sulphopyradine, prontisil, etc. Many cases of pneumonia, spinal meningitis, rheumatic heart fever, and numerous other afflictions, respond favorably to the administration of these drugs. An outstanding feature of this drug and its derivatives is the low cost which enables the most destitute sufferers to obtain use of it.

"Today," explained Decherney, "sulphanilimide is one of the most outstanding problems in research due to its wide application. No limit of its uses has been determined yet."

"Parthenogenens and Werogamy" was the topic of the talk given by Robert Griffin, also a junior in the science school. Much research is being done in the field — eggs of various animals are cut in half. One half contains the nucleus, the other does not. By artificial methods, the non-nucleated half is stimulated and begins to go through the various stages of real fertilization. It does not progress very far due to its abnormal conditions.

A brief discussion was then held in which many ideas were set forth.

MARTIN ELECTED L. K. D. PRESIDENT

Kiley, Santaniello, Thomas, Koch and Bongiovanni Also Successful Candidates

Charles Martin, junior in the science school, was elected president of the Lambda Kappa Delta fraternity at its last meeting for the year.

Other members who have been elected to key positions of the fraternity are Robert Kiley, vice-president, Joseph S. Santaniello, treasurer, Joseph Koch, secretary, Francis Thomas, sergeant-at-arms, and Alfred Bongiovanni, student council.

Others who were up for these posts are Harry Taylor, presidential candidate, Joseph Clarken for vice-president, Joseph Nelson for secretary, and Peter Hanlon for student council.

The new president states: "As president of the L. K. D. I shall do my utmost in seeing that the L. K. D. shall continue to be the outstanding fraternity of Villanova." Martin succeeds John C. Urie who was president for this past year.

1940 President

PETER E. HANLON

EXTRA-CURRICULAR AWARDS CONFERRED

Approximately One Quarter of Total Enrollment Honored Before General Convocation

Merit awards, totaling 353, were presented to 207 students by Rev. Edward V. Stanford, O.S.A., president of the college, last Tuesday morning in the Commerce and Finance auditorium. The awards were made at an assembly of the entire college at which the deans of the various schools and a number of the faculty officiated.

In order that a student be so honored he must have "enjoyed good scholastic standing and who has also shown himself worthy of merit in extra-curricular activity." These words are engraved upon each certificate and explain the conditions of the awards.

The outstanding recipients included James Carrol, Thomas Deiate and Thomas Schaedler, each of whom received five. All are seniors. Among those receiving four are: Francis J. Mozzi, Joseph M. Pagano, and Thomas J. Carbine, seniors; Frederick A. Rappleyea, Charles H. Lodowski and Edward Cierkowski, juniors; Murray P. Zealor, sophomore, and John Fullam, freshman.

A medal is awarded annually at Commencement to the senior who has earned the most merit awards in his four years at Villanova. Last year John Simons was the recipient. Among present seniors leading in the number of extra-curricular activities are Thomas

Continued on Page Three

E. JONIK APPOINTED EDITOR OF ANNUAL FOR ENSUING YEAR

Staff Dinner May 24 at Whitehall Apartments; Distribution May 25 or 26

Edward L. Jonik, Commerce and Finance student, has been chosen next year's editor of the Belle Air. This announcement was made today by Rev. Daniel P. Falvey, O. S. A., faculty moderator of the senior publication.

The new editor first entered Villanova as a freshman in 1933. The following year he left school to work. He returned to school in 1937, but continued to hold a full-time job as a shipper until this January.

EDWARD L. JONIK

Jonik, besides being engaged in many student activities, is also an athlete. He rows stroke on the senior eight of a shell from the Fairmount Rowing Association, where he also edits the club bulletin. He served as a member of this year's Mother's Day Committee.

When informed of his appointment Jonik said, "It will be my endeavor to increase the participation of the student body in pro-

Continued on Page Eight

Livestock Is Tested By Instructor For Pneumonia Serum

Goats Used in Hope of Discovering Time Saving Method of Treatment

Experiments in connection with pneumonia typing and agglutination are being conducted by Anthony Immordino, instructor in physiology.

Goats are being injected with antigen in various forms in the hope of producing a serum which will agglutinate more than one type of pneumonia germ and thus be a time-saving factor in the fight against this infectious disease.

The experiment is being carried out in the following way. A solid mass culture of pneumonia germs is made and a part of this culture is taken and mixed with 0.5 percent solution of phenol in order to produce antigens. These antigens are injected into a goat to produce antibodies.

Another part of the mass culture is mixed with human urine and the antigens which are obtained are injected into a second goat. A third goat is used as the control animal and is injected only with human urine.

The animals are then killed and the clear sera obtained. The sera is then used in the agglutination of different types of pneumonia and it is hoped that more than one type of pneumonia will be agglutinated by the sera obtained from the goat injection with the mass culture and human urine.

Villanova Confers Degree On Major Edward Bowes

One Hundred Sixty-Five Students to Receive Degrees at Ninty-Sixth Annual Commencement of College on June 8

Receiving Degree

By ARMAND SALERNO

Major Edward Bowes will receive the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from Villanova College at the 96th annual commencement June 8. Similarly honored will be Mayor Walter A. Griffin of Lawrence, Mass.

The Very Reverend John T. Sheehan, J. C. D., Provincial of the Order of St. Augustine, will preside over the assembly.

At the same ceremony 165 others are also to receive degrees. The distribution is as follows: 6, Master of Arts; 1, Master of Science; 40, Bachelor of Arts; 1, Bachelor of Science in Nursing Education; 20, Bachelor of Science in Education; 44, Bachelor of Science in Economics; 32, Bachelor of Science in Biology; 6, Bachelor of Electrical Engineering; 3, Bachelor of Civil Engineering; 6, Bachelor of Chemical Engineering; 6, Bachelor of Mechanical Engineering.

The program of the day will begin with a solemn high mass at 9 A. M. in the college chapel. Very Rev. Edward V. Stanford, O. S. A., Ll. D., will be the celebrant.

Fr. Skelly to Address

The Very Rev. Bartholomew J. Skelly, Class of 1922, will deliver the Baccalaureate address.

The conferring of the degrees will take place at 2:30 in the field house.

Major Bowes has had an active and varied career. Before launching his original Amateur Hour which brought him fame on the radio, he was engaged in the real estate business on the West Coast. In the course of his business the Major became especially interested in theatrical real estate. It was this interest that brought him into contact with the movie industry in Hollywood. When he was conscripted into the theatrical ranks, he showed so much promise and capability that he was soon appointed to the vice presidency of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. This posi-

Continued on Page Eight

MAJOR EDWARD BOWES

F. WATERS CHOSEN FOR VALEDICTORY

Frs. McGrath, Rodgers, and Gilligan Act as Judges in Contest

In a competitive oratorical contest held last Thursday in the Commerce and Finance School auditorium Fred Waters was adjudged valedictorian of the class of 1939.

Vieing against Waters were A. Norman Klein, Leo Bicher, Thomas Delate, Paul Juergens, John Urie, Bernard Miller and Frederick Welty.

Waters has been connected with speech organizations for a number of years. He has been an active member of the Beta Gamma debating team since his sophomore year. He has also been a consistent performer in the annual gold medal oratory contest.

However, debate and speech have not been Waters' only confinements. He has been connected with the VILLANOVAN for four years. In his senior year he wrote the popular "Varieties" column.

Waters has in addition to his other activities been a member of the Belle Air staff in his sophomore year. Last year he served on the Belle Masque organization. In his final year he has been a member of the varsity track team.

He intends to enter an investment house in Philadelphia upon graduation. He has been training for this post by majoring in finance.

The judges of the contest were the Revs. Thomas J. Rodgers, Robert E. McGrath and Thomas F. Gilligan—all of the Augustinian order.

WALTER E. KELLY ELECTED CHAIRMAN OF ELECTRICALS

Walter E. Kelly, junior engineer, has been elected chairman of the A. I. E. E. for the school year 1939-40. This announcement was made today by Francis J. Mozzi who is the retiring chairman.

Joseph F. Calvarese, also a junior in the engineering school, was elected secretary for the same period. Both Kelly and Calverese were chosen last week.

The A. I. E. E. inaugurated its social program last Friday when it held a ping-pong contest with the Pennsylvania branch of the A. I. E. E. This was the first time that the society has engaged in any activities which do not pertain directly to electrical engineering.

SOIL-LESS PLANTS GROWN BY SENIORS

Description of Results to Appear in Next Issue of Mendel Bulletin

Prior to the appointment of a new staff, Bernard J. Miller, chairman of the editorial board of the Mendel Bulletin, has released the titles of the articles which will appear in the next issue of the science journal.

Chief among a varied array of scientific essays will be an article on "Hydroponics," the soil-less growth of plants, by Matthew Kuber and Edward Lucente, senior pre-medical students.

Other articles appearing in the final issue of the Mendel Bulletin are as follows: "The Standardization of Neurological Methods" by John C. Urie and Matthew Kuber; an informal treatise on "Phagocytes" by Lawrence Chaphile and William Ward; and an article by Miss Donovan on "Growth of Paramecia."

Heading the list of articles which appeared in the recent issue of the Mendel Bulletin was an article by Robert G. Howe, senior pre-medical, entitled "Science—The Alpha and Omega of Knowledge." This article clearly shows the distinction which must be made between true science and the evils of false science if one would possess really factual knowledge.

Other articles appearing in this edition are: "Studies of Unfertilized Human Ova, Number Two," by Miller, Stanley P. Reimann, and Gilson C. Engel; an essay on "Trout Fishing" by James W. Mullarkey, science student, and several other interesting treatises.

VILLANOVAN

Published Weekly by the Students of Villanova College, Villanova, Pa.

Managing Board

JOHN J. HARRINGTON, '40 .....Editor-In-Chief
JAMES P. COLLINS, '41 .....Associate Editor
PHILIP M. DUNN, '40 .....Sports Editor
JOHN T. GALLAGHER, '42 .....Business Manager
JOSEPH N. BONGIOVANNI, JR., '40 ..Copy Editor
JOSEPH A. CIRELLI, '40 .....Circulation Manager
MURRAY P. ZEALOR, '41 .....Literary Editor
HENRY L. MANCUSO, '41 .....Photography Editor
JOHN L. MAHER, '42 .....Advertising Manager
JOSEPH F. BEE, '42 .....Cartoonist

Columnists

Bernard A. Bellew, '40 .....College Chatter
William F. Garrity, '40 .....Odds and Ends
William J. Toy '41 .....Varieties
Harry A. Mazzei, '40 .....Here and There
Anthony R. Liscio, '40 .....Know Villanova

Staff Writers

Justin G. Rubin, '40 — William E. Schubert, '42
Frank Fitzpatrick, '40 — William B. DeGrace, '42
Saul A. Wallach, '40 — Thomas H. Doyle, '42
Bernard Singer, '40 — Howard A. McCall, '42
Thomas J. Moore, '41 — John P. Fullam, '42
James F. Haughton, '41 — Thomas A. Shallow, '42
Andrea J. D'Angelo, '41 — Robert J. McIntyre, '42
David N. Reardon, '42 — Alfred Bongiovanni, '40
Joseph V. McCabe, '42 — William V. Sinnott, '40
Joseph A. Barnes, '41 — William J. Elmer, '42
Joseph Santaniello '41 — James F. Donovan, '41
Robert W. Kiley, '41 — Frederick A. Rappleyea, '40
Robert J. Funabashi, '42 — William N Way, '41
William B. Carey, '42 — Walter W Lessing, '42
Francis J. Callahan, '42 — Armand Salerno, '42
Thomas A. Sullivan, '42 — Thomas J. McKimmey, '42
Gerald Belz, '42

Contributor

Lou Dubino, '39

Photography Staff

Melvin Bricker, '41 — Walter N. LaPorte, '42
John T. Sandonato, '41

Circulation Staff

Robert P. Schisler, '41 — Robert F. Donovan, '42
Bernard C. Crumb, '42 — Joseph D. Keffer, '42

Faculty Advisor—Rev. Edward B. McKee, O. S. A.
This paper is dedicated to one of the finest men who ever entered Villanova: scholar, athlete, gentleman—
L E O G O O D R E A U

Subscription—$2.00 per year.
Entered as second class matter at the Villanova Postoffice, December 27, 1928.

1938 Member 1939
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

REPRESENTED FOR NATIONAL ADVERTISING BY
National Advertising Service, Inc.
College Publishers Representative
420 MADISON AVE. NEW YORK, N. Y.
CHICAGO · BOSTON · LOS ANGELES · SAN FRANCISCO

Member of the Catholic School Press Association
Member of the Catholic College Press Association
Member of the National Scholastic Press Association.

TUESDAY - - - - MAY 16, 1939

We Have Seen History

POSSIBLE results of the past week's activity upon historians are difficult to surmise. We do put forth this contention that not since the Pullman strike when Roosevelt the First clamped the "bludgeon" of government force upon labor and unions has anything happened like the present soft coal situation.

This is an occasion that warrants careful study. Its importance is assured, but its possible reactions are puzzling. Did the President's intervention tend to bring about a unity of the U. M. W. and the coal companies? Did it prove that the relative strength of the C. I. O. is still quite powerful, even with the accusations passing in labor circles? Most important of all is the question, "Did the President favor one group in preference to the other?"

A unity of companies and labor has ended the long standing soft coal dispute. Since the climaxing of the previous contract, ending on the last day of March, there has been a shortage of soft coal casting a threatening shadow over the nation. The situation led to complications in many walks of life, and the President's message, "agree or else," has its importance.

Satisfaction

SEVERAL weeks ago an editorial in this column advocated the repairing of the tennis courts and making use of the space that was in back of the present ones. The work is now in progress. Next September will bring to those who wish to play an addition of four to five courts.

Spiritual Sloth

OFTEN times summer effects a revolutionary change in the attitude of individuals towards discipline, conventions, and obligations. The hot, energy-sapping weather of this season tends to make one indolent not only physically but likewise mentally and sometimes morally. A certain sense of liberty or freeness of manner and dress is accepted generally as a complement to the torrid heat.

The Catholic college students, though relieved from study and scholastic discipline during the summer months, should not and must not be numbered among those who neglect Sunday Mass, frequent Confession and Communion, and normal moral duties. His is the greater responsibility since he is more fitted to comply with the rules of Holy Mother Church by reason of his Catholic educational background. Summer joys are all well and good, but God must not be slighted at any cost.

There may be such things as vacations from secular obligations, but such are non-existent in matters of religion. Physical indolence is disgusting enough in itself. How much is spiritual sloth!

Spring Cleaning

IT is suggested that Mr. Roosevelt take out his house cleaning implements and start right here at home before he attempts to improve European conditions. Among the problems that need immediate attention are: the WPA program, the national budget and deficit, reorganization, the coal strike which has reached dangerous proportions. It is now national in scope in importance. Last, but not least, there is that little matter of our foreign policy and neutrality laws.

Important problems confronting the present assembled Congress make it almost impossible for that body to adjourn at the usual time; hence, we hope that our representatives will avail themselves of this opportunity to co-operate among themselves, discard personal and political prejudices, and strive for a united goal—making the United States a better place to live in.

Down With Them

IN a few weeks students will be returning home for the summer vacation. On their way they cannot help but notice the innumerable billboard advertisements which deface the landscape. Anyone who drives an automobile is well aware of the distraction presented by these huge, brightly colored scars on the scenery.

A number of cases have been argued in the courts concerning billboards and the general sentiment has been against them. Court opinions have contained such phrases as "all citizens are entitled to the fullest possible measure of highway safety, unimpaired by the distraction of outdoor advertising and to the enjoyment of scenery, unimpaired by billboards." They have also been termed a "blot on nature as well as a parisite on public improvement."

A plan of strip zoning has been instituted in some states whereby the state has control of the territory for several hundred feet on each side of the road. This control authorizes them to forbid the erection of billboards and other forms of roadside advertising.

Some such plan is urged upon the whole country so that these traffic hazards and aesthetically offensive structures might be eliminated. All citizens, especially motorists, acting through their clubs and other agencies should join the drive already successful in several states to eradicate unsightly billboards from the roadside.

Faculty Comments

Constitutional Principles
By
John R. Dunne, O. S. A., M. A.

CENTURIES ago many of our forefathers abandoned the countries of Europe, leaving behind a maelstrom of hatreds, persecution and fetters of tyranny. These pioneers came to the shores of this country, seeking to find the blessings of neighborly love, justice and liberty. Throwing off the yoke of British tryanny, they wrote a constitution. We know this document as the Constitution of the United States, although the original manuscript has no title.

The prerogatives of human happiness that the Founding Fathers sought to find in their new country were embodied in this sacred document, as they themselves stated in its preamble. They did ordain and did establish the Constitution for the United States . . . "to establish justice, to insure domestic tranquility . . . and secure the blessings of liberty," and, this they did, not only for themselves but also for us, their posterity.

It was under the protection of this Constitution, that the Founding Fathers and their immediate descendants, true to the ideals of this American Magna Charta of human rights, unfolded the Pageant of America of the past one hundred and fifty years. A panoply of pageantry that began with the passage of the Alleghenies into the valley of the Ohio, and ended in the valleys of California. This mighty torrent of hardy pioneer families overflowing westward had indefatigable energy, but the indomitable courage that characterized these families found its inspiration in the ideals of the Constitution. What was it, however, that instilled these ideals in these Americans of an earlier era, and, what was it that inspired them with an unlimited confidence in their Constitution? Nothing more than the fundamental principles of good American government, based on the recognition of inherent rights of the individual; nothing less than American constitutional principles in accord with the teachings of Christianity itself.

The question follows very naturally; Just what are these basic American principles of government?

The basic and most fundamental principles may be enumerated in this manner: First, that all men are created equal, meaning that all men stand the same in the sight of the law. In the second place, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights. Such rights are not given by the state, nor by their fellow citizens, but rights possessed under God. Third, it is the state's chief concern to maintain such rights of its citizens, and to protect them in these rights. Finally, it is the prerogative of the citizens themselves to determine the form of government, and, in the event of its failure to protect the citizens' privileges, to change the governmental form.

In view of principles such as these that make our government ideal and guarantee our political liberty, it is unnecessary to contrast other forms of governments, dictatorial or totalitarian in nature, with it. It is needless to point out that the tendencies in Fascism, Nazism and Communism reach their apex in the destruction of all liberty. No truly patriotic American, and for that matter, no man of common sense, who is aware of the sound philosophy of the constitutional democracy we enjoy, would wish for a change in the form of our government. But no good American, who loves peace and cherishes his personal liberty, should allow agitators of un-American ilk to foist upon us ideas of other kinds of government. And above all, no good citizen of these United States should permit them to pass on our unsuspecting nation ideas of foreign doctrines as ideals in keeping with our own. Careful analysis on our part, unharried by prejudice, will reveal such propagandist devices to be at variance with common sense as well as with American principles and the law of God.

We Americans should remember that appreciation of our form of government; application of our ideas of American life to our pressing political problems and loyalty to the ideals of the Constitution will do more to destroy a growing fondness for foreign ideologies apparent in some of us than outright condemnations or, even worse, attacks on other forms of political entities. We have only to recall that our government is based on religion and morality and as such it will continue to support political prosperity and liberty.

Americans should cherish forever the words of Washington in his Farewell Address: "Of all the dispositions and habits which lead to political prosperity, religion and morality are indispensable supports. In vain would that man claim the tribute of patriotism who should labor to subvert these great pillars of human happiness—these firmest props of the duties of men and citizens."

Spring Cleaning

ODDS and ENDS

By Bill Garrity

COULD it have been that Will Howlett was seeing things last Wednesday night? Will swears that he woke up to find a sheep in bed with him and he even claims he put the sheep out in the hall.

• • •

Jim Donovan is now scouting the field after spending a season in the Texas league.

• • •

Tommy Lyons forgot to say his prayers one night during Junior week so Jack Gallager and Joe McCabe who are very interested in his spiritual welfare dragged him out of bed to do that thing.

• • •

"Meat Head" Phillips seems to like swimming very much. In the last two weeks he has been wading and wallowing in the Rosemont pond at least three times.

• • •

An unintended slight was given Paul Wade and the rest of the Villanovans in the last edition of this column. As a group the orchestra is a greatly improved organization. Lots of luck in the coming year, fellows.

• • •

Student: "I don't think I deserve a zero in that examination."

Prof: "I know you don't but that's the lowest mark there is."

• • •

Two of the fellows, Chuck Roch and Lou Dymond, may soon be wending their way to Pensacola, Fla. They have successfully passed the physical exams for the Naval Flying Corps and are now waiting to hit the selection board.

• • •

First Senior: "You busy?"
Second Senior: "No."
First Senior: "Then let's go to class."

• • •

Since it is so close to graduation a word is due to the outgoing class. Good luck in the business world fellows, go out and show them what you're made of and don't forget to stop back once in a while to say "Hello."

Know Villanova

By ANTHONY R. LISCIO

The Villanova Dramatic Club presented "Richelieu" at the Walnut St. Theatre on Thursday, June 13, 1901.

• • •

Villanova College is located at the highest point above sea level in territory between Norristown and Philadelphia.

• • •

In the summer of 1841, at St. Augustine's, Philadelphia, Fr. Moriarty, O. S. A., inaugurated the first "Beneficial Temperance Society" to be established in this country.

• • •

The first organ which was used at Villanova was originally built for St. Mary's Episcopal Seminary for Young Ladies, at Burlington, N. J.

• • •

The school year ended in July during the beginning years of Villanova's existence.

• • •

Rev. Jerome Mahoney, O. S. A., contributed many facts of interest to this column. Many thanks, Father.

Give Merit Awards To 207 Students

Continued From Page One

E. Delate, Thomas J. Carbine and Pershing Calabro.

Merit Awards for 1938-39 were granted as follows:

AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF ELECTRICAL ENGINEERS
John B. Gehman, Francis J. Mozzi, Thomas J. Schaedler.

AMERICAN SOCIETY OF CIVIL ENGINEERS
James J. Carroll.

AMERICAN SOCIETY OF MECHANICAL ENGINEERS
John A. Heck, Raymond E. MacGregor.

BAND
Leo B. Bicher, Hugh J. Boyle, Melvin I. Bricker, William J. Delahanty, Timothy F. Donovan, Walter J. Filipek, James F. Flood, Frederick C. Kull, Walter N. La Porta, Charles H. Lodowski, Robert P. Schisler, Bernard Singer, John O. Van Hook, Paul J. Wade.

BASEBALL TEAM (VARSITY)
Stanley W. Bobrowski, (Manager), Robert B. Bond, Francis T. Crawley, Michael Lazorchak, Cornelius J. Nicholas, Robert N. Pash.

BASKETBALL TEAM (VARSITY)
Michael Lazorchak, James C. Montgomery.

BASKETBALL TEAM (FRESHMAN)
Frederick Gerland, Richard L. Gray, Thomas J. Carbine, James P. Collins, Thomas E. Delate, John B. M. D'Ippolito, Edward L. Jonik, Edward C. Loughery, Gerald J. Lynam, Armand L. Salerno, Robert G. Wilderotter, Joseph A. Wood, Joseph J. York, Murray P. Zealor.

BELLE MASQUE — DRAMATICS
Pershing Calabro, Gerard A. Holland, J. Bradley McManus.

BETA GAMMA — DEBATING (VARSITY)
Thomas E. Delate, Frederic J. Watters.

BETA GAMMA — DEBATING (FRESHMAN)
Gerard F. Bela, John P. Fullam, Thomas J. McKimmey, Walter N. La Porte, Armand L. Salerno, William E. Schubert.

BOXING TEAM
William F. Duffy, Edward J. Kirk, Robert Mentzinger, John Nojunas, Joseph M. Pagano, (Manager).

CHEER LEADERS STAFF
James J. Carroll, Robert J. Koness, Gilbert E. Noll, Fred C. Steller.

CHEMICAL ENGINEERS' SOCIETY
Edward J. Cierkowski, Edward M. Connenn, John J. Maucieri.

FOOTBALL TEAM (VARSITY)
Thomas J. Casper, John F. Lang, (Manager), Henry A. Mazzei, Richard Monsaert, (Manager), Ronnie Tornwall, Aloysius T. Waad, (Manager), Peter C. Yankauskas.

FOOTBALL TEAM (FRESHMAN)
Anthony Androckovich, William J. Litwiet, Bernard V. McMonigle, Joseph E. Murray, Joseph A. Yednock.

FOOTBALL TEAM (ONE HUNDRED FIFTY POUND)
Raymond F. Garraty, (Manager), Gerard A. Holland, Anthony R. Liscio, Francis J. Lombardo, J. Bradley McManus, Joseph M. Pagano, Frederick A. Rappleyea, Albert J. Wood.

GLEE CLUB
William J. Appel, Gerard F. Belz, Hugh J. Boyle, James T. Brady, John B. M. D'Ippolito, Edward A. Eichman, James F. Flood, Edward R. Frank, John P. Fullam, John T. Gallagher, George Halauska, Frederick C. Kull, Thomas J. Lyons, Hyman Malkin, Joseph V. Meyer, Daniel A. O'Malley.

GOLF TEAM
David G. Morse, Joseph M. Pagano, Clifford F. Randolph.

HISTORY SEMINAR
Philip M. Dunn, John F. Fullam, Raymond F. Garraty, John F. Lang, Thomas J. Moore, John J. Parson, Robert N. Pash, Francis S. Vogel, William J. Ward.

INTRA-MURAL ATHLETICS (ALUMNI HALL)
Arthur R. Connor, Joseph C. Daly, George E. Gabuzda, Salvatore G. Gagliano, Stanley J. Grigaitunas, John C. Koch, John J. Leakey, Charles J. Lozowski, Joseph V. McCabe, Raymond Merrigan, Robert J. Koness.

INTRAMURAL ATHLETICS (AUSTIN HALL)
Robert G. Boudon, James Forkin, Melchor W. Gaston, Carl Pantaleo.

INTRA-MURAL ATHLETICS (C. & F. DAY STUDENTS)
George W. Coupe, Donald McGurk.

INTRA-MURAL ATHLETICS (FEDIGAN HALL)
James J. Carroll, Francis P. Castles, Francis X. Connors.

INTRA-MURAL ATHLETICS (MENDEL HALL)
Edward J. Banagan, Fred J. Clark, Bernard C. Crumb, David F. Daly.

INTRA-MURAL ATHLETICS (MENDEL DAY STUDENTS)
Daniel P. Dalina, Vincent J. Gordon, Alfred J. Wood.

JUNIOR (1940) CLASS
Vincent H. Baum, Alfred M. Bongiovanni, Joseph N. Bongiovanni, Allen A. Brown, Joseph B. Christoph, Edward J. Cierkowski, Francis X. Connors, Daniel J. Crossmire, William F. Duffy, Arthur E. Fanning, Walter J. Filipek, Melchor W. Gaston, William M. Gillespie, John J. Hallinan, Peter E. Hanlon, John J. Harrington, John A. Heck, Edward L. Jonik, Walter E. Kelly, Harry A. Kerberger, Casimir J. Kurek, John F. Lang, Edward C. Leahy, Charles H. Lodowski, Gerald J. Lynam, Charles G. Martin, Henry A. Mazzei, J. Bradley McManus, Marvin I. Mones, Gilbert E. Noll, Frank A. Pinginello, Frederick A. Rappleyea, Justin Rubin, Daniel J. Troy, Charles J. Volts, Aloysius T. Waad, George J. Wilhelm, Peter C. Yankauskas.

LAMBDA KAPPA DELTA
Charles G. Martin, Andrew McKane, John C. Urle.

MATHEMATICS SEMINAR
Nicholas C. Aceto, Paul E. Brown, Bernard J. Clarke, Charles G. Denler, Joseph C. Dorsey, Edward D. Eichman, Vincent J. Gordon, Edmond J. Hagan, Thomas J. Junker, John P. Kirchner, Walter N. La Porte, Thomas A. Shallow.

"MENDEL BULLETIN" STAFF
Augustine T. Giordano, Charles H. Lodowski, Bernard J. Miller, (Editor).

PHI KAPPA PI
Leo B. Bicher, Allen A. Brown, Frank M. Carroll, James J. Carroll, Edward J. Cierkowski, Anthony J. Cirrito, John B. Gehman, Francis J. Mozzi, Joseph J. Quinn, Edward A. Ritti, Thomas J. Schaedler, Raymond A. Sheik.

PHILOSOPHY SEMINAR
Joseph N. Bongiovanni, Pershing Calabro, Thomas J. Carbine, Thomas E. Delate, John J. Harrington, Albert E. Holl.

SANCTUARY SOCIETY
Hugh J. Boyle, James T. Brady, James J. Carroll, David F. Daly, John E. Dorsey, James F. Flood, James Forkin, Raymond J. Fulton, Richard L. Gray, Thomas J. Minuet in G" of Beethoven and Grieg's "Gavotte."

Philip J. Malarkey, Charles G. Martin, Thomas J. McKimmey, John J. McGovern, John V. Meyer, Daniel A. O'Malley.

SCIENCE SEMINAR
Alfred M. Bongiovanni, Winslow J. Borkowski, Alphonse E. Calio, Salvatore T. Campo, John J. Curran, Benedict Cusani, Louis E. DiSimone, Augustine T. Giordano, Joseph E. Nelson, Carl Pantaleo, Justin Rubin, Bernard Singer.

SENIOR (1939) CLASS
Leo B. Bicher, Francis P. Castles, John J. Curran, Thomas E. Delate, Albert E. Holl, Thomas Mahoney, Bernard J. Miller, James A. O'Brien, James M. Quigley, Joseph J. Quinn, Thomas J. Schaedler, William J. Ward, Albert J. Zeglej.

SOCIOLOGY SEMINAR
John J. Curran, Bede F. Howard, Carl Pantaleo.

SOPHOMORE (1941) CLASS
William J. Appel, Edward J. Banagan, Gordon J. Brenner, Joseph B. Clarken, James P. Collins, James F. Donovan, Edward A. Eichman, William E. Epifanio, George J. Flannery, James Forkin, James F. Haughton, Joseph E. Norton, Clifford F. Randolph, Robert P. Schisler, Fred C. Steller, Murray P. Zealor.

STUDENT COUNCIL
Thomas J. Carbine, Anthony J. Cirrito, A. Norman Klein, Francis J. Mozzi, (Chairman), Clifford F. Randolph, Thomas J. Schaedler, Murray P. Zealor.

SWIMMING TEAM
William L. Bailey, Paul L. Farnsworth, Walter J. Kelley, Edward C. Leahy, Thomas J. Moore, John Phoneric.

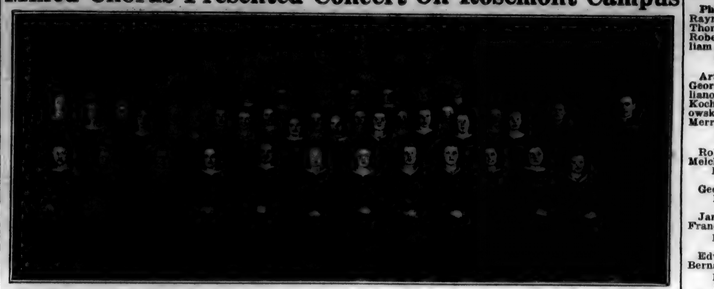
TENNIS TEAM
Frederick A. Rappleyea, Burton L. Wellenbach.

TRACK TEAM
James T. Brady, Charles M. Clancy, Thomas E. Delate, Thomas H. Doyle, (Manager), William F. Duffy, Robert J. Koness, Arthur W. Murphy, John J. Parson, Aloysius T. Waad, Frederick J. Waters, Peter C. Yankauskas.

"VILLANOVAN" STAFF
Alfred M. Bongiovanni, Joseph N. Bongiovanni, Thomas J. Carbine, James P. Collins, Bernard C. Crumb, Andrea J. D'Angelo, Robert F. Donovan, Thomas H. Doyle, Philip M. Dunn, William J. Elmer, John P. Fullam, John T. Gallagher, John J.

Continued on Page Four

Mixed Chorus Presented Concert On Rosemont Campus



The Rosemont Glee Club (in first three rows), and the Villanova Glee Club (in rear rows), donned academic robes last Monday evening to present, under the direction of the Rev. Ralph J. Handran, M. Mus., O. S. A. (extreme right), a program of choral numbers utilizing the beauty of male and female voices in harmony.

Choral Axis Of Rosemont-Villanova Results In Varied Musical Program

By ARMAND SALERNO

Last Monday's music recital of the combined glee clubs of Villanova and Rosemont Colleges witnessed a unique experiment in voice blending. The venture consisted of mixing the voices of the male and female choruses in rendering the Motet from Bach's Cantata No. 28.

Although the result was not quite perfect the group showed so much promise that the Rev. Ralph J. Handran, O. S. A., conductor of the chorus, intends to start right in next year where the experiment has been left off in order that a closer harmony might be achieved. It is his intention that the group be prepared for several concerts next year.

Because most of the writers of classical choral music have never meant their masterpieces to be sung by voices only, a mixed chorus of female and male tones is necessary in order that the full benefits from the music might be derived.

One of the most thrilling performances of the evening was turned in by Miss Kathryn Jane Kearns. Miss Kearns, a pupil of Edna Phillips of the Philadelphia Philharmonic, played two selections on the harp: "Caprice—Impromptu" by Pierne and Salzedo's "Night Breeze." In these renditions Miss Kearns exhibited rare ability.

Edward Lucente, senior science student, was another outstanding soloist. His "Cosi Cosa" was an exhibition of excellent vocal coordination. Later he returned with Franck's "Panis Angelicus." In the encore he was accompanied by Miss Kearns on the harp, Miss Dorothy Brady on the violin and Miss Mary Barran, piano.

Also worthy of comment was the quartette from Villanova composed of Charles Cavanagh, John D'Ippolito, William Appel, and Joseph York. The number rendered was "Sylvia" by Speaks. The group has been steadily improving in voice quality and harmony, and has shown considerable promise.

Besides the choral music and soloists, a string quartette of Miss Aurora Cosenza on the cello and violinists Miss Dorothy Brady, Charles Lodowski and Italo de Bartolomeis played two numbers. They were "Minuet in G" of Beethoven and Grieg's "Gavotte."

Introducing—

By ANDREA J. D'ANGELO

IF there ever was a student at Villanova whose life has been full of activity, it is Robert G. Howe. He was born on February 11, 1918, at Clearfield, Pennsylvania, in the thick of the soft coal mining district. After his father's demise during the war, the Howe family moved to Overbrook in Philadelphia, where he soon attended the St. Rose of Lima Parochial school.

During these eight years, Bob became a prominent figure on the sandlots, playing football with his playmates. His one ambition was to make the varsity football team at West Catholic High School. It was here that he spent the four years following his completion of grammar school, but his gridiron ambitions were frustrated because he was too light in weight and slight of stature to make the varsity team; however, he still continued to play on the sandlots around home.

Having graduated from high school, the serious choice of a college came up. Penn State almost enticed Bob, but after careful consideration he decided to matriculate at Villanova College in '35, where he registered in the science school to take the pre-medical course. Since his father had been a doctor and his one great love was medicine, this was the logical choice.

Makes Friends Early

His first remembrance of Villanova is the fact that he "was in a fog" and immediately struck a friendship with Lenny Flinkman. Soon he became an active figure on the campus. The L. K. D. fraternity claimed him for its own. Nort Paden discovered that this lowly frosh had latent journalistic talents and induced him to join the VILLANOVAN staff: and in the latter part of the year he was elected vice-president of the Sophomore Class.

ROBERT G. HOWE

This initiated him into the political ranks of Bert Passanante, Kryzwicki, and Dick Walsh, who was elected president at the same time. When later Dick Walsh went to the seminary to study for the priesthood, Bob became president of his class. As an officer he became an ex-officio member of the Sophomore Cotillion committee. The dance was a great success that year. Incidentally, his class was the first to inaugurate the giving of the proceeds to the school scholarship fund.

In Varied Activities

He was a member of the V. C.'s, and then in May, when the elections came up again, he was chosen by his classmates to be treasurer of his class, which position he enjoyed handling a great deal even though there was much work attached to it.

Since his work on the staff had been so diligent and promising, he was also chosen copy editor of the VILLANOVAN that year. During the Open House celebration he was very prominent in the activities on the campus.

Now we come to his senior year, the climax to three years' crowded and varied work at Villanova. When Bob learned of his being appointed to the editorship position on the VILLANOVAN, he dropped all political aspirations and gave up all class appointments to official posts. As a consequence he saw a rapid rise in his marks.

Recently he wrote an article for the Mendal Bulletin called, "The Alpha and Omega of Knowledge." Again he was very active during Open House, and besides was made sergeant-at-arms of the Lamba Kappa Delta fraternity.

Because he dropped some of his extra activities during his senior year, Bob says that he has had more time to enjoy the beauties and advantages of the campus.

To Enter Medical School

He was admitted to Jefferson Medical School recently, where he intends to continue his medical studies in the fall. This account may give the reader the wrong impression of Bob, for it may lead him to believe that he is all work. This is not true, for as any of his classmates will affirm Bob is quite prominent in social life, having attended most of the social functions here at Villanova.

Cross-word puzzles are his passion, and when he gets tired of working them out, he makes up his own. He rarely plays pinochle because he is too lucky; somehow he always manages to win at it. He has seen most of the football and basketball games, but doesn't care too much for baseball. He prefers tails to tuxedoes.

And, oh yes, field day is one day that he will always remember, even though he couldn't have the pleasure of seeing his class win out.

Calendar

Today

Chi Mu Epsilon ..... 1:00 P. M.
VILLANOVAN ..... 1:00 P. M.
Tennis, Moravian (Home) ..... 2:30 P. M.
Intramural Softball .. 7:00 P. M.

Wednesday, May 17

Track, Rider (Home) .. 3:00 P. M.
Intramural Softball .... 7:00 P. M.
Music Seminar ..... 7:30 P. M.

Thursday, May 18

Ascension Thursday, Holyday

Tennis, Temple (Away) 2:30 P. M.
Golf, Fordham (Home) 2:? P. M.
Baseball, St John's (at Brooklyn) ..... 3:00 P M
Intramural Softball .. 7:00 P. M.
Music Seminar ..... 7:30 P. M.

Friday, May 19

German Seminar ..... 9:45 A. M.
Philosophy Seminar .. 1:30 P. M.
Tennis, Baltimore U. (Away) ..... 2:30 P. M.

VILLANOVAN

Published Weekly by the Students of Villanova College, Villanova, Pa.

Managing Board

JOHN J. HARRINGTON, '40 .....Editor-in-Chief
JAMES P. COLLINS, '41 .....College Editor
PHILIP M. DUNN, '40 .....Sports Editor
JOHN T. GALLAGHER, '40 .....Business Manager
JOSEPH N. BONGIOVANNI, JR., '40 ...Copy Editor
JOSEPH A. CIRELLI, '40 .....Circulation Manager
MURRAY F. ZEALOR, '41 .....Literary Editor
HENRY L. MANCUSO, '41 .....Photography Editor
JOHN L. MAHER, '42 .....Advertising Manager
JOSEPH F. BEE, '42 .....Cartoonist

Columnists

Bernard A. Bellew, '40 .....College Chatter
William F. Garrity, '40 .....Odds and Ends
William J. Toy, '41 .....Varieties
Harry A. Mazzei, '40 .....Here and There
Anthony R. Liscio, '40 .....Know Villanova

Staff Writers

Justin G. Rubin, '40 — William E. Schubert, '42
Frank Fitzpatrick, '40 — William B. DeGraoc, '42
Saul A. Wallach, '40 — Thomas H. Doyle, '42
Bernard Singer, '40 — Howard A. McCall, '42
Thomas J. Moore, '41 — John P. Fullam, '42
James F. Haughton, '41 — Thomas A. Shallow, '42
Andrea J. D'Angelo, '41 — Robert J. McIntyre, '42
David N. Reardon, '42 — Alfred Bongiovanni, '40
Joseph V. McCabe, '42 — William V. Sinnott, '40
Joseph A. Barnes, '41 — William J. Ebner, '42
Joseph Sgrignello '41 — James F. Donovan, '41
Robert W. Kiley, '41 — Frederick A. Rappleyea, '40
Robert J. Fanaiechi, '42 — William N. Way, '41
William J. Carey, '42 — Walter W Lessing, '42
Francis J. Culhane, '42 — Armand Salerno, '42
Thomas A. Sullivan, '42 — Thomas J. McKimmey, '42
Gerald Reis, '42

Contributor

Lou Dubino, '39

Photographic Staff

Melvin Bricker, '41 — Walter N. LaPorte, '42
John T. Sandonato '41

Circulation Staff

Robert P. Schisler, '41 — Robert F. Donovan, '42
Bernard C. Crumb, '42 — Joseph D. Keffer, '42

Faculty Advisor—Rev. Edward B. McKeon, O. S. A.

This paper is dedicated to one of the finest men who ever entered Villanova: scholar, athlete, gentleman—
LEO GOODREAU

Subscription—$2.00 per year.
Entered as second class matter at the Villanova Post-office, December 27, 1928.

1938 Member 1939
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

REPRESENTED FOR NATIONAL ADVERTISING BY
National Advertising Service, Inc.
College Publishers Representative
420 MADISON AVE. NEW YORK, N. Y.
CHICAGO · BOSTON · LOS ANGELES · SAN FRANCISCO

Member of the Catholic School Press Association
Member of the Catholic College Press Association
Member of the National Scholastic Press Association.

TUESDAY - - - - MAY 16, 1939

We Have Seen History

POSSIBLE results of the past week's activity upon historians are difficult to surmise. We do put forth this contention that not since the Pullman strike when Roosevelt the First clamped the "bludgeon" of government force upon labor and unions has anything happened like the present soft coal situation.

This is an occasion that warrants careful study. Its importance is assured, but its possible reactions are puzzling. Did the President's intervention tend to bring about a unity of the U. M. W. and the coal companies? Did it prove that the relative strength of the C. I. O. is still quite powerful, even with the accusations passing in labor circles? Most important of all is the question, "Did the President favor one group in preference to the other?"

A unity of companies and labor has ended the long standing soft coal dispute. Since the climaxing of the previous contract, ending on the last day of March, there has been a shortage of soft coal casting a threatening shadow over the nation. The situation led to complications in many walks of life, and the President's message, "agree or else," has its importance.

Satisfaction

SEVERAL weeks ago an editorial in this column advocated the repairing of the tennis courts and making use of the space that was in back of the present ones. The work is now in progress. Next September will bring to those who wish to play an addition of four to five courts.

Spiritual Sloth

OFTEN times summer effects a revolutionary change in the attitude of individuals towards discipline, conventions, and obligations. The hot, energy-sapping weather of this season tends to make one indolent not only physically but likewise mentally and sometimes morally. A certain sense of liberty or freeness of manner and dress is accepted generally as a complement to the torrid heat.

The Catholic college students, though relieved from study and scholastic discipline during the summer months, should not and must not be numbered among those who neglect Sunday Mass, frequent Confession and Communion, and normal moral duties. His is the greater responsibility since he is more fitted to comply with the rules of Holy Mother Church by reason of his Catholic educational background. Summer joys are all well and good, but God must not be slighted at any cost.

There may be such things as vacations from secular obligations, but such are non-existent in matters of religion. Physical indolence is disgusting enough in itself. How much is spiritual sloth!

Spring Cleaning

IT is suggested that Mr. Roosevelt take out his house cleaning implements and start right here at home before he attempts to improve European conditions. Among the problems that need immediate attention are: the WPA program, the national budget and deficit, reorganization, the coal strike which has reached dangerous proportions. It is now national in scope in importance. Last, but not least, there is that little matter of our foreign policy and neutrality laws.

Important problems confronting the present assembled Congress make it almost impossible for that body to adjourn at the usual time; hence, we hope that our representatives will avail themselves of this opportunity to co-operate among themselves, discard personal and political prejudices, and strive for a united goal—making the United States a better place to live in.

Down With Them

IN a few weeks students will be returning home for the summer vacation. On their way they cannot help but notice the innumerable billboard advertisements which deface the landscape. Anyone who drives an automobile is well aware of the distraction presented by these huge, brightly colored scars on the scenery.

A number of cases have been argued in the courts concerning billboards and the general sentiment has been against them. Court opinions have contained such phrases as "all citizens are entitled to the fullest possible measure of highway safety, unimpaired by the distraction of outdoor advertising and to the enjoyment of scenery, unimpaired by billboards." They have also been termed a "blot on nature as well as a parisite on public improvement."

A plan of strip zoning has been instituted in some states whereby the state has control of the territory for several hundred feet on each side of the road. This control authorizes them to forbid the erection of billboards and other forms of roadside advertising.

Some such plan is urged upon the whole country so that these traffic hazards and aesthetically offensive structures might be eliminated. All citizens, especially motorists, acting through their clubs and other agencies should join the drive already successful in several states to eradicate unsightly billboards from the roadside.

Faculty Comments

Constitutional Principles

By John R. Dunne, O. S. A., M. A.

CENTURIES ago many of our forefathers abandoned the countries of Europe, leaving behind a maelstrom of hatreds, persecution and fetters of tyranny. These pioneers came to the shores of this country, seeking to find the blessings of neighborly love, justice and liberty. Throwing off the yoke of British tryanny, they wrote a constitution. We know this document as the Constitution of the United States, although the original manuscript has no title.

The prerogatives of human happiness that the Founding Fathers sought to find in their new country were embodied in this sacred document, as they themselves stated in its preamble. They did ordain and did establish the Constitution for the United States . . . "to establish justice, to insure domestic tranquility . . . and secure the blessings of liberty," and, this they did, not only for themselves but also for us, their posterity.

It was under the protection of this Constitution, that the Founding Fathers and their immediate descendants, true to the ideals of this American Magna Charta of human rights, unfolded the Pageant of America of the past one hundred and fifty years. A panoply of pageantry that began with the passage of the Alleghenies into the valley of the Ohio, and ended in the valleys of California. This mighty torrent of hardy pioneer families overflowing westward had indefatigable energy, but the indomitable courage that characterized these families found its inspiration in the ideals of the Constitution. What was it, however, that instilled these ideals in these Americans of an earlier era, and, what was it that inspired them with an unlimited confidence in their Constitution? Nothing more than the fundamental principles of good American government, based on the recognition of inherent rights of the individual; nothing less than American constitutional principles in accord with the teachings of Christianity itself.

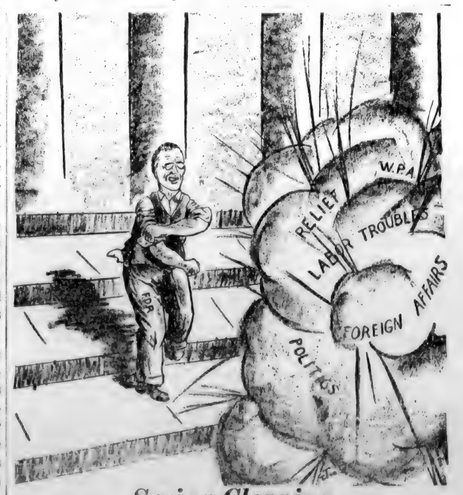
The question follows very naturally; Just what are these basic American principles of government?

The basic and most fundamental principles may be enumerated in this manner: First, that all men are created equal, meaning that all men stand the same in the sight of the law. In the second place, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights. Such rights are not given by the state nor by their fellow citizens, but rights possessed under God. Third, it is the state's chief concern to maintain such rights of its citizens, and to protect them in these rights. Finally, it is the prerogative of the citizens themselves to determine the form of government, and, in the event of its failure to protect the citizens' privileges, to change the governmental form.

In view of principles such as these that make our government ideal and guarantee our political liberty, it is unnecessary to contrast other forms of governments, dictatorial or totalitarian in nature, with it. It is needless to point out that the tendencies in Fascism, Nazism and Communism reach the apex in the destruction of all liberty. No truly patriotic American, and for that matter, no man of common sense, who is aware of the sound philosophy of the constitutional democracy we enjoy, would wish for a change in the form of our government. But no good American, who loves peace and cherishes his personal liberty, should allow agitators of un-American ilk to foist upon us ideas of other kinds of government. And above all, no good citizen of these United States should permit them to pass on our unsuspecting nation ideas of foreign doctrines as ideals in keeping with our own. Careful analysis on our part, unharried by prejudice, will reveal such propagandist devices to be at variance with common sense as well as with American principles and the law of God.

We Americans should remember that appreciation of our form of government; application of our ideas of American life to our pressing political problems and loyalty to the ideals of the Constitution will do more to destroy a growing fondness for foreign ideologies apparent in some of us than outright condemnations or, even worse, attacks on other forms of political entities. We have only to recall that our government is based on religion and morality and as such it will continue to support political prosperity and liberty.

Americans should cherish forever the words of Washington in his Farewell Address: "Of all the dispositions and habits which lead to political prosperity, religion and morality are indispensable supports. In vain would that man claim the tribute of patriotism who should labor to subvert these great pillars of human happiness—these firmest props of the duties of men and citizens."



Spring Cleaning

ODDS and ENDS

By Bill Garrity

COULD it have been that Will Howlett was seeing things last Wednesday night? Will swears that he woke up to find a sheep in bed with him and he even claims he put the sheep out in the hall.

• • •

Jim Donovan is now scouting the field after spending a season in the Texas league.

• • •

Tommy Lyons forgot to say his prayers one night during Junior week so Jack Gallager and Joe McCabe who are very interested in his spiritual welfare dragged him out of bed to do that thing.

• • •

"Meat Head" Phillips seems to like swimming very much. In the last two weeks he has been wading and wallowing in the Rosemont pond at least three times.

• • •

An unintended slight was given Paul Wade and the rest of the Villanovans in the last edition of this column. As a group the orchestra is a greatly improved organization. Lots of luck in the coming year, fellows.

• • •

Student: "I don't think I deserve a zero in that examination."
Prof: "I know you don't but that's the lowest mark there is."

• • •

Two of the fellows, Chuck Roch and Lou Dymond, may soon be wending their way to Pensacola, Fla. They have successfully passed the physical exams for the Naval Flying Corps and are now waiting to hit the selection board.

• • •

First Senior: "You busy?"
Second Senior: "No."
First Senior: "Then let's go to class."

• • •

Since it is so close to graduation a word is due to the outgoing class. Good luck in the business world fellows, go out and show them what you're made of and don't forget to step back once in a while to say "Hello."

Know Villanova

By ANTHONY R LISCIO

The Villanova Dramatic Club presented "Richelieu" at the Walnut St. Theatre on Thursday, June 13, 1901.

• • •

Villanova College is located at the highest point above sea level in territory between Norristown and Philadelphia.

• • •

In the summer of 1841, at St. Augustine's, Philadelphia, Fr. Moriarty, O. S. A., inaugurated the first "Beneficial Temperance Society" to be established in this country.

• • •

The first organ which was used at Villanova was originally built for St. Mary's Episcopal Seminary for Young Ladies, at Burlington, N. J.

• • •

The school year ended in July during the beginning years of Villanova's existence.

• • •

Rev. Jerome Mahoney, O. S. A., contributed many facts of interest to this column. Many thanks, Father.

Give Merit Awards To 207 Students

Continued From Page One

E. Delate, Thomas J. Carbine and Pershing Calabro.

Merit Awards for 1938-39 were granted as follows:

AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF ELECTRICAL ENGINEERS
John B. Gehman, Francis J. Mozzi, Thomas J. Schneider.

AMERICAN SOCIETY OF CIVIL ENGINEERS
James J. Carroll.

AMERICAN SOCIETY OF MECHANICAL ENGINEERS
John A. Heck, Raymond E. MacGregor.

BAND
Leo B. Bicher, Hugh J. Boyle, Melvin I. Bricker, William J. Delehanty, Timothy F. Donovan, Walter J. Filipek, James F. Flood, Frederick G. Kull, Walter N. La Forte, Charles H. Lodowski, Robert P. Schisler, Bernard Singer, John O. Van Hook, Paul J. Wade.

BASEBALL TEAM (VARSITY)
Stanley V. Robowski, (Manager), Robert E. Bond, Francis T. Crawley, Michael Lazorchak, Cornelius J. Nichols, Robert N. Pash.

BASKETBALL TEAM (VARSITY)
Michael Lazorchak, James C. Montgomery.

BASKETBALL TEAM (FRESHMAN)
Frederick Garland, Richard L. Gray, Thomas J. Carbine, James P. Collins, Thomas E. Delate, John B. M. D'Ippolito, Edward L. Louth, Edward C. Loughery, Gerald J. Lynam, Armand L. Salerno, Robert G. Wildrotter, Joseph A. Wood, Joseph J. York, Murray F. Zealor.

BELLE MASQUE — DRAMATICS
Pershing Calabro, Gerard A. Holland, J. Bradley McManus.

BETA GAMMA — DEBATING (VARSITY)
Thomas E. Delate, Frederic J. Watters.

BETA GAMMA — DEBATING (FRESHMAN)
Gerard F. Belz, John P. Fullam, Thomas J. McKimmey, Walter N. La Porte, Armand L. Salerno, William E. Schubert.

BOXING TEAM
William F. Duffy, Edward J. Kirk, Robert Montelinger, John Noguna, Joseph M. Pagano, (Manager).

CHEER LEADERS STAFF
James J. Carroll, Robert J. Koness, Gilbert E. Noll, Fred C. Steller.

CHEMICAL ENGINEERS' SOCIETY
Edward J. Sherkowski, Edward M. Conneen, John J. Maurer.

FOOTBALL TEAM (VARSITY)
Thomas J. Casper, John F. Lang, (Manager), Henry A. Mazzei, Richard Monsaert, (Manager), Ronnie Tornwall, Aloysius T. Wand, (Manager), Peter C. Yankauskas.

FOOTBALL TEAM (FRESHMAN)
Anthony Andrecovich, William J. Howdell, Raymond McMonigle, Joseph E. Murray, Joseph A. Yednock.

FOOTBALL TEAM ONE HUNDRED FIFTY POUND
Raymond F. Garraty, (Manager), Gerard A. Holland, Anthony R. Liscio, Francis J. Lombardo, J. Bradley McManus, Joseph M. Pagano, Frederick A. Rappleyea, Albert J. Wood.

GLEE CLUB
William J. Appel, Gerard F. Belz, Hugh J. Boyle, James T. Brady, John B. M. D'Ippolito, Edward A. Eichman, James F. Flood, Edward R. Frank, John P. Fullam, John T. Gallagher, George Holuszka, Frederick C. Kull, Thomas J. Lyons, Hyman Malkin, Joseph V. McCabe, Joseph M. Scornavacchi, Joseph J. York.

GOLF TEAM
David G. Morse, Joseph M. Pagano, Clifford F. Randolph.

HISTORY SEMINAR
Philip M. Dunn, John P. Fullam, Raymond F. Garraty, John F. Lang, Thomas J. Moore, John J. Parson, Robert N. Pash, Francis S. Vogel, William J. Ward.

INTRA-MURAL ATHLETICS (ALUMNI HALL)
Arthur R. Connor, Joseph C. Daly, George E. Gabuzda, Salvatore G. Gagliano, Stanley J. Grigalunas, John C. Koch, John J. Laskey, Charles J. Lorkowski, Joseph V. McCabe, Raymond Merrigan, Robert J. Koness.

INTRAMURAL ATHLETICS (AUSTIN HALL)
Robert G. Boudon, James Forkin, Melchor W. Gaston, Carl Pantaleo.

INTRA-MURAL ATHLETICS (C. & F. DAY STUDENTS)
George W. Coupe, Donald McGurk.

INTRA-MURAL ATHLETICS (FEDIGAN HALL)
James J. Carroll, Francis P. Castles, Francis X. Conners.

INTRA-MURAL ATHLETICS (MENDEL HALL)
Edward J. Banagan, Fred J. Clark, Bernard C. Crumb, David F. Daly.

INTRA-MURAL ATHLETICS (MENDEL DAY STUDENTS)
Daniel P. Dalina, Vincent J. Gordon, Alfred J. Wood.

JUNIOR (1940) CLASS
Vincent H. Baum, Alfred M. Bongiovanni, Joseph N. Bongiovanni, Allen A. Brown, Joseph E. Christoph, Edward J. Cierkowski, Francis X. Connors, Daniel A. Crossmire, William F. Duffy, Arthur E. Fanning, Walter J. Filipek, Melchor W. Gaston, William M. Gillespie, John C. Hallinan, Peter E. Hanlon, John J. Harrington, John A. Heck, Edward L. Jonik, Walter E. Kelly, Jr., Harry A. Kerchner, Casimir J. Kurek, John F. Lang, Edward C. Leahy, Charles H. Lodowski, Gerald J. Lyman, Charles G. Martin, Henry A. Mazzei, J. Bradley McManus, Marvin J. Mones, Gilbert E. Noll, Frank A. Pinginello, Frederick A. Rappleyea, Justin Rubin, Daniel J. Troy, Charles J. Voltz, Aloysius T. Wand, George J. Wilson, Joseph J. York.

LAMBDA KAPPA DELTA
Charles G. Martin, Andrew McKane, John C. Rice.

MATHEMATICS SEMINAR
Nicholas A. Aceto, Paul E. Brown, Bernard J. Clarke, Charles O. Dunnier, Joseph C. Dorsey, Edward D. Elchman, Vincent J. Gordon, Edmond J. Hagin, Thomas J. Kunkle, John F. Kirchner, Walter N. La Porte, Thomas A. Shallow.

"MENDEL BULLETIN" STAFF
Augustine T. Giordano, Charles H. Lodowski, Bernard J. Miller, (Editor).

PHI KAPPA PI
Leo B. Bicher, Allen A. Brown, Frank M. Carroll, Edward C. Cornell, Edward J. Cierkowski, Anthony J. Cirrito, John B. Gehman, Francis J. Mozzi, Joseph J. Quinn, Howard A. Reilly, Thomas J. Schneider, Raymond A. Shelk.

PHILOSOPHY SEMINAR
Joseph N. Bongiovanni, Pershing Calabro, Thomas J. Carbine, Thomas E. Delate, John J. Harrington, Albert E. Heil.

SANCTUARY SOCIETY
Hugh J. Boyle, James T. Brady, James J. Carroll, Daniel F. Daly, John E. Dorsey, James F. Flood, James Foran, Raymond J. Fritz, Joseph J. Kelly, Leo F. Kerr, Thomas J. Harford, Philip J. Malarkey, Charles G. Martin, Thomas J. McKimmey, Joseph J. Quinn, Thomas J. Schaefer, William J. Ward, Albert J. Zeally.

SOCIOLOGY SEMINAR
John J. Curran, Bede F. Howard, Carl Pantaleo.

SOPHOMORE (1941) CLASS
William J. Appel, Edward J. Banagan, George J. Bell, Joseph E. Christoph, James P. Clarke, James F. Clinton, Daniel F. Donovan, Edward A. Eichman, Joseph E. Fitzgerald, Richard J. Gray, James Hanlon, Joseph E. Kerrigan, Joseph E. Kunkel, Joseph A. Lombardo, Stell C. Murray, Peter Z. Zealor.

STUDENT COUNCIL
Thomas J. Carbine, Anthony R. Liscio, Patrick A. Norton, Clifford F. Randolph, Vincent J. Gordon, Edward J. Kirk, Joseph E. Kunkel, Joseph A. Lombardo, Stell C. Murray, Peter Z. Zealor.

STUDENT DIRECTORY STAFF
William L. Bolger, Edward J. Farnworth, Walter J. Kelly, Jr., Thomas J. Leahy, Thomas J. Moore, John J. Parson.

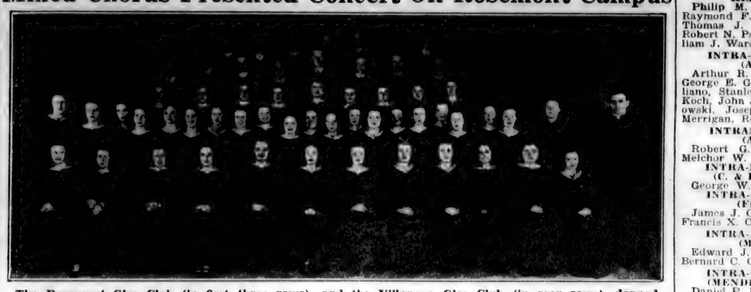
TENNIS TEAM
Frederick A. Rappleyea, Benton L. Wellenbach.

TRACK TEAM
James T. Brady, Daniel F. Daly, Thomas E. Delate, Thomas H. Doyle, (Manager), William F. Duffy, Robert J. Koness, Arthur E. Murphy, Robert J. Parson, Aloysius T. Wand, Frederick J. Watters, Peter C. Yankauskas.

"VILLANOVAN" STAFF
Alfred M. Bongiovanni, Joseph N. Bongiovanni, Thomas J. Carbine, James P. Collins, Bernard C. Crumb, Andrea J. D'Angelo, Robert F. Donovan, Thomas H. Doyle, Philip M. Dunn, William J. Ebner, John P. Fullam, John T. Gallagher, John J.

Continued on Page Four

Mixed Chorus Presented Concert On Rosemont Campus



The Rosemont Glee Club (in first three rows), and the Villanova Glee Club (in rear rows), donned academic robes last Monday evening to present, under the direction of the Rev. Ralph J. Handran, M. Mus., O. S. A. (extreme right), a program of choral numbers utilizing the beauty of male and female voices in harmony.

Choral Axis Of Rosemont-Villanova Results In Varied Musical Program

By ARMAND SALERNO

Last Monday's music recital of the combined glee clubs of Villanova and Rosemont Colleges witnessed a unique experiment in voice blending. The venture consisted of mixing the voices of the male and female choruses in rendering the Motet from Bach's Cantata No. 28.

Although the result was not quite perfect the group showed so much promise that the Rev. Ralph J. Handran, O. S. A., conductor of the chorus, intends to start right in next year where the experiment has been left off in order that a closer harmony might be achieved. It is his intention that the group be prepared for several concerts next year.

Because most of the writers of classical choral music have never meant their masterpieces to be sung by one type voice only, a mixed chorus of female and male tones is necessary in order that the full benefits from the music might be derived.

One of the most thrilling performances of the evening was turned in by Miss Kathryn Jane Kearns. Miss Kearns, a pupil of Edna Phillips of the Philadelphia Philharmonic, played two selections on the harp: "Caprice—Impromptu" by Pierne and Salzedo's "Night Breeze." In these renditions Miss Kearns exhibited rare ability.

Edward Lucente, senior science student, was another outstanding soloist. His "Cosi Cosa" was an exhibition of excellent vocal coordination. Later he returned with Franck's "Panis Angelicus." In the encore he was accompanied by Miss Kearns on the harp, Miss Dorothy Brady on the violin and Miss Mary Barran, piano.

Also worthy of comment was the quartette from Villanova composed of Charles Cavanagh, John D'Ippolito, William Appel, and Joseph York. The number rendered was "Sylvia" by Speaks. The group has been steadily improving in voice quality and harmony, and has shown considerable promise.

Besides the choral music and soloists, a string quartette of Miss Aurora Cosenza on the cello and violinists Miss Dorothy Brady, Charles Lodowski and Tudy de Bartolomeis played two numbers. They were "Minuet in G" of Beethoven and Grieg's "Gavotte."

Introducing

By ANDREA J. D'ANGELO

IF there ever was a student at Villanova whose life has been full of activity, it is Robert G. Howe. He was born on February 11, 1918, at Clearfield, Pennsylvania, in the thick of the soft coal mining district. After his father's demise during the war, the Howe family moved to Overbrook in Philadelphia, where he soon attended the St. Rose of Lima Parochial school.

During these eight years, Bob became a prominent figure on the sandlots, playing football with his playmates. His one ambition was to make the varsity football team at West Catholic High School. It was here that he spent the four years following his completion of grammar school, but his gridiron ambitions were frustrated because he was too light in weight and slight of stature to make the varsity team; however, he still continued to play on the sandlots around home.

Having graduated from high school, the serious choice of a college came up. Penn State almost enticed Bob, but after careful consideration he decided to matriculate at Villanova College in '35, where he registered in the science school to take the pre-medical course. Since his father had been a doctor and his one great love was medicine, this was the logical choice.

Makes Friends Early

His first remembrance of Villanova is the fact that he "was in a fog" and immediately struck a friendship with Lenny Flinkman. Soon he became an active figure on the campus. The L. K. D. fraternity claimed him for its own. Nort Paden discovered that this lowly frosh had latent journalistic talents and induced him to join the VILLANOVAN staff; and in the latter part of the year he was elected vice-president of the Sophomore Class.

ROBERT G. HOWE

This initiated him into the political ranks of Bert Passanante, Krzywicki, and Dick Walsh, who was elected president at the same time. When later Dick Walsh went to the seminary to study for the priesthood, Bob became president of his class. As an officer he became an ex-officio member of the Sophomore Cotillion committee. The dance was a great success that year. Incidentally, his class was the first to inaugurate the giving of the proceeds to the school scholarship fund.

In Varied Activities

He was a member of the V. C.'s, and then in May, when the elections came up again, he was chosen by his classmates to be treasurer of his class, which position he enjoyed handling a great deal even though there was much work attached to it.

Since his work on the staff had been so diligent and promising, he was also chosen copy editor of the VILLANOVAN that year. During the Open House celebration he was very prominent in the activities on the campus.

Now we come to his senior year—the climax to three years' crowded and varied work at Villanova. When Bob learned of his being appointed to the co-editorship position on the VILLANOVAN he dropped all political aspirations and gave up all class appointments to official posts. As a consequence he saw a rapid rise in his marks.

Recently he wrote an article for the Mendal Bulletin called, "The Alpha and Omega of Knowledge." Again he was very active during Open House, and besides was made sergeant-at-arms of the Lamba Kappa Delta fraternity.

Because he dropped some of his extra activities during his senior year, Bob says that he has had more time to enjoy the beauties and advantages of the campus.

To Enter Medical School

He was admitted to Jefferson Medical School recently, where he intends to continue his medical studies in the fall. This account may give the reader the wrong impression of Bob, for it may lead him to believe that he is all work. This is not true, for as any of his classmates will affirm Bob is quite prominent in social life, having attended most of the social functions here at Villanova.

Cross-word puzzles are his passion, and when he gets tired of working them out, he makes up his own. He rarely plays pinochle because he is too lucky; somehow he always manages to win at it. He has seen most of the football and basketball games, but doesn't care too much for baseball. He prefers tails to tuxedoes.

And, oh yes, field day is one day that he will always remember, even though he couldn't have the pleasure of seeing his class win out.

Calendar

Today

Chi Mu Epsilon ..... 1:00 P. M.
VILLANOVAN ..... 1:00 P. M.
Tennis, Moravian (Home) ..... 2:30 P. M.
Intramural Softball ..... 7:00 P. M.

Wednesday, May 17

Track, Rider (Home) .. 3:00 P. M.
Intramural Softball .... 7:00 P. M.
Music Seminar ..... 7:30 P. M.

Thursday, May 18

Ascension Thursday, Holyday
Tennis, Temple (Away) 2:30 P. M.
Golf, Fordham (Home) 2:? P. M.
Baseball, St. John's (at Brooklyn) ..... 3:00 P M
Intramural Softball .. 7:00 P. M.
Music Seminar ..... 7:30 P. M.

Friday, May 19

German Seminar ..... 9:15 A. M.
Philosophy Seminar ... 1:30 P. M.
Tennis, Baltimore U. (Away) ..... 2:30 P. M

SOCIOLOGISTS OFFER POPE'S ENCYCLICALS AS WORLD SOLUTION

Peace, Labor, Social Problems Call for Application of Justice and Charity

Rev. Raymond A. McGowan, Assistant Director, Social Action Department of the N. C. W. C., addressed the Symposium on Christian Social Reconstruction yesterday, May 15, in the Commerce and Finance Auditorium. His speech was entitled "The Message of the Encyclicals".

The principal speaker was heard after a series of two student addresses and a discussion. In opening the program Robert Barrett, senior artsman, spoke on the topic, "Labor and the Encyclicals". He was followed by a senior scienceman, Bert Passanante, who enlarged upon "A Living Wage".

There followed a student round table discussion upon "The New Deal and the Program of the Encyclicals". Those who participated were William Ward, Norman Klein, John Pillion, Witold Krzywicki, and Charles Martin. All are seniors except the last named.

Following Fr. McGowan's address there was a discussion in which the entire audience was permitted to participate. This was necessarily closed by the expiration of the allotted time.

This symposium, the first of its type to be conducted by any Catholic college in the Philadelphia district, commemorated the forty-eighth anniversary of "Rerum Novarum" and the eighth anniversary of "Quadragesimo Anno." Its general chairman was Thomas Delate, senior artsman, and its sponsor the Department of Social Science of Villanova College.

The audience included students of the Catholic colleges, members of the Newman Clubs, and the interested public of this section.

Those comprising the committee of arrangements for the entire symposium included Charles Skrowron, Chairman; Bede Howard; John Curran; and John Pillion.

DIESEL MOTORS EXHIBITED

An interesting exhibit was witnessed by many of the students on the campus last Friday when the International Harvester Company presented in a huge crimson railmobile trailer, the actual operation of the recently perfected Diesel engine.

During the demonstration, a Diesel engineer was there to answer the diversified queries of the students concerning the overcoming of obstacles in making this low-cost engine practical for automobile transportation. A cross section of the engine was shown in operation. Atomization of the partially refined fuel oil and other operating complications were specifically demonstrated.

Dance Chairman

JOSEPH J. LINSALATA, chairman of the dance of the Villanova Club of Philadelphia this Friday evening, May 19, to be given at the Philadelphia Cricket Club to welcome the graduating class.

REORGANIZATION SEMINAR SUBJECT

Dr. Harold Hartman Addresses Students at Group's Last Meeting

Bringing to a close their activities for the year, last Thursday, members of the History Seminar listened to a paper presented by Dr. Harold F. Hartman on government reorganization.

Dr. Harold Hartman, Ph. D., said that it was chiefly because propaganda disseminated by political rivals that the reorganization bills had been defeated. The only main theme of the present plan which has become law is the power of the President to change or abolish any bureau of the executive department which he sees fit.

It was pointed out that as a result of unexpected growth in governmental agencies overlapping of work has resulted. Some bureaus have nothing to do at all.

After an examination of the problems afforded by the proposal and the necessity of it, the group adjourned for the year.

Extra-Curricular Awards Conferred

Continued From Page Three

Harrington, Editor, James F. Haughton, Robert G. Howe, Co-Editor, Paul A. Juergens, Anthony R. Liscio, Henry Mancuso, Henry A. Mazzei, Joseph V. McCabe, Howard A. McCall, Harry McGlade, Robert J. McIntyre, Thomas J. Moore, Joseph M. Pagano, Frederick A. Rappleyea, David N. Reardon, Robert P. Schisler, William E. Schubert, Thomas A. Shallow, James P. Tofani, Co-Editor, William J. Toy, William J. Ward, Frederic J. Waters, Murray P. Zealor, Albert J. Zogby.

"VILLANOVA ENGINEER" STAFF

Edward J. Cierkowski, John A. Heck, Hyman Malkin, Francis J. Mozzi, Joseph J. Quinn, Editor, Edward A. Ritti, Thomas J. Schaedler, Raymond A. Sheik, George J. Wilson.

"VILLANOVANS"

(DANCE ORCHESTRA)

Frederick C. Kull, Charles H. Lodowski, Paul J. Wade, Joseph J. York.

Expose of Journey To New Rochelle Stunted By Space

Dissertation on Hitch-Hiking Relegated to Background; Tabulation Given

By JAMES P. COLLINS

Hold tight, ye thousands who expect a continuation of the wayfaring drama of the open road, open mind, and open hand with the wiggling thumb which was begun in the last VILLANOVAN. Space in this, the last issue of the year, is at a premium and thus this column of trite tripe must give ground to more virulent copy.

Friday night, Murray and I enjoyed a spacious room at Fordham with an extended bull session to match.

Saturday morning, bright and too darn early, we coasted the 17 miles out to C. N. R. via the trolley and "El." From here on the diary is a closed book, but a few choice names, addresses, and phone numbers are still available for a nominal fee. That evening, all drippingly-wet, ten hours of it, we were the guests of Manhattan College.

Sunday morning after Mass and breakfast at the Christian Brothers . educational institution we two again took our stations on the lonesome road. Heap long time passed—one ride over the Pulaski Skyway with an inventor and father of one of next year's freshmen. Wind blowum muchum and coldum. Two rides take shivering papooses to Trenton. Intermission in Trenton for thawing purposes. We hit the jackpot when an agricultural chemist, specializing in mushroom growing, gave us a lift directly to college. Both of us are confirmed mushroom supporters and experts as a result.

CHEMISTRY SOCIETY HEARS G. WENGRYNIUK ON POTASH

George M. Wengryniuk gave a talk on the potash reserves in the western United States at a meeting of the Chemistry Society held Monday, May 8. The talk was chiefly concerned with the various potash beds discovered in the United States, and the methods that were used in extracting them.

On next Thursday 27 members of the society will journey by bus to the DuPont plant at Deep Water Point, New Jersey. A tour of inspection will be made, and the different processes used in the manufacture of dies will be observed.

Plans are being completed for the society's first alumni banquet, to be held at Villanova, May 20.

VILLANOVAN MEETS

Today at 1:00 P. M. members of the VILLANOVAN will hold a general meeting in Room 119, Mendel Hall. The entire staff will be present.

L. K. D. President

CHARLES G. MARTIN

HECK A. S. M. E. PRESIDENT

The local chapter of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers elected John A. Heck president. Frederick A. Bergner was elected vice president and Casimir J. Kurek, secretary.

Competing unsuccessfully against Heck was John C. Hallinan. Heck was a member of last year's trip committee and publicity committee. He was also secretary-treasurer. Bergner was also a member of the trip committee as was Kurek.

FROSH DEBATERS MEET MUHLENBERG

Villanova's freshman debating team met their last opponents for the 1939 season last Friday, in a debate with Muhlenberg College at 4 P. M. in Simpson Hall.

Raymond Garraty and Armand L. Salerno took the stand for the home team, on the affirmative of the "Pump-Priming" question. Garraty acted as rebuttalist.

On Wednesday, May 10, Thomas J. McKimmey and John P. Fullam traveled to Phillipsburg, N. J., to debate Lafayette College frosh at St. Phillips and St. James Catholic High School there. This debate, on the Anglo-American Alliance, was conducted according to the Oregon Plan, with one main speech, one cross-examination of the other team's speaker, one answering of the other team's questions, and one rebuttal for each side. McKimmey delivered the main speech for Villanova, and also answered the questions, while Fullam did the cross-examining and gave the rebuttal.

The team piled up a record of seven debates for the year, four of which were held here. Nine debaters, Thomas J. McKimmey, William E. Schubert, John P. Fullam, Gerard F. Belz, Joseph Maginn, Patrick F. Kenny, Raymond F. Garraty, Armand L. Salerno, and Walter N. LaPorte, took part in these contests. Patrick E. Kenny was president of the group. Armand L. Salerno was secretary, and Rev. Robert M. Sullivan, O. S. A., M. A., was moderator.

Busy Days Ahead

No matter what you plan to do this summer, chances are you'll have a busy time. So keep the telephone in mind . . . for work or play.

In hunting a job or licking the job, it's a good idea to let the telephone help. The man or woman who telephones gets there first—and gets more done in less time with less effort.

Rates are reduced on most Long Distance calls every night after seven and all day Sunday.

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY OF PENNSYLVANIA

STOP BAGGAGE-ITIS!*

* Technical name for "Baggage bother when vacation bound."

Use this easy, economical RAILWAY EXPRESS cure—pre-tested by thousands of carefree collegians: (1) Pack everything carefully into your trunks, boxes and bags. (2) Lock, strap and label 'em deftly. (3) Phone or drop by the RAILWAY EXPRESS office and tell them where to call and when to deliver. THAT'S ALL! Your baggage is practically home. Charges include pick-up and delivery in all cities and principal towns. And you can send everything "express collect"—at low rates.

So when your holiday baggage is ready, just phone RAILWAY EXPRESS to call. You can then board your train without a care in the world!

1839—A Century of Service—1939

VILLANOVA, PA.

Phone Bryn Mawr 46

RAILWAY EXPRESS AGENCY INC.

See the RAILWAY EXPRESS Exhibits at the New York World's Fair and the San Francisco Golden Gate International Exposition.

LOOK AHEAD

in planning your career

The science of the "new dentistry" is still in its infancy. It is a most promising field for constructive thought and work. It calls for the best minds interested in health service careers.

Because of advancing standards, enrollment in Dental Schools in the United States has been reduced during the past thirteen years. Today there is one practicing dentist to approximately each 2,400 of population.

The Marquette University Dental School is one of the 17 dental schools of the United States whose diplomas are recognized in all of the states. The close relationship of dental-medical study proves an advantage to students.

Entrance requirements: Two years in a recognized College of Liberal Arts with satisfactory credits in biology, organic chemistry, and physics.

For complete information concerning opportunities in dentistry, write to the Secretary, Marquette University Dental School, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

MARQUETTE UNIVERSITY

Milwaukee

Boston College Nine Beats Villanova, 5 - 4

Seton Hall Scores Freely In Interscholastic Meet

Twelve Records Broken as Bad Weather Fails to Halt Schoolboys; Norristown and Overbrook Win Titles in Respective Classes

By HARRY MAZZEI

Rain, cold, and a soggy track proved no handicaps for the high school silksters participating in Villanova's 12th annual interscholastic track and field meet, as they toppled 12 old records and equalled one last Saturday afternoon at the Main Line Stadium. With sodden, overcast skies keeping the crowd to a minimum, Norristown High, Overbrook High, and Seton Hall Prep swept to team championships in Classes A, B, and C respectively.

Norristown Comes Through

Norristown, an odds on favorite to succeed Ambler's defending champions, amassed 67½ points to finish far ahead of Ridley Park, their closest competitors with 27½ markers. Overbrook and West Catholic waged a whirlwind battle for Class B honors with the former gaining the championship as a result of a splendid victory in the mile relay. In the Prep School division it was all Seton Hall. The East Orange, N. J., squad rolled up a staggering total of 121 scores to finish far in front of Haverford School's second place unit, which garnered 20 points.

Warren Van Ingman, Upper Darby's brilliant miler, cracked the first record of the afternoon, when he unleased a terrific stretch sprint to finish in 4 minutes 39 7-10 seconde to better the mark set last year by Meel of Collingdale.

Buek's Mark Falls

Following this mark, Norristown's Jim Nuss bettered Harvey Buek's five-year-old 120-yd. low hurdle record as he traversed the

SETON HALL Continued on Page Seven

Sportorial

By Phil Dunn

Sports Editor

THE FAILURE of Villanova's Interscholastic Track and Field Meet to attract Catholic High and Prep Schools may be the reason for the discontinuance of the sending of invitations to Catholic schools in future. In fact it is believed that as soon as next year there may be no Catholic institutions in the meet.

—V—

PHIL DUNN

Quite a few of the records established by the schoolboy track stars during Saturday's meet can be attributed to a change in the articles used in the events in which the marks were set. Hurdles are lower than they have ever been and both the shot and discus are lighter.

—V—

Another record was established Saturday, but as yet it has not received any publicity. The event: Villanova's All-American indoor sport—letter writing. The record: 10. The breaker: Thomas P. McMahon, IV., of 220 Fedigan (not "Truck"). At least this will stand as a record until we are notified that someone has written more than 10 letters in one day. (We will require an affidavit.)

PHARMACY FELLED BY BLUE TENNISTS

Matches With La Salle and Rider Cancelled; Win 5-1 in Philadelphia

Continuing on the victory path Villanova's improved tennis team made it two wins out of four starts by thrashing the Philadelphia Pharmacy College netmen 5-1 on the "Druggists" courts last Thursday.

A severe rain storm blotted out possible victories in two other doubles matches as both Wildcat combinations had sizeable leads, when the deluge came.

Dunne Wins Easily

Denny Dunne playing the first singles match easily disposed of his rival, Len Hoffman, by scores of 6-0, 6-2. It was a sweet victory for the Villanova net man as the positions were reversed a year ago when both met on the Villanova courts.

Showing continued improvement Fred Rappleyea blasted his way to a straight set victory over Calvert in smart fashion, winning at 6-4, 6-3.

Win Doubles

Dunne and Rappleyea teamed together to defeat the combination of Hoffman and Powere. The locals winning both sets by 6-4 margins.

"Tex" Conners ran into plenty of headaches after he had stormed his way through Joe Neff to take the first set at love. Neff took advantage of Conners relapse in the late stage of the second set to cop it at 11-9. Conners held a 4-1 lead when he lost control of the situation. The third set was all the Villanovan's as he pounded the ball for a 6-3 win.

Banagan on Top

Eddie Banagan came from behind to drop Ed Millner in three hard sets. Millner took the first at 6-3. It looked like Banagan was through when his opponent jumped to a 4-1 lead in the second canto. Rallying in time he broke through Millner's service to make it 4-2 and captured the next four in a row to run out the set. The third set found him on the long end of a 6-4 count.

The lone P. C. P. win came in the fifth singles test when Al Ibarquan dropped a three set encounter to Jack Powers by scores of 4-6, 6-4, 8-6.

In the seventh match Beatty Schermerhorn won the first set from Dave Yaskin 7-5, but at this point rain intervened and the match was called. Scheduled meets with La Salle and Rider were also cancelled.

GOLFERS AND NETTERS

Intramural golf and tennis tourneys will be conducted in the near future. Watch the bulletin boards for announcements relative to these contests.

MAHER WINS TWICE BUT WILDCATS BOW TO ARMY BY 98-33

Pete Yankauskas Takes Javelin Throw for Villanova's Only Other Victory

Johnny Maher's double victory was not enough to offset the flow of points garnered by the Cadets of West Point on Saturday and Villanova's trackmen went down to defeat 98-33. Maher won both the 100-yard and 220-yard races in times of 0:10.1 and 0:22.5 respectively. Eaton, Army flash, was the only other two-time winner with firsts in the 440-yard dash and the 220-yard low hurdles.

Pete Yankauskas was the only Wildcat besides Maher who won an undisputed first. Pete heaved the javelin 185 feet 10 inches for a victory in that event.

Parsons Ties in Jump

In the high jump Johnny Parsons tied two Army men at 5 feet, 10 inches for a split of first place money. Other field events saw Art Murphy take second in the broad jump, Brad McManus place third in the pole-vaulting contest, and "Buzz" Buzzalino win another third in the shot put.

Villanova's relay teom, composed of Johnny Maher, "Whitey" Urbellis, Bill Guiteras and "Legs" Shedlosky, finished behind the Cadet quartet who did 440 yards in 43.1 seconds. Urbellis placed second to Maher in the 100. Bill Carey gained the Cats' only other marker when he finished third in the 120-yard high hurdle race.

Bill Guiteras ran a very good race. He lost by a very narrow margin.

Bad passing of the baton was the cause of Villanova's loss of the dash relay. In the backstretch when "Legs" Shedlosky gave the stick to Bill Guiteras, the Cats lost ten yards. Maher, running anchor, all but closed this gap.

The cross-wind evidently hampered Johnny Parsons, who did 6 feet 3 inches in a practice jump at Lancaster a short time ago.

THE SUMMARIES

Track Events

Mile Run — 1, Fraser, Army; 2, St. Clair, Army; 3, Norris, Army. Time — 4:32.8.

440-Yard Dash — 1, Eaton, Army; 2, Guiteras, Villanova; 3, Larsen, Army. Time — 0:50.7.

100-Yard Dash — 1, Maher, Villanova; 2, Urbellis, Villanova; 3, McCaffrey, Army. Time — 0:10.1.

120-Yard High Hurdles — 1, Offers, Army; 2, Greer, Army; 3, Carey, Villanova. Time — 0:15.9.

Half-Mile Run — 1, DeLatou, Army; 2, Moore, Army; 3, Long, Army. Time — 1:59.3.

220-Yard Dash — 1, Maher, Villanova; 2, Coffee, Army; 3, Mullins, Army. Time — 0:22.5.

Two-Mile Run—1, Schellman, Army; 2, Fraser, Army; 3, Brier, Army. Time — 10:07.

220-Yard Low Hurdles — 1, Eaton, Army; 2, Gillis, Army; 3, Greer, Army. Time — 0:25.6.

440-Yard Relay — Won by Army (Mullins, Hutson, McCaffrey, Coffee). Time — 0:43.1.

Field Events

Javelin Throw — 1, Yankauskas, Villanova; 2, McDavid, Army; 3, Dobson, Army. Distance — 185 feet, 10 inches.

High Jump — Tie for first among Gray, Army; Jones, Army; Parsons, Villanova. Height — 5 feet, 10 inches.

Discus Throw — 1, Myers, Army; 2, Roedy, Army; 3, Light, Army. Distance — 139 feet, 11 inches.

Broad Jump — 1, Ruhe, Army; 2, Murphy, Villanova; 3, Willis, Army. Distance — 21 feet, 7¼ inches.

Pole Vault—1, Ward, Army; 2, Root, Army; 3, McManus, Villanova. Height — 11 feet, 6 inches.

Shotput — 1, Roedy, Army; 2, Samuel, Army; 3, Buzzalino, Villanova. Distance — 43 feet, 6¼ inches.

Williams Outscored 2-0; Providence Tops 'Cats 1-0

Choquette and Desmond Pitch 5-Hitters But Latter Loses in Eighth; Crawley's Hitting Features New England Tour

Villanova	1	0	1	0	1	0	1	0	0—4
Boston Col....	0	0	0	0	2	0	0	3	0—5

B. C.'s last-stand uprising topped Connie O'Leary, who gave them only four hits at Boston yesterday "Cowboy" Crawley continued his phenomenal hitting with a home run and a triple.

Villanova's invasion of the New England States proved highly successful in the initial test last Saturday as the Wildcats, with Cliff Choquette twirling, shut out Williams 2-0, to extend their win streak to three straight games. Choquette pitched his second game of the year and set the Purple down with four scattered hits as the Wildcats scored once in the first and again in the fifth, nicking Dave Fitzgerald, William's hurler for 13 singles.

For nine innings the little southpaw dominated the Purple, baffling them with his tricky delivery which forced them to hit into the dirt, and pop-up to the infield.

The Wildcats reaped their first run in the opening frame when "Cowboy" Crawley slashed a single into left field on Fitzgerald's first offering. He advanced to third on Mike Lazorchak's single and then scored on Donoghue's hit to center field.

Crawley Scores Again

The fifth inning brought Villanova its second run of the contest and it was Crawley who created the run. A line single over second put him on first base and Donoghue's sacrifice bunt advanced him to the keystone. Bobby Bond blasted Fitzgerald on an even-up count for a sharp single through the box which scored Crawley. The next four innings proved to be unproductive in run making for the Blue and White as Fitzgerald bracked with men on bases.

Choquette never played himself

WILLIAMS Continued on Page Seven

GOLFERS DEFEATED; F. & M., RIDER WIN

Morse Tops Lancaster Foe; Dwyer and Dubino Winners at Trenton

After a week's layoff the golf team got off on the wrong foot by losing to Franklin & Marshall of Lancaster, by the decisive score seven and one- half to one and one-half. Dave Morse was the only member of the sextet to win his match. He downed Elwood Dussinger under a deluge of wins and finished up on top by the score of 5-4. Lack of practice was an important factor in the team's loss although no credit is to be taken away from the fine group of participants from F. & M. College.

Getting off to a poor start Jim Dwyer lost to Fred Feeser by the surprising score of 4-3. Never had Jim lost by such a large score since becoming a member of the golf team, back in 1935. In fact, he has lost but three matches since that time. Charles Roche found the course hard to master and fell to Bob Baker, 4-3. The best ball match was won by F. & M. 1 up.

Dubino Plays No. 3

Shifting himself to number three position Dubino found his opponent not to his liking and although the friendshi remained intact lost out 5-4. Joe Pagano moving back to number four position found out it didn't make much difference since his game was off and lost to Jack Fitzhugh, 5-4. F. & M. won the best ball match on the 17th green, 3-1.

Cliff Randolph couldn't find the range of his putts and because of his futile attempts on the greens he lost to Clyde Stack, 2-1. Dave Morse shifted back to number six position managed to garner a point for Villanova by means of his 5-4 victory over Dussinger. Cliff Randolph sank his only long putt of the day on the eighteenth green for a win in the best ball department and a half in the best ball match.

Meet Rider in Trenton

Getting up bright and early Saturday the golfers journeyed to Trenton to meet the Rider College team whom they had defeated in a previous match. As far as the outcome was concerned, the boys lost a lot of valuable sleep. In four years of competition Rider has never failed to avenge their losses against Villanova. Each year they manage to split the series. Saturday's struggle ended in a six and one-half to two and one-half verdict for the home team.

Jim Dwyer came from behind to eke out a victory over Carlos Accettola, one-up. Roche was less fortunate and lost his return match with Carl Bradbury, 3-2. Rider won the best ball match 3-2.

Joe Pagano, wishing to avenge

GOLFERS Continued on Page Seven

Netters Busiest In Coming Week

Diamond, Track, and Links Squads Also Active; Four Home Tests

With four games listed, Villanova's tennis team will be the most active of all sport teams this week. Out of the four only one home game is scheduled. Today they entertain Moravian. Saul Wallach and his netmen are anxious to avenge the 7-2 defeat previously suffered at the hands of this team from Bethlehem. On Thursday they engage Temple in Philadelphia and on the following day play Baltimore at Baltimore. Before returning from the South they will combat Loyola on the twentieth.

"Doc" Jacobs and his baseball squad, recently returned from their New England trip, will play St. John's at the "Redmen's" own reservation on the eighteenth. Two days later they will play host to Ursinus at the Villanova stadium.

Trackmen, with only one day of rest after traveling to Juniata will engage Rider here at Villanova on Wednesday. They are in hopes of duplicating last year's feat when they defeated Juniata and Rider by scores of sixty-nine and one-half to fifty-six and one-half, and seventy-nine to forty-seven respectively.

The golf team will endeavor to make up for the two losses they suffered last year at the hands of Fordham when they engage the "Rams" on the Main Line course on Thursday. The scores of last year's two frays were 7-2 and 6-3. On the following day they travel to New York to do battle with St. John's of Brooklyn.

SOCIOLOGISTS OFFER POPE'S ENCYCLICALS AS WORLD SOLUTION

Peace, Labor, Social Problems Call for Application of Justice and Charity

Rev. Raymond A. McGowan, Assistant Director, Social Action Department of the N. C. W. C. addressed the Symposium on Christian Social Reconstruction yesterday, May 15, in the Commerce and Finance Auditorium. His speech was entitled "The Message of the Encyclicals".

The principal speaker was heard after a series of two student addresses and a discussion. In opening the program Robert Barrett, senior artsman, spoke on the topic, "Labor and the Encyclicals". He was followed by a senior scienceman, Bert Passanante, who enlarged upon "A Living Wage".

There followed a student round table discussion upon "The New Deal and the Program of the Encyclicals". Those who participated were William Ward, Norman Klein, John Pillion, Witold Krzywicki, and Charles Martin. All are seniors except the last named.

Following Fr. McGowan's address there was a discussion in which the entire audience was permitted to participate. This was necessarily closed by the expiration of the allotted time.

This symposium, the first of its type to be conducted by any Catholic college in the Philadelphia district, commemorated the forty-eighth anniversary of "Rerum Novarum" and the eighth anniversary of "Quadragesimo Anno." Its general chairman was Thomas Delate, senior artsman, and its sponsor the Department of Social Science of Villanova College.

The audience included students of the Catholic colleges, members of the Newman Clubs, and the interested public of this section.

Those comprising the committee of arrangements for the entire symposium included Charles Skrowron, Chairman; Bede Howard; John Curran; and John Pillion.

DIESEL MOTORS EXHIBITED

An interesting exhibit was witnessed by many of the students on the campus last Friday when the International Harvester Company presented in a huge crimson trailmobile trailer, the actual operation of the recently perfected Diesel engine.

During the demonstration, a Diesel engineer was there to answer the diversified queries of the students concerning the overcoming of obstacles in making this low-cost engine practical for automobile transportation. A cross section of the engine was shown in operation. Atomization of the portably refined fuel oil and other operating complications were specifically demonstrated.

Dance Chairman

JOSEPH J. LINSALATA, chairman of the dance of the Villanova Club of Philadelphia this Friday evening, May 19, to be given at the Philadelphia Cricket Club to welcome the graduating class.

REORGANIZATION SEMINAR SUBJECT

Dr. Harold Hartman Addresses Students at Group's Last Meeting

Bringing to a close their activities for the year, last Thursday, members of the History Seminar listened to a paper presented by Dr. Harold F. Hartman on government reorganization.

Dr. Harold Hartman, Ph. D., said that it was chiefly because propaganda disseminated by political rivals that the reorganization bills had been defeated. The only main theme of the present plan which has become law is the power of the President to change or abolish any bureau of the executive department which he sees fit.

It was pointed out that as a result of unexpected growth in governmental agencies overlapping of work has resulted. Some bureaus have nothing to do at all.

After an examination of the problems afforded by the proposal and the necessity of it, the group adjourned for the year.

Extra-Curricular Awards Conferred

Continued From Page Three

Harrington, Editor, James F. Haughton, Robert G. Howe, Co-Editor, Paul A. Juergens, Anthony R. Lavino, Henry Maiuccio, Henry A. Mazzei, Joseph V. McCabe, Howard A. McCall, Harry McCabe, Robert J. McIntyre, Thomas J. Meere, Joseph M. Pagano, Frederick A. Rappleyea, David N. Reardon, Robert P. Schisler, William E. Schubert, Thomas A. Shellhow, James P. Tofani, Co-Editor, William L. Toy, William J. Ward, Frederic J. Waters, Murray B. Zeidel, Albert J. Zogby.

"VILLANOVA ENGINEER" STAFF

Edward J. Cierkowski, John A. Heck, Hyman Malkin, Francis J. Mozzi, Joseph J. Quinn, Editor, Edward A. Ritti, Thomas J. Schneider, Raymond A. Sheik, George J. Wilson.

"VILLANOVANS"

(DANCE ORCHESTRA)

Frederick C. Kull, Charles H. Lodowski, Paul J. Wade, Joseph J. York.

Expose of Journey To New Rochelle Stunted By Space

Dissertation on Hitch-Hiking Relegated to Background; Tabulation Given

By JAMES P. COLLINS

Hold tight, ye thousands who expect a continuation of the wayfaring drama of the open road, open mind, and open hand with the wiggling thumb which was begun in the last VILLANOVAN. Space in this, the last issue of the year, is at a premium and thus this column of trite tripe must give ground to more virulent copy.

Friday night, Murray and I enjoyed a spacious room at Fordham with an extended bull session to match.

Saturday morning, bright and too darn early, we coasted the 17 miles out to C. N. R. via the trolley and "El." From here on the diary is a closed book, but a few choice names, addresses, and phone numbers are still available for a nominal fee. That evening, all drippingly-wet, ten hours of it, we were the guests of Manhattan College.

Sunday morning after Mass and breakfast at the Christian Brothers . educational institution we two again took our stations on the lonesome road. Heap long time passed—one ride over the Pulaski Skyway with an inventor and father of one of next year's freshmen. Wind blowum muchum and coldum. Two rides take shivering papooses to Trenton. Intermission in Trenton for thawing purposes. We hit the jackpot when an agricultural chemist, specializing in mushroom growing, gave us a lift directly to college. Both of us are confirmed mushroom supporters and experts as a result.

CHEMISTRY SOCIETY HEARS G. WENGRYNIUK ON POTASH

George M. Wengryniuk gave a talk on the potash reserves in the western United States at a meeting of the Chemistry Society held Monday, May 8. The talk was chiefly concerned with the various potash beds discovered in the United States, and the methods that were used in extracting them.

On next Thursday 27 members of the society will journey by bus to the DuPont plant at Deep Water Point, New Jersey. A tour of inspection will be made, and the different processes used in the manufactury of dies will be observed.

Plans are being completed for the society's first alumni banquet, to be held at Villanova, May 20.

VILLANOVAN MEETS

Today at 1:00 P. M. members of the VILLANOVAN will hold a general meeting in Room 119, Mendel Hall. The entire staff will be present.

L. K. D. President

CHARLES G. MARTIN

HECK A. S. M. E. PRESIDENT

The local chapter of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers elected John A. Heck president. Frederick A. Bergner was elected vice president and Casimir J. Kurek, secretary.

Competing unsuccessfully against Heck was John C. Hallinan. Heck was a member of last year's trip committee and publicity committee. He was also secretary-treasurer. Bergner was also a member of the trip committee as was Kurek.

FROSH DEBATERS MEET MUHLENBERG

Villanova's freshman debating team met their last opponents for the 1939 season last Friday, in a debate with Muhlenberg College at 4 P. M. in Simpson Hall.

Raymond Garraty and Armand L. Salerno took the stand for the home team, on the affirmative of the "Pump-Priming" question. Garraty acted as rebuttalist.

On Wednesday, May 10, Thomas J. McKimmey and John P. Fullam traveled to Phillipsburg, N. J., to debate Lafayette College frosh at St. Phillips and St. James Catholic High School there. This debate, on the Anglo-American Alliance, was conducted according to the Oregon Plan, with one main speech, one cross-examination of the other team's speaker, one answering of the other team's questions, and one rebuttal for each side. McKimmey delivered the main speech for Villanova, and also answered the questions, while Fullam did the cross-examining and gave the rebuttal.

The team piled up a record of seven debates for the year, four of which were held here. Nine debaters, Thomas J. McKimmey, William E. Schubert, John P. Fullam, Gerard F. Belz, Joseph Maginn, Patrick F. Kenny, Raymond F. Garraty, Armand L. Salerno, and Walter N. LaPorte, took part in these contests. Patrick E. Kenny was president of the group. Armand L. Salerno was secretary, and Rev. Robert M. Sullivan, O. S. A., M. A., was moderator.

Busy Days Ahead

No matter what you plan to do this summer, chances are you'll have a busy time. So keep the telephone in mind . . . for work or play.

In hunting a job or licking the job, it's a good idea to let the telephone help. The man or woman who telephones gets there first—and gets more done in less time with less effort.

Rates are reduced on most Long Distance calls every night after seven and all day Sunday.

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY OF PENNSYLVANIA

LOOK AHEAD

in planning your career

The science of the "new dentistry" is still in its infancy. It is a most promising field for constructive thought and work. It calls for the best minds interested in health service careers.

Because of advancing standards, enrollment in Dental Schools in the United States has been reduced during the past thirteen years. Today there is one practicing dentist to approximately each 2,400 of population.

The Marquette University Dental School is one of the 17 dental schools of the United States whose diplomas are recognized in all of the states. The close relationship of dental-medical study proves an advantage to students.

Entrance requirements: Two years in a recognized College of Liberal Arts with satisfactory credits in biology, organic chemistry, and physics.

For complete information concerning opportunities in dentistry, write to the Secretary, Marquette University Dental School, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

MARQUETTE UNIVERSITY
Milwaukee

STOP BAGGAGE-ITIS!*

* Technical name for "Baggage bother when vacation bound."

Use this easy, economical RAILWAY EXPRESS way pictured by thousands of carefree collegians. It's Parcel Pick-up anything (clothes, trunks, boxes and bags, too). Lock, strap and label on details. Use Phone or drop by the RAILWAY EXPRESS office and tell them when to call and where to deliver. THAT'S ALL! Your baggage is practically home. Charges include pick-up and delivery in all cities and principal towns. And you can send everything "express collect"—at low rates.

So when your holiday baggage is ready, just phone RAILWAY EXPRESS to call. You can then board your train without a care in the world!

1839—A Century of Service—1939

VILLANOVA, PA.
Phone Bryn Mawr 46

RAILWAY EXPRESS AGENCY INC.

See the RAILWAY EXPRESS Exhibits at the New York World's Fair and the San Francisco Golden Gate International Exposition.

Boston College Nine Beats Villanova, 5 - 4

Seton Hall Scores Freely In Interscholastic Meet

Twelve Records Broken as Bad Weather Fails to Halt Schoolboys; Norristown and Overbrook Win Titles in Respective Classes

By HARRY MAZZEI

Rain, cold, and a soggy track proved no handicaps for the high school silksters participating in Villanova's 12th annual interscholastic track and field meet, as they toppled 12 old records and equalled one last Saturday afternoon at the Main Line Stadium. With sodden, overcast skies keeping the crowd to a minimum, Norristown High, Overbrook High, and Seton Hall Prep swept to team championships in Classes A, B, and C respectively.

Norristown Comes Through

Norristown, an odds on favorite to succeed Ambler's defending champions, amassed 67½ points to finish far ahead of Ridley Park, their closest competitors with 27½ markers. Overbrook and West Catholic waged a whirlwind battle for Class B honors with the former gaining the donnybrook as a result of a splendid victory in the mile relay. In the Prep School division it was all Seton Hall. The East Orange, N. J., squad rolled up a staggering total of 121 scores to finish far in front of Haverford School's second place unit, which garnered 20 points.

Warren Van Ingman, Upper Darby's brilliant miler, cracked the first record of the afternoon, when he unleased a terrific stretch sprint to finish in 4 minutes 39 7-10 seconds to better the mark set last year by Meel of Collingdale.

Buck's Mark Falls

Following this mark, Norristown's Jim Nuss bettered Harvey Buck's five-year-old 120-yd. low hurdle record as he traversed the

SETON HALL Continued on Page Seven

Sportorial

By Phil Dunn
Sports Editor

THE FAILURE of Villanova's Interscholastic Track and Field Meet to attract Catholic High and Prep Schools may be the reason for the discontinuance of the sending of invitations to Catholic schools in future. In fact it is believed that as soon as next year there may be no Catholic institutions in the meet.

—V—

PHIL DUNN

Quite a few of the records established by the schoolboy track stars during Saturday's meet can be attributed to a change in the articles used in the events in which the marks were set. Hurdles are lower than they have ever been and both the shot and discus are lighter.

—V—

Another record was established Saturday, but as yet it has not received any publicity. The event: Villanova's All-American indoor sport—letter writing. The record: 10. The breaker: Thomas P. McMahon, IV., of 220 Fedigan (not "Truck"). At least this will stand as a record until we are notified that someone has written more than 10 letters in one day. (We will require an affidavit.)

PHARMACY FELLED BY BLUE TENNISTS

Matches With La Salle and Rider Cancelled; Win 5-1 in Philadelphia

Continuing on the victory path Villanova's improved tennis team made it two wins out of four starts by thrashing the Philadelphia Pharmacy College netmen 5-1 on the "Druggists" courts last Thursday.

A severe rain storm blotted out possible victories in two other doubles matches as both Wildcat combinations had sizeable leads, when the deluge came.

Dunne Wins Easily

Denny Dunne playing the first singles match easily disposed of his rival, Len Hoffman, by scores of 6-0, 6-2. It was a sweet victory for the Villanova net man as the positions were reversed a year ago when both met on the Villanova courts.

Showing continued improvement Fred Rappleyea blasted his way to a straight set victory over Calvert in smart fashion, winning at 6-4, 6-3.

Win Doubles

Dunne and Rappleyea teamed together to defeat the combination of Hoffman and Powers. The locals winning both sets by 6-4 margins.

"Tex" Conners ran into plenty of headaches after he had stormed his way through Joe Neff to take the first set at love. Neff took advantage of Conners relapse in the late stage of the second set to cop it at 11-9. Conners held a 4-1 lead when he lost control of the situation. The third set was all the Villanovan's as he pounded the ball for a 6-3 win.

Banagan on Top

Eddie Banagan came from behind to drop Ed Millner in three hard sets. Millner took the first at 6-3. It looked like Banagan was through when his opponent jumped to a 4-1 lead in the second canto. Rallying in time he broke through Millner's service to make it 4-2 and captured the next four in a row to run out the set. The third set found him on the long end of a 6-4 count.

The lone P. C. P. win came in the fifth singles test when Al Ibarquan dropped a three set encounter to Jack Powers by scores of 4-6, 6-4, 8-6.

In the seventh match Beatty Schermerhorn won the first set from Dave Yaskin 7-5, but at this point rain intervened and the match was called. Scheduled meets with La Salle and Rider were also cancelled.

GOLFERS AND NETTERS

Intramural golf and tennis tourneys will be conducted in the near future. Watch the bulletin boards for announcements relative to these contests.

MAHER WINS TWICE BUT WILDCATS BOW TO ARMY BY 98-33

Pete Yankauskas Takes Javelin Throw for Villanova's Only Other Victory

Johnny Maher's double victory was not enough to offset the flow of points garnered by the Cadets of West Point on Saturday and Villanova's trackmen went down to defeat 98-33. Maher won both the 100-yard and 220-yard races in times of 0:10.1 and 0:22.5 respectively. Eaton, Army flash, was the only other two-time winner with firsts in the 440-yard dash and the 220-yard low hurdles.

Pete Yankauskas was the only Wildcat besides Maher who won an undisputed first. Pete heaved the javelin 185 feet 10 inches for a victory in that event.

Parsons Ties in Jump

In the high jump Johnny Parsons tied two Army men at 5 feet, 10 inches for a split of first place money. Other field events saw Art Murphy take second in the broad jump, Brad McManus place third in the pole-vaulting contest, and "Buzz" Buzzalino win another third in the shot put.

Villanova's relay team, composed of Johnny Maher, "Whitey" Urbelis, Bill Guiteras and "Legs" Shedlosky, finished behind the Cadet quartet who did 440 yards in 43.1 seconds. Urbellis placed second to Maher in the 100. Bill Carey gained the Cats' only other marker when he finished third in the 120-yard high hurdle race.

—

Bill Guiteras ran a very good race. He lost by a very narrow margin.

—

Bad passing of the baton was the cause of Villanova's loss of the dash relay. In the backstretch when "Legs" Shedlosky gave the stick to Bill Guiteras, the 'Cats lost ten yards. Maher, running anchor, all but closed this gap.

—

The cross-wind evidently hampered Johnny Parsons, who did 6 feet 3 inches in a practice jump at Lancaster a short time ago.

THE SUMMARIES

Track Events

Mile Run — 1, Fraser, Army; 2, St. Clair, Army; 3, Norris, Army. Time — 4:32.8.

440-Yard Dash — 1, Eaton, Army; 2, Guiteras, Villanova; 3, Larsen, Army. Time — 0:50.7.

100-Yard Dash — 1, Maher, Villanova; 2, Urbelis, Villanova; 3, McCaffrey, Army. Time — 0:10.1.

120-Yard High Hurdles — 1, Offers, Army; 2, Greer, Army; 3, Carey, Villanova. Time — 0:15.9.

Half-Mile Run — 1, DeLatour, Army; 2, Moore, Army; 3, Long, Army. Time — 1:59.3.

220-Yard Dash — 1, Maher, Villanova; 2, Coffee, Army; 3, Mullins, Army. Time — 0:22.5.

Two-Mile Run—1, Schellman, Army; 2, Fraser, Army; 3, Brier, Army. Time 10:07.

220-Yard Low Hurdles — 1, Eaton, Army; 2, Gillis, Army; 3, Greer, Army. Time — 0:25.6.

440-Yard Relay — Won by Army (Mullins, Hutson, McCaffrey, Coffee). Time — 0:43.1.

Field Events

Javelin Throw — 1, Yankauskas, Villanova; 2, McDavid, Army; 3, Dobson, Army. Distance — 185 feet, 10 inches.

High Jump — Tie for first among Gray, Army; Jones, Army; Parsons, Villanova. Height — 5 feet, 10 inches.

Discus Throw — 1, Myers, Army; 2, Roedy, Army; 3, Light, Army. Distance — 139 feet, 11 inches.

Broad Jump — 1, Ruhe, Army; 2, Murphy, Villanova; 3, Willis, Army. Distance — 21 feet, 7½ inches.

Pole Vault—1, Ward, Army; 2, Root, Army; 3, McManus, Villanova. Height — 11 feet, 6 inches.

Shotput — 1, Roedy, Army; 2, Samuel, Army; 3, Buzzalino, Villanova. Distance — 43 feet, 6¾ inches.

GOLFERS DEFEATED; F. & M., RIDER WIN

Morse Tops Lancaster Foe; Dwyer and Dubino Winners at Trenton

After a week's layoff the golf team got off on the wrong foot by losing to Franklin & Marshall of Lancaster, by the decisive score of 4-2. Never has Jim lost by such a large score since becoming a member of the golf team, back in 1935. In fact, he has lost but three matches since that time. Charles Roche found the course hard to master and fell to Bob Baker, 4-3. The best ball match was won by F. & M. 1 up.

Dubino Plays No. 3

Shifting himself to number three position Dubino found his opponent not to his liking and although the friendship remained intact lost out 5-4. Joe Pagano moving back to number four position found out it didn't make much difference since his game was off and lost to Jack Fitzhugh, 5-4. F. & M. won the best ball match on the 17th green, 3-1.

Cliff Randolph couldn't find the range of his putts and because of his futile attempts on the greens he lost to Clyde Stack, 2-1. Dave Morse shifted back to number six position managed to garner a point for Villanova by means of his 5-4 victory over Dussinger. Cliff Randolph sank his only long putt of the day on the eighteenth green for a win in the best ball department and a half in the best ball match.

Meet Rider in Trenton

Getting up bright and early Saturday the golfers journeyed to Trenton to meet the Rider College team whom they had defeated in a previous match. As far as the outcome was concerned, the boys lost a lot of valuable sleep. Jim Dwyer came from behind to eke out a victory over Carlos Accetola, one-up. Roche was less fortunate and lost his return match with Carl Bradbury, 5-2. Rider won the best ball match 3-2.

Joe Pagano, wishing to avenge

GOLFERS Continued on Page Seven

Williams Outscored 2-0; Providence Tops 'Cats 1-0

Choquette and Desmond Pitch 5-Hitters But Latter Loses in Eighth; Crawley's Hitting Features New England Tour

Villanova	1	0	1	0	1	0	1	0	0—4
Boston Col....	0	0	0	0	2	0	0	0	3—5

B. C's last-stand uprising topped Connie O'Leary, who gave them only four hits at Boston yesterday "Cowboy" Crawley continued his phenomenal hitting with a home run and a triple.

Villanova's invasion of the New England States proved highly successful in the initial test last Saturday as the Wildcats, with Cliff Choquette twirling, shut out Williams 2-0, to extend their win streak to three straight games. Choquette pitched his second game of the year and set the Purple down with four scattered hits as the Wildcats scored once in the first and again in the fifth, sucking Dave Fitzgerald, Williams hurler for 13 singles.

For nine innings the little southpaw dominated the Purple, baffling them with his tricky delivery which forced them to hit into the dirt, and pop-up to the infield.

The Wildcats reaped their first run in the opening frame when "Cowboy" Crawley slashed a single into left field on Fitzgerald's first offering. He advanced to third on Mike Lazorchak's single and then scored on Donoghue's hit to center field.

Crawley Scores Again

The fifth inning brought Villanova its second run of the contest and it was Crawley who created the run. A line single over second put him on first base and Donoghue's sacrifice bunt advanced him to the keystone sack. Bobby Bond blasted Fitzgerald on an even-up count for a sharp single through the box which scored Crawley. The next four innings proved to be unproductive in run making for the Blue and White as Fitzgerald braced with men on bases.

Choquette never played himself

WILLIAMS Continued on Page Seven

Netters Busiest In Coming Week

Diamond, Track, and Links Squads Also Active; Four Home Tests

With four games listed, Villanova's tennis team will be the most active of all sport teams this week. Out of the four only one home game is scheduled. Today they entertain Moravian. Saul Wallach and his netmen are anxious to avenge the 7-2 defeat previously suffered at the hands of this team from Bethlehem. On Thursday they engage Temple in Philadelphia and on the following day play Baltimore at Baltimore. Before returning from the South they will combat Loyola on the twentieth.

"Doc" Jacobs and his baseball squad, recently returned from their New England trip, will play St. John's at the "Redmen's" own reservation on the eighteenth. Two days later they will play host to Ursinus at the Villanova stadium.

Trackmen, with only one day of rest after traveling to Juniata will engage Rider here at Villanova on Wednesday. They are in hopes of duplicating last year's feat when they defeated Juniata and Rider by scores of sixty-nine and one-half to fifty-six and one-half, and seventy-nine to forty-seven respectively.

The golf team will endeavor to make up for the two losses they suffered last year at the hands of Fordham when they engage the "Rams" on the Main Line course on Thursday. The scores of last year's two frays were 7-2 and 6-3. On the following day they travel to New York to do battle with St. John's of Brooklyn.

Mendel Takes Hardball Crown

CASTLES DEFEATED AS AISENBREY WINS 9-6 MURAL VERDICT

Penthousers' Ace Strikes Out Ten; Fitzgerald Gets Four-Run Homer

Mendel's Penthousers, with Steve Aisenbrey doing yeoman duty on the mound, took the measure of the high riding Gigolo nine from Fedigan on Wednesday and handed them their first setback of the year 9-6. Previously beaten only by the forfeit that necessitated this game, the Gigolos were certain of victory; but after the opening innings they could not solve Aisenbrey's slants and were sent down to a crushing defeat.

Frank Castles, too, suffered a setback. After setting a record by winning eleven successive games and not once in his intramural career sustaining a loss, he became the victim of an inspired Mendel attack and saw his streak ended.

Get Six Runs in Second

The above mentioned attack functioned most perfectly in the second inning when the residents of the main building combined hits and walks with Fedigan errors and pulled six runs out of the melee. The feature of this rally was Fitzgerald's homer with bases loaded. Added to this were a single run in the first and two in the third which ended Mendel's scoring for the afternoon.

Fedigan garnered their markers in the first three innings also, two in each one. Hits by Costello, LoBalbo, and Conners accounted for the first two runs, but Aisenbrey's wildness with some spotty fielding by his mates was responsible for the scoring of Fedigan's remaining markers.

Aisenbrey struck out eleven batters and passed six. Castles fanned four and walked but one. Mendel's offensive star was, of course, Fitzgerald, who got a single in addition to his round-tripper. Johnny Cerulo also got two hits—both singles. No one shined at bat for the Gigolos, who seemed to be content to strike out with the bases full.

The Line-Ups

Mendel

	ab.	r.	h.
Daly, ss	4	2	1
Clark, 1b	4	0	0
Fitzgerald, c	4	1	2
Hartford, lf	4	0	0
Cerulo, rf	4	2	2
Crumb, 2b	2	2	1
Boggiano, cf	2	0	1
Skaff, 3b	3	1	1
Aisenbrey, p	2	1	0
Totals	29	9	8

Fedigan

	ab.	r.	h.
Costello, 3b	3	1	1
Stell, r, cf	4	0	0
LoBalbo, 2b, ss	3	1	1
Flood, ss, c	3	0	0
Conners, 1b	4	0	2
Epifanio, lf, 2b	2	1	0
Sandor, rf	4	1	1
Murphy, c	0	0	0
Castles, p	1	1	0
Gillespie, lf	1	1	1
Urbano, cf	0	0	0
Fishetti, rf	0	0	0
Totals	25	6	6

His High School Mark Broken

Going over the high hurdles fast enough to do 120 yards in 16.2 seconds, Nuss, Norristown High speedster, bettered the mark of 16.5 set by Harvey Buck, shown above, in 1934 while he was a member of the Lower Merion High School track team. Buck, however, topped 3'6" timbers, while Nuss cleared 3'3" obstacles.

SCRIBES PICK BEST

The All-Intramural Baseball Team as picked by the VILLANOVAN baseball writers shapes up as follows.

First Team

	B.A.
Nicora, 1b (Alumni)	.400
Forkin, 2b (Austin)	.333
LeBalba, 3b (Fedigan)	.287
Daly, ss (Mendel)	.285
Macek, lf (Fedigan)	.400
McGuire, cf (Austin)	.538
Cerulo, rf (Mendel)	.500
Fitzgerald, rf, (Mendel)	.500
Castles and Aisenbrey, p.

Second Team

Cleary, 1b, (Austin).
Crumb, 2b, (Mendel).
McKenna, 3b. (Alumni).
Robinson, ss. (Austin).
Lasky, lf. (Alumni).
Steller, cf. (Fedigan).
Boudon, rf. (Austin).
Murphy, c. (Fedigan).
Malone, p. (Alumni).

Softball Results

MONDAY

Alumni, 12; Mendel, 12.
Austin, 8; Fedigan, 1.
(10 innings)

TUESDAY

Rain

WEDNESDAY

Alumni, 10; Fedigan, 8.
Austin, 7; Mendel, 6.

THURSDAY

Alumni, 7; Mendel, 5.
Austin, 4; Fedigan, 8.
(10 innings)

League Standing

	W.	L.	T.
Austin	3	0	.
Alumni	2	0	1
Mendel	0	2	1
Fedigan	0	3	.

KEEP SUPPLIED WITH SCHOOL TICKETS

Good on Buses and Rail Cars until used. 5c a Ride, including Special Free Transfers. School Identification Cards may be obtained at School Office.

PHILADELPHIA SUBURBAN TRANSPORTATION COMPANY
ARONIMINK TRANSPORTATION CO.

The Wayne Hotel
LANCASTER AVENUE
WAYNE, PA.
Telephone 380
Headquarters For Visitors to Villanova
Excellent Dinners at $1
SPECIAL STUDENT RATES
J. T. McFATE, Mgr.

FOR EXPERT CONVENIENT ATTENTION
SERVICE IS OUR FIRST THOUGHT
PATRONIZE
The CAMPUS Barber Shop
FIRST CLASS WORK
HAIRCUT 40c
Popular Prices

Connelly's
SAY IT WITH FLOWERS
MAIN LINE FLORIST
1226 Lancaster Pike
ROSEMONT
Bryn Mawr 252

— RIDE FREE ON P. & W. RAILWAY MOVIE TICKET —

GRAND Theatre
NORRISTOWN
Tues., May 16
ANNA MAY WONG
"KING OF CHINATOWN"
Wed., Thurs., May 17, 18
BOB BURNS
"I'M FROM MISSOURI"
Fri., Sat., May 19, 20
Martha Raye - Bob Hope
"NEVER SAY DIE"

NORRIS Theatre
NORRISTOWN
Tues., May 16
ERROL FLYNN
"DODGE CITY"
Wed., Thurs., Fri., May 17, 18, 19
FRED MacMURRAY
"CAFE SOCIETY"
Sat, Mon., Tues., May 20, 22, 23
BING CROSBY
"EAST SIDE OF HEAVEN"

GARRICK Theatre
Wed., Thurs., May 17, 18
Double Feature
"ONE THIRD OF A NATION" &
"THE INSIDE STORY"
Fri., Sat., May 19, 20
JOHN GARFIELD in
"BLACKWELL'S ISLAND"

Prescriptions
Drugs & Toilet Articles
LA DOW'S PHARMACY
LANCASTER PIKE and SPRING MILL ROAD
VILLANOVA, PA.

SEVILLE THEATRE
Tues., May 16
JACKIE COOPER
FREDDIE BARTHOLOMEW
"SPIRIT OF CULVER"
Wed., Thurs., May 17, 18
FRED MacMURRAY
MADELEINE CARROLL
"CAFE SOCIETY"
Fri., Sat., May 19, 20
"FOUR GIRLS in WHITE"
FLORENCE RICE
UNA MERKEL
Sun., Mon., May 21, 22
W. C. FIELDS
CHARLIE McCARTHY
"YOU CAN'T CHEAT AN HONEST MAN"

Approved Penna. Private Business School
BUSINESS TRAINING
BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION AND SECRETARIAL SCIENCE
for young men and women.
One, Two and Three Years
Day and Evening Courses
6 Weeks Summer Session
Founded 1865
PEIRCE SCHOOL
Pine St. West of Broad Philadelphia, Pa.

Direction Warner Bros.
Tower Theatre
69th & Market Sts.
Motion Pictures Are Your Best Entertainment
TUES., WED. & THURS.
VIRGINIA BRUCE
WALTER PIDGEON
"SOCIETY LAWYER"
Romance, Music, Drama and Mystery.
Starting Friday For One Week
ERROL FLYNN
OLIVIA DE HAVILAND
"DODGE CITY"
In Technicolor
Adventure and Romance

Ardmore Theatre
Notice to Students
Did you know that your matriculation card will get you a reduced rate at the Ardmore Theatre at any time.
Tues., May 16
SYLVIA SIDNEY
"ONE THIRD OF A NATION"
Wed., Thurs., Fri., Sat., May 17, 18, 19, 20
DEANNA DURBIN
"3 SMART GIRLS GROW UP"
Sun., Mon., May 21, 22
WALLACE BEERY in
"SERGEANT MADDEN"
Added Attraction
"THE CRISIS"
The Nazi Seizure of Czechoslovakia

Burke Dairies
Milk & Cream
NORRISTOWN, PA.
Phone 2736-W

In the Sportlight

By JOE BARNES

Bridgeport, little more than a dot on Pennsylvania's landscape furnishes the occupant of this, the last Sportlight of 1938-39. The occupant, by the way, is also little more than a dot on the landscape in stature, but in action he has been as big as the biggest. We refer to the belligerent Joseph Michael Pagano, sports-editor deluxe, right hand man for Ray Gadsby and an athlete in his own right. Let us begin the story of Joe "Pagamo" (Copyright 1939 by Jim Tofani).

Our tale originates on the fifth of November, 1916, when a bundle from heaven dropped upon the Pagano household in Bridgeport. We are told that Joe's first act in this world was to "sock the doctor on the button," but we don't believe it. Joe never hits until he is provoked (ask McGlade).

Bridgeport High

To continue with our historical sketch we skip over those hazy years of childhood and arrive at the doors of Bridgeport High in the September of 1931. Among the baffled frosh is an unnoticed Latin youth, who was later to become one of Bridgeport's, and Villanova's shining lights.

Joe's freshman year was uneventful but when he assumed the sophistication of sophomore standing (ahem) the call of the gridiron beckoned and Joseph became a footballer. Two years he played top-grade football for the Bridgeport club. His senior year was lookedforward to with great expectation by Bridgeport fans. Injury stepped in, however, and cut Joe's high school career on the gridiron short.

In the first game of his senior season Joe was laid up with a collarbone injury and was forced to turn in his toggery. Incidentally Joe played against Nick Bass in that one game of his last year.

Played Basketball

Basketball was another of "Pagamo's" fortes in high school. One year on the Jay-Vee aggregation prepared him for a varsity debut in his senior year. We hear he did quite well by himself, thank you!

Bridgeport's first golf team was formed in Joe's senior year and he immediately ascended to a top-ranking position, playing number two man for the Bridgeport linksmen. Taking time out from athletics Joe also assumed the presidency of the school Thespian Society in his final year.

For four years "Pag" had been looking with envious eyes on Villanova collegians so in 1935 he entered the home of the Wildcats. Immediately he assumed a job on the campus publication. (This is it in case you don't know!) He played some golf in the Spring of his frosh year to inaugurate his athletic career here.

In his soph year "Pag" continued his interest in the paper and in golf and added 150-pound football to his activities. Junior year saw him drop golf and devote his time to managing the boxing team and playing 150- football.

VILLANOVAN Sports Editor

The present year brought Joe's Villanova career to a crowning point. Golf, boxing manager, lightweight football, Belle Air Ball, and the sports-editorship of the VILLANOVAN all claimed the services of Mr. Pagano. Quite a strain on the Merit Award supply!

Believing that a man's activities should not be confined to the athletic fields Joe was a consistent

SPORTLIGHT Continued on Page Seven

Seton Hall
Continued From Page Five

distance in 16.2 seconds to capture the first of the two timber-topping events. Nuss later won the 160-yd. high hurdles in surprisingly easy fashion. The only other double winner in the Class A bracket was Martin of Prospect Park who finished first in the broad jump and tied for first in the pole vault.

Two more Norristown athletes shattered existing standards when Martin hurled the discus for the amazing distance of 148 feet 5 inches to better by more than 20 feet the old standard set by Smith of Ridley Park. It must be considered that a lighter disc was used this year, which fact probably accounts for the new mark. The final Eagle record maker of the afternoon was young Jackson who crossed the bar at 5 feet 9 1-8 inches to exceed the old high jump mark held by Parsons of Haverford, Bennet of Media, and Sayler of Upper Darby.

Class B Close

Marks continued to topple in the Class B events as Overbrook and West Catholic carried on a nip-and-tuck battle for first place honors. Norris of Tome River moved across the low hurdles with effortless ease to finish the distance in 1 minute 57 seconds and deprive Lucas of Central of his record-holding crown.

West Catholic's Harry Keefrider then scored a dazzling 52.3 second win in the quarter mile to shade Bill Guiteras' standard, while Di Carlo, from the same institution, romped home with a pair of first places in the dashes to become the only double winner in his class.

Bill Eppright turned in one of the most scintillating performances of the day when he negotiated the 880 in the record cracking time of 2 minutes 3.2 seconds to displace O'Donahue of Milburn as the present title holder. Eppright, running a brilliant race, was apparently trapped as he attempted to move around two front runners on the far turn of the final lap. Failing to this attempt he bided his time until they moved into the stretch, where he unleashed a killing "kick" to pass the two leaders and win going away.

Overbrook Wins Relay

Vieing with Eppright's performance for the most thrilling event of the meet was the Class B Mile Relay, which saw Overbrook stage a long uphill fight to nip West Catholic at the tape.

In the Class C division it was all Seton Hall. The Blue and White performers swept all their competition to the sidelines as they stepped out in front with several brilliant individual performances and one great team effort.

Al Bellucci not only gained two first places for the Jersey outfit, but he smashed two records in winning his events. Bellucci heaved the iron ball 54 feet 7 inches to shatter the old shot put mark held by Linowitz of Newark, and he hurled the discus 132 feet 8 inches to remove Pedricek of the Church Farms School as champion.

More Records for Seton

Bova also turned in a fine performance for the Seton Hallers by bettering the mile standard held by Cary of St. Benedicts. Bova's time was 4 minutes 37.2 seconds. Culminating the Seton Hall record-cracking for the afternoon was the one mile relay team, which practically ran by itself in outdistancing Harrisburg Academy in the fine time of 3 minutes 25.7 seconds. The old mark was established by St. Benedicts Prep in 1933.

Other Class C records were shattered in the high hurdles and the 440, when Gamble of Haverford School topped the timbers in 15.2 seconds, and Rogers of La Salle Military Academy gained the quarter mile mark with a 50.5 second performance.

KIDS SEE A'S

The Keystone Automobile Club and Connie Mack play hosts to members of the Keystone Safety Squads in the tri-county area this week. Montgomery County boys will see the A's and Detroit on Friday while Delaware and Chester counties saw New York and the A's on Monday.

Williams
Continued From Page Five

in a dangerous position and two smart double plays by the infield helped to remove runners and abbreviate the game. Although he walked six batters the Purple could not score.

Collecting three hits off Fitzgerald's twirling, Crawley led the Villanova offensive attack, also scoring the only two runs of the game. Afield he made seven putouts and played errorless ball. Lazorchak collected two singles as did Art Vigilante, the Wildcat's hearty backstop. Choquette gave up five singles limiting the hits to a similar number. Every hit of the ball game was good for only one base as all the fielders played a fast game.

Lose 1-0 on Sunday

The Blue nine did not fare as well on Sunday. A run scored on a hit, Lazorchak's error and a wild pitch in the eighth inning gave the Providence College baseball team a 1 to 0 victory.

Pitcher Joe Kwasniewski, of the Friars, scored his team's run and bested Joe Desmond, of the visitors, in a pitching duel. Each hurler gave five hits and Kwasniewski allowed three passes to one for Desmond. The Providence pitcher, however, struck out ten, while Desmond fanned but six.

Friars Score

Kwasniewski beat out an infield hit to shortstop in the eighth inning and went to third on Lazorchak's wild throw to first. Then he scored on what started as squeeze play but ended up with Desmond throwing wildly to home.

"Cowboy" Crawley, 'Cats' second sacker, got three hits to be the game's batting star while Art Vigilante, backstop, hit the only extra-base blow, a triple.

Sportlight
Continued From Page Six

honor-man in his studies for the past four years. Two of his four years were spent in the School of Science and the rest in the Department of Education, where Joe piled up quite an impressive academic record. He was singled out by the principal of Radnor High as an outstanding student and gentleman during his practice-teaching there.

Socially Joe served on the committee of each Class of '39 major dance while at Villanova. He helped with the Soph Cotillion, Junior Prom and the Belle Air Ball.

Co-captain

In Joe's opinion his greatest day at Villanova was when he co-captained the 150-pound football team to their only victory of the past season, a 7-0 conquest of Lafayette College. From other lightweight gridders we have learned that Joe played his heart out that day and was one of the main reasons for the Villanova win.

Golfers
Continued From Page Five

his previous defeat by Felix De Sarno, played him again. He found his wish fall through when Felix got a 2-1 victory. Dubino found a new opponent in George Davis who was moved to number four position from number five. After a continuous shifting of the lead Joe came out on top with a 2-1 counter. Through the fine work of Pagano on the last green, Villanova managed to halve the best ball match.

Could Not Repeat

Randolph and Morse were unsuccessful in their attempts for repeat victories over their rivals and lost out in all departments—Randolph losing to a new member of the Rider team, Desslinger, 2-2, and Morse finding himself on the short end of a 3-2 score after leading during the early part of the round. Rider won out in the best ball match 3-2.

COLADONATO
B. M. 1266
College Tailor Since 1925
Made to Measure Clothes
Suits and Topcoats
$24.50
CLEANING PRESSING
"THE CLOTHES WE SELL FIT WELL"
Cassocks and Capes at Reasonable Prices
See Campus Representative
ED DIMON
235 Austin

Baseball Sidelights

By BOB BOND

WELL, this is not only the last issue of the year but also the last column yours truly will have the honor of writing at Villanova.

It does not seem so long ago that the present seniors on the ball club were doing or dying for Charlie Cox's frosh team. From all present indications all the graduates will go into pro ball with the exception of Vigilanti who is in a hurry to settle down and raise a family!

A very unusual incident in major league ball occurred recently when the Detroit Tigers were playing the St. Louis Browns. It seems that the Tigers' pitchers had been "dusting off" Bernadino with regularity. Fred Haney, manager of the Brownies, warned Del Baker, manager of the Tigers, that if it did not stop he would find his team playing without the services of Greenberg or "Chuck" Geringer as they were not going to stand for the tactics of the Tigers. Haney regards Bernadino as one of the most promising rookies of the American League and a certain star in a few years. Haney is not going to stand by and see his future star ruined by getting "beaned" and thereby lose his confidence.

If you didn't know—Ken Keltner of the Indians and Tommy Henrich of the Yanks were great hitters in soft ball leagues before becoming big league ball players — Murphy, Balmore and Donoghue are the "terse aves" of the Villanova team; they are the slow men. . . . There is a lot of competition amongst the ball players as to whom is the fastest but it would be a very interesting sight to see the above mentioned race to see just who is the slowest!

"Red" Durand, Holy Cross shortstop, got his first hit the other day against Yale. (After trying for about nine games.) — Gene Moore of those Brooklynites went twenty-four times at bat this year without getting a hit.

As a result of his fine showing against Fordham "Jake" (Cunningham) Donoghue received an offer to play for Burlington in the Northern League. In order to notify his many fans who have been besieging this columnist as to where "Jake" will be located this summer we had better tell the rest of the story, he accepted.—O'Leary and the mighty Choquette will probably return to Three Rivers again to play—Rice and Howlett and possibly Balmore will be found playing with Littleton in the N. H. Hotel League.

Men's Clothes Made-to-Measure
COLEBY Tailoring Inc.
57th & Market Sts.
Suits & Topcoats
$24.75
See Campus Representative
TIM WAAD
210 Fedigan

HERE and THERE

By HARRY MAZZEI

WITHOUT the usual "tears in your beer" tripe, we'd like to dedicate part of this post to a grand bunch of seniors who will no longer carry the Blue to the athletic wars. Every year the 'Cat athletic squads lose fine performers—this year is no exception. We don't know where they're going to go or what they're going to do, but we hope they do it as well as they've done their job here.

To make a roll-call of the departing athletes would require too long a list, so we'll just say so long to them as a collective group—football, baseball, track, swimming, golf, basketball and tennis.

• • •

Some time ago Joe Barnes, then acting sports editor, delivered a well-written article on the possibility of junior varsity athletics at this institute. To date Barnes himself is the only one who seems interested in the subject, but it is a well-known fact that there are many undergraduates interested in the idea. After all, Barnes isn't going to play the game—he's only writing for the benefit of the student body. Why not help him out by dropping him a line on your opinion of his idea?

Harry Mazzei

• • •

For absolutely the last time this year (it's the last issue), we're going to discuss our athleticless junior week. It seems that the Junior Class attempted to secure a few athletic contests for this honored span of time, but the athletic authorities could not arrange them. We hope that this year has seen the last of such situations. As one well-known advertisement states "We owe it to our audience"—athletic contests, of course.

• • •

When this line's commentator meets with you again (still optimistic), the "pigskin parade" will be swinging into high. Football at Villanova will strike a new note next fall, and the "moleskin maulers" will have to be in the pink to withstand the efforts that will be made to blotch their escutcheon. So if you see a bevy of short-clad beef-trusters going through their terpsichorean-like manuevers these fine May days, you will know that there is an ulterior motive behind their efforts—they won't be out for just a sun-tan.

• • •

Incidentally, if anyone can give Jim Dwyer a remedy for his inability to win consistently, he will greatly appreciate it. Dwyer claimed that the rainy spell had warped his clubs, but the appearance of "Old Sol" has blasted his alibi.

• • •

We feel that comment should be made about the exceptionally fine condition of the local tennis courts. Only a short time ago the playing facilities of the courts were drawing torrents of student abuse; today their condition rivals that of any clay courts along the Main Line. In addition to the playing surfaces now in use, the five rear courts are being manicured for use in the very near future.

• • •

Thisa and Data: The big spring sporting event at the University of Detroit is, of all things (no, not goldfish eating), turtle racing. This Chelonic Derby occasions more excitement out there than a DiFilippo-Howlett ten-round "go" would occasion here. . . . Georgetown University has followed a growing tendency of Mid-West teams and is failing to schedule any court teams employing a zone defense. They advance as their reason the fact that play is slowed up by this defense. After viewing their inept-itude against Temple's shifting 3-2 defense last winter, we wonder whether inability to cope with such a defense hasn't influenced the Hoyas to a great degree in the making of this decision . . . Dave DiFilippo, Adonis-like guard of the grid eleven, recently crashed Cecil Pennyfeather's column as a result of the artistic rhumbaing he exhibited at the Ben Franklin the night of the junior dinner dance. Dave was probably just brushing up a few new steps he plans to use on opposing linemen next year.

James Ruggeire
59 West 4th Street
Bridgeport, Pa.
Tel. 3962-W
SHOE REPAIRING
Call For and Deliver
ED. DIMON
235 Austin

JEANNETT'S
BRYN MAWR FLOWER SHOP
Floral Ideas For All Occasions
Specializing in Corsages
Member Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association
823 Lancaster Ave.
Bryn Mawr 570

★ ★ ★ ★
UNDER the STARS
Dine and Dance on the Colorful Cool Terrace
THE ANCHORAGE
3 SHOWS NIGHTLY
ITALIAN DINNERS
DINNERS - 85c
SEA FOODS
STEAKS
World's Fair Orchestra
No Cover Charge Free Parking
Banquet Rates for Groups
THE ANCHORAGE
E. River Drive, Fairmount Park. City Line
ARTHUR H. PADULA, Pres.

Mendel Takes Hardball Crown

CASTLES DEFEATED AS AISENBREY WINS 9-6 MURAL VERDICT

Penthousers' Ace Strikes Out Ten; Fitzgerald Gets Four-Run Homer

Mendel's Penthousers, with Steve Aisenbrey doing yeoman duty on the mound, took the measure of the high riding Gigolo nine from Fedigan on Wednesday and handed them their first setback of the year 9-6. Previously beaten only by the forfeit that necessitated this game, the Gigolos were certain of victory; but after the opening innings they could not solve Aisenbrey's slants and were sent down to a crushing defeat.

Frank Castles, too, suffered a setback. After setting a record by winning eleven successive games and not once in his intramural career sustaining a loss, he became the victim of an inspired Mendel attack and saw his streak ended.

Get Six Runs in Second

The above mentioned attack functioned most perfectly in the second inning, when the first nine of the men batting accounted hits and walks with Fedigan errors and pulled six runs out of the socket. The feature of the rally was Fitzgerald's homer with bases loaded. Added to this were a single run in the 1st and two in the third which ended Mendel's scoring for the afternoon.

Fedigan garnered their tallies in the first three innings also, two in each one. Hits by Costello, Los Balbo, and Conners accounted for the first two runs, but Aisenbrey's wildness with some spotty fielding by his mates was responsible for the scoring of Fedigan's remaining markers.

Aisenbrey struck out eleven batters and passed six. Castles fanned four and walked but one. Mendel's effective work, of course, kept several who got on side in addition to the sound pitching of Johnny Costello and Jerry Conners.

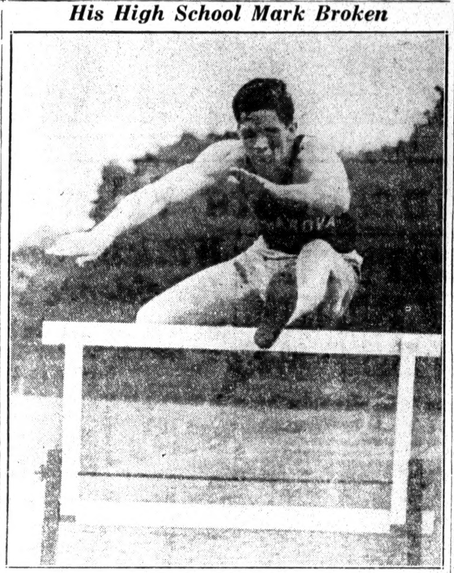
The box score:

Mendel	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Clancy, lb	4	1	1	8	0	0
Craig, 2b	4	0	0	1	2	0
Costello, ss	4	1	2	1	2	0
Los Balbo, 3b	4	1	1	0	1	0
Conners, c	4	1	1	8	1	0
Fitzgerald, rf	4	1	1	1	0	0
Castles, p	3	0	0	0	1	0
Aisenbrey, p	3	1	1	0	1	0
Totals	30	6	7	19	8	0

Fedigan	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Nicosia, lb	4	0	0	8	0	0
Fockin, 2b	4	0	1	2	2	0
LaBalbo, 3b	4	0	1	1	1	1
Daly, ss	4	0	0	1	3	1
Mucek, lf	4	0	1	1	0	0
McGuire, cf	4	0	1	1	0	0
Cerullo, rf	4	0	0	0	0	0
Fitzgerald, rf	4	0	1	0	0	0
Castles and Aisenbrey, p	2	0	0	0	1	0
Totals	34	0	5	24	7	2

Summary: Two-base hits, Costello, Conners, Fockin. Three-base hit, Fitzgerald. Home run, Fitzgerald. Sacrifice hits, Craig, Los Balbo. Stolen bases, Costello, Los Balbo, Conners, Fockin, Daly, Mucek. Double plays, Costello to Craig to Clancy; Daly to Fockin to Nicosia. Left on bases, Mendel 7, Fedigan 5. Bases on balls, off Castles 1, off Aisenbrey 6. Struck out, by Castles 4, by Aisenbrey 10. Hits, off Castles 4 in 3 innings, off Aisenbrey 5 in 6 innings. Losing pitcher, Castles. Umpires, Hoban and Hoffman. Time, 1:45.

His High School Mark Broken



Going over the high hurdles fast enough to do 120 yards in 16.2 seconds, Nuss, Norristown High speedster, bettered the mark of 16.5 set by Harvey Buck, shown above, in 1934 while he was a member of the Lower Merion High School track team. Buck, however, topped 5'6" timbers, while Nuss cleared 5'3" obstacles.

SCRIBES PICK BEST

The All-Intramural Baseball Team as picked by the VILLANOVAN baseball writers shapes up as follows.

First Team

	B.A.
Nicosia, lb (Alumni)	.400
Fockin, 2b (Austin)	.333
LaBalbo, 3b (Fedigan)	.287
Daly, ss (Mendel)	.285
Mucek, lf (Fedigan)	.400
McGuire, cf (Austin)	.538
Cerullo, rf (Mendel)	.500
Fitzgerald, rf (Mendel)	.500
Castles and Aisenbrey, p

Second Team

Clancy, lb (Mendel)
Craig, 2b (Mendel)
McKeon, 3b (Alumni)
Robinson, ss (Austin)
Lasky, lf (Alumni)
Stoller, cf (Fedigan)
Rondin, rf (Austin)
Murphy, c (Fedigan)
Mooney, p (Alumni)

Softball Results

MONDAY

Alumni, 12; Mendel, 12.
Austin, 8; Fedigan, 1.
(10 innings)

TUESDAY

Rain

WEDNESDAY

Alumni, 10; Fedigan, 8.
Austin, 7; Mendel, 6.

THURSDAY

Alumni, 7; Mendel, 5.
Austin, 4; Fedigan, 3.
(10 innings)

League Standing

	W.	L.	T.
Austin	3	0	1
Alumni	2	0	1
Mendel	0	2	1
Fedigan	0	3	1

In the Sportlight

By JOE BARNES

Bridgeport, little more than a dot on Pennsylvania's landscape furnishes the occupant of this, the last Sportlight of 1938-39. The occupant, by the way, is also little more than a dot on the landscape in stature, but in action he has been as big as the biggest. We refer to the belligerent Joseph Michael Pagano, sports-editor deluxe, right hand man for Ray Gadsby and an athlete in his own right. Let us begin the story of Joe "Pagamo" (Copyright 1939 by Jim Tofani).

Our tale originates on the fifth of November, 1916, when a bundle from heaven dropped upon the Pagano household in Bridgeport. We are told that Joe's first act in this world was to "sock the doctor on the button," but we don't believe it. Joe never hits until he is provoked (ask McGlade).

Bridgeport High

To continue with our historical sketch we skip over those hazy years of childhood and arrive at the doors of Bridgeport High in the September of 1931. Among the baffled frosh is an unnoticed Latin youth, who was later to become one of Bridgeport's, and Villanova's shining lights.

Joe's freshman year was uneventful but when he assumed the sophistication of sophomore standing (ahem) the call of the gridiron beckoned and Joseph became a footballer. Two years he played top-grade football for the Bridgeport club. His senior year was lookedforward to with great expectation by Bridgeport fans. Injury stepped in, however, and cut Joe's high school career on the gridiron short.

In the first game of his senior season Joe was laid up with a collarbone injury and was forced to turn in his toggery. Incidentally Joe played against Nick Basa in that one game of his last year.

Played Basketball

Basketball was another of "Pagamo's" fortes in high school. One year on the Jay-Vee aggregation prepared him for a varsity debut in his senior year. We hear he did quite well by himself, thank you!

Bridgeport's first golf team was formed in Joe's senior year and he immediately ascended to a top-ranking position, playing number two man for the Bridgeport linksmen. Taking time out from athletics Joe also assumed the presidency of the school Thespian Society in his final year.

For four years "Pag" had been looking with envious eyes on Villanova collegians so in 1935 he entered the home of the Wildcats. Immediately he assumed a job on the campus publication. (This is it in case you don't know!) He played some golf in the Spring of his frosh year to inaugurate his athletic career here.

In his soph year "Pag" continued his interest in the paper and in golf and added 150-pound football to his activities. Junior year saw him drop golf and devote his time to managing the boxing team and playing 150- football.

VILLANOVAN Sports Editor

The present year brought Joe's Villanova career to a crowning point. Golf, boxing manager, lightweight football, Belle Air Ball, and the sports-editorship of the VILLANOVAN all claimed the services of Mr. Pagano. Quite a strain on the Merit Award supply!

Believing that a man's activities should not be confined to the athletic fields Joe was a consistent

SPORTLIGHT Continued on Page Seven

Approved Penna. Private Business School
BUSINESS TRAINING
BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION AND SECRETARIAL SCIENCE
for young men and women.
One, Two and Three Years Day and Evening Courses 8 Weeks Summer Session
Founded 1865
PEIRCE SCHOOL
Pine St. West of Broad Philadelphia, Pa.

Prescriptions
Drugs & Toilet Articles
LA DOW'S PHARMACY
LANCASTER PIKE and SPRING MILL ROAD
VILLANOVA, PA.

Direction Warner Bros.
Tower Theatre
69th & Market Sts.
Motion Pictures Are Your Best Entertainment
TUES., WED. & THURS.
VIRGINIA BRUCE
WALTER PIDGEON
"SOCIETY LAWYER"
Romance, Music, Drama and Mystery.
Starting Friday For One Week
ERROL FLYNN
OLIVIA DE HAVILAND
"DODGE CITY"
In Technicolor
Adventure and Romance

KEEP SUPPLIED WITH SCHOOL TICKETS
Good on Buses and Rail Cars until used. 5c a Ride, Including Special Free Transfers. School Identification Cards may be obtained at School Office.
PHILADELPHIA SUBURBAN TRANSPORTATION COMPANY
ARONIMINK TRANSPORTATION CO.

The Wayne Hotel
LANCASTER AVENUE
WAYNE, PA.
Telephone 380
Headquarters For Visitors to Villanova
Excellent Dinners at $1
SPECIAL STUDENT RATES
J. T. McFATE, Mgr.

SEVILLE THEATRE
Tues., May 16
JACKIE COOPER
FREDDIE BARTHOLOMEW
"SPIRIT OF CULVER"
Wed., Thurs., May 17, 18
FRED MacMURRAY
MADELEINE CARROLL
"CAFE SOCIETY"
Fri., Sat., May 19, 20
"FOUR GIRLS in WHITE"
FLORENCE RICE
UNA MERKEL
Sun., Mon., May 21, 22
W. C. FIELDS
CHARLIE McCARTHY
"YOU CAN'T CHEAT AN HONEST MAN"

Ardmore Theatre
Notice to Students
Did you know that your matriculation card will get you a reduced rate at the Ardmore Theatre at any time.
Tues., May 16
SYLVIA SIDNEY
"ONE THIRD OF A NATION"
Wed., Thurs., Fri., Sat., May 17, 18, 19, 20
DEANNA DURBIN
"3 SMART GIRLS GROW UP"
Sun., Mon., May 21, 22
WALLACE BEERY in
"SERGEANT MADDEN"
Added Attraction
"THE CRISIS"
The Nazi Seizure of Czechoslovakia

— RIDE FREE ON P. & W. RAILWAY MOVIE TICKET —
GRAND Theatre
NORRISTOWN
Tues., May 16
ANNA MAY WONG
"KING OF CHINATOWN"
Wed., Thurs., May 17, 18
BOB BURNS
"I'M FROM MISSOURI"
Fri., Sat., May 19, 20
Martha Raye - Bob Hope
"NEVER SAY DIE"
NORRIS Theatre
NORRISTOWN
Tues., May 16
ERROL FLYNN
"DODGE CITY"
Wed., Thurs., Fri., May 17, 18, 19
FRED MacMURRAY
"CAFE SOCIETY"
Sat., Mon., Tues., May 20, 22, 23
BING CROSBY
"EAST SIDE OF HEAVEN"
GARRICK Theatre
Wed., Thurs., May 17, 18
Double Feature
"ONE THIRD OF A NATION" & "THE INSIDE STORY"
Fri., Sat., May 19, 20
JOHN GARFIELD in
"BLACKWELL'S ISLAND"

FOR EXPERT CONVENIENT ATTENTION
SERVICE IS OUR FIRST THOUGHT
PATRONIZE
The CAMPUS Barber Shop
FIRST CLASS WORK
HAIRCUT 40c
Popular Prices

Connelly's
SAY IT WITH FLOWERS
MAIN LINE FLORIST
1226 Lancaster Pike
ROSEMONT
Bryn Mawr 252

Seton Hall

Continued From Page Five

distance in 16.2 seconds to capture the first of the two timber-topping events. Nuss later won the 160-yd. high hurdles in surprisingly easy fashion. The only other double winner in the Class A bracket was Martin of Prospect Park who finished first in the broad jump and tied for first in the pole vault.

Two more Norristown athletes bettered existing standards when Klin hurled the discus for the dizzing distance of 148 feet 5 inches to better by more than 20 feet the old standard set by Smith of Ridley Park. It must be considered that a lighter disc was used this year, which fact probably accounts for the new mark. The final Eagle record maker of the afternoon was young Jackson who crossed the bar at 5 feet 9 1-8 inches to exceed the old high jump mark held by Parsons of Haverford, Bennet of Media, and Sayler of Upper Darby.

Class B Close

Marks continued to topple in the Class B events as Overbrook and West Catholic carried on a nip-and-tuck battle for first place honors. Norris of Toms River moved across the low hurdles with effortless ease to finish the distance in 1 minute 57 seconds and deprive Lucas of Central of his record-holding crown.

West Catholic's Harry Keefrider then scored a dazzling 52.3 second win in the quarter mile to shade Bill Guiteras' standard, while Di Carlo, from the same institution, romped home with a pair of first places in the dashes to become the only double winner in his class.

Bill Eppright turned in one of the most scintillating performances of the day when he negotiated the 880 in the record cracking time of 2 minutes 3.2 seconds to displace O'Donahue of Milburn as the present title holder. Eppright, running a brilliant race, was apparently trapped as he attempted to move around two front runners on the far turn of the final lap. Failing to this attempt he bided his time until they moved into the stretch, where he unleashed a killing "kick" to pass the two leaders and win going away.

Overbrook Wins Relay

Vieing with Eppright's performance for the most thrilling event of the meet was the Class B Mile Relay, which saw Overbrook stage a long uphill fight to nip West Catholic at the tape.

In the Class C division it was all Seton Hall. The Blue and White performers swept all their competition to the sidelines as they stepped out in front with several brilliant individual performances and one great team effort.

Al Bellucci not only gained two first places for the Jersey outfit, but he smashed two records in winning his events. Bellucci heaved the iron ball 54 feet 7 inches to shatter the old shot put mark held by Linowitz of Newark, and he hurled the discus 132 feet 8 inches to remove Pedricek of the Church Farms School as champion.

More Records for Seton

Bova also turned in a fine performance for the Seton Hallers by bettering the mile standard held by Cary of St. Benedicts. Bova's time was 4 minutes 37.2 seconds. Culminating the Seton Hall record-cracking for the afternoon was the one mile relay team, which practically ran by itself in outdistancing Harrisburg Academy in the fine time of 3 minutes 25.7 seconds. The old mark was established by St. Benedicts Prep in 1933.

Other Class C records were shattered in the high hurdles and the 440, when Gamble of Haverford School topped the timbers in 15.2 seconds, and Rogers of La Salle Military Academy gained the quarter mile mark with a 50.5 second performance.

KIDS SEE A'S

The Keystone Automobile Club and Connie Mack play hosts to members of the Keystone Safety Squads in the tri-county area this week. Montgomery County boys will see the A's and Detroit on Friday while Delaware and Chester counties saw New York and the A's on Monday.

Burke Dairies
Milk & Cream
NORRISTOWN, PA.
Phone 2736-W

Williams

Continued From Page Five

in a dangerous position and two smart double plays by the infield helped to remove runners and abbreviate the game. Although he walked six batters the Purple could not score.

Collecting three hits off Fitzgerald's twirling, Crawley led the Villanova offensive attack, also scoring the only two runs of the game. Afield he made seven putouts and played errorless ball. Lazorchak collected two singles as did Art Vigilante, the Wildcat's hearty backstop. Choquette gave up five singles limiting the hits to a similar number. Every hit of the ball game was good for only one base as all the fielders played a fast game.

Lose 1-0 on Sunday

The Blue nine did not fare as well on Sunday. A run scored on a hit, Lazorchak's error and a wild pitch in the eighth inning gave the Providence College baseball team a 1 to 0 victory.

Pitcher Joe Kwasniewski, of the Friars, scored his team's run and bested Joe Desmond, of the visitors, in a pitching duel. Each hurler gave five hits and Kwasniewski allowed three passes to one for Desmond. The Providence pitcher, however, struck out ten, while Desmond fanned but six.

Friars Score

Kwasniewski beat out an infield hit to shortstop in the eighth inning and went to third on Lazorchak's wild throw to first. Then he scored on what started as squeeze play but ended up with Desmond throwing wildly to home.

"Cowboy" Crawley, 'Cats' second sacker, got three hits to be the game's batting star while Art Vigilante, backstop, hit the only extra-base blow, a triple.

Sportlight

Continued From Page Six

honor-man in his studies for the past four years. Two of his four years were spent in the School of Science and the rest in the Department of Education, where Joe piled up quite an impressive scholastic record. He was singled out by the principal of Radnor High as an outstanding student and gentleman during his practice-teaching there.

Socially Joe served on the committee of each Class of '39 major dance while at Villanova. He helped with the Soph Cotillion, Junior Prom and the Belle Air Ball.

Co-captain

In Joe's opinion his greatest day at Villanova was when he co-captained the 150-pound football team to their only victory of the past season, a 7-0 conquest of Lafayette College. From other lightweight gridders we have learned that Joe played his heart out that day and was one of the main reasons for the Villanova win.

Golfers

Continued From Page Five

his previous defeat by Felix De Sarno, played him again. He found his wish fall through when Felix got a 2-1 victory. Dubino found a new opponent in George Davis who was moved to number four position from number five. After a continuous shifting of the lead Joe came out on top with a 2-1 counter. Through the fine work of Pagano on the last green, Villanova managed to halve the best ball match.

Could Not Repeat

Randolph and Morse were unsuccessful in their attempts for repeat victories over their rivals and lost out in all departments—Randolph losing to a new member of the Rider team, Dessinger, 3-2, and Morse finding himself on the short end of a 3-2 score after leading during the early part of the round. Rider won out in the best ball match 4-2.

COLADONATO
B. M. 1266
College Tailor Since 1925
Made to Measure Clothes
Suits and Topcoats
$24.50
CLEANING—PRESSING
"THE CLOTHES WE SELL FIT WELL"
Cassocks and Capes at Reasonable Prices
See Campus Representative
ED DIMON
235 Austin

Baseball Sidelights

BY BOB BOND

WELL, this is not only the last issue of the year but also the last column yours truly will have the honor of writing at Villanova.

It does not seem so long ago that the present seniors on the ball club were doing or dying for Charlie Cox's frosh team. From all present indications all the graduates will go into pro ball with the exception of Vigilanti who is in a hurry to settle down and raise a family!

A very unusual incident in major league ball occurred recently when the Detroit Tigers were playing the St. Louis Browns. It seems that the Tigers' pitchers had been "dusting off" Bernadino with regularity. Fred Haney, manager of the Brownies, warned Del Baker, manager of the Tigers, that if it did not stop he would find his team playing without the services of Greenberg or "Chuck" Gerringer as they were not going to stand for the tactics of the Tigers. Haney regards Bernadino as one of the most promising rookies of the American League and a certain star in a few years. Haney is not going to stand by and see his future star rumed by getting "beaned" and thereby lose his confidence.

If you didn't know—Ken Keltner of the Indians and Tommy Henrich of the Yanks were great hitters in soft ball leagues before becoming big league ball players — Murphy, Balmore and Donoghue are the 'rarae aves" of the Villanova team; they are the slow men. . . . There is a lot of competition amongst the ball players as to whom is the fastest but it would be a very interesting sight to see the above mentioned race to see just who is the slowest!

"Red" Durand, Holy Cross shortstop, got his first hit the other day against Yale. (After trying for about nine games.) — Gene Moore of those Brooklynites went twenty-four times at bat this year without getting a hit.

As a result of his fine showing against Fordham "Jake" (Cunningham) Donoghue received an offer to play for Burlington in the Northern League. In order to notify his many fans who have been besieging this columnist as to where "Jake" will be located this summer we had better tell the rest of the story, he accepted—O'Leary and the mighty Choquette will probably return to Three Rivers again to play—Rice and Howlett and possibly Balmore will be found playing with Littleton in the N. H. Hotel League.

Men's Clothes Made-to-Measure
COLEBY
Tailoring Inc.
57th & Market Sts.
Suits & Topcoats
$24.75
See
Campus Representative
TIM WAAD
210 Fedigan

HERE and THERE

By HARRY MAZZEI

WITHOUT the usual "tears in your beer" tripe, we'd like to dedicate part of this post to a grand bunch of seniors who will no longer carry the Blue to the athletic wars. Every year the 'Cat athletic squads lose fine performers—this year is no exception. We don't know where they're going to go or what they're going to do, but we hope they do it as well as they've done their job here.

To make a roll-call of the departing athletes would require too long a list, so we'll just say so long to them as a collective group—football, baseball, track, swimming, golf, basketball and tennis.

* * *

Some time ago Joe Barnes, then acting sports editor, delivered a well-written article on the possibility of junior varsity athletics at this institute. To date Barnes himself is the only one who seems interested in the subject, but it is a well-known fact that there are many undergraduates interested in the idea. After all, Barnes isn't going to play the game—he's only writing for the benefit of the student body. Why not help him out by dropping him a line on your opinion of his idea?

Harry Mazzei

* * *

For absolutely the last time this year (it's the last issue), we're going to discuss our athleticless junior week. It seems that the Junior Class attempted to secure a few athletic contests for this honored span of time, but the athletic authorities could not arrange them. We hope that this year has seen the last of such situations. As one well-known advertisement states "We owe it to our audience"—athletic contests, of course.

* * *

When this line's commentator meets with you again (still optimistic), the "pigskin parade" will be swinging into high. Football at Villanova will strike a new note next fall, and the "moleskin maulers" will have to be in the pink to withstand the efforts that will be made to blotch their escutcheon. So if you see a bevy of short-clad beef-trusters going through their terpsichorean-like manuevers these fine May days, you will know that there is an ulterior motive behind their efforts—they won't be out for just a sun-tan.

* * *

Incidentally, if anyone can give Jim Dwyer a remedy for his inability to win consistently, he will greatly appreciate it. Dwyer claimed that the rainy spell had warped his clubs, but the appearance of "Old Sol" has blasted his alibi.

* * *

We feel that comment should be made about the exceptionally fine condition of the local tennis courts. Only a short time ago the playing facilities of the courts were drawing torrents of student abuse; today their condition rivals that of any clay courts along the Main Line. In addition to the playing surfaces now in use, the five rear courts are being manicured for use in the very near future.

* * *

Thisa and Data: The big spring sporting event at the University of Detroit is, of all things (no, not goldfish eating), turtle racing. This Chelonic Derby occasions more excitement out there than a DiFilippo-Howlett ten-round "go" would occasion here . . . Georgetown University has followed a growing tendency of Mid-West teams and is failing to schedule any court teams employing a zone defense. They advance as their reason the fact that play is slowed up by this defense. After viewing their ineptitude against Temple's shifting 3-2 defense last winter, we wonder whether inability to cope with such a defense hasn't influenced the Hoyas to a great degree in the making of this decision . . . Dave DiFilippo, Adonis-like guard of the grid eleven, recently crashed Cecil Pennyfeather's column as a result of the artistic thumbing he exhibited at the Ben Franklin the night of the junior dinner dance. Dave was probably just brushing up a few new steps he plans to use on opposing linemen next year.

James Ruggeire
59 West 4th Street
Bridgeport, Pa.
Tel. 3962-W
SHOE REPAIRING
Call For and Deliver
ED. DIMON
235 Austin

JEANNETT'S
BRYN MAWR FLOWER SHOP
Floral Ideas For All Occasions
Specializing in Corsages
Member Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association
823 Lancaster Ave.
Bryn Mawr 570

★ ★ ★ ★
UNDER the STARS
Dine and Dance on the Colorful Cool Terrace
THE ANCHORAGE
3 SHOWS NIGHTLY
ITALIAN DINNERS
DINNERS - 85c
SEA FOODS
STEAKS
World's Fair Orchestra
No Cover Charge Free Parking
Banquet Rates for Groups
THE ANCHORAGE
E. River Drive, Fairmount Park. City Line
ARTHUR H. PADULA, Pres.

PHI KAPPA PI HOLDS ANNUAL CLUB DANCE

Approximately 60 couples will participate in the annual Phi Kappa Pi dinner dance to be held this year at the Llanerch Country Club on Wednesday evening, May 17. The affair is semi-formal, and the music will be furnished by Bill Ballay and his orchestra.

The dance is exclusively for members of the engineering fraternity. The officers of the fraternity attribute the incitement of interest among the undergraduates to the appointment of solicitors in the different classes.

During the course of the evening the newly elected officers will be introduced and formally inducted into their positions. Speeches will be presented by Rev. John S. O'Leary, O. S. A., M. S., Anthony Cirrito, and by both the retiring and new officers. Keys will also be presented to the graduating members of the fraternity.

In the design of the keys a rather unique effect will be in evidence as there will be an emerald in each of the owl's eyes (the owl is the fraternity insignia) and the seal will be on a purple enamel background.

Dinner will be served at 9:30 in the clubhouse dining hall, and at 10:30 dancing will commence in the ballroom. All who plan to attend this affair are requested to be on time, for place cards will be distributed at this hour.

NEXT 'ENGINEER'

With the May 23 edition, the "Villanova Engineer" will conclude its issues for the year. At the same time it was announced that there will not be a dinner tendered the staff as previously stated in the college handbook.

Valedictorian

FREDERICK J. WATERS

HARRINGTON TO PRESENT PAPER

The possibility of substantial change without accidental change is to be examined in a paper which John J. Harrington will present to the Philosophy Seminar at its last meeting, today.

The question is of great importance not only within the realm of philosophy but also in Catholic theology. As a matter of fact the problem arises from theology. If in the Eucharist there is transubstantiation, then it must follow that there can be a change of substance without a change in accidents.

Thus the answer to the problem is already given with the consequent problem remaining to the metaphysician of showing how it is possible.

At the meeting last week, Joseph N. Bongiovanni, Jr., read a paper on faith and reason.

PROFESSOR DRESDEN TO TALK AT DINNER

Professor Arnold P. Dresden, head of the Mathematics Department at Swarthmore College and lecturer at the University of Pennsylvania, is to be the guest of honor at the dinner of the Mathematics Club to be held at Erskine Hall, Haverford, next Monday, May 22.

The guest of honor is coming at the invitation of Mr. Emil Amelotti, M. S., club moderator. Professor Dresden has written text books on trigonometry and solid geometry, and he has also published his researches in the calculus of variations.

Members of the college administration and the engineering school faculty have also been invited. Among those are the president and vice president, Rev. John A. O'Leary, O. S. A., professor of mathematics, Rev. John J. Vrana, O. S. A., Mr. J. Stanley Morehouse, M. E., Acting Dean of the engineering school, and the departmental advisors of the same school: Mr. Harry S. Bueche, M. S., E. E., Dr. Edward L. Haenisch, and Mr. Thomas J. McCormick, C. E.

Jonik Appointed Belle Air Editor

Continued From Page One

duction of their annual through a well organized staff so that the Belle Air will be the work of the staff and other students, not of any one or a few men."

The Belle Air Dinner will be held on May 24 at the Whitehall Apartments which are located in Haverford on the Lincoln highway. Robert Metzinger will be toastmaster and guest speaker.

This year's publication of the Belle Air will be distributed some time next week.

Alumnus Honored

WALTER A. GRIFFIN

Bowes and Griffin Receive Degrees

Continued From Page One

tion he filled very ably for a number of years.

Following the end of the great war, Bowes left Hollywood for the East. Here he collaborated in the construction of ..ew York's famous Capitol Theater. In recognition of his services he was named managing director of the enterprise and has held that office ever since.

Bowes was one of the revolutionists in his field. In 1922, realizing the importance radio was to assume in ensuing years, he encouraged theater broadcasting. In 1925 he inaugurated a radio program which has stood the test of time so well that today he is still the personal director of the well-known Sunday morning Capitol Theat.. Family program.

However, it was not until his unique Amateur Hour that he won wide national fame. It was Bowes' sincere interest in the talented who had no means of exhibiting their ability that prompted him to give them these public auditions.

Griffin an Alumnus

Mayor Griffin has attended the engineering school at Villanova. He had held several very impor.. positions in Lawrence befor.. suming the mayoralty. In 192.. he was voted into the office of Licensing Commissioner. He filled this position so capably in the five years tenure of office that in 1933 he was elected mayor of the town. His reelection in 1935 and again in 1937 attest the appreciation of the voters for the fine work he has accomplished.

Host of Dignitaries Honored

Bowes and Griffin are not the first prominent men to have received honorary degrees from Villanova. Several very distinguished statesmen have been so honored by her. In 1902 the Honorable Grover Cleveland, 22d and 24th President of the United States, received the honorary degree of Doctor of Jurisprudence. In that same year Ladislaus Hengelmuller, Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary from Austria to the United States received the honorary Doctor of Philosophy degree. In 1907 Honorable Enrique C. Creel, the Mexican ambassador, was awarded with the Doctor of Laws degree. In 1918 the Doctorate of Jurisprudence was awarded to Thomas Riley Marshall, then vice president of the United States. Also in that year were degrees of Doctor of Laws awarded to Joseph E. Ransdell, United States Senator from Louisiana, and E. de Cartier, Belgian minister.

In addition, the degree of Doctor of Music was conferred upon Victor Herbert in 1911. In 1915 it was William Shepherd Benson, Rear Admiral, U. S. N., who was given the Doctor of Laws degree.

Outstanding Combinations

BIG BILL LEE, outstanding for his combination of burning speed, control and games won, and CHESTERFIELD, outstanding for its can't-be-copied combination of the world's best tobaccos.

Chesterfields' can't-be-copied blend makes them outstanding for refreshing mildness... for better taste... for more pleasing aroma ...outstanding for real smoking enjoyment.

When you try them you will know why Chesterfields give millions of men and women more smoking pleasure... why THEY SATISFY

BIG BILL LEE
Pitching Star of the Chicago Cubs. An outstanding pitcher in the National League.

Chesterfield

The RIGHT COMBINATION of the world's best cigarette tobaccos

They're Milder . . . They Taste Better

Copyright 1939, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.